From all indications, the people who seem to mind the various changes in the highways leading to and around Emmitsburg, are those who have been away from here for a long time and come home for a visit. Those of us who live here, saw these changes come about gradually and have accepted them with little or no change in our habits or emotions. Looking at it from a visitor's angle, it must really "throw" them when they are routed around, and away from various familiar landmarks and scenery that they've been accustomed to seeing since they were children. While most are quick to agree that the old highways certainly were in need of improvement, and agree that progress is a wonderful thing, still the unanimous lament is that it leaves them a little sad. Most of our homecomers are now living in large cities where hustle and bustle is an accepted and necessary evil, from which an exodus ever so often back to serene little Emmitsburg is a precious thing to look forward to. Somehow they feel a bit resentful that civilization and progress dare to trespass on their hallowed grounds. Indeed, our alumni have a point with which I could be in sympathy — IF I weren't so concerned over the dismal outlook for our town's very existence due to lack of enterprise here, etc. It's a beautiful, nostalgic dream to want Emmitsburg kept a lovely, unsoiled, hallowed shrine — a shrine to which periodic pilgrimages can be made by former residents who like to escape the hectic living in metropolitan areas to back in the peaceful, tradition steeped, friendly atmosphere of our little town. But what of those who live here the year round, trying to "eke out a livelihood"? What future do our youth have here as far as employment, industry, etc. are concerned? If I may be analogous for a moment; a little candy is good for one, but a steady diet of candy can make one awfully sick. . . . The same goes for a little sunburn — and too much sunburn. . . . Likewise, a short visit to Emmitsburg. It's thoroughly delightful — BUT — I'm sure if we asked our out-of-town visitors if they would like to come back to live in Emmitsburg permanently, en masse they would throw their hands up and cry "heavens, no! We'd starve to death!" Get the point? So, while I'm sorry for our visitors to a degree — I'm much, much sorer for those of us who live here.

What does it take to wake our townspeople out of their lethargy? Let's snap out of it and take a good, long look at ourselves.

It's good to see the real harbingers of summer — finally. Entire families picnicking together at Kump's Dam and other nearby creeks — mothers frantically chasing after their wee ones who have scampered perilously close to the water; the cheerful roaring of the crowds at the local baseball games.

Youngsters sitting on their front steps playing the old game of counting out-of-state license plates of tourists — 4 from Texas, 8 from S. Carolina, 3 from Nebraska, Louisiana and on and on and on. . . . Bright, colorful sport shirts; trips to nearby towns for the annual carnival; parades, and their long queues of flashily dressed drum majorettes and gay uniformed bands playing the Sousa marches, and even "Cha-cha" numbers; the horse races luring their throngs from track to track; luggage being lifted from the shelves and dusted in preparation for vacations at various resorts and distant cities where beloved kinfolks live; big family reunions at Rocky Ridge Park and other areas, where heads are counted to see how many more wee ones have been added to the clan since the last reunion was held; and finally, you know it's really summer when you see a carload of people from far away, whom you haven't seen or heard from for years, pull up to your door and say "we just happened to be passing through and just HAD to say hello", and somehow, without being even conscious of how it came about, you suddenly become aware

Truck Damaged In Mishap

In an accident which occurred about 9:30 a. m. Friday on Maryland 77 on the edge of Rocky Ridge, a small milk truck driven by Luther A. Hahn, 53, Emmitsburg R1, was struck by a car driven by James M. Fox, of Lantz.

According to the Maryland State Police report, Fox's car was on the wrong side of the highway when he rounded a curve. It was raining at the time and, when Fox applied his brakes, his car skidded into the truck.

Damage to the truck was figured at $800. The Fox car had about $300 damage.

Trooper W. E. Davis charged Fox with reckless driving.

One trouble with the country is that it wants to raise nothing but cotton and wear only silk.

Miss Brindley Becomes Bride Of Dr. Hogan

The marriage of Penelope Ann Brindley and Dr. Bartholomew Toner Hogan, Lieutenant (junior grade) U. S. Navy, took place at St. Anthony's Shrine, Emmitsburg, at noon on Sunday, June 19, 1960. The former Miss Brindley is the daughter of Col. John R. Brindley, U. S. Army (retired) of St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. Dr. Hogan is the son of the Surgeon General of the Navy and Mrs. Bartholomew W. Hogan of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Hogan is the former Grace Gloginer of Emmitsburg.

The bride was given away in marriage by her uncle, Mr. James M. Brindley of LaCrosse, Wisconsin. She wore a gown of white tulle with daisy head pieces and carried a prayer book decorated with white carnations. Attending the bride were Miss Dorothy Jane Evans, maid of honor, and Miss Mary Ledlie Hogan, junior maid of honor. The attendants wore blue and yellow organza over tulle with daisy head pieces and colonial bouquets of the same color.

The best man was Mr. Thomas Francis Hogan. Ushers included Dr. Charlts T. Claydon, Dr. Richard Francis Sappington, Mr. Daniel O'Keefe, and Mr. Robert Jones.

The Reverend Hugh Gloginer of Pittsburgh, Pa., officiated at the marriage and mass was celebrated by the Reverend John C. Collopy of Baltimore, Md., who also read the Papal Blessing.

County Engages Insect Expert

County Agent Henry R. Shoemaker has announced the addition of a summer help, insect control expert to his staff.

Robert A. Gosnell, Braddock Heights, was assigned to the office by the extension service of the University of Maryland. Although, he is not a county employee, he nevertheless will work as a temporary staff member in Shoemaker's office.

As explained by Shoemaker, Gosnell's main duty will be to conduct a field survey on insects assailing field crops in the county. In line with his investigations, Gosnell will be available for any special cases of insect activity reported to the County Agent's office. And he will serve as a general consultant to area farmers concerning insect affairs, Shoemaker added.

