World developments dictate to us that our Government system of appointing ambassadors to the various countries needs a complete revision and overhauling. It is as outmoded as the Revolutionary War and the feudal system. President Kennedy's new frontier is indeed just what it means and on the horizon of this new frontier must come a new system for naming ambassadors to the now disgruntled nations of the world. Untold misery and starvation is prevalent in most of the small nations and we haven't even been aware of the situation. In numerous cases representatives have been appointed to countries who could not even speak the language of the people. The system of appointments dates back through the ages and as far as I can see were just political plums given out to friends for favors done during elections, regardless of the qualifications of the individuals. Our ambassadors should be trained for the job, should be intelligent and fully informed of the characteristics and method of living of the people among whom they are to reside. Herebefore many of these jobs were handed out to individuals who had great wealth and little knowledge of the country they were to work in. Playboys, party-givers and lavish entertainers, all were sent to various countries to represent the United States. No wonder then when trouble does develop we are left in the dark. Ambassadors should be trained to understand the people, mingle with them, ascertain their numerous problems, cultivate their friendship, educate them to the American way of life and cement bonds of friendship with them and our own country. They also should be trained to observe the political reactions which are so prevalent in the smaller countries. Let's take South America for instance. Little has our country done to aid the natives of that hemisphere. So little in fact that most of the inhabitants actually hate us and are leaning to Castro and the Communistic side politically. Small wonder when all this country has done practically was to let certain rich industrial concerns and individuals actually milk the wealth from these countries to the south. This method is also applicable to almost any place in the world. Fruit companies, mining concerns and oil firms, etc., have been actually exploiting many of these countries, leaving the natives a meager existence. Could you blame them if they lean to the Communistic way of thinking? What have they to lose? Poverty is rampant throughout these nations and few educational facilities are available.

Injured Farmer Rescued By Helicopter

The Civil Defense office in Frederick obtained a helicopter from Fort Meade to transfer an injured and isolated farmer Saturday from his snow-bound home at Motter's Station to the Frederick Memorial Hospital.

At about 2 p. m. Saturday, Civil Defense Director George J. Stup received a call from the Frederick County Roads Department informing him that Chester Sartwell, a 58-year-old farmer, had been isolated at his Motter's Station farm home since he received a back injury while lifting a calving cow last Thursday, county officials said.

The tenant farmer was out of both food and fuel and had not eaten for three days and was bedridden in his ice cold farm home, Roads Board member Edgar Emrich of Emmitsburg informed the Roads Department.

Emrich discovered the situation when he received a call from Sawyer's Store at Motter's Station. A 17-year-old boy working for the farmer had come through a six-tenths mile long private farm lane, covered with snow three feet deep and drifts up to four feet, to obtain aid for the farmer at the store.

While the Roads Department sent a roads crew to the scene, Stup went to his office in Winchester Hall and contacted the 57th Medical Detachment Unit of the Second Army at Fort Meade, which he had alerted from the start of the CD snow emergency status in Frederick County, to be ready to provide emergency helicopter service to the snowbound at a moment's notice.

One-half hour after Stup had been notified of the emergency, the Army Medical Unit at Fort Meade was in action and by 4 p. m. Saturday afternoon an Army helicopter, piloted by Frederick County for the rescue mission. C. Burton Cannon Jr., clerk of the commissioners, went with the Army helicopter unit to the Sartwell farm while CD Director Stup went to the Frederick airport and arranged for the United Ambulance to meet the helicopter there when it returned with the injured man.

George B. Stupp, county maintenance supervisor and county accountant Donald Woods contacted State Trooper N. F. Bechtol on U. S. 15 north of Frederick and had him escort them to the Sartwell farm, which is located one and one-half miles east of St. Anthony's on the Motter's Station Road.

Trooper Bechtol, Stup and Woods then put out flares to attract the helicopter and made their way through the four-foot drifts on the six-tenths mile long farm lane to the isolated farmhouse.

Cannon and the Fort Meade Army helicopter arrived within a few minutes and the man was removed to the helicopter, which transported him to the Frederick Airport, from which he was rushed to the Frederick Memorial Hospital in the United Ambulance.

The tenant farmer, who was reportedly suffering from overexposure, a wrenched back and chest congestion, was examined at the hospital and then transferred in the United ambulance to the Montevue Home Saturday night for further treatment.

EHS Highlights

This has been a rugged winter for our students and at times it has been difficult to obtain transportation to and from the school. Many of the rural roads have been and still are, in poor condition, due naturally to the heavy snows we have experienced.

The students on the Safety Patrol presented a skit last week portraying the duties of a safety patrolman. Several members of the Glee Club sang under the supervision of Mrs. Caruth and Mr. Jones was presented with two new flags for the school by the FFA boys.

Our school has received some new equipment which included a new movie projector, several new screens, new storage cabinets for coats and boots and the shop received a new electric sander. The students are greatly appreciative of the new equipment.

Tuesday the girls' basketball team experienced little difficulty in downing Lincoln School, 26 to 18.

TEENAGE HOP SATURDAY

The postponed teen-age dance being sponsored by the Emmitsburg Jaycees will be held this Saturday night in the Emmitsburg Public School auditorium, it has been announced.

The affair will get under way at 8 o'clock and continue to 11. Charley Buffington, disk jockey from Radio Station WHVR, Hanover, will be on hand to spin the platters. Admission is 60c per person and all teen-agers are cordially invited. Refreshments will be on sale.

Cars Collide Near Here

At 3 p. m. Monday on the Old Frederick Road, approximately one and one-half miles south of here, Trooper E. F. Tracey investigated a collision blamed on winter road conditions.

Thomas Fogle, 26, Emmitsburg, was driving south and Mrs. Mildred Crum, 48, of Walkersville, was driving north. They met on a small rise where the road is narrowed by snow piled high on both sides.

Mrs. Crum applied her brakes but was unable to keep her car from skidding into the path of the other machine, Maryland State Police said. Mrs. Crum was slightly dazed as result of the collision that followed but did not require hospital treatment. Her car was damaged to the extent of about $450. Fogle's machine had about $250 damage.

Driver Nabbed After Chase

Daniel Francis Shorb, Gettysburg R2 was jailed Saturday night charged with assault with an automobile before Justice of the Peace Snyder in Gettysburg, and charged, police said, with operating during suspension, resisting arrest and a traffic violation before the respective justices of the peace in the areas where the offenses occurred." Police said Shorb attempted to force an officer off the road "several times" in a chase that extended "down the Emmitsburg Rd. into Maryland."

Sportsmen Seek Food For Local Wildlife

The Indian Lookout Conservation Club, James Kemp president, appealed this week to individuals and organizations for donations of either feed or money to purchase feed for the preservation of wildlife which is suffering desperately for survival at this time.

Club officials pointed out that for a number of weeks now there has been little or no feed available for the birds, rabbits, deer, etc. The organization has been doing what it can to preserve the wildlife but more assistance is needed. Sportsmen say that the crucial time for preservation of the wildlife is now here and action is needed immediately. Anyone desiring to make a contribution of either feed or money for this cause can do so by contacting either Mac's Barber Shop or Adams Barber Shop.

"Miracle of the Blue Cloud County," an exciting story of Maryknoll Mission work in China and the well-known Christopher film, "The Kid Down the Block," with Dennis James as narrator, complete the evening schedule.

An invitation to the club was received from the Taneytown Lions Club to attend its annual oyster and shrimp feed to be held March 14 in Taneytown. This affair will get under way at 6 p. m. on the designated night.

President Irelan appointed William G. Morgan as general chairman of the annual Horse Show and a date for the affair will be selected in the near future.

Liners Improve Season's Record

Emmitsburg High School's Liners added two more victories to their impressive record when last Friday night they edged Brunswick 62-59 in an overtime contest played on the local court. Friday's overtime period was caused when an excited time keeper caused a one-minute extension of the fourth quarter.

It all began as Brunswick's John Wenner put the Railroaders ahead, 59-57, by sinking two foul shots with 25 seconds showing on the scoreboard clock.

