Efforts to resist the closing of Victor Cullen Hospital were gaining momentum this week after recent articles of the proposed closing of the institution had appeared in area newspapers. No definite explanation as to the future use of the hospital has been announced by state officials but the general public seems to sense that it would be converted into a correctional institution for young incorrigibles. At any rate other sections of the state have rejected the state's plan for a new institution of this type and it is surmised here that state officials are trying to ram it down this area's throat. A protest meeting has been scheduled at the hospital on April 18 and those opposing the move to close or convert the institution will have their say at this meeting.

Holy smokes, so engrossed have we been with the recent presidential election and important world news, we almost forgot that we have an election of our own creeping up on us. Creeping did I say? Why its practically here. At any rate it is time we devoted some thought to our own local affairs and to consider politics on the grass roots level. Emmitsburg's town election will be held in exactly four weeks, in fact on May 1. Naturally registration of voters will cease 10 days before this. This would make the deadline for registering April 21... don't let it slip by folks. As you know Emmitsburg has a year round registering service. That means that anytime a town official is present at the Town Office you are eligible to register. However 10 days before election the books are closed.

It seems as though some citizens are a bit confused with the new Town Charter or set of ordinances. There was some question raised this week as to the eligibility of citizens to register. After delving into the new ordinance book I have come up with this bit of information, verbatim from the book itself. Article IV, Section 1: Eligibility to vote. Every person who is eligible to vote in state and county elections and who has resided in Emmitsburg for at least one year next preceding the town election and is registered in accordance with the provisions of this charter, shall be a qualified voter in the town. Now then, there is nothing confusing about this at all. It has been the same regulation prevalent for decades. In plain words, to be able to vote you must be 21 years of age and have lived in Emmitsburg for at least 12 months preceding the election. That's all there is to it.

Now then comes the selection of candidates of which there seems to be a dearth, or has been for a number of years. Interest seems a bit keener this year though, and rumor has it that there'll be opposition for some of the offices. To be elected are the Mayor and one Commissioner. The deadline for filing is April 21, midnight and your declaration, or filing notice, must be in writing, not verbal or via the telephone. That's all there is to it so go ahead boys and girls, and may the best individual win.

Here's a choice bit of poetry submitted by an interested reader. The theme of the poem is centered around the space angle.

Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star,
I know exactly where you are.
For I surmised your point in space

Any wondering I may do
Centers on the cost of you,
And I shudder when I think,
How much you're costing us,
per twink.

Rummage Sale

Route 15 Improvement Bids Asked

The State Roads Commission is asking for bids on the construction of a section of relocated U.S. Route 15 near Lewistown and it is hoped that work can begin on the new stretch of highway sometime this summer.

The new piece of road which will ultimately become the south-bound lane of the dualized road will be constructed to the west of Lewistown. It will have a paved portion 24 feet wide and 10 foot stabilized shoulders on either side.

Thomas G. Mohler, District Engineer for the SRC, said the new strip of highway will connect with the present Route 15 just north of the Mountaineer road and bear to the west of Lewistown and then connect with the old road again just north of Mount Prospect Church at the northern edge of Lewistown.

Included in the project will be a three span bridge over Fishing Creek. The bridge is scheduled to be constructed over the stream about 100 feet east of a former roadbed which ran between the Fish Hatchery road and the Bowers road.

Bids on the project are being received at the Baltimore office of the SRC until noon on April 11 at which time they will be opened and read.

The new highway will cross the path of three county roads and might cause these roads to be altered a bit. They are the Bowers road, Fish Hatchery road, and the Stull road which leads into the Lake View property.

Keeping with the modern trend in road building, the road will not be absolutely straight, it was reported, since such roads have been found to be more dangerous than those with slight sweeping curves which tend to keep drivers more alert.

Where the new road crosses the present Bowers road in the vicinity of where the new bridge will be constructed, it was reported that some of the county road might be relocated.

It was stressed that there will be access to the new road made possible from the three county roads. However, there will be no private entrances joining into the new highway. Ordinary crossings are planned at the intersections with the county roads and no cloverleafs are planned, it was reported. Access will be possible only at predetermined locations.

Negotiations are now being carried on with property owners to gain rights of way. Some of the rights of way have already been secured, it was stated.

When completed, traffic will come south on old Route 15 from Catocin Furnace and at the present sharp curve to the left before climbing the hill at the Mount Prospect Church, traffic will continue straight and be carried over the new stretch of road. The sharp curve being eliminated has been the scene of countless accidents over the years.

In addition to the bridge over Fishing Creek, Mohler reported that there will be a drainage structure either a box culvert or a small bridge, carrying the new highway over a small unnamed stream which the Fish Hatchery road presently crosses near the intersection with a road leading past the John D. Leatherman farm.

The highway will be constructed of flexible pavement. It was stated that two types of pavement are usually laid—the rigid and the flexible.

The rigid pavement is usually used to describe reinforced concrete, Mohler added. That type of material has very little give and usually breaks before giving. The flexible material usually is the term applied to bituminous concrete or blacktop.

Overall thickness of the material being placed in the new highway will be 21 inches. This includes the different layers of base coats and the top coat of bituminous concrete.

Along the sides of the highway will be stabilized shoulders covered by crusher run stones.

PUBLIC INVITED TO FILM SHOWING

The color film, "I Beheld His Glory," will be shown at the Emmitsburg Presbyterian Church on Good Friday evening at 8:00 p.m. The film relates the story of the last days of Jesus' life and Resurrection, told by Cornelius the Centurion as he saw it and heard about it from the disciple, Thomas.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Church Announces Sunrise Service

A special Sunrise Service will be held at St. James United Church of Christ, R1, Littlestown, on Easter at 5:15 a. m.

This service is for members and friends of both congregations of the Incarnation-St. James United Church of Christ parish. This early service celebrating the Resurrection of Jesus Christ, will begin in the sanctuary of Saint James Church at 5:15 a. m. and will be concluded as the sun rises out in the cemetery surrounding this church located in a beautiful rural setting.

The theme of the service will be "The Stone Is Rolled Away" and the pastor, Rev. John Chotlos, will preach on the scriptural text from Mark 16:3 "Who will roll away the stone for us from the door of the tomb?" St. James is located three miles east of Harney on the Harney Road.

The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated at the 10:30 a. m. service on Easter of the Church of the Incarnation. The Lord's Supper also will be observed at St. James Church of the parish at the 9 a. m. service. Several persons will be received into church membership at this service and the Sacrament of Infant Baptism also will be administered.

The following young people were received into church membership by the rite of Confirmation at the 9 a. m. service on Palm Sunday at St. James Church: Edward Eugene Ferris, Lucille Marie LeGore, John Allen Moon, Carolyn Mae Wagaman, Dorothy Jean Wagaman and Jeanne Elise Yealy.

Incarnation Church was filled to capacity for a special service last Sunday night when the 10th anniversary of the dedication of the new building was observed. The theme of the guest preacher, Rev. Edmund P. Welker of Westminster, was "Christ's Church." Rev. Mr. Welker served as pastor of the church at the time of the dedication in 1951. Mrs. George J. Martin sang "Open the Gates of the Temple" at the beginning of the service, and the young peoples' choir of St. James Church sang the Anthem: "Faith Will Grow."

