Completion of the plan for numbering Emmitsburg houses appeared in sight this week as members of the Jaycees and the Town Council took up the task once again. This time I am told it is the intention of those concerned to see the plan through. In fact a committee has been appointed and is now at work to complete the assigning of numbers and the local Jaycees have volunteered to place the numbers on the houses at 50c per house. Naturally any property-owner has the right and privilege of tacking up his own set of numbers. This paper volunteered a number of years ago to print all the assigned numbers in the paper and will do so as a public service once the list is forwarded to the Editor. Naturally the name of the owner must accompany the number. This is indeed a first step forward in the community and we understand that the job should be completed within the next week or two.

While on the subject of community spirit and improvement and the part the local Jaycees are playing we must not lose sight of the fact that this organization has done considerable in relocating our library. The new location has been painted and a sign is to be erected. The Jaycees list the project as completed as far as their end of the deal. The remainder of the work to be done prior to the reopening of the library rests with the officers of that association.

The step taken in numbering local houses represents another erasure on the list of items which caused the Postoffice Dept. to reject carrier service here. About all that remains as a barrier is lack of sidewalks in a few isolated sections of town. When this matter has been tended to then once again we can renew our efforts to obtain mail carrier service and if the winter is going to be as severe as some predict we'll appreciate such a service.

Dear Abigail:
You may enjoy hearing something good about our Emmitsburg youngsters.

We were most fortunate — Brownie Scout Troop 71 — to have a tour of the Gettysburg Battlefield last Thursday. As we climbed out of the bus all the Brownies thanked Mr. Cole the driver. Mr. Cole turned to Mrs. Lindsey, the leader, and said, "This is without a doubt the best behaved and mannerly group of children I have ever taken in our buses."

Boy were we ever proud to hear that!

A LEADER

Yes and I am sure the whole community shares in your enthusiasm and pride for it is so seldom that we do hear praise for anything local. More apt are others to be critical instead of complimentary. We definitely are proud of our local Brownies.

Cites Activities Of Local Jaycees

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

In answer to an appeal in the Chronicle suggesting that some organization should take the time to determine just what the Maryland State Roads Commission is planning to do about the relocation of State Route 97, through or around Emmitsburg, I am proud to announce the Emmitsburg Jaycees have taken steps to ascertain just what is planned.

The Jaycees have contacted Mr. William Hardy of the Maryland Highway Contractors' Assn. and he has agreed to come to Emmitsburg and discuss the relocation at an open meeting. As requested Mr. Hardy has arranged for representatives of the State Roads Commission to be present at this meeting. Mr. Hardy will give a talk on the over-all state highway program which will cover financing, taxes, long-range planning, etc. He will discuss with those present at the meeting the specific plans for the relocation of Route 97 here. State Roads Commission representatives scheduled to appear at the meeting are Robert Hagley, director of planning and programming from the Baltimore office and William Jubine from the district office in Frederick. The affair promises to be outstanding and informative and is being held in conjunction with the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce. The meeting will be held at the Green Parrot Tea Room on Nov. 2 at 6:30 p. m. Mr. Hardy's talk will begin at approximately 7:30 p. m. and will be open to the general public. An invitation also has been extended to the Burgess and Commissioners to attend.

Drivers Charged After Collision

Two drivers were charged as a result of an accident that occurred on the Tract Rd., one-half mile west of Emmitsburg, early Saturday.

Trooper Earl F. Tracey reported that a 1957 Chevrolet, driven by James R. Sanders, 21, Emmitsburg, sideswiped a 1957 Pontiac driven by Harold J. Carson, 26, Gettysburg, which was apparently on the wrong side of the road. Trooper Tracey charged Sanders with reckless driving and Carson with failure to keep to the right of center.

Earlier Saturday, at 12:11 a. m., Tracey found a 1960 Ford abandoned on U. S. 15 one-half mile south of Emmitsburg. He said the car had apparently hit a tree and run back on the road. Later he was able to locate the driver, William E. Napp, 37, Edgewater, who admitted striking the tree, and was charged with reckless driving.

Legion Spook Parade Set For Tuesday

Emmitsburg will celebrate Halloween Tuesday night when the annual parade sponsored by the Francis X. Elder Post of the American Legion marches off at 7 o'clock. It is expected that at least 500 children and adults will be in the line of march competing for the various prizes offered by the sponsoring Legion unit. Should inclement weather prevail the affair will be rescheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 1.

Harold M. Hoke, chairman of the parade, announced that six prize categories have been established. The event has been growing in size during the past dozen years since its origination and this year's affair is expected to draw even more of the local kiddies and parents.

March-off time has been set for 7 p. m. Tuesday evening. The parade will form in front of the Doughboy monument in West End at 6 p. m. and will proceed down West Main Street, pass the Square and continue down East Main street to Federal Avenue where it will turn and continue to DePaul Street terminating at the rectory grounds of St. Joseph's Rectory. Following disbandment the participants will be served refreshments including cider and cookies. It is hoped that all participants will remain at the rectory grounds until the prize winners are announced.

Leading the line of march will be the color guard of the American Legion Post, followed by a number of other units including the Emmitsburg Municipal Band, the Fire Trucks, a number of vehicles and the costumed marchers. The reviewing stand will be located on the Square. The general public is cordially invited to participate in the parade and to view the spectacle.

Prizes will be awarded to first, second and third places respectively, as follows: Funniest costumes, $5, $2, 1; best looking costume, $5, $2, $1; most original costume, $5, $2, $1; funniest costume with pet, $5, $2, $1; best looking costume with decorated bicycle, tricycle, or wagon, $5, $2, and $1. In addition, two mystery prizes of $5 each will be awarded.

UNICEF To Solicit Monday Night

Local children working in behalf of UNICEF will canvass the town for donations Monday evening between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock it has been announced.

The children are asked to assemble at the local Methodist Church before 7 o'clock where they will receive identification tags and containers to keep the donations. Following the solicitation the children will be "treated" in the church social room.

Jaycees Begin Membership Drive

The Emmitsburg Jaycees announced this week they have inaugurated a membership drive. Something new in drives, a system that could prove an incentive for members to work on the project has been inserted by the local officers of the club.

The plan works something like this: Already the officers have named a "mystery" man and his identity is known only to them. The idea is to get members to approach known non-members about joining the club. Should any member be lucky enough to contact the "mystery" man and bring him to a meeting as a potential member he will receive $5. As a further inducement, should the prospective member join, the sponsoring member will receive $10. Young men between the ages of 21 and 35 with the interest of the community at heart are invited and urged to join the Jaycees.

President Allen Stoner announced this week that a Pancake Breakfast will be sponsored by the group on December 2. Serving will commence at exactly 4 a. m. that morning in an effort to capture the patronage of early deer hunters. Naturally the breakfast will continue for several hours and the public is invited to participate. Additional information as to the location and price of the breakfast will be forthcoming.

Jim Deegan Has Outstanding Squad This Year

Despite a rash of injuries which has sidelined five starters at one time or another, Coach Jim Deegan's Mount St. Mary's pitch squad is off to a 3-2 record including a 2-1 Mason-Dixon Conference mark. The Mountaineers have whipped Western Maryland 3-2, Loyola 1-0, Georgetown 1-0 and have lost only to Frostburg 2-0 and Washington College 3-1.

Kuhn has missed most of the season with a bad knee; Bransfield has been hobbled with a pulled muscle; Yori missed the first two games and Donovan was just added to the injury list for several weeks. Bossle and Harris also have been below par.

