Seems as though the "Old-Timers" have dug in or else have been snowed under because you don't hear much from them these days. How I used to love to hear them chat about the good old days and how the winters were so rugged, etc. Well I'm afraid that as of right now we've had one that will top them all and we still have two months to go. Oh brother, what a thought! There are a number of farmers who have been inundated for several weeks now and from Wednesday's white precip I'd venture to say they will be out of circulation for quite some time. Friends and neighbors have been able to get food for the families and livestock into them, thank the Lord. Many of these individuals live back in remote sections and some have private lanes almost a mile long and which really haven't been open for some weeks.

An amazing thing about this winter with its constantly below freezing temperatures and snowfall is that property fires have been kept at a minimum. Usually this time of the year is the busiest time for firemen as citizens fire extra heavy due to the intense cold. Let's hope this good streak continues because we don't seem to have anything else cheerful in sight at this time.

Garages have been working extra hours as a rash of disabled cars has developed. Garagemen report automatic transmissions, differentials and axles as the most prevalent causes of car failure at this time due to so many motorists becoming stuck and rocking their vehicles back and forth to extricate them from the snow and ice. I don't have the official total snowfall to date but according to my nearest calculations we are just about on the 60-inch mark... and all since early December. Traffic tie-ups are commonplace these days as we become hardened to Winter's biting grip. The funny part of the situation is that the tie-ups are caused by tractor-trailers which slide all over the roadways and block the path of the motorist. It sometimes takes hours to unscramble these messes which extend to Gettysburg and Frederick.

There have been instances where severe property damage has occurred with the tremendous weight of the snow and ice on building roofs cracking the supporting timbers. Icicles six feet long have pulled spouting away from a number of buildings, etc. On a number of occasions people working in town have been forced to remain here overnight, being unable to travel the short distances to their suburban homes.

Charley Bollinger swears its true. Charley maintains that his cows have seen so much snow so far this year that they are bearing snow-white calves. He even went to the extent of consulting his veterinarian about the matter but did not derive much satisfaction with his answer. Oh well, you hear all sorts of things these days and this is one you can't blame on the Republicans.

As must always be, all good things must come to an end. George W. Wilhide, familiarly known as the "Potato Man" has announced his retirement. The octogenarian recently had the misfortune of losing his wife and he has decided to take it easy his remaining days. For four decades George has been peddling his spuds in this community, making several trips a year and had many friends and customers in the Emmitsburg area. Considered by many as an expert in his potato raising profession, George was the proud owner of numerous bumper crops and even experimented, successfully too, with planting and harvesting winter crops of the potatoes. We wish George many more years of enjoyment and retirement and do hope that he will drop in to visit occasionally. Good luck, George.

Mountaineers Meet Loyola Here Saturday

The Blue and White cagers of Mt. St. Mary's College began another win streak which was temporarily interrupted when St. Vincent upset them last week, by taking the measure of two outstanding teams, Rider College and Catholic U.

Jim Phelan's classy cagers experienced little difficulty in disposing of Rider College at Trenton, N. J. last Friday, 94-64.

Dave Maloney, 5'10" sophomore who recently became eligible for the Mounties, poured 24 points through to lead the Mount assault. He landed nine goals and six free tosses.

The Mount led all the way in breezing to an easy decision. In the second half Coach Jim Phelan's outfit put on one of its best shooting exhibitions of the season by sinking 74 per cent of its shots from the field.

The Mounties chalked up their 14th victory and kept their perfect Mason-Dixon Conference record intact by whipping Catholic University 83-71 Tuesday evening at Washington, D. C. The Mounties are 8-0 in the conference and lead the Northern League. Catholic U. is 6-2 in the Southern Circuit.

Midway in the first half Catholic held a four-point lead but the Mounties, led by John O'Reilly and Dave Maloney, spurred ahead with two minutes remaining and at half time were on top 37-33.

Early in the second half the Cardinals sparked by Gene Horan, pulled to within 44-42, but the Mount recovered as Maloney drove through for two goals and the locals were never seriously threatened thereafter.

O'Reilly landed 22 points to lead the winners with Maloney accounting for 20. Ed Pfeiffer had 18 and Dick T... for the winners. Horan of the losers topped all scorers with 25.

Meet Loyola Saturday Night

Saturday night at Memorial Gym, one of the oldest rivalries will be continued when the Mounties host the Greyhounds of Loyola. Tuesday evening, American University, unbeaten leaders of the Southern League, will meet the Mountaineers here. Both games start at 8:00 p. m.

Commissioners Back Norris On Assessment Dispute

The County Commissioners voted unanimously Tuesday morning to uphold the decision of Lumen F. Norris, Supervisor of Assessments for the assessment for Thomas Fisheries Inc.

The decision of the Commissioners followed a lengthy hearing Monday during which time George L. Thomas Jr., secretary of the commercial - type fisheries complained that his assessment was $100 per acre more than assessments made on similar operations.

County Attorney Goodloe Byron attended the hearing during which the Commissioners sat as a Tax Appeal Court. Present as an observer was Thomas A. Cero, Deputy Chief Supervisor of Assessments for the Maryland State Department of Assessment and Taxation.

Assessing offices are now under order of the state office. The Commissioners do not have the final say in any assessment. If Mr. Thomas still objects to his assessment his next step will be the State Tax Court.

At the hearing Monday, Thomas contended that his ponds should be assessed equivalent to surrounding farm land. The fisheries located in the Urbana District traded commercially as Three Springs Fisheries at Lilypons. The assessment is $40,900, the land being assessed at $36,800 and the buildings at $4,100.

Thomas alleged that Norris was discriminatory in his assessment of the ponds and that Norris had consulted with Clarence C. C. Thomas, a former affiliate of the business in establishing the pond acreage. Thomas contended that his business is an agricultural operation and has been ruled as such by the Federal Government.

Thomas used various air - view maps to compare his operation with others in the county and to determine acreage owned by other commercial fisheries. He said in fact that the acreage the assessors had him listed for—200 acres in farm ponds—was incorrect according to his map readings. The fisheries includes about 213 acres of ponds he said.

Thomas was questioned by assessment officials if he felt all fishery operations should be assessed equal with his—that is at $175 per acre. Thomas replied that this was not his intention in questioning his assessment. Rather he said the Commissioners should give consideration to making pond assessments the same as the adjacent farm land.

