BY ABIGAIL

I recently made a secret commitment with myself to lay off the teachers' pay angle or wrangle, as you may call it, but with the recent disclosures which have come to light I feel that the issue isn't quite settled to the satisfaction of all. It is easy to become confused with the politicking and machinations of various organizations and the propaganda organs which they operate. For quite sometime different Boards of Education have been misleading the public by issuing alarming reports that the teacher shortage was becoming acute and that many of them are resigning because of pay scales. This apparently was untrue, especially in our own county. It has been discovered by our County Commissioners and other bodies that the normal trend of teacher retirement, withdrawals or dismissals was entirely normal for this county or others in the state. The fact is that very few withdrawals were caused by dissatisfaction with the pay scale. This was brought out this week by the Frederick County Commissioners and the Frederick County Fact Finding Assn. Inc. No one has ever accused the teachers of being overpaid but many feel that wages in all professions, occupations or what have you, have reached a sort of leveling off stage due to the economic condition existing in the country today.

However, in all fairness to the parties concerned, and to the teachers especially who appear, according to some individuals, to be the victims of my wrath, I am going to publish a letter I received recently pertinent to the teacher situation, or should I say dilemma? The letter takes me to task for what, accusing me of being a bit biased and so forth, but I must agree that it is well written and has some outstanding points and merits publication. The letter follows:

Dear Abigail:

It has been interesting to note from time to time your views on the proposals for teachers pay raises. You have been consistent in your disapproval of any raise in salary even though you at times appear to be misinformed or at least you do not disclose the entire story.

You specifically mentioned last week that the James bill had taken care of teachers salary increases for the time being and you would have your readers believe that all teachers were granted an increase in salary—this is not true—only a minority of teachers throughout the state will receive a pay raise from this bill since it is based on longevity in the profession and too few good teachers have been able to afford financially waiting around for this increase in salary which is much overdue. You further mentioned that the teacher problem was not due to salary but to the law of supply and demand; the state must produce more teachers. You may very well have a point here but it would appear that you would have done better to use your column to attempt to defeat the provision of the Warfield Report whereby the State Teachers Colleges will become branches of the University of Maryland further decreasing the facilities for teacher education. It would appear that you have neglected consideration of this point in your argument — if this report does become a reality every teacher in the profession could assume that (from the law of supply and demand) there will be fewer teachers and the service they contribute is more valuable.

No one will deny that teachers have received increases in salary during the past few years. They were so grossly underpaid a few years back that it was embarrassing to them and it will take several such increases to even approach a reasonable salary schedule for them. It happens that teacher salaries are a matter of public record and in many instances this is unfortunate particularly in view of the fact that few if any other professions are in a situation that demands that their salaries be made a matter of public record — a comparison with other professions is not possible to show the inadequacies of teacher salaries.

Miss Rybikowsky Bride Of John Rooney Jr.

Miss Theresa Regina Rybikowsky, Montgomery, Ala., daughter of Mrs. Vincent Bernard Rybikowsky, Emmitsburg and the late Mr. Rybikowsky, became the bride of John William Rooney Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John William Rooney Sr., Montgomery, Ala., at Our Lady Queen of Mercy Church, Montgomery, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The nuptial mass was performed by the Rev. Joseph Toomey.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Paul Goulden, of Takoma Park, Md., wore a full-length gown of white silk organza designed with a sculptured neckline. The long sleeves tapered to a point at the wrist. The entire dress was appliqued with Alencon lace which was trimmed with iridescent and seed pearls. The back was highlighted by an obi sash poised at the waist. It had a fitted bodice and full skirt with a chapel train. The fingertip bridal veil of double silk illusion was attached to a coronet touched with pearlized bridal veil of iridescent. She carried a cascade clutch bouquet of lilies of the valley, white roses and stephanotis, which was placed at the Blessed Mother Statue. When leaving church she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis on a prayer book.

The altar was decorated with white stock, carnations, pink gypsophila, palms and emerald foliage. Stewart Caldwell, organist, accompanied the vocalist, Mrs. Isabel Watson, who sang Schubert's "Ave Marie," "O Esca Viatorum," "Panis Angelicus" and "Mother At Your Feet Is Kneeling" while the bride placed her bouquet at the statue of the Blessed Mother.

Mrs. Marion J. Capezio Jr., Baltimore, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of hyacinth silk organza of cocktail-length featuring triple-tiered bouffant skirts. The sculptured neckline dipped into a "V." The cap sleeves and waist were circled with bias-cut cummerbunds. Her headpiece was scrolled and adorned with iridescent and pearls covered with float veils. She carried a clutch style bouquet of pink vanity fair roses.

The bride attendants were Miss Barbara Francois, Flint, Mich.; Miss Patricia Dunn of Hornell, N. Y., and Miss Janet Whitsitt of Evansville, Ind. They wore gowns, headpieces and carried bouquets identical to the maid of honor's in the same color.

Ralph N. Rooney, Montgomery, Ala., was best man for his brother. Ushers were Andrew Russell, Milton VonMann and Pryor Smith, all of Montgomery; and Howard Smith, head usher, of Mobile, Ala.

The bride's mother wore a dress with a lace bodice and silk skirt of medium blue with matching accessories and a corsage of pink asters. The groom's mother wore a sheath dress of imported white linen with accessories to match and a corsage of purple asters.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the church hall for approximately 135 friends and relatives.

For the wedding trip to St. Simons Island, Ga., and Florida, the bride wore a beige and white cotton knit sheath with beige and yellow accessories. Upon their return the couple will reside in Mobile.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School, St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, and was employed as a parochial school teacher in Montgomery until her marriage. The bridegroom is employed as an instructor in history at Spring Hill College, Mobile, and is writing his thesis for his doctorate in history from Louvain in Belgium.

Out-of-town guests were from Emmitsburg, Baltimore, Takoma Park, Md., Mobile, Birmingham, Alabama and Washington, D. C.

Miss Sanders Marries John Springer

Miss Barbara Roberta Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sanders, Gettysburg, and John William Springer, son of Mrs. Glenn Springer and the late Glenn B. Springer, Emmitsburg R2, were married last Friday at 7:15 p.m. in the Foursquare Gospel Church, Gettysburg, Rev. Harold L. Myers performing the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a white gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace styled with a high sabrina neckline, trimmed in iridescent sequins and seed pearls. The flowing chapel train extended in tiers of lace and nylon tulle. The basque bodice was completed with long sleeves tapered to collar points. She carried a white Bible topped by a white orchid corsage with white streamer and stephanotis.