To date Deegan's squad has never operated with his best first string line. In addition the defense has been weakened considerably by the switch of first team All-South Dick Swomley from full back to the line. Inexperience has hurt the Mounties also with greer defensemen kicking opponent goal in the Western Maryland and Frostburg frays. Bob Brown has done an excellent job holding the riddled line together and Pat Zimmerman has been a stickout at left fullback. Joe Daneke, a junior from Bethlehem, moved into starting berth as inside left and starred against Western Maryland.

Deegan's over-all five-year record stands at 16 victories, 35 losses and one tie. Last year's 6-6 was his best.

Remaining on the schedule are: Nov. 1, American, away; 4, Catholic, home and Nov. 13, Roanoke, at home.

Halloween Safety Stressed

With Halloween just around the corner you can look for a horde of tiny sprites, goblins and witches to descend on your neighborhood in pursuit of "trick or treat." With the earlier darkness hours of October these youngsters run the risk of involvement in traffic accidents as they roam the streets.

The Automobile Club of Maryland urges parents to make certain their youngsters wear or carry something white on their Halloween costumes (witches included).

Motorists are advised to drive carefully especially around suburban neighborhoods and to remain alert for little figures darting about. The child whose life you save by driving carefully could be your own!

Students To Aid Orphanage

Students at Mount St. Mary's College have formed a "Paradise Guild" to provide an organized athletic and recreational program for the youths at Paradise Rectory, near Abbotstown.

A spokesman for the new group said some 80 students at the school have signed to carry on the program at Paradise each Saturday afternoon starting this week.

Each week a committee from the Guild will go to the school

Fall is really the best time to redecorate outdoor furniture. If you brighten up porch and patio pieces with a clean coat of enamel before winter storage, you'll pat yourself on the back next spring. Whether wood or metal is involved, the very best quality paint is recommended, such as "Duco" enamel. (Outdoor exposure is the supreme test of paint serviceability.) Rusted spots should be sanded to bright metal and spot-primed with an anti-rust primer. Wood furniture, before refinishing, may first require filling of cracks and nail holes. The old enamel coating should be sanded lightly and wiped with paint thinner before applying the new coat. Do it this season in anticipation of springtime when there will be so much else to do. OFF AND RUNNING by John L. Day

250,000 to 1 Payoff

How would you like to win a "bet" at odds of 250,000 to 1? Six young men have done so in recent years by betting on themselves. Their wager was a 4¢ stamp; their return, a college education costing $10,000. This sort of bet would have appealed to the late Grantland Rice in memory of whom the Thoroughbred Racing Association set up the TRA-Grantland Rice Memorial Scholarship at Granny's Alma Mater, Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tennessee; he was a "Daily Double" fan. If studies don't interfere, one of the 6 scholarship students will be TRA's guest on November 1, Grantland Rice's birthday, when the Sportsmanship Brotherhood presents Arthur Daley, New York Times Pulitzer Prize winning sports columnist, with their Grantland Rice Award. Meanwhile, high school seniors who would like to follow a career in sports writing ought to apply for the TRA scholarship which provides for all expenses in Vanderbilt's College of Arts and Science. It also offers $500 a year for summer employment on a breeding farm, at a race track or on a newspaper. Applications should be addressed to Director of Admissions, Vanderbilt University and the deadline is December 15.

It's in the cards

Witches, ghosts and "trick-or-treaters" aren't the only ones who will be shattering nerves come Halloween.

The mailman will be getting into the act when he delivers this year's crop of Halloween studio greeting cards.

"Let's rob a bank," says one spine-tingler from Rust Craft, showing a vampire. The inside caption reads: "A blood bank, that is!"

Another, with a witch cooking up a deadly potion in a cauldron says: "I had a luscious Halloween gift for you... but it was condemned by the Board of Health."

If an insult, rather than a scare, seems to be more in order on Halloween, then there is: "With you... it's Halloween all year long!"

Or, borrowing from an old tune, there is one showing a vampire sitting on a grave stone: "I'll be buried in all the old Halloween pieces!"

The new size Ford Fairlane, available in two- and four-door models in both a Fairlane and Fairlane 500 series, has a 115.5 inch wheel base that places it right between the Falcon and the Galaxie. The Thunderbird-like roof and crisp styling mark it as a member of the Ford line.

The all new Fairlane features twice-a-year maintenance, low initial purchase price, high performance and full-size interior spaciousness. The new models will be introduced to the public on November 2.

100 YEARS AGO

Southern Privateers Are Tried For Piracy

By Lon K. Savage

Out of the dungeons of a New York City Prison 100 years ago this week came a group of manacled seamen, heading for a trial that would make its mark in history.

They were 14 crewmen from the schooner "Savannah", the first ship commissioned as a privateer by Confederate President Jefferson Davis. As privateers, they had been authorized by the Confederacy to attack and seize United States merchant ships on the high seas.

Their career had been brilliant but brief. Setting out from Charleston on a Sunday in June, the "Savannah" captured a brig from Rockland, Maine, on her first day out. After taking the brig to the Carolina coast where she was condemned and sold, she set out again for more prey. It was then her crew mistook the U. S. man of war "Perry" for another prize and attacked.

Captured

It was too late when they discovered the "Perry's" armament. Instead of capturing her, they were captured and soon found themselves prisoners on the Perry. Within a month, they were in irons, imprisoned in New York and charged with treason and piracy, both punishable by death.

Jefferson Davis heard of the charges against the Savannah crew early in July. Immediately he fired off a stiff demand to President Lincoln.

"Painful as will be the necessity," Davis wrote, "this Government will deal out to the prisoners held by it the same treatment and the same fate as shall be experienced by those captured on the Savannah."

In short, if the Savannah crewmen were executed, Lincoln could expect a similar fate for some of his soldiers held by the Confederacy. It was an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth.

But the charges stuck. The "Savannah" crewmen were arraigned, and on October 23, they went on trial.

Eight Days Of Trial

For eight days the trial continued as a battery of lawyers presented the two sides and argued the difficult issues of piracy versus wartime seizure. At 2:30 p. m., October 30, the jury retired to make its verdict.

All that night the jury deliberated. Four of the 12 were for acquittal. At 11:20 a. m. next day, the jury came out and the foreman announced, "There is no prospect at all that we can come to an agreement." The jury was discharged, and the question of retaliation had been stayed.

In November, with the crewmen still under piracy charges, the Confederates chose by lot 14 officers from among their Union prisoners and announced they would receive the same fate as the 14 Savannah crewmen.

With this, the Lincoln administration gradually backed down. The Savannah crewmen never were brought to trial again, and in February, 1862, they were transferred to a prisoner of war camp.

When all was said and done, the outcome was a good one. Largely because of the Savannah incident, the North and South, in July, 1862, worked out a cartel for exchange of prisoners.

Next week: McClellan takes full command of the Union Armies.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by
Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Last week Khrushchev shocked the world with his announcement that the Soviet Union would detonate a 50 megaton nuclear device at the end of this month. Another matter of great interest in Washington relates to General Taylor's factfinding trip to South Viet Nam where another crisis is brewing. It is hoped that the United Nations Resolution on nuclear testing will cause the Soviet Union to call off its campaign of nuclear terror and that General Taylor will be able to recommend effective ways for the United States to assist the Government of Viet Nam on meeting the threat to its independence. These two news developments demonstrate the continued challenge we will face in defeating the menace of communism and the continued need for national preparedness. The announcement by the Executive Branch in Washington that the current fiscal year compels us to review our ability to meet the world crises which are currently in the news and those which the Soviet Union undoubtedly will create in its effort to obtain the goal of world Communism within the next two decades.

