Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

Winter's first frigid blasts descended on our area Wednesday morning when the mercury dipped to the low twenties. We had been lulled into a lethargic state by the unseasonable weather up to this time, and the blasts caught us totally unready for such a change of pace. Here it is only three weeks from Christmas and very few people have any spirit at all, due naturally to the "shirt sleeve" weather we had been experiencing. Wednesday's cold front sent many scurrying for their "longies" though and by now I imagine a lot of people are slowly being instilled with the spirit of the approaching Yuletide. Just think, there are only five more months of winter ahead of us. However, because of the prolonged summer, many are advocating a severe winter although it will now be a month shorter due to November already having expired. It could easily enough be a rough one and those four-foot snow drifts this week in New York sets one to wondering.

It's a fast-changing world these days. Just a few years ago we thought we were well ahead in telephone communications growth and modernization when we received our new exchange building and also a name (Hillcrest). Well that's not true any longer. Seems as though the population growth and also the expansion of telephone exchanges is causing a shortage of exchange names and therefore the phone utility is planning now to do away with exchange names and will substitute instead numbers. It appears that there are many more combinations of numbers than words. Well let's hope we get an easy one because it's gonna be sort of difficult to memorize all those digits. Let's see... at present we have to dial five digits, now then if they add two or three more you'll see just what you are in for. Better think it over a little bit before you make your final decision.

Now that winter's upon us we look forward to the advent of Christmas and what's the Town going to do about it? Quite a number of individuals and merchants are of the opinion that the decorating scheme, if any we have, should be drastically changed. For a decade now we have followed the same old pattern year after year. The need for a diversification is apparent indeed but the time element will play a major factor in determining whether or not there is any change to be made this year. At present the system is being rewired and this naturally takes time. However, Christmas decorating of the town is a permanent thing and some thought should be given now as to inaugurating a new scheme. I feel however, that with the help of local merchants and individuals who have expressed a willingness to donate a couple of bucks to the cause it wouldn't be too expensive a proposition for the Town to make the change... and the sooner the better. I feel too, that quite a number of organizations would lend a helping hand, both financially and physically, to help dress up the old town a bit at Christmas.

Mounties Open Court Season Here Saturday

Coach Jim Phelan's highly touted Mountaineers open their home season Saturday night against Coach Dodo Canterna's St. Vincent College Bearcats in a series that has been full of tight games, many of which have gone to the underdog. The St. Vincent frays have almost always been marked by superlative shooting as both teams bombed away effectively at the hoop.

In Saturday's encounter, the Mountaineers should have the edge in size with the addition of Jack O'Reilly, Dick Saylor and Jack Campbell, plus veterans Jack Thompson, Dick Talley and Dave Samuels. This is a club Mountaineer fans have been looking forward to. It is as rich in potential as any that Jim Phelan has directed over his six year stint as Mountie headman.

The Bearcats are not apt to be awed by any "puffs" about the Mountaineers. Their schedule is traditionally a very strong one, featuring outings against the likes of Duquesne, St. Francis of Loretta, Steubenville, St. Bonaventure and almost anyone else who cares to risk a big reputation against a tough small school.

How far the Mountaineers will go seems to depend entirely on how eager they are. The team is deep in talent; it shoots well; has excellent size and adequate speed. It could play tougher defense and work more aggressively. If Phelan gets a solid team effort instead of gaudy individual efforts, this might very well be the finest Mountaineer team in history. But the Mountaineers will have to prove it on the court.

Phelan has a fine balance of experience with seniors Jerry Savage and Jack Thompson, junior Dick Talley and sophomores Ed Pfeiffer and John O'Reilly, leading off youngsters Dick Saylor, Jack Campbell, Tom Wahl and Dave Spwak. The fact that there are a lot of hungry squad members brightens the outlook since Phelan will go with the players that produce.

Savage and Talley have their eyes set on repeating on the all-conference team and both would also like to make the all-State club of which Talley was a member last season.

Tuesday night the Mountaineers will engage Baltimore University in a Mason-Dixon Conference game at Memorial Gym. All home games start at 8 p. m.

SPRANKLE—CULLISON

Miss Margaret Elizabeth Cullison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Cullison, Fairfield R2, became the bride of David Frederick Sprankle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Sprankle, Fairfield R2, in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg, Saturday at 10 a. m. in the double-ring ceremony. The Nuptial Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Fr. Martin J. Sleasman, C.M., assistant pastor of the church.

The bride wore a white street-length dress, fashioned with a scooped neckline, full skirt and elbow-length sleeves. Her short veil fell from a crown of pearls. She carried a white lace-covered prayer book topped with red rosebuds and white carnations.

The maid of honor was Miss Theresa Sprankle, Fairfield R2, who wore a emerald blue street-length dress and carried a cascade of white and yellow mums. The best man was Charles E. Cullison, Fairfield R2.

The couple will reside at 51 W. Middle St., Gettysburg.

The bride is a graduate of Fairfield High School, class of 1959, and is employed in the payroll department of the Gettysburg Shoe Co. The bridegroom is a 1959 graduate of Fairfield High School and is employed by R. W. Wentz and Sons, Gettysburg.

December Is Worst Month For Accidents

Traffic accidents in the United States during December last year claimed 3,581 lives and here in Maryland December traffic accidents last year killed 44. December consistently maintains its place as our deadliest month of the year. The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission warns that every year thousands of American homes are saddened by accidents that spoil the Christmas holiday season — accidents that could be prevented with just a little effort and thought. Safety officials have predicted an all time high in the number of traffic fatalities for the year 1960. Our last chance to keep the 1960 toll down to a less frightening level than predicted, must come at a time when long hours of darkness, poor visibility conditions and slippery roads are the order of the day. Add to this the air of festivity during the month that produces more drinking drivers and pedestrians than are ordinarily found, and the handicaps are even, more staggering.

December is a month of haste... To get the Christmas shopping out of the way... To spend as little time as possible on the humdrum business of traveling between social engagements. However, at no time of the year is such haste so deadly. During Christmas week... ordinary habits of safety are almost lost in the hectic holiday mood. Regardless of road and weather conditions, speed is the order of the day... all too often with fatal consequences.

The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission urges you to:

1. Allow plenty of time to get to your destination during the holiday season.
2. Discourage last-minute Xmas shopping. This makes for haste—both in walking and driving—that can lead to death or injury, and remind Christmas shoppers of the danger in slippery weather, of J-walking and obscuring their vision with packages, umbrellas, etc.
3. Postpone motor trips completely when weather is particularly rainy, snowy, or when sleet is expected. Do your driving during the light hours of the day.
4. An ice scraper should be carried at all times for clearing the windshield of ice and snow that the windshield wiper is incapable of removing.
5. Motorists and pedestrians, alike, should be urged to keep out of the street when they have been drinking.
6. Urge would-be-drivers to form taxi cab-pools at social functions involving drinking.

