That old bugaboo, vandalism, has reared its unwelcome head once again in our little community. Destruction to the baseball park property is reported at an all-time high, officials of the club report. It appears that certain individuals are crusading for the complete destruction of the once beautiful Community Field. Officials report fences broken down, the concession stand burglarized and damaged extensively, toilet room windows broken out and dugout water fountain destroyed. In addition both dugouts are littered with trash and beer bottles. In a general sense the property has been rendered almost useless to the town under present conditions. This action is very regrettable and should be checked into immediately and the offenders punished and made to pay for their destruction. Many of the offenders are generally known and the property is now under constant surveillance. This won't restore the property I know but it should serve as a warning that those responsible are now being watched. Bringing the field and buildings up to its present status cost a lot of money and hard work by individuals throughout the years and at one time we had one of the most beautiful ball parks in the state. . . . look at it now. Officials of the club really have a reconstruction job cut out for them this year. The vandals didn't restrict their nebulous activities to the ball park by any means. Extensive damage has been done to the Boy Scout clubhouse adjacent the field. It must be realized that the boys worked hard to obtain this building and certain individuals and organizations were generous in their donations of both time and money in providing the means for the construction of the house. It's a shame the damage that has been reported.

Anglers report fishing about average this year on Maryland streams. They're telling about the little eight-year-old girl who went out the opening morning of trout season and was doing really well soon after starting. Seems her mother was constantly warning her about falling into the stream during the excitement. The youngster just about had her limit shortly after starting when suddenly her Ma slipped and dipped into the chilly stream, at 6 a. m. Needless to say whose face was red then? After rescuing her mother the lass went on to complete her creel limit. . . . Oh for the life of a barber's wife.

Inconsiderate individuals parking their cars on the town streets overnight have caused the State Roads Commission to take action to check the practice. No parking signs have been erected in a section of town prohibiting parking at any time now. Just a little common sense and consideration by some car owners could have prevented this inconvenience to the general public. It is a regrettable incident with parking so scarce within the town limits at the present time.

Another community project well completed. Reports indicate the community car wash last Saturday was a splashing affair. The Jaycees rolled up their sleeves, donned dungarees and boots and went to work from dawn to dusk. Reports indicate that over 80 vehicles received a well-needed bath.

"Doc" McCullough's back in town again after a recent jaunt to New Orleans and is beaming just as the cat that swallowed the canary does. Seems as though the "Doc" was made an honorary citizen of New Orleans at ceremonies held in City Hall presided over by the Mayor himself. "Doc" is proudly showing his certificate and gold key.

Democrats Lead In County Registration

Registration for the May 17 primary in Frederick County showed Democrats leading Republicans by a majority of 3,974 as the books were closed this week prior to the election. Final day registrations showed 77 Democrats and 50 Republicans placing their names on the county's election books.

Registrars Russell House and Ruth E. Moberly, of the Board of Election Supervisors, reported 23 persons who had moved since the last election transferred their registrations from one precinct to another in the county or city.

The new registrations bring the total number of Democrats registered in the county to 15,516 as opposed to 11,542 Republicans and 405 persons declining party affiliation.

Emmitsburg District showed the largest increase in new registrations in the county and one Emmitsburg precinct had more new voters than were recorded anywhere in a single precinct, even in Frederick City.

The total number of voters now registered in Frederick County, 27,463, was described by House as "about average." He pointed out that the number of registrations deducted from the official death list and those who will be removed from the registration rolls since they have not voted for the past five years will reduce the total registration somewhat before the primary.

The registration total may also vary when records are forwarded to the local registration office of voters who have moved to other parts of Maryland and registered there this year, House added.

All registration for the coming primaries ended last Saturday. No further registration will be permitted until 10 working days after the May 17 primaries, which will be May 28.

Registration for the general election will then begin and will last until September 26. No further registration will be permitted until 10 days after the general election on November 8.

The registration office in the Court House will remain open from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. on Mondays through Fridays until the primaries. There are no plans at the moment for working any extra hours at least until the general election.

Generally little interest is shown in a primary. There are two contests on the Democratic ticket. They are for the presidential candidate and for the congressional seat.

General Chairman Harold M. Hoke reported the event a huge success and expressed gratitude to Bernard H. Boyle, local merchant, for his generous donation of candy for the affair. Most children were able to find a "convenient" number of eggs and a number of prize eggs was cashed in, the chairman reported.

Local Election Generates Little Interest

Apathy on the part of citizens in the coming Town Election may cause the ballot to carry only one name next month.

With the coming election scheduled for Monday, May 2, and the deadline for filing tonight at midnight, the town finds itself without a candidate for the office of commissioner and not even a hint of opposition for the Burgess' position. At the present time the incumbent Burgess, Clarence G. Frailey, is the only candidate who has filed in the election and unless last-minute changes occur Mr. Frailey's name will be the only one on the ballot. To date no one has filed for the office of Town Commissioner. The term of Dr. J. W. Houser who is serving out the unexpired term of resigned Commissioner Fern R. Ohler, expires this year. Candidates have until midnight to announce their intention of running for office. Declarations must be in writing and mailed or presented to the town clerk, Charles D. Gillelan before midnight tonight. Should there be no individuals interested in the Commissionership the incumbent, J. W. Houser will serve until a successor is appointed by the Board of Commissioners.

Registrar Charles D. Gillelan closed the registration books April 16 and today the total of registered eligible voters in the Town stands at 436.

THIS 'N THAT

GEORGE W. WIREMAN

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of articles on Chicago, the second-largest city in the United States. This week, the author takes a look at the city as it is today, some 88 years after the disastrous fire of 1871.

Chicago—1960

Today, the City of Chicago, Illinois is a boom town. This is what Chicago always was, ever since the first trading post got started on this windy corner of the country and Lake Michigan.

After the tragic fire of 1871, the citizens of Chicago, with faith, courage, and the unbounding determination set out to build a city that would rise above the ruins; a city that would be greater in every respect from the city as they knew it before the fire. And they have done just that.

Today, Chicago is the busiest of the world's airports. It is the number one city in the production of diesel engines and railroad equipment. It is tops in tool and die making, in the manufacture of metal parts and roller bearings. Chicago is first in meat packing, first in the grain trade, first in butter and egg sales, first in produce handling, and first in the manufacture and distribution of electronic equipment.

Today, Chicago is the third largest oil refining center in the United States, and the eyes of Texas in this respect, are busy watching Chicago. In 1956 Chicago's water borne freight weighed in at twice the tonnage passing thru the Panama canal.

