The latest plan afoot to extract more money out of the taxpayers' pockets is the one planned by the Motor Vehicle Dept. which plans to ask for legislation to make mandatory the re-registration of every Md. driver every two years for a fee of $2. The car owner and property-owner already are carrying the major portion of the tax burden and face even a greater share of it as just about everyone and every bureau in the state clamors for more money. The re-registration of state drivers is almost concluded and when it started the Dept. announced it was being done to rid the books of a lot of deadwood, but it's not hard to see through the plan now. Actually I believe it was just the forerunner of the plan to milk the motorist which will come before the Legislature sometime in the near future.

The present wave of anti-Semitism is I believe, the work of pranksters. The fact that it has spread almost over the world and has affected just about every religious denomination proves it has no definite plan or meaning. Swastikas have been painted on almost every type of building in many countries and to me this proves that the move is completely devoid of any religious prejudice. Several examples of this already have occurred in our own county. There are just some people who delight in this sort of moronic action and when they go into action they always manage to have a following, regardless of what part of the world in which they operate. I don't feel that any one of their religion is in any jeopardy and the wave will go its way, just as Halloween vandalism does every year.

Have you noticed the improved music situation on the radio these days? Since the crack-down on the payola boys went into effect it is now possible to sit and enjoy some of the finest music there is. No longer are you forced to endure the maniacal raving and ranting of some beatnik unknown. Many times one was told that such and such a record was number one on the hit parade yet one never even heard the tune before. It was just the payola boys plugging the heretofore totally unknown record—for a small sum. I must say the music situation has been vastly improved lately.

Just when we thought that something was going to be done this year about the high cost of living and when the steel strike was settled recently one or more companies promised to hold the line on any additional price hikes. As was predicted it was just a lot of hogwash. Already those who spoke so adamantly on holding down prices are now double-talking and claim no commitments were made and that they are not obligated to honor such statements. We really suspected this intent when it first was announced. It was a neat political trick but it exploded prematurely and there's still ample time for one to change his mind about the coming election. Another gimmick being set in motion is the proposed budget by the Federal Government. It now appears that the fiscal year will end with a four billion dollar surplus, according to reports. Don't be disillusioned by this statement because I'll bet my best bonnet that when the year ends there'll be no surplus and also, there'll be no tax reduction. Those of you who have been through elections before can fathom the antics now being deployed and therefore don't pay too much attention to them.

Grant To College

St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, was given a financial donation by the Corn Products Company, it was learned this week. College sources said the unrestricted cash grant amounted to $100.

The company gives grants annually to colleges and universities throughout the country.

Mountaineers Surprised By Western Md.

Mount St. Mary's aggressive cagers had little difficulty in extending their win streak to 11 straight by taking two contests from top-notch opponents.

Victory No. 9 came Thursday night at Memorial Gym when Coach Jim Phelan's Blue and White machine polished off Baltimore U, 69 to 56.

On the short end of a 37-26 score at half time, the Mounties came roaring back in the second half.

It was the ninth straight win for the Mountaineers and kept them unbeaten in Mason-Dixon Conference play with a 4-0 mark.

Baltimore fell victim to the shooting of Dick Talley and Ed Pfeiffer who sparked the Mount in its rally, a goal by Jack Gunn sending the Mountaineers to the front 54-52 with four minutes of play remaining.

The Bees faded completely after losing the lead and were outscored 17-4 in the last four minutes.

Talley pumped through 20 and Pfeiffer 17 points for the winners. Jack Bychick swished 24 for the Bees.

Saturday night's encounter with the Mountaineer's arch rival, Loyola, was a repeat performance of the usually hard-fought game between the two schools.

A 33-point output by Jerry Savage, 6-2 junior, sparked the fast moving Mounts to their 10th straight victory as they laced Loyola, 90-70 in a Mason-Dixon Conference game before a standing room only crowd here.

Savage rammed through 12 field goals and made good on nine of nine free tosses. He has now connected on 55 of 61 fouls this season for an enviable .902 percentage.

As a result of his performance, Savage was awarded the Father John F. Cogan Award by the Monogram Club. The award is presented annually by the club for the outstanding performer in the Mount-Loyola game in honor of the late dean of students at Mt. St. Mary's.

Loyola gave the Mount a tussle for the first 10 minutes of play and led 14-13 at that time, but then Savage and Ed Pfeiffer began to connect and at half time the Mountaineers had taken a 43-30 lead. Pfeiffer netted 13 of his 16 points in the first half. During the second half he played but about five minutes.

Midway in the last half Coach Phelan's outfit had built up a 73-46 advantage and from then on it was a breeze.

Both teams performed well from the foul line, the Mount converting 30 of 36 tries while the Greyhounds looped 26 of 36.

Joe O'Hara, 6-5 senior, led the losers with 20 tallies.

The Mounties were completely surprised Wednesday night when the Green Terrors of Western Maryland upset them in a hard-fought contest played in Westminster. Coach Phelan said he would protest a ruling by Referee White and Cribbins that a goal by Samuels of the Mounties went in after the final buzzer. After conferring with the timekeeper, a Western Maryland student who was seated at the scoring table with scorekeepers from both squads, the referees disallowed the shot and ruled the Terrors the victors.

College Organizes Fifth Guild

Mrs. Robert A. Neary, Washington, D. C., was elected president of the newly established Washington Chapter of the Mount St. Mary's College Guild at a meeting held at Immaculate Conception Academy this week.

Other officers elected were: vice president, Mrs. John Farrell, Alexandria, Va.; Mrs. Gerald K. Hughes, Silver Spring, Md., corresponding secretary; receiving secretary, Mrs. John J. Syeene, of Washington; and treasurer, Mrs. Louis Armetin, Chevy Chase, Md. The meeting was attended by Rt. Rev. John L. Sheridan, President of Mount St. Mary's, and Rev. Joseph B. Tremonti, director of the Guilds. The college now has five guild units.

Plans were made at the Washington meeting for a Fashion Show and Card Party on April 29 at Immaculate Conception Academy. Mrs. J. Deane Gannon, Washington, will serve as general chairman of the affair.

Former Local Nun Killed In Plane Crash

A 54-year-old Catholic nun, Sister Josephine Cavanaugh, was instantly killed in a plane crash Monday as she was returning to Norfolk, Va., after attending a nursing conference in St. Louis, Mo. The Capital Airlines Viscount plane crashed near Holdcraft, Va., close to Norfolk.

She had joined Depaul Hospital at Norfolk only last year after serving eight years at St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, first as head of the division of nursing, then as supervisor and consultant of the school of nursing.

A native of Boston, she had attended Boston and Catholic Universities. She became a nun in 1931 and 10 years later entered the order of the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent DePaul.

Before coming here she taught at St. Martin's High School in Baltimore.

Three brothers who survive include Lt. Com. John P. Cavanaugh of Silver Spring.

Junior C. of C. Being Organized

The week of January 24-30, 1960 has been proclaimed as the First Frederick County Jaycee Week by action of the Frederick County Commissioners. The announcement was made jointly this week by G. Bernard Callan Jr., president of the Frederick Junior Chamber of Commerce and Wayne E. Hill, president of the Brunswick Junior Chamber of Commerce. This week also marks the 21st birthday of the Frederick Jaycees. Last year the Brunswick chapter was established by Frederick and this year Frederick is attempting to organize a chapter in the Emmitsburg-Thurmont area.

Throughout the year various county-wide projects are run by these two groups. Among them are the "My True Security" essay contest, Outstanding Young Farmer Award, County Track and Field Meet, Junior Tennis program. One of the most successful projects has been the Teen Age Safe driving Road-e-o which always draws a large county participation.

At an organizational meeting held in Thurmont Wednesday evening a representative group of the Jaycees from both Emmitsburg and Thurmont discussed plans for establishing a northern Frederick County Chapter. Another meeting is planned for next Wednesday night at Royer's Restaurant, Thurmont and all interested young men are invited and urged to attend.

Farmers Obligated To Pay Security Tax

Young farmers in Frederick County know how to take advantage of good weather in making their crops. But according to W. S. King, District Manager of the Hagerstown Social Security Office, many young farmers don't know they must pay social security taxes if no income tax is due.

