Town Officials were quite disturbed, and rightfully so, this week when the State Roads Commission tarred and chipped Route 97 through Emmitsburg. For several days there were loads of loose stones sent scurrying all over the streets and town workmen were busy sweeping the streets and hauling away the stone just about as fast as the state trucks were laying them. So incensed were the officials that a protesting letter was sent to the State Roads Commission and Governor Tawes. The Governor was quick with his response and promised to look into the matter to the satisfaction of all. Observers and town officials could see no need for the action and maintain that since the stone was spread the road is in far worse condition. They maintained that it was a waste of the taxpayers' money. Seems there is no coordination between the different divisions of the Roads Commission either. Let's recall that white stripe painting job did during the heavy Fourth of July traffic. On the day before, July 3, during the height of the excessive traffic, State Roads Commission painters straddled the highways for several hours painting white lines which could have been done any day of the year. Well now that the white lines were painted on July 3 a little over a month ago, along comes the tar and chips crews this week and obliterates these new white lines. Apparently the Roads Commission's left hand doesn't know what its right hand is doing... at our expense.

Reminiscing a bit I often wonder what ever happened to the house numbering project that was to be completed in short order? Also to the proposed street to the Mother Seton School that the Town had to go to court over, won its battle and then forgot about it; where's the new Postoffice that has been proposed for so many years and why the dam in Flat Run hasn't been repaired? Some of these are town projects, some are individual problems and some belong to organizations but I guess the blame lays with all of us for some reason or another as exactly nothing has been done to complete these projects.

The idea of adorning the town with brand new decorations strikes me as a good community project and one that we all should be proud and glad to share. If you are interested and have a dollar, or five or more, be certain to send it in immediately so the project can get under way. The project is not for business establishments alone... it is a community-wide one and one that deserves our solid support. So let's get those contributions in early folks and we'll give the old burg a brand new look we'll not forget for some time to come.

Farm Bureau Opposes Financial Aid To Castro

"Congress has been urged by the American Farm Bureau Federation to refuse funds for the United Nations Special Fund which has granted over $1.5 million to assist the Cuban Government in agricultural research," states Noah Kefauver, President of the Maryland Farm Bureau.

"We are opposed in using United States money for the purpose of assisting Castro in his efforts to collectivize Cuban agriculture," said Kefauver. The U. S. puts up the largest percentage of the money for this United Nations Special Fund.

"Farm Bureau representatives in a statement to the House Foreign Affairs Committee recommended that Congress determine annually the amount of U. S. public funds that can be provided for foreign economic assistance and the back-door financing or other 'gimmicks' not be used to evade Congressional authority," according to Kefauver.

"The U. S. should continue to stand ready to support needed constructive assistance to nations of the free world," added Kefauver.

Work Begun On Two New Mount Buildings

Construction began this week on the new Student Union and dormitory buildings at Mount St. Mary's College. Henry A. Knott, Inc., Baltimore, was low bidder on the Student Union at $765,000 and the Frederick Construction Co., Frederick, was low on the dormitory at $700,000. May and Ruppert, Washington, D. C. are the architects.

The Student Union, to be completed May 7, 1962, will be a modified two-story structure of stone, structural steel and lumber, in a contemporary style to blend with surrounding buildings and the sloped site between the present library and swimming pool on the south side of the campus. Built in "T" shape it will have service and parking areas to the rear and the main entrance to the north. The location will be central to the campus.

The building will provide 41,000 square feet on both levels and include dining halls, student lounges, game rooms, mail room, kitchen, barber shop, meeting rooms, publication offices and recreational facilities. The kitchen and cafeteria will handle the present student body of 750 and can ultimately handle 1,500.

The dormitory, to be completed July 15, 1962, will be located on the north side of the campus adjacent to Pangborn Hall. It will accommodate 208 students in double rooms and will contain suites for three priests and a student lounge. All rooms will contain built-in furniture. There will be a 25-car parking lot in the rear.

The 200-foot length will be normal to Pangborn Hall, thus beginning the quadrangle shape for future expansion. This building will be in colonial style, "T" shape, three stories and a basement in height and constructed of stone to match Pangborn Hall.

The college will underwrite the construction with a Federal Housing and Finance Agency loan of $1,140,000.

CUB SCOUT NEWS

The recently organized Cub Scouts have been active this summer enjoying hikes, ball games, trips, picnics, etc.

The three dens meet once a week with a den mother, and once a month all three dens meet together at the VFW Annex at 7:30 p. m. every 3rd Wednesday to have a Pack meeting. These Pack meetings consist of: (a) a review of the display of talents and crafts of the boys' work accomplished throughout the month; (b) a 20-minute meeting with the parents and committee members, and (c) a skit put on by each den. A ceremony also takes place if any badges are to be awarded.

The parents are to be congratulated on the cooperation that they have been giving to the boys and to the organization. And also a fine job has been done by the den mothers. If they did not give up their valuable time and use their patience, the Cub Scouts would not be a success.

Last Wednesday, Aug. 16, the group had a picnic at Kump's Dam. This picnic was a very successful event even though it did rain before they had accomplished the program intended for that evening. Each family had a picnic. The children played together and some of the boys had a boat ride in Mr. Fern Baker's canoe while others were having fun waiting for their turn.

Our organization is always open for new members. If any boy wishes to join, he may do so by filling out an application from Houck's Store or contacting Eugene R. Rosensteel, Scout Master.

Local Woman Is Polio Suspect

An Emmitsburg mother was reported as the sixth new suspected victim of polio in Frederick County this week.

The sick woman is Mrs. Rachel Hobbs, wife of Joseph Hobbs, N. Seton Ave., Emmitsburg. Mrs. Hobbs is the first adult polio suspect reported in Frederick County this year.

Mrs. Hobbs, who was first thought to have pleurisy, was sent to the Anne Warner Hospital in Gettysburg, for treatment last Saturday.

On Monday, she was transferred to the Maryland polio treatment headquarters in the Baltimore City Hospital. She has no paralysis except for a stiff neck and spinal spasms and may not have infantile paralysis, Dr. Burgess of the County Health Department indicated.

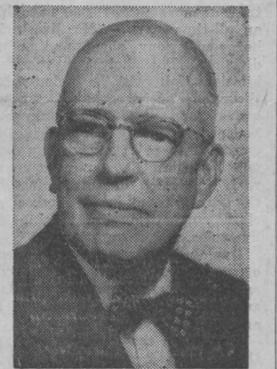

Mrs. Hobbs has had three of the series of four polio vaccination shots, receiving her last shot two years ago in 1959.

Dr. Burgess emphasized that some of the suspected polio cases may be cases of the Coxsackie virus or other forms of meningoencephalitis which closely resemble infantile paralysis in their immediate symptoms but do not result in permanent paralysis.

Potomac Edison Executive Retires

Henry H. Startzman, Vice President of the Potomac Edison System, has retired from active service with the utility organization, effective August 1.

His retirement brings to a close a long and distinguished career in the electrical industry, spanning a period of over 42 years. He had been with Potomac Edison for over 33 years.

A native of Baltimore, Mr. Startzman attended schools there and graduated from Johns Hopkins University. He began his business career with Westinghouse Electric Corporation at Pittsburgh in 1919 and was transferred to that company's sales organization at Baltimore in 1922.

Mr. Startzman continued there until 1938 when he resigned to join Potomac Edison as Manager of the Merchandise Department at Cumberland. The following year he moved to Hagerstown as a member of the Industrial Power Sales Department.

In 1936, he was promoted to manager of that department, in which capacity he worked until 1948 when he was named Assistant Chief Engineer in the Engineering Department. He was appointed Assistant Vice President and Chief Engineer in 1951.

Mr. Startzman was elected Vice President of the Potomac Edison Company and Subsidiary Companies in September, 1954, and has served as a member of the Board of Directors. Until June of this year, he has been a member of the Executive Committee of the Board.