The Liners then whipped the ball upcourt, tied the game on Bill Zimmerman's tip, stole the Brunswick toss inbounds and Ken Swomley scored giving Emmitsburg a 61-59 margin and what seemed to be a victory.

But the time keeper, in the excitement of the contest, had forgotten to turn on the clock after Wenner's shots.

Coaches Herb Daugherty of Brunswick and John Horine of Emmitsburg decided to strike Swomley's go-ahead basket from the books and play an extra minute of play.

Neither team scored in the one-minute extension, so the game went into a three-minute overtime.

In the overtime, Bill Nail hit on two foul shots and Swomley on another, the Railroaders didn't score and the Liners racked up their 11th victory in 13 starts.

Tuesday's contest with Middletown was an exciting affair. The Middletown Knights came roaring back in the final eight minutes but couldn't quite catch the Liners as Emmitsburg scored a 45-42 victory.

Middletown overcame a 13-point Emmitsburg lead in the last quarter, nevertheless had to settle for the defeat despite a game-high 15 points of Bill Flook.

Don Sweeney was high for the Liners with 11 points.

The victory was the Liners' 12th out of 14 starts.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keepers visited Saturday with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Nickoles and family, Westminster.

Commissioner Favors Purchase Of Snow Equipment

Street Commissioner J. Norman Flax announced this week that he was heartily in favor of purchasing some type of snow removal equipment for the Town.

Mr. Flax, the recipient of many complaints from local residents concerning the snow removal to date, stated that he felt sure that by next year the necessary equipment would be made available. He also revealed that already this year the Town had spent double its appropriation for snow removal purposes and that the end wasn't yet in sight.

The Town Council has done remarkably well with what private equipment that has been available. Alley were opened almost the next day following heavy down-falls. It was noted that many cities and towns haven't as yet opened back streets. Parking has been provided for shoppers around the Square and for some distance up and down the streets. With the several warm days this week quite a quantity of the snow has melted and disappeared. There is at this time no plan for clearing all the streets as the appropriation has been used up. Residents who desire to have snow removed in front of their residences will have to bear the cost of such removal work Mr. Flax stated. Quite a few individuals have become highly indignant because the snow hasn't been cleared from in front of their properties but under the circumstances there is absolutely nothing that can be done about it unless these people are willing to bear the cost involved.

Several instances have occurred this winter where a carrier pulled up to a mail box and was unable to keep going forward, and while trying to back out, either damaged the mail box and post, damaged his car or became stuck and had to hire some one to pull him out. Although the law governing rural delivery service states "Rural boxes must be placed so that they may be conveniently served by carriers without leaving their conveyances and patrons must remove obstruction, including snow, that make delivery difficult," the rural carrier from the Emmitsburg Post Office did leave their vehicles for several days after the snow storm in order to get mail to the patrons. Many patrons have put up temporary boxes where their regular mail box is not accessible but others are still expecting the carriers to serve the box afoot.

To avoid any misunderstanding in the future, carriers have been given instructions to serve only those rural mail boxes that can be served without leaving their vehicles, and where the approach and exit to the box is free from obstruction, including snow and ice. Any mail not delivered will be returned to the Post Office where it can be called for by the patron or it will be taken out the following day, in the hope the mail box will be accessible.

Temporary Mail Boxes Okayed

Postmaster L. H. Stoner reminds rural patrons that in the event the approaches to their rural mail boxes are still blocked with snow or ice, that they may fix a temporary box and stick it in the snow bank where it is accessible to the carrier without getting out of his vehicle.

During the business meeting of the program will consist of a panel discussion on report cards and homework. Members are cautioned to observe the special date for this meeting.

Reader Recalls Winter of 1917-18

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:
Statistics of the weather this winter brings back memories of the winter of 1917-18.

The first snowfall was on November 8 and on Nov. 11 another snow. These were followed with additional snow about every two or three days. Temperatures remained around the freezing mark until Dec. 25. At this time the depth of the precipitation was just about to the top of the old-time rail fences.

During the month of January that year 31 inches fell and the earth remained covered until Mar. 31. Some of the first snow remained around long enough to be melted with the last of the crop. As far as snow is concerned, I don't care if it is another 42 years before we experience another like this winter.

Phelanmen Tighten Hold On Conference

Jim Phelan's impressive Mountaineer cagers tightened their hold on the lead in the Mason-Dixon Conference this week by downing two of the conference's strongest contenders, by easy margins.

John O'Reilly landed 26 points and was awarded the Cogan Memorial trophy as the game's outstanding performer as he paced Mt. St. Mary's College to a 96-77 victory over Loyola in a Mason-Dixon Conference game here Saturday evening.

O'Reilly, who sat out the last 7 1/2 minutes of action, connected on seven straight one-handed set shots early in the second half when the Mount pushed its lead to a fool-proof 79-50 margin. He sank nine goals and added eight of as many shots from the foul line.

The Mountaineers were in command all the way in upping their season record to 15-3 and 9-0 in the Mason-Dixon Conference.

Jim Phelan's hot - shooting squad, making good on 33 of 66 attempts from the field, built up a 50-34 lead at half time and then raced away in the second half on O'Reilly's performance.

Eddie Pfeiffer came through with 22 and Dick Talley 18 points to back up O'Reilly. Trounce American U.

Displaying their might the Blue and White Tuesday night easily upset American U. at Emmitsburg, 83-68, before a capacity house of 2500 fans.

The victory leaves the Mount with a 10-0 conference mark and first place in the Northern League. American, 4-2 in the league and 11-5 overall, was dropped out of first place in the Southern League as Randolph-Macon downed Hampden-Sydney 80-58 to gain the top spot.

It was nip and tuck through the first 13 minutes of play with American leading 20-19 with seven minutes left in the first half. Dave Maloney, who rang up 25 points, talked 13 points during the remainder of the half to send the Mountaineers ahead for keeps, Jim Phelan's outfit leading 39-26 at half time.

With two minutes gone by in the second half the Mount led 43-26 but then the Eagles surged back on the efforts of Bob Lankin and Al Dillard to slash the lead to 56-50 with 8:00 remaining. American went into a full-court press the last four minutes but Ed Pfeiffer and Maloney turned in some tricky ball handling for the Mount as their team pulled into a substantial lead.

Backing up Maloney in scoring were Dick Talley with 19, John O'Reilly with 13 and Pfeiffer with 12.

On Saturday evening the Mount-tainers play their final home game of the season when they meet Randolph - Macon, current Southern leaders, here. Game time is 8:00 p. m.

Industrial Support Of Bonds Lauded

The Treasury Department recently paid tribute to American industry for its outstanding support of the Savings Bond Program over the past 20 years.

The salute to business recognized the participation in the Payroll Savings Plan by 45,000 companies, including many of the largest in the country. Under the Plan, employees are enabled to buy bonds on a partial-payment plan through regular payroll deductions.

The Plan is voluntary, with the employee deciding what amount he wants to save each pay period. For low-income workers, the amount saved can be as little as $1.25 a week. However, of the more than eight million people now buying bonds under the automatic saving plan, the average is about $20 a month.

"American industry has given the Savings Bond Program its greatest success," William H. Neal, National Director of the Treasury's Savings Bond Program, declared in commenting on the salute to business.

"The 45,000 American companies have sold many billions of dollars in Savings Bonds at no cost to the taxpayer," he continued. "By operating the Payroll Savings Plan, these companies, big and small, are helping to keep our country strong. At the same time, they're helping eight million people save automatically for the things they want. America owes a vote of thanks to these companies for their outstanding contribution to the 20-year success story of the U. S. Savings Bond Program."

The industry tribute appears as the second in a series of monthly advertisements in observance of the 20th anniversary of the Savings Bond Program. The ad series, carried as a public service of the newspaper industry, highlights the contributions of major volunteer groups and institutions to the program's success.

School Budget Approved By Board

A school budget for 1961 calling for total funds of $5,537,494 was agreed upon by members of the Board of Education at a meeting held Monday night in Frederick.

The total figure which includes state, federal and local funds is $479,141 greater than the $5,058,353 budget under which the schools were operated last year.