James Edward Houck, popular young local businessman, was awarded the Emmitsburg Jaycees' annual merit award for achievement at the businessmen's banquet held last Thursday in the VFW Annex.

Approximately 90 members and guests were present at the affair and the Rev. Nevin Smith, Hanover, was the principal speaker. Mr. Houck received the award after careful consideration by the judges, for his outstanding work in community welfare. The citation was presented by Maryland Jaycee Vice President James Holthaus.

Carroll Frock Jr., was the toastmaster and George Danner, chairman of the committee on arrangements. He also spoke on "A Thought for the Future." He outlined the reasons for the annual dinner which he said is to evaluate the accomplishments of the Jaycees, to stimulate interest in future projects such as sales days and improved business and to give due recognition to the business and professional men and women of the community.

Two future prospects for the Jaycees, it was announced, will be a car wash on Saturday and a road-e-o sometime in April.

The Rev. Dr. Nevin Smith, pastor of the United Church of Christ in Hanover, was the principal speaker.

Representatives from other Maryland chapters were introduced.

The invocation was given by Robert Simpson and the brief address of welcome by Toastmaster Frock. Mrs. Carolyn Eyer furnished piano music and George McDonnell sang a solo.

President Donald Eyer delivered the closing remarks. A number of prizes was awarded.

THREE LOCALS NABBED AFTER ROBBERY

A breaking and entering which occurred between 6 p. m. Friday and 9 a. m. Saturday at the vacant summer home of Eugene Register, of Bel Air, located on the Hornets Nest Rd., near here, resulted in arrests by Maryland State Police.

Randallstown Barracks apprehended three Emmitsburg R1 men Sunday in a Taneytown second-hand store after an investigation by Troopers E. F. Tracey and N. E. Bechtol of the Frederick Barracks, state police said.

Charged with breaking and entering and larceny of a total of $350 worth of items from the summer home were two brothers, James Anthony Wills, 44, and George Bernard Wills, 37, and a friend, Raymond Glenn Hess, 42, all of Emmitsburg R1.

The men were placed on $5,000 bond each and on failure to pay their bond were held in the Frederick County jail over the weekend awaiting a trial scheduled for Saturday at 10 a. m. in the Emmitsburg Magistrate's Court.

Randallstown Barracks State Police said they found the trio trying to sell an 18-inch chain power saw valued at $170 which they had stolen from the Register summer home at the Taneytown second-hand store on Sunday.

Also stolen from the Register residence were an eight-millimeter Mauser rifle valued at $75, an 1838 Springfield muzzle-loading antique rifle worth $75, a $25 electric hand drill and miscellaneous small items.

The thieves gained entrance to the summer home by smashing a window on the northeast corner of the vacant house and reaching in to unlatch the window, Trooper Bechtol, who was in charge of the investigation, said.

Protests Entered On Closing Of Cullen Hospital

The future of Victor Cullen Hospital at Sabillasville was discussed by Mrs. Freda Doll, executive director of the Frederick County Tuberculosis and Public Health Association, before members of the Women's Democratic League this week.

Mrs. Doll told the League that the hospital may be converted into a state detention home for delinquent boys over 16 years of age. The meeting was held in Winchester Hall, Frederick.

Henryton Hospital, in Carroll County, had previously been recommended for conversion into the detention home, Mrs. Doll said, but due to organized protests the Sabillasville institution has been mentioned.

Mrs. Doll read excerpts published in Carroll County, Washington, Baltimore and Frederick newspapers concerning the two facilities. Carroll County papers have called the detention facility undesirable because of the number of state institutions in the state.

Dr. Michael Zavis, superintendent at Victor Cullen, was also present and called the facilities at Sabillasville unsuitable for conversion. He mentioned a number of reasons why Victor Cullen should be continued for the care of tubercular patients.

Mrs. Glenna Leatherman, president, conducted the meeting. The executive committee was empowered to write to Gov. J. Millard Tawes and the Frederick County delegation to the General Assembly to find out the future plans for Victor Cullen. Members were also urged to write letters to the delegation to express their views.

Milk Price Supports Announced

Effectively immediately, prices to producers for milk and butterfat will be supported at $3.40 per hundredweight of manufacturing milk and 60.4 cents a pound of butterfat, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has announced. The higher prices extend through the next marketing year which begins April 1, 1961.

According to William L. Dudley, Chairman, Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, the prices set are about 83 per cent of the parity equivalent price for manufacturing milk and about 81 per cent of parity for butterfat, based on the latest parity data.

The support prices in effect since last September were $3.22 per hundredweight for manufacturing milk and 59.6 cents a pound for butterfat in farm-separated cream. The budget submitted to Congress early in January provided for support prices of $3.06 per hundred pounds for manufacturing milk and 56.6 cents per pound for butter fat.

In announcing the new dairy support program, Secretary Freeman said:

"The increased support prices will result in a much needed improvement in dairy farmers' incomes. . . . All dairy farmers will benefit from these higher price levels—those who supply milk for consumption in fluid form as well as farmers whose milk is manufactured into other dairy products.

"I intend to consult closely with dairy farmers and to give them the full assistance of the Department of Agriculture in devising improved programs that will assure more efficient marketing and adequate farm income as well as an adequate supply."

The Commodity Credit Corporation's buying prices per pound for cheese and nonfat dry milk produced on and after March 10, 1961 will be 36.1 cents for cheese, and 15.9 cents for spray and 13.9 cents for roller nonfat dry milk.

Safety Stressed While Driving Over Easter Weekend

"Easter with all its wonderful celebrations—festivity—and happiness could bring pain—death—and sadness to those who ignore the rules governing safe driving and walking," stated Paul E. Burke, Executive Director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission. "The traffic accident records for the past years show that the traffic toll rises on holiday weekends. During the three-day Easter holiday weekend of 1960, fifteen people were killed on the highways and streets in the State of Maryland due to traffic accidents. This weekend proved one of the worst on record for traffic accidents in the State. These traffic deaths could have been averted."

"Heavy holiday traffic—the careless holiday spirit—and a desire to get out and travel at speeds too fast for safety are responsible for a great number of these deaths," stated Paul E. Burke. People are intent on cramming as much celebration as possible into a brief span of time and they let safety go by the board," the Executive Director stated. Specifically, excessive speed—lack of courtesy—aid failure to obey the law are contributing factors in many of these accidents. If you plan a trip over the Easter holiday the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission would like to offer the following suggestions.

- 1. Don't try to cover too many miles. 2. Be prepared for heavy holiday traffic. 3. Get an early start, pause for rest occasionally. 4. Don't speed. 5. Don't drink and drive. 6. Give pedestrians a break—time to get out of your way. 7. Don't be a road hog—keep to the right. 8. Don't "horn" your way through traffic. 9. Obey the laws—they were made for your protection.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Luther Cregger, Home Management Leader, continued the discussion of "Living on 24 Hours a Day" with the emphasis on time management in cooking, Planning, Shopping, Preparation, Serving and Cleaning up for meals were discussed. Also the importance of having things placed conveniently in the kitchen—utensils and ingredients stored where they were to be used, etc. The six-time management work simplification principles were discussed.

Each member was asked to make some improvement in her meal preparation habits, or her kitchen planning that she could report in the fall. The next afternoon of games will be held at the home of Miss Ann Codori on April 13. The regular April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Paul Beale on April 27. Anyone interested is invited to meet with the club.

