The Weekend Weather Forecast

Cooler Friday and remaining cool over the weekend. Rain expected by late Friday.

Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

With hurricane Carla far away from us locally we have had plenty of time to thank the Lord for the safety he has provided us and sparing us the untold misery, suffering and lives that the hurricane has caused. We are not totally safe however as the season really is just getting under way and we fully understand what can happen here after our experience a few years back. The devastation and waste caused by Carla was tremendous. Towns and almost complete cities were wiped from the map. And now the rebuilding and reshaping of families has begun. Plenty of food, clothing, etc. must be provided and numerous organizations are busily engaged in restoring the area to a complete as possible normal life. Contributions are welcomed at this time.

The new stop signs in the alleys have been a target for vandals recently and this week one vandal went to the trouble of parking his car, placing a chain or tow rope about the sign and pulled it flat to the ground in an effort to remove the sign from its location. Town officials warn that anyone caught destroying or mutilating any of these signs will be prosecuted. Incidentally, the fine will be $300 so better think it over boys!

The tar and chip boys are at it again folks so have your broom and wheelbarrow handy. The crews have been working the Pennsylvania line southward and are expected to be here today.

Contributions to the Christmas decorating fund have really exceeded expectations. The generosity of local individuals and businesses abounded and it appears highly possible that the goal will be reached. The sad part of it though is those individuals who hear talking about not being asked to contribute. Anyone knows it is impossible to solicit every individual so a public appeal is made in an effort to reach as many people as possible. Somehow this appeal is never answered or does not register on these individuals and they complain that they have been ignored so don't feel like giving. This is pure nonsense and most likely is a pretense so as not to have to make a donation. Regardless, the decorations will be in place at the proper time, thank heavens.

Fifteen thousand kiddies trotted off to school last week in Frederick County, many of them to spanking new schools, others to antiquies like we have to endure here. I understand that the Board of Education still hasn't given up the idea of consolidating our school with Thurmont and is still seeking a site where a consolidated school could be built possibly between Emmitsburg and Thurmont. Apparently with this thought paramount in mind the Board never does plan to enlarge the local school and relieve the highly overcrowded condition which has existed for quite some years.

One more final item concerning Town property. The new parking lot area has become a depository for beer cans and bottles already. Too bad we can't have several more policemen on hand to curtail the culprits doing this nebulous sort of thing. Oh well, some one will pay for it one of these times and I'll have no sympathy for them.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson M. Baker, Rocky Ridge, announce the engagement of their daughter, Prudence Ruth, to Sgt. Tommy Webber, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rosomond, Wilmer Ala. Miss Baker is a graduate of Thurmont High School, and is now employed with Arlington Trust Company of Arlington, Va. Sgt. Rosomond is now serving in the United States Army and is stationed at Arlington Hall, Va.

An estimated 10 to 12 million Americans suffer from one of the heart and blood vessel diseases. The same group of diseases causes about a million deaths each year.

Mount Begins 154th Year Of Schooling

A capacity enrollment of 710 students, including 200 incoming freshmen, will open the 154th academic year at Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, on Sept. 19 with the traditional Mass of the Holy Spirit in the College Chapel. The Rev. Robert R. Kline, Ph.D., president of the college, will celebrate the Mass, and the Rev. Thomas J. Kileullen, J.C.D., vice president, will give the sermon.

The college will begin the academic year with a new administration headed by Father Kline and Father Kileullen. Other officers include Rev. John J. McGovern, treasurer, and Rev. Paul V. Redmond, secretary.

Four new instructors will also join the faculty. Rev. James F. Kelly, Diocese of Albany, who is currently working on his doctorate in physics at Catholic University, will join the science department. John V. McCarty, M.A., Haverhill, Mass., will teach modern languages; John J. Schrems, M.A., Saginaw, Mich., political science; and William Tash, M.A., Sea Girt, N. J., sociology. The latter are all doing advanced study at Catholic University.

Promotions on campus include Dr. John L. Morrison to the rank of professor of history; Dr. Robert T. Marshall to professor of classical languages; William G. Meredith to assistant professor of biology; Robert A. Seidel to assistant professor of accounting; and Joseph W. Shoemaker to assistant professor of library science.

Because of overcrowded facilities on campus approximately 70 students will be quartered off campus in approved residences. Under construction are a new Student Union building and a new dormitory which, when completed, in July 1962, will accommodate 208 students.

Freshmen arrive at the college Sunday, Sept. 17, to begin an orientation program. Participating in the program are Father Kline, who will address a freshmen assembly in Flynn Hall at 7 p. m.; Father Kileullen, who will outline the aims and ideals of the college; and Father Robert S. Grace, dean of freshmen. A mixer dance at nearby Saint Joseph College will follow the assembly. On Monday, Sept. 18, the freshmen will begin a battery of tests. That evening at 6 p. m. college administrators will brief the group on academic policies and procedures. Rev. Francis P. Kearney, J.C.D., academic dean; Rev. Carl J. Fives, S.T.L., director of guidance; Capt. R. T. Smith, USMC; and Dean J. Sprague, public relations, will speak at this session.

Upperclassmen return to the campus on Sept. 18 for registration. An assembly of the entire student body will be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 19 at 8:30 p. m. at which time Father Kline, Father Hugh Phillips, college chaplain; Father Philip Barrett, dean of men; and Father Kearney will participate. Charles Robinson, Fairmont, W. Va., president of the student council, and Vincent A. Nubel, Athens, Pa., vice president of the group, will also take part. A meeting of student organizations will be held following the assembly.

The 200 freshmen represents 16 states, the District of Columbia, Belgium, and Iran. Largest enrollment is from the state of Pennsylvania with 49. New York has 44 and Maryland 36. Heaviest enrollment by courses is in business with 62 registered. Science has 46, education 37, and social science 36. The others are in the classical course.

There are 123 seniors, 146 juniors, 221 sophomores and 10 special students.

State Police Seeking Recruits

Maryland Commissioner of Personnel, Mr. Russell S. Davis, has announced that applications for the position of Trooper, Maryland State Police, will be accepted for the next class, until September 23, 1961.

Mr. Davis pointed out that the next recruit class will commence training at the Police Academy in Pikesville next January.

Written examinations will be held in Baltimore, Hagerstown and Cambridge on Oct. 21.

Applications and detailed information are available at any State Police installation, or from the Commissioner of Personnel, 301 W. Preston St., Baltimore.

State Teachers To Assemble At Camp Louise

Approximately 200 teachers and administrators from throughout Maryland will gather at Camp Louise, Cascade, this weekend for the Thirtieth Annual Leadership Training Institute. Sponsored by the Maryland State Teachers' Association, affiliated local associations, and the National Education Association, the Institute is designed to provide essential training for teachers acting as officers and committeemen of state and local groups. J. Bruce Turner, Dundalk High School, Baltimore County, is chairman of the Leadership Training Committee of the MSTA which has organized the Institute.

The Institute will open at dinner on Friday evening with greetings by Superintendent William M. Brish, Washington County, and Miss Sarah L. Leister, Supervisor of Pupil Services, Maryland State Department of Education. Dr. W. Amos Abrams, editor, North Carolina Education, North Carolina Education Association, will address the group on the topic, "An Editor's Exhaust," at the orientation session following dinner.

Saturday morning's program will feature Dr. Mildred Sandison Fenner, editor, NEA Journal, National Education Association, who will make the keynote address on the topic, "Be A Mountain." Superintendent James A. Sensenbaugh, Frederick County, and Cornelius E. Gisiel, president of the Maryland State Teachers' Association, will bring greetings. Harry R. Poole of Hagerstown, who is NEA Director for Maryland, will present a report on the National Education Association.

The remainder of the Institute will consist of discussion groups and workshops on such topics as school-community relations, encouraging constructive school legislation, improving the services of local associations, and building professional participation.

Safety Stressed As Schools Open

Let's protect our child-life! Paul E. Burke, Executive Director of The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, urged all drivers as children from throughout Maryland went back to their classrooms to start another school year.

There is a great need for safety education by both the educator and parent in order to instill in the mind of the very young child the importance of walking in safety. However, traffic safety education cannot be dispensed with after a few years of teaching. It must be continued and the process is obviously a never ending one. Instruction early in a child's life, however, will do much to make things safer for him and, in ten or twenty years when he is of driving age, for all of us.