Although the increase this year was $479,141 more than last year, it was pointed out that increases in teacher and principals salaries accounts for $406,969 of the increase in the school budget. That leaves just $72,172 to cover the increased costs of all other phases of operating the county schools.

Approved in the budget was a reduction of $32,000 from the $112,000 asked for teacher salaries. The County Commissioners notified the School Board that $89,900 would be made available to cover pay increases for teachers.

The money allotted to the schools for teacher salary increases is enough for a blanket $300 raise for all teachers but just how this money will be distributed by the school board has not been decided.

Dr. James A. Sensenbough, Superintendent of Frederick County Schools, said that a teacher salary scale for the next school year beginning in September has not been set and will not be set until after the Maryland Legislature has completed its session.

The state lawmakers are expected to act on legislation which would give more state aid for education.

The County Commissioners are in favor of giving all teachers a $300 increase in pay but the Board of Education has supported greater increases for the certified teacher over the uncertified instructor.

The $32,000 reduction in requested teacher salary funds was just part of $382,084 which the Board of Education agreed to slice from its operation budget for this year.

Budget reductions were the main topic of business at the Board of Education meeting.

A rundown of the budget slices approved by the school heads show $174,092 taken from capital outlay, $110,497 from maintenance, $88,605 from instruction, $5,000 from administration, $3,000 from operation of school plants and $890 from other school services.

Dr. Sensenbough noted that the $174,092 deleted from capital outlay will be made available through the bond program.

Taken from the current expense budget in this category was land and its improvement, $23,500; alterations of old buildings, $30,375, and equipment, $120,217.

It was noted that these three reductions above along with the following were directed by the County Commissioners: $18,900 for repair of buildings and upkeep of grounds (to be provided from the bond program), the $33,200 for teachers salaries and $5,000 which had been asked to pay for a survey of the administrative staff.

All other reductions under instruction reduced besides the teachers salaries were:

Supervisors travel, $108; principals and teachers travel, $1,035; textbooks, $18,804; materials of instruction $11,988; library, $9,899; summer school allowance for teachers, $2,000; teachers meetings, child study, etc., $4,085; junior college salaries, $850; junior college expenses, $275; other costs of supervision, $347 and other costs of instruction, $7,064.

Under operation, the following reductions were made: Custodial supplies, fuel, and light and power, $1,000 each.

Other reductions in the maintenance category is repair of buildings and upkeep of grounds, $53,192; repair of equipment, $50; replacement of instructional equipment, $21,719 and replacement of other equipment, $16,726.

Under other school services, recreation supplies and expenses were reduced $650 and summer program salaries cut by $240.

Dairying is the greatest single source of farm income in America today.

In January 1961 more liberal rules on earnings by social security beneficiaries went into effect. The familiar $1200 figure remains the same but there the similarity ends. As before, earnings of $1200 or less will be permitted without penalty. However, under the new rules, for each $2 earned from $1200 to $1500, $1 of the beneficiary's (or his family's) benefits will be withheld. For every $1 of earnings above $1500, $1 of benefits will be withheld. Family benefits are all payments to the beneficiary and his family based on the beneficiary's social security record.

There will still be no loss of benefits in any month in which neither wages of $100 are earned nor substantial services in self-employment rendered. Also no benefits will be withheld for any month the beneficiary is age 72 or over.

The earnings of a dependent or survivor of the beneficiary affect only that person's own benefits.

All wages and net earnings from self-employment must be included in computing earnings on which to base deductions. Remember, however, investment income, savings, and pensions are not counted.

For further information about earnings after retirement contact your social security office at 59 North Cannon Avenue Hagerstown.

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH COLUMN

Oh, My Aching Head!

Practically nobody gets through life without having a headache. In fact, it's been estimated that the average person suffers at least half a dozen headaches a year, severe enough to drive him to the aspirin bottle.

To set nervous fears at rest, less than one half of one per cent of tuberculosis, asthma, chronic bronchitis, heart disease, blood disorders, kidney disease high blood pressure eye strain.

Headache can also come from poor ventilation, fever or hunger. By far the most common type of headache is the tension headache, a dull, steady pain across the forehead. Pain right on the top of the head can result from a neurotic state.

Sinus infection and noise are both over-rated as headache causes. Sinus infection may account for an occasional headache, but hardly for headaches which recur over a long period of time. And it's not so much noise itself which gives you a headache, as your irritation with the noise.

When should you see your doctor about a headache? There's no one answer to that. If you're worried that something might be wrong, by all means go to your doctor, even if the visit merely relieves your anxiety, since that can cause a headache, too. You should also see a doctor if the kind of headaches you get change suddenly, if you have trouble with your vision or hearing as well as a headache, if you have weakness or numbness on one side of your body along with the headache, and if you have any trouble concentrating. When should you see your doctor about a headache? There's no one answer to that. If you're worried that something might be wrong, by all means go to your doctor, even if the visit merely relieves your anxiety, since that can cause a headache, too. You should also see a doctor if the kind of headaches you get change suddenly, if you have trouble with your vision or hearing as well as a headache, if you have weakness or numbness on one side of your body along with the headache, and if you have any trouble concentrating. WORLD'S POPULATION IS NEARING 3 BILLION... U.S. AMERICANS WILL FIND IT HARD TO BELIEVE THAT HALF OF THESE PEOPLE NEVER BOUGHT A PAIR OF SHOES!

EARLY IN 1961, JUST ONE AMERICAN SHOE BRAND SOLD ITS 300 MILLIONTH PAIR... A MILESTONE REACHED IN 36 YEARS...

IN 1922, FRANK MELVILLE AND HIS SON WARD OPENED THE FIRST THOM McAN SHOE STORE, THE START OF A REVOLUTIONARY PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN MANUFACTURER AND RETAILER.

THEIR GOAL TO MAKE AND SELL QUALITY SHOES IN HUGE QUANTITIES THAT PERMITTED LOWER PRICES.

THE IDEA CAUGHT ON! IN 5 YEARS THERE WERE 370 OF THESE STORES!

TODAY, THERE ARE 900 THOM McAN STORES IN 500 CITIES SUPPLIED BY ELEVEN COMPANY FACTORIES... NOW, LEADERS FROM UNDER-DEVELOPED COUNTRIES COME HERE TO STUDY THIS MODERN MIRACLE OF SHOEMAKING AND RETAILING SO THAT THEIR PEOPLE, TOO, CAN BUY SHOES... PERHAPS THEIR FIRST PAIR!

Wonderful World by Waldman

The South African witch-doctor rattles chunks of ox-bone and lion's teeth. Shells, beads, bells, coins, bottle caps dangle from his neck. This is how he diagnoses a case... prescribes mysterious charms and black magic potions.

The traditional Bantu doctors, the herbalists use "muti" — a concoction of herbs said to cure asthma, diabetes, eczema, high blood pressure and cancer! Educated doctors have convinced many herbalists to study "westernized" methods.

Modern medicine battles the influences of black magic on the South African front. Baragwanath hospital, the largest on the continent, has 1,640 beds, caters to 500,000 outpatients a year, employs 162 full-time doctors, many of them Bantu.

And, lo, the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people—(St. Luke 2:10)

For nineteen centuries uncounted generations have been repeating the glad tidings of the Child born in Bethlehem. Yet the message remains always new, always joyful ever more welcome in the troubled world of mankind.

The Woman's World by Lady Pepperell

The Happiness in Color "I'd love periwinkle, but grey is so much more practical." Not so long ago, this was the way we bought our coats and suits. Today, thanks to America's wonderful fabrics, our lives are growing brighter.

Look at the every-day objects in your home. Telephones, pots and pans, linens, paper towels — all of them now come in colors that cheer us up as we do our daily chores.

But strangely, only the most fashion-conscious women have thought of brightening the one spot in which we spend most of our lives.

Yes, two out of every three U.S. housewives have never bought a colored sheet. Yet we all know how much happier a sick child can be in a pretty, colorful bed... and how pampered we women feel, slipping into sheets that are bright with roses or buttercups.

Many women are still thinking of sturdy practicality when they buy linens. But what could be more practical than colored sheets? The Vat Dye Institute assures us that today's colors are safe and lasting, that they are laundered as easily as white. Beds look fresher longer, too.