Mr. Startzman has served the United Fund and its predecessor Community Chest organization in many capacities over the years. He is a member of St. Johns Lutheran Church and has served on the Church Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Startzman reside at 1401 Oak Hill Avenue in Hagerstown. They have two children: Mrs. Ruth Ann Russell, of Hagerstown; and Henry H. Startzman Jr., a doctor in Baltimore.

Enjoy Outing

The last in a series of outings sponsored by St. Joseph's Church was held Tuesday when a busload of adults and youngsters made a trip to Caledonia State Park. Father Martin Sleasman, assistant pastor, was the sponsor for the group.

The United States and the British Empire are the only major countries without universal military training.

Receives Degree

Terrence Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Smith, Timonium, Md., and former residents of Emmitsburg, was among those graduating from The Citadel in South Carolina this week. Terry also was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army Reserve Corps. Lt. Smith is the grandson of Mrs. Genevieve R. Elder, Emmitsburg.

K. of C. Planning Annual Banquet

The regular meeting of Brute Council 1865, Knights of Columbus, was held Monday night in the Council Home on the Square, Grand Knight Carl Wetzel presiding with 20 members in attendance.

Richard Topper, chairman of the recent crab feast reported the event netted approximately $70. A communication from the State Deputy announced the resignation of Frank Pothaus as the group's insurance representative. It was announced that the annual state outing of the Knights of Columbus will be held on Sept. 10 at Gwynn Oak Park, Baltimore.

Plans for the annual Knight of the Year banquet to be held in October were discussed and Curtis Topper and Carroll Frock Jr. were named in charge of the arrangements. During the meeting balloting for the selection of the Knight of the Year took place and the winners will be announced at the next regular meeting preparatory to final voting. The Grand Knight announced that an "Open House" would be held sometime in late October and that the committee would be named at a later date. Curtis D. Topper, local delegate to the annual National Convention of the order, gave a report on the convention which he attended early this week at Colorado Springs, Colo. After some discussion by the group it was decided to place an order for four road signs to be placed at the four main approaches to the town. The signs would meet with specifications prepared by the Jaycee plan which would place a master road sign with all clubs' emblems, should this project ever get under way. Roy Baker of McGregor, Tex., was a guest during the meeting.

Dorsey Enters Race For County Commissioner

Lawrence A. Dorsey, burgess of Woodboro for the past 12 years, is the first in the county to officially announce as a candidate for County Commissioner, subject to the Democratic primary.

Dorsey, probably one of the county's best known citizens, operates Dorsey's Meats in Woodboro. He is the third generation to follow in the family business which is engaged in the wholesale and retail meat business.

Dorsey was first elected mayor of Woodboro in 1950 and is now in his sixth two-year term. In 1954 a public water system was installed and two years ago, Dorsey said the water rate was reduced by 15 per cent.

Dorsey was elected president of the Woodboro fire company in 1957 and still heads the group of about 125 firemen. The fire company is the newest in the Frederick County Firemen's Association. Under his leadership a fire hall was erected in Woodboro and the $40,000 debt incurred has been erased. The fire company building, which also serves as a community hall, is equipped with a modern kitchen and other meeting facilities.

Dorsey is probably best known through his Lions affiliations. He is a charter member of the Woodboro club and has held all of the major offices of his club as well as the zone which includes all of the Lions clubs in the county. He was elected District Governor for 1959-60 after serving a term each as Zone chairman and deputy district governor.

Only recently the dinner committee met with prominent Democrats from 15 counties in Maryland and not a single representative indicated that he or she was encountering difficulty in lining up supporters for the Governor Tawes' Testimonial Dinner.

In addition, women Democrats in Maryland have formed their own State-wide Committee to insure that the women voters of the Party are given an opportunity to pay their respects to Governor Tawes.

Bank Answers Court Action

The First National Bank of Fairfield this week filed an answer in the assumpsit action brought against it by the Penn-Moc Shoe Company of Fairfield in which it asks the court to strike the complaint against it and enter judgment in favor of the bank.

In its answer the bank listed checks totaling $9,164.89 which it admits apparently were forged and thus did not have an authentic signature. It stated that it has paid Penn-Moc that amount. It denies that it "wrongfully deducted from the plaintiff (Penn Moc) account the sum of $37,954.54 or any other sum or sums."

The suit was brought against the bank by Penn-Moc after the shoe company's bookkeeper, William N. Shanks, disappeared. Charges of forgery of checks were brought against Shanks who currently is in the Carroll County jail charged with two bank hold-ups.

The bank denies knowledge that 28 other checks were forged and demands proof at trial. Those checks total $21,853.95.

The bank claims that it supplied statements on or about the first of each month to the Penn-Moc Shoe Company and returned the checks.

The checks on which the bank paid, according to its answer, were, February 16, to Western Union Telegraph Company, $1,495; February 20, to Western Union, $1,695; February 27, to Western Union, $1,790; March 3, to Western Union, $1,530; March 6, to Western Union, $1,830; March 10, to William N. Shanks, $429.75; March 10, to William N. Shanks, $395.14.

Meningitis Case Reported

Richard Ohler, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fern R. Ohler, Gettysburg, former residents of Emmitsburg, was reported as still in a serious condition at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg this week but "showing some improvement," according to his physician, Dr. James Allison. The child was admitted to the Warner Hospital Sunday suffering from acute meningitis.

Msgr. Mulcahy Publishes Book On Local Grotto

Rt. Rev. Msgr. George D. Mulcahy, rector of Mount St. Mary's Seminary, and former chancellor of the Harrisburg Diocese, has published a 22-page history of the Mount St. Mary's Grotto, the oldest Lourdes replica in the country.

Msgr. Mulcahy traces the erection of the grotto back to the founding day of the college under Rev. John Dubois in 1808. Here at the oldest shrine to the Blessed Virgin in continuous existence in the United States, Venerable Mother Seton and her band of pioneer Sisters of Charity assembled in 1809 for frequent prayers and meditation. Msgr. Mulcahy quotes copiously from her journals. Here, too, she taught the children of the parish.

In 1827 a retreat was held at the grotto which was attended by four future bishops and John McCloskey who was to become the first American Cardinal. All were then students at Mt. St. Mary's.

In 1858, as the college celebrated its fiftieth anniversary, the grotto was the site of religious devotions. Corpus Christi processions were begun also and George Miles, the poet of the mountain, immortalized the shrine in his Jubilee Ode "Aladdin's Palace."

The construction of the Lourdes Shrine began in 1875 but the new edifice did not immediately displace the original grotto.

Just prior to the sesquicentennial celebration of the college, Rev. Fr. Hugh J. Phillips began the renovation of the area. Stations of the Cross were erected; the natural amphitheater was enlarged; shrubs were planted, a huge parking lot built and the general area beautified.

Fr. Phillips secured encouragement from the Apostolic Delegate to the United States, Archbishop Cioognani, who this week was raised to the post of Vatican Secretary of State and is now a Cardinal. Cardinal Cioognani was entranced with the beauty of the spot and was instrumental in petitioning the Holy See for indulgences to mark the prayers of the faithful.

In the past few years thousands of pilgrims from every state in the union have visited the grotto. Devotions such as Mass and benediction are held regularly. The 100-year-old tradition of the Mount St. Mary's students attending Mass there on May 1, Mary's month, continues.

Msgr. Mulcahy's booklet is the first complete history of the grotto. It is illustrated with numerous pictures which show both old and current views of the grotto, some of the individuals who had a part in its erection, and pilgrims attending services.

Msgr. Mulcahy has dedicated his study to Rev. Fr. Phillips, the restorer of the grotto, and the Seminarians who assisted him. The brochure is an authentic bit of Catholic Americana.

Wet Road Causes Car To Crash

An automobile carrying three Pennsylvania residents was wrecked north of Emmitsburg on Rt. 15 late Sunday when the vehicle skidded on the slippery highway and overturned.

The occupants were taken to the Annie Warner Hospital in Gettysburg for treatment of shock and released. They were identified as Amos L. Whitley, 40, R5, Hanover; his wife, Mrs. Helen Irene Whitley, 32; and their 10-year-old son, John Howard Whitley.