HEAVY CONSTRUCTION EQUIPMENT

Recent headlines indicate that government spending apparently will play a big part in a business recovery. The New Administration is committed to reversing the current downward trend in the economy rather than letting it run a natural course. Furthermore, the government will attempt to create more jobs to offset mounting unemployment figures. Activity in different areas must be stimulated as many manufacturing industries have completed programs to lower labor costs through the use of greater automation and a smaller work force. Therefore the country is likely to see increased activity in roadbuilding, public works, housing and industrial construction. Government funds used directly or through states and municipalities should step up the first two activities; lower interest rates made available to home builders seeking mortgages should increase residential housing starts; while more favorable depreciation rates available to industry are planned to stimulate industrial construction.

Among the principal beneficiaries of these programs should be the heavy construction machinery companies and companies engaged in engineering projects. They would benefit especially from industrial building as well as certain public works projects. There are many companies that have at least some stake in this field, but we are primarily concerned with those companies where engineering or construction equipment makes up an important part of their overall sales. In the engineering field we favor George Fuller Co., Raymond International and Stone & Webster. For combined heavy engineering and construction Dravo Corp. and Morrison Knudsen appear attractive. As manufacturers of heavy industrial equipment we like Chain Belt and Worthington Corp.

THE EASTER STORY

The last week in the life of Jesus Christ is remembered by Christians with special services and great solemnity, for it was a time of betrayal and suffering that led up to the resurrection of the Son of God.

Jesus arrived in Jerusalem on Sunday, cheered by hopeful throngs who showered His path with branches of palm trees. It was dangerous for Him to enter the city because of the high priests who feared and resented Him; but He believed it was His duty to preach there.

According to the Bible, reports Mrs. Francine Klagsbrum, religion editor of World Book Encyclopedia, Jesus spent the first few days teaching and visiting the Temple. Once again He threw out the moneychangers and those who sold doves for sacrifices. Some of the time He prayed and meditated in Bethany, just outside the city.

On Thursday night He joined the 12 disciples for what was probably the first meal of the Jewish Passover. During the Last Supper, He told His disciples that one of them would betray Him. Then He gave them bread and wine, saying, "This is My Body" and "This is My Blood." From this meal originated the sacrament of Communion, or Lord's Supper.

Jesus knew that His hour of suffering was near. He led the disciples to the Garden of Gethsemane, on the slope of the Mount of Olives. Late that night a band of armed men, with Judas Iscariot among them came to the garden. Judas kissed Jesus, identifying Him to the armed men, who took Him away to the high priest.

Charged with blasphemy for calling Himself the Son of God and King of the Jews, Jesus was taken early Friday to Pontius Pilate, the Roman governor, and then to Herod Antipas, ruler of Galilee. Herod mocked Jesus, dressed Him in a kingly robe, and sent Him back to Pilate.

Without the approval of Pilate Jesus could not be executed. But Pilate hesitated to condemn Him. He brought Jesus and a condemned murderer named Barabbas before the people and told them to choose one to go free, as it was the custom to pardon one prisoner during Passover. The mob screamed for the release of Barabbas. Jesus was sentenced to death by crucifixion, a common Roman form of execution.

The crucifixion took place on a hill outside the city called Golgotha, or Calvary. After several hours Jesus died and His body was taken to a new tomb.

On Sunday morning Mary Magdalene went to the tomb. The stone had been rolled away and the tomb was empty. But an angel told her that Jesus had risen.

Later Jesus appeared to Mary Magdalene and to Simon Peter. For the next 40 days He taught His 11 faithful disciples. Then He rose to heaven.

Star Performers With Shrine Circus

A most unique and fascinating musical aggregation, The Bizzarros and Sister will thrill the audiences at the 14th Annual Zembo Temple's Shrine Hamid Morton Circus which will be held the week of April 10th. Six evening performances and five matinees will be staged during the week at the Farm Show Arena, 11th and Maclay Streets, Harrisburg.

The circus, which has now contributed over $225,000 for the benefit of the Orphans and Underprivileged Children and the Shrine Activities Fund, begins at 2:30 p. m. and 8:15 p. m.

Long a show-stopper throughout Europe's famed music halls and circuses, the Bizzarros are winning new plaudits with American fans.

Bella of every size and tone are combined with intricately designed horns to produce the gay and lifting melodies. Background accompaniment is furnished by an accomplished guitarist. Light humor lends a frothy note to the fast-paced act. Bella are everywhere—as cuffs on the pants and coat sleeves of the Bizzarro Brothers and their father; as ruffle trim on the brief, colorful skirt of their glamorous sister.

"We gave her earrings, hand-crafted, of wee bells as her American debut gift," says her father.

With every movement, a thrilling and delightful sound issues from head to toe as the aggregation performs delicate pantomime to music.

The sound of the glockenspiel, says the elder Bizzarro, "though famed bells of Saltzburg, Austria, we have others with a long-time history also. Some came to us bell-makers for the group. "These bells are our prized possession," monarchs."

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

Much has been written, undoubtedly much more will continue to be written, on the successful conclusion of the case of the anti trust division of the U. S. Justice Dept. against the nation's major manufacturers of heavy electrical equipment.

in the formation of the House and Senate Small Business Committees, has focused attention on what has too long been a national disgrace.

For rigging prices on approximately $2 billion worth of sales, practically all to governmental units supported by taxes, fines against the corporations and the corporate officers involved C. W. Harder totalled almost $2 million, while several of the corporate officers were handed out jail sentences.

On the other hand, this case should not be taken as a blanket indictment of big business. The nationwide membership of the National Federation of Independent Business has always maintained there is nothing wrong with bigness just because of pure bigness. The evil comes in when big business forgets morality to use the power for evil inherent in bigness to destroy freedom in the market place.

It is indeed, interesting, to note that some of the corporations immediately issued "there's nobody here but us chickens, boss" type of statements, disclaiming all knowledge of what the convicted executives had been up to.

There are reports that some labor leaders are gleeful over the discomfiture of the big bosses. If true, this is unfortunate. There are also "sob sisters" who are weeping tears in print over the jailing of these officials who are "really very nice men." This is unfortunate. Both of these attitudes fail to recognize the principle involved here.

The sentencing judge, J. Cullen Ganey, of the U. S. District Court commented, "One would be naive, indeed, to believe that such vast conspiracies involving so much money and equipment, were not known to those in charge."

Rather, instead, the successful conclusion of this case should be observed as a milestone in American march back to road of free enterprise.

No corporation can violate the laws. The laws can only be broken when executives with sufficient authority take actions which move the corporation into law-breaking.

It is a strong indicator that the demand which has been growing the past few years at the grass roots level for enforcement of the anti-trust laws to preserve free enterprise is bearing fruit. The work of independent businessmen, concerned over the shrinking of free enterprise, which resulted

Thus, a corporation executive may be guilty of hit and run driving while driving a car owned by the corporation. Of course, the corporation is liable for any resulting damages to person or property, but this fact does not relieve the executive of his personal guilt for operating corporation property in violation of law.