As this great city booms, so do the suburbs of this city expand and flourish. Attractive shopping centers have been built to serve the residential suburbs. Today, Chicago stands at the crossroads of our nation. The factory and the farm provide a stable base for her economy. The men and women that make up the population of Chicago represent a thousand skills. The most diversified commercial and industrial setup on earth is a ready employer of these skills and services.

Today, Chicago can be looked upon as the vast, vital, surging boom town by the lake.

A stranger coming to Chicago can find, with little trouble, prosperity, security and above all, happiness.

In 1957 Chicago held an industrial fair which was known as the "Chicagoland Fair." This fair was designed to give the world a view of an industrial giant that was just beginning to grow and now three years later, is still growing by leaps and bounds.

Chicago as we look at it today is spreading out in three directions . . . North . . . South . . . and West. There is fabulous growth in the suburbs and the city fathers tell us that expansion is unlimited.

Chicago stands astride two great inland waterways . . . the Great Lakes and the Lakes-to-Gulf waterway. Even now, upon the completion of the St. Lawrence seaway and the Calumet-Sag canal, Chicago's water traffic exceeds that of the Panama canal, and tops that of such great ports as Boston, Philadelphia, Norfolk, and even San Francisco.

In 1956 in the Chicago Tribune Magazine section of September 2, Dr. John H. Garland, economic geographer at the University of Illinois made this prediction concerning Chicago's growth. In his article he wrote:

"Only one city in the world is so favored by geographic location that it cannot help but emerge as the greatest of all continental cities (that is, cities deeply inland without access to sea water), and possibly the largest in the world. The name of that city is Chicago."

The rapid growth of Chicago into metropolitan stature has become an international phenomenon. It has become the second largest city of the continent by the census of 1890. It is in Chicago that one can find the focusing point of all transportation systems in the heartland of the continent . . . railroad lines, airways, motorways, and waterways, carrying freight and passengers from east coast, west coast, the Gulf of Mexico, and Canada.

Today, Chicago is busy in every respect. It is busy building better things for better living. It is a city of unlimited energy whose plants today produce more television sets, sporting goods, candy, soap, cosmetics, meat products, and furniture than any other place in the world. And this is saying a lot.

Recently I came upon a chart that outlined the things that Chicago is tops in, and if you will allow me, I shall present some of them here, and if you will read closely you will note that the first letter of each word represents our alphabet from A to Z.

Chicago is tops in many things and they include among others, the following:

Appliances, Ball and Roller bearings, Candy and Confections, Diesel engines, Education and Electronics, Farm equipment, Grain, Highway transportation, Industrial research, Jewelry, Kitchen and housewares, Libraries, Meat packing, National "GHG" (that is national headquarters for many organizations), Oil Refining, Plastics and printing, Quarry, Rail transportation and equipment, Steel and Soap manufacture, Tool and die making, Underwriting insurance, Vending machine manufacture, Warehousing, X-ray tubes and equipment, and Yard goods. This covers every letter in the alphabet but Z and give them time and they will cover this also.

The source of the above information is from the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, and one may secure further information along these lines by writing to this organization for details.

Chicago has a lot to offer the sportsman. There is yachting on the lake. Baseball, skeet shooting, golfing, fishing, football, horseracing, and many more.

In Chicago today, art is everywhere. There is music and knowledge as well as every type of entertainment one can think of.

There is a job for every skill known to man.

In speaking of Chicago as the world's greatest transportation center, it is easy to see how it received this title. Chicago is the Eastern terminal for the Western lines; the Western Terminal for Eastern lines; and the Northern terminal for the Southern lines. Put these all together and you can well see why Chicago has been given the title of the world's greatest transportation center.

Today, Chicago stands unchallenged as the medical center of the world. In past years the ailing, seeking the services of a specialist, traveled to Vienna, but today they go to Chicago, the seat of the greatest concentration of specialists and medical centers in the universe.

Today, we are living in the atomic age, and are about to enter the space age. In speaking of the atomic age, Chicago must be remembered as the birthplace of the atomic age. Atomic energy hit Chicago on December 2, 1942 and many citizens have come up with the impression that, "It has not been the same since."

December 2, 1942 was the day that Enrico Fermi achieved the first self-sustaining nuclear chain reaction, an event which has changed the course of civilization. Chicago is mighty proud of this claim, and again proves that this city, located at the crossroads of America, is wide awake, and making its contributions to the world, that you and I might have better things for better living.

At this point, I would like to borrow the slogan of E. I. DuPont Co. and change it around a bit to read: "Better things for better living, come to Chicago."

And so as this series of articles on Chicago comes to an end, I should like to sum it all up in a few words and to pay tribute to its many fine citizens who make the city as we know it today.

In Chicago, destiny is what her people make it. The city to which ambitious Americans have gone for a century or more, believing in just one thing: "Whatever it is, the job you can get in Chicago is the best job you can get anywhere." And to this I might add that the future of Chicago will, without a doubt, conform to the Chicago pattern.

The best Chicago can do for her people is the best that can be done anytime, any place, and by anybody.

I am deeply indebted to Walter R. Martin, a citizen of Chicago, for his contribution to the articles on the great Chicago fire and to Otto J. Martin for his contribution to this article covering Chicago as we know it today. Without their help, these articles would have been impossible. And it is with great pleasure that I dedicate this series to them.

Fantasyland Offers Replica Of Lincoln Train For Kiddies' Pleasure

GETTYSBURG — Youngsters visiting this city will have an opportunity to ride on an exact replica of the train that brought Lincoln to Gettysburg in 1863, Kenneth Dick, manager of Fantasyland announced this week.

Dick said that during the winter a replica of an 1863 depot has been erected, and 1500 feet of track has been installed along with two bridges and a 70 foot tunnel.

The train includes a scale model engine and two coaches—each coach capable of seating 12 adults, which has been constructed in exact accordance with the blueprints for the train which brought Lincoln here November 18, 1863.

000,000 tourists during the coming months.

The train is the first of a series of developments which will bring the Battle of Gettysburg period to the Fantasyland to join the Mother Goose story book atmosphere created when the children's play center was established last year.

For the EastGer opening, Peter Rabbit strolled around the park which features a huge Mother Goose, workshops for Santas Helpers, Story Book Characters, deer and other animals.

Reopening of Fantasland coincides with the beginning of the tourist season in Gettysburg. The Travel Council Information Office reopens this week, and other museums and tourist centers are reopening.

The new entrance highway into Hancock Avenue on the Battlefield has been opened, permitting tourists to easily enter the Battlefield area again and generally the community has completed its preparations for an expected 1-quiet waters of the coves, bays and tidal marshes are habitats that furnish spawning, nursery feeding and resting ground for striped bass, weakfish, croakers snappers and many other marine fishes. Damage or destruction of the streams and marshes, through pollution, draining, dredging or filling-in, threatens the future of bay and inshore fishing.