The church decorations were a white arch covered with pink rose buds and ivy, surrounded by palms, candelabra and gladioli. Mrs. Lloyd Fuss of Emmitsburg, the organist, presented a 10-minute recital preceding the wedding. Herbert Nichols, Littlestown, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

Mrs. Lloyd Stultz, Fairfield, a cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor and wore a gown of maize nylon net over taffeta with a cummerbund waistline. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow carnations with blue larkspurs and daisies. The bride attendants were Miss Alona Sanders, sister of the bride and Miss Katherine Springer, sister of the bridegroom. They wore gowns of mint green styled identical to that of the matron of honor. They carried a cascade bouquet of lavender pompons and pink carnations. George M. Springer of Emmitsburg, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Ushers for the ceremony were Eric Glass, Emmitsburg R2, brother-in-law of the bridegroom and Robert Fuss of Taneytown. Ronald Lochbaum, Abbottstown, cousin of the bride, was the ringbearer and the flower girl was Barbara Olson, Gettysburg. She wore a pink nylon gown with embroidered tiny rosebuds with matching mitts and headpiece and carried a white basket filled with rose petals.

The bride's mother wore a nylon net over flowered taffeta with white background, white accessories and a pink rosebud corsage. The mother of the bridegroom wore a royal blue lace dress with white accessories and a pink rose bud corsage.

A reception was held in the church annex social room. Immediately following the reception the couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls. For the trip the bride chose a lavender embroidered dress with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return they will reside at 324 W. Middle St., Gettysburg. ## JAYCEES NAME COMMITTEES; ESTABLISH BUDGET

The regular monthly meeting of the Greater Emmitsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce was held on Wednesday evening at 8:30 p. m. in the VFW Annex.

The newly-elected president, Donald Eyer, opened the meeting with the Jaycee Creed followed by the normal agenda of parliamentary procedure. Under new business the committees and budget for the coming year were outlined. The committees have been designated as internal or external in function and fall directly in the jurisdiction of one of our two vice presidents. Joseph Elliott, the Internal Vice President will be responsible for assisting the following chairman: Membership and member retention, Allen Stoner; new member orientation, Michael Boyle; records and recognitions, Robert H. Simpson; programming, Robert A. Seidel; and Jaycee Socials, Patrick Boyle. The External Vice President, Richard Toms, will assist these men: Special events committee, James Sanders; Road-e-o, Sterling White; profit making, Guy A. Baker Jr.; public health, Dr. George Morningstar; youth activities, Robert Koontz; agriculture and conservation, Ralph Keilholtz; safety, Eugene Myers; community development, J. Edward Houck; and Americanism, Roger Adams.

Immediately succeeding the approval of the foregoing committees the annual budget was brought to the floor for approval. Funds were allotted as follows:

Public relations, $50; membership, $10; orientation, $25; records, $5; programming, $10; special events, $25; socials, $10; road-e-o, $50; public health, $10; youth activities, $25; agriculture, $25; safety, $10; community development, $10; Americanism, $15; dues (State and National), $350; stationery and postage, $40; President and State Dir. Fund, $75; insurance, $50; supplies (Ditto machine, road-e-o equipment, gavel for president and chapter banner), $125; awards and presentations, $5. Non-budget items: Non-community projects, $25 and community projects, $100. This makes a grand total of $1050.

Although this budget may seem rather high for some of the readers it has to be understood that the Jaycees are an organization for aiding the community and its citizens. Therefore esteem must be given where it is deserved in the form of awards and such. It is the sincere wish of the officers and members of this Chapter that in the coming year the people of Emmitsburg continue backing us as they have been. In reciprocating fashion the Jaycees will in turn strive to ever be of service to YOU Emmitsburgians.

Commissioners Refute Board's Statement

The Frederick County Commissioners issued an official statement on teachers salaries this week through their clerk, C. Burton Cannon.

The statement was accompanied by an official map of Maryland prepared by the State Fiscal Research Bureau showing the salary scales for teachers with bachelor's degrees in every Maryland county and in neighboring areas of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia and Washington, D. C.

The map revealed that Frederick County's base salary for teachers was equaled to that of Washington, Howard and Baltimore counties, $100 above Carroll County, $200 above Gettysburg, Pa. and only $500 under Montgomery County which pays higher teacher salaries than Washington, D. C. or Baltimore City.

The statement released with the map by the commissioners is as follows:

"The County Commissioner have read with interest about the discussion of the Board of Education regarding teachers' salaries. This Board of County Commissioners in recent years has been continually alert to the competition for securing teachers among the State's counties. Our competitive position was brought to a high level. Suddenly, this winter your Board of County Commissioners and the public are told we are in dire straits in recruiting teachers for vacancies due to the lack of a larger starting salary. To demonstrate our so-called desperate situation in the teacher recruitment program, the following Salary Scale Paid For Teachers with Bachelor's Degrees in Maryland and Selected Neighboring Areas is presented to the public, as prepared from a report of the State Fiscal Research Bureau effective January, 1960. Furthermore, your Board of County Commissioners discussed with our neighboring County Chiefs in December, 1959 the salary scales committed in their respective Counties, in order to determine if our County salary scale was within a favorable range.

Reference has also been made to the use of Tobacco Tax Receipts for granting of a non-budgeted salary increase for the teachers. As we have previously stated that although we are reluctant to enact a class tax such as a tobacco tax, we did so in order to offset to some extent the increased expenses in future budget years for expenditures primarily caused by an expanding school plant.

Your Board of County Commissioners will meet this summer with neighboring County Commissioners and Commissioners statewide at which time teachers' salaries will be discussed. Statistics for our own use are being gathered.

It has been indicated that the responsibility for our children's education is now primarily ours because a salary increase has not been readily granted. Fiscal responsibility must also always be ours in considering a request of this nature. As was stated in our letter declining an increase at the present, we will study this matter and it will be in relation to maintaining quality instruction at a price that will in our judgment, be 'willingly' paid by the general public.

We regret, but have no qualms, that the board of Education has seen fit to use the County Commissioners as a 'whipping boy' in this matter."

Property Assessors Are Named

The Frederick County Commissioners voted unanimously this week to appoint John F. Englebrecht of Myersville and Marshall McCauley of Pleasant Hill to the two new positions as assessors in the county assessment office.

Englebrecht and McCauley were the first two names selected by the Department of Assessments and Taxation in Baltimore after the state tax department interviewed and graded nine of the 13 candidates nominated for the two positions by the County Commissioners.

Your next statement is almost absurd—you mention that we should not be competitive in the county in respect to securing better teachers. Do you have children of your own? Would you take them to a second rate medical man, to a dentist who uses old and antiquated methods and equipment, permit them to frequent places of amusements, etc that are branded as questionable? Who spends more time with a child than his teacher? You would be willing to sacrifice a few dollars and settle for second rate, questionable and inferior teachers who, after the parents and in some cases even before, do more to influence the formative years of a child than anyone else? You pay top dollar one hour a year for the best dentist but are willing to sacrifice so that teacher salary schedule can command only second rate personnel to spend eight hours a day in the interest of your child. Really, what sort of logic is this?

You must admit that either you are blind to the hard and fast facts or you have not adequately examined the role of the teacher; nurse, playground supervisor, disciplinarian, etc. I have taken exception to an article in your paper but I have not questioned its monetary value; you put the price on it and that I must pay if I wish to subscribe. Teachers receive what the general public feels is a fair wage and too many times they neglect important co-operations as you have done. No one attacks through the press the cost of most good and services—"public servants" such as teachers seem to merit a daily column similar to a market report. Is it too much to ask that you treat teachers fairly in view of the facts? If you feel that your beliefs and views are correct you must have shuddered with the passing of the old one room school and the teachers who conducted them—it undoubtedly meant an increase in costs to secure decent facilities and more teachers for the children.