FAMOUS AMERICAN TAVERNS

Maylié's in New Orleans, Louisiana

"They Come for Atmosphere but Return for Food"

In 1876 Bernard Maylié and Hypolite Esparbé moved their coffee stall from the old Poydras Market to the 125-year-old building which still houses the celebrated Creole cuisine known as Maylié's. At first it was a modest family enterprise, the two men aided by their wives, who were sisters. And the intention was to provide only an eleven o'clock lunch or petit déjeuner for their discriminating patrons.

But all good things have a tendency to grow. It was soon discovered that Mme. Esparbé was a superb cook and the little dining room beside the bar was quickly filled to overflowing. Old patrons asked to bring their friends, these friends brought other friends, and finally, after much persuasion and sober deliberation, Messrs. Maylié and Esparbé agreed to serve a strictly stag table d'hôte. "No woman was allowed in the dining room except Mme. Maylié who made the rounds to see that her guests were doing justice to their food.

The boiled brisket of beef (bouillé) served at this table d'hôte added further lustre to the house. To this day, bouillé is one of the favorite items on the menu.

The policy of "men only" was pursued until 1918 when Ruth Law, the famous aviatrix, invaded the sacred male purlieu dressed as a man and wearing a flying helmet and goggles. Mme. Maylié, strict on etiquette, demanded the headpiece be removed; shoulder-length tresses disclosed the imposture. But Miss Law had started something, and eventually ladies were admitted to Maylié's.

Gourmets from all over the country—and abroad—have come to Maylié's not only to savor its Creole cooking but its fine beers and ales and other beverages. Many distinctive New Orleans dishes have originated with Maylié chefs. And one prominent gourmet has said of the patrons: "They come for atmosphere but return for food."

There is, however, one item of atmosphere that everyone returns for: the giant 70-year-old wistaria tree which grows from the dining room through the roof and spreads to entwine with its blossoms the white brick facade and the iron-lace balconies.

Other colorful notes found at Maylié's are the unique majolica beer pitchers, painted with scenes of old New Orleans, and the bronze bell which formerly rang out the opening and closing of the Poydras Market. But the chief attraction remains the superb Creole cuisine supervised by the same family after 85 years.

Tuna With A Twist Of Tang And Crunch

The creative twist in this tuna production comes from a couple of versatile supporting players perfectly cast in the roles they play. Tasty French Fried onion rings add palate-pleasing "tang" to an a la king sauce and crisp, shoestring-style potato sticks supply an appetizing "crunch!"

Actually each of these stellar performers has a dual role. Besides using the onion rings to dramatize the flavor of your sauce, save a few to garnish your casserole or chafing dish. The shoestring potato sticks offer both a zesty flavor of their own and an ingenious switch on the usual a la king base of toast-points, patty-shells or rice.

Staging this hearty party or family dinner dish is simplicity itself! The French Fried onion rings and potato sticks come right out of a can — convenient and delicious either hot or cold.

TUNA A LA KING WITH CRISPY POTATO STICKS
(Serves 5 to 6)

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons diced green pepper
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup diced canned pimientos
- 1/2 cup sliced celery
- 1 can crisp O & C French Fried onions (3 1/2 oz.)
- 1 3-oz. can drained button mushrooms, (optional)
- 2 cans tuna fish (7oz.)
- 2 cans crisp O & C Shoestring-Style Potato Sticks. (2 1/4 oz.)

Melt butter in saucepan. Add green pepper and saute until tender. Stir in flour and seasonings. Blend in milk and cook, stirring constantly till thickened. Add pimientos, celery, French Fried onions, mushrooms and tuna fish. Continue to heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is hot. Heat Potato Sticks just before serving. Serve a la king over the crisp hot sticks. Lobster or shrimp, substituted for the tuna fish make this dish elegant enough for any gathering.

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

Keeping Your Toddler Safe

By Phil Dykstro
Director of Home Safety
National Safety Council

We still do not know how to prevent many of the diseases of babyhood. But we do know how to prevent most of the accidents in which a baby may become involved. And accidents cause more deaths and more serious damage among babies than any single disease.

In this column, we will describe what you can do to keep your baby safe when he reaches the adventurous age of the toddler, the age from one to two.

It is at this age that baby likes to roam all over the house. He begins to touch, feel and investigate. He likes to climb to unbelievable heights and poke and probe into anything and everything. He opens doors and drawers. He takes things apart. He likes to play in water.

At this age, baby hasn't learned all the lessons about danger, and unless you watch and teach him, he can get into trouble. Pediatricians tell us the time to start teaching your child the rules of safety is when he starts to crawl, stepping up the teaching as baby nears his first birthday. It may take four or five years before you can have much confidence that baby is learning to be safe. The job of teaching safety, of course, is never-ending. To teach safety to a child, start with some simple lessons as the occasions arise—to avoid a hot stove, for example. You should go about the job gradually and consistently.

Here are precautions to take to keep your toddler safe:

Prevent Tumbling—Use safety gates on porches and tops of stairs. Window guards and securely fastened screens are a must.

Doors—Those that lead to basement steps, driveways and danger areas should be locked. Install child safety locks on automobile doors. Keep all poisons under lock and key.

Light Fixtures—Open or unused light sockets should be covered.

Garden Pools—Cover or fence any open pool.

Bath Tubs—Baby should not be left in the tub alone, even for a split second. He may turn on hot water or slip and fall.

Diapers—They should be chemically clean, fit snugly and be securely pinned. Check safety pins and discard those that do not close properly.

Safe Play—At this age, baby's favorite place to play is the kitchen. Turn pot handles away so baby can't grab them. Keep matches, knives and other unsafe articles out of his reach.

Toys—Avoid those with small removable parts.

OUTDOOR TIPS

FISHING

One of the main snags in being a fisherman is hooks—snagged, that is. To release a snagged hook, try this. Fasten a small padlock on your line and let it slide down. With any luck it will knock the hook loose. Reel in your line and remove the lock. Now you're all set to get snagged again.

A handy item for cleaning fishing reels is a child's toothbrush. Once you've used it, though, best buy a new one for Junior.

Eager bait fishermen often make the mistake of using too large a bobber. The big 'uns look good floating around, but can get the angler in trouble. Too large a bobber can offer so much resistance to a biting fish he'll become suspicious and drop the bait. A float just large enough to hold the bait off the bottom will catch more fish.

HUNTING

Deer hunters lucky enough to bag a buck are always faced with the problem of getting the deer out of the woods. This helpful hint should save some wear and tear. Tie both ends of a 15-foot length of rope to the rack. Step inside the loop and run the rope under both arms and behind your neck. Keep the rope outside your coat to prevent rope burns. As you drag your buck out, both hands will be free for carrying other gear.

CAMPING

Here's a tip hot-weather campers ought to appreciate. When packing in butter, bury it (in its original carton) inside a sack of flour. It will keep there for many days in perfect condition—no matter how high the mercury climbs.

Campers and bears don't mix. Both are hungry critters and just who owns the food is the big question. If you hang your food in a tree, it will help. But, as any bee can tell you, bears can climb. Tie a cow bell to the pack. When Mr. Bruin shows he'll make enough noise to bring you on the run.

Between trips afield, reverse the batteries in your flashlight. If the switch is accidentally turned on, no harm is done for the circuit will be broken. Thus, your light will be ready to go next trip out.