The force of our military might, the strength of our international relations, and the stability of our domestic economy depend upon a sound fiscal program. To maintain this soundness, there must be an equilibrium between expenditures and revenues over any given period of time. It cannot reasonably be predicted that the expenditures which are necessary to maintain our national security will decrease in the near future. In fiscal year 1961, the Congress appropriated $46 billion for national and international security alone. This figure will be increased to $49 billion this year and is predicted to reach $53 billion in 1965.

This year I vigorously supported the President on his requests for additional defense preparedness spending. During the Second Session of this Congress I will continue to support those programs which I believe are vital to our national defense. To insure our ability to meet the challenge of the Soviet threat, we must reevaluate the desirability of a continued increase in domestic expenditures. Our current rate of domestic-civilian spending is increasing each year and has doubled since 1954. Increased national productivity and the corresponding increase in national revenue have provided the means of meeting the bulk of our increased expenditures and will continue to do so in the future. The President and the Congress, however, have the duty to reassess Federal participation in domestic-civilian programs, and must undertake this if we are to maintain a solvent fiscal policy as the basis of our capability to meet existing world tensions.

When the President delivered his Berlin message to the Congress on July 25, he stated that a budget deficit of $5 billion was likely, but assured the Congress that "our economy has the capacity to bear this new request."

Since July 25, this deficit estimate has been increased by $1 billion. This estimate will continue to increase if the Congress does not use great caution in approving new programs and great diligence in curtailing unnecessary expenditures. The Chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means has stated that this problem cannot be resolved by increased taxation, since the point of diminishing returns is being reached in some areas.

Continued deficit spending, inflation, and reduction of gold stockpiles undermine the confidence of our allies and the neutral nations in our ability to meet the international crisis. Khrushchev has stated the proposition clearly—he states that the economic supremacy of the Soviet Union or the United States will ultimately allow Communism or American Democracy to achieve the summit of world power. This underscores the fact that our ability to survive the crucial tests of today and tomorrow depends on our ability to maintain an invincible economy and this in turn depends on our ability to allocate our resources wisely and prudently, and to defer some of the national luxuries we desire.

We have been called upon by the President to make certain sacrifices in order that we may bear the historic burden of our time. It may be that one aspect of this sacrifice will be the postponement of some domestic program which we desire but for which we can wait without detriment to our national life.

Children Of Mary Plan Activities

On Thursday, October 12, the Children of Mary Association of St. Joseph's High School met in the school auditorium. Under the guidance of its spiritual director, Rev. John Fisher, C.M.; moderator, Sister Louise; and president, Mary Teresa Weedon, the organization began its activities for the current school year. Other officers are: Gwendolyn Shorb, vice president; Diane Pryor, treasurer; Rosemary Lewis, secretary; Genevieve Wivell, senior counselor; Linda Myers, junior counselor; and Rebecca Norris, sophomore counselor.

After his introduction to the group by the president, Father Fisher greeted the members and gave an inspirational talk on the origin, history, and purpose of the Children of Mary, a worldwide organization. Father stressed the fact that this society is not just another club or sorority but it is, rather, a way of life and no other association can compare with it.

In the future, meetings will be held twice a month. On the second Thursday, the members will attend devotions to be held in St. Joseph's Church, consisting of prayers, sermon, and Benediction. At the business meeting on the third Thursday, items of current interest will be considered, followed by a question and answer period, discussion, film, or talk. Earlier in the month the Council comprised of the director, moderator, officers and counselors, will convene to prepare the program for the monthly meetings.

Members will continue attending the 7:00 a. m. Mass in St. Joseph's Church on the third Sunday of each month. Among other activities on the agenda for the coming year are: assisting at the Church Bazaar; fixing baskets for poor families at Thanksgiving and Christmas; visiting and aiding the sick, the aged, and the poor; a weekend retreat; and reception of aspirants and associates.

Laurel Featuring Daily Racing

LAUREL—Laurel Race Course continues the celebration of its golden anniversary year, and also observes the tenth running of its world-famed Washington D. C. International, during its sixteen-day autumn meeting opening October 25.

The $100,000 International, run at one mile and one half over Laurel's one-mile grass course, will once again bring the world's best thoroughbreds onto the same course in what has come to be known as "The Olympics of Racing."

But the International is not the only important race scheduled at Laurel this autumn. On the meeting's first Saturday, October 28, Maryland-bred and foaled two-year-olds race in the $10,000 added Maryland Futurity at six furlongs. Many of these same horses will be seen at Laurel next spring in the track's other race for home-bred horses, the $15,000 added Maryland Derby for three-year-olds.

On Saturday, November 4, the feature race will be the final championship event of the year for two-year-old fillies, the $65,000 gross Selma Stakes at one mile and one sixteenth. Most of the country's leading young fillies are eligible for the Selma, which was won last year by Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Good Move.

The International, of course, is the highlight of Laurel's meeting. This unique race, to which Laurel invites the champion horses from Europe, South America, and Australia, as well as the United States, has become one of the world's premiere sports events.

This year, Uncle Sam will be bidding for his fifth victory and his third straight after victories in 1959 and 1960 by Cain Hoy Stable's Bald Eagle.

About eight nations are expected to be represented in this year's running.

Already announced as participants are the horses High Perch from England, Wonderboy from Denmark, and Misti from France.

Mount Booters Nip Georgetown 1-0

Mt. St. Mary's won its third soccer victory in four starts by nipping Georgetown U., 1-0 in a hard fought game here last Saturday.

The lone score of the game came after 3:53 minutes of the final period when Dick Swomley booted a goal.

Woody Stoner, Mount goalie, was credited with 13 saves.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Jonah 2; Luke 11:29-36. "When my soul fainted within me, I remembered the Lord; and my prayer came to thee, into thy holy temple." (Jonah 1:7. RSV.)

Has there ever been anyone in a more desperate situation than Jonah? Disobedient to the Lord, trying to avoid his divine mission, and trying to escape from the presence of God, he was deadly peril as the Lord passed judgment on him.

In his despair, he cried to God. His prayer shows his utter devotion to the Lord. It gives voice to his passionate reverence for God's holy temple.

In his prayer, Jonah renounced all allegiance to idols. He manifested an unshakable faith in God's redeeming power. He praised God for deliverance, as if it had already happened. He re-dedicated his life to the Lord, and his prayer found acceptance. To his own unbelieving generation, Jesus held up Jonah as an example of repentance. He also used Jonah's condition and deliverance as a symbol of His own death and resurrection.

Prayer

Our Father, we pray Thy forgiveness for all disobedience to Thy will in our lives. Help us by Thy grace to surrender ourselves completely to Thee; through Christ our blessed Redeemer, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

'62 CORVAIR MONZA

NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.) You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes.

Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper.

So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, better take a cab.

A New World of Worth

And here's America's only thoroughbred sports car, the '62 CORVETTE. We warn you: If you drive a Corvette after your first sampling of a Corvair, you may well end up a two-car man. And who could blame you?