We have passed that era and we are now in another era—again we must meet the expense if we are to continue to expand facilities and more particularly keep the top flight teachers of today and replace them with a similar kind when they have been worn down by their years of service to the profession and by fighting for a living wage.

Lamb-Potato Casserole With Garni
Has Delicious New Flavor

Something new has been added to this appetizing casserole in which the lamb and potatoes are cooked together, or you can prepare the lamb separately and serve with mashed potatoes. The important news is the magic bouquet of flavor you can add with the delicious, all-in-one seasoning that's made especially for lamb and is available now in handy glass spice jars. Spice Islands' new bouquet garni for lamb is a harmonious blend of rosemary, tarragon, oregano and savory, perfectly balanced to enhance the delicate lamb flavor and may be used with any lamb dish. Add salt and pepper and that's all that's needed. Spice Islands' bouquet garni for lamb may be used to marinate the meat, or you can simply add it to lamb roast, shoulder cuts, lamb patties, chops, steaks or liver. For a three to four pound leg or shoulder roast, allow about one-half teaspoon bouquet garni for lamb. For a lightly seasoned marinade or sauce, use one-fourth to one-half teaspoon for six servings.

LAMB-POTATO CASSEROLE, GARNI

1-1/2 lbs. boneless lamb shoulder	6 medium potatoes, sliced thin
1/4 cup vinegar	1 10-oz. can cream of chicken or mushroom soup
1 tsp. salt	1/2 cup milk
Pepper to taste	1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. bouquet garni for lamb

Cut lamb into small pieces. Place in bowl. Combine vinegar with one teaspoon salt, pepper to taste and bouquet garni for lamb. Pour over meat. Chill 1 to 2 hours. Place sliced potatoes in 2 qt. casserole and mix in cream soup, milk and the 1/2 tsp. salt. Drain meat from marinade and arrange over potatoes. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) for 1-1/2 hours or until potatoes are tender. Serves 6.

Lightning Menace
To Livestock

Lightning can be a livestock killer, but there are some steps a farmer can take to minimize the hazard.

The Maryland State Veterinary Medical Association says lightning rods on buildings will protect livestock in or near the building. To protect animals in the pasture during a storm, all wire fences should be grounded.

The association says that lightning can kill animals instantly, but warns that farmers should not automatically assume that lightning was responsible when dead animals are found after a storm.

A veterinarian should be called to determine the cause of death because, if a swift-killing disease or poisoning was responsible, immediate steps should be taken to protect the other animals.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Babson Discusses Commodity Prices

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 9 — The Dow-Jones Industrial Stock Average has declined from a high of 685 on January 5, 1960 to under 600, from which it is just rebounding. Manufacturers are wondering why commodity prices have not broken correspondingly. The main reason is the increased costs of labor. All the basic industries are well organized and producers are timid about cutting wages for fear the union leaders will call strikes.

Price Stability

This over-all price stability does not apply to all commodity quotations. We have seen widespread declines in wholesale prices for foodstuffs; and farmers expect to receive less for 1960 crops.

However, owing to the demand by consumers for small quantities of foodstuffs which they purchase at the supermarkets, retail prices have remained high. It not only costs retailers more to sell small items, but the cost of packages and displays is greater. Supermarkets present a fine show which appeals to consumers, but in reality their prices are not as low as is generally supposed. Supplies Adequate

In most cases, supplies of raw materials are sufficient or can be increased rapidly if prices should rise. Therefore, changes in most commodity prices may be downward rather than upward for a while. An analysis of price trends should consider foreign demand and supply also. Not only will competition become more severe within this country, but foreign imports are crowding us more and more.

When I was in Europe recently, I was astounded at the low prices which are being paid there to labor. Japan does not produce many basic commodities, but confines her exports to manufactured products. Wages are very low in Japan. Reports from China vary, but presumably wages there are even lower than in Japan. If I can get a visa, I will visit China and get the facts about China's wages and her exports, which now go largely to Russia.

Outlook For Copper And Oil
Copper production in the U. S. is affected by gradually rising wages; hence the price of copper should be well maintained. Copper producers are, however, handicapped by the fact that the metal has a long life; some of that now being used in the electronics industry once existed in the form of trolley wires or our grandmothers' kettles.

In the case of oil, gasoline, and other petroleum products, there is no such problem; when these are used up they are totally consumed. However, the world now faces a surplus of oil. Not only have the Arab States large supplies which they are anxious to sell, but the production of the Sahara Desert must be considered. France is very much interested in this Sahara production. President DeGaulle is striving for self-sufficiency in order to regain world status.

Exceptions To The Above

The main bullish argument for oil is that Nasser, President of Egypt, may succeed in becoming the "sales manager"

Cancer Society
Seeking Funds

Dr. Frank H. J. Figge, President of the Maryland Division, American Cancer Society, announced this week that cancer researchers in Maryland have requested a 43% increase in research funds over last year.

Dr. Figge explained that many of the cancer research programs now underway, have opened new avenues of hope in the detection, treatment and cure of cancer.

In an effort that the public may receive the benefits of these advances and to reduce the cancer death rate, scientists have accelerated research programs. He said there has been a vast increase in the number of qualified medical researchers entering the cancer field who are working on projects that have tremendous potential that could lead to the solution of the cancer problem. However, he said, it is questionable that these demands can be met.

At this time, funds raised during the 1960 Cancer Crusade will only be adequate enough to meet the demands of current research projects now underway. It is doubtful that sufficient funds will be available to fulfill any new requests.

Dr. Figge said there is a solution; and that is, Business and Industry throughout the State and the Country, increase their aid to meet the needs of the research programs of the American Cancer Society. It is only in this way that the Society can take advantage of the new opportunities afforded it.

Cancer, he said, in this day and age, is a disease that can no longer be ignored. If we do not arise to meet the need today, we may not have the opportunity to do so tomorrow.

It is true, he said, at present, the cure rate for cancer is on the increase. On the other hand, the death rate from cancer is also on an upward trend. We are all aware of the threat of communism and are making every effort to make sure adequate steps are taken to safeguard us from this type of disease. It would indeed be ironic, would it not, to be conquered from within by an enemy just as treacherous as communism. Cancer. There is only one answer—everyone must do his part to see that the army of cancer research scientists receive, in proportion, the same support as the military, to meet the needs of today and the challenge of tomorrow.

Flag raisers had to be fast at the McMurdo Sound Naval Air Facility in Antarctica on April 27, 1960, as there were only five seconds between sunrise and sunset. This marked the beginning of the Antarctic winter night.

New Double-Hung Windows
Feature Insulating Glass

Double-hung wood windows with insulating glass keep child's room warmer on cold days, stop costly heat loss.

Remember when Grandma cooled her wonderful apple pies on the sill of the double-hung window? Well, both apple pie and double-hung windows are still top favorites today. Old-fashioned apple pie, of course, could never be improved, but manufacturers have been making consistently better double-hung wood windows for years. The latest improvement is insulating glass.