And a final tip for auto campers. A valuable item to have on hand can be made from an old piece of carpet. Cut two strips 15 inches wide by six feet long. Keep 'em behind your spare tire. Next time you get stuck, slip the carpet strips under the rear tires for traction. You'll be on your way pronto—no fuss, no muss.

(Try for a $50 prize. Send your tip to A.A. Contest, Sports Afield, 959 8th Ave., New York 19, N.Y.)

There are possibly others like it in the world, but until the light of day hits them the "Three-for-Three Club" of some Missouri River duck hunters must be considered unique in the hunting world.

The membership is not large, nor is there much hope of it rivaling Rotary for some time to come—the entrance exam is just too tough for most.

Duck hunters who frequent sand bars near the Squaw Creek Federal Migratory Waterfowl Refuge in northwest Missouri dreamed it up and kept it moving onward and upward.

There are no dues, no meetings, no officers and no clubhouse—only members. To be a member a duck hunter must shoot three mallard drakes with three consecutive shots, and if it stopped there half the hunters in the country would be eligible.

COMPLICATED

But it is further complicated by the fact that he must shoot them as they pass overhead, in full flight. Pass shooting at any time is not easy, but shooting three-for-three, dropping only mallards and only drakes, is about as troublesome as trying to make a pet of a Bengal tiger.

The Mercury outboard on the transom of your boat can be the key that opens the door to the most successful fishing you have ever done. Mobility is the reason.

"Fish," as my grandfather used to say, "ain't sittin' in no rockin' chair, son. They're out moving around lookin' for something to eat."

Therefore what was a red-hot fishing spot last year or last week may be zilch today. When the food fish leave the bigger boys follow them.

The seasons are one factor, because of water temperature, and there are several others, but as long as the fisherman can crank up his Merc motor and hunt them down he will continue to astound the boys at the dock with his catching skill.

SETTING QUIETLY

To those who hunted deer last fall, and hunted in vain, comes the advice of a long-time guide and hunter himself.

Learn to sit still. He claims half the deer in the country that end their traveling days as a hood ornament for an automobile are there about 75 percent by mistake.

Says they were shot in spite of the hunter's skill, not because of it. Further injects that if hunters were able to freeze on a stand and stay there—not smoking, not scratching, not even wiggling their ears—the elusive deer would be bagged a whole lot easier and considerably quicker than when the hunters practice brush-busting.

He claims the first 15 or 20 minutes are the hardest to stand and after that a hunter can sit perfectly still for several hours if necessary. Sounds easy.

Mathias Favors Revision Of Internal Revenue System

Congressman Charles McC. Mathias Jr. today introduced a bill fulfilling one of the promises made during his campaign for the Congressional seat representing the Sixth District of Maryland in the U. S. House of Representatives by amending the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 to allow an individual an itemized deduction for the amount of tuition paid to a college, university or other institution of higher learning.

"In a period when intellectual discipline and academic achievement are recognized as vital to our national existence, it becomes essential to insure that scholastic opportunity be as universal as individual talents will permit," states Mr. Mathias. "One means of increasing educational opportunity is through tax relief. The economic burden of those currently paying the rising cost of higher education will be reduced by this legislation."

In drafting the bill, Mr. Mathias took into account the fact that the average cost for tuition and required fees is currently $225 in a state-owned college or university and $863 in a privately-owned institution. The Internal Revenue Code now allows deductions for charitable contributions but does not allow deductions for tuition payments. Mr. Mathias' bill would amend the Code to allow a maximum deduction of $500 subject to the limitation of educational assistance compensation paid by the Federal Government under present laws. "I believe," said Mr. Mathias, "that it is proper and necessary to extend deductions to those individuals paying tuition to institutions as well as to allow present deductions for contributions to the same academic institutions." According to available statistics, the approximate loss to the Government in the way of tax revenue as a result of enactment of this bill would be $500 million per year. Mr. Mathias indicated that "the loss of Federal revenue is justified since deductions resulting from my bill would be a business investment with the prospect of both personal and monetary returns to be enjoyed by the entire nation."

Effective with January 1, 1961, a change in the law will now permit parents to work for their sons or daughters and receive social security credit. The work, however, must be done in the course of a regular trade or business and the parent's work relationship must be a bona fide one. Work done by a parent for a son or daughter in a private household is still not covered by the law and should not be reported.

Another change gives ministers up until April 15, 1962, to elect social security coverage for themselves as self-employed persons. Thus, a minister who failed to take action before now has an opportunity to file a certificate with the Internal Revenue Service, indicating his desire to be covered if he nets as much as $400 a year from his ministerial duties.

Still another change in the law now permits the wife or husband of an old-age disability beneficiary to receive benefits if married to the worker for at least one year. A stepchild may also qualify now for payments if the marriage creating the stepchild relationship took place at least one year before the application was filed. Formerly the waiting period in these cases was 3 years.

A stepchild may now receive payments on his deceased father's record even though he was living with and being supported by his stepfather at the time of his father's death. Under the old law, the father had to be contributing at least one-half his child's support for him to qualify for monthly payments.

For a free pamphlet giving more details about the 1960 amendments to the Social Security Act, write Social Security Administration, 59 North Cannon Avenue, Hagerstown, and ask for pamphlet OASI 1960-1.

Tydings To Take Oath As U. S. Attorney

Joseph D. Tydings, until last Friday a delegate to the General Assembly of Maryland from Harford County, will be sworn in as United States Attorney for the District of Maryland, on Wednesday, April 5 at 3 o'clock p. m., by Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomson in the United States District Court in Baltimore.

Mr. Tydings' appointment by President Kennedy was unanimously confirmed by the United States Senate last week. He delayed his resignation from the House of Delegates until his very controversial legislation regulating insurance companies which insure savings and loan associations was finally passed by the Senate of Maryland.

Among the footprints in the sands of time some people leave only the marks of a heel.

Obstinacy is the strength of the weak.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Looking Ahead

How Generous Is Foreign Aid? The scattering of dollars all over the world, a process in which Americans have been engaging for 20 years, proves that we are undoubtedly history's most generous people. Besides traveling over the globe for pleasure and business, spending liberally all the while, we have bought freely from foreign goods available at home. Also, even while paying much of the bill for protecting the free world, we have willingly made our treasure available for "foreign aid."

It is bitter truth, unfortunately, that although we have given away many scores of billions, this generosity has not always served good purposes. Wide-eyed, idealistic and eager, we have wanted to make the "have-not" nations our friends. We have wanted to help raise standards of living abroad by teaching other peoples what we know best: how to produce. We have made frequent mistakes, seeking sometimes to stimulate their economies through impractical means. Only rarely have we made lasting friendships through "foreign aid."

Foolish People? We may now be in danger of becoming history's most foolish people. At a time when the economy of some of the foreign nations we propose to aid is more stable than our own, we talk of increasing this kind of expenditure in our proposed $81 billion budget. The outgoing administration warned of the dangers of our gold outflow, but it nevertheless recommended increasing foreign aid.

This policy contradiction illustrates the dilemma we are facing. We want to keep helping nations who need help, but we must plug the holes from which our gold pours into other countries. A cautious and reduced aid program would help slow our loss of gold, yet we must keep spending in an effort to halt the march of Communism where such spending shows any hope of effective results. The question we now must face is whether the $2.5 billion budgeted for foreign economies might help them more in the long run if stricken entirely from the budget.