"The witches ride on Halloween and far too often death rides with them!" This special warning from the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission is given to parents to remind them of the many dangers that beset children on the streets and highways at Halloween. Each year many youngsters meet death or sustain serious injuries as they gaily roam the streets dressed in their festive Halloween costumes. In the excitement of "Trick or Treat" and other Halloween fun, youngsters forget about traffic dangers. This is especially true when they are wearing masks and dark costumes. Safety rules practiced at other times go by the board. Parents should be certain that the Halloween costume is light in color and that masks are not worn on the street—That all trick and treating is done in the daytime—Youngsters should be entertained indoors at night.

Drivers are urged to be on the alert for young goblins roaming the streets both in the daytime and at night. "The ghosts that haunt our streets on Halloween are very much alive—PLEASE let's see that they stay alive!"

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

By William Kitay
Member, National Association of Science Writers
Editor, All About Babies

False Economy

A recent column expounding the many values of diaper service resulted in a number of letters from readers chiding us for having overlooked the cost factor involved. Stated one letter writer:

"You may be right when you say that my home laundered diapers are not done as scientifically as those processed by a diaper service. But you're forgetting diaper service cost money. It costs me nothing to do my baby's diapers at home."

Nothing is such a complete word. So, we decided to do our own cost analysis of the home laundering procedure for diapers recommended by the medical profession and the National Baby Care Council.

The answer we came up with was certainly a long way from nothing. The way we figured it, the home laundering of diapers costs $2.14 a week.

Here's how we arrived at this figure: soap, softener and bleach, 58 cents; water and antiseptic to protect against diaper rash, 72 cents; gas and electricity, 16 cents; prorated cost of diapers and hamper, 20 cents; depreciation of equipment, 48 cents. Total $2.14.

Just how much cheaper is this home laundering cost than is the cost of retaining a professional diaper service? For the answer we turned to the Diaper Service Industry Association.

According to the Association, the average national charge for diaper service is about $2.52 a week, ranging from $2.00 to $3.60 a week, depending upon the area.

Thus, the mother who does her baby's diaper at home saves, on the average, about 38 cents a week or just about 5½ cents a day. To make this saving possible, she must, during baby's diaper wearing age, spend 547 hours washing 7,410 diapers, according to the Diaper Service Industry Association.

To answer our readers, if it appeared that we had overlooked the cost factor involved in diaper service, it was only because from the cost standpoint, diaper service and home laundering are nearly the same. However, the similarity ends here.

The high standards of professional diaper service are constantly checked by strict laboratory control to guarantee diapers that are clinically clean, soft, white and free from irritating residual soaps and detergents. This helps protect baby from diaper rashes. The complex equipment and scientific processes used by diaper services cannot be duplicated in the home. Besides, as any mother will readily admit, diaper service is a modern necessary convenience that can be classed with processed baby foods.

Mount Harriers Experiencing Good Season

Coach Jim Deegan's Mount St. Mary's College harriers, off to a 4-0 record have their sights trained on a clean dual meet slate and a high spot in the Mason-Dixon championship meet on Nov. 18 at Washington College Chestertown, Maryland.

Deegan has his entire squad back from last season when the Mountaineers were 4-3 over the season and won the Loyola Invitational meet. In addition he is getting help from 4 good freshmen and one soph. Last season the Mountaineers lacked a strong number 5 man, but this year's tough pace has dropped John Muldoon, the 1960 number 2 man into the 5th slot.

As Deegan sees things soph Frank Murphy, Danbury, Conn., should be the pacesetter hotly pushed by Mike Landis, Short Hills, N.J., another soph, John McKee, a frosh from Manhasset, L.I., N.Y., Bill Marfzloff, a Wayne, N.J. frosh, Hobbled by a bad ankle, Junior Andy Keeler, Chaminade, L.I., N.Y., led the pack against Gallaudet and finished 8th against Loyola.

first time.

Deegan expects the jockeying for position to continue all year with the top five runners all within twenty seconds of one another. Key injuries could hamper the Mountaineers who last year lost three men in the championship duel via the injury route. Keeler suffered a broken ankle, MacLachlan twisted an ankle and dropped out and Capt. John Muldoon had a cramp which forced him to quit.

To date the Mountaineers have whipped Roanoke 20-38; Gallaudet 19-36; Loyola 26-30; and Washington 15-46. Ahead are Towson, Oct. 24 away; Randolph-Macon, Oct. 27 away; American, Nov. 1 away; Catholic U., Nov. 4 H; Loyola Invitation, Nov. 11 and the championships on Nov. 18.

Deegan's over 5 seasons, not including this year's meet, stands at 25 wins, 16 losses and one tie.

"People are still losing social security benefits with every passing month simply because they do not apply," W. S. King, social security district manager at Hagerstown, said today. "The number of persons and the amount of lost benefits cannot be estimated with any accuracy," he said, "but it is a large figure."

He bases that statement on the many cases of lost benefits that do come to light in the course of casual inquiries about social security matters. He cited an extreme example that occurred last month.

A man called at the office to claim benefits for a nephew age 17. The boy's father had been killed in an auto accident several years ago, and the uncle had brought his nephew home to live with him. When asked why he hadn't been in sooner, the uncle replied, "I just thought he would need it more later on when he was ready to go to college." The tragedy is that the boy has lost 4 years of benefits which could have been accumulated for his education. "Social security benefits are retroactive for only one year," King stated, "and benefits which could have been payable before are irretrievably lost."

King stated that the following categories of people are most apt to be losing benefits:

1. Those working at a reduced rate of earnings after retirement age who may have benefits due them for part of each year.

2. Self-employed people over retirement age who continue to operate their businesses but who are not rendering substantial services in the business one or more months of the year.

3. Workers, or survivors of deceased workers, who were told previously that no benefits were payable because there were not sufficient earnings to make the worker insured at that time. Recent amendments have reduced the time required in covered work.

4. Misinformed persons who have not bothered to inquire about possible benefit payments.

"The Hagerstown social security office was established to furnish personal service for the people of this district," King said. The Hagerstown district consists of Washington and Frederick Counties. The office address is 59 N. Cannon Avenue.

Senator Butler Announces Hearing

Senator John Marshall Butler (R-Md) today announced that the Internal Revenue Service will hold a public hearing about ground rents in Maryland on Tuesday, Oct. 31 in Washington, D.C.

Senator Butler urged every Marylander affected by the recent discriminatory decision by the Internal Revenue Commissioner to attend this hearing and to protest his decision.

Last month the Commissioner announced his intention to prohibit future deductions for Federal Income Tax purposes of amounts paid by Maryland homeowners as ground rent.

"The Commissioner's action was clearly discriminatory," stated Senator Butler, "because the proposed denial of deductions applies only to Maryland, although there are six or eight other states which have a system of ground rents similar to that in Maryland."

"The Internal Revenue Service has yet to offer a satisfactory explanation as to why Maryland, out of all the states with ground rents, should be singled out for this unnecessary and discriminatory action. Maryland homeowners should and, I am confident, will demand the answer to this question at the October 31 public hearing."

The hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in Room 3313 of the Internal Revenue Service Building in Washington, D. C.

The Wage-Price Battle

"America is no longer the top producers of goods and services in the world's economy." That statement is far from true today, but you may have to accept a second-rate position for America in this generation if present trends continue and are accelerated. Our country once was the great producer, but many another country is learning to use its great pool of labor and to develop the skills and machines to compete with us successfully in world markets and even here at home.

Today Germany and Japan are as skilled in the production of many items as we are. In modernizing plants, they have learned to put in sleek machine tools that often outdo ours in efficiency. In catering to the demands of buyers they sometimes surpass our marketing experts, increasing foreign producers are nibbling away at America's share of world trade. They have shown what they can do, and in some lines they have taken the initiative from us.