In 1960 in the State of Maryland, Burke stated, 70 children under the age of fifteen years were killed in motor vehicle accidents, and 4,780 children in the same age group were injured. Even considering that youngsters habitually violate safety rules in their walking, the bulk of the blame for such accidents rests with the driver. While most drivers are horrified at the idea of hurting a child, nevertheless thoughtlessness on the driver's part is the chief cause of the high annual toll of young traffic accident victims. The Safety Director made an urgent appeal for all drivers to heed the following rules:

1. Regard every child in or near the street with the same caution you would a flashing railroad-crossing sign.
2. Expect the unexpected at all times when driving near schools, in residential areas, or in the neighborhood of playgrounds or vacant lots.
3. Give bicycles a wide berth. While a rider may appear to have his bicycle under perfect control, a slick patch on the street, a chuck-hole, or any of many factors can cause the rider to fall, or lose control and swerve into the path of a car.
4. Particularly in residential areas, the rider should be doubly on the alert for small children playing in driveways or sliding or coasting on inclines that might lead them into the street without warning.

Adults should set a good example for all youngsters. This will convince the child that their teachings may mean the difference between life and death.

Diseases of the heart and blood vessels kill more people under 65 years of age than the next six causes of death combined.

Decoration Fund Climbing

The goal of $750 to be raised for new Christmas decorations appeared to be within shooting distance this week as reports indicated well over $475 had been collected to date.

Interest in the project was generated this week when a large thermometer showing the progress of the drive was placed on the Farmers State Bank.

The movement to collect the money began three weeks ago and will conclude this week. It was pointed out, however, that anyone wanting to make a contribution after the deadline, Sept. 16, was more than welcome to do so and if enough money is received after that date another shipment of material will be ordered. It is planned to place the first order next week to insure early arrival for Christmas. Should the goal of $750 not be attained then the order will be placed for what money is available.

The response has been remarkable, with donations coming from all professions and business. Contributions have been received from clubs, organizations, professional men, individuals and business establishments. Amounts received have ranged from $1 to $50. Samples of the decorations have been displayed on the Square during the past week and many merchants and individuals have expressed intentions of purchasing extra equipment for their stores this year to help complete the decorating scheme this Yuletide. The decorations will become the property of the Town of Emmitsburg and will be placed in its care following Christmas.

A last chance to aid the drive is given this week via a coupon appearing elsewhere in this newspaper. Please clip out the coupon and mail it to the Emmitsburg Chronicle. Make all checks payable to Christmas Decorating Fund.

Regardless of the amount received by Saturday the Jaycees will continue the drive and several business places will be authorized to collect funds in the future. First of these stations to be announced will be Crouse's. Those desiring to can mail checks to the treasurer, Mrs. Kathleen Shorb. Donations will be accepted on the Square tonight.

Lions Donate 16 Pairs of Glasses

Approximately 20 members were in attendance at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in the Lutheran Parish Hall. President William G. Morgan presided over the meeting which was attended by two members of the Frederick Lions Club.

The financial report was given by Secretary-Treasurer William Strickhouser. The report showed that the recent horse show sponsored by the club netted approximately $500. Also it was announced that 16 pairs of eyeglasses for local needy families had been purchased during the past two years amounting to approximately $200. Old Monarch Certificates were awarded several members designating 10-year membership.

Brownies Meet

On Monday evening, Sept. 11, Brownie Troop 71 held its opening meeting for the year. There were two new members present, Sheila Chatlos and Mary Ann Rice. The new members were greeted to the group by Mrs. Wehner and Mrs. Lindsay, Troop Leaders.

Present for the meeting were: Jackie Baumer, Wanda Eiker, Carolyn Keilholtz, Beverly Davis, Nancy Mathias, Juanita Lindsey, Darleen Glass and Marlene Glass. Investiture ceremonies were held for Wanda Eiker and Beberly Davis. Nancy, Carolyn, Jackie and Juanita received membership stars for 1 year's attendance.

The girls learned a fancy fold for paper napkins during the hand work period. Ice cold Kool Ade was served and was well received as the evening was hot. The meeting closed with the Friendship Circle and singing of Taps.

Strokes do not occur only in old people. Each year about 40,000 Americans in the 25-65 age group suffer strokes. Even children have been known to have strokes.

When you wonder if you still want to do all the things you've always wanted to do... that's middle age, mister!

We've been watching you... do you work here?

Power Utilities Study Plan For Increasing Output

As a further step to insure an adequate supply of electric power for this area, both now and in the future, The Potomac Edison Company this week announced that studies are under way for a series of major interconnections with adjoining electric utility systems.

R. G. MacDonald, President of Potomac Edison, said that several conferences have been held and engineering studies are now under way for major interconnections with the Potomac Electric Power Company, (with headquarters at Washington, D. C.) and the Virginia Electric and Power Co., (with headquarters at Richmond, Va.).

He explained that these interconnections with other investor-owned systems permit the various individual companies involved to meet growing demands for electric power in the most efficient and economical way.

Potomac Edison's announcement coincided with a press conference held this week in New York at which the Edison Electric Institute, utility industry trade association, released a study concerning the interconnection of investor-owned electric power systems throughout the country.

Mr. MacDonald said this study shows that nearly all the electric power systems east of the Rocky Mountains, including 100 companies in 32 states, are now interconnected. Potomac Edison, he said, is involved in this interconnected power pool as a member of the Northeast Region Interconnected System, an integrated power pool system composed of 19 utility companies in the east-central section of the United States. This regional system is, in turn, connected with other regional systems.

Further insurance for adequate electric service is provided, MacDonald said, since, as an operating subsidiary of the Allegheny Power System, PE is closely tied to its sister companies, West Penn Power Company and Monongahela Power Company.

The EEI study also revealed that interconnecting of electric systems west of the Rockies has been a fact for several years. With interconnections in that section progressing rapidly, the trade association predicts that by 1970 all the major power systems will be capable of operating on an interconnected basis throughout the United States.

Livestock Show At Timonium

TIMONIUM—Judges will award more than 1,700 prizes totaling $52,000 at the fifteenth annual Eastern National Livestock Show to be held at the Maryland State Fair Grounds here November 11 through 16.

A similar number of ribbons, plaques and trophies will be awarded in the competition that will bring to Timonium some of the nation's finest breeding cattle, steers, market hogs and lambs, according to Jack I. Matthews, show manager.

Exhibitors from more than 20 states and Canada are expected to enter some 1,500 animals in the show, fourth largest livestock exhibition in the country and described by livestockmen as the "livestock show window of the East."

Mr. Matthews said nearly 300 of the prizes will be awarded to 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America exhibitors.

The cash premiums range from a low of $2 to a high of $500.

Although the majority of the premium money has been contributed by the Maryland State Fair Board, a substantial amount also has been posted by the various cattle, hog and sheep breed associations. Among these are the American Angus Association, the American Hereford Association, American Shorthorn Association, American Shorthorn Club, the Maryland Beef Cattle Improvement Association, American Berkshire Association, American Yorkshire Club, United Duroc Swine Registry, the Chester White Swine Record Association and the Hampshire Swine Registry.

Pharmacy Will Change Hands October 1

Announcement was made this week of the purchase of the Emmitsburg Pharmacy by Dr. Paul M. Carter. The pharmacy has been operated by Dr. Earle Shank Jr., for approximately five years when he purchased the business from Dr. J. W. Houser.

Mr. Carter and his wife, Marie Claire, presently reside in Ellicott City, Md., but plan in the near future to take up residence in the Bucher Apartments, S. Seton Ave. The Carters have three children, all boys. They are Paul Jr., Mark and Gary.

Dr. Carter is a graduate of the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy and plans on taking over the local pharmacy on or about October 1.

HOLD TOPPER RITES

Funeral services were held from the Wilson Funeral home, W. Main St., followed by a requiem mass in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Saturday morning for George D. Topper, 61, 319 W. Main St., who died as the result of a fall while painting a house in Gettysburg last Wednesday. Rev. Fr. James Twomey officiated. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Military rites, in charge of the Francis X. Elder American Legion and the VFW of Emmitsburg, were conducted by the following:

You have a perfect right to your opinion—provided it agrees with mine.

It's no longer something special when the Texas legislature has a special session. Fact is, it's getting rather routine.

St. Joseph's Enrolls Over 500

Saint Joseph College in Emmitsburg welcomed 127 freshmen Wednesday to begin the 152nd academic year of the historic women's college. The largest student body in the college's history, more than 500 students including the postulants and Juniorates of the Community of the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, will include 26 Maryland girls among the Class of 1965.

The states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey are close runners-up in the matter of number of students contributed, with 25 and 22 representatives, respectively. Seventeen freshmen are from New York State, while sixteen others are from various cities in Virginia. Home towns for the balance of the incoming freshmen class range from Maine to Florida, and include Puerto Rico, Canal Zone, and Aruba, Netherlands Antilles. Also in the class are eighteen students carrying on the tradition of family attendance at Saint Joseph College.