Rocky Ridge Phones To Be Switched To Thurmont

The board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland has approved, during the last 12 months, expenditures totaling nearly $49,000,000 according to an announcement by L. M. Smith, vice president and director.

This includes $827,000 authorized in its regular meeting, January 30, for additional service improvements.

The largest single amount authorized was $359,000 for the erection of a building in Prince Georges County to house dial equipment, as part of a 1 1/2 million dial installation which will serve the new Levitt homes to be built on the Belair Estate.

For the Baltimore Metropolitan area, an allocation of $182,000 was approved for placing cable in all sections of the Glen Burnie area to meet estimated growth resulting from both business enterprise construction and ten housing developments planned for the near future.

An expenditure of $61,000 will be made to add additional inter-office trunks between Edgewood and Bel Air in anticipation of an increase in the normal calling rate and provide for future requirements of the Army Signal Corps.

On the Eastern Shore, approval was granted to spend $37,000 to install additional switchboards and other central office equipment at Chestertown. This will provide for growth until mid 1962 at which time it is contemplated that a new dial office will be placed in service.

In the Thurmont area, $18,000 was appropriated to place wire and cable for the transfer of the Rocky Ridge section of the Emmitsburg exchange to Thurmont to bring the customers affected closer to their community of interest. This change will be effected on or about April 1, 1961.

In the Maryland area suburban to Washington, the directors approved two projects totaling $127,000 for Silver Spring and Colesville to rearrange present outside plant and place new wire and cable to meet customer needs in these fast growing areas.

Mathias Fights For Federal Aid For Western Maryland

Congressman Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Frederick, "respectfully urged" the President this week to include Western Maryland in his proposed food stamp program for the unemployed.

Mathias, the only Republican Congressman from Maryland, sent President Kennedy an urgent personal message pointing out that Western Maryland was not included with West Virginia and parts of Pennsylvania and eastern Kentucky in the proposed program for establishment of a pilot food stamp plan for depressed areas.

"The Western Maryland area is economically related to the other areas that you have designated for the proposed program," Mathias said.

Similar conditions of unemployment and distress exist in this area," the Sixth District Congressman pointed out to the President.

"The unusual weather of the past 60 days has aggravated this situation to a point which has become critical," Mathias pointed out.

"I therefore wish to respectfully urge the inclusion of Western Maryland in the food stamp program at the earliest possible date."

K. of C. Pre-Lenten Dance Scheduled Saturday Night

Forty-five members were in attendance at the regular meeting of Brute Council 1865, Knights of Columbus, held Monday night in the Council home on the Square. Grand Knight Curtis D. Topper presided over the meeting.

A report on the pre - Lenten Dance to be sponsored by the group was given by the chairman of the affair, Cy Haley. The dance will be held in the VFW Annex and will be preceded by a buffet luncheon. Members are permitted to bring guests to the affair, Saturday night, February 11.

The renovation committee, gave a report on the progress made to date and it was announced that a supporting steel girder had been placed under the third floor. Other plans for the improvement of the building include new lighting fixtures, enlargement of the present kitchen and facilities, tiling the second floor recreation room and the installation of modern toilets.

Paul A. Keepers, chairman of the Open House affair which was recently postponed due to inclement weather, announced the affair would be rescheduled for some time in early March. All members desiring to obtain CC (Christopher Columbus) automobile license tags are asked to contact Paul Keepers, financial secretary, in the very near future.

Richard Topper was appointed as delegate to the board of directors of the Emmitsburg Community Fund. A communication from the State Supreme Deputy urging support of House Bill 71, was received and read. The bill would prohibit the printing, sale and distribution of obscene literature to juveniles.

An invitation from the local CYO Chapter was received inviting members of the Knights of Columbus to attend a series of Lenten movies to be shown in the near future on Friday nights. The group authorized the purchase of a troop flag for the local Brownie Chapter.

Potomac Edison Co. Allots Huge Sum For Construction

The Potomac Edison Company will spend nearly $9 1/2 million on construction projects during 1961, it was announced today by PE President Robert G. MacDonald. This construction budget figure includes projects throughout the four state area served by PE, including the local area.

Except in years when new generating facilities were added, this is the largest one-year outlay for construction purposes in the history of the utility company, and represents over a million dollars more than was spent last year.

In announcing the budget, Mr. MacDonald said the large expenditures were necessary to keep abreast of the anticipated future economic growth of PE's service area, and "to provide for our customers a constantly improving source of dependable electric energy for their convenience and comfort."

Included in this construction budget for the next twelve months are general plant expenditures of nearly one million and a half dollars, which will go to erect new offices, improve existing offices, and to replace and add to PE's extensive requirements in tools and equipment.

Construction facilities for the transmission of electric power will require over three and one-half million dollars, including transmission lines and transmission substations. The line construction program includes allocations for building nearly 52 miles of 132,000 volt transmission line.

The major portion of the 1961 construction budget will go into PE's distribution system — well over four million dollars has been earmarked for this purpose. The main portion of this will be spent on numerous, relatively small extensions to new customers, in increasing capacity for additional of existing customers, and for general improvements to the distribution system where required.

The addition of this year's construction spending will bring the total construction expenditures of Potomac Edison to over $50 million in the past five years, an average of over $10 million per year.

Storm Sagger County; 14 Inches Fell Wednesday

While Emmitsburg and the entire county worked doggedly to clear last Friday's 15-inch snowfall from the highways and streets, the District was staggered by another 13-inch downfall which started Wednesday morning and continued until about 7 o'clock in the evening.

In town here some progress had been made in removing last Friday's snow but that work was all undone as the new precipitation descended. Parking space just isn't to be had and many cars are parked almost to the center of the road. Sidewalk shovelers just haven't any more space to pile the snow as there are piles eight to 10 feet high now in front of numerous homes.

Official weather statistics, as provided by Mrs. Paul Beale, local U. S. weather observer, show these figures: The snow which commenced last Friday, Feb. 4 and continued until Saturday morning accumulated to 13 inches; on Wednesday, Feb. 8 snow began falling at approximately 5 a. m. and continued until 7 o'clock that night. This precipitation measured 14 inches.

Total snow accumulation in Emmitsburg since the first one on Dec. 11 totals exactly 60 inches, the weather observer officially reports. The amount of moisture in the frozen precipitation last week was 1.35 and Wednesday's precipitation moisture content was 1.40, totaling 2.75 inches in a single week.

Residents of the area had ample warning Wednesday that the county was in for another snowstorm. The forecast of a "few inches" accumulation, however, misled many. It became evident at an early hour that the snowfall would be another surprise.