State Police said the accident occurred just a few minutes before midnight as the Whitleys drove north on Rt. 15 just north of Emmitsburg.

Trooper Earl Tracey reported that the Whitley car skidded on the slippery road as it rounded a curve. Mrs. Whitley, who was driving at the time of the accident, apparently jammed on the brakes, causing the car to run off the right side of the road into an embankment, police stated.

The vehicle then came back onto the highway and skidded to the left shoulder and overturned. There were no charges placed against Mrs. Whitley.

Meeting Changed

It has been announced that the regular meeting of the Town Council which normally is held on the first Monday of the month, will be held next month on Sept. 11, instead of Sept. 4 which will be Labor Day.

England was the first country to issue postage stamps.

Fund Started For Christmas Decorations

Plans to proceed with the decorating of Emmitsburg during the Yuletide were made at a public meeting held in the MG Theater Monday night. The meeting was attended by a representative group of individuals, businessmen and Jaycee members.

It was decided to immediately begin a drive to pay for the decorations which must be ordered prior to Sept. 20 to insure delivery in time for the Christmas season. The assistance of the Emmitsburg Chronicle was sought and each week for the next six weeks a coupon will be published and the amount raised every week will be made known. The coupon will have a place for the name of the donor, the address and the amount. Names of donors will not be published, nor the amount of their donation if so requested. All funds received through the paper will be turned over to the Emmitsburg Jaycees immediately.

It is the plan of the Jaycees to erect a large recording thermometer on the Square where the public can see weekly just how the drive for funds is progressing.

The decorating plan is of multi-phase with the first phase being the purchase of $750 worth of ornaments and each year adding a sufficient number until the major portion of the town is adequately adorned. Payment regulations call for a third of the $750 upon ordering; a third on arrival of the material and the balance within 30 days after arrival. The decorations will be similar to those of Gettysburg and Frederick, the garlands being made of either aluminum or unbreakable plastic. The decoration will be weather-proof and made to local specifications.

Those in charge of the project, sponsored by the Jaycees, urge the general public to make its contributions early. Business places, clubs and organizations will be contacted personally if solicitations are not mailed in to the paper. Individuals and all others wishing to make a contribution are asked to clip the coupon from the paper and mail to the Emmitsburg Chronicle... before Sept. 20.

It is planned by the Emmitsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce to display some of the new decorations on the Square sometime next week to familiarize the general public with what is about to be purchased. Those desiring additional information on the project are asked to contact any member of the Jaycees.

St. Ignatius Church Picnic Saturday

One of the most-well attended picnics of this district, that of Saint Ignatius of Loyola Catholic Church, will be held on Saturday, Aug. 26, Father Louis F. Yeager, pastor, announces.

Known as the Old Jesuit Mission of Buchanan Valley, the chicken and ham supper with all the trimmings is served family style. On hand will be various types of amusements and games and entertainment.

Father Yeager extends a cordial welcome to all to attend the affair. The old Mission is located between Gettysburg and Chambersburg. The diningroom measures 30x65 and the kitchen 20x50 insuring plenty of seating space for its patrons. Servings will begin at noon and will continue until all are served.

LEGION PICNIC DATE SET

Plans for the annual picnic of the Francis X. Elder Post 121, American Legion, are nearing completion and the affair will be held on Saturday, Sept. 2. Servings will start at 7 p. m. and continue until all are served.

As in the past several years the event will be held at Bad Shorb's farm just north of Emmitsburg. On the menu will be steak, corn on the cob, chicken corn soup, hot dogs, beverages, etc. Admission to the picnic is $2 per person and members, auxiliary members, social members and guests are invited. Should inclement weather prevail the affair will be held the following day, Sunday, Sept. 3.

The church pennant is the only flag that may be flown above the Stars and Stripes.

Employment Picture Brightens

The Maryland State Employment Service made 6,591 placements in non-farm occupations throughout the State in July, an increase of 6.5 per cent over the 6,189 placements made in July, 1960.

Stephen C. Cromwell, Executive Director of the Maryland Department of Employment Security, reported that placements in the professional and commercial categories jumped 27.1 per cent, from 1,003 in July, 1960, to 1,275 last month.

The Maryland State Employment Service has increased its staff of professional and commercial employment interviewers as part of an intensive drive to recruit and place qualified professional, managerial, technical, sales and highly skilled clerical applicants, Mr. Cromwell said.

"Qualified applicants in many of these occupations," he noted, "are already in short supply, and every authoritative manpower survey predicts that the shortage will grow worse in the years ahead."

Maryland State Employment Service representatives also made a special promotional effort during July in connection with the nationwide "Hire Now" Campaign, which seeks to encourage full staffing of all businesses to help overcome the effects of last winter's recession.

This promotional work among employers increased the number of job openings available from 7,491 in July, 1960, to 8,458 last month, up 967 openings, or 12.9 per cent over a year ago.

Farm placements in July, generally the peak month for farm labor demand, totalled 36,123, up 4.9 per cent over the 34,423 placed in July, 1960, and 119.8 per cent more than the 16,433 farm placements made in June of this year.

The end of school brought a normal reduction in the number of counseling interviews conducted by the Maryland State Employment Service, down to 1,935 in July from 2,760 in June, a decrease of 29.9 per cent. Tests administered for aptitude and proficiency dropped from 1,848 in June to 1,403 in July, a decrease of 24.1 per cent.

Town Commissioner John S. Hollinger was confined to his home several days this week with the virus.

Government Aiding Many Small Businesses

Meredith R. Hoffmaster, Baltimore branch manager of the Small Business Administration, announced his office is now accepting applications for loans under the new program recently adopted to provide financial assistance to eligible small concerns for re-establishment of their business.

Under this program SBA will make loans either directly or in participation with banks, to small businesses sustaining economic injury and forced to relocate because of federally-aided urban renewal, highway and other construction programs.

Maturities for loans under this program, including renewals and extensions, may not exceed 20 years and loans will generally be repayable in monthly payments, including interest on the unpaid balance. A moratorium on principal payments if necessary may be authorized up to the end of the first year after disbursement.

Widows To Receive Boost In Social Security Payments

Not all widows receiving a social security check will receive an increase in September, according to W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown Social Security

District Office. The 10% increase will go only to those widows receiving a check based on the earnings of their deceased husband. Many women who are widows are being paid a retirement benefit based on their own earnings. The 10% increase does not apply to them. Other widows are under age 62 and are getting a check because they have young or disabled children in their care. The increase will not be paid to these women.

The amount of the increase for eligible widows is 10%. For example, a widow 62 or over who was receiving $50 a month based on the record of her deceased husband will now receive $55 per month; one who received $70 per month before will now receive $77 per month. The exceptions to the 10% increase will be those widows who were receiving the minimum ($33) or near minimum benefits before the new law. Such women will now receive the new minimum of $40 per month (an increase of more than 10%).

These same increases also apply to a widower or to a dependent parent who is the sole survivor of his or her son or daughter. Approximately 1 1/2 million aged widows, widowers, and dependent parents throughout the Nation will be affected by the new law.

The increases will be made automatically. Widows now receiving benefits will not have to file a new application and will not have to contact their security office.

Timonium Fair Opens Monday; Many Improvements Made

The 80th annual Maryland State Fair will be officially under way Monday for thirteen days at Timonium, with Christian H. Kahl, Baltimore County's chief executive, on hand to do the honors at the ribbon-cutting ceremony at the main gate of the Maryland State Fair grounds.

The day has been designated Baltimore County Day, and Mr. Kahl and other county officials will be escorted down the midway by the Pikesville Kiwanis Band, after which they will be guests at a luncheon with Daniel B. Brewster, fair president and the Board of Directors.

According to the records already posted in the books, entries of more than 10,000 have hit an all-time mark in the livestock, horse and pony, sheep and swine divisions. The shelves in the Exhibition Hall will be laden with thousands of items baked, sewed, grown and made by Maryland housewives, ready for judging.