For those women who will always prefer white, we have made white even more up-to-date and elegant, by giving percale sheets the silken touch of flima cotton.

White sheets can mean luxurious of the Peppers percales or white sheets can mean all the colors of the rainbow. Either way, these are twentieth century wonders at very little more than our mothers and grandmothers paid for practicality — without glamour!

Brain Worms Found In Maryland Deer

Meningo - worms (Odocoileo-strongylus tenuis) were found in the brain of 97 deer out of 186 examined in Maryland during the past deer season, reports Frank A. Hayes, Director of the Southeastern Cooperative Wildlife Disease Study.

It is not known the seriousness of the infection by these thread-like parasites, but Hayes pointed out "we subsequently are of the conviction that under certain conditions these nematodes (round-worms) are capable of producing high mortality among white-tailed deer."

Are Annual Deer Harvests Necessary?

This, or a similar question is asked frequently by well-meaning citizens of Maryland. A follow-up to such a question often suggests that if the hunting seasons were closed, there would be "lots" of game next year.

Certainly, these individuals are sincere in their convictions. In reality this line of thinking is without foundation in fact, and is but one more indication that game management is being confronted by an uninformed public.

Deer cannot be "stockpiled" by closing the hunting season with the idea of having a "bumper crop" at the end of the period of grace. When surplus animals are not harvested by hunters, other mortality factors are exerted upon the population.

It has been estimated at least 40% of any deer population is lost annually regardless of whether a deer season is held or not. In other words, hunters harvest many of the animals that would have been lost to other causes, anyway.

The annual deer seasons tend to disperse deer concentrations away from established home ranges to new areas of acceptable habitat, thereby reducing competition for food and lessening the chance of a disease running rampant thru a herd.

Harvests are necessary to control the herd in reducing interference by depredation on agricultural operations.

Finally, when the deer population is maintained slightly below the carrying capacity of its range, a biological barometer seems to trigger a maximum reproduction effort, and more young per female are actually produced than if these same females were found on an over-stocked area.

Annual deer harvest are necessary.

Two Billion Trees Planted According to Forest Service

Chief Richard E. McArdle over 2 billion trees were planted in fiscal 1959 on 2,151,743 acres.

One-third (about 700,000 acres) planted was cropland placed under the Conservation Reserve in 10 year contracts.

Antibiotics Control Blister Rust
Antibiotic drugs have for the first time been successfully adapted to the control of a tree disease, reports the U. S. Forest Service.

Two in particular — acti-dione and phytoactin—have shown most promise. Acti-dione applied to tree trunks has shown that it kills rust on white pine.

Wildlife Notes From The Eastern Shore

Eastern Shore fishery personnel are using another tool in fish management—the placement of large brush shelters in impoundments, reports Guy Rogers, Regional Fish Culturist.

The shelters provide a feeding area for many species of fish and thereby affords the angler a better opportunity to increase his catch.

Brush shelters have been placed in the following lakes: Plumb Creek, Frazers, Urieville, St. Pauls, Wye Mills, and Smithville. Lake locations may be found in the Maryland Angler's Guide.

Mr. Joe Pancoast, Outdoor Writer for the Philadelphia Bulletin was a visitor for two days the past week with the fishery personnel on the upper Shore. One day was spent observing ice fishing on the North East River and discussing the fresh water fishing areas on the Shore. The second day, accompanied by a member of the fishery division from Elkton, he tried his luck at fishing thru the ice near Charlestown on the North East. They caught fifty yellow perch from ten to thirteen inches in three hours.

The many friends which Dr. Richard Whitney made in the Harford-Cecil Area, during his three year study on the Conowingo, will be interested to know that his new address is: Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, Biological Laboratory, P. The Conservation Award Committee of the Maryland Sportsmen's Luncheon Club, Baltimore, is issuing a state-wide call for nominations for the 1960 Conservation Award.

Names of persons who have performed outstanding achievement or who should be recognized for significant service in furthering the aims and principles of conservation should be sent to Chairman Talbot Denmead, 2830 St. Paul Street, Baltimore 18, Md. State Forest Game Management
Wildlife Field Superintendent Stanley Alexander of Hagerstown reports the following work accomplished on the Green Ridge State Forest in Allegany County, the Swallow Falls, the Savage River and the Potomac State Forests of Garrett County, during the past fiscal year.

Twenty-two acres of forest food patches were planted. Sixty-two acres of food patches were mowed. Seventy-five winter feeding stations serviced with grain. A total of 223 wild turkeys were released on the Garrett County forests.

Date Announced For Disposing Of Surplus Wheat

The dates for disposing of excess wheat acreage in order to avoid a penalty have been established for Maryland counties, says William L. Dudley, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The date for Frederick County has been set for June 10, 1961.

Mr. Dudley cites several advantages for the wheat grower who disposes of excess acreage and brings his acreage for harvest down to the allotment. These include eligibility for price support and soil bank payments, freedom from a marketing quota penalty on wheat and credit for acreage diverted from wheat this year in computing his allotment in future years. A farm having excess acreage which is not disposed of by the date applicable to his county will only be given history credit for the amount of his acreage allotment instead of his base acreage.

be collected regarding the income and occupations of those who hunt and fish should show whether the participants are distributed thru-out all occupations of whether there is a predominance of outdoor workers, office workers, or other groups.

Because of the growing importance of marine sport fishing, the 1960 survey will include a comprehensive study of this phase of angling—the first time such a complete study has been made in the United States. Catches of marine game fish by species, area in which they were taken, numbers, weights, and methods used in angling will be determined.

There are about 90,000 miles of tidal shoreline for the 50 States and islands. There are about 220 species of game fish involved, many of which are taken by hook and line for recreation.

Data will be gathered on the number of persons who fish in the surf, in the bays and sounds, in the tidal rivers and in the deep sea. For fresh-water fishermen, data will show the number who fish in man-made ponds, in reservoirs, in natural lakes and ponds, and in rivers and streams.

Hunters will be classified as to whether they hunted doves, waterfowl, other small game, or big game.

Mr. Dudley reminds farmers that if they desire to feed all of the wheat on their farms they may plant up to 30 acres, providing they apply at the county ASC office for an application under the feed wheat program. Unless an application is filed, the farmer will be charged with all excess acres over his allotment.

Farmers who have any questions about excess wheat disposal are urged to get in touch with the county ASC office for further information.

Mathias Appointed To House Committees

Congressman Charles McC. Mathias Jr. (R-Md. Sixth District), was notified this week that he had been nominated by the Republicans to membership on the House Committee On The Judiciary and to the House Committee On The District Of Columbia.

These committee assignments were requested by Mr. Mathias shortly after election last November.

The Judiciary Committee, originally established as a standing committee in 1813 for the purpose of considering matters pertaining to judicial proceedings has been broadened by the ensuing years to include additional responsibilities. For example, the House Judiciary Committee handles legislation in such diversified areas as antitrust, immigration and naturalization, criminal law, espionage, law revision, patents and copyrights, bankruptcy, administrative law, claims interstate compacts, and constitutional amendments. Composed of thirty-three members, the Committee has 20 Democrats and 13 Republicans.

All measures relating to the municipal affairs of the District of Columbia in general, other than appropriations, are handled by the District Committee. This Committee is composed of 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans.

Mr. Mathias served on the Judiciary Committee when he was a member of the Maryland House of Delegates in Annapolis.

MEDITATION

Read I Corinthians 4:1-7.

What have you that you did not receive? If then you received it, why do you boast as if it were not a gift? (I Corinthians 4:7, RSV.)

Toscanini was rehearsing Beethoven's Ninth Symphony with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. He gave his musicians such a new insight into the music that, when the rehearsal ended, they rose and applauded him. Desperately, Toscanini tried to arrest their ovation, waving his arms wildly, crying to them to desist.

When there was a lull in the ovation, Toscanini's broken voice could be heard exclaiming — and there were tears in his eyes as he spoke: "It isn't me, men . . . it's Beethoven. Beethoven is everything—Toscanini, nothing."