Steel In Trouble

Importers of steel, for example, are competing hotly with our own mills. They can undersell our producers despite the cost of transportation across the Atlantic. The steady rise of employment costs, increasing in our steel industry more than four times as fast as in that of competing nations, helps to explain why our own producers are becoming less and less competitive. Foreign steel producers competing with us were paying, on the average in 1959, only $1 per hour as compared with our $3.80.

There is no possible way that steel, or any other industry, can face steadily increasing costs and still reduce prices to their customers. Somebody has to pay these costs. Employment costs in the steel industry have risen this year by more than 200 million dollars annually, according to Roger Blough, president of U. S. Steel. He asks whether steel producers shall forgo paying dividends to stockholders, avoid repaying their borrowings, or delay expansion and replacement of wornout and outmoded equipment. President Kennedy has asked them not to increase prices of steel, but where shall they get money for soaring costs of production?

Nation Weakened

In his well-publicized letter answering President Kennedy, Mr. Blough said: "The pressures of the market place are inexorable and cannot be disregarded by a steel company or any other company or, for that matter, cannot be disregarded by any nation which wishes to maintain its position in a competitive world." This is the misfortune of it all. At a time when the nation's security demands the utmost in industrial health and production potential, industry is being asked to pursue pricing policies that are unrealistic and dangerously weakening.

Labor Secretary Goldberg, apparently recognizing the dilemma and feeling some responsibility to restrain labor in its wage demands, asked unions to moderate their pressures on industry. By that time, however, the year's round of increases was largely won, a fact likely to keep labor voting in the expected pattern. This whole three-cornered game usually turns up one victim: the public, that is the nation as a whole.

Restraint Needed

At a time when industrial strength is of utmost importance, and fiscal health necessary, we have policies being pursued that lead only to weakness and to inflation. The Kennedy government seems to think that it can postpone payments on almost anything it wants, but its willing partner, the Congress, is going to find that in the long run the piper has to be paid. The implication is that inflation from wage increases can be tolerated, but inflation from price increases cannot be. Let us not be fooled: both kinds of increases lead to inflation, just as does government deficit spending.

Our system of enterprise cannot function when either management or labor runs hog wild. We must have a stronger sense of responsibility on all sides. Perhaps it is most needed right now in government, which ought to apply pressure against inflation in all directions, not simply against management. The government must not follow policies that lead toward wage or price control, and then eventual nationalization. The Congress also needs to become active in restoring balance to our economy, so that the value of a dollar will not be further decreased and our position in world markets further weakened.

UNICEF Chairman Is Named

Mrs. Henry T. Pyles of Cumberland will again head the local UNICEF fund drive as area chairman for Western Maryland. She was named by Maryland State Council for UNICEF, Baltimore. The Western Maryland area includes Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick, Carroll and Montgomery counties and Mrs. Pyles will coordinate UNICEF programs in all of them.

Last year Halloween pennies, nickels and dimes from Maryland children bought food and medicine in the form of powdered milk, penicillin, TB vaccine and aureomycin for curing trachoma. Those dimes amounted to $37,000 for underprivileged children of the world.

Mrs. Pyles hopes to extend the program into towns this year and is anxious to get in touch with all church groups, women's clubs and individuals interested in helping with the UNICEF Treat program. She asks that they contact her at her home—236 Glenn Street, Cumberland or by phoning PA 2-6709.

Swine Flu Prevalent This Time Of Year

Chilly damp nights or sudden changes to cold weather can trigger an attack of influenza in a swine herd, the Maryland State Veterinary Medical Association told farmers today.

The veterinary group said it also is important to note that when hogs are confined in winter quarters, the virus which causes the disease can spread rapidly through the air.

To prevent an outbreak of swine influenza, farmers should provide clean, dry, comfortable sleeping quarters without drafts. The hogs should be kept away from old straw piles and dusty lots that have been used by hogs for a long time.

The initial sign of influenza will probably be a strange-sounding cough, followed by loss of appetite and thumpy breathing. Except for the peculiar cough, the same symptoms are noted in other diseases and accurate diagnosis is difficult except by a qualified veterinarian. Each disease must be treated in a different way.

In treating swine influenza, the important thing is to prevent the disease from developing into pneumonia. Sick animals must be kept quiet and comfortable in dry quarters and out of drafts. They will need dry, deep bedding, plenty of fresh clean water and a light diet. If pneumonia develops, then the veterinarian will have to give special treatment.

Employment Bureau Places 622

The Maryland State Employment Service placed 622 more persons in non-agricultural jobs last month than were placed in September a year ago.

Stephen C. Cromwell, Executive Director of the Maryland Department of Employment Security, attributed the increased placements to improved economic activity in Maryland and to the Department's current campaign among employers to "Hire Now" to help overcome the effects of last winter's recession.

The Maryland State Employment Service placed 7,043 in non-farm jobs last month, compared with 6,421 in September, 1960, an increase of 9.7 per cent.

In industrial categories placements increased over last year in fabricated metals, up 109.8 per cent, electrical machinery, up 64.4 per cent, and chemicals, up 52.5 per cent.

Clerical sales and professional placements rose 50.2 per cent, from 908 in September, 1960, to 1,364 last September, reflecting increased emphasis by the Maryland State Employment Service on meeting needs of employers for highly-trained personnel.

The Employment Service tested 39.6 per cent more job applicants. Proficiency and aptitude scores were established for 2,573 last month, compared with 1,843 a year ago.

Wall Street in New York was so named because it follows the line of the palisades wall or stockade built in 1652 across the southern end of Manhattan Island.

Dates For Feature Races Set At Pimlico

BALTIMORE.— Dates for major racing features during Pimlico's 28-day autumn meeting have been formally established. Executive Director Louis Pondfield announced today following a meeting with Racing Secretary Charles J. McLennan and Chick Lang, assistant racing director.

Pimlico's one-hundred-forty-fifth meeting will open on Monday November 13, and continues thru Thursday, December 14.

The program is headed by six stakes races and three series of races which increase progressively in purse and distance. Racing on the turf course and over route distances will be heavily emphasized.

Top stakes from a monetary value will be the thirty-ninth running of the Pimlico Futurity on Saturday, November 18. It carries $50,000 added money and eligibility, entry and starting fees swell this to around $120,000.

Sometimes equally attractive as a contest is the $25,000 Dixie Handicap which will have its sixtieth running on Thanksgiving Day, November 23. It is on the turf at one-and-one-half miles.

The sister race to the Pimlico Futurity is the Marguerite, with a gross purse of around $40,000, which will be run on Saturday, November 25. The $15,000 Gallopette at one-and-one-eighth miles is the top feature of the meeting for older fillies and mares.

Opening the season will be the Pimlico Breeders, a $7,500 event for two-year-olds bred in Maryland, and closing the stakes roster on the final Saturday, December 9, will be the twenty-fifth running of the $20,000 Pimlico Cup. The latter is one of America's great distance classics at two-and-one-sixteenth miles.

Two of this fall's three series have proven popular in recent seasons. They are the Hiltop Distance Series, four races for three-year-olds which have started for a $3,500 claiming price since April 1 and the Pimlico Distance Series, four events for horses which have started for $5,000 since April 1.

The new group of races will be known as the Tarf Series, four events on the grass for horses which have started for $7,500 or less in 1961.

