There comes a time when uniting action is needed and this action is in behalf of quite a number of parents to school children in the Emmitsburg District. Efforts have been made by individuals and at least one organization, but to date the results have not been forthcoming. I have in mind complete transportation for the children of the local parochial school. A spirited effort by Town Commissioner Norman Flax to have adequate accommodations for these children to and from the schools has met apparent failure and unless more and determined efforts are forthcoming the project will no doubt fall by the wayside, just as it did a number of years ago. This is not our only fight with the Board of Education. I have in mind the much-needed improvements for our local public school also. While just about every other town in the county system has had many improvements, many lavish, the over-crowded situation still is permitted to exist in our local school. As far as I can determine, exactly nothing is planned for the Emmitsburg school in the line of improvements in the near future. To get back to the original paragraph of this column, the transportation and the manner in which it is administered, a more concerted form of action is required from all of us. Wednesday's weather was a perfect sample of just what these pupils are forced to endure. Rain, snow and sleet continued to pour down while the little tots were again forced to stand on the public square for at least half an hour while others are made to walk from one school to the other. This discrimination in one of its lowest forms in my opinion. Granted, transportation is provided but rescheduling is needed or else more busses. There should be no waiting period for these children. Parents trust school officials to look after the welfare of these little ones. Letting them run at large with little or no supervision while on the square is a breach of trust and it is inevitable that some day some of them will receive serious harm, possibly fatal. When parents send their children to school they expect them to be in charge of the Board of Education until their return home. By Board of Education we mean all the way down the line from teachers to bus drivers. Another foolhardy practice, in my opinion, is the method of some of the drivers who stop right on the main Route 15 to discharge the little ones. Sooner or later some drunken driver, reckless driver, speeder, or what have you is going to crash into these busses or else overrun some of the children. This will be too late. There is absolutely no sane reason why these children can not be deposited safely on the school grounds. Now then, since one individual can't accomplish this mission I think it is time for our organizations to speak with some authority on the subject. After all, these are not only Catholic children, they are the youth of Emmitsburg - our citizens of tomorrow. Don't you honestly feel that they are entitled to protection?

Very little has come to the public's attention as to what is insidiously transpiring at Cullen Hospital near here. A movement has been afoot for some time to close the institution down. However, no explanation is being proffered as to what will become of the plant. Well let's go back a bit farther. Several years ago state authorities were seeking a location for a penal or corrective institution of some type and it is known that Frederick County was scrutinized with a fine toothed comb. No selection was made at that time due to quite a number of objections from different sources. The matter apparently rested for a while until someone came up with the brilliant idea of possibly converting the institution into this time of a confinement for wayward citizens. I feel that the people of Emmitsburg should take some interest in this matter and to make some effort to thwart the movement before we have some undesirable situation over which we will have absolutely no control.

Mt. St. Mary's Announces New Building Plans

A million dollar science building is in the planning stages for Mt. St. Mary's College, and the State Legislature is being asked to contribute half of the cost.

In a bill presented by Senator Samuel W. Barrick, the Legislature is being asked to authorize the state to borrow $500,000 toward the construction of the science laboratory.

Monsignor William F. Culhane, vice president of the college, who seemed most optimistic this week that state approval would be given, said that the Mount already has the other $500,000 needed for the structure.

The money is being sought on a matching fund basis similar to that used in granting money to several other privately operated colleges and universities in the state. Johns Hopkins and Washington College, Chestertown, were two schools which in recent years, have been granted state aid Senator Barrick said.

Monsignor Culhane said that plans are still in the preliminary stages for the proposed science structure, but that if the present tentative schedule can be maintained, work should start on the new building by January of 1962.

One of the most important features of the proposed science laboratory is that it would include modern nuclear physics facilities, enabling Mount students to major in this field of science. To date Mount students can only major in chemistry and biology in the science field.

Monsignor Culhane said it has long been recognized that the science facilities would have to be increased at the school to keep in pace with modern higher education.

The proposed structure will be in keeping with the architecture employed in other buildings on the campus. It will also be built of the same type of field stone. The structure will be three stories high, and will be located between the present Pangborn Hall and the new Library.

It will have seven laboratories, three for physics, two for chemistry and two for biology; and about six classrooms. The physics department will be located on the first floor, the biology department on the second floor and the chemistry department on the third floor.

Monsignor Culhane said that at present science facilities are "pretty well spread" about the campus. When the proposed building is ready for occupancy, rooms now being used for these classes, will be devoted to other instruction.

The proposed science laboratory is just one part of a major enlargement of the facilities at Mt. St. Mary's. Plans have already been completed for a Central Union building to house a dining room, snack area and general student accommodations; and for a new dormitory. These buildings are estimated to cost about 1.5 million dollars.

A new library was opened last October.

Monsignor Culhane said that all the expenditures will only increase the college enrollment capacity to about 100 more students for a total of about 770. He said the building projects are mainly to relieve the congested condition now at the school and to keep abreast of the times.

At the present some 100 Mount students have to live off campus.

Heavy Damage In Car Collision Near Thurmont

Steven E. MacArthur, 10, of Providence, R. I., was taken to Frederick Memorial Hospital with lacerations of the forehead after an accident Monday at 4:50 p. m. on U. S. 15 one-half mile north of Thurmont.

Also injured in the accident was Jean Whittier, 48, of Providence who has possible broken ribs and facial contusions.

The accident occurred when an auto driven by Whitmore Whittier, 44, of Providence, which was traveling south on U. S. 15, attempted to make a left turn into a gasoline station and crossed the center of the highway 500 feet before an intersection, Trooper W. F. Davis reported.

The Whittier car was struck by another auto being driven north by Robert Charles Wormley, 45, of Emmitsburg, Maryland State Police said. No charges were filed and no damage estimate in the accident was given immediately.

Mount Coach Received Coveted Trophy

Future Teachers Conduct Workshop

The Sisters of the Juniorate, tomorrow's teachers in the many schools conducted by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, participated recently in a workshop at the Saint Joseph College campus. The program, entitled "The Community's Present Program in the Field of Social Service," was held to offer the young Sisters a picture of the various phases of the Community's activities.

The presentation, the first of a series, featured experts in the fields in which the Daughters of Charity are active in their missions. Their lectures were designed to communicate to the Sisters in training the essence of the mission activities of the Sisters.

Topics considered in the initial workshop included a historical perspective, "Institutions Serving Dependent and Neglected Children," presented in part by Sister Dolores speaking on "Their Changing Role in Our Society." Sister Zita lead the segment of the activities on the "Fundamental Principles on Visiting the Poor in Their Own Homes." Sister Serena and Sister Anna Marie were chairmen of the two-phase discussions which also illustrated the role of the Daughters of Charity in diocesan Catholic charities and the social service departments in hospitals.

Other topics involved in the program were "The Care and Treatment of Disturbed Children," delivered by Sister Anna Marie and including material on preventive work that can be accomplished by the teaching Sister. Following a film and discussion on "Diagnostic and Treatment Services for the Mentally Retarded," Sister Serena led the group consideration of "Foreseeable Adaptations in the Community's Involvement in Works of Social Service."

The Juniorate College, a modern unit completed and dedicated at the Saint Joseph Central House in 1959, is officially known as Immaculate Juniorate. Complete college training for Sisters preparing for the educational field is offered at the Immaculate Juniorate.

The tenth anniversary of the dedication of the new building at Incarnation United Church of Christ in Emmitsburg, will be observed with a special service on Palm Sunday, March 26 at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Edmund P. Welker, pastor at the time of the dedication, will preach the anniversary sermon. Rev. Welker is now pastor of the Carroll charge of Potomac Synod of the United Church of Christ.

A special program of music is planned for the service and Mrs. George J. Martin will be the vocal soloist. The young people's choir of St. James United Church of Christ, R. I., Littlestown, will be guest singers. St. James Church also is served by the present pastor, Rev. John C. Chatlos.

Mrs. E. L. Higbee, widow of a prominent former pastor of the church, will preside at the console of the organ for the musical program.

The present building was built in 1950 and was dedicated on Easter Sunday, March 25, 1951. The original brick building of Incarnation Church dates back to 1868.

This building was destroyed by fire on February 26, 1950. Just four days after the fire the congregation gathered at the parsonage to consider the possibility of rebuilding. Since the walls of the burned structure were determined usable they now form the shell of the new structure which has a completely new floor plan from the original edifice. The church of the present church was dedicated to the memory of Rev. Elman Lewis Higbee who served as pastor of the Incarnation Congregation almost 30 years. The nave of the church has 20 pews with a seating capacity of 160. The balcony seats an additional 50 persons. There are six stained-glass memorial windows in the nave. The electro-pneumatic pipe organ in the chancel was designed and installed by Furst Church Organ of York, Pa. The church tower is of the Spanish mission type and it houses the bell which weighs 704 pounds.

The building committee for this reconstruction consisted of the following: Walter A. Simpson, chairman; Glenn B. Springer, treasurer; George J. Martin, Henry H. Springer, D. Fred Wolfe, Donald Crouse, Henry G. Hoke, Mrs. Charles McNair, Mrs. George Ginnell and the Rev. Mr. Edmund P. Welker, ex-officio. Henry Springer drew the plans for the building and served as head carpenter during its construction.