Gosnell graduated from Potomac State College at Keyser, West Virginia recently. Now working for the University of Maryland Extension Service, Department of Entomology, Gosnell plans to continue his studies at West Virginia University in Morgantown this fall. He is majoring in vocational agriculture.

In his investigation work this summer in the county, Gosnell will make a survey of insects attacking legumes, particularly alfalfa and corn.

Shoemaker explains that the position of summer field technician, which Gosnell is currently fulfilling, was filled in recent years by Francis Eignebrode, a teacher, who has since moved to the Eastern Shore.

Occupational Stamp Required Today

Beginning today special occupational stamps are required to be filed by those taxpayers who are liable, according to Irving Machiz, district director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District. Continuing, Mr. Machiz says, taxpayers no longer have until the end of the month of July to file applications and pay the tax.

The special occupational stamps apply to amusement devices, gaming devices and for those taxpayers engaged in wagering, a stamp also is required.

Stating further, the director said that these stamps are also required for beer and liquor dealers, wholesale or retail.

Applications filed after July 1 will be subject to penalties and interest, Machiz said.

Attending School

Lumen F. Norris, Emmitsburg, county tax assessment supervisor, is attending a school for state assessors now being held at the University of Maryland.

Fact Finders Inc. Seek Answers To Questions

Fact Finders Incorporated, an organization of county taxpayers, has submitted the following information pertinent to public interest:

"Those people who received a copy of the annual report of the Board of Education of Frederick County for 1957-58 may have noticed that on page 30, under the title 'Capital,' the following:

"By authorization of the County Commissioners, the following items have been deleted from the current expense budget and will be paid from the Bond and Loan Program:

Alteration of old building $75,000
Equipment (not replacement)$19,382
Automobiles, not included in A, B and D$ 3,200
School buses$ 9,000
Repair of buildings and upkeep of grounds$11,925
Replacement of instructional equipment$ 1,800
Replacement of other equipment$19,382
TOTAL$201,544

Stated briefly, some of the money received from the sale of Frederick County bonds to buy school buses, automobiles and the equipment are listed above. Either the School Board or the County Commissioners should explain this transaction to the taxpayers! The selling of bonds to finance current expenses is unsound.

Custody Of Ohler Child Awarded

Judge Earl S. Kelm of Westminster County Court in Greensburg, Pa., Tuesday awarded custody of Dale G. Ohler, a two-year old orphan, to his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Frye of Ligonier Twp., Pa.

"This court feels that it is for the best interests of the child himself that he be awarded to his aunt and uncle," stated Judge Kelm at the conclusion of the three-hour plus custody hearing. The Ohler boy was orphaned last March 1 when his parents, Clyde M. Ohler, 46, and Dorothy, 44, of Emmitsburg, were killed in an auto wreck about two miles north of here on the Gettysburg Rd. The boy was injured and spent eight days in the Warner Hospital.

After being released from the hospital he went to live with the Fryes and their only child, 11-year-old Bobby.

However, several weeks ago, Chester Ohler, the boy's grandfather, filed a petition in the Westminster County Court seeking custody of the boy himself and a great aunt, Mrs. Ora Miller. Mrs. Miller and Ohler reside in the same house at Emmitsburg.

Ohler testified that he sought possession of the child because he was his grandson and because he felt financially qualified to care for him.

Under cross examination, Ohler said the Fryes were "good people and capable parents." He also told the court that he was permitted to visit his grandson any time he wanted.

He said another of the main reasons he wanted the youngster was so that he could be with him more often.

Robert Frye, 38, a private plane pilot, testified that he was financially able to care for young Ohler. He also told the court that it was his intention to eventually adopt the child if he was awarded possession. He added that no matter what the decision of the court might be, Ohler would always be welcome in the Frye household.

Several character witnesses also testified for the Fryes. They included the Rev. John Van Horn, pastor of the Ligonier Methodist Church; Glenn Cook, a Ligonier real estate dealer; and Charles Graham, superintendent of the Rolling Rock Farms in Ligonier.

Each in his own way testified that the Fryes were good Christian people and capable parents.

In summing up the case, Judge Kelm said:

"I'm awarding the boy to the custody of his aunt and uncle with visitation rights to be worked out between the attorneys for both sides."

Frye indicated after the hearing that he would get to work immediately on adopting the boy.

Fractures Leg

Christopher Thomas, 1, Emmitsburg R1, has been admitted to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, as a result of a fractured leg suffered when he fell from a banister.

Town Council Opposes School Consolidation

Efforts to keep Emmitsburg High School intact and to block any consolidation move with the Thurmont High School by the Board of Education were augmented here this week when it was announced that the Burgess and Commissioners were totally opposed to any consolidation and would do all in the board's power to keep the school here.

A recent communication to parents, distributed to school children, by the Board of Education, has aroused quite a number of citizens in opposition to the move and the action by the Town Council this week strengthened the position of those opposing consolidation. In the communication the Board proposed to erect a new school on the outskirts of Thurmont in the Royer Restaurant vicinity and to transport Emmitsburg children by bus to the new school.

J. Norman Flax, acting as spokesman for the Town Fathers said it was imperative that a meeting with the County Commissioners and Board of Education be called and that such a meeting would be asked for in the immediate future. He said that numerous suggestions came to him that if Thurmont High School was overcrowded then the proper move to make would be to transport Rocky Ridge students and some Thurmont students to Emmitsburg, expanding the local school to accommodate the influx and to add additional teachers to the faculty here thus alleviating any congestion or overcrowding at the Emmitsburg school and expanding the curriculum by the addition of more teachers. It was also pointed out that many citizens of Thurmont were in opposition to any consolidation of the schools stating that the Town of Thurmont would have to extend sewerage and water facilities to the new building costing many thousands of dollars which Thurmont taxpayers would have to absorb by increased taxation with no return for their investment as school property is non-taxable. Commissioner Flax also pointed out that several years ago the County Commissioners were presented a petition signed by over 1000 Emmitsburgians in opposition to the consolidation move. The Town Fathers feel that many other local organizations will join the movement to keep the school here and express their opinion and stand in the near future. Information has it that the Board of Education already has an option on the Thurmont ground. Many citizens from both Emmitsburg and Thurmont, the Town Council feels, would rather see a new school erected about half way between here and Thurmont, possibly in the Payne's Hill area.