Insulating glass for double-hung windows is possible today because of the development of a process that employs two layers of glass that is thinner and lighter than the glass used in previous methods. A dead air space between the panes provides insulation.

This means that in today's double-hung wood window a home owner gets two advantages:

Comfort and economy provided by insulating glass plus the natural insulating qualities of wood sash and frame.

Like the inner pane of the insulating glass, the inside wood surfaces stay close to room temperature no matter how cold it gets outside. This also means that moisture will not condense on the wood as it will on a cold surface, doing away with the possibility of water dripping down to damage wallpaper and carpets.

Insulating windows of ponderosa pine are available in units complete with hardware and weatherstripped at the factory. All parts are machined to fit together perfectly. As a result, heating and air conditioning costs are reduced. Besides eliminating storm sash, well-fitted insulating windows reduce air infiltration and keep out chill winds.

Double-hung windows are particularly popular in the traditionally-styled homes now enjoying a nationwide comeback. New double-hung, insulating windows of ponderosa pine are available from building material dealers in a wide range of sizes.

CHRISTMAS PUNCHES

The Wassail bowl, so much a traditional part of Christmas, actually dates back to pre-Christian times. Its name came from "wass-heil," Saxon for "here's to you."

Wassail and eggnog came to America in Colonial times; met with especial favor in the south. Ornate silver and porcelain bowls were saved all year to use for huge family Christmas celebrations.

Modern variation on ancient theme: serve your favorite drinks made with Smirnoff vodka in a traditional punch bowl with punch cups. Colorful screwdrivers, Bloody Marys, and Gimlets become as festive as mistletoe served this way. These lighter punches also keep taste buds clean and appetites keen for the holiday feast!

Handy And Attractive For Short Hops

A well-equipped purse kit that doubles for an overnight toiletries case makes an excellent present for the girl who likes to take short hops with little luggage. The case and its contents can all be collected at your local variety or drug store for under $1.50. Put in all the grooming aids she will need to look fresh and pretty all day long: comb, mirror, hand lotion, toothbrush and toothpaste, emory board, a few bobby pins and some safety pins. Most girls will want to select their own lipstick and powder.

As a handy extra include a tiny sewing kit for emergencies. Add small jars of Mum deodorant and cold cream and the purse kit becomes a handy overnight case, always ready whenever the urge to travel arises.

Senator Goldwater Talks Sense

Many politicians threw brickbats at Senator Robert Taft during his political career. But when the voting was held in Congress to select the outstanding Senators of the last 50 years for the Congressional Hall of Fame, Robert Taft was a top choice. His career was characterized by intelligence, integrity, courage, and love of country. Frequently he took unpopular stands on issues. Sometimes he stood almost alone, breasting the current of the stream. But now his colleagues in Congress and perhaps most of the American people recognize him as one of our great leaders.

It takes great integrity and courage for leadership. These qualities are being manifested today by another United States Senator, Barry Goldwater of Arizona. He has just published a book The Conscience of a Conservative (Victor Publishing Co., Shepherdsville, Ky.). It stamps him as a national leader. Critics of this book can find fault only with Senator Goldwater's philosophy; they cannot challenge his intelligence, his integrity, his courage, or his love of country. And his philosophy is bedrock American.

Fundamental Truths
Senator Barry Goldwater is, in a sense, a fundamentalist—in politics, economics, government, foreign affairs, in all things. He believes black is black, and not gray. He believes the Constitution of the United States is the bedrock anchorage of our free society. He believes that mankind is not admirable unless self-reliant. He believes there can be no genuine strength in a Welfare State. He believes that Government is dangerous—now and eternally.

THE HOME OF THE SIXTIES

Three rooms for living are the heart of this contemporary home designed by Donald D. Dick, Architect. The Wharton is spacious without being ostentatious. Much glass plus interesting architectural devices make the three living areas reach to the out-of-doors. One formally faces front, another informally faces the rear; the third, a glass-enclosed terrace. The informal living room boasts a big corner fireplace so located that it would be easy to back it up with another fireplace facing the formal living room. Two rooms are divided by a head-high stone divider with planting atop to give each room privacy but permit them to lend a regality of space to each other.

A lower divider protects the separate party-sized dining room. Close by is a pantry, kitchen and breakfast room. There is both a heater room for the furnace and a utility room for laundry and storage. The sleeping area consists of three lovely bedrooms richly endowed with closet built-ins with sliding doors and served by two Hollywood bathrooms. Attention to fine detail throughout the Wharton is evident by the striking planters, dividers, and lighting methods.

Four kinds of lighting are employed in the Wharton: Area, Perimeter, Task and Accent lighting. All can be both decorative and completely functional, as bright or dim as desired, by turning the dial of Luxtrol Light Control.

All three bedrooms and the three living areas have lighted valances over the wide expanses of window, which gives them perimeter lighting. The dining and living areas are lighted by "high hat" flood lights that can be bright for a gay party atmosphere or dimmed for rest and relaxing.

Accent lighting is provided by eye-ball spots concealed in the ceiling above the planters and in front of the stone fireplace. These serve to point a finger of pride and may be brightened or dimmed as the mood or occasion suggests.

Blueprints for the Wharton are prepared from Architect's drawings available at $20 for one set, $5 for each duplicate set, from Associated Plan Service Inc., Box 305, Huntington, L. I., N. Y. They include outline specifications and are all you need to get bids, obtain financing and start to build.

He is old-fashioned, and yet he is a true political liberal in that he is for maintaining a society in which the citizen has fullest individual freedom and the government's primary and paramount role is the protection of that freedom. This is the liberal concept upon which our founding fathers built the United States of America.

Not Fashionable

Senator Goldwater's ideas clash with the predominant political pronouncements coming from public officials in Washington and in our state capitals—and on the campaign trails. Politically, he is standing almost alone. But he sincerely believes that most of the people of America, if given a clear choice between the Welfare State and freedom even if it meant a temporary reduction in their economic well-being knowing well it would mean a big, long-range increase in their economic well-being.

One by one the Goldwater book takes up the grave, troublesome issues confronting our people and their government. To each problem he applies horse-sense logic. Government payments in a farm program which has stimulated production of vast surpluses of unneeded and unmarketable foodstuff simply do not make sense. What to do? Terminate the farm subsidy program—now. On the States' Rights issue, he simply states an uncontestable truth: The Constitution sets forth the concept of States' Rights. The Supreme Court is illegally destroying the concept.

Monopolies Are Destructive

As regards labor unions, he declares they are an expression of American freedom and as such are wholesome and beneficial. Under present laws, however, some unions have created labor monopolies which are being used, he says, in a manner destructive to our American way of life. On taxes and spending, he faces squarely the fact that the Federal budget is not a mere 80 billion—as advertised and quoted by most politicians—but actually about $95 billion. He proposes the gradual withdrawal of the Federal government from social welfare programs, education, public power, agriculture, public housing, urban renewal, and other such "grants in aid." On the subject of Federal aid to education, he cites again the Constitution which leaves the problem of financing schools to the local governmental units.