$95,000 in prize money this year will be shared by many winners with a portion of this going to the winners in junior and open class competition in judging of livestock and farm products.

Daniel B. Brewster, president of the fair, expects the attendance mark for the thirteen-day event to far surpass the 300,000 mark of last year.

To climax the events of the day, the Maryland Farm Queen will be chosen to reign during the rest of the fair as official hostess.

CYO TO SPONSOR DANCE

The Seton CYO will sponsor a teen dance on Wednesday, Aug. 30 from 8.30 to 11.30 p. m. The dance will be held in St. Euphemia's Hall and music will be provided by Pam Miller and her records. The refreshment stand will feature potato chips and soft drinks. Admission will be 25c with CYO card and 35c with out. Everyone cordially invited to attend.

Light The Way To Family Vacation Fun

New York — The camping trip that used to be Dad tramping off with "the boys" has turned into a family affair in recent years. Twenty per cent more Americans have turned to tenting for vacations in the past year alone, according to authoritative estimates, with two-thirds of all camping trips now including Mom and the kids.

What's behind the boom? It's relaxing, healthy, fun, easy, says the Camping Council. And it's inexpensive: a family of four can vacation for three weeks for well under $100.

There are two other reasons for camping's growing popularity. First, a family thrown on its own resources in the beautifully simple life of the woods renews a real sense of belonging together. And, secondly, new aids to roughing it 20th Century style are constantly being developed.

One of the vanishing problems of camping is light...

to eat by, to live by, to tramp the woods by. Experts say that dependable lighting can be the key to happy camping.

Specially developed for campers, a new lantern fueled by safety-cylindrical propane gas, stays lit in the heaviest storms. Otto Bernz Co. developed the metal-cased lantern, which casts both a powerful forward and downward beam.

With most of the trouble taken out of tenting now, it's become pure fun, a wonderful vacation for the whole family.

Is "High Protein" Useful Protein?

A laboratory technician begins a test under the watchful eye of Dr. W. R. Graham, director of research at The Quaker Oats Company laboratory, where experts have developed the most useful protein ever in a ready-to-eat cereal.

BARRINGTON, ILL. — Repeated emphasis on the importance of good nutrition has made Americans protein-conscious. But too few people realize that not all proteins are equally useful in building and repairing body tissues.

Nature constructs proteins by combining various forms of amino acids. Some combinations are useful, scientists have learned. Others are incomplete and ineffective.

Proper diets must contain not just protein, but useful protein, according to Dr. W. R. Graham, Jr., director of research at The Quaker Oats Company's laboratories here.

"There are at least 22 naturally occurring amino acids," said Dr. Graham. "Eight of these must always be present to produce a truly high quality protein. Some combinations of amino acids are far more effective than others as 'building blocks' for the body. Poor quality protein fails to promote growth and repair of tissues destroyed by every-day wear and tear."

Many so-called "high protein" foods are actually low in protein quality, Dr. Graham declared. For example, test animals fed on many ready-to-eat cereals may become protein-starved and fail to grow. This, Dr. Graham pointed out, is because some cereals either lack protein quantity or contain protein of low quality. But science has learned that by proper choice, two or more incomplete proteins can be combined to make a complete, useful protein mixture.

This proper blending of proteins has resulted in a new ready-to-eat oat cereal which is just reaching food stores throughout America. Dr. Graham said the new cereal, called LIFE cereal, contains the most useful protein of any ready-to-eat cereal.

"We did have a head start," the research director acknowledged, "because oats is nature's richest cereal grain. But it is the protein blending process which sets this cereal apart."

The National Research Council recommends an average daily intake of 58 to 70 grams (about 2-1/2 ounces) of protein. One egg provides about six grams, "So does an average serving of LIFE cereal," Dr. Graham declared, "and the addition of milk raises its protein level to 10 grams per serving."

"The new cereal's blended protein is 100 per cent as efficient as the protein of meat or milk," Dr. Graham added.

100 YEARS AGO

Civil War's Top Brass Are Shifted, Promoted

Important promotions and new assignments were in the works 100 years ago this week for many of the top officers of the Civil War.

It was a period of shifting and sifting in the interim between fighting, and the changes were to affect every theater of operation.

Still another change—a change in geography—took place that week. Western Virginia was divided from eastern Virginia by action of a convention at Wheeling, and a new state named "Kanawha" was formed.

In Washington that week, George Brinton McClellan was officially confirmed a major general, highest rank in the United States army next to that of old Winfield Scott, the general in chief.

In Richmond that week, far more important promotions were being considered.

At Richmond that week, far more important promotions were being considered. President Jefferson Davis was drawing up a list of names for promotion to full general in the Confederate army.

At St. Louis, another important change was being considered by Gen. John Charles Fremont, who needed a general to take charge of the hot fighting in southeast Missouri.

At Washington that week, William Tecumseh Sherman, red-haired brigadier general who had fought at Bull Run, received orders to go to Louisville, Ky., where he would assist Gen. Robert Anderson, the man who had commanded Fort Sumter.

Next week: Fighting erupts on the Carolina coast.

Mahoney Enters Governor Race

George P. Mahoney, Baltimore County contractor, and twice unsuccessful candidate for governor of the state of Maryland, this week announced his candidacy for that office, subject to the Democratic primary next April.

I shall be a candidate for Governor of Maryland from this day forward until the contest is decided by the people of the State.

It is quite apparent that some of the old leaders of both major parties are trying to limit the voters to a choice between the incumbent Democratic Governor and his Republican predecessor.

I do not believe that the people of Maryland want to be caught in a trap where they will have to choose between Mr. Taves and Mr. McKeldin in the general election next year.

I pledge my total energy to the proposition that the people of Maryland shall have a better choice and that they shall have a real opportunity to move forward with new leadership.

The administration now in office has already wasted three precious years. They have sprinkled us with glittering oratory and airy promises, but the performance has been weak and far too many of the promises remain unfulfilled.

They have failed utterly to develop new leaders and new strength. They have been more interested in clutching all power to themselves and their cronies and in hanging on as long as possible.

Worst of all has been the spectacle of virtual control by a shadowy figure in the background—a man charitably described as "a close personal friend of the Governor."

The great Governors of the preceding decades had their friends and advisors, but they were men of integrity drawn from the mainstream of the State's political and business life.

More recently, we have had the weak Governor and the strong Rasputin lurking in the background.

It would be ridiculous, of course, to claim that they have produced nothing of value. I am fully prepared to recognize and to strengthen that which is constructive and helpful.

It is noteworthy, however, that most of the meager accomplishments of the present administration have been initiated by alert legislators or alert newspapers rather than by the man charged with affairs of State.

The root of the trouble has been indecision, evasion and even insincerity on the part of the man who should have been providing forthright leadership—the Governor of Maryland.

I sense a tremendous groundswell of public opinion demanding a fresh start and a thrust forward, demanding that the voice of the citizenry rather than the voice of the crony be heard in the Governor's chambers.

When a citizen of Maryland has a legitimate need for help from the State Administration—if I am Governor—there will be no lurking intermediary 'negotiating' or making terms for this help. This is the area which perhaps more than any other, has helped degrade the present administration.

There are many subjects on which I have definite and positive views. Very shortly, I shall present to the voters a complete statement of my position.

In addition I will announce the formation of a ticket of energetic, alert, conscientious Marylanders whose feelings about the future of our State coincide with mine.

I know the people of Maryland—not only in my native Baltimore—but in every corner of the State, where I have campaigned in the past. I am heartened by the renewed support of my old friends and by the added voices of distinguished men and women who have never been in my corner before.

For my part, I pledge that I will not rest until our goal is reached... vigorous, forthright, honest and prudent government for our beloved Free State.

The Farm Bill, as passed by the two houses of Congress, is a new version of the old effort to persuade farmers to cut production—and surpluses—by promising them higher support prices on what is grown.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Isaiah 52:3-10; Romans 10:13-17.