Sizeable donations of cash and volunteered services were made by a number of the patriotic and church organizations and interested individuals of Emmitsburg during the reconstruction of the building. Contributions were also made by the churches of the town and many of the neighboring churches nearby. The cost of the present building was $22,812. During the period of construction regular weekly services of worship were held by the congregation at Trinity Methodist Church which also is located in Emmitsburg.

CYO Group To Present Last Lenten Film

The religious committee of the Seton Catholic Youth Organization, Emmitsburg, announces that on this Friday night at 8:15 in St. Joseph's High School, it will show a full-length movie about the events of the last days of Jesus on this earth—including the Last Supper, His crucifixion and resurrection. This will be the last movie of the Lenten season and the public is invited to attend.

Laurence Orendorff is chairman of the committee, assisted by Theresa Weedon, Jeanne Wivell and Patrick Ott. Mrs. George Arnold is the adult advisor under whose direction the program has been conducted.

Play Presented Before PTA Group Tuesday

The Emmitsburg Public School PTA met at the school on Tuesday, March 21. Classrooms were open to visitation by parents from 7:30 to 8:00 o'clock.

President Harry Hahn presided over the business meeting and following the conclusion of the meeting the 11th grade presented the program for the evening.

A play, published by the National Education Assn., was first presented for American Education Week by the American History students of John Horine. The PTA presentation was portrayed by the same students under the direction of Marvin Laws, present American History instructor.

The play, entitled "Seeing Is Believing," was presented by the following students: William Zimmerman, Sharon Herring, James Houck, James Cornett, Katherine Richards, Holly Jones, Donald Sweeney, Judy Ridge, Jeanne Sharrer, Kenneth Swomley, Joyce Meadows, Ottolene Michaels, Barbara Baker, Alice Rodgers, Shirley Wagerman.

ON TV TONIGHT

A four-piece musical group, exponents of popular rhythm, will perform on television tonight when the group will appear on the "Bud-Dear Show over WJZ-TV, Baltimore.

The group which will appear on the magic screen will participate in the "Battle of the Bands" featured on the show. Members of the orchestra are Robert Rosensteel, drums, Harry Portner, lead guitar, John Balmer, piano, and Wayne Sanders, rhythm guitar.

Vehicles Crash At Zora

Three persons were injured when a station wagon and truck collided at the Zora intersection Saturday afternoon at 12:15 o'clock.

State Police said George P. Hobart, 34, Plainfield, N. J., was driving east on the Sunshine Trail and sought to turn into the Fairfield Rd. at the intersection. When he did his vehicle collided with a westbound truck driven by John E. Cullison, 29, Fairfield Rd. Damage was estimated at $800 to the station wagon and $200 to the truck.

Cullison and Mr. and Mrs. Hobart were taken to the Warner Hospital in the Gettysburg Firemen's ambulance. Cullison was found to have lacerations of both lips, scalp and wrist and a puncture wound of the right lower leg. Mrs. Hobart has possible fractures of the right ankle and ribs.

Drivers Charged

Two drivers have been charged by Pennsylvania State Police before Justice of the Peace John O. Whitman, Cumberland Twp. He has sent 10-day notices to Robert Lee Holmes, Emmitsburg, for speeding at 60 miles per hour and Francis J. McNulty of Mt. St. Mary's College for overtaking and passing on a grade.

MSM Gleemen

Announce

Busy Schedule

The Mount St. Mary's College Glee Club, under the direction of the Rev. David W. Shaum, will present a program of Afternoon Melodies at the Walkersville High School, on March 24 at 1:45 p. m. The concert, held under the auspices of the music department of the high school, will mark the gleemen's first appearance at the Frederick County school.

In addition to the choral compositions offered by the glee club, two close harmony groups, The Troubadours and The We-Three Trio, will present several novelty numbers. Thomas J. Tobin, tenor, and Jose G. Terrasa, pianist, will be heard in solo offerings.

A busy program has been announced through the spring term by Father Shaum. Scheduled dates are as follows: April 12, Bishop McDevitt High School, Harrisburg, Pa., 1:45 p. m.; 1b, St. Peter's Hospital School of Nursing, New Brunswick, N. J.; 15-16, Catholic Intercollegiate Glee Club Festival Association Congress, Jersey City, N. J.; 19, Joint concert with Mercy Hospital Nursing School Glee Club in ballroom of Francis Scott Key Hotel, Frederick, 8:30 p. m.; 23, Joint concert with Dunbarton Holy Cross College, Washington, D. C. 5 p. m.; 30, Joint concert with Mount Meroy College Glee Club, Pittsburgh, Pa., 2:30 p. m.; Joint concert with Seton Hill College Glee Club, Greensburg, Pa., 8 p. m.

May 4, Joint concert and reception with Villa Julie Junior College Glee Club, Stevenson, Md., 6 p. m.; 7, Solemn High Mass, Mount St. Mary's College Chapel, 11 a. m.; Parents Day Program, featuring joint concert with Dunbarton College at 3 p. m. on the Mount campus; 14, Joint concert with Mount St. Agnes College Glee Club, Baltimore, at 5 p. m. at Mt. Washington, Md.

The Glee Club will hold its annual elections for officers on May 15 and close out the year with a farewell dinner on May 18 at 7 p. m. at the Copper Kettle, Chambersburg, Pa.

Water Company

Authorizes Survey

At a meeting in Baltimore several weeks ago, attended by the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg, representatives of the Public Service Commission, representatives of the Maryland Department of Health, officials of the Water Company and the Fire Company, it was suggested that an engineering concern be employed to survey the Emmitsburg Water system and to make recommendations for its improvements.

This suggestion has been complied with and Whitman, Reardon and Associates, an Engineering concern located in Baltimore, has already been secured to make the survey. In general, they have been instructed to recommend improvements which will take into account the needs of St. Joseph College, Mt. St. Mary's College and the community of Emmitsburg. They have been instructed to project the growth of our system to a reasonable date in the future so that money spent for improvements today will not have to be duplicated for many years to come.

Tourney Ends; Mountaineers Place Fourth

Coach Jim Phelan's Blue and White Mountaineer basketball squad wound up its court season in a blaze of glory despite being eliminated from the NCAA playoffs.

Phelan's team, alleged by many to be the greatest in the history of the local college, earned its way into the playoffs after winning the Mason-Dixon Conference crown and coming out victorious in the Eastern Regional playoffs.

Journeying to Evansville, Ind., the Mounties easily mopped up Austin Peay 96-78. That was as far as the playoffs went as far as the locals were concerned. In the Wittenberg contest Friday night the Emmitsburg outfit fell victim to a fine performance by George Fisher, 6'7 senior. Fisher held to eight points in the first half, hit the cords for 14 in the second half to lead his team to victory.

There was little to choose between the teams throughout the first half which ended with Wittenberg on top 27-25. The score was deadlocked upon three occasions.

Fisher tabbed four fast points to open the second half as Wittenberg moved ahead 31-27. After 5:30 the score was 36-31 and then the Mount went cold, being held scoreless for four minutes as the Tigers shot their lead to 41-31.

The defense-minded Tigers protected their lead thereafter by controlling both boards and halting the Mount offense with an effective zone defense.

The loss stopped a 14-game winning streak for Mt. St. Mary's whose record is now 26-4. The triumph was the 15th straight for Wittenberg for an overall 24-4 mark.

John O'Reilly and Dick Talley each landed 18 points for the Mountaineers.

Terry Slattery sank a 15-foot shot in the final 20 seconds of play to give South Dakota State a thrilling 77-76 victory of Mt. St. Mary's in the consolation game of the small college NCAA basketball tournament at Evansville, Saturday night. Wittenberg of Springfield, Ohio, took the national title by nipping Southeast Missouri 42-38.

From start to finish in Saturday's game the lead changed hands throughout. At half time the Jackrabbits held a scant 41-40 lead.

Shortly after intermission Mt. St. Mary's took the lead twice before dropped back again 53-52. Dick Talley landed a shot for the Mount at that point and then Coach Phelan's outfit held the lead 68-62 until five minutes remained. South Dakota, sparked by Don Jacobsen, pulled up to a 73-73 deadlock. After Dave Maloney looped a foul for the Mount to make it 74-73, Jacobsen hit on a jump to put his team in front 75-74.

With less than a minute of play remaining John O'Reilly hit for the Blue and White only to have Slattery come through with his 15-foot toss in the last seconds to give South Dakota the decision.

Five Mount players hit in double figures with O'Reilly leading the pack with 16. Jacobsen topped all scorers with 28.

Cullen Hospital

May Be Closed

The State Board of Health said this week that the Victor Cullen State Hospital near Sabillasville would be available for other State use by January, 1963, if patients can be relocated.

Earlier, the board had approved the transfer of another tuberculosis hospital at Henryton in Carroll County for uses as a training school.

Residents of the area protested the transfer of the property to the Department of Public Welfare. Health department officials said the action on the Western Maryland hospital was taken in response to a letter from Thomas J. S. Waxter, head of the State Welfare Department.

Mr. Waxter would say only that his department was interested in the use of any hospital properties that could be spared by the health department.

Opponents of the Henryton transfer had suggested that the Sabillasville hospital would be better suited for conversion to a training school.

They cited the fact that it was farther from residential areas and that the new jobs would be welcomed in the area.