Little League Action

The Giants and Cards pounded out a total of 26 hits in an Emmitsburg Little League contest, Tuesday evening, but to no avail as both teams played to a 17-17 tie. T. Kelly of the Giants and the Cards' Gary Valentine blasted a homerun each during the six-inning affair.

Red Sox Crush Yankees

With the help of key homers by Ray Baker and Jerry Orndorff, the first place Red Sox routed the Yankees Monday evening. Steve Kelly pitched well in the clutches for the winners after surviving a three-run homer by Pat Topper which tied the game in the second inning. After that the last place Yankees simply fell apart. The final score was 17-6.

Cards Outlast Yankees

The Cards broke into the win column last Thursday evening as they pounded three Yankee pitchers for 17 hits and a 22-13 victory. Gary Valentine had a four-bagger for the winners.

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Orndorff, Rocky Ridge, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Marie, to G. Frederick Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick LeRoy Sherman, Glen Burnie.

Miss Orndorff is a student nurse at Mercy Hospital, Baltimore. She will complete her training in September.

Mr. Sherman is presently engaged in farming near Elliott City.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Flintkote Acquires M. J. Grove Co.

Flintkote Company of New York has entered into an agreement for acquisition of the assets of The M. J. Grove Lime Company of Frederick County, headquartered at Lime Kiln, five miles south of Frederick, it was announced this week by I. J. Harvey, New York, Flintkote chairman of the board and chief executive officer, and W. Jarboe Grove, president of the Grove Lime Company.

Under the agreement approved by the directors of both companies, subject to the approval of the Grove stockholders, Flintkote would issue in a tax free reorganization of Grove 100,800 shares of new $2.25 Series B no par convertible second preferred in exchange for the assets of Grove, subject to liabilities.

The new preferred would be convertible into Flintkote common at any time at $45 per share the equivalent of 10 shares of Flintkote common for nine shares of the preferred. It would be subject to redemption after five years from date of issuance at $52.50 per share. There are presently 31,700 shares of Grove common stock outstanding.

Founded at Lime Kiln, Maryland in 1859 Grove is a major supplier of lime products, crushed stone, concrete block, concrete pipe, and ready mixed concrete in the northern Virginia and southern Maryland area. It also is engaged in street and road construction. Plants are located at Lime Kiln and Frederick, Md., and Middletown and Stephens City, Virginia. Sales are in excess of $6,000,000 annually. In 1959 Flintkote's net sales reached $221,075,187.

Mr. Harvey said the proposed acquisition will enable Flintkote "to extend our limestone resources" as part of the company's planned program of expansion and diversification. "As one of the largest owners of non-metallic mineral deposits in the United States, Flintkote is reaching ever closer to the management's long range goal of supplying raw materials to essential industries as well as making better products for the builder, contractor, and consumer himself," Mr. Harvey stated.

Mr. Grove joined Mr. Harvey in explaining that plans call for continuation of Grove Lime's management and personnel. Grove would be operated as a Flintkote division.

Mr. Harvey said Flintkote's plans provide for "continuous broadening of our operations in lime, cement and gypsum—products expected to contribute substantially to the encouraging future of the company."

In addition to lime, cement and gypsum, Flintkote manufactures paper products, including corrugated containers, floor coverings and adhesives, pipe and conduits, asphalt paving products, as well as the broadest line of building products in the United States.

Flintkote has eight-five plants and mills in the United States, and in Canada, England and France.

in progress during the past two weeks at the Elias Lutheran Parish House will hold its closing program at 10:00 A. m. this morning (Friday). A picnic will follow the program on the church lawn. Mrs. Richard Harner and Mrs. John White are the co-chairmen for the picnic, with Mrs. Lula Bushman and Miss Ruth Shuff helping.

The public is invited to attend the program and see a small portion of the work the children have been doing these past two weeks. Each department will present a part of the program. Rev. Philip Bower will be in charge of the service.

Mrs. Ann G. Roger quietly celebrated her birthday Sunday at her home in Emmitt Gardens.

OUR STATE UNIVERSITY

University of Maryland undergraduate students with outstanding academic records in physics and zoology will be encouraged to conduct research in these fields this summer and during the next academic year.

The research work will supplement regular course work required of students who are majoring in these fields.

Students selected to participate in the new undergraduate research programs will be awarded special scholarships both for their work in the summer program and their participation during the academic year.

National Science Foundation grants to the university departments of zoology and physics in the amount of $11,675 will support the programs.

The department of physics will award scholarships to about 10 students, who will be assigned to positions with research groups of the department for a forty-hour week during a ten-week summer period. During the academic year, the students will conduct research on a part-time basis (approximately 10 hours per week).

At the present time the department of physics is operating a similar program for both high school teachers and high school students during the summer months. In addition, a program has been running an independent studies program for honor students, who receive academic credit for their research participation.

Experience in these programs has been so successful that expansion of opportunities for research participation will enable additional qualified students to take advantage of the program.

begin the exciting adventure of looking for their first job.

You can get started in the right way by having your social security account number card with you when you apply for that job. Your employer should have it before you begin working. He needs it to properly report the amount of your earnings. If you don't show it to him, you may lose some of your future social security protection.

If you have worked before, even part time, you probably had a social security card. In that case, show it to your employer when you get a job.