Robert Gelwicks, Baltimore, spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gelwicks.

CHARITY FAIR AT COLLEGE TWO DAYS

"Christmas Peace to Christ Like Hearts," will be the theme of the 1960 Charity Fair at Saint Joseph College. The fair, the proceeds of which will go to the poor of the area and to the Bolivian Missions of the Sisters of Charity, is scheduled for 7:00 to 10:00 p. m. on Friday, Dec. 9, and 1:00 to 6:00 p. m. on Saturday, Dec. 10 in Verdier Hall on the college campus. Sister Patricia O'Friel, M.S., instructor in home economics, is general chairman of the annual event.

Four Saint Joseph College students have been selected as candidates for the Charity Fair Queen. Nominees include senior Mary Ann Eckert of Rochester; Eileen Senderak, a junior from Bethlehem, Pa.; sophomore Christine High of Wye Hills, Pa.; and Kathy Troilo, a freshman from Brandy Station, Va. The queen of the fair will be elected by the students and crowned as a highlight of the Christmas Fair activities.

A pre-fair party for the elaborate charity effort brought numerous gifts of saleable articles for the fair booths from students of the college. A wide variety of booths will be featured at the annual event, from a postoffice booth offering gifts from all over the nation, and displays of religious articles and toys for sale, to booths for all the family.

The Yuletide booth, always popular for its variety of Christmas decorations, wreaths and corsages, again will be featured at the Charity Fair. Santa Claus will appear at the Saturday afternoon session of the bazaar which is designed to give visitors an opportunity for early shopping as well as a chance to help the poor and the missions.

A new assortment of games will be introduced at this year's event, in addition to the popular games held over from the programs of previous fairs. On Saturday, the newly-crowned queen of the fair will select door prize winners immediately following her coronation. Among the door prizes are a Polaroid Land camera and case; a stereophonic Webor Hi Fi Imperial record player and an Emerson transistor radio.

Native Of Town Suicide Victim

Gelwicks' body was discovered by his son, Russell I. Gelwicks, who called at his father's house Saturday morning.

Officer Harold Kline and Gelwicks' son found a three-page letter addressed to Russell. In it the dead man wrote that all his worldly property was to go to the son. The letter included an elaborate list of hiding places where the senior Gelwicks had cached money.

Our Government—Part III

Last week this column featured some facts and figures on the legislative branch of our government and how it operates. This week we shall look at still another branch of our government, covered in Article III, Section I of the Constitution: The Judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court's most important job, as I see it is to decide what the Constitution means. During a trial, a lawyer may claim that a law violates the U. S. Constitution. If this be the case, then the lawyers can ask the Supreme Court to hear the case and decide it. Each year, many such requests are made, and the records show that about 1,400 such requests are received, but an average of about 200 are agreed upon to be heard. It is those which the Court considers especially important that they set aside for a special hearing.

Justice, Earl Warren. Then the Court Crier announces, "Oyez, oyez, oyez! All persons having business before the Honorable, the Supreme Court of the United States, are admonished to draw near and give their attention, for the Court is now sitting. God save the United States, and this Honorable Court."

With these words the court is now in session and the business at hand is begun. It is indeed a truly educational experience to sit in on the Supreme Court when it is in session and to see democracy in action. This is an opportunity that every American citizen has and I might add, should take advantage of. Just to visit the Supreme Court Building alone is well worth anyone's time.

It has been said many times before and will be said many times in the future, "to really appreciate our freedom under democracy, one must see it in action and be a part of it."

With these words I close this chapter on the Judicial branch of our government. Next week will conclude this series of articles on our government and how it operates and then we will take a look at the Executive branch of our government as covered by Article II, Section I of the Constitution; The Executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States, and in case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President of the United States.

This article will feature the duties of the President and the Vice President as well as members of the President's Cabinet.

National Defense Day December 7

Wednesday, December 7, has been designated as National Civil Defense Day according to G. J. Stup, Civil Defense Director of Frederick County.

Keynoting its theme, "Peace Through Preparedness," Director Stup urged home-owners to build fallout shelters.

"Fallout shelter protection for every Frederick countian—in his home, on his farm, in his office, in his plant—is the best single defense measure for the greatest number of people," he declared.

Director Stup points out that some Frederick County home-owners are building their fallout shelters, but others hesitate to do so, for one reason or another.

"It is to those citizens that this Civil Defense Day message is aimed," Director Stup said. "Civil Defense Day is tied in with the observance of Pearl Harbor Day—and with a good reason. The reminder of what happened to Pearl Harbor in 1941 should

The construction of fallout shelters to ensure the survival of millions of Americans if nuclear attack comes, is reduced to practicable steps in Civil Defense's 32-page illustrated booklet, "Family Fallout Shelter." Social Security

Under the changed law, the monthly social security benefit of each child of a worker who has died will be three-quarters of the amount the worker would have received if he had lived and drawn retirement benefits. Under the old law, each child got one-half of the amount of the worker's retirement benefit, with an additional one-fourth of the total amount divided among all the children.

Not all families of deceased workers will get increased checks as a result of this change. For instance, where there is only one child entitled to benefits, the child is already getting the amount payable under the new law—that is, the full three-fourths.

Families now receiving the maximum amount that can be paid on the basis of the deceased breadwinner's earnings will not get an increased monthly check. But for these families the change in the law will mean that when one of the several children now receiving benefits reaches age 18 or goes to work (or if the children's mother goes to work), the family's check will not be reduced, or will not be reduced as much as it would have been under the old law.

Families eligible for increased payments do not need to get in touch with their social security office. The increased amounts will be added automatically to the checks they will receive in January 1961.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kestner

The only sad fact in the ownership of a sporting dog is that the inexorable passage of time will take its toll all too soon and that there will come a day when, even though he should have served faithfully for many seasons, infirmities will force his retirement to a well-deserved life of ease. It is then we face the problem of a replacement.

Henry Davis, Sporting Dog Editor of Sports Afield Magazine, suggests that we approach this inevitable time with a realistic attitude and start looking for a suitable replacement before the older dog has passed his period of usefulness in the field. The wise sportsman will start breaking in the prospective replacement a couple of seasons before the older dog is too far over the hill.

Sometimes, however, we have the misfortune to lose an experienced hunting dog through sickness or accident before we can school a replacement. And many of us prefer to start from scratch with a very young puppy. This is not as easy as it might sound, and every owner of a new puppy should acquaint himself with some of the rules or short cuts in treatment or handling which may make his task much easier.

It is best to bring the youngster into your home in the daytime, the earlier the better. This gives him a chance to become familiar with his new atmosphere before facing the ordeal of the first night away from the family. Watch him carefully and at the first signs of restlessness take him outdoors or provide a newspaper on which he can relieve himself. The chances are his nervousness will bring about a few mishaps you cannot prevent, but under no circumstances should he be punished for this. Time enough for that when he has become acquainted with his new home.