Senator Goldwater's recommended solutions to our grave problems are unfashionable, but nobody could challenge their soundness in logic. The only argument that might be raised is that his solutions would "retard progress." He deals with this argument quite adequately. His book should be widely read. His is the voice of an American with the qualifications of national leadership.

State Tax Date Changed

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein today reminded Maryland income taxpayers of the change in the due date of the second installment on the declaration of estimated income tax to the State for 1960.

Heretofore, the second installment has been due on June 15 but under Chapter 4 of the Laws of 1960, the due date has been changed to July 15.

Mr. Goldstein said that the change in the due date was made in order that more time be available to process the declarations and get the notices to the taxpayers. Approximately 100,000 declarations are filed annually, he said, and the most of these come around the last filing date. It has been difficult to process these, he continued. The change should also work to advantage to taxpayers as it allows them an additional month to pay Maryland after meeting their Federal estimated tax obligation.

Many taxpayers doubtless may not be aware of the date change and they may wonder why their installment notice has not been received. These notices are now being processed for mailing and they will be in the hands of the taxpayers well in advance of the July 15th due date.

The law, as amended, provides for the filing of declarations by April 15th of each year, with quarterly installment payments falling due on July 15th, October

Plans Made To Attend Crusade

In preparation for the Billy Graham Capital Crusade to be held at Griffith Stadium, Washington, D. C., June 19 thru 26, two local groups are making preparations to transport people to the meetings. The two groups are the Christian Business Men's Committee and Frederick County Youth for Christ.

A bus has been chartered for Monday evening, June 20. The bus will leave from the Frederick Greyhound bus station at 6 p. m. and return at 11:15 p. m. There will be reserved seats at the stadium for all who go by chartered bus. A nominal charge of $2.00 per person will be charged to help pay for the expenses of chartering the bus. If enough people want to go on June 21, 22, 23, and 26, another bus will be booked for each of these nights. Admission to the bus is by reservation only. You may make your reservation by calling Monument 3-5201.

15th and January 15. Comptroller Goldstein said that it would be most helpful if taxpayers would await receipt of their installment notice before sending in a payment. The notice, he stated, has been redesigned so that the taxpayer may now retain a part of it for his record. Sending the "State's" copy of the notice along with the required payment will aid materially in processing and it helps to eliminate errors in giving proper credit.

Memorial to a Pioneer

He arrived on Florida's East Coast in 1883 with a dream. When he died in 1913, Henry Morrison Flagler's dream was a reality—Florida's East Coast had become the "American Riviera!"

In St. Augustine, he built the Ponce de Leon Hotel. By 1890, he purchased control of a small railroad...built it into the Florida East Coast Railway. With adequate transportation, Flagler's next step was the development of Palm Beach. Then, the bridging of the Florida Keys.

At Palm Beach, he built his home—historic Whitehall Mansion—at a cost of $2,500,000. It ranked as one of the showplaces of the day. Now Whitehall is reopening its doors as the Henry Morrison Flagler Museum.

Laurel Race Receipts Under Last Year

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein has announced that the State received total revenue of $1,680,169.25 from horse racing at the Laurel race track from the 29 days spring racing season conducted there between March 30 and May 3 of this year. This compares with the total of $1,693,490.90 which the State received from the 28 days spring season at that track a year ago.

During the period 1898-1901 the Navy experimented with homing pigeons as a method of communication between ships and shore stations.

Careful Cook Keeps Cool, Chef Claims

The first rule of a gourmet cook is to keep a cool head—and cool ingredients, according to globe-trotting gourmet James A. Beard.

Beard, who "cooks in every language," is the author of "The James Beard Cook Book," "Paris Cuisine," and nine other tomes on the culinary art.

The modern electric refrigerator-freezer has done a lot to streamline the ancient art of cookery, Beard says. To keep a cool head while following a complex recipe the experienced chef prepares many of his ingredients well ahead of time. He cools or freezes them until the "hectic last minute," when it seems as though everything has to be blended in at the same time.

Salads Won't Wait
Some basic ingredients chefs "keep on ice" for a large variety of recipes include meat and fish stock, standard sauces such as bechamel, veloute, hollandaise, tomato purees, and fine herbs, chopped and ready to be added at the last moment.

If the meal is to have many courses, it's usually necessary to keep some of them—such as the dessert, as well as champagne or white wine—in the refrigerator till needed. For a crisp salad, the chef is particularly grateful for a special vegetable compartment that provides a moist cold, preventing greens and other foods from drying out.

Prefers Fresh Foods
Good cooks prefer fresh or frozen meats, vegetables, fruits, and fish to those that are canned or otherwise artificially preserved. The gourmet's art is to combine natural flavors or to improve them with seasonings.

Beard also likes to keep a large supply and a wide range of foods on hand because a gourmet is a creature of whim. If he suddenly craves beef stroganoff or sweet-and-sour carp, he wants to be able to pick out the ingredients he needs from his well-stocked spice shelf and refrigerator-freezer.

SPORTS AFIELD

We are fortunate in our country to have two wilderness trails, one in the Atlantic region, and one in the Pacific. Both trails are open to the public without charge, and traverse unspoiled mountain country of great natural beauty and unrivaled summer climate.

Sports Afield Magazine's Camping Editor, Colonel Townsend Whelen, describes these wilderness trails that are being availed of today by thousands of our citizens, and how to take advantage of the unlimited opportunities for ideal vacations, tramping and camping, or just plain loafing.
The Appalachian Trail is a continuous marked footpath extending through the mountain wilderness of the eastern Atlantic states. It extends from Mount Katahdin, in Maine, over 2,000 miles to Springer Mountain in Georgia. Its greatest elevation is 6,641 feet at Clingmans Dome in the Great Smokies, and it is slightly above sea level where it crosses the Hudson River at Bear Mountain Bridge and the Connecticut at Hanover.

The trail is maintained by hiking and trail clubs located in cities and towns near the trail, under the general supervision of the Appalachian Trail Conference, 1916 Sunderland Place N. W.,
Washington, D. C. The Conference publishes two general information pamphlets as well as guide books and accurate maps.
Send to the Conference for the following pamphlets: "The Appalachian Trail," Publication No.
17, 15 cents. "Suggestions for Appalachian Trail Users," Publication No. 15, 35 cents. "Hiking, Camping and Mountaineering Equipment," 50 cents.

The Pacific Crest Trailway consists of a continuous marked trail extending approximately 2,150 miles from the Washington-Canadian border to the California-Mexican border. It leads over the crests of the Cascade and Sierra Nevada Mountains, thru rugged, unspoiled country of magnificent, often stupendous, scenery. Its average elevation is over 5,500 feet, and some mountain passes are over 10,000 feet. All but about 250 miles of it pass through national forests or national parks. It is maintained, marked and its natural beauty conserved by the U. S. Forest and Park Services.

The trailway is divided into five districts: The Oregon and Washington Districts. For bulletins and maps covering these districts write to the U. S. Forest Service, Region 6, P. O. Box 4137, Portland 8, Oregon.