If you've lost your card, get a duplicate with the identical number that was on your original card. Having more than one number causes confusion and delay when you collect benefits. Remember—one social security number lasts a lifetime.

If you never had a card, or if you need a duplicate card, visit the nearest office of the Social Security Administration.

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH COLUMN

Hic!

Like pratfalls and pie in the eye, hiccups get a hoarse laugh from everyone but the victim. Hiccups are embarrassing at best, sometimes painful, and if they continue very long, dangerously weakening.

Hiccups result from a spasm of the diaphragm, the thick sheet of muscle that separates the abdominal cavity from the chest. The diaphragm is part of the breathing mechanism. When you inhale, your diaphragm flattens and air is pulled into the lungs. When you exhale, the diaphragm resumes its normal dome shape and air is pushed out of the lungs.

The spasm which produces hiccups sometimes comes from over-eating, when the too full stomach pressed upward against the diaphragm. Hiccups also result from the irregular explosive breathing which goes with laughing too hard. Sometimes hiccups just happen, with no cause that anyone can pin down.

There are all kinds of remedies for hiccups. Practically everybody has one. Those that work best do so by changing the breathing rhythm. That gives the diaphragm something to think about besides its spasm.

—Drink a glass of water from the far side of the rim.

—Hold a paper bag tightly around mouth and nose. Breathe out into the paper bag through the mouth and breathe in that same exhaled air through the nose.

—Drink a glass of water slowly, without inhaling until you reach bottom.

—Hold mouth and nose closed for one minute.

TODAY'S MEDITATION

Read Romans 8:31-39.

If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. (II Corinthians 5:17.)

Our baby had just begun to crawl. Upon the floor she had found a new world amid chair and table legs. Contented at first with the mere wonder of these objects, they later became impediments to her progress as she gained confidence to venture on.

One day a large chair blocked her way. Her struggle to push it aside ended with a bumped head and loud screams of protest. Picking her up, I was surprised when suddenly her sobbing ceased. She was looking down with renewed interest. The chair looked different, now that she was above it.

How like that baby we sometimes are! We move about in our little realms, pushing, bumping, and crying out against the trials of life. Yet lifted up in our Father's arms of love, we no longer see circumstances as insurmountable obstacles. With new vision, we see all things as useful to our spiritual growth in God's kingdom here upon earth and in His world to come.

Prayer

Almighty Father, in whose strong arms our lives are held safely and securely, grant us renewed faith to face our daily trials. Bless us with a new vision to see beyond them as we live a higher life in Thee. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day
Underneath are the everlasting arms to lift us up so that we gain a new and better view of life.

Flag Lore for Your Child

The stars and stripes have been our nation's banner for almost 183 years... making it one of the oldest national flags. But Flag Day has only been officially recognized since 1949.

The colors of our flag are derived from the British Union Jack, and until 1820—a new star and stripe were added with each new state. The flag that Francis Scott Key wrote about had 15 stars and stripes.

According to tradition, when the American flag is displayed with foreign banners, it must have equal or superior prominence and mustn't be displayed on days when the weather is inclement.

When the new 50-starred flag comes out this July 4th—children will enjoy drawing the stars and stripes in CRAYOLA colors. They can also decorate flag-staff holders with crayons and use them as colorful desk displays.

Breezy comfort and stay-put security are the hallmarks of summer's new strapless bras by Formfit. Made of cool cotton, the "Confidential" is completely free of wires. The convertible "Gay Life" has cups of nylon sheer over pella.

As predictable as the swallows to Capistrano is the feminine urge to shed restrictive apparel in the spring.

Once a "special occasion" item, today the strapless bra has a general all-purpose appeal that suits a multitude of fashion and figure needs.

Notable is a new "Confidential" series which features no straps and no wires and lifts and rounds the form by means of cups lined with wafer thin foam rubber. A silky elastic back, with synchronized stretch, makes the bra cling like a complement through any summer activity.

Readily adaptable to any fashion from the bateau neckline of a pull-over shirt to the plunging décolletage of a ball-gown, the "Gay Life" bra is completely unlined and unpadded. Auxiliary straps may be attached as desired in the regular manner, off-the-shoulder or halter style. Without straps, this bandeau stays in place by means of specially developed non-skid yarns in the back band. The "Confidential" bandeau comes in sizes 32A to 38B and longline and brassiere versions are available. The "Gay Life" convertible bandeau may be had in a span of sizes from 32A to 38C.

ABUNDANT LIFE

IF I CAN FIND THE ARMS OF THE CROSS

A large passenger plane bound for Hawaii took off from the great airport in San Francisco. Sometime later, as the pilot checked his course over the Pacific Ocean, one engine began to sputter, then stopped completely.

Immediately, the pilot turned the plane around to return to San Francisco, since it was only 300 miles behind. Hawaii lay nearly 2,000 miles away.

In a short while the pilot was approaching San Francisco, but a heavy fog had settled over the bay area. The pilot lost his way in the fog even though he had instruments. He was not sure of the direction in which he was flying.

The pilot turned to his co-pilot and said, "There is a mountain east of the city and its top will be above the fog. There is a cemetery on the top of the mountain; one of the tombs has a tall cross on it. Let's fly toward the mountain and if I can find the arms of that cross, I can bring the ship safely to land."

Rising above the heavy bank of fog, the pilot of the plane soon saw the mountain and found the cross standing in the cemetery. Taking his bearings from the arms of the cross, he was soon able to land the plane safely.

Do you often feel as if you were lost in the fog of trouble, worry and despair that surrounds you? Do you ever feel that you have lost your bearings—your sense of values and direction?

When your way is not clear or your journey is hindered, find the arms of the cross. When you find the cross, you will find a person, Jesus Christ.

Christ is a master pilot. He is the Master Navigator. Christ has never been lost. The fog of doubt has never confused Him, and the fury of the storms of life has never been able to turn Him from His course.