The great souls of this world are the humble. The rest of us, even the best of us, have our little pride and our not-so-little arrogance. Sometimes when I catch myself in the act of boasting, I think of the Pharisee and the publican. Modesty becomes us, for we have much to be modest about! Nothing to be puffed up about!

Prayer

Be patient with us, our Father, as we come humbly into Thy presence. Dwell in our hearts, helping us to be like Thy Son in thought, attitude, and decision. In His name we make our prayer. Amen.

Thought For The Day

No garment is more becoming to a child of God than the cloak of humility.

COLOR IN THE HOME
By Jacquelin L. McConaughy, Du Pont Color Stylist

Kids Have "Color"

A friend of mine whose household is one of the best-run in the neighborhood — despite the fact that it boasts five young children — told me one of her secrets the other day.

"Each one of the kids is a different color," she explained. Since this was an obvious come-on, I displayed the proper amount of interest and gained an idea worth using.

Each of the kids is color-keyed. All of Anne's things are yellow. Jimmy is blue. Fred Jr.'s things are green. Not all of them, of course. Just those things about which there is likely to be noisy confusion over ownership. Each member of the family, including Mother and Dad, has been assigned a color.

The way it works, Mother wouldn't think of buying one of them a tooth brush or a wash cloth that wasn't in the assigned private color. Things like boys' underwear that all look the same coming out of the dryer are "color coded" with a dozen turns of thread in the elastic above the label.

My friend carries the idea to its ultimate usefulness by the use of "Duco" Spray Magic enamel — the simple pushbutton-applied kind of paint. With a can of each color on hand, she "spot" sprays roller skate straps, insteps of rubbers and overshoes, handles of badminton rackets, bats, and balls — and all manner of items more or less identical to the eye.

"Small fry can always tell their own things through secret marks that are never visible to me," she points out. "But parents often have to put up with a lot of squabbling among kids trying to gain temporary possession in the hope of establishing ownership. We don't have that trouble any more. The sprayed-on color key tells who owns it instantly. And most important, even I can tell, so when I pick up around the house, I can take everybody's things to the right room. Better yet, I can pin the responsibility of picking up on the right youngster."

Trees Help Save Fuel; Cool In Summer

Tests have shown that a good windbreak of trees around the farm home can reduce winter fuel bills as much as 22 per cent, by diverting winds over and around the house. It also prevents the drifting of snow in the yard and provides a sheltered place for livestock to loaf or children to play.

In the summer, the windbreak becomes a cooling system for the farm yard, a home for songbirds and a recreational area.

Since one of the big advantages of a windbreak is the shelter it provides in winter, a good time to plan the planting is a windy winter day. Harry W. Dengler, University of Maryland forester, says it's necessary to study wind direction and snow drifting to determine where trees will do the most good.

The rows of trees in a windbreak should be planted roughly at right angles to prevailing winter winds, which generally are from the northwest in Maryland. This means the windbreak should be laid out along a northeast to southwest line. The important thing, Dengler says, is to let the prevailing winter wind direction decide the layout, rather than

Babson Discusses Human Nature And The Business Cycle

BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 16—I am writing this column to further emphasize that Presidents do not make or unmake conditions; but that conditions make or unmake Presidents. This will be tested in 1964, and perhaps at the next Congressional Elections in 1962. Insurance Against Depressions The Democrats are counting upon the various stabilizing measures which have been passed by Congress since 1930 and even before the Depression from which Mr. Hoover unjustly suffered. Let me enumerate ten of these tonics.

1. Social Security, which provides billions of dollars annually to millions of people in pension and dependency payments. This should be a real stabilizer and prevent unemployment which would otherwise surely occur.
2. Unemployment Insurance. Presently about 45,000,000 workers are entitled, in an emergency, to unemployment checks from their states. Added to this, most states give old-age relief to especially needy persons. This latter will be pressed by President Kennedy's proposed old-age aid legislation.
3. Farm Price Supports, for which several billion dollars are distributed annually to the farmers of the nation. This money will largely filter through to farm labor which otherwise would be reduced. Hence, this should help as an employment stabilizer.

4. Insuring Bank Deposits. Shortly after Mr. Roosevelt took over the Presidency in 1933, nearly every bank was temporarily closed to prevent more bank failures and alleviate the financial panic then developing. The country was shocked. This resulted in legislation to insure bank deposits up to $10,000 and to provide more careful supervision of banks. This restored confidence and helped stabilize employment.

5. Mortgage Loans were formerly written for five or ten years at a rate of around 6%. Now legislation permits them to be written for 20 years or more at average rate of 4 1/2%. This surely is a stimulant to building and real estate, and hence to employment.

6. The Securities & Exchange Commission was established to eliminate "bucket shops" and to give investors confidence to buy good securities. Probably the Mutual Funds, which have had such a tremendous growth during the past few years, were greatly stimulated by the SEC. This helped employment by resulting in the incorporation of new companies.

7. Government Spending was greatly expanded and the money mostly comes back to the people after the government receives taxes from the contractors. This has been the greatest stimulant of employment. Although I pray for peace, I shudder to think what will happen when this "shot-in-the-arm" no longer exists.

8. Checking Wall Street Speculation. Speculation under controlled conditions is a good thing. It enables an investor to have a market available to buy or sell stocks. But before 1929, very little margin was required so that almost every stenographer and elevator operator was buying stocks. Starting at 55% in 1936, margin requirements have subsequently been dropped to as low as 40% and raised as high as 100%; are now 70%. These, under the Federal Reserve System, stabilized Wall Street and again gave it a good name.

9. Labor Unions were encouraged by Franklin Roosevelt. They prevented wageworkers from becoming panicky and management from unnecessary cutting wages. Although certain labor leaders now go too far, these unions stabilized wages, from which the country then benefited.

10. Inflation—This may become most potent of all; but it needs no description here. Human Nature Makes And Unmakes Presidents And Nations

When I am in Florida, I look out on acres of orange groves which are being sprayed to kill worms which destroy the fruit. I once asked the foreman in charge how many times he sprayed. He replied: "Now we must spray three times each season because the worms and flies get immune to the old sprays, and we must continually find and try new ones."

Now this is how "human nature" applies to the business outlook. Preceding periods of U. S. prosperity did not have the artificial stabilizers that our present period has, but they had others. For instance, the Prosperity Era of 1848-1858 was inspired by the famous Discovery of Gold in California. The post-Civil-War Prosperity was stimulated by great Railroad Building. The Prosperity Era of 1898-1906 was stimulated by Consolidations. In all cases, the stimulator or stabilizer was not removed. Gold continued to come from California, the railroads continued to operate; and we continued to enjoy the development of oil and electricity. But we finally became immune to all these stimulations and stabilizers . . . because there was no change in human nature. What Is Human Nature?

Frankly, I do not know how to describe it. It seems to take centuries to change human nature one per cent. Comparing today with the days of the Persian, Grecian, or Roman Empire, people seem to have the same swing from Depression, to Recovery, then to Prosperity; and back again to Decline and Depression. This is now called the "Business Cycle"—but it is only human nature, which intrinsically is ambitious and self-ish, then discouraged and prone to failure; which always over-reaches and then learns only by suffering.

Stimulation has always helped get nations out of depressions.

During the days of Columbus it was the Era of Discovery which saved Spain; it was the Thirty Years' War which saved Austria; and our own Revolutionary War was the stimulus for the founding of the United States. But—both as races and as nations we seem to become immune to discoveries, inventions, and legislation. We get used to these things. "Eaten bread is soon forgotten" is an old but true saying. I therefore feel that we Americans will someday get used to the ten artificial stimulants mentioned earlier in this column.

Of course, it takes time for human nature to work. Furthermore, so long as the cold war lasts it may be necessary for the United States to provide full employment and continued prosperity; but the end must come someday.

It's easy to take the Treasury's ice-fishing trips. Cover it with a advice and buy U. S. Savings piece of flannel and place it in Bonds. More than 20,000 banks your bait box. Soda-Pendable for Cold Fighting

Stepped-up activities during the holidays burnt up more than your accustomed quota of energy. As a result, resistance is low and you're a perfect target for the cold bug. That's one reason why January rates as the top cold-catching month of the year.

