Maryland's small game season opened Wednesday with the usual small army of hunters taking to the fields. Quite a few were sadly disappointed though and complained of the lack of game which appears to be dwindling as each year the number of nimrods increases, possibly faster than the rabbits can multiply. Many attribute the dearth of game to the unseasonably warm weather we are experiencing this November. It seems the bunnies are in a lethargic state and are remaining under cover until such time as brisk colder weather comes around. Hunters are operating under a new state law this year which stipulates that to hunt permission must be granted from the landowner and the hunter who damages the property in any way is held responsible and liable, under the law.

Don't lose your courage yet folks because there's much activity on the medical front. Doctors are making great strides in the development of a pill which will diminish highly the lethal effects of fallout radiation. The experiment has been successful with mice and rats but is toxic to humans. Just as soon as this detrimental effect is remedied the product will be marketed. This undoubtedly will put a damper on the fallout shelter business.

Another Protestant church dignitary, Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States was received in private audience by Pope John XXIII this week. Last year the archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Church of England received such an audience. A spokesman for the American bishop said the visit to Pope John is intended to reciprocate the attitude of good will and friendliness which the present Pope has always shown toward those who are seeking to promote the unity of all Christians. These visits will undoubtedly help us all understand our religion, as Christians, and do much to wipe out prejudice and bigotry existing in the world today.

New Frontier Women's Group Formed Here

On Wednesday, Nov. 8, at the Emmitsburg Fire Hall, the New Frontier Democratic Womens Club was organized. Mrs. Jane Bollinger of Emmitsburg, was named its president, with Mrs. Lee Fisher of Sabillasville, recording secretary, Mrs. Anna Stoner of Emmitsburg, treasurer, and Mrs. Mabel Townsend of Thurmont, corresponding secretary.

Dr. Clarence Long, Executive Co-Chairman of the State Central Committee of Maryland, was introduced by Mrs. Louise E. Fraley who presided at the meeting. Dr. Long elevated women in politics. He told of a two-way road by the organization of the State Advisory Council of Women, recently formed, and the leaders of the Democratic Party. Eighty state positions have been given to women under Gov. J. Millard Tawes. Dr. Long presented a certificate of Award to Mrs. Glenna M. Leatherman, president of the Women's Democratic League of Frederick County, which she accepted in behalf of the club.

A number of members of the Frederick County Club were in attendance. Mrs. Helen McKenzie, past president, was in charge of refreshments for the evening. Mrs. Mary Condon-Hodgson who introduced a book, "Practical Politics," which can be borrowed from the library. Mrs. Madelyn Himes, vice president, and Western Maryland District Chairman of the United Democratic Womens Clubs of Md. Mrs. Himes informed the group of the purpose of the U.D.W.C. and the advantage of a local club being a member. Mrs. Mildred Fisher, past president and now treasurer of the State Central Committee of Frederick County, reminded the club members, prior to conducting election of the newly organized club, as well as those who govern. If we as citizens do not like the way things go in government, under the American way, she said, we have an opportunity to do something about it. Women in politics are good for the country.

Mrs. Himes conducted installation of the officers of the New Frontier Democratic Womens Club, which include all of the northern part of Frederick County, namely, Emmitsburg, Thurmont, Lewistown, Creagerstown, Rocky Ridge, Sabillasville and Cullen. The next meeting will be December 11, 1961 at 8 p.m. in the Emmitsburg Fire Hall.

Mrs. Elizabeth Knill, Ways and Means Chairman of the Frederick County Club presented guest prizes which were won by Mrs. Annabelle Taylor and Mrs. Pauline Wierman, Thurmont, and Mrs. Eckenrode of Sabillasville.

Charter members of this new club are Mrs. Oscar Stinson, Mrs. Curtis Topper, Mrs. Louis H. Stoner, Mrs. Jane Bollinger, Mrs. C. B. McNair and Mrs. Jane B. Noland, all of Emmitsburg. Mrs. Susan Moorehead of Cascade. Mrs. Marie Schildecker, Mrs. Bridie Newell, Mrs. M. G. Zavis, Mary Cornelius, Mrs. D. J. Gardner, Mrs. Jane Young, Mrs. M. Eckenrode, Mrs. Pauline Wierman, Mrs. Jeri Burke, Mrs. Katherine Kugler and Mrs. Al Waterfield, all of Cullen. Also Mrs. Lee Fisher of Sabillasville, Mrs. Lottie Gall, Mrs. Jean Flory, Mrs. Donald Weddle, Mrs. Annabelle Taylor, Mrs. Fred Schumacher, Mrs. Mabel Townsend, Mrs. Marie Ropp and Mrs. Louise Fraley, all of Thurmont.

High School Students Hear About Social Security

During the week, Mr. Wilmer E. Dunn, Hagerstown district office representative of the Social Security Administration, visited the business classes of St. Joseph's High School to give a talk on the benefits of social security. His presentation included a lecture, film, "Before the Day," and question and answer period.

The students were made aware of the part played by social security in providing a regular income for themselves and their dependents in case of retirement, disability, or death. In the group discussion following the showing of the film, Mr. Dunn answered many questions. Among other things, he remarked that nine out of ten working Americans are in jobs covered by social security. He also stated that more than 15 million men, women, and children now receive monthly payments from that organization. In addition, he pointed out the advantages of choosing a career in the various offices of the Social Security Administration.

As most of the students possess social security cards and have worked part-time, they were already familiar with the topic. However, they now have a better understanding of the reasons for the deductions in their pay checks.