If a farmer has net earnings of $400 or more in the year, he must file a tax return and pay the social security tax. This return must be filed even though he does not owe any income tax because of the number of his personal exemptions. Some have the idea that it is an optional law, but that is not true. This is a compulsory provision and it applies to all farmers regardless of age.

The farmer who has net earnings of at least $400 in a year must file a tax return with the Internal Revenue Service at Baltimore, at the end of each year.

Mr. King said that farmers who would like more information about reporting their farm income should get in touch with the Social Security Office at 59 North Cannon Avenue, Hagerstown or the Internal Revenue Service at W. Church Street, Frederick.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Topper, DePaul St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances Yvonne, to Francis Joseph Ling, Emmitsburg.

Miss Topper graduated from St. Joseph's High School in 1957 and is now a senior student nurse at St. Agnes Hospital, Baltimore.

Mr. Ling graduated from St. Joseph's High School in 1957 and is a graduate of the Harrisburg School of Barbering. He is now employed in Gettysburg.

No date has been set for the wedding.

The world's largest nickel refinery is that of International Nickel located at Port Colborne, Ontario.

Couple Observes Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dubel of Taneytown, observed their 50th wedding anniversary on Dec. 27 with a celebration given by their children and held in the social hall of the United Brethren Church, Taneytown. Attending were approximately 175 relatives and friends from the Taneytown, Emmitsburg, Rocky Ridge and Waynesboro areas.

The social hall was decorated in keeping with the occasion. Mrs. Chester Cartzendafer and Mrs. Charles Fleckinger served the wedding cake, and Maxine and Roberta Garvin poured the punch. Also assisting with the serving were members of the United Brethren Sunday School.

Mr. and Mrs. Dubel were married in Thurmont on Dec. 23, 1909 by the Rev. J. W. Rimecke. Mrs. Dubel is the former Annie Bell Holland, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Heron Holland. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dubel are in fair health. Mr. Dubel is 71 years old and Mrs. Dubel, 70.

The couple has two children, Marshall Dubel, Taneytown, and Mrs. Blanche Saylor, Rocky Ridge. They also have two granddaughters and one grandson.

Friends offered them their congratulations and best wishes and presented them with many gifts.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll C. Keilholtz, Emmitsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Ann, to Lawrence W. Tressler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Tressler, Thurmont.

Miss Keilholtz is a graduate of Thurmont High School, class of '57 and a graduate of Hagerstown Business College, class of '58. She is presently employed by Moore Business Forms, Inc., Thurmont.

Mr. Tressler is a graduate of Thurmont High School, class of '56 and is attending the University of Maryland.

An August wedding is being planned.

ENGAGED

The engagement of Miss Donna Lou Stonesifer, Westminster, Md., to Jasper Lee Wantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Wantz, Emmitsburg, has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Pauline V. Stonesifer.

Miss Stonesifer is a 1958 graduate of Westminster High School and is a second-year student nurse at Johns Hopkins Hospital. Wantz studied at Peabody Conservatory of Music and is employed in Frederick and serves as organist and choir director of All Saints Episcopal Church, Frederick.

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Loy E. Hess, Taneytown, announce the engagement of their daughter, Myra Ann, to Lamar Hiltz, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hiltz, Taneytown.

Miss Hess graduated from Emmitsburg High School in 1957. She attended Western Maryland College, where she was a member of Sigma Sigma Tau sorority, and is now in her junior year at the University of Maryland.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Taneytown High School, class of 1957. He attended DeVry Technical Institute in Chicago, and is now a student at the University of Maryland, majoring in engineering.

Community College Offering Courses

Registration for the second semester at the Frederick Community College will be held in the college office on Thursday, January 28 from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. and classes will begin on Friday, January 29.

Among the new courses to be offered this semester is a three-hour credit course in American Government. This is a basic course in the structure and functions of the United States Government with emphasis placed upon American constitutional development. The growth and operation of political parties in the federal structure is also emphasized.

For those interested in mathematics, there will be courses in plane trigonometry and analytic geometry. The course in trigonometry includes the study of radian, addition formulas, inverse functions, and complex numbers while the analytic geometry course includes the study of coordinates, the straight line, and parametric and transcendental equations. Students who wish to enroll in these courses should have completed a course in college algebra or its equivalent.

The second semester course in English literature will be open to new students. The second semester course begins with Blake and includes the Romantic, the Victorian, and the Modern Periods of English literature. This is a three semester hour credit course. However, persons who do not desire credit, but feel that they can profit from attendance at class sessions may register for auditing in this and any other course.

Other new courses for the second semester include personal hygiene, music fundamentals and appreciation, and educational psychology. Microbiology will be taught at the Frederick Memorial Hospital for the student nurses.

Birthday Party Held

A party was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henke to celebrate the fifth birthday of their son, Robert Jr. Those present were Paul Joy, Eddie Thomas, Jimmy Deegan, Jimmy Phelan, Bruce Martin, Bobby Seidel and Lee Joy.

Some miss out on opportunity because they are broadcasting when they should be tuning in.

PUBLIC SCHOOL PTA TO MEET WEDNESDAY

The public is invited to attend the meeting of the Emmitsburg High School PTA on Wednesday, January 27 at 8 p. m. in the school cafeteria.

The program should prove helpful to the parents interested in their children's health, especially during these months when so many people have colds.

Mrs. Freida Doll of the Frederick County Tuberculosis and Public Health Association will show a film entitled "How to Catch a Cold."

There will be a short discussion period following the film and Dr. George Morningstar will be present to answer some questions from the parents concerning their children's health.

The parents are invited to visit in the classrooms from 7:30 to 8 p. m.

Seton School PTA Meeting Held

The January meeting of the Mother Seton School PTA was held last Thursday evening at 7:30 in the school cafeteria. Vice president, Mrs. Ruth Etheridge presided in the absence of the president. The meeting opened with a prayer by Sister Ann Marie, principal.

A movie on parliamentary procedure was shown after which the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting, and also gave the financial report in the absence of the treasurer.

A letter from the secretary of the eighth grade was read thanking the PTA for the Science Kit donated to the class, from the proceeds of the Fall Fair. A letter was also read from the Blue Ridge Summit Free Library inviting the Sisters, Staff and pupils to partake of the library facilities during library hours.

Sister Benigna explained the Archconfraternity of the Holy Agony and announced that her 7th grade will sponsor a membership drive to same.

June awards were discussed. The group voted to do away with awards for all except the outgoing class. The lower grades will be given an outing at the end of the year. Parents are asked to give their names now for chaperone duty at these outings, so there will be sufficient chaperones for each class outing.

The group also decided to have the Sisters prepare a list of needed athletic equipment for each room and present these lists to the PTA.

The meeting closed with a prayer by Sister Ann Marie after which refreshments were served.

County Traffic Accidents Increase

Automobile accidents of all natures are on the increase, State Police report, after compiling figures for Frederick County last year.

Sgt. H. L. Basore said that in the county alone, there were 775 accidents of which 21 of these wrecks resulted in fatalities.

Accident figures for 1958 are unavailable.

Although there were 21 fatal accidents, 27 persons lost their lives in these wrecks with the worst accident of the year locally occurring on U. S. 40 a few miles west of Frederick in which five persons died.

A breakdown of the accident total shows that 194 accidents resulted in personal injuries. In these wrecks, 314 persons were injured.

The remaining 560 accidents resulted in property damage only. While each month had its fair share of accidents, September was the most accident prone month of the year, Sgt. Basore said.

Included in the accidents recorded that month was the accident in which a Baltimore couple were killed on U. S. Route 340 following by a few days the accident on Route 40 west in which five persons died.

Police said that the accidents were more unusual last year than in previous years since they were scattered throughout the county instead of being confined mostly to the major highways as the pattern showed in other years.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wivell and family were: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wivell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wivell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wivell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoff and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reaver.

Mothers' March To Aid Local Dimes Drive

Final plans are being completed by Maryland March of Dimes Chapters in all counties for the annual Mothers' March to be held Thursday night, January 28, from 7 to 9 p. m. Combined with this annual Mothers' March to be held be a door count census on polio, arthritis and birth defect cases—the three areas in which the National Foundation is now conducting research and patient care programs. The announcement was made by Paul J. Hughes Jr., State Representative for the Foundation.