Is Moscow Laughing? Reducing foreign aid, therefore, may now be the most generous policy, perhaps even the best thing we can do for our economy should be pressed to the breaking point, our neighbors will go down with us. That is why Congress must exercise careful oversight of foreign spending, analyzing carefully all requests for sending dollars abroad. We must stabilize our dollar balances with foreign nations. This may well prove impossible to accomplish if we are to continue spending government money abroad according to patterns to which we have almost grown accustomed.

Congress may soon realize that the most generous kindness we can offer is a sound dollar, protected against Communist onslaughts designed to wreck our currency. (Moscow is probably laughing at our frantic scurrying about to save our gold. Russia is one of the nations richest in this metal, but even she has had little trouble in getting dollars to use for nefarious purposes, so free and easy has been our generosity and so careless has been our oversight of foreign giveaways.)
Caution Now Required
Certain strategic foreign assistance to thwart Communist aggression is still required of us. But Congress must now surely examine with caution every proposal for aid, to see whether we shall be better off spending it or withholding it. Although the President has in his hands emergency powers that range all the way from simply discouraging tourist spending to such drastic measures as gold embargoes, the Congress retains oversight of our fiscal policies and must insist on the maintenance of a sound dollar.

If we can cut spending at home as well as abroad, buy more of our own products with the dollars we must spend abroad, produce at home efficiently in order to build better export balances, encourage our allies to assist us more in defending the free world, then set up long range fiscal policies that encourage stability in money matters, we can weather the present storm. With so much of the free world depending upon us, we can do no less than exercise sound fiscal leadership. This is the generosity we owe the free world.

In making the announcement, Commissioner Jewell stated that the D.M.V. and other agencies selling tags in the various counties and Baltimore City would be closed on Good Friday, March 31, a State holiday.
"Since owners of private passenger cars and motorcycles will be unable to purchase their new tags on the last day of the month, we have extended the deadline to midnight of the next work day," he said.
More than 500,000 sets of tags have been issued to date by the Department and Baltimore City Police stations together. The Police Department has issued in the neighborhood of eighty thousand sets while in - person and mail trade at the D.M.V. building has accounted for over 433,260 sets of license tags being sold.

freshment for dying souls. We so often live in moral and spiritual deserts. The hot, angry sun of sinful pride, selfishness, godlessness burns down upon us. Our souls are in danger of perishing. Christ Himself brings the cool soul-satisfying water which gives new life.

Prayer
O God, our spirits are exhausted. Our souls are crying for that living water. May the eternal Christ come to us and give to us the life-restoring cup. May we receive from Him and, in the receiving, may we live. In our Savior's name we ask. Amen.
Thought For The Day
Jesus Christ satisfies the thirst of my soul.

Read John 4:7-14. Jesus, knowing that all things were now accomplished, that the scripture might be fulfilled, saith, I thirst. (John 19:28.)
No physical suffering is more torturous than burning thirst. Men have been known to exchange gold gladly for a single cup of cold water. Thirst has driven men mad. Men have committed murder for a drink of water. We cannot live without it. It is the absolute essential for all living things.
Spoken from the cross, the Savior's words, "I thirst," represent the cry of universal need. He, too, experienced burning thirst. In calling for water, the Son of God identified Himself with all mankind. He knew our greatest physical need.
Above and beyond our longing for refreshing water, there is a much greater need: spiritual refreshment.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses A Dangerous Industry

BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 30 — Unfortunately, the "cold war" is developing into a dangerous industry. Too many voters are directly or indirectly making money on it.

Who Likes The Cold War?

I am ashamed to say that many people are learning to like this "cold war." Even labor depends upon it for employment and employers feels it necessary for profits. They dreaded the "cold war" at first—but now are getting used to it and even depending on it. Surely if the cold war should suddenly stop, there would be a great increase in unemployment. This is feared not only by those now out of work, but also by employers who are benefiting from subcontracts and forced sales. Talk with Dun & Bradstreet if you think I am overly fearful; or watch the "markdown" advertisements in the Sunday newspapers.

Most of the active stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange are counting upon the "cold war" to continue. This is a dangerous limb upon which to depend. Investment counselors warn that temporary market declines are to be expected as a "necessary correction or readjustment," but they continue to be fundamentally bullish and look for even higher prices after the "corrections" are completed. They may be right for a while; but the Law of Action and Reaction which Sir Isaac Newton enunciated back in the 17th Century still holds good.

Even President Kennedy and his White House advisers see the dangerous paradox in the present situation of "getting used to the cold war." Surely full employment depends now on continuation of the cold war. This is resulting in a new attitude on the part of both conservatives and liberals, Republicans and Democrats. It has become as popular as cocktail parties. No one yet has had the courage to check it.

What About John Birch?

It now looks as though the only way to combat the present contentment with the "cold war"—with its spiraling wage and upward price movements—will be through the arbitrary "freezing" of both wages and prices. This is the first step toward making President Kennedy an economic dictator . . . which I expect to see. He is now preparing the ground for such a move by appointing so many of his family and intimate friends to important posts. Watch his future moves.

Another movement to watch is the John Birch Society, which has "Americanism" of the DAR type as its watchword although it favors a semi-dictatorship for the nation. It is named after John Birch, who was a Christian missionary in China and later fought with the Nationalist Chinese in their war against the Japanese. Birch was promoted to a Captain and worked in the Intelligence Division under General Chennault. On August 25, 1945, Birch was killed by the Chinese Communists. The present national leader of the Society is a neighbor of mine, Robert Welch, of Belmont, Mass. Frankly, he is fighting for our return to a Republic and away from Democracy, which Mr. Kennedy probably also thinks is the only way to win the "cold war."

Buy Distressed Property

Surely distressed property is coming on the market someday, regardless of the forecasts being made by optimistic investment advisors. The safest way to make profits is to render service now by climbing to buy stocks, bonds, real estate, or commodities. The way to render service is to store up cash now and be prepared to use it when it again is in great demand.

The first group to "feel the pinch" are the country banks. When borrowers fail to pay their notes, then we know the turn downward is coming. The "Roaring Sixties" can roar from two causes,—from enthusiasm, or from panic. Anyone who has lived on a ranch with cattle, hogs, and other livestock has seen his stock roar when frightened and look for a hole on the wall to get out through! I agree we are entering the "Roaring Sixties," but as to the reason for the "roaring" perhaps many are now being fooled.

Milk Producers Seek Revision Of Regulatory Order

Most important of the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc. proposals to be put before an April 4 hearing on possible revisions of the Upper Chesapeake Bay Federal Milk Marketing Order 127 is the continuation of the

Tunisia Trains Skilled Workers

One of the most pressing problems of the young Republic of Tunisia is to develop a technical-professional labor force sufficient to let the country stand on its own feet, and develop without the aid of foreign technicians.

In 1957 the government set about the solution of this problem. It levied a professional formation tax on employers, amounting to 1 percent of the salaries they pay technical help, designed to furnish funds to further technical training.

As a result, there are now several technical schools in operation. These give professional training to young men chosen from the various trades and those who have received Certificates of Professional Aptitude from technical high schools. The principal training centers now operating are: the National Railroads Center, which turns out 60 qualified workmen quarterly; the Shoemaking Center (100 workers per year); the Electro-Mechanical Center (80 per year); the

A young Tunisian concentrates over his practical training in the machine-tool industry.