An Alumnae Open House on Wednesday afternoon started the orientation program for the students, after which the entire group was officially welcomed to the college by Sister Hilda Gleason, President of Saint Joseph's. On Thursday, the new class was assisted by a committee of upperclassmen in registration, and attended a "Meet the Faculty" social in the student center in the evening. A series of tests will precede campus tours and informal mixers on Friday, while the various campus organizations will introduce themselves during the Saturday session. On Sunday, the freshmen and their guides will visit the Gettysburg Battlefield in the afternoon, and attend the Little Sister-Big Sister Mixer, a get-acquainted social on the college campus. Upperclassmen will complete their registration on Monday, Sept. 18.

On Tuesday, students and faculty will join in an academic procession, and attend the Mass of the Holy Ghost prior to the official beginning of classes in mid-morning.

Area girls among the 127 Freshmen include Yvonne Henke, R2, Emmitsburg; Linda Sue Knox, 280 South Seton Ave., Emmitsburg; Rita Ann Remavee, Emmitsburg, whose grandfather was formerly on the faculty at Saint Joseph's; Barbara Welty, R2; and Barbara Ann Kelly, Rocky Ridge.

County School Enrollment Up

A total of 14,502 pupils are enrolled in Frederick County Schools, Paul Fogle, Supervisor of Pupil Personnel for the Board of Education stated in a prepared report this week.

This total of 14,502 was made at the opening of school this past Thursday and includes all of the Frederick City and County schools and shows an increase of 3888 pupils compared with 14,114 reported at the opening of school in 1960.

In comparison, last year's Elementary school enrollment totaled 7,561 and this year shows an increase of 177 with a total enrollment of 7,738. For high schools, total enrollment this year is 6,764, a 211 increase over last year's 6,553.

Mr. Fogle pointed out that last year by the month of October, an increase of 185 pupils brought the total to 14,299. An approximate increase of 200 pupils next month is believed this year. Mr. Fogle said, bringing the total to an estimated 14,700.

A breakdown of enrollment in each school included Emmitsburg High School, 231, and Thurmont High School, 705. In Elementary schools Emmitsburg had 212 and Thurmont, 611.

A break-down of grades in enrollment shows: 1st, 1,334; 2nd, 1,314; 3rd, 1,238; 4th, 1,274; 5th, 1,246; 6th, 1,240; 7th, 1,264; 8th, 1,302; 9th, 1,428; 10th, 1,199; 11th, 813; 12th, 703 and special groups, 137.

Dance Tonight

It has been announced by the Emmitsburg Jaycees that a Teen-Age Dance will be held in the VFW Rowe Annex this evening (Friday).

Music for the affair will be furnished by the Vibratones, a local orchestra and admission will be 50c per person. Dancing will take place between eight and 11 o'clock.

A chaperone is someone who never made the team, but is still in there intercepting passes.

St. Joseph's High School News

With enthusiasm as high as the temperature, the 26 seniors, 34 juniors, 29 sophomores and 43 freshmen returned to school on Wednesday, Sept. 6. The morning was spent in orientation, registration and in general, getting acquainted.

The student body attended an assembly on Thursday, conducted by the Student Council President, Thomas Sicilia. At this assembly, the new students were welcomed and student council regulations explained and discussed. Present on the stage were the officers of the student council: Anthony Topper, vice president; Betty Little, secretary and Jean Marie Herring, treasurer. Representatives of the lower classes were: Linda Myers, Charles Stout, juniors; William Merritt, Mary O'Brien, sophomores; Michael Topper, and Joan Wivell, freshmen.

At 11 o'clock on Friday morning, Holy Mass was celebrated for the students in St. Joseph's Catholic Church by the Rev. Philip Dion, C.M. Father Dion addressed the students on the advantages and importance of a high school education, pointing out its importance and necessity to the achievement of success both in time and in eternity. He urged the students to use their time well, so that the close of this school year will leave them with the feeling of work well done.

Faculty changes were as follows: Sister Dolores replaced Sister Zoe as history teacher and Sister Odile replaced Sister Catherine as librarian.

Concert Scheduled

The Women's Auxiliary of the Hanover General Hospital is again sponsoring a concert by the Gettysburg Symphony Orchestra, which is composed of 90 talented musicians from Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia. Dr. William Sebastian Hart, Director of the orchestra, is a widely known radio and TV lecturer as well as a member of the faculty of Peabody Conservatory College of Music. He is listed in Who's Who in American Education, Symphony Conductors of the U. S. A. Directory of American Scholars and the 1957-57 supplement to Who's Who in America. The added attraction this year is John Gardecki, a brilliant and talented nineteen year old pianist. The program has been carefully selected to meet with general approval, as did the one last year. The concert will be given on Wed., Sept. 27 at 8:30 p. m. in the auditorium of South Western Junior-Senior High School.

Some Widows Do Not Get Social Security Raise

Widows 62 and over, who are collecting social security benefits based on their own work, did not get increases in their payments with the checks delivered to them this month, W. S. King, district manager of the Hagerstown Social Security Office, pointed out this week. But some of them may find that they can get a small increase in their monthly payments by applying to their social security office.

The 10 per cent increase in widow's benefits, signed into law by President Kennedy on June 30, is payable only to those widows 62 and over who are receiving benefits based on their husbands' work under social security, he said.

Under the social security law, a widow 62 or over who has worked under social security long enough to become insured is usually paid retirement benefits based on her own record of earnings. She is paid the widow's benefits only if those widow's benefits would be higher than her own retirement benefits.

Because of the 10 per cent increase in widow's benefits, King said, a few women now find that the widow's benefits based on their husbands' work are somewhat higher than their present benefits.

Any widow who believes that she might qualify for higher benefits because of this change in the law can find out for sure by asking at the local social security office located at 59 North Cannon Avenue, Hagerstown.

Declare No Surplus Of Red Wheat

There is no surplus of soft red and soft white winter wheat, the wheats grown by farmers in the Eastern half of the United States, the National Soft Wheat Committee says this week.

With domestic and foreign markets consuming present production, the committee is actively seeking contact with farmers in this part of the country, encouraging them to continue to grow soft wheats up to the limit of their acreage allotments.

At the same time, it is being emphasized that by cutting back too much on acreage, Eastern wheat growers stand to lose their traditional markets and sacrifice a sizeable source of income. Also, farmers benefited from a wheat crop early in the year providing cash until later harvests come in.

Adding strength to current thinking on acreage is the committee's position that since soft wheat acreage has declined over the years and is now very closely in line with historically proven needs, any further reduction is bound to create serious problems.

Traditionally, wheat has been a profitable small grain crop in established wheat areas. More recently, soft wheats are being recommended by experiment stations and adopted by farmers as small grain nurse crops in the cropping system of approved soils management programs.

The soft wheat committee adds that the 1962 wheat program has been charted for one year only. Therefore there is no way of forecasting the nature of future programs—but it is certain that the farm's wheat history will be an important factor. For this reason the committee believes it is prudent for the soft wheat grower to maintain his farm's wheat history credit.

Insects Build Immunity To Chemicals

Fifteen years ago DDT was certain death for flies and mosquitoes. Then a few freak insects survived the deadly stuff and reproduced. Now we have flies and mosquitoes which lap up DDT and thrive on it. The same thing happened with the germs that cause venereal disease and the staphylococcus germ—the one that spreads infection wildly through a hospital the instant antiseptic standards slip. Penicillin was practically a sure cure at first—but not any more. VD germs and staph germs have become resistant to penicillin, survive, multiply—and kill.

Now the TB germ seems to have developed the same defense. Drug resistance often develops during TB treatment when only one drug is used. That's why most patients are treated with two and sometimes three drugs. But now drug resistance is appearing in the germs of patients who have never been treated before. At the moment, somewhere between 5 and 10 per cent of TB patients treated for the first time are

100 YEARS AGO

Floyd Beats Yankees; Lee's Attack Fizzles

By Lon K. Savage

In the craggy mountains of what is now West Virginia there were two well known Confederate generals 100 years ago this week. One was the famous Gen. Robert E. Lee, third-ranking officer of the Confederate army who was destined to become immortal as a military genius. The other: Brig. Gen. John B. Floyd, former Secretary of War who was destined to be removed ignobly from command within a year for incompetence.

Both Lee and Floyd saw action 100 years ago this week, and the result would confuse any historian. Lee struck at an unsuspecting Yankee army in an elaborately planned attack September 10 and saw his first Civil War campaign turn into a fiasco. The inexperienced Floyd on the same day found himself attacked by three brigades of fiercely charging Yankees and, somehow, whipped them handily.

Carnifex Ferry

Floyd, who had been fighting up and down the Kanawha Valley for weeks, had an army of 2,500 when he was attacked at Carnifex Ferry, a crossing in the roaring Gauley River near Summersville. His attacker: Gen. W. S. Rosecranz, the hero of Rich Mountain, who had succeeded McClellan in command of Union troops in western Virginia.