One may say, why worry about marshes or land that borders our bays, for we are interested only in the fish that we may catch. When we stop and realize that the complete life of the sea is closely related to the minute life that creates the food that bait fish, shrimp and others feed upon, we can better understand that one or two broken links in nature's chain of productivity causes disastrous results.

There is a large accumulation of phosphorus and nitrogen in sections of the bays during various periods of the year, according to the scientists, and while some of these nutrients are organic and associated with sediments, others are dissolved in water as organic and inorganic phosphates and nitrates. A large amount of this material is washed over the marshes by the rise and fall of the tidal action. This is an extremely valuable nutrient for the growth of the plant life that inhabits the marshes, and as the fall season approaches and many of such plants die and decompose, this reserve supply of food is then slowly fed back into the bay waters which promote the existence of numerous kinds of organisms that help much of the young marine life that has been born in the waters of the bays. If sewage, industrial pollutants, erosion, superinsecticides and radioactive wastes are allowed to continue to encroach upon clean coastal waters, then it may be too late to protect the spawning grounds for many species of marine fishes that visit our northern waters.

The great coastwise movement of fish that takes place each year along our eastern shores is controlled by the amount of food that is available, and when this food supply is traced to its source, one discovers it to be not the minnow, shrimp and shellfish life, but instead the weakly swimming or passively floating organisms called plankton. The importance of pollution-free streams and rich marsh areas is closely related to good inshore spawning grounds.

To achieve the desired results where we can enjoy better fishing along our coastal waters, we must rectify the damage that has been done over a period of years and find some means of creating funds for scientific research for corrective controls.

Deadline Near
On Poster Contest

A poster contest is being conducted in the schools of Maryland in conjunction with Correct Posture Week, May 1-7, sponsored by the Maryland Chiropractic Association.

Children in the fifth and sixth grades in any school in the state are eligible, according to Dr. Lee Carter, chairman of the association correct posture education committee. First, second and third prizes worth $50, $25 and $15 will be given for top state winners, Dr. Carter said. In addition, the various components of the Maryland group are giving prizes for their areas of $25, $15, and $10. He said that the state winners will be picked from those who win area prizes.

Posters will be judged on the forcefulness with which they convey a good posture message, and on artistic ability and neatness.

Entries may be sent directly to Dr. Carter, 715 West Montgomery Avenue, Rockville, Md., except from those certain schools in Montgomery, Prince Georges, Allegheny and some Eastern Shore counties where the contest is being carried on through staff instructors. School entries will be collected not later than April 25. Those being sent directly to Dr. Carter must reach him by May 2.

All posters become the property of the Maryland State Chiropractic Association and cannot be returned.

Those of us who can look back to when channel bass of 30 and 40 pounds were fairly common along the East Coast, and croakers, large yellowfin and tide-running weakfish were plentiful in the bays and sounds, cannot help but be somewhat saddened by the current fishing state of affairs.

The preservation of estuary and tidal marsh areas is recognized by many of our leading biologists as vital to the survival and future growth of most marine fishes that inhabit our coastal waters during the spring, summer and fall months, states Robert D. Hall, Salt-Water Fishing Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. These

Jet Age Progress

Yesterday, in the mid-twenties, it was easy to get a seat on an airliner—for passengers were few. It took more than 10 years—1926-37—before the first airline (American) could say it had flown a million passengers.

Today, in the Jet Age, American Airlines carries nearly a million each month. To keep track of seat reservations—an enormous job for the airlines—AA employs the latest electronic marvels.

Tomorrow, thanks to a remarkably advanced reservations system called SABRE perfected recently for AA by IBM, behind-the-scenes procedures now taking 45 minutes will take 3 seconds. Result: vast improvement in passenger service—as dramatic in its way as that provided by the jet airliner itself.

More Hospital Care Means Better Health

During the last quarter century, Health Information Foundation reports, the use of hospitals in this country has increased by about 20 per cent. The average American now spends almost one day for each year of life in a general hospital.

The increase in hospital utilization, the Foundation points out, comes from two contrasting factors: a rise of almost 80 per cent in admission rates, partly offset by a decrease of about one-third (from 12.5 to 8.6 days) in the average length of stay per patient.

Thus the average person today stands a greater chance of becoming a hospital patient than he would have 20 or 30 years ago. Once hospitalized, however, he usually goes home much sooner.

"Clearly," says the Foundation, "the rise in admissions reflects the growing importance of hospitals for almost all types of medical care, and is a major reason behind recent medical progress. The decline in average length of stay per patient is very much the result of new medical knowledge, early ambulation following surgery, new medical and surgical procedures, and new pharmaceutical products."

As the chart illustrates, admission rates to general hospitals have risen sharply for all adult age groups in recent years. But the rate for children under 15 has actually dropped mainly because of the decline in tonsillectomies and appendectomies made possible by improved methods of treatment. The increase in total admissions results largely from the growth in hospitalization for obstetrical reasons. Two decades ago, says the Foundation, less than 40 per cent of all babies born in this country were delivered in hospitals. Now, with infant and maternal mortality at all-time lows, the figure is about 95 per cent.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson is Optimistic, Whatever Happens

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 21—I am a statistician,—not a politician. Most statisticians promise the impartial truth while most politicians appear to promise what will get them the most votes. As a result of the later, the following facts are entirely forgotten. People allow themselves to get scared and vote foolish sums of money, thinking that they will thereby have security, freedom from accident, and employment.

Note These Figures

Although the daily newspapers feature crime, yet only one in 10,000,000 will tomorrow suffer or witness any crime. When a man is killed by lightning it is reported all over the country, yet only one man out of every 5,000,000 will be killed by lightning in the next very bad storm. Business failures are increasing; but they are decreasing on a percentage basis. The stock market has to go down before it can turn up. If trees grew any higher they would blow down. Everything which happens is for the best.

During the past ten years the population of the U. S. his increased 18%; the gross national product has increased almost 70%; consumer income, even after taxes, has increased 60%. No figures on crime, accidents, or juvenile delinquency can equal these increases.

Cost Of Living Downward

The politicians and labor leaders present figures to show that the "cost of living" is constantly going up. This is because new products, greater conveniences, and other items have been added to the list which makes up the index. If it covered just the things I had when I was a boy in Gloucester—and my father was a well-to-do merchant—the U. S. "cost of living" index would be only one half the figure now published.