Dogs dislike spoiling their own beds for they are naturally clean animals. But puppies have frequent calls to nature and must respond. Housebreaking should begin at an early age and should be accomplished in four to eight weeks, but you can expect occasional lapses in manners. Your puppy will usually want to relieve himself shortly after eating. Adopt a definite feeding schedule and stick to it. He will learn to anticipate these feeding times.

Puppies from three to six months of age should be taken outdoors at least five times a day; six to nine months, four times a day; older dogs, three times a day.

When your puppy commits an error on your carpet or rug—and he will—go to him promptly and by the tone of your voice make it plain to him that he has made a grievous mistake. Scold him severely, place his nose in close proximity to the "crime," shame him and then take him outside. It will be too late but he will eventually get the idea. If he continues to repeat these errors, scold him and give him a sharp slap across the rump with a folded newspaper. It will not be long before the puppy will come to associate these walks with doing his duty and your troubles in this respect will be almost over. Always praise him when he takes care of his needs promptly.

The next step is to accustom him to a leash. Teaching the young dog to lead is a simple matter, but he should first become familiar with the collar and leash. If you have more than one puppy, put collars on all of them. After they have become accustomed to the collars, tie short pieces of rag to the collars. The puppies will tug against these streamers in play. This aids in accustoming the puppy to an attachment to his neck.

After your puppy has become used to his collar, see that it is tight enough not to slip over his head and tie or chain him in a comfortable place where he cannot become tangled up or choke himself. Leave him to his own devices several times a day. He will soon stop his attempts to break away and begin to realize that the leash or chain means that he no longer has his liberty. Learning to come when called by voice is next.

Take the dog outdoors. Attach a light check cord 20 to 30 feet in length to his collar. Allow him to have a short romp. When his attention is attracted to something else, call him by name and give the command "Come" or "Come here." If he responds, pat him, reward him with a tidbit and allow him to continue his romp, calling him to you at intervals.

Presently he will become tired of having his pleasure interfered with and will refuse to come when ordered. Grasp the end of the cord, repeat the command "Come," prefaced by his name, and give

Pimlico Meet Half Over

BALTIMORE—Pimlico entered the rich final half of its autumn meeting this week with attendance and wagering expected to attain record highs while two important stakes races are contested.

Heading the card for Saturday, when there will be no competitive horse racing along the Atlantic seaboard, is the ninth running of the Gallorette Stakes.

The mile-and-one-eighth test for older fillies and mares is expected to attract a large field topped by the cord a sharp jerk. He will probably try to resist, but keep giving the command and a few sharp jerks may bring him to you. If he does not come, pull him to you in no uncertain manner, repeating the command. Then reward him with a tidbit and caresses. Repeat this several times and stop the lesson. Never allow any type of lesson to last too long.

My Dear Girl, last year's juvenile filly champion. Calumet Farm's Sun Gint and Louis Wolfson's Loyal Lardy 2nd.

Down for decision on Saturday, Dec. 10, is the Pimlico Cup, one of the nation's most famous and colorful marathon classics since its first running in 1919.

The Cup, at a gruelling two-miles-and-one-sixteenth, is taking shape as a showdown between rags-to-riches Harmonizing, conqueror of Bald Eagle and Sword Dancer, and Don Poggio, winner of the recent Gallant Fox, one of New York's outstanding distance tests.

The emphasis on the day-to-day racing programs will be on distance events. Thus far, 48 percent of the races at this meeting have been a routes of a mile or over.

Pimlico will continue its one o'clock post time through the December 15 closing along with its policy of speeding all nine races to completion in three-and-one-half hours.

With no other racing closer than Tropical Park in Florida, Pimlico will be serviced by a bus and train network from New York to the north, Pittsburgh to the west and Richmond, Va., to the south.

Some 5,000 fans daily are anticipated from areas outside of Maryland. Pimlico will greet them with the most unique "winterized" plant in racing. The track has completed a new grandstand and new clubhouse in the past year at a total cost in excess of $4,000,000.

Both buildings are glass enclosed and thoroughly heated. Another novel new feature is a pad-dock which is entirely indoors, erected in the clubhouse next to the grandstand. Patrons can view every phase of the racing activity without setting foot outdoors.

Reroofing Often Goes With New Addition

Look carefully at the roofing material on your home if you plan to add a room or build a new wing.

A mistake many families make is to apply new roofing on an addition without considering the age, condition, and appearance of the main roof.

A complete new roof for a house, applied at the same time the new room or wing is being built, helps unify the addition with the rest of the house. It increases overall house value, and can be financed with the same loan used to construct the addition.

Winter Tire Traction Is Discussed By Expert

A University of Wisconsin research professor who has conducted winter driving tests on Wisconsin's ice and snow for the past dozen years has revealed that some winter tire advertisers occasionally "get carried away and present misleading information which is unfair to the majority of companies which stick to factual information."

He calls attention to a national safety committee resolution warning that "misleading advertising concerning non-skid properties of tires can become an indirect cause of costly traffic tie-ups and painful accidents by leading motorists into taking risks of which they are not fully aware."

He is Prof. Archie E. Easton, director of the Motor Vehicles Research Laboratory at the University of Wisconsin, who points to results of comprehensive tests by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. He is chairman of the committee and is described as the outstanding authority on "coefficients of friction as related to winter road surfaces."

Prof. Easton's favorite subject, when he isn't teaching his engineering classes at the University, is to talk about the facts of safe winter driving. He points out that during snow-ice months rural traffic death rates are three times higher than urban areas.

Having risked his limbs and life time and again in winter test driving, Easton can tell about hundreds of test results with all types of vehicles, tire treads and chains to reduce dangers of skidding or stalling. He recommends that all snow-belt drivers, particularly those in rural communities, study the following facts:

Winter Starting—When it comes to starting and pulling ability on glare ice, snow tires are 28 per cent better than regular tires; regular tire chains are 231 per cent better, while reinforced tire chains are 409 per cent better. On loosely packed snow, the snow tires are 51 per cent better than regular tires, whereas reinforced tire chains provide 313 per cent better traction.

Stopping Ability—On glare ice, at only 20 mph, braking distances for regular tires average 195 feet. Snow tires take 174 feet, regular tire chains 99 feet, and reinforced tire chains 77 feet. At 20 mph on loosely packed snow, regular tires stopped in 60 feet, snow tires 52 feet, regular tire chains 46 feet, and reinforced tire chains 38 feet.