Rosecranz' plans were to force Floyd southward, out of threatening distance to Yankee encampments in the area. Moving down from Clarksburg he ran into trouble when his leading brigade, feeling its way forward, encountered Floyd's pickets at the ferry and opened a full-scale charge. The fight was on before Rosecranz could bring up the tail of his column.

The resulting attack was disorganized and ineffective, and the federals, already tired from a long march, quickly became exhausted.

When darkness fell, 17 Yankees were dead and 141 wounded. That night, the Confederates withdrew with none dead and only 21 wounded, and the fight was over.

Cheat Mountain

As Rosecranz attacked, Lee was sending out orders for a general advance against Yankees entrenched on Cheat Mountain, just east of Beverly and some 80 miles northeast of Carnifex Ferry. It was raining hard, as it had been doing nearly every day for the six weeks Lee had been in the mountains.

All that day and the next, Lee's columns labored toward the Yankees, over ridges, up and down the mountainsides, through tangled underbrush. By dawn on the 12th, when the attack was to begin, the Confederates were exhausted; their field rations were ruined; much of their gunpowder wet and useless. Lee looked down on the federal encampment which was his target and described it as a "tempting target," but that was as far as his attack went.

The fiasco started when an officer who was to open the attack suddenly decided it was all a bad idea and withdrew without firing a shot. Things began getting disorganized. Several Confederates fired to clear their guns, and Lee was forced to order a general charge. It simply didn't materialize. No one charged. The Yankees withdrew, and Lee finally withdrew, himself.

Next day, on a reconnaissance, Lee's close friend, Col. D. C. Washington, grandson of the first president of the United States and inheritor of Mount Vernon, was killed by Yankee pickets, and Lee's disappointment was complete.

Next week: Confederates Take Lexington, Mo.

Fiberboard Sheathing Now Rated To Save You Money

CHICAGO, ILL.—More protection and savings for people who buy new homes, remodeling projects, and farm buildings is assured because of a new insulating rating program for fiberboard sheathing.

According to Charles M. Gray, manager of the Insulation Board Institute has established rated insulating values for the regular insulation board sheathing (also called fiberboard) produced by its fourteen member companies.

"All of the IBI member companies soon will be stamping the IBI Rated Seal on each sheet of their fiberboard sheathing. The new seal probably will become one of the best known trade marks in building," said Gray.

"In the average year, the seal will appear on more than 20 million sheets of fiberboard sheathing."

For the homeowner, said Gray, the new seal is his assurance that he is getting the insulating sheathing which will help reduce home heating costs in the winter and air-conditioning costs in the summer.

Sheathing is one of the most important structural materials for a home. Sheathing is nailed to the outside of the upright 2x4's (studs) in the wall of a building. Fiberboard sheathing, which comes in large 4x8 and 2x8 ft. sheets, provides great strength for walls and minimizes entry of wind, moisture and cold.

Gray pointed out that heat resistance values have been set by the IBI at R 2.06 for 25/32-inch fiberboard sheathing and at R 1.32 for 1/2-inch fiberboard sheathing.

FIBERBOARD SHEATHING now is officially rated for its insulating value, and the IBI Seal will appear on every sheet. The only insulating sheathing that helps keep expensive heat inside in winter and annoying heat outside in summer.

Here's how the various sheathing materials compare in heat resistance values:

IBI Rated Fiberboard Sheathing (25/32-inch)	R 2.06
IBI Rated Fiberboard Sheathing (1/2-inch)	R 1.32
Lumber Sheathing (Nominal 1/2-inch)	R 0.98
Gypsum Sheathing (1/2-inch)	R 0.45
Plywood Sheathing (5/16-inch)	R 0.39

"The above chart," said Gray, "shows that 25/32-inch fiberboard sheathing provides twice the insulation value of wood sheathing, four times more insulation value than gypsum sheathing, and five times more insulation value than plywood sheathing."

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

By John Lester Reichert, M.D.
Chicago Pediatrician
Constipation in Infants

The complaint of constipation in infants seems to mean different things to different parents. To some it means long intervals between baby's bowel movements. To others it means a particular type of stool.

Actually, a baby should be considered to be constipated only when he has hard and dry stools that are passed with difficulty. The number of movements a day is not important, even if it's only one every 24 hours. Some babies with one or two movements a week are not constipated.

The cause of constipation in infants is their diet. It may result from underfeeding or too little roughage. It occurs when solid foods are withheld or strained foods continued too long. In the bottle fed baby it may be due to an unbalanced diet; too high in protein and fat, too low in carbohydrate.

Regulating the diet will correct almost all cases of constipation in the infant. It is just as important in the young child, though at this age, it is complicated by poor bowel training. The parent of a constipated infant or child should seek the advice of the family pediatrician or physician. If regulation of the diet is indicated, the physician usually will recommend any of a number of corrective procedures and roughly in the following sequence:

1. Increase the quantity of food if it is inadequate. Mild constipation is often the first indication of a grossly inadequate diet.
2. Increase the carbohydrate if the volume of food is adequate or if making it adequate does not correct the constipation. Excessive amounts of carbohydrate, however, may aggravate constipation.
3. Change to slowly absorbed carbohydrate such as malt and dextrins. A valuable product in treating constipation throughout infancy and childhood is a malt soup extract available as a syrup or powder which can be added to the formula or other food.
4. Reduce the fat. Reducing fat by using skimmed milk or a skimmed milk powder has the further advantage of increasing the appetite and thereby increasing the bulk of the diet.
5. Add prune juice, a time-honored method known to all mothers.
6. Increase bulky foods, such as fruits, leafy vegetables and bran. Since lack of appetite is often a part of the picture, this is not always easy.

Oatmeal, leafy vegetables, prunes and honey usually are thought of as laxative foods. But there are many individual variations in how children will respond to these foods. Many mothers learn the individual response of their child by trial and error. Most infants can be shifted from formula to whole milk without disturbance.

OUTDOOR SPORTING TIPS

Fishing

You've probably heard how some fishermen set lightning-bugs in a glass jar and lower the jar overboard to attract fish or how other fishermen place bees in a jar for the same purpose. Well, if you aren't insect-minded here's another way to attract the denizens of the deep to take your food offering. Send a ticking clock in a plastic bag over the side and let the noise of the clock call the fish to you.

This is the era of plastic. Everything comes in a plastic bag or a plastic container of some kind that you have to throw away. Well, just hold on a minute and put that leftover plastic to work. Old-fashioned anglers line their creels with ferns or leaves, but the angler of the Sixties will find a creel lined with plastic much easier to clean free of fishy odors.

Have you ever found yourself strung up after a day's fishing as your stringer full of fish breaks and slowly sinks or floats away never to be seen again. This fisherman's tragedy can be overcome by adding a float to the stringer. Should it break loose or slip from your grasp, there's no problem in recovering it.

Dogs

Hunting season is just around the corner. But it's a sad time for the man who finds himself with a gun-shy dog. All experts who have handled such dogs have come up with one suggestion that seems to work—and prove the way to a gun-shy pup is through his stomach. Blow up a paper bag or balloon and break near the dog, immediately after the noise is made. Repeatedly making noise and feeding the dog can make the hungry pup—and pups are almost always hungry — forget about the noise until he's ready to take to the field under gunfire. It takes patience on your part but you'll find it's worth the effort when you're out hunting over what was once a gun-shy pup destined for failure.

Carrying a cleaning rod afield can be a bit of a problem. Here's a way to carry a "rod" that is inexpensive and effective. Flexible cable, such as from your car's speedometer, with pipe cleaners wrapped around it, plus a little lighter fluid, makes a first-rate cleaning rod. Easy to carry too. (Try for a $50 prize. Send your tip to A.A. Contest, Sports Afield, 959 8th Ave., New York 19, N. Y.)

Stroke is one of the commonest of all blood vessel diseases. Only a few years ago the physician could do little for the stroke victim. Today many patients can be cured and often stroke can be prevented.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Reminiscences
In His Home Town

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 14 — For many years I have been planning to visit the oldest cemetery on Cape Ann. In it is buried Isabel Babson, the first Babson (or Rabsen) who came to this country, and from whom all Babsons here descend. When she left England the name may have been Rabsen; but her signature could not be clearly read when she arrived in Salem in 1637. Hence, the name was interpreted as Babson, which she accepted as which has been the family name ever since.

To my great disappointment, I found this old cemetery overgrown with weeds and shrubs four feet high, and many of the tombstones were broken and overturned. I, however, found tombstones of the prominent families of the first hundred years of settlement on Cape Ann. I felt ashamed to find the cemetery in such a condition and I urge readers who have similar cemeteries in their towns to get them cleaned up and be sure all the headstones are erect.