The slow-moving storm which crept into the county during the early morning hours unleashed a fury of white flakes which quickly covered the ground and piled up at a rate of almost an inch an hour.

Both state and county roads were reported as "bad" and traffic tie-ups were peppered throughout the county on major highways as well as the secondary roads.

State and county roads crews were out on the roads again early Wednesday pushing snow as much as possible but it was reported that much of the time had been consumed freeing stranded vehicles along the highways.

Shortly after the snow began falling Wednesday, one accident on Route 15 south was reported in which the driver of a tractor-trailer was hospitalized when his rig jack-knifed on the slippery road.

Prior to midnight Wednesday, no other personal injury accidents were reported by State Police. Periodic traffic tie-ups were reported on U. S. 40 west, U. S. 15 south and "everywhere."

The mail did not get through to many rural patrons again Wednesday due to the snow.

Schools were closed in Frederick County once again Wednesday and Thursday.

Dr. James A. Sensenbaugh, Superintendent of Frederick County Schools, said that the school board will wait until the winter is over before deciding when to send the students to classes to make up for the time lost because of the weather.

In the meantime, the number of days missed because of snow will be "tallied" and a schedule worked out when there are better prospects for no more interruption in classroom instruction.

County crews were out working on the roads Wednesday as well as state crews and they were experiencing about the same difficulty with tie-ups hampering the snow ploughing operations.

Alcoholic Drink Receipts Seen Dwindling

State Comptroller, Louis L. Goldstein announced this week that revenue receipts from the sale of distilled spirits in January 1961 had declined by $74,261 in comparison with January 1960.

The decline in revenue was thought to be due to the rough and cold weather which held down sales. The weather also hampered some shipping and various construction jobs.

The December business decline left a larger inventory to be disposed of in January. It is assumed that wine business was affected somewhat in the same manner as distilled spirits.

Beer shows an increase in revenue for January of $9,690 or 7.64% ahead of January 1960. Beer had been on a slight decline for the previous five months and it is difficult to determine why there was a substantial increase in beer revenue during January 1961.

The tax applicable to retail sales made in a given month is collected by the State in the following month.

Small Town Girl Gets Big City Fashion Look

Like most newcomers to New York, young Mrs. Carl Youngberg saw the city sights and wondered if maybe she wasn't one too! Clothes that were right in her own hometown of Maplewood, New Jersey, looked "out-of-town" in the world's biggest, most fashion-conscious city.

Enjoying big city night life with her new husband, the young matron was also advised to choose barely simple and simply dramatic, short dinner dresses and not to rely upon daytime clothes to serve two purposes.

Buy with care and never on a spur-of-the-moment impulse, unless you know in advance exactly what you want and need. With advance planning, furthermore, it's possible to choose clothes that are seasons ahead though presently in sight.

TO THE PARENTS AND ADULT FRIENDS OF THE CATHOLIC YOUTH OF EMMITSBURG:

For a long time there has been felt a great need that something should be done to help the youth of Emmitsburg make a better use of their leisure time. It was noticed that outside of school and working hours, our young people had time on their hands in which they might easily get into trouble by following bad example.

The Church's answer to this problem for Catholic Youth is the CATHOLIC YOUTH ORGANIZATION, better known as the CYO. It provides a planned program under religious auspices where Almighty God and His laws are respected and followed.

If you have the time available and are generous and willing enough to give just a little bit of time for this noble cause, you are asked to fill in the form below and send it by any CYO member, or mail it to St. Joseph's Church. You will then be placed on file to be called when needed.

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Advises Housewives To Buy Now

BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 9.—For forty years I have been comparing monthly retail prices for household goods. With the exception of the war years, these retail prices have always been lowest early in the month of February.

Reducing Inventories By Merchants

The efficient merchant dislikes to carry any merchandise more than a year. The McCrory Corporation, which has over 400 retail stores in about the same number of cities covering close to forty states, marks everything down to zero which has not sold during the year.

Bankers do not like to loan on inventories which are over a year old. They fear that changes in styles or colors, or some other price factor, may be very serious. All of this means that wise merchants have truly "markdown" sales in the early part of each year.

Beware Of Some January Markdowns

Markdowns are advertised directly after Christmas, but of course do not begin until January. The goods chiefly pressed for sale are "white goods," which include sheets, pillow cases, blankets, drapes, spreads, and even rugs. Some of the stores will have big markdowns of dresses and lingerie for misses and grownups; also of boys' sports jackets and sweaters, which are usually overstocked. Nylon stockings are being offered at ridiculous prices. But be sure to save the labels until after your goods are washed.

Some years housewives can get real bargains in January; but usually women are short of cash so soon after Christmas and do not buy too much at that time. In the meantime, every merchant is carefully watching his January sales; if these are not good, he puts on real markdowns in February. Hence, we are now in the month when careful housewives will stock up on household needs.

Buying On Credit

I was brought up to pay cash and my family continues the habit. But the housewives may be justified in asking for credit to buy at these real February markdowns. It is much better to get this credit from the store at which you trade than to borrow at a high rate of interest from some "Finance" or "Small Loan" company. Tell the store's credit manager that you want to take advantage of the February markdowns, and will pay something each month. I am sure you will have no trouble; but if you do, go to another store. The prices are usually the same in all good stores.

Television And Automobiles
The markdowns apply to more than household needs; they apply also to TV sets, radios, and automobiles. Second-hand cars sell highest in May and June and lowest in December, January, and February. Therefore, the best time to turn in your old car for a new car is not just now. Wait until the robins get north again and the tulips begin to blossom! These markdowns of all merchandise should be talked over between husband and wife. In fact, women as a rule are better buyers than men.

"Come-Ons" And Better Business Bureaus
Supermarkets do not advertise "markdowns," but they do advertise even nationally known products at "2 cents less" than the standard price. Some supermarkets (and this is getting too common) will at the same time mark up 2 cents some products on the opposite side of the aisle. However, the chief purpose of these "come-ons" is to get you in the store to buy other products. If you find that some supermarkets are doing too much of this or too often,

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

BABY, MOTHER AND GOLF

By Kathy Cornelius

Kroydon Golf Advisory Staff
As a golf professional who recently became the mother of a wonderful baby, I received many letters from women who asked, "Is it really all right to play golf while I'm pregnant?"