From every point of view I am an optimist. Even the accidents and deaths by automobiles are much less than those from the "horse and buggy", when figured on a mile basis. The cost of light, heat, and power has continually decreased. Even food has dropped in price—for the same menu which we had in my boyhood days—and we were then as healthy and strong as are the young people today. We made our own candy, picked our own apples, and made our own cider; soft drinks were not then for sale.

Unemployment Is Optimistic

When unemployment statistics increase they are featured as dangerous and the stock market goes down! Yet the social workers tell us that the chief cause of juvenile delinquency is the fact that mothers are engaged in industry and away from home all day. When I was a boy, no mothers worked in factories. We kids were trained to help about the house and to help take care of the large families which most of our mothers had. I grew up as a "baby sitter", but never received or expected any pay therefor!

In those days the newspapers carried only news, with no entertainment features. We used to subscribe to the "Youth's Companion," or the "St. Nicholas Magazine," while our mothers had fashion magazines and cut patterns from tissue paper for the clothes which they made. Now all these and many other features come freely from the excellent newspapers. All that glitters is not gold, but much is gold that does not glitter.

What Eighty Years

Have Taught Me

Every Sunday I read a chapter from Bertha Conde's "A WAY TO PEACE, HEALTH AND POWER" (published by Score & Script, 76 Chestnut St., Boston, for $3.00). At the end of the book are several blank pages on which I write a line each month about something I had worried about that never happened. Then, when some new problem comes, I read those notes. They are better than any tranquilizer pills!

The same optimism is needed in business. Things run on about the same generation to generation. Human nature is not changed. We continue to spend one third of our life in sleep; and the less we eat, the better we feel; the more we exercise, the longer we live. The world is very slowly but surely getting better. We all should be optimists.

apparent additional starters this week for its 84th running on Saturday, May 21.

They are Harbor View Farm's Francis S. and Edward Seinfeld's Don Rickles, which ran one-two in the $25,000 Bay Shore Handicap last week at Aqueduct, and Ralph Lowe's west coast hopeful, New Policy.

Trainer Johnny Adams, who won the Preakness only six years ago as the jockey on Hasty Road, announced from Los Angeles that New Policy will not be ready for the Kentucky Derby on May 7, but is now pointing for the Preakness two weeks later.

New Policy, winner of three stakes this winter in California in which he gained victories over Tompion, Eagle Admiral and T. V. Lark, was set back in training by a virus and Wednesday was declared from the Derby.

Francis S. and Don Rickles appeared the best of the New York colts of Triple Crown age in their stakes race at Aqueduct, but neither is nominated for the Kentucky Derby.

Francis S., who earlier had won the Governor's Gold Cup at Bowie to establish himself as a title contender, is nominated only for the Preakness among the Triple Crown races.

Don Rickles, a surprise development in recent weeks with a pair of victories in classy allowance company, is nominated for the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes which winds up Triple Crown competition on June 11.

Third in the Bay Shore recently was Reginald N. Webster's Count Ambed who is expected to be a starter in all three Triple Crown tests.

Speaking from his training quarters at Hollywood Park, Adams, who quit riding only two years ago to turn trainer, said New Policy is training brilliantly again after his recent "head cold."

"He's been six furlongs in a minute, 13 seconds several times and I've never seen him looking better, but there's too little time left to make the Derby, so the Preakness is now our goal," Adams said. "If all goes well, we will get in a race at Hollywood Park and then fly New Policy east on Monday before the Preakness."

"Mr. Lowe just missed having a 'Horse of the Year' in Gallant Man in 1957 and he's dead set on winning one of the Triple Crown races this year. I'd personally like it to be the Preakness because I won it as a jockey as recently as 1954."

ECONOMY PROVED IN MOBILGAS RUN!

DEAL!!!!

A pair of Corvairs recently recorded 27.03 and 26.21 miles per gallon in the 2,061.4-mile Mobilgas Economy Run. That's certified proof that Corvair skimps on gas costs. It saves other ways, too. Corvair is the only U. S. compact car that never needs antifreeze or costly radiator repairs. Come in and drive the compact car that outdoes them all.

Things Corvair gives you that America's other compact cars can't:

Practically flat floor . . . real foot room for the man in the middle. Fold-down rear seat gives 17.6 cu. ft. of extra storage space. Four-wheel independent suspension for a smoother, flatter ride. Rear-engine traction . . . that comes with the engine's weight bearing down on the rear wheels.

You probably realize already that the mileage figures Corvairs recorded in the Mobilgas Run are higher than the average driver can expect. But because the cars met every kind of driving condition—rugged mountain grades, long country straightaways, congested city traffic—those mileage figures prove Corvair's inherent ability to save. Operating costs take a nose dive the day you take delivery of a Corvair.

COLOR II IN THE HOME

By Jacquelin L. McConaughy, Du Pont Color Stylist

A NURSERY should be many things. It should be bright, gay and homelike for the family's youngest member to sleep, play and grow in. It should be easy to keep healthfully clean, with practical surfaces that withstand the wear and tear of childhood, and mother's scrub brush.

Modern parents do not limit themselves to traditional pastels in decorating a nursery. Soft shades of green, sandalwood, gray, and yellow, compatible with contemporary home decor, can be charming and appropriate in a junior edition room, too. Deep colors, such as Chinese red, terra cotta, tan and dark gray, plus stark white, are being used increasingly as nursery accent colors.

Highly washable paint is the most sensible choice for most nursery surfaces, especially walls, woodwork and furniture.

Alkyd resin enamels, in flat wall paint as well as in lasting semi-gloss or gloss finishes, are ideal. All three sheens, as made by Du Pont, are odorless, easy to apply, washable and stand up to hard wear. They are available in a wide range of matching colors.

A few suggestions: paint upper walls and ceiling a light color (or dado) and woodwork in a practical darker shade that won't show smudges and marks of sticky fingers. Use one color for the room and two or three other bright, vivid colors as accents inside shelves and on cabinets, drawer fronts and other furniture. Sunny yellow walls with vivid accent colors sprinkled about will lighten a dark nursery. Paint colors.

the floor a brisk color, such as green, or finish it in a gay, multi-color spatter. Begin a child's color enjoyment early—in the nursery.

YOUNG IDEAS from Polly Ponds

"I spend a lot of time outdoors and my skin gets windburned and won't hold make-up very well. What can I do about it?"

A: Wind and weather is robbing your skin of its natural moisture, making it look and feel rough and dry. You can prevent this from happening by protecting the surface with a clear transparent moisture base.

Use this base as a make-up foundation. Dot it on your nose, forehead, cheeks and chin and blend it into your skin until it feels just slightly dewy. Now pat on a compressed powder.