Granite Versus Cement

When I was a boy, the great business of Cape Ann was granite quarries. Not only did Cape Ann granite pave the streets of large eastern cities, but the walls of the city halls, banks, and other important buildings had granite facings. The wealthiest families in town were then in the granite business. There was a certain amount of fishing, but not much, as only sailboats were used and the fish were caught by lines and surface nets. Even the keenest businessmen then believed the granite business was good for a hundred or two hundred years. There certainly was granite enough, and even now there must be a million tons left.

But suddenly Portland cement became popular, and quickly took the place of granite. Sidewalk edgestones which heretofore had been made of granite were being made of concrete; walls were built of concrete; and the facings were made of concrete. As petroleum came into use at about the same time, the existing paved roads were covered by either concrete or asphalt. In a few years, the granite business of Gloucester and Cape Ann came to an end.

This causes me to wonder what other changes may now be going on. It may be that the leading industry of every city in which this column appears will be subject to similar changes. This means that your leading industrialists, and especially the Secretary of your Chamber of Commerce, must not be content with present conditions and close their eyes to new industries in the hope of thus protecting the present industries. Inflation Has Always Been With Us And Probably Always Will Be

I have been interested also in reading the Court Records of the wills of persons who died before 1700. These appraisals would state the value of acreage, of the house, the tools, and of the hogs, cattle, and horses, —especially the mares. These appraisals rated a "mare" worth one pound . . . which was equivalent to $5 in the currency of that day. As the price of a good mare today is around $200, it would appear that the currency has been devalued, or the price has increased forty times! Furthermore, going back several centuries, we find that a country hotel charged only "two pence" for overnight compared with $3.00-$5.00 today.

When forecasting prices of the future, we are inclined to believe that a good mare will sell for several thousand dollars. It really seems that in only fifty years the prices of most commodities will be ten times their present prices. In short, inflation is nothing new. It has always been going on and I see no reason why it should not continue. It may increase gradually, or it may increase in spurts—rising rapidly for a while, and then being followed by a period of deflation. On the other hand, we believe that each period of inflation will be greater than the last period of inflation, and that each period of deflation will be shorter than the previous period of deflation. I believe that for the next few years you will see a fairly rapid increase in inflation.

CONGRESSIONAL
VIEWPOINTBy John Marshall Butler
U. S. Senator, Maryland

Who's Un-American?

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11, 1961 —Books are important ammunition in the Cold War which confronts the United States today. It is vital to know what the United States is saying, and, equally of concern, what the enemy is saying. A paperback book has appeared entitled, "The Un-Americans," described as "the first fully documented account of the notorious House Committee on Un-American Activities." Its author is Frank J. Donner.

The book's and the author's objectivity can be easily discerned by the following quote:

"HUAC hates the subversive in much the same way that the anti-Semite hates the Jew, the racist hates the Negro, the fundamentalist hates the Catholic, the patriot hates the alien. But unlike its frequently frustrated non-governmental counterparts, HUAC can do something about its hate. It can give direct expression to its hostility by punishing its objective. What tells us most clearly that HUAC is a hate group is the exposure system. Exposure speaks the language of the hate group; it is hate in action.

"The personalities of many of HUAC's leaders and staff members are figures in a gallery of hate."

This extraordinarily vitriolic description shocked me. Why should the author, I wondered, display so much of the same emotion—hate—that he accuses the committee of? And then I learned the truth about Mr. Donner, who has been identified as a Communist by three witnesses before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. In 1956, Donner himself testified before the committee. He was confronted with a U. S. Civil Service Commission questionnaire that he had signed in 1943 while employed by the National Labor Relations Board.

On this form, Donner had replied, "No," to a question as to whether or not he held membership in a Communist organization. In 1956, although granting that the signature was his, he invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked if he had been truthful in his statement to the U. S. Government. No wonder Mr. Donner hates HUAC so much.

His book has been described by the chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee as "a volume which most perfectly embraces and epitomizes the Communist line and technique in the present energetic program of the Communist Party to discredit a necessary and useful committee of the Congress." The line, of course, is to destroy that which opposes the course of the communist conspiracy. The technique is to bury the truth under an avalanche of lies.

HUAC has often been criticized by the Left as "un-American." I leave it to the readers of this newsletter to decide which is more "un-American" — the House Committee on Un-American Activities or the hate book of Frank J. Donner.

Mahoney Ticket
Campaigning In Western Counties

Former Judge Michael Paul Smith, state-wide campaign manager for the Mahoney-Lee-Barrick ticket, has announced that following closely on the heels of the candidates' filing on Wednesday, Sept. 6th, the three resumed full-scale campaigning with a week-long "shoe leather" foray into four counties of Western Maryland this week.

Judge Smith emphasized that this trip is informal in tone and a continuation of the county-by-county effort of the ticket.

George Mahoney, candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, Blair Lee, candidate for the United States Senate, and Samuel W. Barrick, candidate for Attorney General will seek to gain, through face-to-face daily talks, a first-hand detailed acquaintance with the problems of the region, and reports from the trip indicate that it is likely that the feature of the week will be the "shoe leather" style of campaigning made famous by Mr. Mahoney in past political wars.

Western Marylanders from all walks of life—farmers and doctors—miners and lawyers—mail carriers and business executives—shoppers and salesmen—have been meeting and talking with Mr. Mahoney, Mr. Lee and Mr. Barrick during the course of their travels.

Following a large Democratic gathering last Sunday afternoon in Potomac, Md., in Mr. Lee's home county of Montgomery, the candidates drove to Oakland, Md. in Garrett County and covered during the week the western Counties of Maryland.

On Wednesday afternoon the candidates attended the important Washington County Democratic picnic at Williamsport, the big event of the week in the western part of the State.

This is a continuation of the campaigning which has been in effort in Baltimore City and surrounding counties and now moves into Western Maryland.

Judge Smith states that this kind of campaigning, meeting the

BOWLING FASHIONS SCORE

Today's bowling costumes score a fashion strike every time, and with comfort to spare. This bright plaid beauty in an easy-care fabric blended of Creslan acrylic fiber and rayon is well tailored to combine style with the freedom of movement necessary for one of today's most popular active sports. The knee-length pants are subtly hidden under a slashed skirt. The easy overblouse adds to the feminine look.

Good Looks After 40

At any age, good grooming is important, but it is especially important in helping the mature woman be her loveliest self. The makers of Mum have worked out a checklist of grooming routines suited to the needs and special problems of the woman over 40.

Bathe everyday to relax as well as cleanse. Plan the bath at a "quiet time" in the household. Immediately after, apply a gentle cream deodorant such as Mum. The feeling of daintiness is vital to a woman's self-confidence.

Choose make-up colors carefully. Too little make-up is as unflattering as too much.

Arrange hair in a soft, easy to manage style. Avoid page boy, extreme styles.

Use hand lotion after in-water tasks, and rubber gloves whenever possible. Dry skin on hands is ageing.

Watch posture at all times. Everyday housework offers a good opportunity for practicing good posture. Bend from the knees with back straight; stand erect and practice grace while vacuuming.

Adopt a calm attitude. Take time out to relax during the day. Every woman should, no matter what her age.

TODAY'S meditation

Read Luke 18:1-8.

I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you (Luke 11:9.)

The man who is satisfied with his life and the world about him rarely prays. But when adversity overtakes him, in his extremity he turns to the Lord, who is standing at the door of every heart. He will hear the cry of this penitent soul. When the door is opened the life of the penitent man will be flooded with light.

Prayer takes man's fear and replaces it with confidence. Fuller life thus comes, for by prayer we can re-establish a lost communion with God.

From a missionary, threatened by death in China, prayer removed a terrible fear and helplessness. Despair was replaced by a calm peacefulness. He said afterwards: "My own will had failed in the most critical moment of my life. But knowledge that I could depend on a power greater than my own sustained me in a wonderful way."

He rapidly outdistanced his fears and gained his former sense of hope.

Prayer
O God, we are conscious of our own inadequacy, especially in the face of trouble. We pray that at such times Thy presence may be very real in our lives. Shine the light of truth into our darkened lives so that we may have complete assurance; through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Thought For The Day

Our lives are incomplete unless we are in constant communion with God.

TV Star To Appear At Livestock Show

TIMONIUM — Arthur Godfrey will be among the riders in an exhibition of quarter horses at the Eastern National Livestock Show at the Maryland State Fair Grounds here on Sunday, November 12.

The radio and television star will bring to the fairgrounds some of his prize quarter horses from his 3,000-acre Beacon Hill Farms at Paeonian Springs, Va. The exhibition is slated to be held on the infield of the Timonium race track.

The schedule of events will include a registered quarter horse judging contest is the morning

The contest will be open to anyone with a registered quarter horse.

In the afternoon, professional cowboys from all over the East will compete in calf-roping and cattle-cutting contests in which more than $500 in cash prizes will be awarded, according to John Cooper, chairman of the event.

Entry fee for the contests is $20.