Fantasyland Opening On Palm Sunday

"Mother Goose" still dominates Fantasyland Park at Gettysburg. The huge replica speaks to children who gather before it—pro-

FANTASYLAND EXPANDED; OPENS SUNDAY

GETTYSBURG, Pa.—Workmen this week were completing additions to Fantasyland, Gettysburg's storyland park, in preparation for the scheduled opening on Palm Sunday.

The winter's heavy snows prevented them from beginning work until late February but an oversized staff has planted more than 10,000 Holland hybrid tulip, hyacinth and daffodil bulbs under direction of Albert Bos of Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dick, owners of the Fantasyland, believe the blooms will create a sea of color throughout the wooded area by the stream, Santa's Village, Fairy Lake and the Lollipop tree. Girls in authentic Dutch costumes will be present to show the public the blooms, explain their names and even provide information on where they may be obtained if individuals care to duplicate the gardens around their own homes.

While some workmen were engaged in the new plantings others are constructing an addition to the gift shop, storage and office space. A new wide flagstone veranda is being placed overlooking the main garden and Mother Goose to permit adults to rest while youngsters explore the wonders of the Fantasyland.

A 36-foot carousel has been added with white horses decorated in gold and jewels. The 1863 train—the Cannonball Express—is being refurbished and will make its first run of the season on Palm Sunday.

New cutouts have been added to the Old Lady in the Shoe, Mary and her Little Lamb and Jack and Jill at the Wishing Well.

Peter Rabbit and Bo Peep and her baby lamb will be present in person during the Easter season. When the weather warms an Italian street-organ and ringtail monkey in clothes, will be added to the park's attractions.

A new pink barn has been constructed to house dozens of colored baby chicks and yellow ducks. New riddles have been placed throughout the wooded area and an oversized owl named Yehudi, has been added.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick have announced they plan to make Fantasyland known not only as an amusement park, but as a "restful haven of beauty. A spot to get away from the tensions of life while spending a few hours among the friendly trees."

Martin Company Benefits State

BALTIMORE—Maryland business received a direct $14.3 million shot in the arm in 1960 from the Martin Company's Baltimore division as the company concentrated its efforts on space and dividing one of the "wonders" of the park. Numerous additions have been made to the park including an 1863 train which hauls missile developments. More than $8 million of the total spent by Martin-Baltimore in Maryland went to small businesses. A small business is defined as one which has fewer than 500 employees and is not dominant in its field. These figures do not include the effect of Martin's $100 million annual payroll upon the Baltimore economy.

The division spent $15.54 in Maryland out of every $100 it expended for all purchases. Also included in the totals are purchases made by the Research Institute for Advanced Study and the Nuclear division, both in Baltimore. A total of 898 firms in Maryland were affected by Martin-Baltimore purchases.

The division's total contract to 4545 firms in 44 states and the District of Columbia amounted to more than $92.3 million in '60. The figure is 56.8% of sales for the year at Martin-Baltimore, which totaled more than $162 million.

U. S. firms received 85,472 individual orders from the division for a wide variety of services and goods. Of this amount 63,617 or 74.7% went to 3,280 of the nation's small businesses.

More than $53.5 million or 58% of Martin-Baltimore's purchases were placed with firms in 24 states with major areas of substantial labor surplus, including Maryland.

Firms in Maryland's neighboring states on the East Coast also benefited from Martin-Baltimore's purchasing with Pennsylvania companies receiving $6.1 million in subcontracts. New York firms, $8.3 million; New Jersey, $2.5 million; and Massachusetts, nearly $2.2 million.

Nationally, the Martin Company paid out a total of $285,505,583 from all its divisions for goods and services in 47 states last year. More than $92.6 million went to 8,855 small businesses in the nation.

Of the total 12,126 suppliers to the company, 73% were small business firms. The total expenditures with small and large firms amounted to nearly half of the company's 1960 sales total of $651,227,029.

Other divisions of the Martin Company did an additional $1.9 million in business in Maryland. The Orlando and Cocoa, Fla. divisions placed $1.7 million in orders with companies in the state while Denver spent $230,570.

Maryland ranked seventh among the states in the amount of business done with firms by all Martin Co. divisions.

Clergyman Will Lecture On Sacred Music

Msgr. Francis P. Schmitt, Director of the Choir at Father Flanagan's Home for Boys, in Boys Town, Nebraska, will deliver a lecture on Sacred Music on Saturday, March 25 at Saint Joseph College. The presentation is the eighth program of the Institute of Fine Arts in a Christian Culture, which is supervised by Donald J. Waters, M.F.A., Associate Professor of Speech and drama at Saint Joseph College.

Monsignor Schmitt, an authority on liturgical music, began the music program at Boys Town and has headed that department since 1941. Born at West Point, Nebraska, he was graduated from St. Lawrence preparatory school at Mount Calvary, Wisconsin, and St. Paul Seminary at St. Paul, Minn. Assigned to Boys Town since ordination in 1941, Msgr. Schmitt studied choral music in Europe, traveling widely in conjunction with his study of contemporary and ancient church music.

Editor of the music quarterly, Caecilia, Msgr. Schmitt also serves as director of music for the Archdiocese of Omaha. He conducts the annual Boys Town liturgical music workshop, a seminar program which he founded eight years ago.

The ten-program Institute on the Fine Arts in a Christian Culture, offered by Saint Joseph College, is financed by a grant from the Esso Education Foundation. The remaining lectures of the Institute are Graphic Arts, to be presented by John Andrews, book illustrator and specialist in wood engraving, on April 15; and Sculpture, a lecture by Anne Martin, teacher of sculpture at City College of New York, scheduled for May 13.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Cost Of Living
BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 23—From a strictly statistical point, the government's cost-of-living index today stands at 128 compared with 110 ten years ago and 60 twenty years ago. However, the great difference is due to the changes made by Washington in the things included. No Water, Gas, Or Electric Bills

When I was a boy our water came from rain on the roof which we collected in a brick cistern in the cellar of the house. Every night my father would pump this water from the cistern to a tank on the top floor of our house. This gave us running water on all floors. Our heat came from anthracite coal and my job each morning was to get up at six o'clock and build a coal fire in the kitchen stove. There were no incandescent lamps or electrical gadgets in those days. We were happy with kerosene lamps and candles. Today the water, gas, and electric bills amount to about $20.00 per month for the family.

Monday was then wash day, and mother used her own homemade soaps which she had allowed to dry in the attic. We heated the house with a coal furnace. My father put in the coal four times a day and I "shook down" the fire and took out the ashes. Moreover, these ashes were carefully sifted by me and 20% of them were used over again. There were no vacuum cleaners. My mother every Friday would sprinkle tea leaves on the carpets to "lay the dust" while sweeping the carpets with a broom. There was then only one laundry in Gloucester, a city of 15,000-20,000 people. "Dry-cleaning" we never heard of! But we all were well dressed and happy. My father owned the leading "dry-goods" store of the city. He personally unlocked the store door every day (except Sundays) at 7:00 A. M. and personally locked the door at 6:00 P. M.

Food And Clothing
Then there were no super markets, but many grocery, meat, and fish stores all competing one with another. Prices of food are higher today but so many items are frozen or precooked that it greatly simplifies housework. As a result the housewife today has time to do outside work, from which she gets more than enough money to pay the extra food bills. My mother had a kitchen maid to whom she paid $3.50 per week. This would cost $30 or more per week today, but owing to these new frozen and precooked foods very few homes need any maids. Hence, although the food bills are higher, yet the saving in the homes is tremendous. My mother made my sister's clothes and my pants. These I pressed at night by carefully folding and sleeping upon them.

Looking back on those happy days, the only big price increase I see at present is in haircuts, which were then only twenty-five cents. We all shaved ourselves with long-blade razors. "Gillettes" were never heard of. There was no bathroom; we shaved and washed in cold water, and sometimes had to crack the ice to get the water. But we were healthy and happy. We, moreover, were taught to take good care of our clothing because it had to be passed down to sisters and brothers.

Rents And Automobiles
Annual Income Food Clothing Housing $ 6,000 $1650 $720 (40%) $1595 10,000 1900 1100 (30%) 2700

In the above I have not specified the cost of educating the two children,—due to scholarships, government aid, summer work and other factors. Hence, to the extent that the father is obliged to pay toward this, something must be pared off all the six items above except Church.

I repeat: This shows that "Recreation" is the reason for today's increased cost of living. Certainly gifts to benevolence (hospitals, etc.) and the church should be increased rather than Rents are considerably higher today than they were 20 to 40 years ago; but the tenant gets a far better place to live. Furthermore, a family can now buy a house at a low rate of interest, paying only $500 or less down with 20 years in which to pay the mortgage. This situation did not exist 20-30 years ago. Furthermore, it is usually easy to rent a room which will bring in ten dollars per week. Renting a room was in my day impossible. Shoes cost double now; but we walk so little that they cost less per year. Almost everyone rides to school or to work, or even to play, in school-operated buses or in their own automobiles. Speaking of autos, a new Ford car 40 years ago sold for $500, compared with over $2,000 today; but you can today buy a good second-hand Ford with a good self-starter for $500 and it is a much better car than the new Ford of 40 years ago. Even with the increased cost of college education any worthy boy can get a scholarship, and the increased income which he now receives the first few years after graduating more than offsets the increased cost of tuition.

The real reason for the present "high cost of living" comes from the money spent for recreation, travel, and other diversions. There were no radios or televisions when I was a young man and the entrance fee to movies was only a dime or 20 cents. Nor were there any country clubs or cocktail parties.