In addition to collecting New March of Dimes contributions on January 28, the mothers will present each household with a copy or "Door Count," a concise, fact-finding folder in which a family may indicate if any of its members has a birth defect, arthritis or polio and how many have had three or more Salk vaccine shots. Each family record will be confidential.

In explaining the door count, former U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe, State March of Dimes chairman, said that "we hope the Mothers' March door count will focus family and community attention on the majority of Americans still without Salk shot protection against polio. We have found that neighbor calling on neighbor is one of the best ways to remind the unvaccinated to start their polio shots."

Mr. Radcliffe continued: "Although the house-to-house poll is in no way planned as a statistically valid survey, the sum of information taken in the door count will help provide a working estimate of the number of persons suffering from arthritis, polio or birth defects. This will prove an invaluable guide to our National Foundation Chapters in planning local programs to aid the disabled."

In each county the Mothers' March will be headed by local women leaders. The entire Maryland Mothers' March will enlist thousands of women calling upon their neighbors for contributions to the 1960 New March of Dimes, the fund-raising campaign being conducted this month.

KNIGHTS PLAN COMMUNION BREAKFAST

Ballotting for the Knight of the Year was completed at the regular meeting of Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus held Monday night in the council's home, Grand Knight Curtis D. Topper presiding. There were six candidates nominated for the honor. The winner will be disclosed at the annual banquet to be held in the VFW Annex on February 11.

Final plans for the communion breakfast to be held January 31 after the 8:30 Mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, were discussed. Frank Topper reported that K of C decals had been placed on a number of the windows of the home and also gave a report on last Saturday's shrimp feed. Approximately $74 was netted from the affair.

Guy A. Baker Jr., district deputy, announced that a fourth degree excommunication will be held in the Aleazar Hotel, Baltimore, on Sunday, February 21 and that a number of the local members will take the degree. A meeting of all fourth degree members has been called for Friday (tonight) in the council home. Francis E. Sanders was appointed chairman of the Catholic calendar committee for 1961.

Fire Damages Local Print Shop

Damage to type cases and stock equipment resulted from a fire originating in an oil stove at the Rightnow Press, North Seton Ave.

The Vigilant Hose Company was called to the scene of the fire after it was discovered at 1 p. m. Saturday afternoon. The stove had been stoked earlier in the day by one of the employees.

Damage estimates were set at several hundred dollars. The fire was not discovered earlier because the building was tightly closed, preventing smoke from escaping.

Building Permit Issued

A building permit was issued in Frederick this week to Mary R. and Anna L. Troxell for the construction of a utility building on an 84-acre property located near Emmitsburg. Estimated cost of the construction was placed at $200.

Read Mark 2:105.
Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? (Acts 9:6.)

On the road to Damascus, Saul of Tarsus came face to face with Christ. Always a religious man, a Pharisee of the Pharisees, Saul, at the time of our Scripture verse, was in hot pursuit of new Christians. But when Saul was confronted by Christ, he changed his way of life. Saul of Tarsus became Paul the apostle, a man with a mission.

You and I have missions also. One's mission may be far-flung, as was Paul's. Another's may seem limited and modest. God does not call all of us to cross the seas. Maybe He is calling us to cross the street, or even the hallway in our apartment dwelling to witness for Him.

Truly, God has a mission for every Christian. If one does not know what his mission is, he should cry with Saul, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" God will answer in His own way. Each Christian is meant to be a man with a mission.

Prayer
Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for men of old whom Thou didst call and entrust with missions for Thee. Help us to realize that Thou wouldst use us also. Give us courage and wisdom to fulfill our appointed missions. In Jesus' name and for His sake. Amen.

Dean Says Public Criticism Unjust

The dean of students at Gettysburg College denounced unjust criticism of American public schools this week and laid blame for the school's shortcomings at the feet of the general public.

Dean John W. Shainline, in a radio talk, declared that "secondary schools have a great responsibility to provide the best possible intellectual atmosphere for those students with ability to go on to college."

But this is not easy for the schools to accomplish, he said. "I do not have much tolerance for the general public which criticizes our public school systems unfairly. After all, the public is simply criticizing itself," the Gettysburg College dean held.

"Certainly not everything is as it should be in public education — nor in higher education. But I believe that teachers and administrators in public school education are, with some exceptions, aware of the problems and are continually attempting to improve the quality of the education they offer.

"It is we of the general public who are the culprits. Those communities which are not willing to support public education financially and morally are at fault. "One reason that education is not supported as it should be is that the benefits are not always immediately apparent," Dean Shainline suggested.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sheeley visited on Saturday with Mrs. Grace Vaughn, who had just returned home from the hospital.

Christian Western To Be Shown In Frederick

"Mr. Texas," called "the world's first Christian western" will be shown at the Frederick County Youth For Christ rally on Saturday, January 23 at 7:45 p. m. The rally will be held in the Staley Park Field House, the corner of Tenth Street and Motter Avenue in Frederick. The film was the first major production of Billy Graham Evangelistic Films, Inc., and features the famed young evangelist and his entire evangelistic team. Playing leading roles in the full-length color picture are Redd Harper and Cindy Walker, both professional western stars who made their decision to give their lives and talents to Christianity.

Produced as an experiment, "Mr. Texas" has amazed religious leaders and motion picture authorities alike during these several years since its release. At the film's preview in Hollywood Bowl, a record throng of 25,000 persons jammed into the huge amphitheater for the largest attendance any motion picture has ever had in this country. During the first two years of showings an estimated 5,000,000 persons have seen the film. From this number of viewers, over 135,000 made decisions to accept the Christian way of life in the first twelve months of showings. Both figures indicate new highs in evangelistic circles.

The story revolves around the Billy Graham Crusade in Will Rogers Coliseum in Fort Worth, Texas. The rodeo scenes, some of the most beautiful photography being seen today, were made at Hardin Simmons University, and feature the world champion Mayo Rodeo Riders, together with the famous Hardin Simmons Cowboy Band. Original music for the picture was composed by Cindy Walker, called the "queen of western song writers," and Redd Harper.

turned home from the hospital. Wayde Chrismer, Bel Air, Md., visited in town Friday with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keepers and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Long and daughters were dinner guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Nickoles, Westminster. The occasion was the birthday of Paul Nickoles and Vicky Long, both of whom celebrated their first birthday anniversaries

Lutheran Mission February 21-25

A briefing session for the Frederick Area Lutheran Evangelism Mission scheduled for February 21-25 will be held in Frederick at the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, West Seventh St., this Sunday, January 24. All pastors, general chairmen and sub-committee chairmen of the participating congregations have been requested to be present. The meeting will begin with devotions at 2:30 p. m. with the Rev. Philip Bower, Emmitsburg, in charge. Discussion groups will follow, at which time any questions concerning plans for the mission will be answered. The Mission General Chairman, Rev. E. Koontz Helwig, Walkersville, has called attention to the fact that this will be the last opportunity for the committee leaders from the various congregations to meet with the Central Planning Committee prior to the mission, so it is most important that each understand his responsibilities and the methods by which they may best be accomplished, before he leaves the meeting.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

One may either look with favor on the cause of the steel union, or may not. One may favor the stand of Big Steel, or may not.

And to carry the freedom of discretionary limits even further, one may or may not look with favor upon Oregon's controversial Senator Wayne Morse.

But regardless, it does not seem C. W. Harder to permit of dispute that he placed his finger on a weakness in the Taft-Hartley act.

He recalled when he acted in one of the railroad strikes, he had the power under the railroad act, to force a settlement. But under the Taft-Hartley Act, there is no power given anyone to force a settlement. Dept. of Labor officials can practically do nothing but "kid" the opposing factions into getting together, but he actually has no more power than the social steward on an ocean liner.

Now of course, under Taft-Hartley, government can invoke an injunction which causes struck industry to go back to work for eighty days to permit further negotiations.