Now, what anti-cold measures should you take if and when you succumb? Since scientists are still a long way from discovering a sure-fire cold cure, there's little you can do besides sniffle and suffer. Such being the case, why spend money on the latest cold-fighting potions? Instead, baby your budget, which has been badly depleted by Christmas, and use some of the old standard remedies you already have in the house. There's aspirin, for example, which relieves the aches and reduces fever. There's soda bicarbonate (baking soda) which you take as a chaser if aspirin doesn't agree with you. You take the soda, too, a half teaspoon of it in a glass of water with the juice of a fresh lemon, for general cold relief. And you mix a half teaspoon of it in a half glass of water for a gargle that brings soothing relief to the delicate membranes of your throat.

Add nose drops and cough drops to the brief list and you have as effective a band of cold fighters as are yet available at any price.

Frederick family discovers telephone saves $9.55— gives 11 hours extra time— in two-week period

Linda Barrick enjoys her turn to talk with Dad, who's out-of-town on business.

Mrs. Samuel Barrick, at our request, recently completed a two-week "diary" of all her family's telephone calls. Where appropriate, she also estimated the amounts of time, traveling and money saved, by being able to phone.

At the end of two weeks, the Barricks' savings totaled $9.55, 11 hours and 214 miles of traveling!

Mrs. Barrick goes on to say that, in addition to these savings, "Some things just couldn't have been done if we didn't have a telephone . . . we'd certainly be lost without it."

Perhaps you'd like to see what your telephone does for you. Chances are you'll find, like Mrs. Barrick, that your telephone service gives much more than it costs.

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

"SHOTS FOR BABY"

By William Kitay
National Assn. of Science Writers
Editor, All About Babies

Babies usually are born with an immunity to a number of communicable diseases. They obtain this immunity from their mothers. The inborn immunity, however, is good for only about the first six months of life. After this, baby must develop his own immunity.

Immunity is a natural defense of the body against disease. It is made possible by a supply of protective substances known as antibodies.

The presence of antibodies, and thus immunity, is brought about in three different ways. First, in a natural way during the disease itself. Second, by immunization, a method by which the body is stimulated to build the desired antibodies.

Third, by the injection of antibodies against a specific disease.

When it comes to the communicable diseases of babyhood, the first method is least desirable. The third, the use of antiserum, is but a temporary method when quick protection is needed and then, only in certain diseases.

The second method is the most useful in protecting baby against the more common communicable diseases of babyhood. To provide this protection, doctors observe an immunization timetable.

Baby's first immunizations are against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough. These usually begin when the child is one to two months of age. Three or four monthly inoculations are given. "Booster shots" are usually given a year or so later. Many doctors feel "booster shots" for whooping cough are unnecessary after the age of five, but that anti-tetanus "boosters" are advisable at three to 10-year intervals.

A relatively new entry on the immunization timetable are the inoculations against polio. Many doctors recommend that "polio shots" be started at just about the time baby is receiving his first inoculations.

Immunization against polio consists of a series of three inoculations. The second dose is given four to six weeks after the first and the third, seven to 12 months later. A "booster dose" is recommended about a year after the completion of the series.

A single vaccination against smallpox is usually given at five or six months of age or any time during the baby's first year. It is recommended that this vaccination be repeated every three to five years throughout life.

In some areas where the probability of exposure exists, doctors may recommend inoculations against typhoid and para typhoid every one or two years.

Some four million babies are born in this country every year. It is protection via immunization against the communicable diseases of babyhood that has dramatically lowered the infant death rate and increased man's lifespan.

Taxpayer assistance days are Monday and Friday at local offices of the Internal Revenue Service. Hours are 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. A telephone call to your local office may save a trip.

American men have grown heavier during the last 60 years while U. S. women have dropped a few pounds from the averages held by their grandmothers.

Governor Proclaims 'Freedom Week'

In proclaiming Freedom Week—February 12 through 22—in Maryland, Governor J. Millard Tawes has called on the people of the State to recognize the freedoms we enjoy in a democracy and share this freedom by making a financial contribution to help continue the services of Radio Free Europe.

Radio Free Europe is the world's most powerful broadcasting network. All programs are beamed over 28 powerful transmitters to the 80 million people in the satellite nations of Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria. Half of the programs are devoted to penetrating the Iron Curtain with factual interpretations of news. The other part of the programming consists of religion, patriotic music, and material designed to maintain a spirit of nationalism among those being controlled by the communists. Because factual news and patriotic programs are banned by the communists, people take many risks to hear broadcasts of Radio Free Europe.

Governor Tawes states in his proclamation, "The captive people of these five countries need a continuing flow of undistorted news in order to form sound judgments in their struggle to regain their individual rights and national freedom without resorting to violence." In a letter urging support of the Radio Free Europe Fund, the Governor added, "The Crusade is a most important weapon in the arsenal of democracy and I am sure we will all continue our support so long as the battle for men's minds continues."

Red Power in Japan

TOKYO, Japan:—The Communists are determined to gain control of this rapidly expanding industrial nation by penetrating all phases of its life and then directing a coup or revolution. They have gone a long way in their penetration. Remembering the disturbing report by Keigi Tomatsu, leader of Japan's anti-Communist forces, at the All-American Conference to Combat Communism in Kansas last December, I was anxious to make a first-hand study of the situation here. Tomatsu did not exaggerate. The situation is alarming.

After an extensive interview with the head of the Security Division of the Japanese government, a visit with Tokyo's chief executive at the Governor's mansion, and interviews with other well-informed Japanese as well as Americans, it is apparent that the Communists are going "all out" to win control of this rich and strategic prize as one of the keys to control of the whole Pacific-Asian area.

Facts On Japan

Here are some vital statistics: Japan has a population of 93 million, with 46 million employed. Twenty-four million are self-employed and domestics, 20 million in industry. Thirty-four million people live on the farms, about a third of the population. There are nearly 6 million in organized labor. One union has a membership of 3,700,000; another with 1,000,000, and a third with 890,000 members. The biggest union is frankly Marxist (Communist) but claims not to be a follower of Lenin's goal of world domination. It works with the Communist organizations, however.

The Socialists, who had a vital role in the student riots which led to the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit last year are powerful in politics. With extensive recruitment programs among the employees and the farm people, Socialist Leader Saburo Eda hopes to one day get control of the government now in the hands of the Conservative Party. The Communists will give him help all along the way; and should he succeed they will try to take his party over.

Reds Powerful

The known membership in the Japanese Communist Party has varied much in the past 15 years. In 1945 it had a membership of only 1,000. In 1949 it had 147,000 members. Two things contributed to this: (1) the occupation forces under American leadership liberated from prison the Communists who had been jailed by the Japanese government. These Reds immediately became busy organizers; and (2) the economic situation was bad, which gave the Communist agitators a considerable advantage. They over-played their hand, however, and popular sentiment turned against them, and their membership declined thru the early 50's.

But their undercover power never waned. Today their membership is approximately 63,000. The Communist Party newspaper publishes 72,400 copies each issue. Their magazine, Vanguard, publishes 31,000 copies. Their other magazines have smaller circulation but are directed at specific targets. The largest labor union has in its membership 12,000 Communists and its executives hold powerful positions in the Party.

Control Thought-Shaping

The Reds have infiltrated teachers organizations, with 3,000 Communist teachers wielding great influence over the minds of the Japanese youth. The Communists have also infiltrated the local governments, the national railroad, the telegraph and telephone systems, the postal department, the ministry of agriculture, ministry of finance, ministry of welfare, and other important agencies. With their 60,000 members, Communist candidates polled more than a million votes in the recent election—testifying to their influence as individual activists.

In Japan as elsewhere in Asia (and around the world), the Reds are fomenting "nationalism." They also call it "democracy." The best informed anti-Communist leaders told me that the Reds are now making their big play for ultimate control of the police. If they succeed in this objective, then they feel certain they can stage a successful revolution. America's foreign policy designed to halt Communist expansion has been failing in Japan—and every American has a vital stake in this failure.

Q: "My girl friend and I always walk home from school together. Lately, a boy I know has been coming with us, and he sort of hinted that he'd rather just be with me. I don't want to hurt my girl friend's feelings—but I like the boy. What should I do?"