Center for Masons' Helpers; and the General Professional Center, whose role is to give practical training, principally in metallurgy, to young men 18 years old or more picked from orphans' villages.

Other such centers, for training in various professional fields, are currently under construction around the country.

Besides these purely national accomplishments, technical study programs and scholarships have been organized with the help of foreign technical assistance.

Now it is a matter of only a short time before Tunisia will be completely self-reliant in the technical professions which are so vital to the development of a young nation.

price for Class 1 milk set when the Order went into effect on February 1, 1960.

This is $5.55 per hundredweight through the months July-February and $5.10 during March, April, May and June and its value to all dairy farmers—MCMP members and non-members alike—has been shown during its life. Under the Order as it became effective, this price was set to run for eighteen months, which will be up on July 31 of this year.

"Under the pricing dairy farmers covered by the Order netted some $1,000 per member more income for their Class 1 milk during the 11-month period from February 1, 1960 to January 1, 1961," reported MCMP Business Manager W. P. Sadler in a recent letter to the Maryland delegation in Congress.

Mr. Sadler's letter citing the excellent results of the $5.55-$5.10 price was written primarily in opposition to a joint resolution of the Maryland Legislature asking for a Congressional investigation of the Federal Order. This stemmed primarily from Order opponents engaged in the dairy business on the Eastern Shore.

"I note that a Delaware dairy has proposed that Caroline, Cecil, Dorchester, Kent, Queen Annes, Somerset, Talbot, Wicomico and Worcester be excluded from the Order," Mr. Sadler continued.

"The inclusion of these counties has been under violent attack by lower Eastern Shore and Delaware dairy interests since long before the Order became effective. I suppose one cannot blame these interests, since the inclusion means that they are forced to pay producers a fair price for milk. We will, of course, strive mightily to defeat any effort to remove these counties, and here's our reason, as written to our Congressmen.

"... Had all of the 5 resisting dealers complied fully with the Order, there would have been about $100 additional income for them (MCMP members) during 1960."

"We have other proposals to put before the April 4 session when it meets in the Southern Hotel in Baltimore but these are minor in scope and on the technical side," the MCMP official concluded.

Vaccination Of Pets Is Urged

The Maryland State Veterinary Medical Association today urged dog owners to vaccinate their pets against rabies.

The warning followed reports of three cases of rabies in animals in rural sections of Baltimore County, the first such cases reported since 1955.

The veterinary group said that, contrary to popular opinion, rabies is not limited to the "dog days" of summer, but rather is most common in the late winter or spring.

Annual rabies vaccination can help in eradicating the disease, the association said. Veterinary scientists have developed a vaccine which, when given in the proper dose according to the size and weight of the dog, gives maximum protection for a year.

Traffic accidents can be avoided, say the experts, and we think they are right but this does not mean that nobody will be killed on our highways this week.

April 7 Is World Health Day

"Accidents Need Not Happen" theme for 1961

Though she doesn't know it, this little lady is playing with danger. For the scissors she holds can be, in hands as young as hers, as deadly as a loaded pistol.

And accidents such as the one this child is courting are all the more tragic because they need never have happened. In the great majority of cases, simple safety measures on the part of adults could prevent the thousands of accidents that yearly bring tragedy to homes around the world.

It is in recognition of accidents as a growing health problem throughout the world that the World Health Organization has chosen "Accidents Need Not Happen" as the theme for the celebration April 7 of the 13th anniversary of its founding.

WHO and its 105 Full and four Associate Member States are working to reduce the hazards to health that accidents of all description represent — in the home, on the farm, in industry, aboard ships at sea, planes in the air, trains on land, and in the streets of the world's cities and towns.

Of all accidents, those affecting children are perhaps the most costly and tragic. For the loss or maiming of a child not only brings sorrow to his family — it also robs the nation of a part of its future.

Yet this year such adult oversights as a tube of aspirin left within a child's reach, an unguarded kettle of boiling water, or a forgotten pair of scissors or sharp-edged tool will make more cripples and kill more children around the world than polio and tuberculosis combined.

WHO and its Member States are doing their best to eliminate such needless tragedy. Their global campaign against accidents needs more than purely official support, however. It needs the help of all parents, indeed of all men and women everywhere who would reduce this dreadful toll on human life and well being. It needs your help.

Our neighbor, a cautious lady, won't let her son have a 22 just at about the age when the government's set to give him a howitzer.

THIS WEEK IN CONGRESS

By Charles McC. Mathias Jr. (R-6th Dist., Md.)

In my report to the Sixth District on activities of the Congress in the week of March 20, I want to mention several important measures that were considered by the House. These include:

Military Construction
After extended debate, the House authorized military construction projects on 789 sites. The total expenditure authorized is $805 million. I supported this bill (HR 5000) because I felt it necessary for the national security.

Unemployment Compensation
The Unemployment Compensation Act which had already been passed by the House was sent to the White House for the President's approval. This important measure will temporarily extend unemployment compensation benefits for an additional thirteen weeks. It is my hope that this extension will be implemented in the very near future as I feel it will complement the already noticeable upturn in the business trend.

When this bill was before the House, I voted in favor of the proposals made by the President and concurred in by the leadership of both parties in the House. The amendments to the House version of the bill, which were added after conference with the Senate, will not materially change this legislation nor decrease its effectiveness.

Area Redevelopment
Another important bill, the Area Redevelopment Bill, was reported for consideration of the House. This bill, as already passed in the Senate, would provide $394 million for the purpose of stimulating economic upturn in areas of substantial and persistent unemployment. It is expected that this bill will be the next major legislation to be considered in the House.

Minimum Wage
The House passed the Roosevelt Minimum wage bill with the Kitchin-Ayres amendment. As passed, the bill provides for an increase in the minimum wage to $1.15 and extends coverage to 1.4 million workers not now covered.

Tax Deduction For Tuition Payments
In order to alleviate the economic burden on those currently paying the rising cost of higher education, I introduced last week a bill to allow an individual an itemized deduction for the amount of tuition paid to a college, university or other institution of higher learning. The maximum deduction will be $500 subject to a limitation of educational benefits paid by the Federal Government under present laws. I believe that it is proper and necessary to extend deductions to those individuals paying tuition to institutions as well as to allow present deductions for contributions to the same academic institutions.

Laos Briefing
On Thursday of last week I attended a briefing at the invitation of Secretary Dean Rusk at the Department of State for Congressional members on the Laotian situation.

Under Secretary Chester Bowles, Assistant Secretary G. Mennen Williams, Charles Bohlen, and others were present. The Secretary of State outlined the current crisis in Southeastern Asia and warned that it was approaching a serious phase for which the Congress and the American people should be prepared.

State Unemployment Sets Record

Total unemployment in the Baltimore Metropolitan Area and over the State as a whole reached record levels for the second successive month in February, while total employment continued its decline, the Department of Employment Security reported this week.

But Robert B. Kimble, the Department's Executive Director, noted that the changes for the worse from January to February were more moderate than from December to January.

Some 94,500 Marylanders, or 8.5 per cent of the labor force, were out of work in February. Baltimore Metropolitan Area unemployed numbered 60,100 or 8.2 per cent of the area labor force.