Basic Conclusions—Prof Easton summarizes other basic conclusions from his winter driving tests, to aid drivers in 43 snow-belt states just before severe weather and road conditions set in, as follows:

1. The most hazardous winter surface condition is ice near or at the freezing temperature;
2. Braking distances on winter surfaces are 3 to 12 times as great as those on bare pavement;
3. Tires and traction devices listed in the approximate order of increasing effectiveness on winter surfaces are as follows:
  - A. Smooth tires—very poor in cornering. Should not be used.
  - B. Regular tires — inadequate under many winter conditions.
  - C. Winterized tire (tread treatment or breakout material) — provide better traction on ice, not much improvement in snow over regular tires.
  - D. Mud-snow modern design— provide better snow and ice traction than regular tires.
  - E. Embedded metal coils, serpentine ribs— provide better snow and ice traction than regular tires. Effective on wet ice.
  - F. Sanders — performance outstanding in traction on ice only.
  - G. Regular round wire tire chains— Good stop-and-go performance on ice and snow. Side-skid resistance low compared to reinforced tire chains. H. Reinforced tire chains—best in overall performance on both ice and snow.

- What To Do?
1. A driver should select the tire that best suits his situation and supplement it by always having reinforced tire chains available in the car trunk. They are often needed for severe conditions.
  2. Pump brakes to reduce skidding, maintain steering control, and shorten stopping distance. Use brakes judiciously to evaluate road surface if questionable.
  3. If a vehicle begins to skid, the driver should reduce the power and turn the steering wheel in the direction of the rear end skid until recovery begins.
  4. The application of power and steering forces should be gradual and smooth on winter surfaces.
  5. Use recommended tire pressures for best tire performance on ice.

It takes 50 railroad cars to transport the New York City telephone directories from Chicago which prints the major volume of the nations telephone directories.

Blue Cross Progress Discussed

F. Douglass Sears, State Insurance Commissioner, stated today that he was pleased to receive reports that the meetings of the Blue Cross with the Hospital Council of Maryland and the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty have been making progress towards arriving at a goal of a joint program to curb unnecessary utilization of hospital facilities.

At Commissioner Sears' request the three groups have been meeting regularly during the past two months to develop such a program. In accordance with the assignment with which Commissioner Sears charged the joint committee when it was organized, a report including specific plans was to have been submitted on December 1 at the end of 60 days of deliberation.

Although reporting progress, the committee has been unable to complete its assignment on the target date, and at its request, Commissioner Sears granted a two week's extension, until December 15, 1960, for the preparation and submission of a formal report.

The joint committee of the 3 organizations was established on the initiative of Commissioner Sears immediately following the disclosure by the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland of the results of a recent survey alleging over-utilization of hospital facilities. Commissioner Sears stated at the time that the conditions disclosed were the joint responsibility of physicians, hospitals, and Blue Cross, and that the combined efforts of the three groups would be necessary to successfully remedy the situation. He asked that these groups cooperate in overcoming any differences existing between them, to the end of establishing a program productive of more economical use of scarce and expensive hospital facilities.

Number Of Car Titles In State Increasing

More than 449,100 new automobile titles have been issued by the Department of Motor Vehicles since January 1, 1960, John R. Jewell, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles announced this week.

In making the announcement, Commissioner Jewell stated that this represented a substantial increase over last year when 414,863 original titles were issued during the period from January thru November.

"The Title Department is currently issuing on an average of fifteen hundred to two thousand new titles a day," he said. "If this continues, 1960 will show the greatest volume of titles issued during any year in the history of the Department of Motor Vehicles."

Commissioner Jewell predicted that the total for this year would be a record-breaking 500,000 titles or nearly 38,000 more than were issued during the highest previous year.

Prior to this, 1955 held the record for the number of new titles issued. During that year the Department processed 462,162 titles.

14-State Vote On Survival Proposal Set

Voters of 14 States, going to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 8, for the presidential election, also will vote on State constitutional amendments designed to insure that government will be able to function in event of enemy attack.

Proposals for amending the 14 State constitutions are non-partisan. They have been endorsed by leaders of both political parties. They involve no expenditures.

States voting on such amendments are: Idaho, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, South Carolina and West Virginia.

Under provisions of the amendment, the States would have authority to provide lines of succession and other measures necessary to insure post-attack continuance of civil government.

APPROVAL of the proposal would enable the State legislatures to take steps to:

- Continue leadership and government authority in executive, legislative and judicial positions, through pre-designated lines of succession.
  - Minimize unlawful assumption of emergency authority.
  - Assure effective State and local government in emergency.
  - Preserve civil government.
- The proposal, developed by the Council of State Governments, has been endorsed by leading civic, government, fraternal, veteran, labor and women's organizations.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Some 25 years ago the American government involved itself with a protective tariff cutting scheme called Reciprocal Trade Treaties in an attempt to stimulate commerce.

Few countries at that time were as advanced technologically as the U. S. was, so there was little fear of unwholesome competition in the field of manufactured goods, despite the disparity of U. S. and foreign wages.

It was also the pious hope of the international "do gooders" that foreign wage levels would, through the American example, come up to a par with those in the U. S.

But what happened was that after World War II, with the expenditures of billions of dollars of U. S. taxpayer's funds under various foreign give away schemes, the foreign trusts and monopolies were equipped with modern plants.

And wages have not gone up to a par with the U. S. scale.

This situation was perhaps brought out most graphically when a subcommittee of Senate Small Business Committee chaired by Sen. Randolph probed into effect of imports on U. S. small business.

It was developed in extensive testimony that U. S. factory wages average $80.19 per week for a forty hour week, in India $4.74 for a 46 hour week, Japan $11.88 for a 50 hour week, France $9.98 for a 45 hour week, Italy $14.54 for a 46 hour week, with the scale nearest to the U. S. in Great Britain with $34.64 for a 46 hour week.

During the hearings testimony was given by Gordon Buss, an executive of a quite substantial American apparel manufacturer. He pointed out that in 1959 there was imported, 9,000,000 pairs of woolen slacks, a volume which would have given 4,500 American workers jobs for an entire year.

He said, "I do not want to belittle in any way the quality of the competitive product, the largest part which comes from Japan. While the Japanese are not creative, they can duplicate anything. They are fine craftsmen and do excellent work. The fact is that an excellent work, completely hand tailored of fine worsted can be landed here, duty paid, at slightly under $7.50. We could not duplicate this garment in this country, by machine for less than $11 and could not equal the handwork at $20."

Early in the last Congressional session Sen. Kenneth Keating, joined by Senators Beall, Bridges, Cotton, Dodd, Prouty, Wiley, Saltonstall and Pastore introduced a bill which would adjust tariffs to the wage scales of the foreign countries shipping into the U. S.

The opposition to this measure set up a cry that foreign monopoly wage rates have come up some, and will probably go up some more.

But this seems small comfort to American business and workers being ruined now. It's tantamount to telling the man dying of cancer today to cheer up as in time science will find a cure for the ailment.

THIS CHANGING WORLD by WALDMAN

In ancient Germany, a Christian missionary felled a giant oak, stopped townspeople gathered there from making a human sacrifice. On Christmas Eve, a tall fir rose in the oak's place. This is the legendary origin of the Christmas tree.

Tree decorations evolved from the early custom of hanging food high on the branches of evergreens to keep it out of the reach of prowling animals.