In closing let me give the average budget today of a family of four (for each additional child the father must increase his income).

Transpor Church & Recreation
$865 (40%) $270 (5%) $600 1100 (40%) 700 (7%) 1800

decreased. Whether or not the $6000-man can save anything is a question, although money spent wisely on the two children should be a good investment. The man getting $10,000 should, however, save something (perhaps 6%) for investing in good stocks in addition to educating his two children.

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

BABY'S FIRST SOLID FOODS

By Jean Brennan
'Junket' Home Service Bureau
The idea of introducing solid foods into a baby's diet often fills young mothers with apprehension. No need to fret, though, as feeding solids is easy.

Pediatricians today believe in babies sampling solids at an early age—between one and four months depending on the baby's needs, and the pediatrician's inclinations.

The very first solid food to touch an infant's lips is usually cereal, one of the pre-cooked types that is prepared by adding warm formula and stirring to the proper consistency.

Most babies are surprised by the texture at first and react disdainfully. After getting used to the idea, they become more enthusiastic and the quantities consumed (which started with one teaspoon) increase accordingly.

Fruit, the strained baby type in jars, can be started at the same time as cereal. It's a rare infant who doesn't get excited and smack his lips over this delight. Apples, peaches, pears, apricots, prunes, pineapple and banana are among the popular fruits given.

Fresh bananas can also be easily prepared at home. Use a fairly ripe one, mash finely with a fork, and if necessary, add a little formula to thin the mashed banana to the right consistency.

After two to four weeks of cereal and fruit, strained baby vegetables can be added to the menu. Later, usually between the age of two and six months, meat and eggs can be introduced.

At this point, a baby is having pretty well-rounded meals. The only problem that sometimes arises to disturb mothers is a growing lack of interest in milk.

If an infant seems more interested in his solid foods and is neglecting his bottle or cup, a simple custard is often the solution. Custards prepared with milk can get several more ounces into him each day.

The popular rennet - custards, quickly made with warm milk rather than boiled, are well accepted. Teething infants find them cooling and pleasing because of the many flavors available. The desserts are taken well into the teen years and are then popular family desserts.

Dr. Kenneth S. Shepard, Director of the Well Baby Clinics at Northwestern University School of Medicine and a nationally known pediatrician, suggests that these particular desserts be introduced with the noon feeding when baby reaches the age of six months.

In the long run a good disposition is better than good looks.

Recent Changes
In Social Security

A recent change in the social security law makes it possible to pay monthly benefits to disabled workers at any age provided the worker is severely disabled and meets certain length of work requirements.

A second major change substantially reduces the amount of work under social security which is required in order to draw benefits. Many people who have previously been told that they were not eligible for benefits may now qualify because of this change.

Beginning in 1961, people already receiving social security checks will benefit from the third major change. These beneficiaries who work and have earnings over $1200 per year, will lose less of their social security benefits than they would have under the old law.

These major changes and the other minor changes are explained in more detail in a pamphlet entitled "Social Security Amendments of 1960". Free copies are available at your local social security district office. Simply ask for pamphlet No. 1960-1.

Keep The Cookie Jar Full!

The perfect "perk-up" between meals is a tall glass of milk and a couple of cookies.

You'll find it difficult to keep the cookie jar filled with these coconut-oatmeal cookies . . . but at least they are easy to make! The extra-special thing about them is the brand new packaged grated coconut that is used! This new product adds wonderful fresh coconut flavor to anything — try it stirred into ice cream . . . sprinkle cereal and salads with it . . . toast it and use it to decorate a frosted cake.

COCONUT OATMEAL MACAROONS

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder 1 egg unbeaten
1/2 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 teaspoon soda 1/2 cup rolled oats, quick or old-fashioned, uncooked
1/2 cup butter or margarine 2 cups Baker's Fine-Grated Coconut

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and soda, and sift again. Cream shortening, add sugars gradually, and beat well. Add flour, rolled oats, and coconut and mix thoroughly. Shape dough in small balls and place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

Notable Progress Made
In Arab World Nursing

First year students at Dr. Khalidy's nursing school in Beirut take notes in an anatomy course. Candidates must prove their qualifications and aptitudes for the nursing profession during a six-month probationary period.

The Eastern Mediterranean region has achieved remarkable progress in nursing during the past decade. Roughly two-thirds of the ninety schools now training nurses in the area were set up during the last ten years.

Nursing in the Arab countries is continuing to gain ground and undergo revolutionary change. The past hasty and indiscriminate recruitment of young women is giving way to the staffing of hospitals and public health services with professionally qualified nurses. The long disdained career of nursing now is widely accepted and honored by Arab women.

The shortage of trained nurses remains a major deterrent to the development of health programs in most countries of the region, but a good start has been made during the past few years to overcome this hurdle.

One of the earliest and most outstanding efforts to increase the number of professionally trained nurses in the area was initiated by Dr. Mustafa Khalidy, a Beirut, Lebanon, physician and surgeon, and former professor of gynecology and obstetrics at the American University of Beirut. On his own initiative he established the National School of Nursing.

Dr. Khalidy's school is particularly noteworthy in that it is the only one in Lebanon, and one of the few in the Arab world with free tuition. The school is financed by Dr. Khalidy himself and a few generous donors. Lebanese hospitals have provided most of the equipment.

The school's students are given practical classroom and on-the-job training in home and hospital nursing, regular school health service, nutritional work, midwifery, public health, and professional assistance to physicians and surgeons. The normal course is for three years, and recently an additional one year course in midwifery has been established.

Dr. Khalidy's school in Beirut is only one example of the efforts being undertaken by both government and private organizations to multiply the number of qualified nurses available to play their major role in the struggle to improve general health conditions in the Arab countries.

The Higher Institute of Nursing in Alexandria, UAR, provides university-level training for nursing students from Iran, Sudan and both regions of the UAR. The thirteen other nursing schools in the UAR Southern (Egyptian) Region have felt, and reacted to the impact of the Institute's highly professional training.

Enrollment records of schools throughout the area show a marked increase of suitable candidates for nurses' training. The Khartoum College of Nursing, for example, accepted 16 girls in the fall of 1960 as compared with two in 1958. The aforementioned Alexandria Institute has seen its enrollment increase from 22 in 1955 to 50 in 1960. There are similar, equally expanding and progressive nursing schools in all of the Arab countries.

Still, the problem of the shortage of nurses is still some distance from solution. The intensity of current activity is the best indication that responsible and interested persons have no intention to relax their efforts until well-trained, experienced nurses are plentiful throughout the Arab world.

SPORTS AFIELD

It has often been said that to be a successful angler one must have great patience. This statement is flatly contradicted by Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. He says that a man should be impatient. Here's why.

An Angler who spends hour upon hour fishing, perhaps without even a strike, does so because he enjoys being out there—it's probably, whether he realizes it or not, a love of nature that keeps him out. All of which isn't denying, of course, that he'll enjoy it all the more if he's getting a reasonable number of fish.

There is a saying among guides all over the country that, granting anywhere nearly equal skill, the man who stays out six hours will catch twice as many bass as one who stays out only three hours. In fact probably in the long run the six-hour man will get four or five times as many as the three-hour man. Why? Because often even the best angler, guide or amateur, will spend perhaps two or three hours catching his first bass of the day. That is, discovering in what sort of spots they're hitting that day, what lure and retrieve they want, how deep to fish the lure, and such things. Having found out the answers, he may pick up his limit of very nice bass in less than half an hour—and then keep on catching and releasing them, for sport.

It's in all this that his being impatient comes in so useful. He won't spend perhaps hours fishing fruitlessly where there are no fish, or at least no feeding fish, and he's unlikely to stick to one or two methods that are doing no good at the time; he'll try many methods.

Which means that for the best results his impatience must be mixed with a strong bump of curiosity, a love of experimentation—and anyone who hasn't got that can develop it easily if he tries. For he must have it if he's to be successful consistently, not merely when the fish happen to want one of the two or three methods he's been using.

What about the fact that, nearly everywhere, there are times when bass seem to feed little or not at all, when even the best angler can do no good?

That, really, is one of the main reasons why the good bass fishermen will stay out so long. Unless the fishing is exceptionally poor at the place, at least some fish are sure to feed some time during the day. By staying out long enough, you're sure to be there when that happens, so you'll catch some if you're working things at all right.

Surplus Grains
Helping Livestock

Government reserve stocks of feed grains are helping maintain livestock herds in 136 counties of 11 States designated as emergency areas under the livestock feed program. Chairman William L. Dudley of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee stated this week.

Under this emergency program, Commodity Credit Corporation-owned feed grains are sold to eligible producers at current support prices in areas designated as Don't blindfold him!

The man in this picture is a cancer research scientist. The device he is using looks like something out of science fiction—but actually, it's an electron microscope. It shows the sub-microscopic detail of a cancer cell—magnified 100,000 times.

The cost of one electron microscope is $35,000. Some of the equipment needed for cancer research is even more expensive.

Today, in research centers throughout the country, 1300 scientists, supported by American Cancer Society funds, are at work searching for the cause of cancer—and, ultimately, ways to prevent it.

The American Cancer Society grants millions of dollars for research on such projects as the study of viruses as a possible cause of cancer—the development of hormone treatments for cancer—the control of cancer by drugs. Life-and-death projects.