The cattle-cutting contest will be conducted under the sponsorship of the National Cutting Horse Association and the East Coast Cutting Horse Association.

Details of the exhibition and contests are being worked out by Mr. Cooper and Sam Paylor, manager of Godfrey's Virginia farm. Mr. Paylor predicted the event would be "one of the big quarter horse shows of the year."

The Eastern National itself, fourth largest livestock show in the country, will open on November 11 and continue through November 16. More than 1,500 head of cattle, sheep and hogs are expected to be entered in the competition for nearly $52,000 in prize money.

Farmers May Sign Up For Barley Program

Farmers who want to take part in the 1962 feed grain program for winter barley will have an opportunity to sign up after Sept. 15. William L. Dudley, Chairman, Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced this week.

He said that notices are now being sent to barley growers throughout the county, listing the individual farm's barley feed grain base, the established yield, and the "minimum" and "additional" payment rates. With this information, a grower may determine how participation in the program would affect his farming operations and income.

The Chairman explained that the program seeks to prevent a further buildup of unneeded feed grain stocks, by offering payments to participating farmers for diverting a portion of their farm's barley base acreage from production into conservation. A list of approved conservation uses will be available in the County ASC Office.

A farm's barley base will, in general, be the average acreage planted to barley on the farm in 1959 and 1960. To participate in the program, a grower must divert at least 20 per cent of the base, as well as comply with other provisions of the program. For this minimum diversion, the payment will be the county support price on 50 per cent of the normal yield.

For an additional 20 per cent diversion—up to 40 per cent of the base, the payment will be the county support price on 60 per cent of the normal yield.

As under the 1961 feed grain program, advance payments will be made at the time growers sign up to take part in the program.

Eligibility for price support on the farm's "normal" yield of the 1962 barley acreage will depend on participation in the 1962 barley feed grain program and on meeting at least the minimum requirements of the program. These requirements include diverting at least 20 per cent of the farm barley base into conservation and not exceeding the farm's base acreage for corn and grain sorghum.

It has been estimated that at least 2,000,000 people in the United States have been handicapped or incapacitated by strokes. Many could be rehabilitated through modern medical care and retraining.

AN ESTATE-SIZE HOME DESIGNED WITH A LAVISH, DRAMATIC FLAIR.

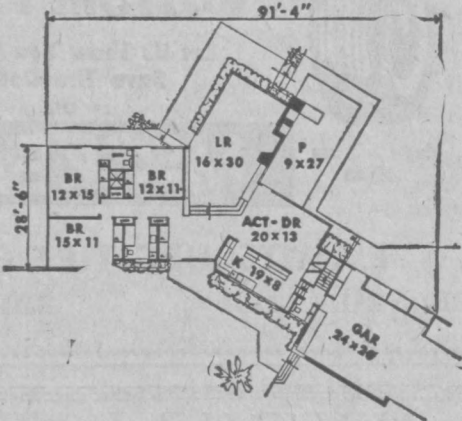

Design 271-W

If you demand a home of majestic proportions, a home that will let your imagination run rampant—then, this is it!

Based on an original Y-shaped design developed by Richard B. Pollman, one of America's most distinguished designers, this sprawling 2,104 sq. ft. home features an aristocratic 30-ft. sunken living room highlighted by a sloping beamed ceiling, a massive natural-stone fireplace, a huge covered and enclosed terrace, and a paneled activities room of noble size.

To insure complete privacy, the three-bedroom sleeping area is confined to a separate wing which also contains two complete baths, a profusion of large closets, and a walk-in, cedar-lined storage room. A magnificent kitchen featuring built-in appliances and a gay dining nook will make entertaining an effortless pleasure. An oversize two-car garage completes the picture of family living at its best.

For information about construction blueprints for Convenient Living Design 271-W, and for Portfolio C-1, a 16-page booklet illustrating this design and 22 other country estate homes, send 35¢ to: Home Planners, Inc., 16310 Grand River Ave., Detroit 27, Mich.

New Tourist Trails Beckoning in Jordan

Mt. Nebo, where Moses viewed the Promised Land of Jericho.

In the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan particularly the West Bank (western side of the Jordan River) area is noted for its world famous sites. Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Jericho, Hebron, Nablus and the "Dead Sea Scrolls" caves at Khirbet Qumran all add to the country's renown.

Across the Jordan is the East Bank. It too has a great number of historical attractions. The area as yet is really unspoiled territory for interested sightseers, but the recently improved Amman-Aqaba highway has opened the trails to the east. It has cut the time necessary for a trip to Petra in half, brought back areas which were once the haunts of Bedouin marauders and Frankish invaders.

Amman, the western jumping-off place of the desert highway, is today rich and busy as in its heyday as one of the proud Greco-Roman caravan cities. In its midst sits a large Roman amphitheater, and overlooking the town is the once well-fortified Acropolis, with the ruins of a magnificent temple in its courtyard. Jerash, a short drive north of Amman on a new spur road, is a real lure to exploration. It is one of the best preserved examples of the lush Greco-Roman civilization in the Eastern Provinces.

Twenty miles south of Amman on the new highway is the little Christian village of Madaba, with its fine old Greek Orthodox church with a 6th century mosaic floor representing the map of Biblical Palestine. Near Madaba is the ancient town of Nebo, from which Moses was shown the promised land. And, on a side road, is Qasr Mushatta—one of the finest of the 8th century Omayyad desert palaces.

Continuing south toward Aqaba the highway passes through ancient Dhibon, then climbs into the wild hills around Kerak. Here, on a high knoll, stands a shaggy old fortress whose fire signals were once seen nightly from King David's tower in Jerusalem, fifty miles away.

From here it is a short drive to Ma'an, unless travelers are attracted to make side trips to Wadi el Hasa, the site of the Nabatean temple, or Shobek, to see the Crusader castle Montreal, built by Baldwin I in 1115.

Section of the impressive colonnaded forum at Jerash.

The traveler with Petra as his objective leaves the highway at Ma'an and takes a rougher road to Wadi Musa and the station where visitors equip for the last lap into the famous "rose-red city." Here horses or mules become necessary for transportation along the winding, twisting, colorful gorge which kept the Nabateans of Petra safe from invasion for centuries. The first magnificent rock-cut tomb of the city appears suddenly, in a burst of strong sunlight. Indeed rose-red, incredibly preserved in the living rock, this is but a forerunner of the splendid array of temples, palaces, churches, tombs, and the incomparable treasury, to be explored in Petra. With the new highway, the round trip from Amman to Petra can, if one is pressed, be made in one day.

Continuing to Aqaba the road passes through some of the most wild and weird country imaginable, where Lawrence and his Arab troops harried the Turks. In Aqaba business is booming. But for those not on business, the town's real attraction is the warmth of its year-round sunshine, its palm-dotted beaches, its unspoiled cleanliness and beauty.

This is Jordan's East Bank. Fascinating sights are already many, and there are others yet undiscovered. The trail is open for all to follow.

Looking Ahead

...by Dr. George S. Benson
DIRECTOR—NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Secaucus, Arkansas

A letter to an American friend from a young Communist, printed in Presbyterian Survey, has been given further circulation by a North Carolina broadcaster through the trade publication, Sponsor. The impact of this letter is tremendous. It shows how the Communist attachment to political purpose functions as a religion, avowedly humanitarian, altruistic, full of good purpose. Yet, we realize that his total commitment can be nothing but a foolish and empty hope because its ultimate purpose is to enslave the world.

But the point of the impact is this: How does our own dedication to freedom and our church compare with this personal devotion to Communism? Can our own commitment to truth match the intensity of this? Except for its content and meaning, with regard only to its measure of dedication, this letter reminds one of St. Paul's inspired messages to Christians of the first century. In presenting this letter of the young Communist, I would like to ask whether you, with your love of truth, your belief in right and in God, can match it in seriousness of purpose.

A Young Communist Writes ...

"What seems of first importance to you is to me either not desirable or impossible of realization. But there is one thing about which I am in dead earnest—and that is the socialist cause. It is my life, my business, my religion, my hobby, my sweetheart, wife, and mistress, my bread and meat. I work at it in the daytime and dream of it at night, I hold on me grows, not lessens, as time goes on. I'll be in it the rest of my life. It is my alter-ego. When you think of me, it is necessary to think of socialism as well, because I'm inseparably bound to it.

"Therefore, I can't carry on a friendship, a love affair, or even a conversation without relating it to this force which both drives and guides my life. I evaluate people, books, ideas, and notions according to how they affect the socialist cause and by their attitude toward it. Trying Experiences

"I have already been in jail because of my ideas, and if necessary I am ready to go before a firing squad. A certain percentage of us get killed or imprisoned. Even for those who escape these harsher ends, life is no bed of roses. A genuine radical lives in virtual poverty. He turns back to the party every penny he makes above what is absolutely necessary to keep him alive. We constantly look for places where the class struggle is the sharpest, exploiting these situations to the limit of their possibilities. We lead strikes. We organize demonstrations. We speak on street corners. We fight cops. We go through trying experiences many times each year which the ordinary man has to face only once or twice in a lifetime.