The California District, North;
the California District, Central;
and the California District, South.
For bulletins and maps covering these districts write to the National Park Service, 180 New Montgomery Street, San Francisco 5, California. Three park folders—Lassen, Yosemite and Stquoia-Kings Canyon—cover most of the route through these three districts, including the famous Muir Trail. The U. S. Forest Service in San Francisco has more detailed maps available covering these districts, some 25 of them to cover the whole distance.

The Pacific Crest Trail Conference, 2123 Park Drive, Santa Ana, California, furnishes a generally informative leaflet covering the entire trailway.

Each year, the faculty of the University of Maryland's College of Agriculture recommends for citation by the State Board of Agriculture, a number of Maryland citizens who have made outstanding contributions and achievements in Maryland agriculture.

Five Maryland citizens have been selected to receive certificates of merit in agriculture this year from the State Board, which also sits as the university's Board of Regents. They are: Paul S.
Hofmann, of Cockeysville; Mrs.
William Robie, of Forest Heights; Bubert Snodgrass, of Street; Paul
M. Widdowson, of Mardela Springs; and Mrs. C. J. Kern, of Denton.

Mr. Hofmann, who was executive secretary of the Maryland Nurserymen's Association between 1944 and 1956, received the professional achievement award in 1953 from the association. He has been engaged in the nursery business for 37 years and has earned an enviable reputation in the field.

Mrs. Robie, past president of the Maryland State Council of Homemakers Clubs between 1955 and 1956 was a founder of the annual Maryland Citizenship Conference. She served as treasurer of the Maryland Council on Education for four years. Mrs. Ro-bie is a member of the Governor's Committee on "Keep Maryland Beautiful" and has been active in other public affairs. She has proved to be a most effective leader in this field.

Mr. Snodgrass has been a leader in agricultural activities in the State. He is director of the Southern States Cooperative and was elected vice president in 1960.
He is a very progressive individ-

A "How-To-Do-It" PAINT POINTERS.

Keeping a boat shipshape is the owner's pride and joy—but often a seemingly endless task. Tops among recurrent chores is varnishing since the best spar often will not last a complete season.
Excellent news, therefore, is the wide availability in 1960 of a Du Pont developed varnish called "Ultra-V" which gives two to three times longer life. Field tested last year thoroughly, the new clear varnish, which contains an invisible substance that screens out the destructive ultra-violet rays of sunlight, is likely to be in good condition when it's time to put up your boat next fall.

Farm Bureau Urges Passage Of Bill

An important objective of current Farm Bureau policy—extension of the soil bank conservation reserve — requires prompt action by Congress.

A number of bills to extend the conservation reserve have been introduced with bipartisan support in both the Senate and the House of Representatives, but none has been reported by either Agriculture Committee.

The Senate Agriculture Committee has reported a wheat bill
(S. 2759). When this bill reaches the Senate floor, an effort will be made to obtain passage of an amendment authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into new conservation reserve contracts with farmers through 1963, with a goal of 60 million acres by the end of this three-year period. This is only one of four "minimum" amendments which Farm Bureau feels must be included in the Senate wheat bill.

Read Philippians 1:12-20.

I know that this shall turn to my salvation through your prayer, and the supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ. (Philippians 1:19).

The famous preacher Charles H. Spurgeon was fond of this story. Some children were being taught the Apostles' Creed. Each child repeated a clause. Thus they proceeded through the Creed.

One day the minister came into the classroom and asked the children to repeat the Creed to him. All went well for a time. Then there was an awkward pause. "Well," said the minister, "What is wrong?" A little boy replied, "Please sir, the boy that believes in the Holy Spirit isn't here today."

Someone has said that the Holy Spirit is the lost chord of the church. How little is known of His working in the heart! Yet we need Him so much. He is the One who brings conviction of sin, accomplishes His saving work in the heart, reveals the things of Christ to us, and leads us into all truth. Happy indeed is the man blessed by the Holy Spirit.

Prayer

Almighty God, grant unto us to know and experience the power of the Holy Spirit in our lives. Convict us of sin, purify our hearts, grant us wisdom in living as Christ would have us live. In His holy name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day

"As many are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God."

Deadline Set For Wheat Allotments

Mr. William L. Dudley, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, states that any producer who intends to seed wheat for 1961 on a farm on which no wheat was seeded for harvest as grain in 1958 and for which a 1959 or 1960 allotment was not established, irrespective of whether or not wheat was seeded for harvest as grain in either 1959 or 1960, and who desires to be considered for an allotment must make application for an allotment.

Application forms are available in the ASC county office for use in filing a request for an allotment. Mr. Dudley states that the producer must apply in writing by July 1, 1960.

State Doctors Receive Awards

Awards totaling $56,300 have been received by seven scientists for research to be conducted in Maryland on diseases of the heart and blood vessels. The research awards were made public today by Dr. Sidney Scherlis, President of the Heart Association of Md. Support received by the seven will be given under the national research program of the American Heart Association.

The awards were among 176 totaling a record $1,812,885 made to scientists throughout the country by the American Heart Association. They are effective for the year beginning July 1st.

The following Maryland scientists have been notified of their Heart Association awards:

Dr. John Michael Criley, of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, for work as a research fellow under the direction of Dr. E. Cowles Andrus and Dr. Richard S. Ross. Dr. Criley will study kidney function in relation to congenital

Dr. Martin Flavin Jr., of the National Heart Institute, Bethesda, is an established investigator interested in biochemical reactions involving enzymes. Dr. Flavin's work is in basic research directed toward improved understanding of basic biochemical processes.

Dr. James L. Gamble Jr., of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, will continue his work as an established investigator of the American Heart Association. He has been concerned with studies of animal cells and implications of salt-water balances of the body in circulatory disorders.

Dr. Holcombe H. Hurt Jr., of the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health, is a research fellow working with Dr. Richard L. Riley. He has been studying patients with congestion of blood within the lungs. The work attempts to clarify the importance of changes in the bronchial tubes and lung tissue found in patients with blood congestion.

Dr. W. Gordon Walker, of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, will apply his award from the American Heart Association to the study of congestive heart failure, a condition characterized by excessive fluid retention ('dropsy').

In addition to these awards made public today by Dr. Scherlis, additional research support by the American Heart Association will soon be announced. A group of grants-in-aid is expected

Another Engineering Milestone

The new Pan-American World Airways terminal at New York's International Airport (model shown above) will contain some remarkable engineering achievements. Scheduled for completion this summer, the building is a circular structure with a huge cantilevered steel roof enabling planes to taxi virtually to the door to discharge passengers.

Another feature is a 90-foot wide "air door" with nothing but a stream of air separating the inside from the outside of the building. Amazingly, this sheet of air insulates the interior against cold outside air.

In the roof will be 32 translucent Fiberglas skylights, each 30 feet long, which will admit light in the daytime, and emit a glow at night seen by passengers in approaching planes.