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Bank Accounts

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 26—My column today is addressed to young people getting married, or to those in a position to advise couples starting out in life. Newlyweds should place at least a part of their joint savings, after buying essential furniture, in straight life insurance. When they are young, they can get such insurance without difficulty and at a moderate rate. Next, I recommend building up credit and establishing good will at a local bank. It is a wise move to rent a small safe-deposit box for jewelry and important papers, including wills. Don't forget to make wills, even if you haven't much capital.

Bank Accounts Valuable

It is important to keep a reasonable deposit in your local bank for emergencies, and a portion for possible later investment when conditions are less clouded and you have more funds. After you put money in the bank, don't withdraw it until the proper times comes, and then only after careful consideration. Think of your bank account as sacred, not to be disturbed except for these pre-considered contingencies.

The young may think the idea unimportant, but there is no better way of building up a reputation for thrift, honesty, and hard work than by starting a bank account and making regular deposits. Become acquainted with an officer of the bank and speak to him every time you go in, so that he will come to know you and will be able to give you a good reference if you need one. Getting to know bank officials can be as valuable to you as your bank-account interest payments.

Banks Today Are Safe

During the bank - closing emergency in the 1930's practically all the weaker banks were done away with, so that financial institutions today are in a safe and profitable position. This brings me to the question of bank stocks, which I recommend as an investment . . . particularly the stock of your local bank with which you do business. Practically any local bank could be liquidated for more than its published assets, so that you as a stockholder would probably get more than you paid for your shares. Five or ten shares of such stock would probably be one of the very best investments for a young married couple.

Investing In Bank Stocks

If you are going to put more than a moderate sum into bank stocks, it would be wise to get the Annual Reports from at least two or three banks and go over them carefully. Any bank will give you an Annual Report, whether you are a customer or not, and in most states these reports must be published in the papers every year. After my father's death, I recall finding a scrapbook in which were pasted all the Annual Reports of our hometown Gloucester banks, clipped from the Gloucester Daily Times.

Most people look for the bank with the largest deposits, but let me give you a hint about this. When bankers talk to me about their "large deposits," I always say, "Well, you certainly owe a good deal of money!" Because it should be realized that a bank's deposits represent money that must be paid back to the depositors sooner or later. Therefore, when appraising bank statements, be sure to subtract the deposits from the total assets to find out what would be left for the stockholders.

SPORTING TIPS

Fishing

If you sat on your porch this summer swatting flies, by now your swatting-eye must be pretty sharp. Here's a way to keep in practice a few weeks longer and catch yourself some fishing bait at the same time. A fly swatter makes a mighty handy weapon for "downing" grasshoppers. Those lively devils always seems to bust a hair's breath away when you're out bait-catching, but a fly swatter gives you the edge. Be gentle, however. You want to stun the hopper, not kill him.

The following tip will appeal to the spinning rod fisherman who would like to try something novel for a bobber. A balloon blown up to about the size of an egg makes a very effective bobber. It can be tied to the desired position on the line, where it will slide up or down without making a splash. Even if the fish is only teasing your bait, this bobber will bob. And if you have any balloons left over at the end of the season you can have a party.

Ever catch a mess of fish and find yourself without ice, a fish box or the like? Just cover your catch with grass that has been soaked in water and you'll find fresh for several hours this way. That you can keep your catch

Look Behind The Scenes

In considering bank stocks, always check up on the character, integrity, and ambition of the men in charge of the bank's operations. Be sure that the officials are in good health, and that their judgment is sound. It is a good sign if they are churchgoing men. It is, of course, an extremely bad sign if they are addicted to liquor or indulge in known excesses.

It is worth while to know the qualifications of the bank directors. Be sure, for instance, that these men have not taken their positions as a mark of distinction rather than as a responsibility. Of course, the bank's assets are under the constant supervision of the regular examiners, so there need be little worry on this score. Hence, if a depression strikes, I feel that bank stocks may be in a stronger position than perhaps any other category of stocks.

Nothing can ruin a good day's fishing as fast as snarled lines, and lines seem to snarl always when the fishing gets hot. Well, here's a way to save the day and keep your temper and nerves cool for the real business at hand. The next time you set out to enjoy your favorite sport, take along a lead pencil with a good sharp point. The point of the pencil makes an excellent line-knot untangler and won't do the line any damage. Get the point?

Fall nights can be warm nights. Never too warm for night fishing, of course, but warm enough to attract those pesky insects that always seem to come around when nobody needs 'em. Try soaking a gunny sack or two with kerosene and put it at the very end of your boat, dangling overboard. It makes a good insect repellent. Just be careful when you light up your pipe or cigarette.

Don't throw away those coffee grounds! Fill a large box with a couple of inches of dirt, put fish worms in the box, and then cover with nice, fresh coffee grounds. As a result of your efforts (and don't forget to thank the little woman for saving yesterday's coffee) you'll have a good supply of worms on hand, lively as the day you caught 'em, for a long time.

Guns

There are many emergencies that develop afield. Sportsmen are always forgetting one piece of equipment or another, and sometimes the missing item may turn out to be very essential. An impromptu cleaning "rod" for your gun can be made from a rawhide lace and a regular cleaning patch. Just slit one end of the lace to hold the patch and you're in business.

Hunting

Wildfowl hunters use all sorts of ingenious decoys. Some are very elaborate and others are just so simple that you wonder: Why didn't I think of that? Here's an idea that you may have thought of but believed it was too simple to work. Large sheets of plastic spread out over a large field and decoys placed around them give the idea of birds feeding around a pothole. You just may get yourself a prize goose for Thanksgiving Day this way.

No man is as happy as a hunter who has carefully stalked and downed his game. He may become so excited after he's made a kill that he'll run as fast as he can to the spot where his game fell, forgetting the spot where he stood when he fired at the game. Results: a quick retrieve of downed game and some lost shot-shell cases. If you're a hunter who likes to handload, here's a way to "remember" where your shell cases are. Just drop a brightly-colored piece of cloth or a red handkerchief on the spot before you go to pick up your kill. You'll have no trouble at all finding the spot where the shell cases are when you return from examining your downed game.

If you jump a cottontail bunny and miss your shot, don't give up the chase. A little strategy will go a long way. Watch the direction the rabbit takes, then begin your campaign. Travel in a wide circle and approach the spot the bunny disappeared from the opposite direction. There's a good chance now that you'll get another shot. If you pursue that cottontail straight on, the wise old rabbit will stay hidden until you give up, but the new approach will send him scampering out into the open for you to get into your sights.

Taneytown Citizens Fight For School

The Mayor of Taneytown this week promised a vigorous campaign to prevent closing of Taneytown High School next fall.

Mayor Raymond Perry said "the whole town" would fight "to ensure that we do not lose one of the more important cornerstones of our community."

The Carroll County School Board directed that Taneytown High be consolidated with Francis Scott Key High School, effective September, 1962.

Under the plan, Taneytown high school pupils would attend Scott Key High near Union Bridge, five miles south of Taneytown.

Samuel Jenness, school superintendent, said the board took the action at its September 26 meeting for sound educational reasons.

He noted that Taneytown High now has 151 pupils in tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades, while Scott Key has 400 in the same grades.

The newer and larger school can offer Taneytown pupils a more "comprehensive program" than Taneytown High, Mr. Jenness said.

Mayor Perry said all five members of City Council were anxious to retain a high school in their town.

"We're the second largest incorporated town in Carroll County. We have had some teachers here for 30 years," Mr. Perry said.