Delicious Dish for Lent

The homemaker who stocks evaporated milk, macaroni products, pimiento-stuffed olives and canned tuna can prepare many tempting dishes suitable for meatless meals during the Lenten season. Particularly appealing is a loaf in which elbow macaroni, tuna and sliced olives are combined with a quick-as-a-wink cheese sauce which cooks in only three minutes. It is the better blending qualities of Carnation evaporated milk that make this cooking miracle possible. You are assured a smooth, velvety textured sauce every time the recipe is used.

MACARONI TUNA LOAF
(Makes about 8 servings)

Beat 4 eggs slightly; add one-half cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives, 2 tablespoons grated onion, 2 cups (2 6 1/2 to 7-ounce cans each) drained, flaked tuna and 1 cup soft bread crumbs. Add 1 tablespoon salt to 3 quarts rapidly boiling water. Gradually add 2 cups elbow macaroni (8-ounces) so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Combine egg mixture, macaroni, 2 1/2 cups 3-Minute Cheese Sauce* and 1/4 cup melted butter. Line bottom of 9x5x3-inch loaf pan with aluminum foil. Butter foil well. Turn macaroni mixture into pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 1 hour, 15 minutes. May be served warm or cold.
*For 2 1/2 cups 3-Minute Cheese Sauce: Simmer 1 1/2 cups (large can) undiluted evaporated milk with 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon dry mustard and 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish to just below boiling (about 2 minutes). Add 2 cups (about 8 ounces) grated process American cheese. Stir over low heat until cheese melts about 1 minute longer).

"emergency" because natural disasters have created feed shortages. The CCC stocks acquired under the price-support operation supplement feed supplies in these areas, the Chairman said.

Legislation authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to sell feed grains at current support prices to provide feed for livestock where he determines there is an emergency. After certification by the Governor of a State that an area is in need of assistance, the Secretary can designate an emergency area within that State if he decides there is a feed shortage as a result of flood, drought, hurricane, tornado, earthquake or other catastrophe—including disease or insect infestation.

States which currently have counties or parishes designated as emergency areas include Mississippi, Louisiana, Wyoming, South Dakota, Utah, Wisconsin, Nevada, Michigan, Idaho, Arizona, and New Mexico.

Approximately 858,000 bushels of corn, 664,000 bushels of barley, 2,039,000 bushels of oats, and 740,000 hundredweight of grain sorghums from the CCC inventory have been sold during the period Jan. 1, 1960 through Feb. 17, 1961 under this emergency program to feed livestock in distressed areas.

OUTDOOR TIPS

FISHING

Live bait one of your problems? Place some punctured beer cans in shallow water. It won't be long before soft-shelled crayfish in the area are calling the cans home-sweet-home. Retrieve the cans and you've enough bait to see you through a day's fishing.

ing.

Or, if you'd rather use worms here's a way to pick up 200 lively ones—but fast. Mash up the hulls of 20 black walnuts in three gallons of water. Splash the magic liquid over a two-foot-square area. Get ready! In 15 seconds here come the worms. Just pick'em up.

HUNTING

Has someone ever claimed your buck after he's been bagged and tagged by you? It may be easy to switch tags, but if you write your name on a small slip of paper, slit the hide of the animal in an inconspicuous spot and slip in the proof, your troubles will be over on that score.

If lost duck-decoy anchors have been one of your problems, read on. This sportsman uses wheel balancing weights. Your neighborhood garage is an ideal source. The "U" form sinks into the bottom and holds—but good.

A handful of metal-case shells rattling about loose in your pocket may spook game just when you're trying to make like Daniel Boone. Put a rubber band around them to keep 'em quiet.

CAMPING

To keep toilet tissue dry in a damp camp put it in a discarded two-pound coffee can. It fits the roll and solves the problem.

And here's another wet-weather tip: A sure-fire fire starter is saw dust mixed with a small amount of kerosene. Pack the mixture up in screwtop cans or jars and remember to take it along on your next venture afield. It doesn't work if you leave it behind.

SHOOTING

For some cheap, fast-action target practice try small chunks of charcoal—briquettes are best. They explode when hit. It's so much fun you'll be out of ammo in no time. (Try for a $50 prize. Send your tip to AA Contest, Sports Afield, 959 8th Ave., New York 19, N. Y.)

SPORTING DOGS

If you want to make a retriever out of that floppy-eared pup try this: First throw out a sponge or old sock. When he's got that down pat, switch to a pine cone. By going from soft to hard objects he'll learn not to damage a mallard on opening day.

U. S. families spend an average of $19 a week for food. Last year retail grocery stores invested nearly $5.00 per family in newspaper advertising to help move their products from their shelves into the family larder.

Mathias Reports On This Week In Congress

By Charles McC. Mathias Jr.
(R.—6th Dist., Md.)

When this column goes to press, the House of Representatives should have started debate on proposals to amend the present Wage-Hour Laws. Already a great amount of interest is being shown by labor leaders, business men, and citizens in all areas of work. In order to help all interested parties know more about the issues the House will be debating and voting on, I will devote my report this week to minimum wage proposals.

The Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, provides for a minimum wage of not less than $1.00 an hour for the approximately 23.9 million employees presently covered. The House will be debating what changes should be made in this law.

The House Committee on Education and Labor has reported H.R. 3935 for consideration by the full House; this is known as the Roosevelt Bill. If enacted in its present form, this bill would raise the minimum wage to $1.15 an hour within the first two years and to $1.25 an hour thereafter. These provisions would apply to the 23.9 million workers presently covered by the minimum wage law.

The Roosevelt Bill would also bring an additional 4.3 million workers under coverage. The newly-covered workers would receive an initial $1.00 an hour wage with an escalator provision bringing them up to $1.25 an hour in the fourth year.

Another bill, expected to be offered as a substitute proposal, is H.R. 5560, known as the Ayres Bill. This bill would also raise the minimum wage of presently covered employees to $1.15 an hour and would establish a minimum wage of $1.00 for newly-covered workers.

One of the major differences in these two bills is the different criteria which would be used to determine what new workers would come under the minimum wage law. Presently, coverage is extended only to employees of industries engaged in interstate commerce. This principle for coverage has been tested and upheld many times in the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Ayres bill would extend the coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act to the employees of large interstate retail enterprises which have five or more establishments in two or more states. This would be an extension of but not a deviation from the present "interstate commerce concept." The Roosevelt Bill, with certain exceptions, would extend the coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act to employees of all retail and service enterprises which have an annual volume of sales of one million dollars or more. This "dollar test" would create an entirely new criteria for determination of eligibility, and coverage could be subsequently increased simply by lowering the dollar volume requirement.

The major differences will give rise to much discussion and debate both on the floor of the House of Representatives and throughout the entire nation. There are also many different technical differences in the two bills but up to this time most of the inquiries that have been made in my office have concerned themselves with the major differences.

How things get done as well as they do is one of the great mysteries, and also one of the great tributes to our system of government and private enterprise.

Read Luke 9:18-22.
If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9:23).

Vesper Point, a Christian Camp in Barbee, Indiana, overlooks two beautiful lakes. The seating arrangement among the green trees of the wooded ridge is one concrete block for each person.

The worship center is constructed of concrete blocks and a cross of rough tree limbs. It is a weather-beaten cross, a symbol of the one on which Jesus, the suffering servant, was crucified.

Once the cross was a frame used to crucify outcasts of earth. Now it towers over the world as a symbol of man's hope. The cross arm reaches out to all people—the crippled, the blind, the weak, and the strong, the poor and the wealthy, the ignorant and the educated—to bring them to God. The cross also points upward inspiring us to come to Him.

By denying ourselves and faithfully bearing our cross, we show forth our love and gratitude to our Redeemer, who suffered to save us from sin.

Prayer
O Lord, we give Thee praise for the hope Thou hast given us through Jesus Christ. Prevent us from ignoring, neglecting, or becoming indifferent to the cross He would have each of us to carry.

An albacore tagged by the Oregon Fish Commission was recovered ten months later and 5,000 miles away, off the coast of Japan.—Sports Afield.

In His Name. Amen.
Thought For The Day
Self-denial and cross-bearing are required of every Christian.

Interest On Bonds Due Government

Interest received during 1960 on U. S. savings bonds must be included in gross income reported on Federal income tax returns, Irving Machiz, Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, reminded bondholders this week.

"If you own U. S. savings bonds," he said, "you may elect to report the increase in redemption value of the bond each year or you may defer reporting the interest until the bonds are matured or cashed, in which case the interest is included in income that year."

"Once you elect to report interest each year, you must continue to do so for all bonds owned and those subsequently acquired. You may not change to another method unless you first receive permission to do so."

"If you are deferring the reporting of interest and wish to change to reporting the interest each year, you may do so without obtaining permission. However, in the year of change you must report all interest on all such bonds which you own and which was not previously reported."

"Taxpayers using the accrual method of reporting income must report interest on U. S. savings bonds each year as the interest accrues. They are not permitted to defer the reporting of such interest until the bonds are cashed or matured."

"Taxpayers who have any questions on this subject may contact their local Internal Revenue office," Mr. Machiz said.

SWIFT HOME of the Month

THE SYLVANIAN—

A Spacious, Rambling, Ranch Home

Like to entertain? Have a family that needs three or four spacious bedrooms? The "Sylvanian", with its flexible interior and room sizes that can be varied to meet individual needs, may be just the home for you. The modern "Sylvanian" features a living room with a large Pan-a-View window that brings the outdoors delightfully into the home. A carport, integrated garage, or garage and breezeway may be attached for additional functional space.