Yet here is the situation insofar as any strike comparable to the steel strike. The production of steel in this country has been allowed to become almost a virtual monopoly. And by the same token, the steel workers union has become a monopoly.

Now the question becomes, what happens when two stubborn monopolies clash? It is foreseeable in such a situation, even though an injunction under Taft-Hartley law causes resumption of work for 80 days, there is no guarantee after 80 days another strike won't start, or even a plant lock out.

The power to force a settlement of a strike was purposely kept out of the Taft-Hartley act on the basis that permitting government to force a settlement would be giving government too great a power.

In most cases of labor trouble, this is undoubtedly true, and in most cases, the present Taft-Hartley act is adequate.

But taking a hypothetical case. What if a steel strike came about so that even after an 80 day Taft-Hartley injunction, the two monopolistic factions kept the battle going indefinitely for perhaps a decade?

And what would be the over all consequences?

Business would come to a complete standstill; there is no need of going into what would happen to national defense.

Probably what would happen, if the nation survived at all, would be that political pressure would result nationalization of such an industry, which would be a major step toward socialism in America. The plants would be owned by government, and workers would be government employees.

Obviously, no thinking American wants to see this happen. Yet, as highlighted by the steel strike, in those industries where control has been concentrated to the point of monopoly, the public is entirely without protection. Such an American Achilles Heel could very well lead to national destruction.

YOUNG IDEAS from Polly Ponds

Q: "I have a very flushed complexion and would like to know how I can make it look paler."

A: By wearing an ivory-tinted make-up that has gold rather than pink undertones and being selective in your choice of fashion colors, you should be able to lend your skin a less flushed appearance.

For convenience of application and if you want to avoid a "made-up" look, your best make-up bet would be a compressed powder, sometimes called a foundation and powder-in-one. Look for one containing cosmetic-silicones. These give the make-up greater covering power which, in your case, will tone your skin down to a delicate ivory with one light brush of the puff.

You'll also look paler in cool colors that don't repeat the pink undertones in your skin—beige, lemon yellow, navy blue, muted greens and black will be flattering. But stay away from reds, purples, electric blues and oranges—unless, of course, you're wearing your new ivory make-up.

Looking Ahead

...by Dr. George S. Benson DIRECTOR—NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

Report On Foreign Aid

In a series of articles written on the scene in Saigon, Vietnam, Scripps-Howard reporter, Albert M. Colegrove tells of the needless waste of American taxpayers money in our foreign aid program. Since 1955, the United States Government has poured 2 billion into tiny Viet Nam and continues to spend about $1 million a day there. The Scripps-Howard newspapers sent Mr. Colegrove to southeast Asia to get the story. His series of articles reveals a bad situation.

"Even when smelly evidence of possible graft and corruption in our $2 billion aid program here is held right under their noses, America's bureaucrats ignore it," Mr. Colegrove reports from Saigon. "None of our business," they insist, "as they shovel out an average $1 million a day in American money for military and economic aid to this country of 10 million persons."

Hiding Waste

Here are a few items from Mr. Colegrove's report:

An American adviser, going through the books of Radio Viet Nam, the official government radio station (set up with U. S. money) found a mysterious entry for "14 radio towers" costing $28,500 for which U. S. aid officials had paid. That was almost three years ago; no one has yet laid eyes on those towers. But—when the American persist in making inquiries of the Vietnamese, he was called on the carpet (by U. S. State Department officials) and bawled out for stirring up the trouble.

The U. S. Government has arranged to provide a powerful complicated 50,000 watt short-wave radio transmitter system costing over $100,000 (in addition to one already built with U. S. dollars) so they can beam propaganda at Communist North Viet Nam. But, after almost five years of American aid the Saigon water system remains so inadequate that the poorer people line up for blocks at 7 a. m. to fill their buckets with water that trickles from a handful of public pumps.

No End In Sight

"Is there a predictable happy ending (to all this waste and stupid expenditures); can South Viet Nam be helped out of its lop-sided financial dilemma?" Mr. Colegrove asks, and then replies: "American press agents talk happily of a new basket-making center and write of 'gradual but steady progress toward economic independence.' But President Diem himself, talking with me, was not so cheery. He said, 'You people should not demand miracles, expecting Viet Nam to be solvent within three or four years.' Then he added significantly: 'Many experts think undeveloped areas like South Viet Nam will need help for 25 years.'"

"An American businessman, a former government worker, here almost five years, said bluntly: 'We spend and spend, and our government expects haven't proposed a single new answer to the problem. All they can come up with is determination to maintain the status quo. We'll never solve the economic problem this way. Meantime these people are living off our handouts and are quite satisfied to do so.'"

Half Million Lost

And, another item on the radio station built with American funds: The director of Radio Viet Nam was one Maj. Doan Van Guu, a veterinarian whose specialty was the intestinal disorders of elephants. The three 'chief technicians' were non-engineers whose qualifications were that they had friends or relatives at the presidential palace. Major Guu was the director—he isn't now. A horde of police, acting on information received about Guu's unique bookkeeping (which never had been open to American inspection) swooped down one day—a trifle late. Major Guu had just burned his books in the alley. Some $446,000 of the money entrusted to him remains to be accounted for today.

The Citizens Foreign Aid Committee, a group of prominent Americans who demand drastic cuts in and eventual elimination of the costly, often wasteful program, estimates that total foreign expenditures for 1960 will be about $15 billion—when everything is counted. Most American citizens agree that the program should

OVER THE GARDEN WALLS

A COLUMN FOR HOMEOWNERS

Force Flowering Shrubbery Indoors

Want a touch of springtime to brighten up your January?

Bring some branches of early-flowering shrubs indoors and force them into bloom. For sythia, flowering quince, and pussy willow are just some of the harbinger of spring that you can do this with, suggests Dr. Conrad B. Link, University of Maryland Extension Service floriculturalist.

Cut—never break—the branches from the shrub. Be sure you leave a small, smooth cut, close to a main limb, so you don't have an unsightly, useless stub left.

Place the branches in a container of water in a warm place. Be sure to keep them well supplied with water.

Gradually, the buds will swell and the flowers will unfold.

By cutting branches at intervals over the next month or so you can have a steady supply of springtime in your winter living room!

Forcing Spring Flowers

Another way to bring color to the indoors is to force spring flowering bulbs, such as tulips, narcissus, or hyacinths. But you've got to plan ahead to do this.

Last fall you should have planted some of these bulbs in flower pots, and then buried the pots in the soil so the top was even with the surface of your flower beds. (These bulbs need the outdoor wintertime temperatures to get them ready for spring blooms.)

Along about this time of year, you can bring these potted bulbs indoors to start forcing them. If you want to have blooms extending over a longer period of time, just bring in a couple of plants each week or 10 days.

Place them in a room with moderate temperatures, and water them. When new growth starts, put them where they'll receive as much full sunlight as possible.

Poinsettia Care

If you want to bring your poinsettia into bloom next Christmas, better take good care of it now.

After it's finished flowering and drops its leaves, stop watering it, so that the soil becomes thoroughly dry. Store it in a cool place until spring.

In late April or early May, cut the top back to 6 inches or so from the soil level, repot it, and water it.

You can even put the potted plant in an outdoor flower bed until September, when it's time to bring it indoors again. Just leave the plant in its pot, and bury the pot so the top is even with the surface of the flower bed.

Scholarship Exams Planned

The State Department of Education today announced plans for conducting the examination for the Teacher Education Scholarships and the State Senatorial Scholarships on Saturday, February 27, 1960, and for the 1960-61 scholarship awards.

This year, by agreement with the participating colleges, one examination will be held for both scholarship programs. A student who wishes to become a candidate for either a Teacher Education Scholarship, a Senatorial Scholarship, or both, must take the examination on February 27 in any one of the 24 local test centers. Test centers will be located in each county and in Baltimore City.

Application forms and further information concerning the two scholarship programs will be available at the local public and nonpublic secondary schools and participating colleges early this month.

The test center for Frederick County will be located in the cafeteria of the West Frederick Junior High School on the date indicated at 9:30 a. m. Mr. Herman A. Hauver, Coordinator of Pupil Services, will be in charge of administering the tests. In a county-wide meeting of High School principals and the Seniors.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Mobile Houses And Mobile Factories

BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 21—The so-called "trailers" are enjoying great growth in every state of our country. This especially applies to Florida and the South, including Texas; and to California and all the Pacific Coast.