You'll discover that this make-up will hold beautifully in all kinds of weather.

Looking Ahead

EDUCATION PROGRAM

A Red South America

While Nikita Khrushchev goes about the world rattling Russian sabres fearfully, boasting about Russia's alleged Lunik achievements, and threatening dire acts in the city of Berlin, thousands of his trained Fifth Column agents are setting up many Latin American nations for Communist take-over. It has been the Red expansion technique since the days of Lenin to make a big noise in one part of the world while doing the dirty work in a quite distant place. It is sound technique. It has worked.

The United States now finds itself being encircled by the establishment of Communist strongholds in Central and South America and in the vital Caribbean. Some widely circulated American publications are beginning to focus their journalistic eyes on this new and growing danger. Parade Magazine, the widely read Sunday newspaper supplement, recently published an article, "Moscow Marches Into Latin America," and the U. S. News & World Report has published a series, one of which was entitled: "Next Door to U. S.—One Continent Where Reds Are Busier Than Ever." Wide-Spread Penetration

The Parade article presented a map showing: "Current trouble spots — Cuba and Panama. Countries where new Castros might arise—Guatemala, Ecuador, Peru, Brazil, Bolivia, Argentina. Centers of Communist intrigue — Cuba, Peru, Chile, Uruguay." The U. S. News & World Report articles gives the following details:

Venezuela: Within 18 months Reds have tripled their strength, now are infiltrating the Venezuelan press.

Ecuador: Local Communists, with help from abroad, are plotting to sabotage the coming Inter-American Conference here.

Uruguay: Russians use this country's capital, Montevideo as headquarters for Red subversion throughout South America.

Peru: In drought areas and among students and bank workers, Reds are gaining ground with attacks on U. S.

In Every Country

Brazil: Communists, making a comeback, are under orders to stir up revolutionary mobs.

Bolivia: Reds and sympathizers are using strikes and mobs to sabotage the Government's recovery plan.

Chile: Using other left-wing parties, Reds almost elected a President, won strength in Parliament.

Cuba: In a full article on Cuba, the magazine noted with alarm that the Communists have established a mammoth stronghold just 90 miles from our border.

Because the consolidation of power in Cuba and the South American take-over are so important to the Communist plan for world control, all the Latin American Reds were under swaps during President Eisenhower's visits; just enough Communist student activity was permitted to assure comrades throughout the world that beachheads of power are present and active. Khrushchev and his Red agents in the South American capitals were determined that the U. S. President wouldn't return to Washington disturbed by a dramatic show of the full extent of Communist inroads and power in South America.

Authentic Reports

In Washington, Eudocia Ravines, who founded the Communist Party in Peru and later recanted and became a Christian, addressed a national meeting of Moral Re-Armament. "The Communists plans to make Latin-America another China," he said. "Cuba and Bolivia are the two principal bases of operation. From this axis world Communism plans to take over the continent."

Dr. Emilio Nunez Portuondo, former president of the Security Council of the United Nations and now editor of Latin American Events, reports that Castro in Cuba has set aside the Bay of Naranjo on the southern coast as a secret Russian submarine base. Major Diaz Lanz, Castro's former air force chief, testified that Castro told him: "I will keep the Cuban people hoodwinked while I gain time to get things organized in a military fashion. When the truth is found out I will be strong militarily . . . and able to kill 30 or 40 thousand if need be." Dale Francis, the American Catholic press writer who helped build up Castro, now says he has documented proof that Castro is a Communist.

And yet the take-over goes on—with only polite diplomatic statements from our government leaders! How long shall we survive?

Do You Hate A Maid? That is the title of a pamphlet which gives details as to what the housewife should do to report social security taxes for her maid. These pamphlets are available, without cost, at all Social Security offices.

Many housewives seem not to realize that the law requires them to send in social security taxes for any domestic worker to whom they pay as much as $50 in a calendar quarter. Even if they have a maid only one day a week and pay her only $4 a week during a calendar quarter (13 weeks) the maid's pay for the quarter will be $52. These wages should be reported and social security taxes paid.

Often housewives state that the maid didn't want social security; refused to get a social security number, and objected to having social security tax deducted from her pay. What the housewife usually doesn't understand is that she, as the employer, is held responsible for the full amount of the tax. The social security law provides that the employee pay 1/2 of the tax (3% of total wages) and that the employer pay an equal amount. The entire amount (6%) is to be sent to Internal Revenue Service by the employer.

Industries Donate To Hospital Fund

The first two corporate pledges to Frederick Memorial Hospital's $650,000 building fund, totaling $12,500, were reported this week by James R. Austin, chairman of the corporate division.

Mr. Austin reported gifts of $7500 from the M. J. Grove Lime Company and $5000 from the Everedy Company. Both gifts met the recommended level of corporate participation on the basis of $35.65 per employee.

"We are heartened that the corporate division has got off to such a good start," Mr. Austin said. "These first gifts set an impressive pace for the 55 firms which make up the corporate division."

Commenting on the use of Hill-Burton funds (Federal-state aid for hospitals), the corporate division chairman said:

"Naturally, every businessman is interested in a good bargain. Under the Hill-Burton Act, the hospital has a priority rating which should guarantee $1 in Federal support for every $2 contributed locally, provided the $650,000 goal is met.

"This is a rare opportunity to provide for ourselves and our employees the local hospital facilities necessary to guarantee the best of hospital care under our industrial hospital insurance program.

"Furthermore, if the goal is met, we will be providing for ourselves nearly $1,000,000 in expanded and modernized hospital facilities."

Noting that Frederick Memorial Hospital handled over 7,000 emergency cases during the past year, many of which were accidents occurring in local plants, Mr. Austin said:

"The advantages to our business firms of having adequate hospital care close at hand in times of emergency cannot be overestimated. With full recognition of this fact, and with continued support from our larger industries on the basis of $35.65 per employee, we will be able to provide the hospital facilities we need to secure our safety.

"The officers and board of directors of the Everedy Company

The employer must either (1) deduct the maid's part of the tax from her wages or (2) pay the full amount of the tax.

Household workers were brought under social security in 1951. Each year the number of these workers reaching retirement age is increasing. As they reach retirement age and give their employment history to the Social Security Administration, many employees are having to pay back taxes, plus penalties and interest.

The report on the January, February, March quarter will be due during the month of April.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

One of the busiest locations in Washington is 815 16th St., N. W., for here is headquartered an organization named COPE. It is indeed an organization the nation must learn to cope with.

In fact, the activity of this organization set up three years ago is the principal reason why Congressional leaders are constantly imploring independent businessmen, and all who believe in the free enterprise system to take a more active interest in government.