In today's homes, the Warren Plastic tree, twin of Nature's own spruce, means new beauty and safety at Christmas decorating time. Free from most fire hazards, the plastic tree does away with staining sap and messy falling pine needles.

We Are Losing

General Carlos P. Romulo, journalist, soldier, statesman, former President of the United Nations General Assembly, has said, in a Reader's Digest article (November issue), something that needs to be said by the United States President-elect, by every official of our government, and by every citizen, every parent and teacher and school child in America—over and over again until the fact is drummed into the intelligence of the nation.

"At its rate of growth since World War II," General Romulo states, "the universal Communist police state could come into being in our own lifetime." He means that the facts show that Communism can engulf the human race not just within the lifetime of our children but in our lifetime. He means that within a relatively few years, unless we change our tactics, Communism can actually take over what Lenin called "the bastion of Capitalism, the United States of America."

Communist Advancing
This article by General Romulo is one of the important statements of our times. "Who would have thought it possible barely a generation ago," he asks, "that Communism would soon stand astride two continents, from the Baltic to the Pacific, with extensions of its power in places as far apart as Africa and the Caribbean? Surely it must be plain to all that Russia is bent on world domination. It must be equally plain that her leaders cannot be trusted."

"We rush from one crisis to another, each plainly labeled 'Made in Soviet Russia.' We scramble from one segment of the globe to another, always at times and places of Soviet choosing. When we negotiate, it is invariably about some issue the Communists deliberately create for propaganda purposes and to keep us off balance: The Matsuo-Quemoy islands, West Berlin, nuclear tests, disarmament. Never once have we aggressively raised issues to put them on the defensive."

Flabby Statesmanship

"When will the flabby statesmanship of the Western world come to realize that the cold war is a real war and that, as with all wars, we are certain to lose if we don't take the offensive... The unfortunate truth is that the free-world leaders are dealing with a sinister global conspiracy by international gangsters as if it were an old-style dispute between civilized nations which respect the diplomatic niceties and the sanctity of treaties. We continue to hope for progress in phony negotiations which, on the Communists' side, are just a part of the cold war that we are losing piecemeal.

"And worst of all, the democratic coalition has been acting in the vain hope of 'relieving tensions,' stabilizing situations, 'keeping the boat from rocking,' instead of striving ultimately to eliminate the scourge. Meanwhile the Red offensive remains intense, planned and persistent." American citizens who are awakening to the realities of this terrible situation so graphically described by General Romulo can begin to help their nation in its grave crisis by ordering and widely distributing reprints of the Reader's Digest article. Or you can rent or purchase our shocking, new filmstrip, "Communism on the Map."

Appeasement Fatal

General Romulo sets forth in the article a series of logical steps which the United States (and the West) should take in a planned, aggressive offensive in every area of the conflict. Then he concludes: "Appeasement is as futile in a cold war as it has proved to be, throughout the ages, in hot war. Continued apathy, or half measures, in the struggle now under way will only encourage the Communists to underrate our will to resist, thus eventually crowding us into a corner where we will have to choose between nuclear war and surrender."

"The only possible solution is to wage this protracted conflict twice as hard, twice as effectively, as the Communists are now waging it. We must embark on a massive offensive, turning every Communist trick and stratagem—from propaganda to infiltration—against our mortal enemy. This is the one and only way to win the struggle for survival." It is the cold war we must win.

velopment Division of the United States Department of Agriculture, and is being directed by Dr. Robert C. Wiley, university associate professor of horticulture processing.

Under the project, all components involved in the internal structure of the apple are being studied to determine which has the greatest affect on texture. These components, technically known as alcohol-insoluble solids, make up about 4% of the fresh weight of the apple and include starch, pectin, hemicellulose and cellulose.

After a biochemical analysis of the apples, comparisons are made on the texture of the raw apples, and the texture of the apples in apple sauce and apple slices.

Basic research on apples, as well as other agricultural products is necessary in order that the consumer will get the best product for the most economical cost.

In the apple study laboratory personnel are working through the full phase of growing, processing and marketing to insure that the consumer will get the best quality product that agricultural research can produce.

The present project will be concluded next year.

GOP Studies

Congressional Assignments

Maryland Republicans have formed a Committee to study the question of the location of the new Congressional District which the State is to receive as a result of the population increase shown by the 1960 Census.

D. Eldred Rinehart, Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Maryland, said the Committee will submit a report on its recommendations to the 1961 session of the State Legislature which is scheduled to act on the re-districting matter.

Chairman of the Committee will be Samuel Hopkins of Baltimore City. Other members will be U. S. Senators, John Marshall Butler and J. Glenn Beall; State Senator Harry T. Phoebus of Somerset County; Delegate Lester B. Reed, Allegany County; Carlyle J. Lancaster, Prince George's County; James P. S. Devereux, Baltimore County; Gilbert Gude, Montgomery County; and Samuel A. Culotta, Baltimore City. "The Republican Party believes that the new District should be formed to help insure equitable representation for all the citizens of our great Free State of Maryland," said Mr. Rinehart, "and we include to make our recommendations accordingly. We will make a very special effort to see that no individuals or Counties are harmed by the re-districting and that the rights of all groups and organizations are carefully respected in the processes."

The first meeting of the Committee will be held in the near future Mr. Rinehart said.

Discretion is something a man develops when he is too old for it to do him any good.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

"Fixes" and Reversals

The American "tout," unlike his colorful English counterpart, is a petty racketeer who gives a different horse to each different "client" in a race, thus giving a winner to a portion of his clientele who are forever convinced that they have been "in on a fixed race."

At Saratoga some years back a movie company making a film concerning Man o' War tried to fix a race with the full approval of everyone concerned... except the horses. The sequence was to show Upset beating Man o' War in the Sanford Stakes, the only race Big Red ever lost. The race had to be run three times before they got a shot with "Upset" crossing the wire first. Washington Park had a similar experience in an attempt to "re-run" the first American Derby on its 50th anniversary. The pageant went according to script but for one thing... the wrong horse won.

Francis P. Dunne, steward for the New York State Racing Commission, has a good personal reason not to eye every form reversal cynically. Some 30 years ago Dunne was trainer of a horse named Old Faithful. After the well-backed Old Faithful had failed to live up to his name on several occasions, Dunne decided that he "just wasn't much horse" and placed no bet on him in his next start. You guessed it... Old Faithful got his nose down in front at a cool 100 to 1.

FAMOUS AMERICAN TAVERNS

Ye Olde Centennial Inn in Marshall, Mich.

"On the Old Stagecoach Route"

On the old stagecoach route between Detroit and Chicago, in the charming little village of Marshall, Mich., stands Ye Olde Centennial Inn, so famous for its menu that, for nine consecutive years, a poll of traveling men has named it to the second spot on a list of America's favorite restaurants.