Mobile Houses Described

These average about thirty-five feet in length and sell, fully equipped, at about $100 per foot. There are larger ones, 40-50 feet long and 8-10 feet wide, usually with two complete bedrooms, a studio couch in the living room, and ample bathroom and kitchen. They are heated and air-conditioned, and have food refrigeration and every other convenience.

They are usually located in a pleasant parking lot, at a charge of about $20 per month. Some have adjoining cabanas with porch furniture. They also may have private phones, if desired. There is no grass to cut, garbage is taken care of, and milk is delivered.

Many Other Advantages

Those who visit the same trailer park each winter, or who leave their trailer there the whole year—perhaps unoccupied three months of the year—become very friendly and helpful to one another. They watch out for one another in case of illness and often invite their trailer friends to their permanent northern homes.

Trailer "fans" also are able to see much of the country—having an advantage over those who buy small permanent homes or stay at motels. By the way, I should mention that the largest trailers must be hauled by tractors; but anything under 35 feet can be hauled by private auto.

Rules When Buying Property In Another State

- (1) Be sure you see the property before buying. Do not buy from a blueprint, "sight unseen."
- (2) Try not to be the earliest buyers on a new subdivision, but wait and see what kind of people your neighbors would be.
- (3) Buy raw land only, for cash—then go to a local bank to get help in building a house.
- (4) Otherwise, buy or rent a trailer and rent a lot for your trailer with an option to buy later on if you wish.

Mobile Factories Are Coming Many young people — after they have learned a trade—are anxious to go into business for themselves, but fear the competition which the big corporations could give them. I forecast that the mobile small factory will be a great help to such young people.

This means that a couple could buy a bakery, a candy shop, or a stocking factory, all equipped with the latest machinery and ready to operate. They could bring this factory to a central location in the city in which they live or some adjoining city.

One Operate The Factory, The Other Sell The Product
One of the owners would operate the "factory" with two or three local assistants; while the other would sell the product. There would be no labor unions to struggle with. The "factory" would not be big enough to cause concern to any large corporation.

Recent Congressional action authorized formation of "small business investment companies" which could help finance just such new small concerns in many fields. For the address of the office nearest to you, see your local Chamber of Commerce or contact your regional Small Business Administration office.

National Co-Operation Possible
The companies making these mobile factories might agree to sell only one of a kind to each city (depending upon the size of the city). Then all the mobile bakeries could form an association to buy their supplies cheaper than it would cost the independent units. A similar plan could be followed by the mobile candy factories, etc.

Not only could such a plan be set up to give qualified, young people a chance to go into business profitably for themselves; but any mobile factory could easily be moved to another city, or sold. This would be an especially valuable feature not enjoyed by fixed factories. In fact, I forecast that these mobile factories will have a great growth during the "Wonderful Sixties" ahead of us.

Auto Club Differs With Ed. Board On Driver Training

The Automobile Club of Maryland through its general manager, Leonard E. Kolmer, today strongly criticized the State Board of Education's recent statement that driver education is not a proper function of the public schools.

"The Club feels," Mr. Kolmer stated, "that this action indicates a complete reversal in policy on the part of the Board. For more than fifteen years, the Board itself has, at least, tacitly approved the State's driver education program while high-ranking officials of the State Department of Education have actively endorsed the program."

During this time, the Department has solicited the help of the Automobile Club of Maryland and other interested organizations in training of driver education teachers, obtainment of dual control cars, teachers aids and the like and in general up-grading of these courses in the various counties.

The motor club official said that the American Automobile Association recently compiled opinions on driver education from leading school authorities throughout the nation prior to publishing a booklet entitled "What Chief State School Officers Say About High School Driver Education."

At that time, Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., Superintendent of Schools in Maryland, was quoted as follows:

"In my opinion, driver education is one of the most valuable educational services which we can offer our young people. America is a nation on wheels, and we cannot in all conscience ignore the vital implications of that fact in the curriculum of public schools. I sincerely recommend that driver education be made available to all our high school youth."

"In view of this statement and the previous support of the State Department of Education in matters concerning driver training," Mr. Kolmer continued, "reports of

Additional Income Must Be Reported

Many Federal income taxpayers each year fail to account for income received from sources not reported on their W-2 withholding tax certificates, Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, said today.

Sources of taxable income, he pointed out, include part-time work, dividends, tips or other gratuities, interest on savings accounts, and several other forms of income.

"Tip recipients, such as waiters and waitresses, cab drivers, porters, hair dressers, and persons employed in similar occupations where tips are a material income-producing factor are not only required to report such income on their tax returns, but are also required to keep adequate records the Board's opposition to the program are not only surprising, but extremely disheartening at this time."

A bill providing for state-wide expansion of the driver education program will be presented to the Legislature in February. This pending legislation has been endorsed by the Automobile Club of Maryland as well as many safety officials and organizations and a number of county school superintendents.

Mr. Kolmer concluded by saying that he has written to Governor Tawes, "expressing the Club's wholehearted support of the bill and soliciting the Governor's endorsement of this legislation."

"Profits on the sale of real or personal property are subject to special rules and must be reported," he added. Some dividends, and certain other kinds of income need not be reported. Taxpayers should read the instructions booklet or appropriate tax guide carefully to determine whether they should be reported.

Frederick Attorney Heads Fund Drive

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—Richard E. Zimmerman, Frederick, has been appointed regional chairman of the Greater University of Md. Fund, it was announced here today.

As regional chairman, Zimmerman will organize sponsor's committees whose function will be to personally contact University of Maryland alumni, in Frederick, Howard and Carroll Counties, during the annual canvass.

Alumni of the university have contributed more than $200,000 to the university fund during the past 22 months. The total represents more than 6500 gifts.

Objectives of the fund, established to provide ways and means for alumni to strengthen all schools and colleges of the university, include raising funds for student aid, faculty development and special research projects, equipping special memorial rooms, and library projects.

Zimmerman, who holds A.B. and LL.B. degrees from the university, is an attorney-at-law in Frederick.

London's famed Royal Ballet, performing at Covent Garden.

One of Europe's most glittering theatre, opera and concert seasons awaits American visitors to the continent this winter. The visitor present when the houselights go up on the winter season will be offered an authentic array of events seldom seen by the summer festival visitor.

In London, the Royal Ballet—and its incomparable prima ballerina, Dame Margot Fonteyn—performs one of its most ambitious seasons at Covent Garden. The brilliant Old Vic Company heading the most extensive theatre season in the English speaking world begins early in 1960, as does a major concert season in London boasting five permanent symphony orchestras.

In Paris, the new "Theatre de France" will open under the direction of the gifted Jean-Louis Barrault, and the Comedie Francaise has added new productions to its repertoire. The glamorous Paris Opera is also extending its program with the addition of foreign stars and new productions. One major musical event will be a new production of "Tristan and Isolde" at the Berlin City Opera, staged by Wieland Wagner, grandson of the composer.

The Gran Teatro del Liceo in Barcelona—one of the most celebrated opera houses in the world—will present a new production of "Boris Goudonov."

sung in Russian by a group of artists from the Yugoslav Opera Company.

Opera, of course, will be the first order of business in Italy where almost every major city boasts its own opera house, from the world-famous La Scala in Milan to the San Carlo Theatre in Naples. Gala openings will inaugurate the season in Rome and elsewhere during December.

In Copenhagen, a highlight of the season will be the Danish premiere of "My Fair Lady" and Ibsen's Rosmersholm. Switzerland's great Orchestre de la Suisse Romande conducted by Ernest Ansermet, plans one of its most ambitious concert seasons featuring such international artists as Arthur Rubinstein, Yehudi Menuhin, Geza Anda and others.

Vienna and Amsterdam will also attract wide musical attention this winter. The magnificent new Vienna Opera House has scheduled several new productions and the celebrated Concertgebouw Orchestra will present premiere performances in Amsterdam.

Marching Mothers to Collect Facts, Funds

"If you can answer no to the questions inside, be thankful! If you must answer yes, take hope!"