My answer is that I did. I played golf daily during my pregnancy up to the seventh month then took time off until six weeks after the baby's birth. However, since I am not a doctor, I do not feel that I can give advice to other women. All I can do is report my own experience.

Having been fortunate enough to win the Women's National Open Tournament in 1956 and the W. telling you "Sorry, but we are all out," then telephone the Better Business Bureau of your city which exists to protect you and the newspapers which carry the advertisements.

Readers who buy on credit should be very careful to make their monthly payments promptly. If you don't, most stores will report you to the city's Credit Bureau, which may make it impossible for you to get credit from any store in the city. In short, before any store grants a new customer credit, the store telephones the Credit Bureau to see if the prospect is on its "black list." Hence, "honesty is the best policy," both for the stores and for you.

men's Cosmopolitan in 1959, I can speak with some authority about golf. But when it comes to pregnancy, the answers must come from a doctor.

As a professional who promotes a brand of golf clubs, I had contractual obligations to meet. So, in the early stages of my pregnancy I talked things over with my doctor. The upshot of our conversation was this:

I was accustomed to playing golf. I was out there practically every day of the week. My body was geared to the exercise. Playing the game was a normal activity for me, as normal as cooking a meal. My doctor felt I would not be putting any extraordinary strain on myself by pursuing my career.

In fact, I believe playing golf accounted in great part for my good health throughout the pregnancy. I was only at the beginning of the seventh month, when I began to feel tired after a few holes, that I stopped playing.

I went back to golf as soon as I felt up to it and my doctor gave me the nod. At the beginning I didn't try to conquer the world. I played for only half an hour or so, then stretched it to an hour a day. Several weeks passed before I played a full eighteen hole match.

I believe that golf and other sport activities expedite a woman's return to normal weight, brings firmness to her muscles, and contributes tremendously to her general feeling of well being.

Did my game suffer during pregnancy? I'd say no. During my third month, I played in four important tournaments and I finished in the money in two of them. I also gave daily golf lessons well into my sixth month.

I love the game and I love my job. But when baby needs me, nothing else counts. Baby comes first!

Internal Revenue Produces Film To Aid Taxpayers In Filing

The whys and wherefores of U. S. Internal Revenue Service activities that sometimes mystify taxpayers are explained in a new motion picture just produced and released by the tax agency, according to Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District.

The film, entitled "The Inevitable Day," is 28 minutes long and in 16mm color or black and white. It depicts present and future activities that affect millions of the nation's taxpayers.

Among these are the electronic machines which IRS will install for its new automatic data processing operations; what a taxpayer may do when he disagrees with a tax finding against him, groups for showing at their regular and what a taxpayer can do when his annual tax due at filing time exceeds the sum which has been withheld from his salary.

The film is the second produced by IRS as one of its several means of providing helpful information to the nation's taxpayers.

The film employs professional actors in various agent roles, but it uses actual office operations to highlight many important functions.

Claude Rains, noted stage, screen and television actor, narrates sections of the film in which performers do not actually speak.

This film is available for schools, civic organizations of all nature, industrial plants, or any other

It can be obtained by writing District Director of Internal Revenue, P.O. Box 538, Baltimore 3, Md. Attention: Public Information Officer.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Silage Good for Brood Sows

We know now that a supplemented silage ration for brood sows can cut feed costs and increase the number of pigs at birth, and at weaning time. However, up to a few years ago whenever corn silage or grass silage was mentioned for brood sows, the idea was discounted as being somewhat sloppy management.

Surely, it was thought, most of the silage would be wasted, and the only purpose the part eaten could serve would be as a sort of salad or side dish—not the main dish. This was common opinion.

Dr. Bohstedt

Well, some of the silage may be wasted. In many feeding trials it was found, however, that the great bulk of the silage was consumed by the sows, and with benefit to themselves, to the new litter of pigs, and also economic benefit to the owners. At Purdue and Iowa Experiment Stations sows took 10 or 12 pounds of corn silage or 7 to 10 pounds of grass silage daily. Silage had its greatest use during the gestation rather than the nursing period when considerable grain needs to be fed.

It must be understood that corn silage needed to be supplemented with 1.5 to 2.0 pounds of a suitable protein-mineral-vitamin concentrate. Such a ration resulted in a 25 percent reduction in feed costs and an increase in the number of pigs at birth and at weaning time, as compared to more or less common gestation rations. Corn silage differs from grass silage in that it has more energy from the kernels, and is more palatable. Grass silage usually has more protein, vitamins and minerals. In either case, the protein supplement needs to be the efficient kind that provides the amino acids that may be lacking in the silage.

Also, because both corn silage and grass silage are high-fiber and differ in quality and nutritive value, it is necessary that the protein supplement be fortified with certain vitamins and minerals that would properly nourish the sow and the pigs that are to be born. Excellent sow and pig supplements are formulated already.

In view of the differences in amount eaten and the varying energy content of the silages, some corn or similar grain may need to be fed in addition to the silage and protein supplement. This is especially important during the last one-half or one-third of the gestation period when more feed energy is needed for the development of the litter.

Sows should be kept in a thrifty, vigorous condition, not fat, during gestation. They will be better mothers for it, and silage helps condition them.

Question: Is there any difference in the cobalt requirement among different species of farm animals?

Answer: It has been found that horses get along quite well on pastures that are cobalt deficient for cattle, and especially so for sheep. The latter are the most demanding in that respect. In Scotland, lambs were healthy on pasture that had 0.38 parts per million cobalt, but were deficient when there were only 0.09 p.p.m. The most practical way of feeding cobalt to sheep and most other ruminants is through free-choice feeding of trace mineralized salt.

You And Your Taxes

Uncle Sam is not the only one spending your tax dollars by the billions.

A study of the Historical Summary of Governmental Finances in the U. S., published by the Bureau of the Census, shows that local government expenditures have been increasing at the average rate of 9.4 per cent each year—up, up, up, until they have reached an estimated $37.8 billion in 1960. And the upward trend is still with us.

This focus on local spending is brought forth in view of a new program being sponsored in many cities throughout the nation. It is called Home Owner Tax and is designed to arouse the interest of citizens in local government affairs and communicate their views to local officials. It seems particularly timely and worthwhile in view of what's been going on across the country.

That figure of $37.8 billion for local government spending in 1960 was only $16.1 billion in 1950, astounding as that may seem! If it continues its upward trend at the rate of nearly 10 per cent every year, where will the taxpayer be? What will he have left?