COPE stands for Committee on Political Education set up by the AFL-CIO. It also stands for the complete domination of the nation's governmental life.

According to the best estimates, in this country, out of a working force of some 58 million, there are only 17 million union members. Deduct those members who are only members by compulsion and the figure might get down as low as the reputed 3 million party members who run 220 million Russians.

In COPE's large and well staffed headquarters, there is constant activity financed by "voluntary" contributions by the nation's 17 million union members.

Detailed maps of voting precincts all over the country are maintained in COPE headquarters in Washington. In fact, these maps are so comprehensive individual houses are marked out.

As a further refinement, the economic interests and status of the family occupying each house are roughly defined. Thus, a dark line is drawn across all houses where a Cadillac is owned, a light line where certain other types of cars are owned.

But if a family is buying a washing machine on time, and COPE gets this sort of information, that home in due course is bound to be called on by a member of COPE's nationwide task force, usually organized on a local basis by leaders trained in Washington.

Here then, starts the local agitation to convince the susceptible that their best interests lie in talking, acting and thinking just like Big Brother COPE wants them to respond.

There has probably never been a better organized, a more minutely set-up operation in all history for the purpose of a minority taking over government without armed revolution.

And as the investigations by Sen. McClellan and Sen. Kennedy bring out more about certain gangster type operations going on in some labor circles, the more active COPE becomes.

Tough minded, shrewd, heavily financed, and with a definite goal in mind, COPE in three short years has become one of the most powerful operations in the nation.

Thus, labor moves on unchecked, despite public disgust with the Beck's, the Hoffas and the rest of that crew.

Only strong and effective organization on broad front will prevent that minority that is organized labor from becoming the master. Free enterprise will not long remain free unless it learns to cope with COPE.

A "How-To-Do-It" PAINT POINTERS.

Chemists predict that virtually all kinds of household paint in the fairly near future are likely to be water-thinned. They will eliminate the fuss and bother of smelly solvents, transforming clean-up into a simple matter of a washing with water, and, generally, making painting a lot more pleasant.

It took a while to convince old-timers that the water-thinned interior paints of today are unquestionably as durable (and easier to apply) as oil type, conventional materials. The latest development in water-thinned paints is the new "Lucite" acrylic house paint which tests show will last 50 per cent longer than conventional oil-type paints.

Additional advantages of solvent-free "Lucite" acrylic house paint used with its special companion primer over bare wood surfaces include: excellent adhesion over yellow pine; prevention of blistering in nine out of 10 cases when used over bare wood; hard, low sheen finish from which heavy rains wash off dirt and dust. Furthermore, the new material dries so fast a second coat can be applied without moving ladders, staging.

New Design for Modern Living Wears Look of Colonial Beauty

Well-designed space for the demands of modern living plus the beauty of traditional styling have been combined in this new home plan by Architect Herman H. York.

Along with traditional materials, such as wood windows and panel doors, the architect has included in this house some advantages of the traditional style that have been sacrificed in many so-called modern houses. Among them are the inviting covered porch, 3-level pitched roof, and the practicality of a 2-story house.

Shutters Widen Windows
The beauty of the front entrance is emphasized by a stock Dutch-door of ponderosa pine with columns on both sides of the opening.

Louvers shutters make the double-hung wood windows seem wider and are designed to harmonize with the deep color of the asphalt shingle roof. Besides providing color and traditional beauty, the asphalt shingles in a deep shade on the roof help to lower the exterior appearance of the house.

A 20-by-12 foot recreation room and wide foyer add to the spacious interior.

Insulation Insures Comfort
Architect York says a major attraction of the traditional design is good zoning. Living, dining, and meal preparation areas are separated and all bedrooms are on the second floor.

For year-round comfort, the architect specifies thick mineral wool insulation—at least 4 inches in ceilings and a minimum of 3 inches in walls. If the house is to be air conditioned, 6 inches of mineral wool in ceilings, at least 3 inches in walls and at least 2 inches in floors will make cooling more efficient and economical.

Further information, blueprints, and specifications can be obtained from Herman H. York, Architect, 90-04 161st Street, Jamaica, New York. Refer to Plan #7959.

Tydings Heads Kennedy Campaign In State

Joseph D. Tydings has been named executive secretary of the Maryland for Kennedy for President Committee and Edward J. Morris Committee treasurer. Tydings of Aberdeen and Morris of Baltimore join William D. Macmillan, chairman of the state committee, in a leadership group that soon will build an active statewide organization to turn out a heavy vote for Kennedy in the May 17 primary.

The three will operate out of state headquarters at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore and already have begun planning a Kennedy tour of the state expected during the week of May 12. Exact dates have not yet been established.

Senator John F. Kennedy said he was pleased to have three such outstanding Maryland Democrats to lead his supporters in the Free State.

Macmillan and Tydings said they already have been swamped with offers of volunteer help and hope to rapidly name all area and county chairmen.

Tydings, 32, is a former member of the House of Delegates and former president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland. He is chairman of the Governor's Committee to Study Municipal Sewerage Disposal Problems in Maryland and chairman of the Commission to Revise Maryland's Insurance Laws.

Tydings is past president of Harford County Junior Chamber of Commerce, vice-chairman of the Maryland chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, and a member of the executive committee of the Junior Bar Association of Maryland from 1957-59. He attended Aberdeen public schools, McDonogh School, University of Maryland where he received a B.A. in 1951 and was graduated from the University of Maryland Law School in 1953.

Tydings is a member of the board of the First National Bank, North East, First Harford Federal Savings and Loan, and Carolina Home Life Insurance Company. He is secretary and board member of the Mid-Atlantic Small Business Investment Company.

Morris, 60, is the President of the Morris Engineering Company of Baltimore. He has a B.S. degree from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Morris is a past president of the Engineers Club, and the American Society of Heating and Air Conditioning Engineers. He is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He also is a member of the Kiwanis Club of Baltimore and chairman of the Hibernian Society of the Baltimore Scholarship Fund.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read I Corinthians 15:20-28. And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead (Ephesians 1:19-20.)

In his play, The Trial of Jesus, John Masefield describes a scene between Pilate's wife and the Roman soldier who reported that the tomb of Jesus was empty. Excitedly she asked him, "Do you think He is dead?"

"No, lady, I don't," he replied. "Then where is He?" she inquired.

"Loose in the world, lady," he answered, "where no one can stop His truth."

This is God's declaration to all the forces of evil. Jesus of Nazareth has broken out of earth's prison! Christ has triumphed over sin, death, and the grave! He lives today!