American mothers will carry this message to over 30 million homes this month. The mothers, volunteers in the annual Mothers' March for the New March of Dimes, will be seeking information and support for The National Foundation's fight against birth defects, arthritis and polio. These cripples, initial targets in The National Foundation's campaign to prevent crippling disease, affect the lives of one of every four American families.

Two Million in March

An estimated two million women will join the nationwide mothers' appeal for facts and funds. In most communities the mothers will march Thursday evening, Jan. 28, bringing to a climax the New March of Dimes January campaign.

The mothers will present each household with a copy of "Door Count," a concise fact-finding folder in which a family may indicate if any of its members has a birth defect, arthritis or polio and how many have had three or more Salk vaccine shots. Each family record will be confidential.

Salk Shot Reminder

The Mothers' March door count will focus family and community attention on the majority of Americans still without Salk shot protection against paralytic polio. It will remind the unvaccinated to start shots in time for summer polio protection and it will help communities plan local programs to further encourage the widespread use of Salk vaccine.

Although the house-to-house poll is in no way planned as a statistically valid survey, the sum of information taken in the door count will provide a working estimate of the number of persons suffering from arthritis; the number born with birth defects and the number who have been victims of paralytic polio. This tabulation will help guide National Foundation county chapters in formulating local programs to aid the disabled.

Mothers making the house-to-house door count will also seek contributions to the New March of Dimes for its attack on birth defects, arthritis and polio. The New March of Dimes is combating these disabling disorders with the same effective weapons used to conquer paralytic polio: medical scientific research to find causes, cures, preventives; patient aid for medical care; and training for medical workers needed to treat the sick and disabled.

Two million mothers like this one will conduct a house-to-house door count this month seeking information and support for the New March of Dimes campaign against birth defects, arthritis and polio.

Duvall Enters Congressional Race

R. Byng Duvall, Town Councilman and Vice Mayor of Kensington, Maryland Monday filed as a candidate for congressman from Maryland's Sixth District, in the Republican primaries.

Mr. Duvall, who lives with his wife and two children in Kensington has been a resident of Montgomery County for the past 25 years.

A past president of the Kensington-Wheaton Junior Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Duvall was educated at Benjamin Franklin and

George Washington Universities in Washington, and studied aeronautical engineering at Erskin University in South Carolina.

Entering military service with a Maryland National Guard unit in 1940, he later transferred to the Air Force, serving as a pilot in the South Pacific, and also as Group Flight Engineer. He returned to inactive duty in 1946 with the rank of Captain.

Mr. Duvall, who is 37, heads the Duvall Engineering Company, a building construction firm; the Montgomery Equipment Company,
Rockville, Md.; and the Duvall
Heat Pump and Air Conditioning Company.

Promising an active campaign for the Republican nomination, Mr.
Duvall said, "as one who has been directly facing the problems of the wage-price spiral, high tax rates, and the shrinking dollar—problems that face every American today. Problems such as these and others have prompted my decision to run for Congressman to represent the people of Maryland."

Government Bond Sales Decline

According to Royden A. Blunt, State Savings Bonds Chairman for Maryland, sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds for the twelve months, January-December 1959, totalled $60,784,677 or 88% of the State's 1959 quota. This represented a decline of 3.9% from E and H sales a year ago. Anne Arundel held first place among the counties, achieving 143.9% of 1959 quota. Somerset County was in second place with 101.6%, and St. Mary's followed with 96.7% of its quota.

In commenting on the Treasury's recent announcement that holders of Series E and J Savings Bonds, and Series F Savings Bonds with issue dates on and after January 1, 1948, may exchange them for Series H Savings Bonds, Mr. Blunt expressed the opinion that another forward step has been taken by the Treasury Department in its Savings Bonds program. By exchanging these Savings Bonds, on which the interest accumulates, for Series H Savings Bonds, which return interest checks twice a year, the bondowner may defer payment of income taxes on interest already earned until such a time as he redeems his Series H bond. The exchange privilege was authorized by Congress last session and went into effect January 1, 1960.

The State Chairman emphasized that unless bond owners have a real need to convert their holdings of Series E, F and J bonds to Series H bonds, they should carefully consider the matter before making the exchange. As an example, he pointed out that Series E bonds issued from May 1, 1941 to April 1, 1942, yield more than 3 3/4% on their present redemption value from now to the end of their first extended maturity period (20 years from issue date) and it may be more advantageous to wait until their bonds mature to make the exchange. Also, Series E Bonds issued after January 1, 1950, and through May 1, 1959, and which have not reached their first maturity date also earn more than 3 3/4% on their present redemption values from now to maturity and there would be some advantage in holding them until such bonds mature.

The exchange may be made without regard to the annual limitation of $10,000 of Series H

Bonds. The bonds submitted for exchange must have a current redemption value of $500 or more to be eligible for this privilege.
Circulars, application forms and instructions may be obtained at most commercial banks, from Federal Reserve Banks or Branches, or from the Treasury Department in Washington.

Much of the heartbreak, tragedy and terror of mangled bodies and broken hearts and homes could be averted if each one of us would individually make an effort to be cited as an example of sane, safe and sensible driving.

The State of Maryland requires each person who operates a motor vehicle to be first subjected to an examination to determine whether he is possessed of the proper knowledge and capabilities for operating said vehicle, but it is up to the individual to use his license with proper regard for his safety and the safety of all others.

We know that the future of our community depends upon our children. They are the future governing bodies, our doctors, lawyers, etc. In a few years they are the ones to whom we will be addressing our pleas for caution, but at the present time their lives are in our hands—Let's not deprive them of the privilege of living to enjoy the pleasures and opportunities that we are striving to provide for them.

Reckless driving does not necessarily mean only speeding. It is constituted of infringements of numberless regulations depending upon weather, visibility, condition of the street or road being traveled, traffic regulations in each particular vicinity, use of proper signals, etc. It is up to the entire lot of us to be vigilant and alert at all times in order that the lives of those who are too young to be cautious for themselves, too aged or feeble to avoid the speed sometimes faced, or those who are too preoccupied with matters of some sort or other, may not be taken by us in a moment of recklessness.

We individuals, in spite of our intelligence, and our constant advancement, still play "follow the leader," or in other words, more or less gauge ourselves by the actions of others. So, if each one of us will set an example, before long it will bear fruit, and our community will be known as the spot where the driver gives the other fellow the "BRAKES."

GEORGE W. WIREMAN

Our Forgotten Youth

There appeared in this publication on January 8th a letter, written by a "Fed-up Adult," complaining that the teen-agers are given too many privileges. I read this letter with great interest, and now, after last week's issue, I should like to voice my comments on this most important subject.

The "Fed-up Adult" is off to a very poor start in suggesting the teen-ager go home. This same adult had the courage to say that the parents of the teen-agers do not owe them entertainment, nor does the community owe them recreational facilities. To my way of thinking, this is just what we as parents and adult citizens do owe them.

This very same adult says, "Grow up; quit being a cry baby; get out of your dream world." This we must remember, many things we have today we owe to someone who had dreams and with the help of someone and a little encouragement these dreams became a reality. Once we let our teen-agers become discouraged from dreaming then this old world of ours will no longer move forward and progress will come to a standstill.

The trouble today is that so many adults do not have time for the youth and their problems. They have become too self-centered, and it is these very same adults that are always complaining about the teen-agers and their problems and the activities they become engaged in. We have forgotten our youth and their problems and I think it's high time we did something about it. In the near future our world will be run by the present-day teen-agers and unless we give them some consideration now, they are going to face the future with the idea, "Why should we look after the needs and interests of our youth, no one ever gave us any consideration?" As a result, future generations will have no encouragement and will have to get along the best way they can. I hate to think what conditions in our society will be like if this is permitted to happen.

Today, youth is full of ideas and energy and they must have all types of recreation to use up this energy, and encouragement and recognition to put their ideas to work.

I want to take this opportunity to congratulate the teen-ager who wrote to the Editor of this publication last week and stood up for his or her rights. This letter was very well put. It points the finger to the very core of the problem and it's up to the adults and citizens of each community to think about what has been outlined in this letter and do something about it besides talk. We can talk until we are blue in the face but it does not solve any problem. It is action that is needed and when the talk is backed up with some real action then we begin to get somewhere and the results begin to show.