Especially designed for easy erection. The homeowner, who decides to build the "Sylvanian" with do-it-yourself labor, can save up to 50 per cent of the cost of a similar ready-built home.

Or the home may be contractor erected and owner finished. Whichever plan is used to build it, the "Sylvanian" is a lot of home for a moderate investment. For detailed description, full-color view, and floor plans on the "Sylvanian", write Swift Homes, Inc., Elizabeth, Pa.

Ford Broiler Efficiency Award

EAKER'S RECORD	408,000	2.3 lbs.	15.5¢
EXPECTED GOAL	300,000	2.3 lbs.	16¢

Detailed management is the key to success for Bruce Eaker, 39, winner of the Ford Farm Efficiency Award for broilers. He was given the award by Henry Ford II, chairman of the board and president, Ford Motor Company, in Dearborn, Mich., Feb. 16.

The Ford Farm Efficiency Awards were presented this year to 13 outstanding managers of family farms. Each winner produces a different farm or ranch product, and 13 states from California and Washington to Pennsylvania and North Carolina are represented.

Eaker owns a 150-acre farm near Wooddale, N. C., and raises cattle, corn, tobacco, and chickens.

Eaker and one helper handle

10 chicken units, each holding 4,500 birds. He produces 45,000 broilers every nine weeks, or 180,000 a year for a production cost of 15.57 cents per pound.

"I think the biggest problem is in the area of marketing," he says. "Our research and know-how in production have far exceeded our ability to market and distribute efficiently."

Eaker watches the market carefully, and calculates his costs down to the fraction of a cent per bird. Careful attention to a balanced feed, plus use of antibiotics, have kept the mortality of his flocks to less than one per cent.

Eaker is a graduate of the School of Agriculture of North Carolina State College.

Do You Know These Table Facts?

THAT: Table setting traditions are based on convenience for eating — and an attractive appearance.

THAT: Beauty is not the only reason sterling silver is desirable for flatware. It adjusts instantly to the temperature of the food — and to the temperature of the mouth — so that it is more pleasant to use than other metals. Additionally, it has no sensation of taste or texture.

THAT: Placing the forks on the left of the plate, and the spoons and knives on the right, is a holdover from the European style of eating, in which the fork is always used in the left hand. Begun for a practical reason, this division of silver frames the china and food, and is pleasing to the eye.

Correct setting for beginning of meal.

THAT: Salt shakers are a comparatively new invention. The use of an open salt dish with its beautiful sterling silver spoon at formal dinners is a reminder of the elegance of formal dining in past centuries, and a pleasant custom to maintain.

Looking Ahead
...by Dr. George S. Benson
DIRECTOR—NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

America's Vanishing Gold
From many sources, official and unofficial, we are hearing a great deal about America's vanishing gold. We are told that the United States government retains presently only $17 1/2 billion in gold and for the past three years has been losing gold at the rate of $3 1/2 billion a year. It is evident that if this continues we shall have no gold, or shall have additional foreign liabilities that further obligate whatever gold we have on hand.

We are also told that we already have foreign obligations consisting mostly of short-term government certificates to the tune of $19 billion. These creditors could also ask for gold in lieu of the certificates they hold. A rush by these creditors could deal us out of gold within a year. All this puts us in double jeopardy. In the first place, we must maintain the confidence of our foreign creditors so that they will not increasingly demand our gold.
Touche Many Lives
This is a realistic problem. It is not an imaginary one. If our gold vanishes, we then shall have only a managed currency with inflation no longer under control. Preserving our gold is vitaly important to the welfare of the American people. There are those who have paid insurance policies for the last 40 years in an attempt to have old age security. There are many widows and aged people now relying upon the savings of a lifetime, upon which they hope to live their remaining days. Even our vast Social Security program is extremely weak without a sound dollar. Maintaining the value of these dollars is a responsibility of our government.

What are the chief sources draining away our gold? It is simply that we are spending more money abroad than we are taking in from abroad. Involved, of course, is all of our foreign trade, which is not enough to equal, much less overcome, our other expenditures abroad. We do have a trade balance in commerce with other nations, but it is offset by the liberal aid we are extending to foreign countries. We are maintaining armed forces in many lands. This involves large expenditures wherever the forces are stationed.
An Unfavorable Balance
Americans are spending heavily abroad as tourists. We also have a considerable expenditure whenever American business establishments industries abroad. When all of these are taken into consideration we have an unfavorable balance of about $3 1/2 billion a year. This $3 1/2 billion either must be added to our foreign obligations or paid out from our gold reserve.
In order to improve this situation we must do one of two things, or a combination of them. Either we must decrease the amount we are spending abroad or we must improve our foreign trade balance by buying less abroad or by selling more of our own goods abroad. Perhaps we should cut down our expenditure abroad generally. With the present Russian threat to reduce our armed forces stationed abroad, former President Eisenhower, never less thought we should cut 10 per cent the number of dependents maintained abroad, a move which President Kennedy has reversed.
Business-Like Aid
It is possible that we can make reductions in the amount of money that American citizens spend as tourists. There is talk of limiting the value of foreign goods that may be brought back by tourists duty free. Also proposed is a campaign to encourage foreign tourists to visit America. All these efforts would help some. It also is possible to make sizeable reductions in our foreign aid without injustice to the countries involved.

It has been my opinion for some years that we should be lending money to foreign nations, instead of merely giving it to them. If we had been doing so, we would now have money coming in from Japan, England, West Germany, and some other countries that are now in a better financial position than we are. It is my conviction that foreign aid ought to be shifted to a business-like basis, with aid given on the basis of a return expected at a later date. Cutting foreign aid, where we can afford to do so, would help some in relieving the strain on our gold reserves.

Unemployment Payouts Half Again As Much As Last Year

Maryland residents covered by the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law received in February benefit payments totaling $6,700,103, half again as much as paid in February a year ago, the Maryland Department of Employment Security reported this week. The February benefit payments, which reached a new high for the second consecutive month, were 3.1 per cent greater than the $6,499,006 of January and 50.9 per cent more than the $4,439,048 paid in February, 1960.

An additional $635,553 in benefits was paid in February to former Maryland workers now residing in other states. Under similar reciprocal arrangements, other states bolster the Maryland economy by paying benefits to claimants who have moved to Maryland and become unemployed here.
Robert B. Kimble, Executive Director, attributed the increased payments to prolonged unemployment in construction and related industries, extended joblessness over a broad segment of manufacturing, and recent temporary unemployment in the transportation equipment and fabricated metals industries.
Another 2,693 Maryland residents exhausted in February the full 26 weeks of benefits to which they were entitled, bringing the 12-month total to 29,199.
The cumulative exhaustion rate, which is the ratio of the number of benefit exhaustions to the number of persons receiving at least one check in the previous 12 months, was 23.2 per cent on February 28. The rate was 24.0

Unemployed Federal workers in Maryland received $88,125 in February, 0.3 per cent less than the $88,426 paid in January, but 22.4 per cent greater than the $72,026 paid in February, 1960.
Ex-servicemen received benefits of $160,059 in February, 2.1 per cent more than the $156,713 of January and up by 4.4 per cent over the $110,825 of February a year ago.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Once again Whittier, California, has come into the news. This suburban town east of Los Angeles, founded by Quakers, is the home bailiwick of Ronald Cameron, a member of the Legislature of California, who has introduced quite a far reaching bill in the hopper of the current session of the Golden State's Solons in Sacramento.

pay $19.40, or 3 per cent less for not buying the stamps along with the groceries."

In another Western state, Wyoming, the matter of trading stamps is also again in the spotlight as one of the nation's largest stamp operators has asked the Wyoming Supreme Court to review the decision reached at year's end upholding the constitutionality of a state law outlawing stamps.

The Supreme Court also upheld the ordinance passed by the city government in Casper, Wyoming, outlawing stamps.

In still another Western state, Arizona, the Supreme Court came to another decision.

On a question involving state sales tax matters, the Arizona Supreme Court rules trading stamps are not cash discounts.

In handing down its decision, the court issued a very interesting viewpoint on the question of trading stamps.

For the court ruled that trading stamps are a "promotion scheme to induce the public to purchase merchandise from its dealers exclusively."

The Arizona court did not touch upon the matter as to whether or not this constituted an attempt at restraint of trade as this question was not raised in the case.

But it is indeed interesting that there is a judicial opinion in that the operators of a stamp plan seek to sew up the consumers trade exclusively with the retailers handling their stamps. It would thus appear there is grounds to investigate if these plans enter into the illegal area of restraint of trade.

This bill, if it becomes law, will require all retailers who give trading stamps, to offer their customers the choice of stamps, or cash discounts.

Legislator Cameron, on introducing his bill said the new law he seeks "would free the reluctant customer from the trading stamp hoax."

It is his contention, based on his studies of the situation, that merchants pay from 2 to 3 per cent for the stamps and that this percentage is added onto the price of merchandise.

He points out that a large drug chain deducts three per cent from the sales price of all merchandise returned by a customer unless the customer returns stamps he received on purchase of the goods.