How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace! (Isaiah 52:7.)

In all human beings there is a longing to meet something good; yes, a desire to become good. In spite of everything, a vestige of the image of God lies deep down in our minds and hearts, covered though they may be with dirt and uncleanness. Deep calls unto deep, and we reach up longingly toward Him—toward God—in whose image we are made.

How many times I have met this longing, sometimes seeing it become a flame at the right moments! I have recognized it in the modern atheist in the West, and I have seen it in people in the deep forests of the Congo.

We become rich when we find who is the source of all good and His life becomes our life. We possess that which can dispel the darkness from our lives and take away the night from the lives of others. What an unspeakable joy to have that which gives perspective and meaning to one's life!

It makes such a person a messenger of the good news to others.

Prayer

My God and holy Father, my life is in Thy hands. Grant that I may possess what is worth possessing. Take all other things away. I will hold fast to what Thou hast given me. In the name of our Savior, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Thought For The Day

We become rich when we find God is the source of all good and His life becomes our life.

OUTDOOR SPORTING TIPS

Fishing
"An ounce of prevention . . ." Fishhooks, especially small ones, can be a problem and source of danger. A rocking boat, a moment's carelessness, can set the hook in your thumb or hand. Play it safe—and smart. When tying a small hook to a leader, cover the hook first with a cork. The cork makes the hook easy to handle and at the same time gives the angler protection from being stuck.

Still another safeguard is placing the hooks between layers of a cellophane tape. Makes their sizes easy to spot and keeps the points sharp—for fishing.

A handy item to have in your tackle box, in addition to all the other handy items, is a chunk of beeswax. The wax makes very good emergency line dressing, in case you forget to bring a can, and does not melt easily.

How many times have you been caught with your boots or waders in dire need of first aid and there wasn't a patch in the house—or boat—or stream? Next time you start out fishing, don't leave until you've tucked a few adhesive plaster strips in your tackle box. One of these strips on each side of a tear or hole in a wader will provide an emergency patch that makes the waders almost as good as new.

Archery

Game can be spooked easily enough without your adding to it by overlooking a simple precaution. Don't let the twang of a bowstring spook game. A piece of rubber tubing about half an inch in diameter and three inches long located about six inches from the ends of the bowstring will deaden the sound and help you flatten your game.

Another way to keep the woods peace is to wrap broadhead arrows in paper before you put them in the quiver. This way the arrows won't rattle and they'll be protected from rubbing against each other and dulling. And it's one way of getting rid of yesterday's newspaper.

Your Personal Health

Still A Wonder Drug

One of the oldest of the wonder drugs is plain old ordinary aspirin. Although nobody yet understands quite how it works, aspirin is an effective pain reliever. Patients with arthritis take it for long periods, of time with considerable relief and no ill effects. There's some reason to doubt that the fancy types of aspirin, sold for a lot more than the ordinary kind, are really any better, so if you need aspirin there's no need to pinch your pocketbook.

However, when it comes to self-medication, there are always some precautions to observe.

1. While it's quite safe to take a couple of aspirin for an occasional headache or minor ache, if you find yourself taking aspirin several times a day for several days, go and see your doctor. You may have some illness that needs attention.

3. If aspirin gives you a burning feeling in your stomach, take it with a full glass of water to which you've added a pinch of bicarbonate of soda.

4. Don't give adult type aspirin (5 grains) to children. There are special weaker strength aspirin tablets for the youngsters. And keep all aspirin out of the children's reach. In large quantities aspirin is poisonous. This message is a Christmas Seal service provided by your tuberculosis association.

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kestling

Why some sporting dogs lose their sense of smell entirely is a mystery that still plagues modern science, reports Henry P. Davis, Dogs Editor, Sports Afield Magazine.

Almost everyone who has owned any appreciable number of sporting dogs has undergone that mysterious experience in which one or more of his dogs lost the ability to smell. Sometimes the trouble clears up within a few days. When this happens nothing much is thought of it.

When top dogs lose the power of scent permanently, however, it becomes a matter of deep concern. This problem is not peculiar to any section of the country or breed or type and is a fairly common experience among sporting dog owners.

Most of us profess to know something about scent and the subject is always one for spirited discussion wherever sporting dog people gather; but when a dog "loses his nose" entirely, we seem to be helpless to do anything about it.

No. 19739 Equity
In the Circuit Court
For Frederick County
In Equity
Carroll H. Sigafosse of Brunswick, Md.

Vs.

The County Commissioners of Frederick County, a Body Corporate and Politic, and Charlotte W. Yarroll, successor to James H. Falk, deceased, County Treasurer of Frederick County, and the unknown heirs, devisees, personal representatives, descendants or successors in interest, of Frank Nichols, Deceased

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The Object of this Bill is that the Court may take jurisdiction in the premises and enter a Decree removing the cloud upon the title of the Complainant and that the Court shall declare that the Complainant has a good and marketable fee simple title to the property described in the Bill of Complainant, and may sell or convey or otherwise deal with such property without regard to the claims of the unknown heirs, devisees, personal representatives, descendants of Frank Nichols, deceased.

The Bill recites that the Complainant is the owner of a parcel of real estate situate, lying and being in the Petersburg Election District, Frederick County, Maryland, the same being known and designated as lot No. 1 on The Brunswick Industrial Company's Addition, as shown on a plat prepared by Preston E. Miller, surveyor, dated August 24, 1906, and recorded in Liber 276, Folio 186, One of the Land Records of Frederick County, Maryland, and fronting for the same on Middle Street, a distance of 150 feet, and extending back a uniform depth of 40 feet along Maryland Avenue as shown on said plat, it being all the same real estate which was heretofore conveyed by John T. Quinn and Mary A. Quinn, his wife, unto Carroll H. Sigafosse and Nora M. Sigafosse, his wife, the said Nora M. Sigafosse having departed this life prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint, vesting the entire title to said real estate in the Complainant, by deed dated January 10, 1950, recorded in Liber 482, Folio 309, One of the Land Records of Frederick County, Maryland, a certified copy of the deed being filed with the Bill; The Bill further states that the above described property is a portion of the real estate conveyed by The County Commissioners of Frederick County, Maryland, a Body Corporate, by U. Grant Hooper, President, to John T. Quinn and Mary A. Quinn, his wife, predecessors, in title to your Complainant, by deed dated July 13, 1948, recorded in Liber 481, Folio 576, One of the Land Records of Frederick County, Maryland; That by a deed dated September 17, 1946, and recorded in Liber 457, Folio 120, One of the Land Records of Frederick County, Maryland, James H. Falk, County Treasurer of Frederick County, which said James H. Falk is now deceased and has been succeeded as County Treasurer of Frederick County by Charlotte W. Yarroll, acting pursuant to a final decree in No. 15815 Equity, of the Circuit Court of Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, conveyed the aforesaid property to the County Commissioners of Frederick County, a Body Corporate, said proceedings in No. 15815 Equity as aforesaid having been had as a result of a tax sale of said real estate, said real estate at the time of said tax sale having been in the name of Frank Nichols, said title having been obtained by the said

Frank Nichols by deed from Raleigh Moore and Sarah E. Moore, his wife, by deed dated May 14, 1909, which said deed is recorded in Liber 286, Folio 459, One of the Land Records of Frederick County, Maryland, both of said deeds are filed with the Bill; and that by other means conveyances not herewith relevant title and ownership of said real estate is now in your Complainant; That a question has now been raised as to whether the Complainant has a good and marketable title to said premises by reason of the fact that none of the original papers and documents filed in No. 15815 Equity, in the Circuit Court of Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, were ever recorded among the Records of Frederick County, nor are such original papers and documents available for recording as required by law, although diligent search has been made by the Complainant and his Solicitor, and although the original docket entries in the aforesaid No. 15815 Equity were made, which said docket entries are available for the inspection of the Court; that further question has been raised as to the good and marketable title of the Complainant by reason of the fact that there is nothing of record to show that the original papers and documents in the proceedings No. 15815 Equity, as aforesaid, were properly prepared for filing; that the Complainant is now in possession of the premises openly, notoriously, adversely, with color of title and under claim of right, and the predecessors in title of the Complainant since July 13, 1948 have also been in such continuous, adverse possession under color of title and claim of right; That the Complainant and his Solicitor have made diligent effort to ascertain the heirs, devisees, personal representatives, descendants or successors in interest of Frank Nichols, deceased, but have been unable to discover any such heirs, devisees, personal representatives, descendants or successors in interest of the said Frank Nichols; That the unavailability of the aforesaid original papers and documents in the aforesaid proceedings in No. 15815 Equity and the possibility that said proceedings were improperly prepared had constituted a cloud upon the title of the Complainant, and although the Complainant claims to hold a valid fee simple title, the same cannot be established of record without the removal of the aforesaid cloud.