The resurrection message brings hope to the Christian in this dark day. Christ's mighty power within us makes us conquerors over every temptation, sorrow, or loss in this present world. Moreover, He gives us immortality!

Prayer
Fill us, O Father, with Thy mighty power that we may be more than conquerors through Thy love. Help us to recognize Thy constant nearness to encourage and guide us always. Make us triumphant, through the power of our living Lord. In His name. Amen.

Thought For The Day
We find comfort and challenge in the words of the risen "Christ," Lo, I am with you always."

Gentle Pitter-Patter of Rain
Bad News for Leaky Roof

The pitter-patter of rain on the roof is a warm, relaxing sound. It gives a family a feeling of security in the protection of their home. But the pitter-patter of rain is far from warm and relaxing when it's inside the house—the result of a leaky roof.

Aside from the inconvenience and discomfort they cause, roof leaks can be expensive. Water coming through a leaky roof can ruin wallpaper, paint, plaster and over a period of time, even weaken vital timbers. There's also a chance of water causing dangerous short circuits in house wiring.

The best safeguard against a leaking roof is a regular inspection by a roofing contractor. Even after years of wear, many roofs deceive unlucky home owners by appearing to be in good condition.

If a new roof is needed, chances are the contractor will recommend asphalt shingles. This is because a reputable roofing contractor wants to offer his customers as many advantages as he can. One of these is that asphalt shingles can be applied directly over the present roofing material. This saves the cost, time, and mess of tearing off the present roof and helps protect interiors if bad weather occurs during re-roofing.

A home owner also saves with asphalt shingles because they are low in applied cost—engineered to be applied without trouble or wasted time.

A further advantage is the wide range of colors available. Color on the roof gives a house a distinct, individual personality. It can even help correct poor house designs.

If a house is tall and awkward looking, a dark shade of asphalt shingles will help the house appear lower. Lighter shades on a smaller house appear to expand and enlarge the structure. Asphalt shingles in white or lighter colors also reflect much of the sun's heat, helping to keep the house cooler in summer and adding to the efficiency of air conditioning.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

NOTHING IS TOO HARD FOR GOD

There is nothing too difficult for God!

Long after Abraham and his wife Sarah had passed the age of childbearing, God visited them, saying, "I am going to keep my promise which I made to you many years ago." Abraham fell upon his face and laughed. His was the laughter of joy, gratitude and faith that God was keeping His promise—that He was going to give them a child.

Therefore, the Lord was pleased with Abraham's laughter. Sarah laughed, too, but it was a different story here. God was displeased with her laughter and said, "Why did you laugh? Is anything too hard for the Lord?"

I think this is why Sarah laughed.

First, she laughed because of her age. "How can I renew my youth and bear a child now that I am old?" she asked.

It does sound ridiculous, doesn't it?

Second, Sarah laughed because she could not rationalize or reason it out.

Third, Sarah laughed because in all her knowledge and acquaintance she had never heard of it happening before. "Therefore," she reasoned, "how can it happen to me?"

laughed. It was a sort of nervous giggle one has when he is a little scared or not quite convinced.

Sarah's laughter was different from her husband's. Abraham laughed because he was glad. Sarah laughed because she doubted. So God said to Sarah, "Is anything too hard for the Lord?"

Then Sarah agreed with the Lord that there is nothing too hard for Him to do, and in course of time, Isaac, the son of promise, was born.

There is nothing too hard for the Lord! Another incident points this out:

One day Jesus told Peter to "launch out into the deep, and let down your net for a catch." Peter replied, "Master, we have toiled all night, and have taken nothing." But, inspired by Jesus' words, Peter struck a blow for deliverance. "Nevertheless, at thy word I will do it," he said. And he caught a surplus of fish!

If we think something is too hard for the Lord, our own little thinking limits His power to help us, and it becomes too hard. "He could do no mighty miracle there," it was written of His home town of Nazareth, "because of their unbelief."

God can and does perform miracles today. God can heal you in an instant, and God will deliver you, if you exercise your faith and are sincere in your belief that He will.

With God, all things are possible!

Have a Good Cry—Tears are useful for other purposes than getting a woman her own way, according to one scientist. He points out that tears keep the mucous membrane of the eye from drying out (bacteria just love dried-out mucous membrane) and that tears contain lysome, an enzyme that's poison to germs.

Doesn't Prove a Thing?—Researchers have been putting people in isolation, where not a single stimulus comes through to their senses, to see how they'd get along in outer space. They found that, although four men suffered hallucinations, a woman kept isolated for six days did not, and concluded that "under stress women are biologically superior to men."

Get Up and Close the Windows, Dear!—New for insomniacs is a battery-powered device that produces the pitter-patter of falling rain.

Bacteria, Well Done, Please!—Researchers inoculated frozen chicken pies with bacteria, found that only 0.1% survived when the pie was baked at 425°F. for forty minutes, but almost all the germs were alive and kicking after only twenty minutes. What's more, the twenty-minute pies were half raw.

Career Notes

By RUTH WADE RAY

Jobs for High School Graduates

At eight or nine, youngsters are sure of their goal—"I'm going to be a cowboy...an actress...an explorer...a spaceman." At seventeen, however, they may not be so sure.

Where do their skills and talents lie? How can they develop them—to fashion a career.

Perhaps interest lies in commercial art. Talented artists, a modern study outline, courses leading to careers in publishing, retailing, newspapers, magazines, advertising...are available in professional schools.

Teenage son interested in photography? He can study commercial, portrait or illustrative photography...develop his talent and skills under professional instructors. He will have the use of the School's modern equipment including cameras, lights, enlarging machines, etc. Result? A top flight photographer!

Young men are today often excelling women in interior decorating—once regarded as a "woman's" career. Fine opportunities at good salaries exist in all branches of home furnishings. Required—interest in room arrangement, period, color, design. This plus a feeling for fabrics...a flair for color...

Today's high school graduate can study fashion...polish his, or her, creative talent while acquiring technical information at one of the modern Ray-Vogue Schools.

When studies are completed, opportunity awaits in every facet of the fashion industry...as an illustrator, dress designer—or career girl in fashion merchandising.

Map Reading
Can Tell You
Where To Go

By Martha Johnson
Dodge Safety Consultant

THE NAVIGATOR for the family car probably has the same trouble I used to have. How to read complicated road maps!

Map reading isn't difficult. Those squiggly lines, abstract little symbols and the numbers in circles, squares, boxes and shields mean something and make reading a map fun.

The map "legend" will explain the various symbols. United States highways are indicated by shields with the highway numbers in them, state highways by circled numbers and country roads by boxes with route numbers in them.

The more important the road the thicker the line on the map. Different kinds of lines indicate the type of road.