Scholz Mark '60 House and Garden Home Gives Family Life in Grand Manner

Big, luxurious, boldly executed, the Mark '60 House of the Year attains eye-opening grandeur, then tempers this with down-to-earth family livability. Designed by Don Scholz and featured by House & Garden magazine, the house is a trend-setter with these pulse-quickening features:

- Delicate balance of Oriental interior design fused into strongly contemporary American styling.
- Layout finesse that wraps family-room-kitchen core and bedroom wing around a patio with Paradise Fiberglas pool.
- Full separation of the indoor-outdoor living room entertainment area from the less formal family-room area.
- New, better-living features—like the "Polarized" Fiberglas lighting panels above the kitchen work area.

This year's leader of the Scholz Homes line, the Mark '60 is included in a big four-color design collection brochure at $1, or write for free details to Don Scholz Design Associates, Dept. 117, 2001 N. Westwood, Toledo 7, Ohio.

Bell-ringer of design "firsts" the Mark '60 features such things as luxurious master suite with high-walled solarium.

The Old Timer

"All of us are going to do better tomorrow — and we would, too, if we started today."

Careful Remodeling Gives Old Kitchen Modern Beauty, Smooth New Efficiency

Pink and polished is the theme of this recently remodeled kitchen near Greenwich, Conn. It's not all froth, though. Cox Kitchens of Port Chester, N. Y., designed it to provide the smooth working efficiency that was lacking in the old-fashioned kitchen-it replaced.

As the "before" picture shows, appliances and sink were reaching the antique stage and storage space was inadequate. The ancient refrigerator with its thick walls had no space for frozen foods, and even the fresh food compartment was too small.

Has Built-in Look

The new electric refrigerator-freezer with its square corners and thin, straight walls, has a built-in look that suits this modern kitchen. It easily holds a week's supply of fresh foods in specially cooled compartments. The freezing section keeps quantities of frozen foods for months. Since the owners entertain frequently, party food can now be prepared in advance, at the hostess' leisure, and stored for later use.

Saves Many Steps

Because the kitchen is a large one, planning concentrated on saving steps. The refrigerator-freezer is just 3½ feet from the sink, which has an automatic electric dishwasher next to it, and 8 feet from the built-in cooking units. Between each appliance and the next is a counter for food preparation or cleaning up.

AFTER—A new refrigerator-freezer and a barbecue "island" now stand where the old kitchen wall was, handy to both the working areas and the new dinette, saving time and steps.

A special feature, reserved for the man of the family, is the electrically-driven charcoal barbecue, set in a center island. This, too, is handy to the refrigerator-freezer and not far from the sink and dishwasher.

Both owners now enjoy working in a kitchen that is both good-looking and efficient. The roomy new refrigerator-freezer, combined with lots of cabinets, has solved their acute storage problem, so they no longer have to make several weekly trips to the store.

BEFORE—This old-fashioned kitchen was dreary and inefficient. Although crowded, it had little storage space for food.

in support of local projects. Also, the Heart Association of Maryland is preparing to announce support by the local unit of several important research efforts at local institutions.

It is expected that more than $103,000 will be spent by units of the Heart Association in the coming year to underwrite research work in Maryland.

Credit for this support was given by Dr. Scherlis to the continuing increased public contributions to the work of the Heart Association.

This Home's Charm Says 1760 But Delivers 1960 Livability

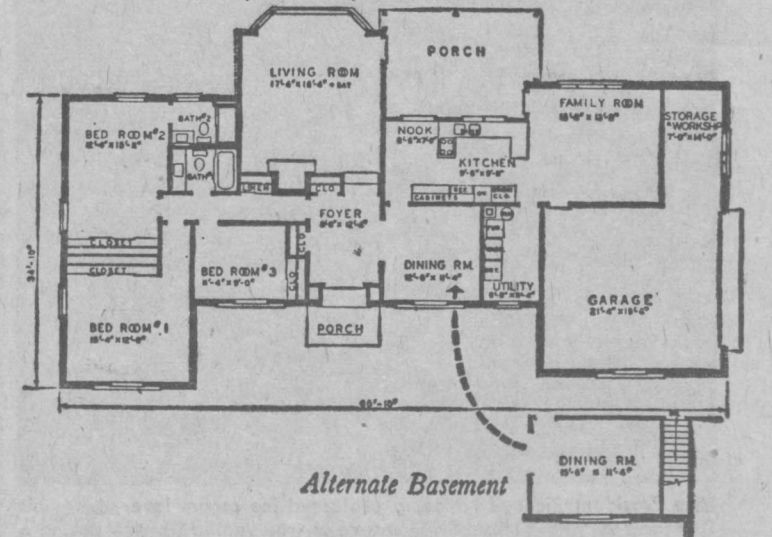

Designed to strike a regal pose in a worthy, spacious setting, this luxurious Colonial ranch by Don Scholz brings the traditional and modern together in a pleasing blend.

Room-size foyer keynotes a meant-for-lazy-living interior distinctively separated into spacious rooms. Design artistry places four main rooms—living and family rooms, master bedroom and kitchen—in command of the view to the rear.

Magnificently bay-windowed living room and the family room open onto a sheltered rear porch. Efficient kitchen is high-style, featuring a new Revco refrigerator with furniture-quality wood doors to match cabinets, and Tappan built-in wall unit that puts two ovens and broiler at visual work height.

One of many in the distinctive Scholz Design Collection, the Trout Valley is included in a colorful idea brochure available for $1, or write for free details to Don Scholz Design Associates, Dept. 116, 2001 North Westwood, Toledo 7, Ohio.

Fact Finders Inc.
Clarify Statistics

At a recent meeting of the Frederick County Fact Finding Commission held for the purpose of disseminating facts and figures in connection with Frederick County school spending, data was presented which the average citizen of Frederick County seldom sees.

Data taken from page 145 of the Ninety-Second Annual Report of the State Board of Education, shows conditions of the public schools of Maryland for the year ending June 30, 1958. It concerns the "Causes reported for withdrawals of teachers by county: Maryland Public Schools 1957-1958." In Frederick County there was a total of 71 withdrawals as follows:

Four retirement, one inefficiency, immorality, misconduct in office, insubordination, willful neglect of duty, seven employed only as substitutes, six teaching in another state or county, three transfers to administrative or supervisory position, two Government service, one business or defense work or not specified, one military service, one to study, seven moved away, one married, eight maternity, eleven home responsibility, four personal illness, three dissatisfied with teaching, two causes unknown, two leave of absence for study, three leave of absence for illness, four leave of absence for maternity, seven transfer to another county.

"While it is regrettable that teachers leave Frederick County for any reason whatsoever, it must be observed that transfers are taking place over the entire state in about the same proportion as the above, but most important is the observation that teachers do not leave Frederick County in large numbers because of low salaries as is often reported. This is not intended to mean that teacher salaries are not too low or that teacher salaries should not be raised, but it should alert those in the administrative to the fact that from this time on, the citizens of Frederick County, are aware of the many other reasons why teachers leave Frederick County as well as the one reason used so frequently," the statement said.