It is thereupon this 26th day of July, 1961, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, and by the authority thereof, ORDERED that the Complainant, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Frederick County, once a week in each of four successive weeks, the last of such publications to be made not less than thirty days before the 3rd day of October, 1961, give notice to the unknown heirs, devisees, personal representatives, descendants or successors of Frank Nichols, deceased, whether residents or non-residents, of the object and substance of the Bill, warning them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 3rd day of October, 1961, next, to show cause if any they have, why a Decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Here's a Kitchen to Delight Most Particular Housewife

New design of modern electric range gives this newly-remodeled kitchen space-age efficiency, convenience, and beauty.

A modern electric range with two eye-level automatic ovens is an important feature of the decor as well as an efficient worker in the ultra-modern, newly remodeled kitchen shown in the photograph. Setting the range on tapered legs over a planter gives the kitchen an air of grace and space.

Since electric high-oven ranges such as this one can also be hung on the wall or set on a base cabinet, they are adaptable to a variety of kitchen designs. For small kitchens, models with a single, roomy oven are available.

Whether large or small, the new high-oven ranges have four surface burners in a sliding drawer below the ovens. Oven controls are conveniently located at eye level, and attractive glass oven doors open up vertically, away from pots and pans on surface units.

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

By Margaret B. Long
Supervisor, Home Economics Education, Jacksonville, Fla.
Doing Diapers At Home
"Can I correctly do my diapers at home and still protect my baby from diaper rash?" This is a question I'm frequently asked when I appear before groups of young mothers.

er hygiene to prevent diaper rash can be practiced simply and surely, by diapering your baby with correctly processed diapers and following a fastidious diapering routine as long as baby wears diapers.
The National Baby Care Council in cooperation with the diaper service industry and medical authorities has set up the following accepted procedure for the correct processing of diapers in your own home:

1. Rinse wet or soiled diapers immediately upon removal. Store until washing in closed container filled with soapy water or disinfectant.
2. Three rinses in clear hot water before washing. Follow with four separate sudsings. In all home washers, the load must be lighter than for the usual family laundry—not more than 16 diapers.
3. Six rinses in clear hot water to remove all soap and detergent. This is accomplished in an automatic washer by resetting the dial.

4. After washing and rinsing, sterilize diapers, boiling them 30 minutes.
5. Rinse sterilized diapers in vinegar-water; one cup of vinegar to a gallon of water to be sure diapers are not alkaline.
6. Treat as dry as possible then wrap diapers according to directions, with the special diaper antiseptic suggested by your physician.

What will all this cost? In addition to the time and the effort, it has been estimated it costs about $9.14 a week to do diapers at home. This covers the cost of soap, softener, bleach, water, antiseptic, gas or electricity, the cost of the diapers and wear and tear on the equipment used.

As a home economist, let me say, professional diaper service will cost you about 42-cents a week more than the cost of doing diapers at home. When you consider the time and effort you save, the extra few pennies are well worth the convenience.

A diaper service, each week, will supply you with 80 to 100 clinically clean, soft, white diapers free from irritating residues of soap and detergents. Professional diaper processing is done under strict laboratory control, using specialized washing and rinsing equipment. Diaper service is well worth considering.

liberal" ideas, race relations, labor organizing, worker education, and revolutionary socialist activities in general. More and more it appeared that their ideas coincided with Marxist views. Too little attention was being paid, they insisted in the fashion of the reformer of that day, to the socialist experiments in Soviet Russia which were sure to be the wave of the future.

Supported by Liberals
Some years passed before this "school" ran into difficulties with the authorities. A combination of circumstances, including World War II, caused its closing, but not before many a "liberal" had called for support to keep it going. Undoubtedly it left its mark in our state and nation, for it must have contributed its share to the spreading of Red-tinged political beliefs that usually begin action by attacking freedom of enterprise and capitalism and by calling for "liberal" legislation. (Not every left-winger in Arkansas went to college at Mena, for it is probably that some of them encountered similar teachings at Harvard and other major universities.)

But the lesson of history out of the Mena episode is pertinent today. The citizens of Mena were then not particularly worried about "un-American" ideas at Commonwealth College. The Thirties was not a very vigilant decade. It was, however, a period when Marxism learned how to successfully infiltrate our nation. Politicians saw the glamour of ideas that looked new and workable. It was not too difficult to persuade people impatient with depression to try unwise remedies.

New Patriotism
Now that we have seen the march of socialism throughout the world, particularly the desperate plunder and slaughter of Communism as it attempts to achieve the socialist paradise of the proletariat, we are convinced more than ever that it can happen here. The people of Latvia, Poland, Hungary, Cuba, did not choose Communism by popular vote, although it is not inconceivable that a nation could so choose. The point is that today they have no choice. While we still have the freedom to make choices, shall we not choose to be vigilant rather than to relax into a false sense of security?

Some old-timers at Mena have reason today to see history with fine balance. They are still unashamed of their patriotism and love of country, but they are a little more anxious to show it than they used to be. This year, on the Fourth of July, the whole town of Mena put on one of the most demonstrative patriotic rallies I have ever seen. I had the feeling that the older citizens of Mena desired most earnestly to impress upon their youngsters the necessity of preserving the American way of life.

Train For The Future

Here in this town, where a Communist college is reported to have had its Stalin Hall, Lenin Hall, Free - Love Hall, etc., I told a crowd of several thousand: "No man wants to be a slave of another. Each wants to be free. In America we have achieved freedom of person to the extent that even the President of our nation could not cause the humblest citizen to be jailed and left there indefinitely without a trial and that before a jury selected in his own community."

"We have freedom of travel, freedom of occupation, freedom to own property, freedom to create a business, freedom to choose the vocation of our children, freedom of religion, of speech and of press. These freedoms represent a great treasure that we should indeed hold sacred and pass on to our children and our children's children. All of them are going to be exposed to socialist and Communist propaganda. But it is our duty to prepare the present and oncoming generations to appreciate our American way of life."

Pets Need Proper Care

Your pet dog or cat may suffer more from summer's heat than you do.

Not only do they find hot weather uncomfortable, but many cats and dogs run the risk of death or injury during summer months, the Maryland State Veterinary Medical Association told pet owners this week.

Veterinarians have reported numerous cases of heat prostration in pets during the past month and there have been reports of dogs and cats being injured by automobiles under which they sought shade and shelter.

Dogs like to rest on the pavement, in the shade of the car, while many cats prefer to crawl next to the motor, under the hood of the car. Unsuspecting pet owners start their car engines and often fatally injure their cat or dog.

The veterinary association not only warned pet owners to look under cars before driving away, but offered these hot-weather tips:

1. Do not overfeed or underfeed the pet.
2. Provide plenty of fresh water and refresh the water often.
3. Do not take the pet out in the heat, either for rides in the car or for walks or for any other reason except for about three minutes for them to obey their habits.
4. Control skin parasites, because the presence of these can drive the animal into heat prostration.

Serious droughts in the best duck nesting areas on Canadian prairies threaten to curtail sharply waterfowl production again this year.—Sports Afield.