He also states flatly there is no intention to outlaw stamps, as he feels that people who want to continue to buy stamps should be able to do so. "If you want 200 stamps with $20 worth of groceries, you can have them by paying $20. But if you don't want stamps, you only have to

Super Supper Sandwiches

Almost two centuries ago, John Montagu, the fourth Earl of Sandwich, hit upon the idea of placing meat, cheese or a savory mixture between slices of bread. Since then literally thousands of variations — from the ladylike sanape to the man-size hero — have delighted the palates of all ages.

Fertile imagination is still at work and now the lunch box staple has taken on forms that, while simple to prepare, can grace a stylish buffet table. Here are five brand-new supper sandwich recipes. Whether toasted, broiled, baked or cold; open, closed or triple-decked, sparkling Coca-Cola complements naturally.

One quick trip to the market will provide ingredients for a variety of suppers—TV snacks or festive party spreads. The recipes are easy on the pocketbook and easy on the cook, but a glance will reveal some unique new tricks that will make her culinary reputation soar.

AFTER-THEATRE SUPPER
Sausage English muffin
Mozzarella cheese Tomato sauce
Thyme

Cook a sausage patty about the size of a hamburger. Place it on a toasted English muffin half. Top with a slice of mozzarella cheese and a spoonful of tomato sauce. Sprinkle with thyme and broil till the cheese melts. This can be prepared in advance: simply toast muffin and cook sausage. Put patty on muffin and wrap in foil. Place on cookie sheet and keep in refrigerator. When ready to serve add cheese, tomato sauce and thyme.

Toast three slices of white toast. (Protein is good, too.) Make the first layer of ham, turkey and lettuce. The other layer, cole-slaw and tomato slices. Mayonnaise may be added. Fasten with toothpicks and cut in quarters. Garnish with pickles and radishes.

Wonderful World by WALDMAN

Once men used clam shells, tweezers or straight blades to shave...
...then they found electric shavers—And today, they've discovered battery-powered electric shavers which work any place—at home, at work, or on the move.
Men who want to be well groomed always—and anywhere—find a rotary battery shaver a big help. And a hit with the girls.
And men on the move, like servicemen, know the convenience of a battery shaver like Norelco's Sportsman. With it—plus just two flashlight batteries to run the compact new motor—a man is always smooth.

Space Kitchen Impresses Rocket Expert

Benton Harbor, Mich.—America's foremost rocket expert is "quite surprised" at the compactness of this country's first experimental space kitchen.
Dr. Werner von Braun, (left) director of the George C. Marshall Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., expressed this reaction on seeing the experimental kitchen for the first time during a recent visit to Whirlpool Corporation's research laboratories here, where it is under development. He is shown here examining a miniature water heater that will be installed in the kitchen.

The space kitchen is approximately half completed for delivery to the U.S. Air Force in May of this year. It is designed to store and dispense all foods and beverages required by three astronauts on a 14-day space mission.

Shown a number of kitchen devices already completed, Dr. von Braun was particularly impressed by the miniature water heater that, unlike its bulkier household counterpart, is only 17 1/2 inches from top to bottom and 5 1/2 inches in diameter. Three pints of 170 degree water can be drawn from the miniature tank every two hours. Two separate heating elements are utilized to forestall complete operating breakdown in the event of failure in one of the elements. Though designing and building the tank and heating elements sounds relatively easy described in these terms, say Whirlpool scientists, months of research and testing were required to devise an operative unit workable under zero gravity conditions.
Astronauts will draw water from the air-free system by pumping the handle on a positive displacement pressure pump, meantime grasping a support bar with the free hand. Without something to grasp, they would push themselves across the kitchen everytime they tried to move the handle, since there is no such thing as measurable weight at zero gravity.

Improved weather forecasting made possible by data collected from U.S. satellites now in orbit could reduce by half the $2-billion losses imposed annually by unwarned storms, the German-born rocket pioneer believes.
"This," he added, "would in itself pay for the nation's $1-billion a year space program."

Von Braun said that although the Russians have launched heavier payloads in the space race, "we have collected greater knowledge of space from our satellites."

Weekend Workshop

Sister Bernadette Armiger, R.N., assistant professor of nursing at Saint Joseph College, presented a workshop in Little Rock, Ark. last weekend. The presentation, sponsored by the Arkansas State Board of Nurse Examiners, was entitled, "Evaluation of Student Achievement in the Clinical Area."

The academic demonstration, a two-day program held at the Hotel Lafayette in Little Rock, emphasized evaluation techniques and tools, and the methods of evaluating and rating the resulting information. Participants in the workshop discussed the appraisal interview and the role of the head nurse in the evaluation of student achievement on the nursing unit.

Sister Bernadette, who received her Master of Science in Nursing Education from Catholic U., is a former instructor and supervisor at several schools and colleges of nursing. A member of Sigma Theta Tau, National Nursing Honor Society, she also is active in such professional organizations as the American Nurses' Assn., and the National League for Nursing. In addition to the Little Rock lectures she also has directed the Catholic University workshop on the Dynamics of Clinical Instruction and the Catholic University workshop on Implementation of Clinical Instruction in Medical and Surgical Nursing.

Among the organizations to which Sister Bernadette has lectured in nursing education topics are the Massachusetts League of Nursing Education, the Catholic Hospital Assn. Convention, Conferences of Catholic Schools of Nursing, and a number of state and a number of state and nursing associations. A frequent contributor to books and journals, she is the author of many articles on clinical instruction and nursing education. Her most recent publications include "Social Development in the Elementary School," Catholic School Journal, 1960; and "Supervisory Development: Action Research," and "Supervisory Development: Personnel Management," appearing in Hospital Progress, September and October, 1960.

Circus Coming To Harrisburg Soon

The circus is coming! Yes, beginning on Monday, April 10 and continuing through April 15 the 14th annual Zumbo Temple's Shrine Hamid Morton Circus will stage 12 big performances at the Farm Show Arena, 11th and MacLacy Sts., Harrisburg. Reserved seats are now being sold, according to Frank J. Evans, general chairman of the event. Matinees begin at 2:30 p. m., and evening performances at 8:15 o'clock.

The four funniest chimpanzees in captivity—enthrall audiences. This high-caliber classic act features Watkins' Chimps, master showmen and artists of giddy nonsense and pantomime.

Free balancing astride a lovable pony, thrilling cycling on both unicycles and bicycles delight the onlookers. Handstands, head spins and walking crazily on stilts are but a sampling of the proverbial "monkey-shines" and sheer chimp devilment.

This group of pranksters creates laughs galore as they steal the show—sheer "hams" to the superlative degree. The unexpected is the usual procedure as the show continues—helter-skelter, lickety-split—the zenith in hilarity.

Trainers Buddy and Pauline have reared the animals from babyhood. The family trailer, part of the 1961 tour, is a mute testimonial to the utter spontaneity of the chimps' circus behavior on stage. "After they have visited the trailer en masse, it's a hectic home of confusion. Their same zany style is a part of their every waking hour," laughs Buddy. "They're a laugh a minute in real life—and worth all of the trials and tribulations they cause."

They are devotees of blue jeans and gaudy sweaters and shirts. "The brighter the better," Pauline, shopper of the family, has observed. They do have "Sunday best" suits, but it's a bit difficult to get them into them—unless they're going on stage.

School Conducts Clothing Drive

In response to the urgent clothing needs of children at home and overseas, Mr. Arvin P. Jones, principal of Emmitsburg Public School, this week pledged endorsement and support to students participating in Save The Children Federation Bundle Days Clothing Collection school program being held this week.

Citing the appeal for used clothing made by Dr. Willard E. Givens, former National Education Association Executive Secretary and current Chairman of SCF's National Voluntary Advisory Committee of School Superintendents, Mr. Jones has named a committee to cooperate with students and teachers throughout this 18th annual, nationwide humanitarian school project of children helping children.

The Bundle Day Clothing Collection is one of many programs conducted under the auspices of Save The Children Federation, a non-profit, non-sectarian organization dedicated to the service of children in underprivileged areas at home and overseas.

Contributed Clothing is especially needed in depressed areas of the Southern Mountains of the United States where last year, many children walked barefoot and ill-clad to school in the dead of winter. Some of it is given free to children through County Welfare or Attendance Authorities. More clothing is made available at very low cost through Federation Clothing Centers where mountain families, too proud to accept free clothing, may purchase the clothing needed by the family at prices they can afford to pay.

A portion of the Donated Clothing is stockpiled for use in emergencies such as floods and earthquakes in this country and abroad. Urges Mr. Jones, "Good, used clothing your family no longer wears is desperately needed. You can help by bringing winter and summer clothing and shoes for children, babies and adults to Emmitsburg High School during the Bundle Day Program." Clothing may also be given to students to bring to school.

Save The Children Federation is the only truly non-sectarian child welfare organization collecting used clothing in schools on a nationwide basis. Through the Federation, children in underprivileged areas at home and overseas are sponsored by compassionate Americans. As part of its program of Community and School Self-help Projects for Children, the Federation assists and inspires villagers and parents to help themselves make a better life for their children in the United States and abroad.

SILVER FANCY GARDEN CLUB MEETS

The March meeting of the Silver Fancy Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. Hewitt MacPherson, Taneytown, on Thursday, March 16, with Mrs. A. A. Koswick, President, presiding.

For their Easter project, the members will make baskets to be filled with fruit and candy to be donated to the patients of the Springfield State Hospital.

Plans were discussed for the Annual Bridge Party to be held in May with Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner appointed as chairman of the committee.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Claude White, Littlestown, Pa.