So faithfully does the inn carry out its motto, "for gracious dining, from a sandwich to a banquet," that little Marshall (pop. 6,000) is able to compete with—and excel—the food and beverage offerings of such great centers as New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Washington, D.C., and others. At least that is what the travelling salesmen said when asked: "Name your favorite place to take your best customer for a topnotch meal."

Ye Olde Centennial inherited a stout tradition. When the vast Michigan territory began to open up in the 1830's, the stagecoach took five days from Detroit to St. Joseph on a road so bad that inns thrived at two mile intervals. A favorite stopping place was Marshall and here the famous Royal Hotel and Livery Stable was built. This was the era of the Saratoga trunk, the rubber-tired buggy, fine food and beer and "lodging for man and beast."

The automobile then came upon the scene, the livery stable gave way to a garage and the fortunes of the Royal Hotel declined. But at this moment a young man with an idea acquired the old hotel. The young man was Albert Schuler and the idea was that of serving unsurpassed food at a lunch counter.

The idea paid off. The restaurant, now called Ye Olde Centennial Inn, is perhaps the most famous in Michigan, and Marshall is once again the favorite stopping place between Detroit and Chicago. Detroiters who, a hundred years ago, would have spent five days on the road, now motor down for dinner. Under the direction of Albert Schuler's son, Win, the inn has grown to its present size of four different dining rooms, including the Dickens Room, a 19th century pub, and the Stephen Foster Room which captures southern colonial charm.

A basic research study being made at the University of Maryland College of Agriculture may pinpoint the factors which affect the textures of apples.

The regional study, now in its second year, is being supported by a $40,000 grant from the Eastern Utilization Research and De-

'Giant Eye' Symbolizing Research Hope Is Visited by Small Birth Defects Victim

The lights dim, and in the darkened high-ceilinged room a somber-faced little boy stares at the pilot light of a towering microscope.

This is the electron microscope at Ohio State University Hospital, Columbus, Ohio, a giant inquiring eye nine feet tall, capable of magnifying the human cell 100,000 times.

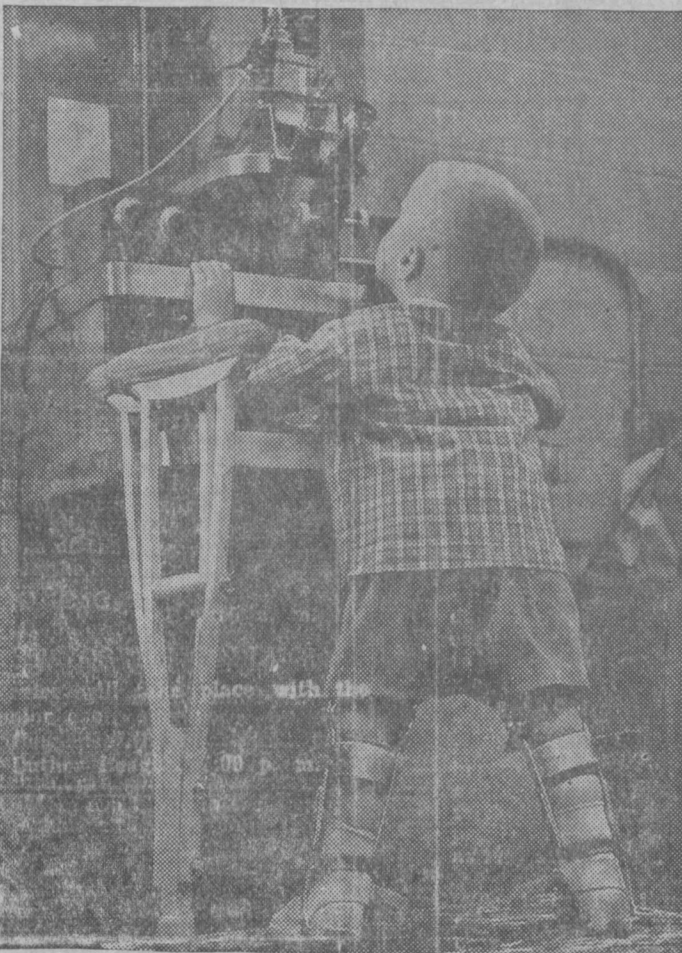

The small boy with the rather sad little face is Kevin Sharp, 3½ years, of Grove City, Ohio, who wanted to see a jumbo-sized version of the toy microscope given him on his last birthday by his doctor. Kevin has to see his doctor regularly because he is a victim of spina bifida, or open spine. He is paralyzed from the waist down and cannot play ball—or indeed play much at anything.

Such mobility as he has is made possible by his crutches and leg braces.

Kevin's is one of the significant birth defects the cause of which is being pursued today by The National Foundation with New March of Dimes contributions. Congenital malformations afflict 250,000 infants annually in the United States and are responsible for the deaths of 34,000 babies each year who are stillborn or die within four weeks of birth. The health organization's expanded program also includes arthritis and continued work in polio.

In his excitement while reaching for the eyepiece of the vast instrument, Kevin probably didn't know that in the ultra-powerful lens of such electron microscopes, scientists hope some day to pinpoint the cause of the savage embryonic mishap that crippled him before he was born. By comparing normal and abnormal cells under tremendous magnification, researchers hope to discover, for example, why Kevin's spine never fused during his mother's pregnancy, or why some other little boy or girl is born with excess fluid on the brain—another baffling birth defect which The National Foundation is studying.

"At his birth, doctors gave Kevin only a few hours to live," says Mrs. Gerald Sharp, his mother. "In addition to his open spine, he had two clubfeet which are now much improved due to surgery and physical therapy. He is a brave and happy little fellow even if he smiles so rarely. My husband and I thank God that today wider research is being done into birth defects."

She adds somewhat wistfully: "My husband Gerald and I met in an orphanage in Xenia, Ohio. We became childhood sweethearts. Like other young people, we longed to raise a family, and a healthy one.

"Why should this unaccountable accident have happened to us? But we count our blessings. Perhaps fewer Kevins will be born to the next generation. We certainly pray so."

The lights return and, supported by his crutches and braces, solemn little Kevin struggles back from the microscope. But at that moment, looking up at his mother, there's the suggestion of a smile around the corners of his mouth.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Cuba

BABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 1—The Cuban situation has reached a point where it is affecting certain investments. Therefore, I feel that my readers are due an impartial summary of the situation. I have always watched Cuba critically as it is so close to Florida, where I have spent over thirty winters.

Influence Of The Catholic Church

I feel that the Cuban situation will come out satisfactorily due to the influence of the Catholic Church. The Cuban people, with their Spanish blood, are emotional and enjoy political and physical fights. They, however, are deeply Roman Catholic in faith. Hence, there is a church safeguard which does not exist in Russia or in many of her satellites.

The Communist Government in Russia has been brutal to the Christian church, due largely to its inheritance of the former Czarist domination which controlled and worked through the orthodox Church. The situation in Cuba, therefore, is entirely different from the situation in Russia and its satellites.