During a storm on the Sea of Galilee, when the sea was raging and the waves were tossing high, Jesus raised his hand and said, "Peace, be still." Immediately, the tempest-tossed little boat began to stop its wild pitching and rocking as the wind and sea obeyed the command of the Master. The disciples, covering in the bottom of the boat, were only too glad that Christ had taken the helm and become their pilot.

Today, that same Master Pilot is ready to help you. He is not a dead Christ but a live, vigorous, real person who will guide you back to your course. After you find Him, He will help you arrive at your destination. All you must do is find the cross.

The Candle Lighter

Matthew, the inspired writer of the first of the four gospels wrote: "Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick, and it giveth light unto all that are in the house." This was a challenge to mankind to, first, know the Truth; then carry it high like a beacon giving "light unto all that are in the house."

It requires courageous and dedicated people to light the candles of Truth and give light to all.

But this is the kind of dedication needed in our nation today as we see Communism advancing relentlessly toward world domination while our people remain apathetic. Mrs. Carol Lippman, who lives and works and mothers her family in the little city of Benton, in central Arkansas, is such a candle lighter. Her story is inspiring. She has a counterpart in every community in America. If they could be reached and given the torch of knowledge to light candles many dangerous actions of our nation, and particularly our appeasement of world Communism, would be corrected.

Freedom Forum Conferee

In April 1959, Mrs. Lippman, secretary to one of the executives of a large mineral processing plant and who doubles as housewife and mother, attended a Freedom Forum held by the National Education Program in Searcy. The Forum sent her home carrying a lighted candle of knowledge on the great values inherent in our American way of life and on the grave dangers of world Communism and encroaching Socialism. Carrying the candle for this knowledge became her avocation. Her first conquest was her husband Al, himself an industrial executive. When he had been given the facts, he became alarmed.

Until 30 days ago, however, Mrs. Lippman's candle hadn't exactly become a bonfire lighting up the city of Benton. Benton, like every other progressive American community was basking in prosperity and happiness. Communism and Socialism were spectres but far, far away. Why worry? Everything was fine! Then Mrs. Lippman, through her constant communication with the National Education Program, received descriptive material on its new sound-color filmstrip, "Communism On The Map," which was frankly designed to shock America into an awareness of the peril of advancing world Communism. The bonfire

She arranged for a showing in Benton. Al is a Lions Club member. So he helped organize a "Ladies Night" for the showing. "Al and I cornered the local newspaper editors and impressed upon them the importance of this subject to every citizen, and they both responded with front page stories," she relates. With Mrs. Lippman beating the drum, the Lions and their Ladies came out en masse—the biggest Lions Club affair in Benton's history. "The film made an almost shattering impression upon all those present," Mrs. Lippman reports. "The town is really in an uproar!"

Mrs. Lippman had lit a bonfire at last! The substance of the filmstrip supplied the topic for conservation all over Benton for 10 days. Then the Lions, gently nudged by Al, became a spearhead of a community-wide educational effort. They will take the film into every group, every institution, every organization in their city. Officials of Lions International were contacted and some have promised to try to "make this a grass roots movement throughout Lionism in the U. S."

Spreading Light

Plans are underway locally to organize an Anti-Communist Action Committee. Study groups are being formed. A library of sound, carefully screened books on Communism is being set up and committees will endeavor to get every family to read them. A similar pamphlet library is taking shape for widest distribution. The Lippman's 15-year-old daughter has formed a Youth Anti-Communist Action Group among school-mates.

"Since Al has been in top management circles for many years," Mrs. Lippman reports, "he is going to write strong, personal letters to about 50 of his management acquaintances around the nation, sending them literature on "Communism on the Map" and urging that they do all in their power to see to it that everyone in their community sees the filmstrip."

There are many, many other activities now underway in Benton. The people there are going to know the true facts about the menace of Communism and help our nation fight a Cold War affecting the lives of every citizen. We salute Mrs. Carol Lippman, a candle lighter.

Our local fire chief shut down his department for two days and posted a warning: "Positively no fires allowed."

Tips on CAR CARE

Why drain out anti-freeze? There's still a lot of confusion on this point.

Here are the facts, set forth by Du Pont Company automotive engineers, pertaining to anti-freezes used last winter.

Most rust inhibitors in such coolants are weakened or destroyed after a winter's service. The coolants actually turn acid in time, causing more rust than plain water.

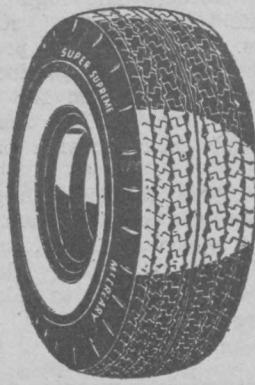

Rust build-up slows coolant flow. This can lead to overheating, scarred cylinders, warped heads, burned and sticking valves.

Don't add new inhibitor on top of worn out anti-freeze. The only safe procedure is to drain it out.

State Finances Explained By Comptroller

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein stated today that in view of the wide-spread interest that was being manifested in just how the finances of the State of Maryland will shape up when the State closes its fiscal year on June 30, 1960, he felt that the following statement was in order:

Numerous inquiries have been received from State officials, finance officers of many of our Maryland Counties and Cities, and from the Press, in this connection.

Even though the State's fiscal year does end June 30, it usually takes several weeks after that date to obtain the true financial picture. This is due to the fact that it takes considerable time to assemble the data from the various tax agencies and departments of the State, and budget data must also be obtained in order to determine how much will be reverted from these budgets.

The statement is, therefore, tentative in nature and subject to fluctuations. By no means is the statement to be considered a firm one with respect to the receipts from the many tax sources dealt with herein.