"And when we're not doing these more exciting things, all our spare time is taken up with dull routine chores, endless leg work, errands, etc., which are inescapably connected with running a live organization. A Philosophy Of Life

"Radicals don't have the time or the money for many movies or concerts or T-bone steaks or decent homes and new cars. We've been described as fanatics. We are. Our lives are dominated by one great, over-shadowing factor—the struggle for socialism. Well, that's what my life is going to be. That's the black side of it. Then there is the other side of it. We Communists have a philosophy of life which no amount of money could buy. We have a cause to fight for, a definite purpose in life. We subordinate our petty personal selves into a great movement of humanity. We have a morale, an esprit de corps such as no capitalist army ever had; we have a code of conduct, a way of life, a devotion to our cause that no religious order can touch. And we are guided not by blind, fanatical faith but by logic and reason, by a never-ending education of study and practice.

"And if our personal lives seem hard or our eyes appear to suffer through subordination to the party, then we are adequately compensated by the thought that each of us is in his small way helping to contribute something new and true, something better to mankind."

Many Attractions At York Fair

On Tuesday of this week the York Interstate Fair opened its annual yearly five day exposition and continues this week through Saturday. It offers many fine displays of cattle, poultry, agricultural and horticultural, machinery and commercial exhibits well worth seeing.

Highlighting the outstanding list of daily featured grandstand attractions is the famous national TV star Dick Clark in person and his American Bandstand Program with Caravan of Stars including Freddie Cannon, Dion, Johnny and the Hurricanes, JoAnn Campbell, Little Anthony, and the Regents, who will appear Friday afternoon and night on covered stage.

Other daily features included Sammy Kaye with his Swing and Sway Band on Wednesday and the Limelighters, TV's newest sensational Trio on Thursday.

In addition to the daily featured attractions, each night on the big all-weather covered stage, Frank Wirth will present his "Round the World" Musical Revue with a large chorus of lovely girls, plus many of the world's finest vaudeville and circus acts.

There is exciting harness and running races each afternoon except Saturday. On Saturday afternoon and night Jack Kochman's Hot Drivers will present America's Greatest Auto Thrill Show.

Snowballs in Summer

KEEP COOL! Keep wonderful ice cream snowballs on hand in your freezer all Summer! Scoop ice cream into balls ... about six to a quart is right ... and roll the balls in Baker's Angel Flake Coconut. Freeze and cover until ready to use. In addition to the excellent sauce given here, you may like to try this quickie: Mix a quarter pound of chocolate-coated peppermint wafers with about 2 tablespoons water. Stir over low heat until melted and blended. Serve warm over the snowballs ... a cool dessert.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE SAUCE

- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 3 tablespoons milk
- 1 cup confectioners' powdered sugar

In a small saucepan, melt chocolate and butter over low heat, stirring constantly. Add milk and sugar. Mix well. Heat until mixture is smooth. Serve warm. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

YOUNG IDEAS from Polly Ponds

A: It may be a warning signal—and you can do something about it.

See your doctor or dermatologist. He will probably prescribe a medicated soap or lotion for you to use on your skin.

Keep your face very clean by washing it thoroughly at least twice a day and, in between, quick-cleansing with a skin freshener containing an antiseptic agent that kills surface bacteria.

Watch your diet and see that it includes a fresh fruit or vegetable with every meal—not too many fried foods and sweets.

Get plenty of rest (a minimum of eight hours sleep each night), fresh air and exercise. Try not to worry or brood about things, including the condition of your skin. A clear, unblemished complexion is often the reflection of a calm, untroubled mind.

Last but not least you'll enjoy the many rides and attractions on the mile-long paved midway. The York Interstate Fair is really a World Fair At Home ... so don't miss it!

The human heart pumps about four quarts of blood per minute through the body's 12,000 mile network of arteries, veins and capillaries.

Those who are invited to ... and attend ... the reception ... always send a gift.

A gift sent before the wedding is always addressed to the bride. A gift sent after the wedding is addressed to both bride and groom.

It is tradition for the parents of the bride to provide a service of basic place settings of sterling silver for their gift to their daughter.

The bride always sends a handwritten note of thanks for each gift received.

Evenings By Appointment

Faculty changes
Announced
At St. Joseph's

The recently appointed Chaplain, Rev. Martin J. Sleasman, C.M., heads the list of new members of the administration and faculty at Saint Joseph College. A former instructor in Theology and guidance counselor at St. John's University, Jamaica, N. Y., Father Sleasman was assigned to St. Joseph's Church in Emmitsburg before assuming the dual role of Chaplain to students and Instructor in the Division of Religion and Philosophy at Saint Joseph College. Another notable addition to the staff is the return of Sister Mary Agnes Barry, Ph.D., former President of Saint Joseph College, as Professor in Religion.

Miss Beverly Ann Fryer, who received her B.S. degree from Madison College, in Harrisonburg, Virginia, has been appointed as Instructor in Physical Education. Elizabeth Von Kerczek, of Washington, D. C., will be an Instructor in the Dept. of Chemistry. Miss Von Kerczek received her A.B. degree from Marywood College and an M.S. from Catholic University. In addition to a teaching assistantship at Catholic University, she was a research chemist with the National Bureau of Standards. Miss Julia Maria Morrison will serve as a full-time assistant to college library, Sister Margaret Mary. A graduate of the University of Iowa, where she earned an M.P.A. degree, Miss Morrison was an assistant editor of the Western Review, in Iowa City, and a teaching assistant at the University of Minnesota Library School.

Dr. Ralph P. Joly joins the Humanities Division as a lecturer of Philosophy. Dr. Joly attended St. Michael's College in Toronto, and received his A.B., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from Catholic University. A former instructor in Philosophy at the College of Great Falls, in Montana, and a graduate teaching assistant at Catholic U., he has been a member of the Mt. St. Mary's faculty since 1955. The English department has added Instructor Richard Norman Plante. Mr. Plante received his A.B. and M.A. degrees from St. John's University, on Long Island. Assistant Professor Donald F. Shriner, a graduate of Shippensburg State College, joins the Department of Mathematics this fall. An experienced mathematics instructor, he has also studied at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and the University of Notre Dame.

Electricity Starts Outdoor Barbecue

The toil and frustration of starting charcoal in the barbecue that has always plagued the family patio chef in the past, can now be forgotten with an electric charcoal lighter designed by Chromalox electric heat engineers. The lighter element, which is safely enclosed, is placed directly on a layer of charcoal, then more pieces added on top. Just plug it in and presto . . . in shortly over five minutes, you have hot coals without papers, fuels, flames or false starts! It's so easy, even a youngster can safely start the barbecue with this electric lighter.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

There are rumors of a new Federal agency being set up along the Potomac. It will be called the TDFACWMLTC.

This new agency would be an adjunct of the one already set up to administer the foreign give-aways. The full name will be "Taxpay-ers Dough For American Citizens Who May Lean Toward Communism."

The proposed plan is that any American citizen can go to TDFACWMLTC section of the foreign give away and simply state that "while I am a great believer in democracy, unless I get $10,000 I may have to become a communist." In due time, the citizen would get the $10,000, to keep a believer in democracy from turning to communism.

This proposal, of course, is not receiving serious consideration but many think it no more far fetched than the device whereby nations all over the world have separated the American taxpayer from more than $80 billion.

As Rep. Richard Roudebush, World War veteran with six battle stars says "Then came communist infiltration of South America. Our answer was $600 million more in aid with the thought expressed 'Maybe if we pay off, they will go away.' Sen. Wayne Morse says 'Much of our trouble in Latin America stems from military aid we gave to many of its dictators.'"

And Congressman Richard Poff of Virginia, recently let loose quite a strong blast on National Federation of Independent Business

Rep. Poff says that the U.S. has given Communist Tito's Yugoslavia over $2 billion including such items as $14 million for locomotives, $10 million for a plastics factory, $127 million for other "industrial projects" and, surprise of surprises, funds to build a nuclear research reactor.

Now in this case, it was known that Tito is a communist. But it was felt by buttering him up, he would keep Yugoslavia a little less communist than Moscow.

So what support has Tito given for more than $2 billion according to Rep Poff.

On the Cuban question Tito supported Castro, is trading with him, openly rebuked the U.S. Stand. Tito openly advocates seating Red China in the UN, when Lumumba was slain on the Congo organized demonstrations against the west, allows Soviet engineers to operate the Iron Curtain's biggest uranium mines, is now permitting Russia to build 10 missile bases in Yugoslavia.