Importance Of Marketability

Cuba is rich in soil, rainfall, sunshine, and warm temperatures. It could be the garden-spot of the Americas; but it has been cursed by wretched and unjust government. Castro thinks it necessary only to nationalize the farms, businesses, banks, and the few manufacturing establishments; he seems to give no thought to marketing. Cuba's wonderful productive conditions are of no use if her products cannot be marketed. Cuba's natural market is the United States (which Castro is abusing and doing his best to alienate). This same trading principle is true for the countries of Central America, and even South America; they have the land but lack the marketing facilities for their fruits, coffee, and even minerals, including oil.

This is another reason why I feel investors should have the larger proportion of their common stocks in marketing—rather than in farming, mining, or manufacturing—propositions. Whatever the future may bring as to the ownership of land or the production of crops or the extraction of minerals and oils, there should always be a field for companies engaged in the marketing of these products. This applies to the big concerns such as Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, etc.; but especially to the large variety chains, with their stores in all fifty states of the Union. Even in case of World War III, these great marketing organizations might come through the best of all concerned.

Length Of The Castro Regime

When Castro, at thirty - two years of age, conquered Batista and his gang, I thought he was a wonderful fellow. As long as he stuck to military warfare, he fared well; but since he has tackled economic problems, he is ruining the country. How long he can hold out, even with Russia's blessing, no one knows. It seems he is destined to be assassinated by someone whose family he has ruined.

On the other hand, investors should realize that the whole world is passing through a leveling process wherein those who have not been gradually taking away from those who have. In Russia and her satellite countries, this has been done by ruthless stealing of property. In China, goodwill is expropriated, but Mao has sometimes made payment, on his own terms for actual property taken. Great Britain has experimented with nationalization, and payment has been made for the coal mines, steel companies, railroads, and public utilities that were taken over.

In these United States, the labor leaders have the same goals, but they work through strikes and unfair demands. In all countries, investors are being attached either by heavy taxation or by guerrilla warfare such as is taking place in Africa. Hence, we investors in the U. S. should be especially on the watch. With only 6% of the people of this world, we have nearly half of the world's wealth. Can this condition always continue? The leveling trend has been going on for centuries. Though I am still hopeful as to Cuba, yet let us keep in mind this world trend.

TODAY'S meditation The Upper Room THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Romans 8:35-39. He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds. (Psalm 147:3.)

Years ago a marvelously skillful craftsman worked in a tiny shop in one of our cities. He specialized in the restoration of what appeared to be hopelessly broken things. When a patron brought a ruined vase, a shattered statue, a shattered glass to him, there was no hope until it was entrusted to his care!

With loving, patient care, he would slowly fit together the fragments. By his clever skill, the broken thing would be made whole again. Years of the most patient, careful, persistent toil had gone into the mastery of his skill. No other possessed it; it was this man's alone! The comfort of God is like that! It is God's skill, and no human has ever acquired it—and never will. As long as our broken and sinful lives are left in our hands, they remain broken. Only by placing them in God's hands can they be restored.

Prayer Eternal God, nearer to us than breathing and closer than hands and feet, we commend ourselves anew to Thy keeping. In all the experiences of life, we pray for Thy continuing favor and the consciousness of Thy presence; through Jesus Christ, our Redeemer. Amen.

Thought For The Day The secret of having God's comfort is in placing things in His

Modern Blessing

Supermarkets Provide Wealth Of Fresher, Healthier Foods

Fresh foods stay fresh in modern electric refrigerator-freezers. Frozen foods for easy, economical meals keep for months in the roomy, frost-free freezer compartment below.

Anyone today remember the old, pre-supermarket days? Customers had to wait to be waited on. There was no frozen food counter with its inviting variety of ready-to-cook foods, no dairy counter with its wealth of cheeses and other dairy products.

There was no selection of pre-cut, packaged meats to save shopping time. If out-of-season foods were available at all, they were expensive.

The modern supermarket has changed all that. Today's housewife even has her own supermarket right in the kitchen, stocked with both in- and out-of-season fruits and vegetables, nutritious frozen juices, dairy products, and complete frozen meals. It's the homemaker with a new electric refrigerator-freezer who has a supermarket at home.

The new combination refrigerator-freezers with their thin walls and squared-off corners hold much more food, both fresh and frozen, than the older, single-door units. Custom cooled and moisture controlled compartments for fresh meat, vegetables and dairy products, and spacious, zero zone freezing sections make frequent marketing trips unnecessary.

A generous supply of frozen foods, both pre-packaged and home-made, simplifies meal preparation and takes the turmoil out of impulse entertaining.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

FAITH IN GOD'S GOODNESS

When I use the words "faith in God," I mean that I believe God is, always was, and always will be GOOD.

I have faith in a good God and in God's goodness.

What does "good" mean? Certainly, it does not mean disease. It does not mean poverty. It does not mean fear. It does not mean hate. If it does not mean any of these things, it must mean their opposites. It must mean everything in the world that makes us feel glad we are alive.

As a son or daughter of God, are you supposed to be weak, ill, afflicted, confused, idle, poor, ineffectual, despised, inferior, helpless, friendless, loveless, unhappy, unsuccessful, faithless, childless and so on? Are these things good? If God our Father is good, does He have these things in mind for His children?

I do not believe it. I believe in God's goodness, and I see no goodness in any of these things. I did not have faith when I lay in my bed, dying with tuberculosis in both lungs. I did not believe in God's goodness then. But my father believed, and he was prepared to stay up all night, if necessary, praying for me. He did not ask God to make me well. He asked God to restore my faith in God's goodness. That's where I got my understanding of first things first. First faith—then recovery.

The goodness of God becomes apparent through faith. Of course, there seems to be a logical pattern in everything. If we had all the facts, we could reason it all out as we do a mathematical problem. For instance, we can start with the statement that God is not a man. Now, what does not being a man mean? Is a man omniscient? No. Man is learning every day how little he knows. Is he omnipresent? No. Even in the fastest of jets, man can be only in one place at a time. Is man omnipotent? No. The laws of nature restrict him. Man cannot heal incurable organic diseases.

But God is omniscient, omnipresent and omnipotent. All the things man cannot do, God can do. Going on with logic, it doesn't appear reasonable that a Being who is all-wise, everywhere present and all-powerful would misuse His greatness. If He did, He would not be God, but a devil. Almost everyone believes in the badness of the devil, but the thing desirable and needful is belief in the goodness of God.

My tuberculosis was not of God; it was of the devil. My healing was not of man, but of God. Healing is an act of goodness. It is an act of good power.

My faith is in a good God and in God's goodness. What is your faith in?

Farm Bureau Urges Funds For Survey Of Drug Usage

Farm Bureau has asked the United States Department of Agriculture to request funds for expanded research work in the area of agricultural chemical and drug usage.