Income Tax

Last December it was estimated that the income tax would yield net receipts of $101,479,000.00. At this date it would appear that this estimate will be exceeded by more than four million dollars. However, this increase is not all general fund revenue as a part of it will be allocable to the subdivisions of the State as well as to the Maryland Port Authority. While nearly all of the income tax receipts have been tabulated there are refunds yet to be made. Some of these may not be processed this fiscal year, in which event a reserve may be necessary.

Retail Sales And Use Tax

The estimate for this revenue source is $73,337,000.00. Receipts for eleven months of the fiscal year have been fully tabulated and they approximate $68,000,000.00. Sales and use tax returns for the month of May 1960 were due June 21, 1960, thus the bulk of the sales and use tax receipts for the twelfth and final month of the fiscal year, are still being tabulated. It would appear, however, that the final month's receipts would approximate $6,100,000.00, in which event the total sales and use tax receipts would exceed the estimate by around $800,000.00.

State Tobacco Tax

Receipts from this source will be approximately $200,000.00 less than what was estimated. The estimate is $11,000,000.00, but only around $10,800,000.00 will actually be collected.

Alcoholic Beverages Excises

It was estimated that the alcoholic beverages excises would be $8,475,000.00. Indications are that this figure will be exceeded by nearly $200,000.00.

Tax On Horse Racing

Here an estimate of $8,270,000.00 made last December has proven to be a very close one, as just about that amount will be received.

Franchise Taxes

Franchise taxes are expected to exceed the estimate by around $200,000.00. The estimate was $10,304,000.00 with actual receipts approximating around $10,500,000.00.

Tax On Insurance Companies

This revenue will run very close to the estimate of $8,940,000.00, exceeding it by possibly $75,000.

Death Taxes

Our official estimate is $5,375,000.00 and tabulations seem to indicate an excess over this figure of approximately $100,000.

Motor Vehicle Fuel Tax

Our estimate of $53,524,000.00 appears to be a rather close one, as the receipts appear to be around that amount.

Motor Vehicle Registration And Fines

This source was estimated as $28,521,000.00 and the actual receipts appear to be very close to that amount.

My world tour of Famous Boudoirs took me to London on the glorious Spring day of Princess Margaret Rose's wedding. A less shy reporter would have tried for a picture of the wedding suite aboard the Royal yacht. But the beauty and sweetness of it all kept me at a respectful distance, merely waving to the glowing couple as they moved slowly down the Thames.

I spent the night in the chilly boudoir of Disraeli's country house (and wished wholeheartedly for an electric blanket!). Like many Americans, my hostess keeps her bedrooms "healthfully cool", but her eyes lit up when I promised to send her a Lady Pepperell automatic blanket on my return to Boston.

The next day, I drove through the Berkshire country to Windsor Castle. One of the best "housewives" ever to live there, according to English gossip, was the virgin queen, Elizabeth I. She was the first to use such refinements as linen damask table napkins and bed sheets. As I stood in her oak-paneled bedroom under its barrel-shaped ceiling (styled to give the room greater height), I mentally designed a new pattern in her honor. With the English rose in a deeper tone on a pastel color, this silky percale will give the impression of the finest damask. I shall call it Damask Rose. I thought, for the colorful yet lonely Queen whose creative touch turned a castle into a home.

Motor Vehicle Titling Tax

The estimate of $10,500,000.00 made for the motor vehicle titling tax will be exceeded by approximately $700,000.00.

It is to be remembered that the motor vehicle fuel taxes, registration fees and fines, as well as the titling tax, are special funds dedicated to highway use, and that any increase in these funds will not affect the General Funds of the State.

The figures given herein are from the best available information as of this date and as has been already indicated, may fluctuate when the final result is known. It is expected that a full and complete financial statement will be ready for release by Aug. 1, 1960.

Air Conditioning Ups Church Attendance

"People need God as much in July as in December," is the explanation one minister gives for installing air conditioning in the church he serves.

Increasing numbers of churches in all sections of the country are winning back former summer slackers with cool comfort. They find that air conditioning installed in a church well insulated with mineral wool in walls, ceilings, and floors operates efficiently and economically.

Babson Discusses Great New Inventions

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 30—While the papers are adequately covering space developments such as circling the moon, etc., I would like to come down to earth and tell you of some very wonderful things which are now under development. From my point of view, any one of these may be more important than sailing around the solar system.

Control Of Fusion
Readers are acquainted with references to the atomic bomb and the hydrogen bomb. The atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima had the explosive force of over 20,000 tons of TNT, whereas the old "blockbusters" had the force of only one ton. Yet the newer hydrogen bombs may have a thousand times the power of the atomic bomb. These are important things to consider in connection with the possibility of World War III. But in looking to the future, there is this difference: Atomic energy has already been harnessed for the development of electricity but no practical method has been found for harnessing hydrogen energy for peace purposes. Considering that hydrogen energy may be found in every pond of water, while atomic energy can be secured only from uranium and similar substances, the industrial future is locked up in the discovery of means of safely harnessing hydrogen energy, commonly produced by fusion. There also may theoretically be a third bomb which emits radiation that kills people but does not destroy property.

Methods Of Communication
The time is coming when there will be no telephone wires on our streets. Communications will be by microwaves. The Bell Laboratories are already applying these waves to long-distance communications. Whether or not new methods of transporting electric power without wires will be developed, I do not know. I am, however, certain that there will be a most radical change in all means of communications, including radio, television, and other discoveries yet to come. Even now, antennae and vacuum tubes are no longer necessary to transmit unseen electric waves through the walls of any home or factory.

Rearranging The Molecules
I am tremendously interested in the work of Dr. S. W. Herwald of the Research Department of Westinghouse Electric Corp. By the rearrangement of molecules, certain minerals may do the work of other minerals and combine into almost new minerals. Gallium, boron, phosphorus, arsenic, and other elements are used in these experiments. By rearrangements of molecules, strips of metal an eighth of an inch wide and a few thousandths of an inch thick present great industrial potential.