Cattle Name Registered

The names of all registered Holstein Cattle bred by Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hill, Emmitsburg, will henceforth begin with the words "Hills-Hope."

Exclusive use of this prefix name has been granted by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America. It will become a permanent part of official breed records at the organization's national headquarters in Brattleboro, Vermont.

CATHOLIC CHURCH EASTER SERVICES

Services at St. Joseph's Catholic Church for Palm Sunday have been announced as follows: 7:00 and 8:30 a. m., Mass; 10:30 a. m., Blessing of Palms, Procession, Solemn High Mass and Chant of the Passion by Seminarians of Mt. St. Mary's. Stations of the Cross and benediction will be held at 7:00 p. m.

MSM Faculty Member Speaker

"Good Sir Toby," the character that inspired the decorative Toby jugs, was the subject of an illustrated talk by W. Richard Etchison, instructor on the History of Art, Mt. St. Mary's College, before the Historical Society of Frederick County Tuesday at 8 p. m. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. is the Society's president.

The first English Toby jugs in the 18th century, which were made to sell for a few pence, now bring many hundreds of dollars. In 1918, at Christie's, the famous London auction house, one jug brought $3,600, setting an all-time record, according to Etchison.

Etchison showed examples from the collection of Viscount Mackintosh of Halifax, prominent English candy manufacturer, and statesman whose 150-jug collection is the largest extant.

Etchison was formerly associated with the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond, where he did research, wrote the Museum Bulletin and lectured in the galleries, to colleges, schools and organizations throughout the state.

Finding ready-made slides of early jugs impossible to secure, Etchison has assembled a personal outstanding slide collection made at the Museum. His only previous lecture on Tobies was presented at historic Birnie House before the Historical and Antiquarian Societies of Richmond.

Local Scouts End First Aid Classes

Approximately 25 members of Explorer Troop 265 and Boy Scout Troop 284 were present Tuesday night for the awarding of certificates of achievement in first aid. The meeting was held in the VFW Annex and an appreciation certificate was presented Eugene Kraemer in recognition of his interest in the two groups.

Mr. Kraemer conducted a series of first aid classes for the groups the final one being held Tuesday night. The fully instructed teams will compete with other troops in Frederick this Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

Parents of members of the troops are invited to attend the meet Saturday night and some transportation means is needed. Anyone wishing to offer their cars for the trip to Frederick are asked to contact Edward Fitzgerald, transportation chairman.

Annual Cooperative Meeting Held

More than 150 members and guests of the Thurmont Cooperative, Inc., attended the 26th Annual Stockholders Meeting of the local cooperative on Thursday evening, March 16, in the Thurmont High School. The meeting originally had been scheduled for early February, but was postponed due to heavy snow.

The cooperative serves, and is owned by, farmers in the north Frederick County and west Carroll County area. Feed processing plants and warehouses are operated in Thurmont, Rocky Ridge, and Union Bridge, and an ammonia distribution center is located at Loys Station.

The President, Mehrl H. Ramsburg, called the meeting to order and welcomed the members and guests. Invocation was given by Rev. Lloyd L. Wolf, Episcopal Rector. John L. Baumgardner, secretary of the cooperative, read the minutes of the 1960 meeting.

The manager, Mr. D. Saylor Weybright, gave the results of the auditors financial report which reflected improvements in the financial condition and showed a sizeable increase in volume of business. The manager also reported that during the year, bulk feed service had been expanded and a new oats crimper had been installed. Looking to the future, Mr. Weybright indicated that other services, such as added grain storage and grain drying equipment, will be considered by the Board of Directors.

Mr. Weybright reported to the members that the local cooperative had been given wide recognition by the Eastern Federation of Feed Merchants for work done with farm youth of the community. At the annual meeting of the Eastern Federation of Feed Merchants, held at Lake Placid, N. Y., the Thurmont Cooperative, thru Mr. Weybright, was awarded a trophy for first place in the "Youth Work Contest."

The election of directors to replace the three whose terms expired resulted in the re-election of Mr. M. H. Ramsburg of Thurmont, and Mr. J. Paul Bowman of Union Bridge. Elected for his first term on the board was Mr. Harry Black, well-known Thurmont orchardist. Mr. Charles F. Myers, who declined nomination this year, was honored by the cooperative for his 26 years of service. Mr. Myers has served as a director since the organization of the cooperative.

Other members of the Board of Directors are: Lloyd B. Wilhide, Edward L. Meadows, Robert B. Ogle, John L. Baumgardner, Ross S. Stull, and Lester G. Bitne. At a later meeting, the directors elected the following officers for 1961: President, Mehrl H. Ramsburg; vice president, Ross S. Stull; secretary, John L. Baumgardner; treasurer, Lloyd B. Wilhide.

The Thurmont High School Glee Club, a well trained and talented group of students, under the direction of Miss Mildred Trevett, presented a variety of selections which were warmly received by the audience.

Miss Carol Fraley accompanied the group.

Mr. William G. Baker, Vocational Agriculture instructor at the Thurmont School, presented Miss Gladys Myers, Chapter Sweetheart, and Frederick County Farm Queen.

Miss Myers then introduced the following officers of the local Future Farmers of America: Robert Fogle, President; Howard Buhrman, vice president; Lamar Martin, treasurer; Robert Valentine, reporter; Robert Free, sentinel; and Denny Hoffman, treasurer of the County FFA. Mr. Terry Ogle, outstanding chapter member, reported on his trip to the FFA convention in Kansas City.

A brief report was given by Mr. Dan Weybright, Assistant Secretary of the Baltimore Bank for Cooperatives, on the 1960 session of the American Institute of Cooperation held at Berkeley, California.

The principal speaker of the evening was Mr. George M. Myers of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau.

Highlights Of Emmitsburg Hi

Tuesday afternoon, classes seven through 12 were dismissed to the auditorium to listen to two representatives of the Navy and Marines.

Tuesday evening the Juniors put on a play for the PTA, directed by Mr. Laws.

The Seniors took a trip Thursday to Annapolis, Maryland.

Methodist Women Hold Meeting

The Woman's Society of Christian Service held its March meeting at the home of Mrs. Ted Elliott last week. The program, conducted by Mrs. Elliott, assisted by Mrs. Alma Hardman, was pertinent to Lent. "The King of Love My Shepherd," was the hymn sung for the call to worship. The meaning of Lent was discussed, noting that the observance started in the early centuries of the Christian church. The name Lent is traced to the Anglo-Saxon word Lencten, meaning "spring." The 40 days are significant, 40 being a symbolic number in Scriptural records. The 40 days spent by Moses on Mount Sinai, the 40 days wandering in the wilderness, the 40 days temptation of the Lord and His 40 hours in the tomb. "We Praise Thee for the Radiance," was the theme pertaining to the retired workers of the woman's division—the missionaries and deaconesses. Mrs. George L. Wilhide, president, conducted the business meeting and made the following announcements: Annual conference meeting April 21 at Towson Methodist Church, Towson, Md.; Hagerstown spring district meeting on May 19 at Charles Town, W. Va.; one meeting on April 19 at Tom's Creek Church.

Luther League Meeting Held

The regular meeting of the Elias Luther League was held Sunday.

The Luther League is now sponsoring a clothing drive which will continue until April 30. If anyone is interested in contributing good used clothing, they are to contact any Luther Leaguer.

The Luther League will present the program for the Easter Family night. Tom Harbaugh and Carolyn Umbel are in charge.

Thelma Herring and Connie Baker have recently attended a Frederick District Luther League Retreat at Mar-Lu-Ridge. Their report will continue this Sunday.

The topics will be given for the next two months by the following: March 26, Sharon Herring; April 2, Tom Harbaugh; 9, Carolyn Umbel; 16, Harriet Harner; 23, Gene Eyler; 30, Clyde Hahn and May 7, Connie Baker.

Their being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Chronicle To Publish Civil War Serial

Would you like a unique, week-by-week history of the Civil War? You can compile one yourself by clipping and pasting in a scrapbook the weekly articles of a Civil War centennial series which will begin in this newspaper during the second week of April.

Each article will tell, in a readable, interesting way, the Civil War events which occurred exactly 100 years before. Thus, by keeping a scrapbook of the articles, you will assemble a chronological history of the war unlike any other ever published.

Be sure and start your scrapbook with the first article. Watch for it!

WILLIAM TOPPER NEW VFW COMMANDER

William L. Topper was re-elected Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6658 at the annual election held Wednesday night in the post home.

Other officers elected included: Raymond Baker, senior vice commander; Roger I. Zurgable, junior vice commander; Lumen F. Norris, quartermaster; Bernard Kaliss, post advocate; Louis F. Rosensteel, chaplain; John Warthen, surgeon; Fern R. Ohler, trustee; board of directors, Harold Hoke, Thomas L. Gingell, Fern R. Ohler, Roger I. Zurgable, Guy A. Baker Jr., Thomas F. Saylor and Wayne McCreaf.

The post announced it would sponsor its annual Easter egg hunt on Easter Sunday. Harold M. Hoke is the general chairman and complete details will be announced next week.

Sodality Meeting Postponed
Due to the regular meeting of the Sodality of St. Joseph's Church coming in Holy Week the meeting will be postponed until April 3.

Studies by Federal biologists have shown that earthworms are relatively resistant to insecticides. However, they are capable of storing such toxicants in quantities lethal to the birds which eat them.