In a letter to Under Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse, Farm Bureau said that, "during the course of the past two years, our members have become increasingly concerned about the problems that have arisen in connection with the use of agricultural chemicals and drugs. On numerous occasions we have urged that the present agricultural research program be stepped up and even expanded to include work in this area."

Youths Escape Serious Injury In Car Mishap

A Carroll County motorist and companion escaped serious injury when their car was demolished in a crash on the road west of Fountain Valley, near Westminster, at 4 a. m. Monday.

Robert Wayne Eckenrode, 18, Taneytown R2, driver of the car, and Larry James Baker, 17, Emmitsburg R2, received only minor cuts and bruises when their car ran off the right side of the road, struck an abutment and a tree, ran down an embankment and overturned in a creek bed.

They were treated at the office of Dr. Julius Chepko, Westminster. Eckenrode also had his foot x-rayed at the Warner Hospital. The accident was investigated by Trooper T. L. Wood.

Eckenrode has been charged with reckless driving and operating without a license. A hearing will be held Dec. 6 before Trial Magistrate G. Norman Hunter, Westminster.

The fellow who boasts about what he's going to do tomorrow usually is quiet about what he did yesterday.

Vital Papers Seen A Key to Survival

Suppose a great many vital records, including those safeguarding your property title, were suddenly lost.

It could happen in the destruction caused by a nuclear attack on the United States. The vital records of many States and localities could be wiped out. The loss of records would hamper recovery. Many persons would have trouble proving ownership of property.

To guard against such loss of vital records, governments must take steps to preserve two classes of records:

Those essential for emergency operations — succession lists, personal and material inventories.

Those essential to protect the rights and interests of individuals — vital statistics (birth records), property deeds, voting records, constitutions or charters.

Governments which prepare now to preserve their records could reorganize faster and serve their citizens after attack.

Since 1940, newspapers have maintained a constant level of popularity. Newspaper circulation has virtually paralleled the growth of households in the U. S.

Public Expected To Voice Opinion On Foreign Policy

Every Marylander will have the opportunity during the next few months to express an opinion on how the United States should handle such foreign policy problems as Cuba, the recurring Berlin Crisis, the new nations in Africa and, of course, the Russian challenge for world leadership.

These and other foreign relations problems, brought into sharp focus during the Presidential election, will be presented for discussion in the Great Decisions 1961 Program, sponsored locally by the United Nations Association of Maryland and the Baltimore Junior Association of Commerce, in cooperation with civic, educational and church groups.

The program provides the average citizen with the facts and circumstances involved in our country's relations with the rest of the world and makes it possible for him to register an informed opinion with Congress and the State Department.

Now in its fifth year, the Great Decisions program is supported by Governor Tawes, Mayor Grady, Maryland's Congressional Delegation and many prominent business and civic leaders.

In 1961, the program will begin the week of Feb. 5 and will continue for eight weeks.

Here's how it works: Get in touch with six to 10 friends or neighbors who would like to discuss our foreign policy and arrange to meet with them once a week.

Obtain from the Maryland Great Decisions Committee, 1 West Mt. Vernon Place, Baltimore, information on suggested topics, recommended reading and opinion ballots. The entire kit costs $1.50.

After each meeting fill in your opinion ballots and send them to the committee, where they will be tabulated and forwarded to the appropriate authorities.

The chairman of the Maryland Great Decisions Committee is J. Theodore Wolfe, president of the Gas and Electric Company. Co-chairmen are Eliot P. Hurd, United Nations Association of Maryland, and David Shay, Baltimore Junior Association of Commerce.

land History No. 12C, and has been published in cooperation with the Committee on Maryland History in the schools.

Historical Pamphlet Now Available

Fresh from the presses that serve the Maryland Historical Society is a new pamphlet, "The Baltimore Clipper," intended for schools and other students, and telling the story of a "day of glory" for Maryland and the Chesapeake Bay.

The Baltimore Clippers, the fastest ships of their time and which were useful for nearly a hundred years, were built in Talbot, Queen Anne's, Dorchester and Kent Counties on Maryland's Eastern Shore. St. Michaels and Oxford shipyards in Talbot County were among the principal builders of the Clippers.

Copies of the pamphlet may be obtained from the Maryland Historical Society in Baltimore for 10 cents each plus postage, with special discounts to schools, libraries and other organizations.

The Baltimore Clipper was a fast, sleek, small sailing vessel designed as well as built on Maryland's Eastern Shore. From 1750 to well into the 19th century they were widely known for many reasons. They played an important part in winning the Revolutionary War. Then they carried considerable commerce from Maryland and Virginia to overseas ports. Tobacco, grains and iron and other products were carried and by 1814 they were transporting 90% of the United States foreign trade.

There are many other dramatic elements in the story of the Baltimore Clipper. This pamphlet is Wheeler Pamphlet on Mary-

Old Refrigerator Moved to Playroom Keeps on Serving

When you buy a new electric refrigerator-freezer for your kitchen, don't call a junkman to haul away the old unit. Instead, move it to the playroom or family room. The children will be delighted if you keep it stocked with milk, juice, "soda pop," and fruit for play-time snacks.

Playroom parties for the adults will be more fun for everyone if you prepare cold foods in advance and store them in the extra refrigerator. Stock it with beverages, fill the ice trays, and you'll be able to enjoy the party when guests arrive, instead of running back and forth or up and downstairs to the kitchen.

To make the old refrigerator match the playroom decor, paint it to match the walls, cover it with one of the self-sticking decorative papers, or paint stripes or polka dots on it to make it a conversation piece as well as a convenience.

If there's room enough, you can build shelves next to the refrigerator to hold paper plates, cups, and napkins, can and bottle openers, condiments, and canned and bottled beverages. Cover the party pantry with stock louver doors or shutters of ponderosa pine painted to match the playroom woodwork.

A "How-To-Do-It" PAINT POINTERS

Now's the time for indoor painting projects. Floor refinishing is most certainly under consideration right now in many homes.

So many kinds of wooden flooring have, through the years, been given such different beauty treatments—and now show all degrees of wear and tear—that brief "how to do it" advice fitting all circumstances is impossible.

However, Du Pont has prepared a booklet, "How to Finish Floors," that tells how to go about each particular floor refinishing job in the easiest, most effective way. There are sections on removal of old finishes, staining, varnishing, enameling, cement floors, and spatter painting. A copy may be obtained by writing Du Pont's Finishes Division, AP-67, Wilmington 98, Del.

Grooming Tips

No woman who cares about her appearance neglects what are among her most important beauty assets—well-groomed and fuzz-free legs. Leg shaving is so simple there's no need to be careless about your leg-line even for an extra day. Probably the best time to shave your legs is when they are still wet from a warm bath. And with those new super-fast blue blades in your razor you can shave light, easy strokes and let the blade do the work. Now these new hair-removing marvels come in 15-blade dispensers that will last you for weeks. One tip for keeping the man of the house's temper smooth—put a few pennies aside and get a razor of your own.