Since the days of Sir Isaac Newton, physicists have been seeking a partial insulator of gravity. Our metallurgists have been watching for some alloy (millions of untried possible alloys exist) to act as such an insulator. It is now hoped that this will be accomplished by a rearrangement of the molecules of some existing mineral. Such a discovery could well result in "perpetual motion" for small irrigation pumps and other industrial uses without consumption of oil or electricity. I am confident that such a discovery will some day be announced by the Gravity Research Foundation of New Boston, N. H.

Machines Which Think
If space permitted, I would like to discuss the new developments in analytical and computing machines. These are now manufactured at great cost; but someday they will be as common as adding machines. None of these are as yet able to think, but can only rearrange and report on information previously fed into them. With the rearrangement of molecules, some day we may have a machine which "thinks."

Suburban Farm Assessment Will Remain Same

C. E. Wise, Jr., Executive Secretary of Maryland Farm Bureau, has expressed gratification at the announcement by William H. Riley, chief supervisor of assessments for the State, that property assessments for suburban farmers will remain at present levels at least temporarily.

Farm assessments may remain at the relatively low level permanently if the Constitutional Amendments to legalize the present system are voted upon favorably in the November general election.

"It is vitally important to our farmers," says Mr. Wise, "that their property retain its agricultural classification in the tax assessments field. Otherwise, they would find it economically difficult, if not impossible, to remain in business."

"All Maryland citizens should be aware of the fact that the preservation of agriculture in the State is vital to everyone," Mr. Wise concluded.

Soy Bean Crop Price Support Announced

The price of 1960-crop soybeans will be supported at $1.80 per bushel in all Maryland counties, Chairman William L. Dudley of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced today. The local rate is based on a national average support price of $1.85 per bushel, the same as the rate for 1959.

Soybean price support will be carried out as in the past through loans on farm-stored soybeans and through purchase agreements. Minimum requirements for support eligibility correspond to re-except for moisture content, which cannot be more than 14 per cent. To be eligible for support under the 1960 operation, soybeans must be produced in 1960.

Loans and purchase agreements will be available from harvest through Jan. 31. Loans will mature May 31, 1961.

LOLLIPOP'S LITTLER

(Picture in next column)
TIMONIUM, Md. — Maryland's Lollipop has some growing to do to catch up with the sign over the head of his Mistress, young Miss Sandra Wilkerson, of Sparks, Baltimore County, Maryland. The sign hangs on the side of the barn which will house Lollipop's much bigger working brothers during the Maryland State Fair at Timonium, Maryland, which opens on August 29th this year. It's unlikely that Lollipop will catch up, since he is a six-month old pony which took first prize in the foal class at the Western Run 4-H Club Pony Show held at Timonium recently.

THIS 'N THAT

GEORGE W. WIREMAN

WE HOLD THESE TRUTHS

On July 4, 1960 the United States will celebrate its 184th anniversary of independence. Parades and celebrations of all types will be held to honor this occasion. Join with me in this celebration as we turn back the pages of time and review the events which lead to the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Long before 1776 various officials in the Colonies reported that the Americans wanted independence. During and after the First Continental Congress those who wanted to reach an understanding with Great Britain charged that those who wanted to fight her had independence as their aim.

It was the spark of freedom kindled by the "Mohawk" raiders in Boston Harbor that lighted the first of rebellions. In the fall of 1774 when the First Continental Congress assembled in Philadelphia, the delegates drafted an appeal to the king to correct the wrongs causing dissension, and then adopted an agreement: After December 1, 1774, unless colonial abuses ended, no merchandise would be imported from Great Britain or Ireland; after September 10, 1775, exports to these countries and the West Indies would cease. Conditions grew worse.

February 1775, brought the threat of war even closer. In April it came. As the news of the battles of Lexington and Concord spread throughout the colonies, everyone said: "This is war." And it was war; the war for independence.

In June, the Second Continental Congress, meeting in Philadelphia, summoned George Washington from his quiet life in Mount Vernon to command all troops. Washington began at once to organize the high-spirited minutemen into seasoned soldiers. Meanwhile, Ethan Allen's Green Mountain Boys of Vermont struck a telling blow by seizing Crown Point and Ticonderoga, key fortresses to the control of northern New York. The jubilant Sam Adams asked, "Is not America already independent? Why not then declare it?"

Henry Lee of Virginia offered a resolution: "These United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states."

The sons of Virginia were doing well. One commanded the armies in the field, another called for the birth of a new nation, and a third Virginian, Thomas Jefferson, was asked to draft the document justifying this fateful act.

Surely Jefferson had become a genius to compare with Franklin. At "Shadwell," in Virginia's Albemarle County, Jefferson's first lusty cries were heard on April 13, 1743. Tom grew up a thoroughly normal son of the frontier... a boy who liked to hunt and fish, who could handle a horse as well as anyone in the county, and whose quick, inquisitive mind frequently found him digging in nearby Indian mounds for relics.

At the age of nine, Thomas Jefferson was studying Latin, Greek, and French; at seventeen, he had completed classical school and entered William and Mary College. When his studies ended there, he read law under George Wythe, one of the greatest jurists in America, and in 1767 was admitted to the Virginia bar.

The expanding brilliance of Jefferson's mind seemed to know no limit. Like Washington, he was the devoted farmer, but he was more the scientific farmer who added to the common knowledge of agriculture. Like Franklin, he was the imaginative inventor, and today we use a currency of dollars and cents based on the decimal system of coinage that he devised. Still other products of Jefferson's inventive mind were to be the weather vane, the first storm windows, a plow, a revolving chair, a dumb-waiter elevator, and a clock that told both the hour and day of the week.