A: "It seems to me that if the boy really wants to be alone with you, he shouldn't try to get between you and your friends. He should ask to see you at some other time or place when you wouldn't be involved with a third person."

If you value your friendship with the girl and really don't want to hurt her feelings, you'll leave things as they are. Don't exclude her from your conversations or suggest that she go off by herself. She may never come back.

BY PAT HOGAN

THE INNER HALF of every cloud is bright and shining; I therefore turn my clouds about and always wear them inside out To show the lining.

—Ellen Fowler.

EVERYBODY TALKS ABOUT the weather and in Hollywood they have to do something about it. You see, for television and motion pictures, particularly the former, they make winter pictures in the summer and summer pictures in the winter. So when you see someone dressed in snowshoes and a parka in a telefilm, chances are it was 90 in the shade when the episode was produced.

For instance, last week on the "Hong Kong" set, at 20th Century-Foxlot, stars Rod Taylor and Lloyd Bochner were doing a midsummer sequence in Hong Kong. It was colder than a casting director's turn-down in Hollywood at the time, and the scene seemed wrong when viewed through the camera. Rod's and Lloyd's breaths could be seen, although Taylor wore his traditional Hong Kong policeman's tropical shorts. The solution was easy for veteran movie prop men. The actors simply held ice cubes in their mouths until time to say their lines. Result: no visible breath.

"It wasn't bad," said Rod Taylor, "but I discovered a cavity I didn't know I had."

By the time the day's production ended the entire cast and crew wanted to know how the story ended. Producer Don McGuire, a great guy for a gag, protested that he didn't know and suggested they ask Dick Baer, the writer of that episode, "The Specialist." As he walked on set, Dick caught McGuire's signal and claimed: "I don't know. It just seemed a good way to start a story."

(Editor's note: To this day, no one knows what happened to "these two chicks who checked in at that hotel.")

THERE ARE PROBABLY more camera hounds in Hollywood than in any comparable place of comparable size in the world. It's common for a star to walk outside of a studio and find a dozen camera fans lying in ambush. These amateur photographers are professional in their tactics in getting the stars to pose. Their latest gambit is to say: "You are now on 'Candid Camera.'"

Jack "Maverick" Kelly was asked what he did when shutter bugs used this approach. "What the heck," said Jack, "I cooperate. Who knows? With the gimmicks Alan Funt comes up with, you may BE on 'Candid Camera.'"

"THERE WERE THESE TWO CHICKS, see," was the way the line started in a scene in "Hennessey." Comic Marty Ingels, playing the role of a sailor in "sick bay," had called busy Doc (Jackie Cooper) Hennessey to his bedside just to tell him a story. Expecting an emergency instead of a gag, Hennessey reads the riot act to the sailor. In the ensuing dialogue, he still tries to tell his story, getting as far as, "These two chicks had checked into this hotel," but the Navy doctor never lets him complete the yarn.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

I OWE MY LIFE TO DIVINE HEALING

I owe my life to divine healing. When I was a boy of 17 I was dying with tuberculosis in both lungs. I also had a severe speech impediment. Life didn't seem worth living. I had lost everything—my health, my ambitions, my dreams. I didn't want to become a Christian because people told me that God had made me sick because of my sins. If Christ were spiteful and mean, I reasoned, I wanted no part of Him.

But my parents helped me to realize that God is a good God and does not bring evil and suffering upon people. My mother told me that if I would accept Christ and give my life to Him, He would raise me up and make something out of me. She told me I could be healed by God's power. For the first time in my life, I wanted to be saved.

My desire for healing caused me to study the Bible. I discovered that Jesus spent two thirds of his earthly ministry healing the sick. I began to believe in divine healing. Lying in my bed, I accepted Christ.

After my conversion I received my complete healing in a revival meeting where I was prayed for by an evangelist who asked God to make me completely well. As he prayed, a wonderful feeling swept over me, and suddenly I realized that the tuberculosis was gone. I started to walk and run and tell people that I was healed. Suddenly, I noticed that I didn't stammer and stutter any more.

Shortly after this I began my ministry. Soon I was pastoring small churches. The crowds were small; the results meager. I was dissatisfied, knowing that if I ever moved people toward God, I would have to try to be like Jesus and minister to the needs of the people. One day, sitting in a college classroom, I realized I could do for the people of my generation what the disciples had done for the people of the first century because Christ had promised healing to all people of all ages.

I plunged into the ministry of divine healing wholeheartedly. In the past 13 years God has blessed, and thousands of people have received help.

What would divine healing mean for you? Would it mean a newly found life in the world and a chance to accomplish something worth while? You can be healed. God has this blessing for you. Expect to receive it.

I do not know how God performs a miracle and heals from rampant disease and completely changes a life. I only know He does. It happened to me.

New Dehorning Method Efficient

Greater efficiency and reduced hazards have been the principal results of improvements made by veterinarians in the techniques of dehorning cattle, the Maryland State Veterinary Medical Association reported this week.

The veterinary group, reporting to its members, said the new and changed techniques prohibit both weight loss and loss of milk in dairy cattle at the time of dehorning.

There are three recommended methods of dehorning - use of caustic alkalis and acids to destroy the horn-producing cells, actual surgery and "gouges." The caustics generally are not used after the horn button is more than an inch long.

If the horn is more than three inches long, veterinarians generally use a dehorning clipper or an electric saw. The latter requires special skill to avoid injury to the animal. The clipper may produce heavy bleeding and so veterinarians use an anti-bleeding agent or pull the arteries with hemostats.

The association recommended dehorning during calfhood, or the first eight months of the calf's life. More care is needed in dehorning mature cattle with fully-developed horns. More restraint of the animal is required in these cases, tourniquets are used to control bleeding and a local anesthetic is used to reduce the pain of the operation.

Ford Show Starts 5th Year

Ford Motor Company's American Road traveling shows, which have been seen by more than 12 million people, will begin their fifth year of touring shopping centers on March 22.

"Shopping centers are excellent locales for our shows," C. R. Beacham, vice president-marketing, said. "They are daily gathering points for thousands of persons who are in a buying mood. Our shows have been well received because they tell the public about our products in an entertaining, informative manner."

Ford originated the industrial show which toured shopping centers. Since they were started in 1957, the Ford shows have appeared at 101 separate shopping centers. Some shopping centers have hosted different Ford shows for several years.

In the Washington - Baltimore area, "The Magic World of Ford" will appear at Wheaton Plaza Shopping Center, Wheaton; Harundale Mall Shopping Center, Glen Burnie, and Eastpoint Shopping Center, Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. James Topper and daughter, Baltimore, visited over the weekend with Mrs. Margaret Topper and other relatives here.

Hood College Offers Art Classes

Evening art classes will again be offered this spring at Hood College.

Art Workshop, taught by Jack C. Daais, chairman of the college's department of art, will be offered in the second semester. Registration for the course will be held in Alumnae Hall, Hood's administration building, from 6:30 to 7:00 p. m. on Monday, Feb. 20. The fee is $36.00.

The course consists of 15 studio periods, to be held on Mondays from 7:00 to 10:00 p. m. beginning February 20. It will include instruction in drawing, and painting in oil, watercolor and casein for both beginners and advanced students.

Beginners will receive group and individual instruction in drawing, color and composition. Advanced students will work on individual projects under the direction of the instructor. The course carries no college credit.

Mr. Davis won high praise from Baltimore art critic Kenneth Sawyer recently for his one-man show at the Baltimore Museum of Art in December and January. Sawyer said that Davis is "one of the finds of recent years in the Middle Atlantic region," and called him "a painter of potential comparable stature" to the late Jackson Pollock.

Mr. Davis won the first artist's prize this spring in the 28th Maryland Artists Exhibition at the Baltimore Museum for his painting "Green Painting." He held a one-man showing of his work at the Nonagon gallery in New York City in 1959, and last year was invited back to that gallery in a two-man show.

Prior to joining the Hood faculty, Mr. Davis taught at the California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco and with the Adult Education Authority, San Francisco's adult evening class system. He holds the A.B. and A.M. degrees from the University of California, has studied in Paris, and has exhibited his work in many art centers.