Opponents of the consolidation rely heavily on sentiment. Taneytown High was opened in 1930, Scott Key High is only in its third school year.

The Mayor said he, the City Council and "interested citizens" would meet with the School Board November 7 to press their case.

Then he promised a public meeting to "finalize plans for taking the proper steps to insure that we do not lose one of the more important cornerstones of our community."

Lecture Given

Mr. Adam Shaffer gave an illustrated lecture about Mexico and Guatemala. He termed Mexico a "pageant of civilizations" because its history began 20,000 B. C. In his movie Mr. Shaffer showed ancient structures, race tracks, flowers, bullfights and dancing as the culture of these countries.

Aptitude Test Given

The Seniors took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test. This test brings two unique elements to the school's evaluation of the student. First it is a national yardstick that gives a measure of ability independent of the school's own grading standards. Second, Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude scores can be related to certain standards for academic success at over 250 colleges and universities that are members of the College Entrance Examination Board, as well as at many other colleges. Thus, when a student's record is supplemented by Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test scores the school can gauge his college potential in its own terms against a backdrop of national norms and college standards.

Farm Bureau

Backs Peace Corps

Noah E. Kefauver, Jr., president of Maryland Farm Bureau, urges young farm people to give serious consideration to serving in the Peace Corps.

"When R. Sargent Shriver, Jr., director of the Peace Corps, returned from a recent trip around the world, he reported that every nation he visited is asking for farm people with specialized training or just plain agricultural know-how," Kefauver said.

"People abroad recognize that farmers in the United States have achieved real results with their land," Kefauver continued.

He added that being a member of the Peace Corps presents a great challenge but should be a very rewarding experience. It would involve living under primitive conditions and on local diets while working to improve the well-being of the people. "Vocational agriculture students, 4-Hers and others with farm training may obtain details regarding Peace Corps participation by applying to their county agricultural extension offices," Kefauver concluded.

Construction Begins On New Central House At College

In a brief ceremony recently, ground was broken for a new Central House for the Eastern Province of the Community of Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, in Emmitsburg, Md. The four-story, 800 foot long structure will be located about 500 yards north of the existing building and 300 yards east of Route 15, adjacent to the site occupied by the Order since it was founded in America by Venerable Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton, in 1809.

The Very Rev. Francis J. Dodd, C.M., Director of the Daughters of Charity in eastern United States, blessed the ground prior to the ground-breaking. He declared that the institution is faced with the problem of providing for an increase in the number of postulants, Seminary Sisters and Sisters of the Juniorate, and the buildings which have shared the Saint Joseph College campus for over a century are now inadequate.

The new structure, which is expected to be completed in two years, will replace units in the old Central House, and will include administrative offices, a Chapel with a seating capacity of 600, living quarters, and classrooms for the postulants, Seminary Sisters, and other members of the Community.

At the ceremony, Henry Lowman represented the engineering firm of Maguolo and Quick, Baltimore, and the Consolidated Engineering Company was represented by Edmund Ward. Sister Isabel, Visitatrice of the Community, turned the first shovel of dirt for the major project, followed by Father Dodd, and the company representatives.

Also participating in the ceremony were: Rev. James Twomey, C.M., Pastor of St. Joseph's, Emmitsburg; Rev. Robert Kline, President of Mt. St. Mary's College; Rev. Philip E. Dion, spiritual director of Our Lady of Angels Seminary, Albany; Rt. Rev. John L. Sheridan, former president of Mt. St. Mary's College; Rt. Rev. Msgr. George Mulcahy, Director of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary; Rev. Martin J. Sleasman, C.M., chaplain for the students at Saint Joseph College; Rev. John Fisher, C.M., chaplain for the Daughters of Charity at the Central House in Emmitsburg; Rev. James McElroy, C.M., assistant Pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Emmitsburg; and the Rev. Edward Sheehan, C.M.

Thurmont Man Hangs Self

Five deer hunters found the body of Mearl William Dewees, 34, of Thurmont R2, hanging from a tree in a wooded area of the mountains near Black's Orchard Saturday morning, one and one-half miles north of Thurmont.

He had been missing from his home one-half mile north of Thurmont on the Kelbaugh Rd. since September 24, when his family reported he left for the mountains, carrying a rope and saying that he would hang himself.

He was wanted on assault charges concerning his daughters, police said, at the time of his disappearance. State Police had conducted a complete search of the area for him since that time, using helicopters in an attempt to locate him.

The deer hunters, all from the Gaithersburg area, found the body of Dewees hanging 10 to 12 feet above the ground from a tree in the woods Saturday morning. It was surmised that the Thurmont area man had fastened a rope from a limb of the tree 20 feet above the ground and jumped to his death by hanging.

Dr. B. G. Thomas Sr., Frederick County Medical Examiner, said, after inspecting the body at the M. L. Creager Funeral Home in Thurmont Saturday afternoon, that Dewees apparently had carried out his threat to hang himself on the day he disappeared or on the following day.

Funeral services were held in the Creager Funeral Home Monday morning at 11 a. m. with Rev. Ivan G. Naugle presiding. Mr. Dewees was the son of Hazel Hewitt Dewees and the late Morris W. Dewees of Thurmont. He was a veteran of World War II.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lana Dewees, Betty Dewees, Bonny Dewees, Lucretia Dewees and Mearl Dewees Jr., all living at home in Thurmont.

Also surviving are one brother, John Dewees of Thurmont; the grandparents of the deceased, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hewitt of Thurmont; these half brothers, Ray Dewees, Robert Dewees, Irvin Dewees, Thomas Dewees, Richard Dewees and Harvey Dewees, all of the Thurmont area, and two half sisters, Mrs. Shirley Ridenour of Emmitsburg, and Mrs. Marie Eyer of Thurmont.

Interment was in the Blue Ridge Cemetery at Thurmont.

New Section of Rt. 15 Soon To Open

Construction work on the section of relocated U. S. 15 which by-passes Lewistown has been completed and will be ready for traffic within a week or two.

Thomas G. Mohler, District Engineer for the State Roads Commission, said that some finishing touches have to be made to the ground around the strip of highway but the actual construction is complete.

Although the final operations such as seeding, mulching and sodding the ditches and embankments remains to be done, Mr. Mohler said this work should be completed soon.

Signs on the highway and at the crossings must still be erected but this task is not expected to take long.

Although the work on the project is about complete, no date for an official opening has been set as yet.

The new roadway joins old Rt. 15 just north of the Mountaineer road and leads west of Lewistown and rejoins the old road just north of Lewistown near the Mount Prospect Church.

The road is a two-lane 24-foot blacktopped affair which is designed to eventually become part of the southbound lane when Rt. 15 is dualized. On either side of the pavement are 10-foot stabilized shoulders.

T. Edgie Russell General Contractors Inc., Frederick, did the project for a contract price of $396,831.55. The Russell firm submitted the low figure when bids were opened in the SRC offices in Baltimore in April.

Included in the project was the building of a three-span bridge over Fishing Creek near the intersection with the Bowers road.

The new roadway with its slightly sweeping curves will eliminate traffic traveling over the old section of Rt. 15 in the Lewistown area where sharp curves have caused numerous motor vehicle accidents.

The new stretch of highway which is about two miles in length is intersected by three county roads. At each of these county roads intersections stop signs will be erected since the project did not include the construction of any cloverleafs.

Roads intersecting with the new strip of highway are the Bowers Road Fish Hatchery Road and the Stull Road. There are no other entrances to the new piece of road.