Even more distressing, the local governments are spending the money faster than they're taking it in! While the average rate of increase in expenditures was 9.4 per cent, the average rate of increase in revenues was 8.4 per cent for every year since 1950. Estimated revenues for 1960 were $37.5 billion, compared with $17 billion in 1950.

From another source, the National Research Bureau, Inc., comes word that the total state and local debt has also been steadily rising, from $22.7 billion in 1950 to $54.6 billion in 1958, the last year for which figures are available.

Here's what the National Research Bureau pamphlet adds: "Many state and local governments find themselves faced with tremendous pressures of extended spending. This spending may be in the form of a new school, new road, or relief program. The only way that these programs can be financed is through increased revenue. This revenue may come in the form of higher taxes, or in the form of a rise in tax assessments, which amounts to the same thing. The cost will still be borne by the people. This fact makes it absolutely essential that every citizen carefully examine each new spending measure that is introduced into state and local government."

That is basically the same message Home Owner Tax is trying to get across. H.O.T. attempts to induce the taxpayer to make known to his local officials what he does, or does not, want to buy and pay for in local government. When taxpayers are heard, they generally ask for less government spending, reduced taxes and the honest attention of public officials to their problems. H.O.T. was founded on the theory that many local government functions and services can either be eliminated or performed just as well or better by private individuals.

There is certainly a need for a voice on the side of individual initiative vs. expansion of government services.

It is excusable to get tired when you work hard but the trouble with the average person is a tendency to get tired before working.

Savings Bonds Have A Birthday

Retiring Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson (left) and the new Secretary of the Treasury, C. Douglas Dillon, joined in ringing a replica of the Liberty Bell to signal the 20th anniversary of the U. S. Savings Bond program. The recent ceremonies took place on the west steps of the Treasury Building, opposite the east entrance to the White House. Americans now own over $43 billion in series E and H Savings Bonds. This is an all-time record high.

The Liberty Bell replica in the Nation's capital has counterparts in every state, donated by leading American companies as a feature of the Independence Savings Bond drive in 1950. State governors, as honorary bond chairmen, will rally their volunteer forces with similar bell-ringing ceremonies this spring.

Emergency Food Program Aids All

"Under this new order, we are providing essential food for those who need it and at the same time assisting American farmers by action that will help to decrease our agricultural surplus."

This is how Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman described the prompt action taken to carry out President Kennedy's first executive order—to expand the variety of food distributed to needy families in the Nation. Ways are also being studied to expedite the distribution of food to meet human needs where those needs are really pressing, particularly in areas of high unemployment.

The purchase programs announced Jan. 24 include canned pork and gravy, dry edible pea beans, and dried whole egg solids. These purchases will add a significant amount of protein foods, thus supplying the most essential nutritional element needed by the approximately 3.5 million persons in 42 states who now receive flour, cornmeal, nofat dried milk, rice, lard and butter.

Foods made available to the States under the Department of Agriculture's food distribution program are delivered in carlot quantities to points designated by the State agencies. These agencies are responsible for properly storing, handling and distributing, determining eligibility of recipients, and program supervision.

Fellows who drown themselves in drink usually don't have far to sink.

F. S. K. Matthews, dean of Emmitsburg businessmen, will observe his fiftieth anniversary in business in the Emmitsburg district.

The well-known local businessman was named after the famous Francis Scott Key, author of our National Anthem. Born on September 25, 1888, at Deerfield, now Lantz, Md., Mr. Matthews first entered business here on February 11, 1911. He has remained at the same location for the past half century. In 1917 he married the former Jessie Rouzer of Thurmont and of this union one daughter, Mary Jean, now Mrs. Earl Rice, was born.

The business, in its infancy, was originally dedicated to making home-made ice cream. Two years later, an allied line was added, necessitating expansion of the location. This allied line was the manufacture of soda pop. Restless and eager to continue improving and expanding the business Mr. Matthews entered the wholesale candy business in 1920. A few years later furniture and appliances were added to the list of items sold in the store.

Keeping abreast with the times, the industrious owner added the latest gadget in sound and pictures back in 1947. This was the television field. Mr. Matthews likes to recall that the first set he sold here was to a member of the Grace family, of steamship fame, who was then a student at Mt. St. Mary's College.

Not content to rest on his laurels and eager to continue branching out the concern entered the Happy Cooking gas business 23 years ago and to date operates a fleet of four modern trucks and services several thousand customers in Maryland and Pennsylvania.

As is true with most growing concerns the owner had a secret desire which he nurtured for a number of years. This desire was to grow and as a result a new and modern branch of the business was opened in Thurmont in 1954 and continues to do a flourishing business in that area. A shrewd merchandiser and businessman, Mr. Matthews saw the need for remodeling his Emmitsburg store and in 1959 the present establishment was completely modernized as was the store next to it now tenanted by Zurgable Brothers.

A stickler for name brands and nationally - advertised goods, Mr. Matthews handles these famous brands of appliances: RCA and Sylvania television sets and radios; a complete line of RCA ranges, stoves, gas heaters, etc; General Electric sweepers and International Furniture.

In spite of his confining business duties, Mr. Matthews finds time to attend the Methodist Church regularly, attends Lions Club meetings and for a number of years was a member of the Town Council. In addition he is a member of the Masonic Lodge and an honorary member of the Vigilant Hose Co.

Enjoying excellent health for his age, Mr. Matthews manages the Thurmont store by himself and continues to operate his expanded business efficiently and intelligently besides taking an active part in community affairs.

ESCAPING FROM CAR IN WATER

About 400 persons are trapped and drowned every year in autos which plunge into water, according to the International Association of Fire Chiefs.

Most of the fatalities result because the motorist panics and attempts to get out of the car immediately. Instead, the association advises the motorist to do an unnatural thing: Calmly let the car fill with water. When the pressure inside equals that outside, the door will open easily. If the car lands upright, a pocket of air remains inside, more than enough to last the 10 or 15 minutes it takes to fill.

When the water stops rising, the pressure inside is about equal to the outside pressure. The motorist then takes a deep breath, opens the door, pushes out and up to the surface. The air pocket remains even though the door is open.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Ephesians 2:1-10.

By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God. (Ephesians 2:8.)

While I was conducting a preaching mission in a village in the United Arab Republic, a man called Wassia invited three others and me for lunch. He prepared us a rich banquet at his house. He greeted us so nicely, saying, "We are greatly honored. Feel at home and help yourselves." Suddenly, his eyes were moist with tears. He hurried at once to another room and shut himself in.