If the teen-ager who wrote the letter last week will contact me through this publication, I shall be glad to discuss this matter further and will present the views of the teen-ager in greater detail in a future article in this column. Although I am not a citizen of Emmitsburg, my community is faced with the very same problem. No matter what the teen-ager does he is talked about and condemned. I think we should show them a bit more consideration, and before we start talking about what they are doing, let us first, examine our actions as adult citizens, and see if we are setting a good example for them to follow. If we aren't, then none of us has any room to talk.

Shortly after this column was introduced to the readers of this publication, I wrote a series of articles on Crime and in the June 19th issue of the Chronicle I wrote about delinquent children and in view of the flare-up of the teen-ager problem, I would like to repeat a portion of that article, if I may.

More and more, teen-agers are being involved in crime, and some have even been charged with murder. What causes teen-agers to commit acts of violence and why do they let themselves become the slave of all types of crime? When the truth is learned, the teen-agers are not responsible for such actions. They have committed the crime, this we know, but the parents are to blame, for they have, somewhere along the line, failed miserably in their job of bringing up the child in the right environment.

For every delinquent child, there are two parents and it is the parents who hold the key to this problem. Recently the Police Department of Houston, Texas released a statement giving the 12 rules for raising delinquent children. They are not hard to follow; in fact some parents practice some of these rules without knowing or realizing that they are contributing towards a delinquent child.

Here are these rules. They are something for every parent to consider, and I feature them in this column for every reader of this publication to give them some serious thought.

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute. It will also encourage him to pick up "cuter" phrases that will blow off the top of your head later.

3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is 21 and let him "decide for himself."

4. Avoid the use of the word "wrong." It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe, later, when he is arrested for stealing a car that society is against him and he is being persecuted.

5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around—books, shoes, and clothing. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility on to others.

6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful that the silver-ware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feast on garbage.

7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your child. In this way he will not be shocked when your home is broken up later.

8. Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as YOU had them?

9. Satisfy his every craving for food and drink and comfort. See that every sensual desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.

10. Take his part against neighbors, teachers and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.

11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying, "I never could do anything with him."

12. Prepare for a life of grief. You will be apt to have it.

It is the parents who follow these rules that are to blame for the teen-age crime that we are faced with today. But let's forget about the crime angle long enough to consider the problems of our youth today, and we will not have to worry too much about the crime angle. This will take care of itself if we will but consider the needs of our youth today and then try to do something about it besides talk.

My teen-age daughter has often remarked, "If only there was something to do, somewhere to go besides the movies and skaing rink." This question was asked once too often, and my wife decided it was time for action. Together with a number of other interested mothers they felt the need of a girl scout organization in our community, and they did something about it. Last week the girls were officially organized, but what happened was this. Every parent was eager for her daughter to join up, but none are willing to help as leaders, etc. This proves my point that our youth are forgotten. In my work with Little League baseball, I found the same thing. The parents were glad to have their sons take part, but here is what happened. They would bring the boys to the ball park, but could not find the time to stay for a game and encourage them in their playing. But when the All-Star teams were picked, and their sons did not make the team, they were the first to complain. "What's wrong with my son that he didn't make the team? He played all season."

When asked if the parent knew his weak spots, there was no answer. They had no idea. Why? Because they weren't interested enough to attend the games and learn for themselves, the weak spots, and then again try to encourage him to overcome them. No, the parents were too busy doing other things, they didn't have time for such things, and as a result the child was the one who suffered.

More than once I have seen a kid play his best ball when his mother or dad was in the stands watching. But when they were absent, the kid just didn't care.

This holds true with teen-agers. If we as parents don't care, then why should we sit back and condemn their actions and pay little or no attention to their problems?

As to the "Fed-up Adult," I am surprised that he or she is taking the stand that our communities do not owe them recreation facilities.

It is true that the teen-ager owes the world his time and talents, but it is not the teen-ager who is responsible for war. If a good many adults would stop and consider their actions a bit more seriously, they would find that it is up to them to keep the peace, not the teen-ager.

It is up to the adults to prepare the teen-ager for the time when he will be an active part in his community and willing to shoulder his responsibilities. It is up to the adult citizens to stop talking and begin taking some action. Let's show some serious consideration to the youth of our communities and prove to them that we have not forgotten them and that we do not think only of ourselves.

In closing, I want to again congratulate the teen-ager who wrote the letter in last week's Chronicle. Stand up for your rights and let your voice be heard. It is the adult citizens who owe you something and by way of encouragement, let me close by saying, "Let your voices be heard and don't give up the fight. You have been forgotten long enough. The responsibility rests with the citizens of your community."

OUR STATE UNIVERSITY

Of egg inspections made in 1946, only 16% of the eggs offered for sale in the State of Md. were labeled properly as to egg size and quality. In 1958, the percentage rose to 87%.

A marketing education program, carried out under the University of Maryland Egg Inspection Service of the State Department of Markets, has contributed to this tremendous improvement.

Close cooperation between the retailers and department inspectors, coupled with application of modern research, has enabled retailers to move the eggs faster, to package and refrigerate them better, and to insure Mrs. Housewife of getting "Grade A" eggs when she buys a carton of eggs which are labeled "Grade A."

While the egg inspectors check for proper labeling of eggs offered for sale the quality of eggs cannot be improved by policing. Better egg quality can only be assured through the desire of the retailers to offer the best product possible.

Thus, the inspectors serve in two capacities by regulating the labeling of eggs offered for sale, and through technical advice given to the retailers.

With a revolving lure you must use both a keel sinker and a good swivel behind it; either one won't work alone.—Sports Afield.

Japan—Land of Crafts

by GÖRAN E. HOLMQUIST

(Mr. G. E. Holmquist, President and Artistic Director of the world-famous contemporary home furnishings store, BONNIERS of Madison Avenue, New York, recently visited Japan and met many leading craftsmen and designers.)

"Contemporary Japanese designers are incorporating the old with the new, but everything is unquestionably Japanese. These items, with their simple and pleasing design, will undoubtedly find their way into American homes."

"When I was in Japan, I purchased and brought to America graceful lamps, baskets, pottery and articles of lacquer and wood for a Japanese Exhibition in our Madison Avenue store. Some designs were made exclusively for Bonniers."

"The fork was chosen as an emblem for our exhibit as it incorporates the elements looked for in contemporary Japanese design—tradition, selected material and skilled workmanship. The design is derived from traditional cutlery, influenced by the balance of the chopstick."

ly which handed the Phelanmen their first Conference loss in six outings. The Terrors came into the game with a 5-4 league log and were the decided underdogs.

Dave Markey of the Blue and White ignited the winning rally with two foul shots which cut the Mounts' margin to 82-79 with only 40 seconds left. Ten seconds later Dave Martin scored a field goal to make it 82-81. With 16 seconds remaining Dave Sullivan of the Terrors was fouled and he sank two free tosses to put Western Maryland in the lead, 83-82. Sullivan scored 16 points, including 4 for 6 from the foul line.

The Blue and White worked the ball downcourt and Samuels made the protested shot. The score was even at 75-all when Jerry Savage scored three points, Samuels scored two and Mike Callahan one, to put the Mounties ahead 81-75 with less than two minutes remaining. It was the biggest lead either team enjoyed during the evening.

Savage topped the Mounts with 25 points and Dick Talley added 21. Richie Klitzberg made 19 for the opponents. Jim Phelan's men now have a 10-3 over-all record.

LETTERS

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

Two weeks ago a fed-up adult published a complaint concerning the Teen-agers of this community. This person said that the Teen-Agers are always saying: "What can we do? Where can we go?" Actually, what is there to do besides spend the time on the streets or in some of the down-town stores? Some suggestions were listed in this article such as: Put on the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, learn to cook, scrub the floors, etc. What should we do after this is all finished? There is no regular recreation around here besides bowling, which we don't have the money for. If the fed-up adults of this community would keep themselves occupied with something constructive, they would not have time to be bothered by the Teen-Agers.