Scouts Plant Flowers

Saturday morning at 10:30 a. m. the Brownies and the Girl Scouts will gather at the Doughboy on West Main Street to plant bulbs which they hope will bloom in the spring to form a garden of golden blossoms. The Girl Scouts in the United States of America will be 50 years old on March 12, 1962. To celebrate this golden anniversary, Girl Scouts across the land are planting bulbs this fall—yellow crocus, daffodil, narcissus, tulip—so that there will be a trail of yellow and green blossoms from Maine to California and from Canada to Mexico.

The Scouts of Emmitsburg have chosen the Doughboy as the place for their community flowers. Individual troops are planting in various places throughout the town. Girls will be planting flowers for their own homes. Three Girl Scout yellow rose bushes will be planted in the plot with the bulbs. This is a new kind of rose developed especially for the coming observance of the golden anniversary of Girl Scouting.

This particular Saturday was chosen as "planting day" because it is the Saturday closest to the birthday of the Founder, Juliette Gordon Low, which is October 31. Should the weather not permit the planting, the following Saturday has been set as the rain date.

When you plant your yellow flowers, or see the golden blossoms, please remember the Girl Scouts in your community and the great number of them around the world.

Hospital Benefit Starts Today

Ray's Country Store Museum, Taneytown, 1/2 block east of the square, opens this weekend for the benefit of Carroll County Hospital Children's Room. October 27, 28 and 29, Friday and Saturday 11:30 until 9 and Sunday 2 until 6.

The store's owner, Mrs. Marcia Ray, started collecting old store items "just for fun" about a year ago. Suddenly it seemed to get out of hand and found her home over crowded with cracker barrels, herring kegs, coffee bins and molasses pumps. After she found a post office of the 1900 vintage it was time to move to larger quarters.

When she finished setting it up in the old pre Civil War building on East Baltimore St. in Taneytown, she graciously offered the store to the Taneytown District of the Carroll County Hospital Auxiliary to be used as a project for the benefit of the Children's Room. It was enthusiastically accepted, and thought the public would really enjoy seeing the way old country stores operated in mothers and grandmothers day.

The horse and buggy and old props in front of the store will really take you back to the 1890-1900 period.

You will be able to buy old fashioned candies, cookies, crackers, home made preserves and get a surprise package at the post office, plus many more interesting items. A table with choice antique pieces will be on sale.

Trotlines Legal In Potomac River

The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, after a public hearing in Carval Hall, Annapolis, on Oct. 21, approved the 1962 fishing regulations to be the same as 1961 with a few additions including making it legal to use trotlines in the Potomac River, according to Director Ernest A. Vaughn.

After much discussion by members of the Commission on fishery management in reducing the rough fish population in the Potomac River, the Commissioners voted to allow the use of trotlines to aid in this reduction.

A regulation was approved to allow a licensed fisherman to fish for all species of fish, except large and smallmouth bass and except during the months of April, May and June, with a trotline in the Potomac River but not in the tributaries of the Potomac.

The trotline shall not be of metallic material nor shall it exceed 100 feet in length, and have more than 25 single hooks. In addition the trotline shall not extend from shore to shore or be baited with scale bait. It can be placed and fished only between the hours of 4:00 p. m. to 9:00 a. m., E.S.T.

Each trotline shall be identified with a metal tag securely attached thereto on which shall appear the name and address of the individual operating same.

Potomac Edison Announces Long-Range Plans

R. G. MacDonald, President of The Potomac Edison Company, today announced that his organization is taking immediate steps to provide for the continuation of as much electric service as possible under nuclear attack and fallout conditions. On the basis that it is impossible to provide adequate protection against direct blast, the Company's immediate program is directed to fallout protection.

Protective facilities are to be provided for employees expected to remain on the job. These presently include power plant employees and supervisors of the shift working at the time and those designated as monitors.

In as much as dispatchers are responsible for directing the flow of power and can call all the power station resources of the entire Potomac Edison System over an 8,500 square mile area and neighboring power companies as well, it is extremely important that they can continue to function.

At this time the Company is making a survey of all its power stations, dispatching centers and various district buildings to determine what can be done in providing both essential and desirable protection.

Locations are being selected for 18 monitoring stations where employees are trained in the use of detection instruments will be sent in the event of an attack. Here will be the centers from which information as to the extent of fallout and exposure hazards will be relayed to the rest of the Company and to Civilian Defense organizations. The training of employees in the use of these instruments is already under way.

All employees of the Company are receiving a letter outlining

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

No. 19811 Equity
In The Circuit Court for Frederick County, In Equity
Catherine E. Crabbs
Vs.
Leroy S. Crabbs

The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Plaintiff, Catherine E. Crabbs, from the Defendant, Leroy S. Crabbs.

The Bill states in substance that the parties were married in Frederick County, on June 28, 1939, by Rev. Dr. Amos John Traver; that the Plaintiff is a resident of Frederick County, Maryland, having resided herein for more than one year last past; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, his last address being c/o Charles Cook, Champlain, New York; that three children were born as a result of said marriage, these being Carroll, Shirley and Elizabeth Ann, and the mother and Plaintiff seeks their custody; that the Defendant, Leroy S. Crabbs, deserted the Plaintiff in December, 1959, declaring his intention to no longer live with her, and said desertion has continued for more than 18 months last past; that the Plaintiff had always been a faithful, chaste, dutiful and affectionate wife, but the desertion by the Defendant of the Plaintiff was deliberate and final and there is no reasonable expectation of a reconciliation. The Bill prays that the Plaintiff be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII, that she be awarded alimony, both pendente lite and permanent, that the Plaintiff be awarded the custody of the infant children and support for them, and for general relief.

It is thereupon this 2nd day of October, 1961, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Plaintiff give notice to the said non-resident Defendant of the objects and substance of this Bill by causing a copy of the same to be published in a newspaper published in Frederick County once a week, for four successive weeks prior to the 11th day of November, 1961, commanding him to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 12th day of December, 1961, and show cause, if any he has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

Fish Plantings

The Maryland Department of Game and Inland Fish announced today that adult fish purchased through commercial source in the North East River will be stocked in the inland waters between now and November 8.

Mr. Edwin Barry, Chief of Fish Management, said that 7770 largemouth bass, 700 chain pickerel and 8500 mixed species of sunfish and channel catfish would be stocked in public ponds and lakes.

Sixty-one arrests were made during September by Game Wardens of the Maryland Department of Game and Inland Fish and violators were fined a total of $1269.00, according to Mr. Charles Milton, Chief Game Warden.

Fishermen without licenses still led the list of arrests with 19 out of a total of 22 citations.

Archery Deer Season

Bowhunter success in Maryland's archery deer season is the same as of the first four days of last year with 50 animals reported killed, according to the Department of Game and Inland Fish.

However, the 1960 season had the benefit of a weekend during the first four days which would reflect a higher kill in comparison to the present season which opened on Monday.

The Department is predicting a larger kill over the 174 deer taken during 1960. Deer taken by counties as of Oct. 19 included Frederick County with nine kills.

Real Estate Purchased

Mr. and Mrs. P. Allen Stoner have purchased the brick building formerly owned by Miss Anabel Hartman on E. Main St. The Stoners recently moved into the residence, which contains the office of Dr. Klinger, local optometrist.

A new mining operation, the Clarabelle open pit, is being put into production by International Nickel in the Sudbury District of Ontario.