YOUNG IDEAS from Polly Ponds

Q: "I have a friend who's a very nice girl but she keeps borrowing my clothes, and returning them in terrible condition. A skirt came back all wrinkled and spotty and a sweater that was practically brand new had a tear in it. I haven't said anything because I don't want to lose her as a friend. But I don't want to lend her any more clothes. What should I do if she wants to borrow something again?"

A: If her friendship is based on your ability to clothe her, it isn't worth keeping.

The next time she asks to borrow from your wardrobe, simply say no, firmly and politely. If she's really your friend, she won't be offended.

Re-Birth Of Patriotism
Back in the depression days of the Thirties a few energetic and obviously dedicated young men and women came down from the North and East to establish a college at Mena, Arkansas. They worked rather quietly in this West Arkansas mountain town getting their facilities in order for a small school. Townspeople were inclined to mind their own business, particularly since their advice wasn't asked nor seemingly required.

Support and financial backing for the little school came chiefly from distant places, but it soon appeared that its ideas also came from afar. Its operators were much interested in "new" social thought, the struggle against capital, "progress-

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Children's Inheritances
BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 24—For thousands of years scientists have been interested in alchemy, or the turning of a base metal like lead into some precious metal like gold. No one has thus far succeeded in doing this. Attempts have also been made to insulate gravity by mixing two or more elements and finding an alloy which will shield gravity. Here again this has failed ever since the days of Sir Isaac Newton, 250 years ago. Recently, various studies have been made of inheritance, which I will discuss in this column under the general subject of "polymers."

What Has Been Taught
 It has been generally accepted that both the father and the mother supply certain genes which are attached together into "strings" known as chromosomes. These genes carry special talents down through the generations. As to how far back they originate, or how long they have traveled through some mother's body, we do not know. We further do not know just what traits or talents will come through, or when. History, however, does show that the greater the number of children a mother has, the greater her chance of having one or more famous children. This helps to explain why our nation has been built up by large families and why so often an "only child" has not amounted to much.

The Famous IBM Advertisement
 The stock of International Business Machines Company is one of the highest selling stocks on the New York Stock Exchange. Furthermore the company has a great reputation to uphold. Hence its advertisement on the inside front cover of U. S. News and World Report for July 24, 1961 has created great interest. It shows in a spectacular way that what we are depends upon the arrangement of the molecules which comprise the cells of which we are made. Last spring an article on polymers appeared in the MIT Technology Review, written by F. W. Billmeyer, Jr. and A. S. Michaels. In addition, I have part of the Long Island Biological Association recently in session at Cold Spring Harbor, New York, attended by the leading biologists of the U. S. and abroad, including Dr. Monod, whom I endeavored to meet when I was in Paris. Conclusions were that the basic unit of all living things is the cell, —consisting of an inner part, known as the nucleus, surrounded by the cytoplasm, which contains the seed of life that transmits heredity from generation to generation. It determines whether the fertilized egg — a single cell — will become a mouse, an elephant, or a human being. Our Most Remarkable Chemicals

In the creation of life the biologists thought the enzymes were important factors in the polymers' manifestations, but these reactions are too technical to discuss here. The two principal polymers have very long names, hence they are commonly referred to as the DNA group and the RNA group.

Dr. Conrad and Professor Jacques Monod insisted that the genes appear comparable to a complex computing machine governing the operations of an automatic factory. These regulate the output of the factory and the endurance of the factory. They also stated that, accidents excepted, we could live to be 100 or 120 years old; furthermore, that many people have been buried as dead when they might have been revived by these wonderful chemicals.

Conclusions: This brings us back to the IBM advertisement. I am neither a chemist nor a biologist, but I do believe that the discovery of these polymers is the most wonderful discovery of this generation. When people really understand their possibilities, both in peace and in war, we may enjoy our greatest prosperity—with occasional economic readjustments—during the next ten years.

It also means that we should urge our children and grandchildren to seek good mates and raise large families. History shows that good land and good children are the best investments. Stocks and bonds will come and go; but polymers will go on forever. I wish this could be taught to human beings.

Stock Show Date Set; Many Prizes

Entry blanks and premium lists showing cash prizes of more than $52,000 for the fifteenth annual Eastern National Livestock Show were mailed this week to livestock breeders throughout the country.

The premium lists outline the cash awards and other special prizes, as well as the regulations for exhibiting at the livestock event at the Maryland State Fair Grounds at Timonium, November 11 through 16.

The Eastern National is the fourth largest livestock show in the nation and usually attracts exhibitors from more than 20 states. More than 1,500 of the nation's finest breeding cattle, steers, market hogs and lambs are expected to be entered.

Exhibitors in the open (adult) classes must file their entry blanks and fees by September 15, according to Jack I. Matthews, show manager. Four-H and F.F.A. exhibitors must send their entries to their county agents not later than September 8.

Mr. Matthews said that nearly 300 of the 1,700 prizes will be awarded to 4-H and F.F.A. exhibitors. The majority of the premium money will be awarded in the major beef cattle breeding classes, including Shorthorn, Aberdeen-Angus, Hereford and Devon.

Lime Necessary For Good Crops

Aglime - Legumes - Livestock
 The building of a sound lime-legume-livestock program results in a richer soil, increased farm value and a better life. The basis for this statement is the foundation product for efficient farming—agricultural limestone!

Soils need aglime. According to the Nation's Agricultural leaders, our soils need as much as 80 million tons annually and are only receiving one quarter of this amount.

It seems strange but it is true that this product, which price-wise is one of the farmer's cheapest, and which results in a large dollar return per dollar invested, is not in greater demand.

Livestock need legumes. Legumes not only provide lots of protein but a high class, natural protein especially good for young stock. Legumes grown on properly limed soil are also rich in calcium which gives dairy animals strong bones and teeth and helps maintain the cow's skeleton during periods of gestation.

One must not forget the carotene or Vitamin A in legumes, either. Field cured hay furnishes sufficient Vitamin D that is so very important for winter herd health.

Aglime is certainly a product to build on. And don't forget to order your liming materials early this fall. If you tend to put it off too long and bad weather sets in, it may result in an unnecessary delay of many months—valuable time in which this soil saver can be hard at work building a richer soil to increase your farm's value and give you a better life.

Mole crabs and sand bugs are excellent bait for stripers and croakers. Sand hoppers make good bait for perch. — Sports Afield.

History To Be Restaged At Jamestown

Amidst these replicas of colonial Jamestown cabins, the 350th anniversary of tobacco, America's oldest industry, will be celebrated next year. The cabins are among the restorations in Virginia's Jamestown Festival Park.

Inspecting the site are Lewis A. McMurrin, Jr., (right), chairman of the Commonwealth of Virginia Jamestown Foundation, sponsor of the celebration, and George V. Allen, president of The Tobacco Institute, Inc., and former director of the U.S. Information Service.

Four days of special festivities, including the re-enactment of historical incidents, will be held May 16-19, 1962. The celebration marks the anniversary of America's first successful tobacco crop in 1612. The man who planted and harvested the crop was John Rolfe, who is better known to historians as the husband of the Indian Princess, Pocahontas.

NAVY AND YOU

The Confederate ironclad, Virginia (rebuilt from the sunken Merrimac), made its debut on March 8, 1862, off the Federal-held port, Newport News, by sinking the Cumberland and capturing the Congress. That night the Federal ironclad, Monitor, arrived to face the Virginia the following morning. The battle which began at 8:00 and lasted four hours, is considered to have been a draw because neither ship could sink the other. The major importance of this battle is that the Monitor prevented the Virginia from breaking the blockade and from capturing Newport News.

Short Duck Season Expected

Maryland duck hunters can expect one of the shortest hunting seasons and possibly the smallest daily bag limit in Maryland's history during the Fall of 1961, the Maryland Department of Game and Inland Fish said this week.

While the 1961 seasons have not been announced by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, reports from around Maryland and other States in the Atlantic Flyway System indicate that drought conditions throughout the major nesting areas have resulted in an extremely poor crop of ducks this year. "Because of this, duck hunting will probably be more restrictive throughout the entire flyway," a Department spokesman said.