As his wife saw my surprise, she stepped in and said, "I am sorry. My husband is a drunkard. He can't enjoy a meal unless he drinks. He wept because he could not eat with you."

A few minutes later, our host came back. He looked at me and said: "Please don't preach at me. I know more than you do what wine is. I have tried all means to overcome it, but in vain."

I replied: "I am not going to preach at you. I believe every word you say. But may I just add a word? There is a power that can save you. You need not try it; just trust it. It is the grace of Jesus the Saviour. Take hold of it through faith."

He did, and won a victory. Prayer

An Uneasy Hong Kong

As my plane came in for a midnight landing, the beautiful lights of Hong Kong presented a familiar sight, little changed in the 24 years since I last saw them. But a daylight view on the following day demonstrated a very different Hong Kong. Instead of the old figure of a half-million people, there are now about three million. Instead of the dire poverty of so many newcomers of a few years ago, the people have found a new prosperity. Begging scarcely exists.

Some refugees from Shanghai in particular, brought both capital and ingenuity. Many liturgists. In His name. Amen. Thought For The Day Faith displaces our weakness with God's power.
Tanos Zakhary (Egypt)

ten were then required to write a statement of accusations against him. They had no choice, so the statement was written. But it was rejected as not bad enough. More charges were demanded. The statement had to be rewritten the fourth time before it contained enough accusations to be acceptable to the Communist authorities.

Reds Have Hidden Power

Although the Communies are not popular in Hong Kong, they nevertheless are carrying on a methodical pattern of infiltration. They own some large banks, own some large stores' own a chain of theaters, own a large number of Chinese newspapers—reaching probably 50 per cent of the population. They occupy top positions in some of the labor unions.

It is frankly admitted by everyone whom I heard mention it, that the Communists on the mainland could take over Hong Kong anytime they choose. Hong Kong continues under its present government only by sufferance of the Communists.

Why then do the Communies tolerate it?
Red Refuge
It is thought that they do so because they can get more value from it this way. They supply Hong Kong with 40 per cent of its food, and they sell much ivory, linen, hand work, and certain other materials. This brings to Red China a very valuable supply of solid money. They buy for less in Hong Kong, and can exchange the balance into any desired currency. This is currently very important to hard-pressed Red China. It is also a safe place of escape. In a Communist nation present officials never know when they may become refugees. A safe place close at hand is never to be despised.

But the constant and well-financed infiltration goes steadily on, apparently in preparation for what it is hoped can be a fairly orderly take-over when the time comes. When will the time come? No one can tell. The Communies are being reasonably quiet at this time. While they occasionally make their weight felt and keep everybody conscious of their presence, yet they do not cause nearly the trouble they could. For their own reasons, they are choosing to go along with the present situation—a peculiar condition which might go on for a long time.

More Driver Education In Maryland's High Schools

Maryland General Assemblymen have the opportunity of making an indelible and priceless mark on our future, in their action on twin proposals before the House and Senate dealing with the young driver training.

Senate Bill 83 and House Bill 70 would, if enacted, increase the cost of driver learner permits from $1 to $5, with the $4 increase building a fund to subsidize the cost of driver education courses in Maryland public high schools.

Aim of the measures is elimination of the major obstacle, adequate funds, standing in the way of training for every youngster approaching legal driving age and physically capable of driving a car.

Value of a 36-hour driver education course is without question. Continuing national studies show a reduction of one-half or more teen-age accident involvement as a result of the course. With Maryland youth currently smashing their cars and lives at a rate more than twice their license registration rate, this is an improvement which cannot be dismissed lightly.

We see four immediate benefits of universal driver training:

First, the saving of some 90 lives and 5000 injuries a year among both teen-agers and adults whom fate puts on the road near them.

Second, an exposure to "traffic citizenship," as driver education courses are described, which not only is needed of itself, but which would spill over into general citizenship to the benefit of everyone.

Third, a saving of millions of dollars a year to Marylanders, both in traffic accidents which don't happen and in significant auto insurance discounts given for driver-educated youngsters.

Fourth, a defense against federal intervention in our everyday traffic management. Two committees of the last Congress entertained, but tabled, proposals to inject the federal government into the driver education field. Such an entry would be an opening wedge and a logical beginning for general federal traffic regulations.

Our General Assemblymen will be wise to consider all of these legislative proposals, and simultaneously of Maryland's youngsters, adults, economy and sovereignty.

Clubwomen of Ten States Plan Street Lighting Action

Mrs. James W. Douthat, Maryland President of Women's Club Federation and Mrs. Robert Klein, Maryland Junior Director, participate in Southeastern Conference motor accident deaths occurred on rural highways outside municipalities.

Miss Mary Katharine Barnes, National Safety Chairman of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, (left) studies a guide for action on getting the protection of modern street lighting for a community. With Miss Barnes is Mrs. Dee M. Ranney, magazine writer whose special interest is public safety.

"We must work for effective laws that will guard the public interest. If improved lighting prevents only a fraction of these nighttime highway deaths, our efforts will be well repaid," said the safety leader.

"Nighttime crimes, mostly against women and children are also of special concern to us," Miss Barnes continued. "Police agree that well-lighted streets take away the cover the criminal seeks. Better lighting is being used in New York City to prevent juvenile gang wars. Recently, $500,000 was budgeted for this purpose."

"We all know there are some accidents at night that cannot be helped," the Safety Chairman said, "but the many that occur because the driver could not see in time, can be prevented with modern adequate lighting. We should consider this an opportunity and an obligation."

Miss Barnes, a resident of Charleston, West Virginia, and past President of her State Federation, along with the GFWC President, Mrs. E. Lee Ozburn, introduced a Federation Crusade against crime and accident through the use of modern adequate street lighting, in their 1960-61 national program. Notice of this went out from headquarters in Washington, D.C. to 16,000 Federated clubs.

At this time, Mrs. Ozburn expressed her belief that "Women's insistence on improved street lighting will make an important contribution to the GFWC total goal of Responsible Responsive Citizenship for Survival."

"I enthusiastically recommend and strongly endorse this crusade," Mrs. Ozburn said.