February Designated Heart Month

The month of February will be observed throughout Maryland as "Heart Month" according to proclamation by Governor J. Millard Tawes.

In presentation ceremonies at his Annapolis office, the Governor delivered the formal proclamation to Nelson T. Offutt, General Chairman of the 1961 Maryland Heart Fund campaign. Mr. Offutt received the document on behalf of the Heart Association of Maryland and its nine chapters in the state.

Governor Tawes, in his proclamation, noted that diseases of the heart and blood vessels constitute the Number One health enemy in Maryland—as in the nation. The document points out that heart diseases cause widespread suffering in Maryland, and often create serious economic hardship in Maryland homes and businesses.

Stressing that only through scientific research will we eventually find new knowledge for the control of the heart and blood vessel diseases, the proclamation continues:

"The Heart Fund is the Number One defense against these diseases supporting research to develop improved methods of diagnosing, treating and controlling heart and blood vessel disorders, and making possible an effective program of education and community service to bring the benefits of new knowledge to all citizens."

The Governor urged the support of all citizens, businesses and organizations for the Heart Drive.

College Receives Science Grant

The National Science Foundation has awarded a grant of $3,030 to Saint Joseph College for support of an Undergraduate Research Participation Program. Dr. Joseph A. Solomon, Chairman of the Science Department at Saint Joseph College, announced that the award is effective for one year's research beginning June 1, 1961.

Among the projects made possible by the National Science grant is the study of methods of screening anti-cancer chemicals by diffusion techniques. Dr. Solomon indicated that a new study of chemical analysis of alloys by diffusion would also be undertaken within the undergraduate research program.

The participation program has been in operation at Saint Joseph College for several years under the direction of Sister Denise Eby, Assistant Professor of Chemistry and Biology.

Laurel Race Course is celebrating its Golden Anniversary this year and would like to obtain any photographs taken at the track during the first year of operation 50 years ago—1911 to be exact.

If anyone possesses any pictures of the track, or any owners, jockeys, officials, horses etc., which were on hand during that inaugural meeting a half century ago, Laurel officials would be deeply appreciative if you would contact the publicity department at 2 Commerce Street, Baltimore 2.

In addition, there may be some racing fans of that era who own other mementos such as programs, tickets, badges, etc. The track also would like to borrow these for a brief period. The photographs and other things will be returned to their owners as soon as possible. The donors will be given two admission tickets good any one day during the spring meet, April 1-May 3.

None Injured In Car Crash

An accident with no injuries was reported on Sunday at 4:30 p. m. on the Apples Church Road, one-half mile east of Thurmont. A 1955 Oldsmobile operated by Rodney McNair, 20, of Emmitsburg, and a 1956 Packard driven by Harold Clark, 33 of Hagerstown, collided at the entrance to a farm lane, causing a total of $150 in damages to both cars in the accident, Maryland State Police reported.

Snow Crushes Barn Roof

Eleven FFA Thurmont High School boys have been credited with doing a tremendous job in helping clear the rubble on the Edgar G. Emrich farm near Creagerstown where the roof of the big barn collapsed under heavy snow last Thursday.

The student future farmers turned out on Saturday with two members of the school faculty and set in and worked helping clear up the mess.

The roof collapsed Thursday around 6:30 p. m. while Emrich his daughter Margo, and son Charles, were in the barn feeding the approximate 40 head of cattle in the structure.

Emrich said the volunteer helpers did in one day what it would have taken him and his hands months to do.

The barn is reportedly one of the largest structures in the county, measuring about 50 by 150 feet. It was believed that some of the sides of the building would be salvaged.

A terribly loud crash announced the collapse of the roof and for a while the Emrichs were frightened since they were in the building feeding the stock.

It was reported that the shattered roof and snow crashed in on the machinery and feed kept in the top part of the barn. The lower part of the structure is kept for sheltering the cattle.

The barn damage was not believed covered against the loss since the insurance policy does not cover snow damage, it was stated.

Emrich is president of the Baltimore milk shed of the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers Assn.

The students helping in the clearing up operation were listed as: Dennis Hoffman, Robert Valentine, Roy Anders, Luther Ridge, Lamar Martin, Strafford Lawyer, Eddie Whipp, Gary Whitmore, Robert Renner, Earl Boller and Grayson Long.

Also helping were William Baker, Thurmont High School agriculture teacher, and Carlos Englar, also of the Thurmont school faculty.

Masten Long, a neighbor of the Emrichs, also was on the job Saturday, helping with the clean-up job.

Ralph Long observed his birthday Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Hahn, Lodi, N. J., were weekend visitors here of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Hahn and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Elder.

Mrs. Edward Rosensteel quietly observed her birthday on Valentine's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cool celebrated their wedding anniversary Wednesday.

Mr. J. Earl Elder, Pittsburgh, Pa., was a weekend visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Elder.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fitz Jr. and family, Maine, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fitz Sr. Following his furlough, he will be transferred to Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rodgers and family Baltimore, visited with their parents, Mrs. Thornton Rodgers and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Topper, Sunday.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day A Million Dollar Winner

The eton blue and brown cap of C. V. Whitney have been familiar colors on race tracks here and in England since his grandfather, William Collins Whitney, registered them half a century ago when he won the Epsom Derby with Volodoyovsk. C. V. Whitney's father, Harry Payne Whitney, saw them carried to victory by Regret, the only filly ever to win the Kentucky Derby, and through three generations they have been borne to the winners' circle by too many champions to list in this space. In 1960 the C. V. Whitney stable became the second in history to win over $1,000,000 in purses. (Calumet Farm, the only other million-dollar-winning stable, set an all-time record of $1,402,436 in 1947 and also qualified as a millionaire in 1948, '49, '52, '56 and '57). C. V. Whitney has for many years been building toward the success his stable has enjoyed in the past two years. He takes a close personal interest in the management of his Lexington, Kentucky farm, its breeding operation and the racing stable. One division of the Whitney stable is currently at Santa Anita under Trainer Bob Wheeler; another is training at Camden, South Carolina, under Ivor Balding. With a score or more of 2-year-olds coming to the races this year Whitney is hopeful of replacements which will keep the eton blue and brown silks flying in front.

Science on the Farm. Primitive man learned to harvest before he discovered how to plant. When natural food supplies were exhausted—he moved his family to new areas in search of more food. He had no knowledge of how to enrich the land with fertilizers. When the Pilgrims planted their first crop in the New World—friendly Indians told them to bury a fish with each seed of corn. Decomposing fish enriched the soil—a primitive form of fertilizing—but an effective one. Scientists have long recognized the need to add minerals to speed and intensify the growth of plants. Unfortunately, many of these fertilizers feed only the plant—do nothing to revitalize the soil. Alunite Complex—a natural mineral product mined in the U.S.—is a perfect additive to other fertilizers. Produced by the Calunite Corporation, a division of Hydrocarbon Chemicals, Inc., Alunite Complex returns needed minerals, nitrogen, phosphorus and potash to the soil—while producing more superior yields.

Science and Health. Consistent with the law in physics that states, "two things cannot occupy the same space at the same time," doctors have long known that decongestant, antihistaminic and antibiotic medication cannot enter filled-up sinuses until space is created by the suctioning of trapped sinus air and mucus. Relief through nasal suction was available only through complicated apparatus in a hospital or doctor's office. Consequently, all sufferers treating themselves at home for sinus congestion, head colds and post-nasal drip have had to make do with partial, slow relief provided by decongestant tablets, nasal sprays and nose drops. Then, a large medical research center developed a nasal spray with suction in one's squeeze bottle, producing the same degree of suction as the elaborate hospital equipment. One manufacturer is about to market the product. Putting medication deep into the sinuses as no ordinary nasal spray or decongestant tablet could ever do, the suction-plus-medication product, called Phenyl-Drain, contains a decongestant and two antibiotics. A non-prescription medication, the new product has been proven safe and effective in hundreds of clinical studies by accredited medical researchers and is now available at many drug stores. It amounts to another medical breakthrough—another success in man's campaign against disease.