Goose hunters should find things a little better, the Department said. Indications are, to date, that Maryland's goose season will be about the same as that of last year.

Duck and goose seasons are established on a flyway system by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service after recommendations have been received from member States. Each State is given a choice of one or two season lengths by the Federal Agency.

The Conowingo Reservoir produced some excellent channel catfish catches during the past week. The largest reported was five pounds. We have been informed that largemouth bass fishing in the Reservoir is much better than it has been for several weeks. Surface plugs and evening fishing appear to be the answer. This holds true, also for the Upper Shore ponds.

Homemade Jam Is B.

KEEP AHEAD OF THE ROBINS... and get your share of luscious ripe cherries for the "best home-made jam you ever ate!" Follow the simple directions given here... and for a stronger cherry flavor, add a few crushed cherry pits during the cooking, or, if you prefer, add 1/4 teaspoon of almond extract just before you pour the jam into the sterilized glasses.

SWEET CHERRY JAM

Yield: about 9 medium glasses (4 1/2 lbs. jam) 4 cups prepared fruit (about 5 cups (2 1/4 lbs.) 3 lbs. ripe sweet cherries) granulated sugar 1/2 cup lemon juice 1 box Sure-Jell (2 medium lemons) fruit pectin

Step 1: Stem and pit about 3 pounds fully ripe sweet cherries. Chop fine or grind and measure 4 cups into a very large (8 quart) saucepan. Squeeze the juice from 2 medium-sized lemons. Measure 1/2 cup into saucepan with cherries. Step 2: Measure sugar and set aside. Add fruit pectin to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly and to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with 1/4 inch hot paraffin.

Most Of State Aid Money Is Going To Education

Frederick County is using the major portion of the new state aid approved by the 1961 Legislature for educational purposes, according to a letter sent to Governor Tawes by Donald A. Woods, county accountant.

Tawes, earlier this month, asked each of the counties and Baltimore City to tell him how they are spending the new funds from increased sales and cigarette taxes. According to Woods this county expects to receive about $299,933 under the financial relief formulated by the James Committee. About $184,115 will come from the increased sales tax. About $115,778 will come from the cigarette tax. However Woods explained that all of this income cannot be considered as new income to this county since a two-cent cigarette tax was already being collected here prior to the new uniform three-cent cigarette tax set by the state.

Woods, in explaining that the major portion of the new aid to the county is spent on education, said the Board of Education is paid directly $123,048, which is being used to supplement the current operating budget.

The amount of $61,107 is remitted to the local Board of Education, which in turn transfers this amount to the County Commissioners to be applied to the debt service requirements of the school board for school bonds.

The additional income on the cigarette tax is being used to help pay the increase in salary which has been granted by the county to school teachers.

The County Commissioners approved early this year a $300 across-the-board raise for teachers. The salary increase becomes effective this September and raises the beginning salary for teachers in this county from $4,000 to $4,300.

Woods, in his letter to Governor Tawes, said, "While we will receive approximately $115,778 from the cigarette tax it is to be remembered that only one-third of this amount will be additional income." This has been earmarked to help pay the salary increase.

Tawes is expected to account to the taxpayers in 1962 for the money received from the new tobacco and sales taxes, although the money was raised solely for the benefit of the local governments.

The program was adopted by the Legislature in response to repeated demands from county officials for financial relief to local governments without the sacrifice of local independence, the governor said.

About one-third of the world's total coffee consumption is used by the people of the United States.

Comptroller Offers Solution To Bay Bridge Traffic Jams

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced this week that he had written a letter concerning the weekend traffic jams on the Chesapeake Bay Bridge to Mr. Louis J. O'Donnell, Chief Administrative Officer of the Maryland Toll Facilities Department.

In the letter to Mr. O'Donnell, Mr. Goldstein stated that after personally seeing the problem on the bridge on Sunday, August 20, he was in a position to offer some constructive suggestions toward a solution.

After stating that only two of the toll booths coming East were in operation with the third being closed, Mr. Goldstein went on to say, "I feel that a partial solution of the problem of the traffic on the bridge would be to have more toll booths at the Plaza. I have discussed this with toll collectors from Maryland to Maine and from the East Coast to the West Coast in my travels around the country, and they all have similar problems on weekends, especially on rainy ones, and they have found that the best solution is to have additional toll booths and toll takers. I will be happy to discuss this with you at your earliest convenience.

"A second solution would be to construct another crossing, from a point in Calvert County to a point in Dorchester County. This would relieve the pressure because the people from the area of Metropolitan Washington, Virginia and Prince George's and Montgomery Counties would use the lower crossing and this would prevent the congestion that now takes place at the Bay Bridge.

"The citizens of Dorchester and Calvert Counties have been advocating this crossing for a long time. In fact, during the last session of the General Assembly of Maryland, Senator Frederick C. Malkus, Jr., of Dorchester County, sponsored Senate Resolution 32 requesting that a study be made of this project."

Comptroller Goldstein concluded his letter to Mr. O'Donnell by asking for the latest figures available on the prospect for this crossing.

Martin Company To Build Missiles

BALTIMORE—First production order for air-to-surface training missiles used to teach pilots to fire the GAM-83, the U. S. Air Force version of BULLPUP, has been awarded to The Martin Company's Baltimore division.

The $1.5 million contract covers production of the TGAM-83, which is the trainer model of the Martin-built Air Force GAM-83A and nuclear-capable GAM-83B.

Versions of the BULLPUP missile are operational with both the Air Force and the Navy.

Martin - Baltimore will deliver 424 trainer missiles under the contract to the Air Force at Nellis Air Force Base, Las Vegas, Nev.

between August and November. The first missiles will be used in the training of F1100 jet pilots.

The company was awarded the $700,000 development contract for the TGAM-83 by the Air Force in March, 1960. Martin-Baltimore since was awarded a $300,000 contract for 50 pre-induction missiles for uses by Tactical Air Command test pilots.

The BULLPUP trainer is nearly eight feet long and weighs 125 pounds. The operational GAM-83A is approximately 10 feet long and weighs about 600 pounds.

The operational GAM-83 missile can be air-launched against enemy bridges, trains and other tactical point targets. After firing the missile, the pilot guides it to the target with a stick-operated radio guidance system.

The TGAM-83 is designed to duplicate, as far as necessary for training, the performance of the operational missile.

It attaches under the plane's wing directly to the GAM-83 launcher through the use of an adapter. Later missiles delivered to the Air Force also will be used in training F-105 jet fighter pilots in characteristics of the GAM-83. The BULLPUP trainer utilizes obsolete World War II and Korean War HVAR (high velocity aircraft rocket) engines to achieve cost savings. The 5-inch rocket produces 5000 pounds of thrust. TGAM-83 development is under the direction of the project office at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

Word has been received from the Provincial Headquarters of the Vincentian Fathers in Philadelphia that Father Martin Sleasman, C.M., has been transferred from St. Joseph's Parish, Emmitsburg. His new assignment is that of chaplain to the students at St. Joseph College and instructor in theology to the postulants at St. Joseph Central House.

Fr. Sleasman has served as curate in the local parish for the past three years. He will assume his new duties in September.

Q: "What is the most important beauty treatment a teen-ager can give her skin?"

A: Cleansing. This is her best defense against blackheads, blemishes and enlarged pores.

This is how she should cleanse her skin - not once a week - but every day!

In the morning: A quick cold cream facial will deep-clean clear down to the base of each pore. To do: Apply the cream over the entire face, then remove with tissues. Follow up with a soap and water washing. Rinse thoroughly in clear water. Pat dry with a towel.

In the afternoon: Remove the morning's make-up before applying new. This can be done with a skin freshener soaked into a cotton pad and wiped over the skin. Use several clean pads for the job - don't continue scrubbing with a soiled one.

And before bed: Another cold cream facial - on. If the skin tends to be oily, substitute vanishing cream for the nightly cleansing. Finish up with an application of skin freshener.