Here's a special helpful trick I find useful. I turn the map so the highway I am traveling is pointing the same way as the road on the map. Although the names may be sideways or upside down, it makes it easier to know if a right or left turn is coming up.

While on the highway I keep in mind that several routes may share the same section of the road, so I look for signs indicating where the route turns or changes.

As I found out, a little concentration and practice are all that is needed to become a first-class navigator.

OUR STATE UNIVERSITY

The Psychiatric Institute of the University of Maryland School of Medicine has been awarded $125,000 from the National Institute of Mental Health to support the teaching of medical students and graduate training of psychiatrists.

According to Dr. Eugene B. Brady, professor of psychiatry and director of The Psychiatric Institute, the grant will be used to reevaluate the curriculum, improve teaching methods, support able teachers and establish techniques for selecting students capable of advanced work.

The University of Maryland School of Medicine is one of the few medical schools in the country to emphasize psychiatry in all four years of instruction. In his freshman year, the student interviews medical and surgical patients under psychiatric supervision and learns not only how to establish useful therapeutic relations but to observe the importance of emotions in physical illness and to recognize the social factors in disease.

The grant will also permit expansion of the curriculum to include such behavioral sciences as the psychology of learning, experimental psychology, sociology, anthropology, and study of growth and development of children, particularly as affected by emotional disorders.

The present teaching staff includes specialists in adult and child psychiatry, psychiatric social work, clinical psychology, and an internist with training and experience in psychotherapy. Two noteworthy aspects of the current program are emphasis on problems of logic and values in relation to psychiatry, as taught by Dr. John Reid, professor of philosophy in psychiatry, and on the biological basis of human behavior, as taught by Dr. Robert Grenell, professor of neurobiology in psychiatry, and his staff.

The graduate training program, designed to train psychiatrists, is being reevaluated in terms of greater emphasis on the preparation of psychiatrically trained physicians to teach and carry out research on disorders of human behavior.

by liability and property damage insurance.

The Commissioner of Motor Vehicles is authorized by law to suspend or revoke the registration plates issued to any motorist who made a false statement on his application for plates, or who has failed to pay "the fee." Also the Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund Law provides for severe criminal penalties against those who failed to pay "the fee," or have made any false or untrue statement.

Since it now appears that only approximately 4.6% of the total applicants for registration have indicated that they do not have insurance, in comparison with the anticipated total of 9%. The situation of maintaining the fund has become serious. A registration certificate secured by his representation constitutes possession of a false or fraudulent registration, and subjects the holder thereof to severe penalties. Colonel Jarman is in full agreement with the "get tough" policy of Mr. Jewell and will instruct the Maryland State Police to request motorists who have been stopped to display their driving license and registration card, which shows whether or not the $8 fee has been paid, together with their insurance card which all motorists are urged to carry as proof of insurance.

Commissioner Jewell believes that sufficient notice has now been given to those motorists who have given false insurance information on their registration applications and has stated that those who do not voluntarily remit the required $8.00 fee, but wait until they are apprehended by the police or by the Department's investigation, will be harshly dealt with under the full penalty of the law.

Farm Bureau Favors Get Tough Policy With Cuba

American Farm Bureau Federation, the nation's largest general farm organization, has recommended that Cuba no longer be given preferential treatment under the U. S. Sugar Act.

The AFBF Board of Directors recommended a four-year extension of the Sugar Act with amendments aimed at developing dependable sources of sugar supply domestically and in friendly sugar-producing countries.

The amendments would:

1. Provide the President authority for one year, subject to Congressional renewal, to make emergency adjustments in foreign quotas as necessary to protect the interest of the United States.
2. Provide for increases in the basic quotas for mainland areas of 150,000 tons for best sugar and 50,000 tons for cane.
3. Assure maintenance of Puerto Rico's present position under the Act with respect to basic quotas and growth.
4. Stabilize Cuba's quota at no more than the present level so long as present conditions prevail.
5. Revise the growth formula to permit greater participation in future market growth by domestic areas.

Guard Unit Receives Efficiency Rating

Company B (Fwd Spt), 729th Ordnance Battalion, Maryland Army National Guard, stationed at Highfield, Md., has received a rating of Superior in the annual general inspection held on January 25, it has been announced.

Capt. Charles A. Warner, commanding officer, of the unit, stated that word was received this week from the Second Army Headquarters, Fort George G. Meade. The inspection is conducted annually among both active and Reserve Units of the army. It measures the efficiency of the unit within prescribed army policies and assigned mission.

In attaining the highest inspection rating the unit had a strength of 88% authorized strength and an average attendance of 95% for the preceding 12 months. In addition, the unit maintained its record of 100% field training attendance for the sixth consecutive year.

Capt. Warner reported that preparations were being made for field training this year at Fort Bragg, N. C., from June 26 to July 10. Several Emmitsburg men are members of Company B.

CAR INSURANCE MISREPRESENTATION BEING CHECKED

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles John R. Jewell, announces that during a conference with Colonel Carey Jarman, Superintendent of the Maryland State Police, and Major George E. Davidson, Field Force Commander, Colonel Jarman pledged the full support of his force in tracking down those persons who falsely stated on their applications for 1960 license plates that they were properly covered

College Offering Educational Grants

Gettysburg College is offering grants covering all tuition fees for an accelerated mathematics contest for freshmen to be given June 8-August 3, 1960. "These grants are designed to encourage a limited number of exceptionally well qualified high school graduates to pursue a career in science or mathematics," according to Dr. Charles H. Glatfelter, assistant dean and director of the summer session.

Applications must be filed before May 1.

The intensive course in analytical geometry and calculus will prepare college-bound students for advanced work in mathematics, physical sciences and engineering. Applicants' academic standing, particularly in mathematics, must fully qualify them for the course. Recommendation by their principals and mathematics teachers is required. They need not intend to matriculate at Gettysburg College, however, Dr. Glatfelter said.

In addition, "a few" of the full tuition summer grants will also cover a college English course, and a few others will allow the recipients to take a tuition-free basic college physics course. Such successful applicants would thus receive a semester's credits worth approximately $300. "Much will be required," Dr. Glatfelter pointed out.

Several high school mathematics teachers also will receive grants covering tuition costs to take the accelerated mathematics course as a refresher, the college announced.

The course covers essentials of analytical geometry and differential and integral calculus. Eight semester hours of college credit will be given. Additional information about the course may be obtained from Charles R. Wolfe, dean of admissions, Gettysburg College, Gettysburg, Pa.

The analytical geometry and calculus program is the basic college course for freshmen who have completed four years of secondary school mathematics. It is