Redheaded Twins are Latest TV Discovery

The Earl Twins, Ruth and Jane, have a busy life ahead. These redheaded Iowa twins danced into television fame on Fred Astaire's last show, "Astaire Time". They did a specialty dance with Fred involving a mirror without glass. Following "Astaire Time" they went into production for "The Sounds of America"—and you see them here at Disneyland, which will be used for a background for the show. Rehearsing with Gene Nelson, left, and Jaques D'Amboise. "The Sounds of America" will be telecast over NBC-TV on February 17th, just three days before the repeat of "Astaire Time", which will appear in full color over NBC-TV on Monday, February 20th.

4-H Drives For Safety Every Season

Safety is always in season, especially for the eight national winners of 400 General Motors scholarships for outstanding 4-H farm, home and highway safety activities. As leaders of 2 1/2 million 4-H'ers in the year-round fight for safety, the eight 4-H safety specialists warn that "every season has its hazards."

They recently told newsmen in Chicago that "whether it is fall, winter, spring, or summer, everyone must constantly be on the alert to prevent accidents."

Winners Seek Four Safer Seasons
The national winners and all state safety winners received all-expense trips to the 4-H Club Congress from General Motors in recognition of their 24-hour-a-day, 365-day-a-year efforts to make all four seasons safer than ever before.

Typical of the group is Miss Pamela Gay Chiles, 17-year-old national winner from El Reno, Oklahoma. Once called "the No. 1 hazard" in her own house, she since has been crowned "Miss Oklahoma Farm Safety."

"Weather is especially worth watching in making the highways safer; driving must always be adjusted to the conditions of the moment," she said. "The early darkness of fall, the ice and snow of winter, the rain of spring, and the heat and care-free vacation attitude of many people in summer all present problems that could cause accidents."

4-H Safety GM Project 17 Years
General Motors is in its 17th year of sponsoring awards in the 4-H safety program which is conducted by the Extension Service of the state agriculture colleges, the United States Department of Agriculture and the National 4-H Service Committee.

Other national winners include: Elsie Clasen, 18, of Glenwood, Minnesota; James Fassett, 18, of Alstead, New Hampshire; Richard Hatler, 18, of Crossville, Tennessee; Frank Klepetko, 15, of Golden, Colorado; Christian Scherer, 18, of Olney, Illinois; Gwen Anne Smith, 17, of Reno, Nevada, and Vivian Warminski, 16, of White Deer, Texas.

Nibbling Sometimes Beneficial To Health

Nibbling as the mood strikes you may be healthier for the heart than eating regular meals. At any rate, research by Drs. Ruth Pick, Clarence Cohn and Louis N. Katz indicates that this is true for chickens. The conclusion is based on a report by the three Chicago scientists published in the current (January-February) issue of "Circulation Research," a bi-monthly scientific journal of the American Heart Association.

With more than 300 chickens to help them, the doctors undertook to investigate whether meal patterns, as well as the kinds of foods eaten, might be involved in the widespread prevalence of arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) in our Western culture. "Civilized man has, by habit, custom and working conditions, become a meal eater," their report says.

The Chicago team divided their birds into matched groups of nibblers and meal eaters. Nibblers were allowed free access to food 24 hours a day. Meal eaters were given the same foods but only for one hour at a time. Some meal eaters got two meals a day, some got three.

"It was found that the meal eaters exhibited double the serum cholesterol levels (fat in the blood)," the report states, "and seven times the severity of coronary atherosclerosis as nibblers." Atherosclerosis of the coronary arteries that nourish the heart muscle accounts for most heart attacks in man. Many investigators and physicians believe that high blood cholesterol levels are associated with atherosclerosis.

All meal eaters showed similar results, regardless of whether they ate twice or three times a day, according to the report. Although they consumed less food and gained less weight than the nibblers, the meal eaters had more extensive and more severe disease.

gressed much faster among the nibblers. Given enough time, however, it regressed in the meal-eaters, too.

The investigators note that the implications of their study are consistent with the findings of other scientists who have reported that "when humans were transferred from a meal eating to a formula diet fed five times a day, regardless of the fat in the diet and the formula, the increased number of feedings was accompanied by a decrease in serum lipids (fats)." They add that "if man reacts physiologically to meal eating and nibbling as do other species," one factor in the onset of human atherosclerosis "might well be his eating habits."

Winter Safety Tips Given By Council

The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission warns all motorists to make certain they have plenty of gasoline in their cars especially during snow storms. Many people run out of gasoline because they think their supply is sufficient without realizing the fact that they might be delayed on the highways due to the inclement weather and use more gasoline than normally. They will be stranded and cause tie-ups and accidents. Mr. Paul E. Burke, Executive Director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, stated thousands of motorists were stranded on the highways during the past severe snow storms because they ran out of gasoline. This can cause many severe repercussions. Gasoline is needed also to insure the functioning of the automobile heating apparatus. Be sure to stop and fill the tank. Make certain the car window is open slightly in order to avoid asphyxiation. Beware of Carbon Monoxide. Check batteries: Weak batteries can cause cars to stall. Have your radio checked to ascertain its operational ability and listen for information regarding highway facilities, weather conditions and warnings during the snow storm. This could mean the difference between arriving home safely and not arriving home at all. All motorists are requested to be prepared for winter. Check equipment and drive carefully.

County Could Get Additional Revenue

Frederick County would receive $291,823 in State aid under the program recommended by the Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters.

The calculation was made by John S. Shriver, Director of the Fiscal Research Bureau, at the request of Governor J. Millard Tawes.

The committee's plan to give more assistance to the twenty-three counties and Baltimore City has been endorsed by Governor Tawes and made a part of his financial program for the 1961-1962 fiscal year.

The proposal of the committee known as the James Committee, is designed to provide additional money to local governments, leaving to the counties and the City full freedom to use their allotment in accordance with their greatest need. This could include a reduction in the property tax rate, if the local government should see fit.

New President Of Hood College Is Named

Dr. Randle Elliott, 47-year-old political scientist and specialist in international relations, has been selected the new president of Hood College, the college Board of Trustees announced this week.

college. "We feel that he has a conviction in the unique contribution which women can make toward solution of today's complex social problems, and a genuine belief in the favored position of Hood for training women to shoulder their important share of this responsibility," Smith said.

Dr. Elliott, of Millbrook, N. Y., has had wide experience as an educator, foreign correspondent and publicist. A native of St. Louis County, Mo., he is a graduate of Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., with the A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University.

In 1939 Dr. Elliott was awarded a Rockefeller Research Fellowship and spent his next two years with the Foreign Policy Association studying the impact of the European War on the U. S. In the early 1940's and again after World War II, he served as Chief of the Counsel and Guidance Center of the Institute of International Education.