I will give you an example of what the younger generation of this community can do. Several years ago, a group of us youngsters was playing ball in an alley. A lady living about one-fourth of a block away complained that we made too much noise for her and even called the local police. At his (the cop's) request we stopped playing ball in this alley. What were we supposed to do then? About a week later her younger relatives were playing ball at this same place. We didn't call the police. Should we have?

I agree that some teen-agers do get into trouble, but I could also name many adults who have a habit of getting into trouble. Should we all be criticized because of the few who get into trouble? I believe that this town could have more entertainment if the driver's seat would be turned over to some younger people, rather than to be shackled by "Old Elephants" who have come to the "Burial Ground" to die.

A Bitter Teen-Ager

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

I am a teen-ager of sixteen. Last week I read up on the teenage articles and I want to put my two cents worth in. As you may well know the teen-agers have no place except the bowling alley to go to. Some of the "old fogies" around the town give me a pain. They never see the good things we do, never, but let us make one little mistake and oh brother, they're down our throats. We usually have to go out of town for pleasure. Some people say the world owes us nothing, I know that but this town does!

A Teen-Age Girl

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

Here is my view of just what the world is like today. It's funny, but adults seem to have their own ideas on how teen-agers should talk and act, and that's it! Maybe they get it from movies or TV. Sometimes even we have to be taught the things we're supposed to say and the way we're expected to look. I guess everybody exaggerates—adults as well as teen-agers. At any rate, just to set up the idea so the record will be straight, we the teen-agers think that when you're a teen-ager, it's time you grew up. The idea now is to be a little polished, to play it casual, not to seem to be trying too hard, to seem as if you don't care. We do, of course, care about our appearance and all, but we don't want to make a big production out of it. We don't want people to feel sorry for us, or look down on us as if we're monsters. It's our world and we like it, neither beat nor boho and we're not going out of the way to prove anything—we just want to live and have fun like everyone else—remember you change as the world changes.

A Teen-Ager

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

I am a teen-ager and I would like to first express my appreciation to the teen-agers and adult sympathizers for their letters to the Editor. I hope that the so-called "Fed-Up Adults" realize that this town is growing very slowly compared to neighboring towns such as Thurmont and Taneytown. Why? Because parents don't wish to raise their children in a town where there is no form of recreation. I don't think too many teen-agers rely on their parents for recreation. You may consider your teen-agers babies but that doesn't mean we are! You can say teen-agers haven't any backbone. Well, by the letters answering yours, I think it shows that we do. Speaking for the majority of us, we do our homework and read books on week-days, but on Friday and Saturday nights there is no form whatsoever of recreation. Most of us do our share of household chores and if you can't get your teen-agers to do any work around the house I would say you are not a very good disciplinarian. When many teen-agers reach the twenties, they expect to move from this town. This is an ideal town for the elderly generation like yourself maybe, but we want to raise our children in a city or town where they can find the recreation needed. In summer we have nothing to do; no swimming pool or anything, and there are

Hog Cholera Losses
Running High

Hog cholera, the country's worst swine killer, has caused serious economic losses in Maryland and nearby states, the Maryland State Veterinary Medical Association reported.

There have been numerous reports of outbreaks in various parts of the State, and it has been conservatively estimated that more than 600 hogs have been struck with the disease. Delaware reports at least 630 cases in recent months.

The annual national loss to farmers is estimated at $50,000,000 and many authorities fear that a severe wave of outbreaks is in the offing.

The disease, which strikes heavily in late spring, late fall and early winter, is highly infectious and the death rate is very high. Those few animals that do recover are usually stunted.

The veterinarians, declaring there is much confusion among farmers as to how hogs behave when they are coming down with cholera, describe it as a "tricky" disease that may behave somewhat differently on different farms.

The owner should be on the watch for "slow pigs" with indifferently appetites. As the disease progresses, the animals resent being disturbed and when on their feet they may walk with a staggering, weaving gait. Other signs include prostration and stuck eyelids, muscular twitching, convulsions and an occasional cough.

There is no cure for cholera, the veterinarians report. The only way to cope with the disease is to adopt vigorous preventive measures before an outbreak occurs. Research has shown that veterinary vaccination of all pigs when they are two-to-four months old usually gives excellent control of cholera.

City Forced To Raise
Power Rates

The City of Memphis, Tenn., has increased its electric rates 18.5 per cent to keep the city's new $121,000,000 steam plant operating on a sound financial basis.

It was this steam plant that was built three years ago to replace the proposed plant to be built by a combination of business-managed utility companies. President Eisenhower on July 11, 1955 cancelled this so-called "Dixon-Yates" contract upon receipt of information that the City of Memphis would build the plant.

The raise in rates is effective immediately, according to United Press International.

The rate increase hits the residential users the hardest. Some will pay as much as 39 per cent more for their electricity, according to the press association. Industrial users were hit with the smallest increase, about 11 per cent.

Ray Morton, president of the Memphis Light, Gas and Water Division, had told a special hearing to the city commission that the utility faced a $6,800,000 deficit in 1960.

Safety Is Year
Around Project

It is frequently said that no program designed to minimize traffic tragedies can succeed without support and full co-operation of all public information media. We all know how much the radio and television industries now contribute, but we cannot fail to state also that from the earliest days of motor age, the newspapers of America, from the largest daily to the smallest weekly, have been decrying the hazards of the road and urging their readers to use caution.

Hammering away day after day, year after year, the press of America has contributed mightily to highway accident prevention. While much of the matter published is at the instigation of traffic agencies and safety groups, the newspapers themselves have conceived and instituted many traffic safety promotions without outside stimulation or assistance.

Follow this column for safety messages from area officials.

SCHOOL MENU

The school lunch menu for the Emmitsburg Public School for the week beginning January 25 is as follows:

Monday — Beef and noodles, green beans, stewed tomatoes, plums or baked apples, milk, bread and butter.

Tuesday — Hamburger on bun, buttered corn, potato chips, orange sections, Jello or chocolate pudding, milk, bread and butter.

Wednesday — Franks on roll, mashed potatoes, sauerkraut, cherry crisp, milk, bread and butter.

Thursday — Baked ham, sweet potatoes, mixed vegetables, lettuce wedges, little apple pies, milk, bread and butter.

Friday — Egg salad on lettuce, tomato or noodle soup, celery and carrot strips, jello fruit salad, custard, milk, bread and butter.

not enough jobs for everyone. Why can't we have some form of recreation? Maybe it's lack of funds. I'm sure that if this town tried to provide some type of recreation, the teen-agers would give it their full support in whatever way we could.

—Dissatisfied Teen-Ager

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH

High Cost Of Fashion

Mary was pretty, plump, 18 and very interested in her first job. She was also interested in her good-looking young supervisor. So after he had made a few teasing references to her well-rounded curves, Mary decided to lose weight in a hurry.

Without consulting anybody, Mary planned a rigid diet for herself. "A wisp of hay and half an apple" pretty much described her menu for each meal. Her parents were horrified, of course, but she ignored their protests. Sure enough, after a while Mary was fashionably slim.

She decided to expand her diet a bit. But now she found she had no appetite, so she didn't eat much more than before. And although she didn't intend to, she lost more weight. Now Mary admitted to her uneasy mother that she felt tired all the time, and her legs would hardly take her up the stairs to her bedroom at night. To the suggestion that she eat more, she said she couldn't.

Then Mary's mother took her to the family doctor. He took some chest X-rays. A couple of days later he had a laboratory test made. Then he told them . . . Mary had tuberculosis.

How did she get it? Well, like millions of other Americans, Mary had carried TB germs in her lungs for years. All that time they were quiet and could have remained inactive for the rest of her life. But Mary's reducing diet, lacking a doctor's supervision, had brought on malnutrition, a state that is practically an invitation to active TB.

Mary was in the hospital for six months. Back home again, Mary continued to rest, take her prescribed drugs and eat properly. Now, 20, Mary is once again pretty and, while not yet plump, she had paid so high a price. If she ever wants to regain it, it's a safe bet she'll do any future reducing under a doctor's guidance. This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by your Tuberculosis Association.