And despite this record, even now there is a drive on in Washington to get even more give away billions of dollars for Tito to preserve this "friendship."

Thus, the facetious proposal to give money to decent American citizens to keep them from being friendly with Moscow is not so far-fetched, perhaps after all. If a fellow like Tito can blackmail Washington, why shouldn't the home folks have the same opportunity?

Hunting Season Starts

Dove hunters were at their favorite sport Tuesday. The first half of the dove season will end October 31. The Department of Game and Inland Fish hopes you will enjoy these and the rest of the seasons as they roll around. Here are a few suggestions that might make hunting more pleasant:

1. Be familiar with the common-sense rules of gun safety.
2. Consider yourself a guest of the landowner on whose land you hunt, seek his permission and so conduct yourself that you will be welcome in the future.

3. Do not be a litter bug. Empty cigarette packs, lunch or snack wrappings, hay fever hankies will soon make every field resemble a dump. What's more, the game will be harder to spot because a blowing piece of paper frightens them almost as much as the sight of a human being.
4. Take a rod and light tackle along. Fishing is fine in the fall.
5. Always carry your hunting license with you.

Take Fishing Tackle On Hunting Trips

Sport fishing picks up decidedly in the fall months, reminded Edwin Barry, fishery chief for the Department of Game and Inland Fish.

Fishery surveys and catch statistics show fishing success to improve a great deal in fall. As water temperatures drop a little and natural food production drops off, catching of fish can be expected to pick up.

"Those who pass up fall fishing are missing out on some of the best fishing of the year," Barry said. "Hunters will be traveling into parts of the state they never get to in summer, and they'll be close to some very good fishing. I would suggest that they take along their fishing tackle on these hunting trips," he continued. "Some of these September and early October days will turn out to be better fishing days than hunting days, and the sportsmen might as well be prepared to take advantage of it."

Watch For Deer Along Highways

Motorists are being warned to watch for deer along the highways this fall, announced Chester Kerns, chief of game management for the Department of Game and Inland Fish.

In late summer and early fall, when it gets dark early, but motorists are still using the highways heavily, the danger of hitting a deer increases. Deer begin to move around more as fall approaches, and they do their moving at night.

Hitting a deer along the highway can damage both deer and car and might severely injure passengers. So be prepared to stop when driving through the country at night.

A Long Swim

A largemouth bass tagged at Herrington Lake near Oakland in June, 1960, was caught in the Yough Reservoir 70 miles away in August, 1961; a long, rough swim for a bass.

range in the same fields.

Year 1957 was chosen for comparison because it was a year of high salary offers resulting from a demand for graduates in technical fields and a relative low supply.

The largest salary hike over the four years is in the government. The average salary offered there rose $99, or 27 per cent, since 1957.

The smallest increase in salary offers is in the automotive field. The average there rose only $48 or 11 per cent.

However, although government salary averages represent the greatest increase, it still offered the lowest average salary to graduates in technical fields.

The actual offers this year, as distinct from the averages, ranged from a high of $700 per month in aeronautical engineering to a low of $390 per month in business and public administration and education for industry.

College Faculty Active During Summer Vacation

The administration and faculty of Saint Joseph College in Emmitsburg covered many miles and traveled in a variety of directions during the summer months. Summer courses, professional workshops, and special teaching assignments were reported as the purposes of the between-semester activities.

Sister Hilda Gleason, President of the College, attended the Conference of Major Superiors at the University of Notre Dame, in South Bend, Ind. Also journeying to South Bend was Sister Grace Collins, Business Manager at St. Joseph's, for a workshop in special institutional accounting. Sister Mary Ellen, Dean of Students and Moderator of the Alumnae Association, and Sister Juliana, Assistant Professor of Biology, were in Cincinnati, Ohio for the tri-annual convention of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae.

Marquette University in Milwaukee sponsored a workshop on the role of faculty in the religious and intellectual formation of the apostolate, in which Sister Mary Agnes, Sister Margaret Ann, and Sister Robertine participated. Dr. Mariemmi Wanek, Assistant Professor of Social Studies, spent the summer on Far Eastern Studies, in special courses provided at Seton Hall in New Jersey, while Gertrude Hotelling, Director of Public Health Studies at Saint Joseph College Division of Public Health, prior to a short tour in practical public health work in Scranton, Pennsylvania.

English and Creative Writing Instructor, Mrs. Margaret Wasilifsky, enjoyed the Writer's Conference offered for five weeks at the University of Colorado. Sister Margaret Plinton, Professor of French and head of the Languages Department at Saint Joseph College, conducted a workshop as demonstration teacher and instructor of applied techniques for the summer NDEA Institute at Rivier College, in Nashua, N. H.

Donald J. Waters, of the speech and drama department, represented Saint Joseph College at the August meeting of the National Catholic Theatre Conference. Mr. Waters is a member of the Board of Directors of the national organization. A workshop sponsored by the Middle Atlantic Placement Association at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa., was attended by Vocational Guidance Director, Mrs. Gloria Murray.

What can you expect of a day that begins with getting up in the morning?

OUR STATE UNIVERSITY

Salary offers to University of Maryland graduates by industry, business, and the Federal Government have increased about 27 per cent since 1957, according to a report by the university's placement service.

ment service.

The report, which was prepared by Lewis M. Knebel, director of the placement service, was based on the results of those companies that recruited on campus and reports by Government officials. It dealt exclusively with June graduates who received BS degrees mainly in the technical fields.

Mr. Knebel's report shows average salaries of June graduates in technical fields ranging from $477 per month for Government jobs to $563 per month from the aircraft industry. These figures are compared with a $378 per month to $487 per month 1957

TODAY AND TOMORROW

BY RALF HARDESTER

Feature Editor TV GUIDE MAGAZINE

TENNESSEE ERNIE FORD IS REPORTED to have gone the full circle. After quitting his once-a-week NBC nighttime show to spend more time with his family, he is said to have signed for a five-a-week daytime show on ABC. Ernie may host a half-hour variety program, similar to the daytime series with which he broke in on NBC before switching to nighttime. Allen Funt and his sponsors have finally decided on Durward Kirby as program host for Candid Camera next season to replace Arthur Godfrey. How's this for off-beat casting: comedian Cliff Norton as Adolf Hitler, gangster-type George Raft as a concentration camp inmate and Gilbert & Sullivan star Martyn Green as Heinrich Himmler? They'll play those roles—and seriously, too—in a Du Pont Show of the Week next season titled "Paper Bullets," a true story of how the Nazis successfully counterfeited U.S. currency.

COMEDIAN HENRY YOUNGMAN goes straight on an upcoming U.S. Steel Hour, his first such dramatic TV role. Andy Williams and ABC are talking about an hour-long live musical-variety series for 1962. Jane Powell and Hugh O'Brian have signed to co-star in a $500,000 ABC special in October. The show's to be a musical version of Nathaniel Hawthorne's "Feathertop." NBC's Rose Bowl game telecast next year will be in color for the first time. Harry Belafonte and Rosemary Clooney have signed to do the first Bell Telephone Hour of the new season. Also featured will be the twin-piano team of Ferrante and Teicher. Herschel (Peter Gunn) Bernardi will be a heart surgery patient in an early episode of NBC's new Dr. Kildare series.

SID CAESAR WILL MAKE A GUEST appearance in an early-season episode of Checkmate titled "Kill the Sounds." Milton Berle, following the lead of comedians Caesar and Youngman, will do a couple of episodes for the Dick Powell Show, one may be a two-parter. NBC's Continental Classroom returns in the fall with a two-semester course in American Government, to be conducted by Dr. Peter Odgaard, political science professor at the University of California. Dinah Shore will do only seven specials next year, plus three repeats from this past season. Dinah wants to spend the rest of her time on the road, hitting the posh night spots. ABC's new The Corrupters, starring Stephen McNally and Robert Harland, has a new title: Target: Corrupters.

Complexion Tip For Teen-Agers

OVER 90 PERCENT of young girls and boys, particularly those in their teens, have a skin problem at one time or another. And many teen-agers become self-conscious from the embarrassment of "troubled" skin and resent medication which calls attention to acne blemishes. An exciting new product is now on the market which is wholly unique in concept and attacks the worrisome problems of simple acne, oily skin, blackheads and pimples, while remaining colorless and odorless in application. Stri-Dex Medicated Pads are saturated with an exclusive scientific formula which super-cleanses the skin, removing the excess oil, scales and grime. A pad, easy to use as a washcloth, is wiped briskly over the face after regular cleaning and then thrown away. The clear protective film with no tell-tale cover-up or "masking" effect continues to work between applications, helping prevent infections with its anti-bacterial barrier. This allows girls to use normal makeup and boys to apply shaving powder or lotion over the invisible shield.