The number unemployed in Maryland in February was 7,500 greater than the 87,000 of January, and 28,200 greater than the 68,800 of February, 1960. The rate of Statewide unemployment was 7.8 in January, and 6.1 in February of last year.

In the Baltimore Area, the number unemployed in February rose by 3,400 over the 56,700 of January, and by 18,800 over the 41,300 of February, 1960. The Baltimore area rate of unemployment was 7.8 in January, and 5.8 in February a year ago.

Total Maryland employment in February was 1,017,300, a drop of 4,400 from the 1,021,700 of January. The February figure is 3,400 greater than the 1,013,900 of February, 1960, but there were 4,300 workers on strike in February of last year who would have been counted among the employed except for the labor dispute. There were no strikers in February this year.

In the Baltimore area in February, the 669,800 persons holding jobs were fewer than either the 673,300 of January or the 678,900 of February a year ago. In addition, 3,500 Baltimore area workers were on strike in February, 1960.

The increases in unemployment and declines in employment in February were due to the combined efforts of recessionary economic conditions, normal seasonal influences and some of the most severe winter weather Maryland has experienced in years.

All figures for February this year are preliminary.

Sportsmen Plan To Stock Lake

President James Kemp presided at the regular meeting of the Indian Lookout Conservation Club held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall. Approximately 25 members were present at the meeting and discussed plans to improve the roadway and parking lot at the club's grounds in the near future. Discussed at the meeting were the regulations pertaining to Rainbow Lake. It was decided to place two signs at the Lake explaining the rules concerning fishing there. The sportsmen's attention was called to the number of cases of vandalism occurring at the lake. Individuals have been shooting and damaging the clubhouse there and also damaging other equipment in the area. The group announced it would plant a field of corn and three other food patches on their club grounds northwest of town. The feed would be raised for the preservation of wildlife. Two new members were admitted to the group. They were Earl Tracey, Emmitsburg and Raymond C. Hoffman, Washington. The annual carnival date has been established as July 20-23, three days. At the present time the club is busily engaged in stocking Rainbow Lake with fish preparatory to the opening of the lake in the near future.

Litterbugging Is Deplored

Maryland motorists were urged by Harry E. Uhler, Asst. General Manager, of the Automobile Club of Maryland, today to curb highway litter this spring and summer through use of litterbags and trash disposal receptacles at gasoline service stations and roadside rests.

The Automobile Club official said that trash and garbage deposited along the highways are not only an eyesore and an irritating distraction for people who come to see our scenery, but they are a safety hazard as well. He stated that many accidents occur when drivers swerve to avoid objects thrown onto the highways by careless travelers.

"Broken glass on the highway can ruin tires in a short time," Mr. Uhler said. "Fires are caused by people throwing lighted material or a lighted cigarette from a moving vehicle. Garbage not properly disposed of presents a definite threat to health. And rubbish and trash clog drainage systems and ditches along the highways."

Mr. Uhler cited an article which appeared in the publication, Better Roads, describing the manner of creature known as the Litterbug. The article said:

"This bug may be a substantial citizen, active in civic work, who goes to PTA meetings and takes a vacation trip only once or twice a year. Or a not-so-substantial citizen who would rather dump his household garbage by the side of the road than pay regular disposal costs. Or one of a gay party of high-living people who are drinking their way down the highway, throwing out empty cans and bottles. Or a nice person who simply doesn't think much about what his empty package of cigarettes, or napkin or soft-drink bottle multiplied by thousands would do to a highway. More than anything else, today's Litterbug is a careless, thoughtless motorist."

Tax Refund Rules Explained

Refunds or credits of state and local taxes, which were claimed as a deduction on a prior year's Federal income tax return, generally constitute taxable income and must be reported on Federal income tax returns in the year received.

Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue issued this reminder today for Baltimore district taxpayers who have questioned the treatment of Maryland State and District of Columbia refunds or credits received during the year 1960.

He noted, however, that where the taxpayer claimed the standard deduction in the prior year, he is not considered to have received a Federal tax benefit from such payment in the prior year and need not report a subsequent refund or credit of state or local taxes paid.

Taxpayers who have taxable refunds or credits to report should list them in Schedule H of Form 1040, "U. S. Individual Income Tax Return." Forms 1040A and 1040W cannot be used for this purpose.

Mr. Machiz pointed out that the same rule generally applies in the case of subsequent refunds or reimbursements, by insurance or otherwise, of other deductible items such as medical expenses, casualty losses, interest, etc.

Refunds or credits of Federal taxes are not taxable income, and need not be reported on the tax return, but any interest received on local, state, or Federal refunds is taxable income.

Mr. Machiz said taxpayers who have further questions about the treatment or refunds or credits should telephone their local Internal Revenue Service office.

Kemp's Is Sold To Frederick Man

Kemp's Inc., Frederick's largest and most complete independent department store—and one of the oldest—has been bought by Allen R. Routzahn of Routzahn and Sons, Inc., it was announced in a joint statement Tuesday by Sam W. Maples Sr. and Annie Kemp Maples and Allen R. Routzahn.

The purchase included the building and the capital stock of Kemp's. No purchase price was announced.

Routzahn said he plans to continue the store operation as a family store with plans for enlarging on the departments and the store service.

Routzahn also said that he will continue to operate his present home furnishings business, which is located on East Patrick Street, diagonally across the street from Kemp's.

Sam Maples Jr., who has been operating the Kemp's Store since the retirement of his father, Sam Maples Sr., will remain in an advisory capacity for the time being. Maples Jr. said his future plans are not definite at the present.

Routzahn said he plans to continue the family department store style business. He also said no immediate changes are planned as to merchandise that will be carried or in the store personnel. He said the "same courteous, interested service that has prevailed will continue."

Kemp's "On The Square" has been a landmark for local residents and Routzahn said he plans to continue the use of Kemp's name on the business.

Charged With Tax Evasion

A former motel owner, Curtis R. Bucher, was indicted by the federal grand jury in Baltimore Tuesday on charges of evading $5,359 in income taxes over a three-year period.

The defendant is now a farmer who lives on Fairfield R.D. Government attorneys allege he earned a total of $36,796 over the years in question but only reported $15,005 to the tax service.

Adolph, of Baltimore, president, and Dr. Lee H. Carter, of Rockville, chairman of the group's public relations committee.

This will be the fourth queen selected by the chiropractors, who seek to emphasize the value of good posture to health and beauty by means of the special week-long educational activity.

Ford Publication Describes Civil War

The Civil War is spotlighted in the April issue of "Ford Times." Major articles in the monthly Ford Motor Company magazine form a motorists' guide to Civil War sites and describe, with illustrations, the scheduled July 22 re-enactment of the first Battle of Bull Run, the "history strip" to Richmond, Civil War battle names, the battle of rifled cannons at Savannah, Ga., historic homes of the South, and "The Pleasures of Mobile Bay."

The April issue is the second of three issues of "Ford Times" to carry articles based on observances of the Civil War Centennial, which is expected to attract millions of motorists to the South-land.

The commemorative section of the April issue is based on observances during the first year of the Civil War Centennial, planned under the guidance of the Civil War Centennial Commission, Washington, D. C., with the aid of 43 state Civil War Commissions and many historical groups.

The April issue is being distributed to readers throughout the country. Copies may be obtained at most Ford dealerships.