MRS. DAVID Mc. WILLS
The funeral of Mrs. Emma F. Wills, widow of David McClellan Wills, who died Monday, May 30 at the home of Mrs. Edith G. Kelly, Thurmont, was held June 2 with requiem mass at 10 a. m. in Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church, where she was a member. The pastor, Rev. John J. Hart, officiated.

Kelly, Thurmont, and Mrs. Annie C. Kelly, of Thurmont. Also surviving are 11 grandchildren, 18 great-grandchildren, three great-great-grandchildren, and 1 brother, Louis Zimmerman, of near Hagerstown.

Interment was made in the church cemetery. M. L. Creager and Son, funeral director. Pallbearers were Samuel Smith Jr., George Sharrer, Donald Sharrer, Kenneth Sharrer, Donald Sharrer Jr., and George Zimmerman.

The Stars And Stripes

Tuesday, June 14 is Flag Day. It is a day that has been set aside for honoring the flag of the United States of America. Join with me in celebrating this event as we recall the colorful history of the flag of our country.

The Stars and Stripes, as we know it today, was by no means the first American flag. For instance, one flag used during the early days of the American Revolution showed a rattlesnake against a yellow background, with the inscription: "Don't tread on me."

There had also been a number of other flags of various designs, but on June 14, 1777, nearly a year after the Declaration of Independence, the Continental Congress adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the Flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field representing a new constellation." It has been said that red stood for valor, white for purity and blue for justice. The words of George Washington sum it up very well. "We take the star from Heaven, with the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty."

The significant part of this resolution is the words, "Thirteen stars, white in a blue field representing a new constellation," for it is in them that we find the very soul and spirit of the American flag. These were the words which, like scintillating stars in the heavens, signaled to the world the birth of the first nation on earth dedicated to the personal and religious liberty of mankind.

It must be noted that the resolution of adoption did not prescribe how the stars were to be arranged. As a result, in the beginning they were arranged in various ways, including a circle. Some say the circle was to indicate the equality of the states, while still others contended it was to symbolize the hope that the Union would be without end.

In 1791, the state of Vermont was admitted into the Union, and a year later in 1792, Kentucky was admitted. The representatives of these two states in Congress wanted their states recognized in the flag; so on January 13, 1794, Congress enacted a law to the effect that, beginning May 1, 1795 there should be fifteen stars and fifteen stripes in the flag.

In some flags the stars were staggered in five horizontal rows of three stars each, while in other flags they were arranged in three horizontal rows of five stars each, one directly above the other. The flag that flew over Fort McHenry when Francis Scott Key was inspired to write "The Star-Spangled Banner" had its stars staggered in five rows.

In 1818, the number of states having increased to twenty, Congress passed a law (1) giving representation in the flag to the five states . . . Tennessee, Ohio, Louisiana, Indiana and Mississippi . . . that had been admitted into the Union after the last Flag Act had been adopted, thereby increasing the number of stars to twenty, effective, July 4, 1818; (2) returning the number of stripes to the original thirteen; and (3) decreeing that thereafter a star should be added to the blue field for each new state admitted into the Union, such addition to take effect on the Fourth of July following the date of admission into the Union . . . that is, the law provided, in effect, "Every Star a State; Every State a Star."

It is in the stars of the flag that we read the growth of the American nation. A nation that has grown in size, so have the stars in the flag increased in number. In 1959 two more states were added to the Union, namely Alaska and Hawaii, and so this year as we celebrate Flag Day we find the field of blue in our flag consists of fifty stars. Yes, our nation is still growing. The distinction of having made the first American flag is often given to Betsy Ross, a Quakeress, of Philadelphia. According to the popular story, in June of 1776, shortly before the Declaration of Independence was signed, George Washington, George Ross, and Robert Morris called on Betsy Ross and told her that they, as a Committee of Congress, wanted her to make for them an American flag according to a sketch they had. She replied, "I don't know whether I can, but I'll try." At this point I recall to mind the words of a song which I learned in my early school days which go something like this:

So she took some red, for the blood they shed,
Some white for purity,
Some stars so bright, from the sky overhead,
Some blue for loyalty,
And sewed them all together with loyal hands so true.
As one, we stand, for our own Red, White and Blue.

After the flag was completed, the Committee then submitted it to Congress and it was unanimously adopted, thereby giving to Betsy Ross the honor of having made the first American flag.

Almost without exception, however, historians assail the accuracy of this Betsy Ross flag story, which is, I might add, based entirely on family hearsay and is not supported in any way whatsoever by contemporary evidence. To quote the late Admiral George H. Greble United States Navy, universally acknowledged as America's greatest flag historian:

"It will probably never be known who designed our union of stars, the records of Congress being silent on the subject, and there being no mention or suggestion of it in any of the voluminous correspondence or diaries of the time, public or private, which have ever been published."

Like the George Washington cherry-tree legend, the Betsy Ross flag story is intriguing. It is one that appeals to sentiment and satisfies the imagination. We all wish it could be proved to be true. But it is misleading to teach it to our American youth as history. It should be taught to them as a legend . . . a tradition. Historically, the question of who made the first American flag is still to this day unanswered.

On several occasions I have noticed that the American flag has been displayed improperly and when I called this to the attention of those displaying the flag, they were quite surprised to learn that there is a right way and a wrong way to display it.

When displaying the flag on a staff, the field of blue must touch the head of the staff. When the flag is displayed, either vertically or horizontally against a wall, the field of blue should be uppermost and at the flag's right or to the observers left. When displayed between two points, so that both sides are visible, the stripes must be vertical. In an east and west street, the field of blue is to the north and to the east in a north and south street.

June 14th is the anniversary of the adoption of the flag of the United States in 1777, and is today quite generally observed as Flag Day. It is a day that every American citizen who owns an American flag should make every effort to display it.

There are many persons who, in all sincerity, claim the credit of having originated Flag Day. Some of these claimants did do commendable and serious initiative work locally, and were honest in their belief that they had originated Flag Day, but they were in ignorance of the fact that patriotic individuals and organizations in other parts of the United States had started similar work years earlier.

June 14, was definitely established as Flag Day by a Proclamation of President Wilson, issued May 30, 1916, in which he said, in part:

"It has therefore seemed to me fitting that I should call your attention to the approach of the anniversary of the day upon which the flag of the United States was adopted by the Congress as the emblem of the Union, and to suggest to you that it should this year and in the years to come be given special significance."

"I therefore suggest and request that throughout the nation, and, if possible, in every community, the fourteenth day of June be observed as Flag Day, with special patriotic exercises, at which means shall be taken to give significant expression to our thoughtful love of America . . . our determination to make it greater and purer . . ."

This Proclamation of President Wilson was the culmination of a quarter of a century of separate and unconnected efforts by individuals and organizations in different parts of the country in the interest of the observance of June 14, as Flag Day.

As author of "This 'n' That," I ask you to join with the management of this publication and yours truly, in celebrating Flag Day by displaying your flag. It's great to be an American and Flag Day is the time to show our thoughtful love of America. Flag Day should be the day that all Americans should renew their determination to make it (America) even greater and purer.

By 1900, Marconi wireless devices were installed in three U. S. Navy ships.