During the war years, Dr. Elliott served in England and later in Germany as Economic Analyst for the U. S. Strategic Bombing Survey, and from 1945 until August, 1946, he was Chief Reports Officer for the U. S. Military Government in Germany.

He returned to the U. S. to administer two of the largest post war training programs for foreign students, and shared in the planning for the Fulbright Fellowship Program. In 1948 he served as London correspondent for the McGraw Hill Publications.

The Board of Trustees, in the same session in which they elected the new president, unanimously named Dr. Truxal President Emeritus of Hood. He will assume that title upon his retirement.

Dr. and Mrs. Truxal plan to move to the Annapolis area this summer where Dr. Truxal will be Dean of the new Anne Arundel Junior College.

U. S. Exports On Increase

United States agricultural exports in 1960 were the largest in volume and value in history. Export value came to about $4.8 billion—21 per cent more than the $4 billion total in 1959. About 70 per cent represents sales for dollars. Thirty per cent were exports under special government programs, mainly Public Law 480.

The value for 1960 is based upon 11 months actual data and an estimate for December. The 1960 value on a domestic price basis would be about $5.4 billion. Before retirement, Ex-Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said, "We are highly gratified at American agriculture's continued success in building its exports. The export development program has been one of the Department's leading activities in recent years, and American farmers today are in the strongest export position they have ever known. Our export successes speak for the fine cooperation that exists between the Department and private agricultural and trade groups in carrying out foreign market development programs."

Mr. Benson's statements were particularly gratifying to the Farm Bureau, since this organization maintains a Rotterdam, Netherlands, office to promote the sale of American farm products abroad. In its first year this Foreign Trade Office revealed a $100 million sales interest.

Motor Vehicle Dept. Issues Pamphlet On Point System

John R. Jewell, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, announced today that state motorists who are issued warnings during February and all drivers obtaining their operator's license for the first time during 1961 will receive copies of a compact, three-fold digest of the Point System recently published by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Contained on the card are a list of moving violations and their corresponding point values as well as a message from J. Millard Tawes, Governor of Maryland, explaining the purpose of the new law. In addition, significant details of the system are briefly outlined on the back. The slogan, "Alert Driving Protects Your License and Your Life," is prominently displayed.

Commissioner Jewell stated that the Maryland State Police, under the direction of Colonel Carey Jarman, are currently distributing the cards to motorists who are issued warnings for infractions of traffic laws on Maryland highways and will continue to do so for the entire month. It is expected that approximately 20,000 violators will receive the cards by the end of February.

The Department of Motor Vehicles will also issue more than one hundred thousand of the new cards to drivers obtaining their operator's permit this year.

"It is extremely important," Commissioner Jewell said, "that both the new driver and the violator understands the Point System. For that reason we have prepared this card which not only lists the points assigned for each conviction but also explains what action the Department will take against the motorist at various point-levels."

The D.M.V. has also prepared a brochure explaining both the point system and the motorist's responsibility concerning the Unsatisfied Claim & Judgment Fund that will be mailed with the tag applications going to all Maryland vehicle owners at the end of February.

Old Distilling Recipe Located

A Baltimorean, John Robbison, recently found his family's 180-year-old recipe for distilling bourbon, and it has become a museum piece.

It all began when Mr. Robbison visited the museum of distilling which is maintained by the Barton Distilling Co., Bardstown, Kentucky, distillers of Kentucky Gentleman Bourbon. Mr. Robbison happened to get into a conversation with Mr. Oscar Getz, president of the distilling firm and founder of the museum. During the talk, Mr. Robbison mentioned that his forebearers had settled in Kentucky in 1780, not very far from Bardstown.

Early this month Mr. Robbison was rummaging through some old family albums when he ran across this yellowed piece of paper on which the recipe was written. It was dated 1785. Remembering his talk with Mr. Getz and his visit to the museum, he decided that would make the best final resting place for the recipe.

In thanking Mr. Robbison for his valued contribution to the museum, Mr. Getz wrote, "One of these days, I'm going to have our master distiller follow this historic recipe and make a small batch. When it's ready, I'll send you some. But I can assure you beforehand that the finished product could not even be called a 'kissing cousin' of the lighter, milder bourbons like Kentucky Gentleman. Times have changed, and so have methods of distilling."

SPORTS AFIELD By Ted Kesting You've no doubt read debunking articles telling how very little pressure you can actually apply with a fishing rod. These are nonsense; they apply only when the rod is held at right angles to the fish. But with a larger fish you shouldn't hold the rod vertical; you should hold it at about an angle of 45 degrees. And as a last resort, when trying to keep a big fish out of stuff in which he'd tangle and be lost, point the tip straight at him to avoid breaking it. Except for fish that tangle in weeds or such, most are lost near the boat. The inexperienced angler invariably makes the worst possible blunder—he tries to get the fish up to his boat as soon as he can, reports Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. The veteran does the exact opposite; he tries to keep the fish well away from the boat until it's exhausted. How to handle a leaping fish depends on what tackle you're using. With spinning or casting tackle, keep the rod at right angles to the direction of the fish, to get all possible flexibility out of the tip and prevent a jar against the line; then hold moderate tension—this because if the line is slack he can flip a fairly heavy lure around and so dislodge the hooks. With fly tackle, you do the exact opposite, and give him perfectly slack line—because fly-rod lures are too light to be shaken and thrown. The real danger comes when he makes a sudden dive under your boat and out the other side. Now, if you don't give free line, in a flash he'll double the tip of your rod and break it. In this case, thrust the tip of the rod straight down—instantly—into the water. Thus, you'll avoid having the line hang on a splinter on the keel of the boat, or perhaps on a loose screwhead on a metal keel strip. Then you must go to one end of the boat or the other and pass the line around, always keeping it deep, to clear obstructions. You may have read that you should always play a fish until he's so exhausted that he comes in on his side. Some fish, including bass, almost never do that—or at least to make one do it you'd have to fiddle around with him an unconscionable time. So just see that you've taken all the fight out of one before bringing him close. The best, easiest and safest way to boat any fish, for veteran or novice, is with a landing net. If a guide, or companion, lands your fish he should use a long-handle net. But the experienced angler objects strongly to having another net his fish; he wants to net it himself. For netting your own fish, the short-handle type of net used by those wading for trout is best. Have it plenty large for the species you're fishing for. And it should have a deep bag, square on the bottom; some landing nets are made too shallow, and pointed at the bottom.