We may well ask when Jefferson found the time to do so much... to compile a dictionary of Indian dialects, to read the books in a personal library that one day would form the basis for the present Library of Congress, to learn architectural design so well that his magnificent home at Monticello, the State Capitol at Richmond, and the University of Virginia were each created by his restless imagination.

Such was the man and the mind that the Continental Congress selected to be its spokesman for liberty. For 18 days Jefferson labored to draft the historic document. On long sheets of foolscap, the scratch of his quill pen worked out the case for the action Congress had taken. "The history of the present king of Great Britain," Jefferson wrote, "is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states." Jefferson proposed that the facts be submitted to a candid world.

Jefferson's probing, logical mind indicted the king for a conspiracy of enslavement. The king had obstructed justice and "kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures," thus endeavoring "to render the military independent and superior to the civil power."

The days went by. Jefferson dipped his quill pen and reflected. What did it all mean? The pen resumed scratching, slowly and thoughtfully, words that were destined to stand as a testament of faith for all willing to make the choice between liberty or death.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, having its power in such a form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness..."

The simple language and courageous spirit rather than the thought were new, for in the Declaration of Independence Jefferson used ideas by which, in 1688, Englishmen had justified revolt against King James II. At last the Virginian was ready to have his document read and criticized. Over the foolscap pages ran the eyes of two men whom all America respected... the eyes of Ben Franklin, all the sharper for the bifocal glasses he had invented; and the eyes of the distinguished John Adams, cousin of the firebrand Sam, and a fighter for freedom since that day in 1765 when he had written of the Stamp Act: "This tax on newspapers and legal papers was set on foot for my ruin as well as that of Americans in general."

The three men discussed the document. Adams liked its "high tone" and "flights of oratory," he would not have called the king a tyrant, but did not press the point. Franklin suggested only minor changes. Later all the members of Congress considered the declaration, cut a line here, added another line there, but the basic thought and language remained Jefferson's.

The Congress met for the final reading. A hush fell over the crowded hall. A quiet voice spoke stirring words:

"When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation."

The voice read on, declaring the rights of all men to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; and stating in thirty paragraphs the case against the king. With dignity and restraint, the declaration was then formally adopted.

The date was July 4, 1776.

Four days later the tolling of the Liberty Bell summoned the general public of Philadelphia to hear the Declaration of Independence. Appropriate ever since has been the quotation from the Bible which was inscribed upon the bell:

"Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof."

And thus, a new nation was born. A nation, which, this July 4th celebrates its 184th birthday. Let us not forget to tell the story of the Declaration of Independence to our future generations for through the years it has remained one of the most stirring and colorful pages in American history.

Holiday Safety Stressed By Council

The Fourth of July commemorates our country's independence. We will celebrate the 184th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. What better way is there to celebrate the holiday, asks Paul E. Burke, executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, than by making the day FREE from traffic accidents? Accidents can turn the holiday into a horror - Day! Last year, over the Fourth of July holiday weekend in Maryland, six people were killed and 167 were injured due to traffic accidents. These tragedies could have and should have been avoided.

Many of the traffic accidents occurring on our streets and highways can be directly charged to the behavior of the people involved in them. Somehow these people have developed false attitudes that result in actions dangerous to themselves and others in traffic—they honk at pedestrians, they speed up when about to be overtaken, they cut in front of through traffic in making left turns, they double park in congested areas, and straddle lane markers on expressways.

Evidently these people fail to develop appreciations necessary to accident-free driving on our highways. They fail to appreciate that driving is a privilege, not a right; that courtesy is as important on the highway as at the club or in the home; that the Golden Rule cannot be left behind when they get behind the wheel.

We can have the safest car it is possible to make, drive over the safest roadways it is possible to build, but until we have drivers with correct traffic attitudes, appreciations, understandings, habits, and skills, we are sure to have more and more accidents and fatalities on our streets and highways.

So however you and your family celebrate the Fourth of July . . . wherever you go . . . and whatever you do . . . heed this tip from the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission . . . Be Safe on the Fourth and be Alive on the Fifth. Let's make this Fourth of July weekend a safe one.

Laments Apathy Towards Local Chamber Commerce

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:
I think we the people of Emmitsburg, especially the ones that should belong to the Chamber of Commerce and the members that now belong, should bow their heads in shame. Last week a meeting was called and one member showed up and he was from out-of-town. He drove eight miles to attend the meeting and we can walk to the Fire Hall and not one showed up.

If an out-of-towner is interested enough in Emmitsburg to join the Chamber and drive 8 miles, I think it is high time Emmitsburgians take an interest in their town and try to improve it.

I made a survey of business people in and around town within one mile and there is in the neighborhood of 75 or 80 in number. We should have at least 75% of that number active members in the Chamber.

Taneytown's Chamber is trying to get a highway to come this way, in fact it will go right through the town. We should be in there helping them, but what can a couple of members do? That is only one of the good projects the Chamber can work on.

We cannot, sorry to say, get enough members together to hold an election. I am Treasurer and have been for three years and I would like to see someone else have it.

Let's all get together and make our Chamber strong and work for the betterment of the town.

D. J. Kaas

TOBACCO TALES

by Sander

Maple sugar, rum dregs, wine and other mellowing substances are used in many blends to give tobacco a sweeter taste and to make the leaves more "workable" before being cut.

Characteristics of tobacco are dependent on the climate and soil where grown. The seed of Turkish tobacco sown in Virginia produces Virginia tobacco and not Turkish.

AMPHORA, America's leading popular-priced imported tobacco, is a blend of 14 different natural non-flavored tobaccos. Distributed by Romick's International Tobacco Co., AMPHORA TOBACCO is produced by Douwe Egberts Royal Factories, Holland, and is a mild, cool blend created especially for the American Pipe Smoker.