Audience Analysts said this large vote doubtless was due to the song's popularity at hymn sings across the country. "How Great Thou Art," a favorite selection of baritone McVey and Billy Graham, was fourth in last year's Christian Herald hymn poll and McVey attributed part of its current popularity to its moving evangelistic feeling and strong melody.

Faith and patience are great assets and wonderful aids if you have them when you need them.

Christmas Fund Checks Mailed

The Farmers State Bank distributed Christmas savings this week to 494 subscribers in the Emmitsburg area it has been announced by Harold L. Birely, cashier.

Checks totaling $45,536.35 were mailed to the subscribers on Wednesday and represent the largest Christmas saving fund in the history of the banking institution.

President George L. Wihlde announced that the new club is now forming.

Lecture On Fallout Given A College

Dr. Ronald Nardone from the biology department of Catholic University, Washington, D.C., presented an illustrated lecture at Mount St. Mary's College, on the topic "The Genetic Effects of Radioactive Fallout." The lecture was sponsored by the Faculty Library Committee of the Mount.

Rev. James F. Kelly, physics professor at the Mount, was chairman of the evening's program, which began with the showing of the film "The Fallout Atom." This movie was recently presented as part of the CBS-TV series known as "Conquest."

Then Dr. Nardone, who received his doctorate from Fordham University, presented a slide illustrated lecture explaining the value of and nature of radiation and the results of the atom bomb used at Hiroshima.

Dr. Nardone concluded his talk by showing works being done in the development of anti-radiation medicines. The lecture was followed by a question and answer period providing the large audience of student and faculty members an opportunity to gain greater insight into this all important subject of the nuclear age with its present and post effects on the human race.

VFW Auxiliary Plans Gifts For Needy

The monthly meeting of the Auxiliary to Emmitsburg Memorial Post 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was held Nov. 2. The meeting was opened by the president, Dolores Henke. The secretary's report was read by Gloria Martin. The usual business of the auxiliary was transacted. The Christmas party was discussed. It was the wish of the members to have the annual Christmas Party on the regular meeting night, Dec. 7, at the Post Home. In order to be more in the "Spirit of Christmas", it was decided to dispense with bringing the usual gift of $1.00 to exchange among the members, instead bring a $1.00 toy to distribute to the needy. In the near future, a carton will be placed inside the VFW in the event others would like to contribute to this cause. The Christmas Party committee volunteers are, refreshments, Carmen Topper, Rita Byard and Jane Orndorff. Ann Stoner, Gloria Martin and Dolores Henke are in charge of decorations and entertainment. Etta Mae Norris and Irene Zurgable were assigned to fix refreshments for the men's meeting next month. Viola Henkle's name was called for the draw prize but was not present.

Thanksgiving Service Scheduled

A special service on Thanksgiving Day has been announced by the Christian Science Society, 6 E. Green Street, Westminster.

Local members have invited the public to attend this Thanksgiving service which will be held in the church edifice on Thursday, Nov. 23, at 11 o'clock a.m. No collection of any kind is taken at this service.

Keynoting the lesson-service for the day on the subject of "Thanksgiving," is the Golden Text from Psalm 107: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving; and declare his works with rejoicing."

Card Party Successful

The card party held last week for benefit of St. Anthony's Parish was well attended. Turkeys were awarded to Eva Marshall, E. Guy Hobbs, Bill Sanders, Tony Kutz and Bernard Wivell. John Watkins was awarded the bushel of potatoes; Mrs. Karl Orndorff, a cake; and Bernard Wivell, the breakfast.

If dodging work is a paying business, there should be many millionaires around town.

New Christmas Lights Go On December 1

Emmitsburg will be gayly lighted in plenty of time for Christmas this year. The committee in charge of the Xmas decorations announced this week that assembly of the equipment already was under way as the material arrived here last week. Members of the committee, composed of Jaycees and businessmen, began stringing the garlands this week.

The Potomac Edison Co. has been engaged to handle the installation of the decorations on local buildings and permanent anchoring hooks will be used. The committee has run into extra expense with the installation involved and still is seeking financial contributions. Although over $1,000 has been subscribed and spent for the material itself, several hundred dollars still are needed to complete the installation. Individuals or businesses wishing to make a contribution can do so by mailing their check to the Christmas Decorating Fund, in care of the Emmitsburg Chronicle.

Present plans call for the complete installation of the lights before the end of November and on December 1 the lights will be turned on. Actually this will be the first time in many years that Emmitsburg has been ready for Christmas at such an early date. The committee wishes to express its sincere thanks and appreciation to all who have donated and helped in any way to make this decorating project a success. With the permanent arrangement for the hanging of the lights and decorations in effect it is expected in future years expenses can be kept at a minimum.

Water Co. Negotiates With Town

Samuel C. Hays, President of the Emmitsburg Water Company, announced today that officials of the Company met with the Burzess on Wednesday to discuss the possibility of the purchase of the Water Company by the Town. He stated that some progress was made. President Hays also stated that both the Town and the Water Company recognize the need for "clarification" and intend to meet again, soon.

100 YEARS AGO

Aboard British Steamer Mason, Slidell Captured

By Lon K. Savage

The United States frigate San Jacinto put into Fortress Monroe on Virginia's coast 100 years ago this week, and important news quickly was flashed around the world.

Aboard the frigate, as prisoners of the United States navy, were Messrs. James M. Mason, Confederate commissioner to Great Britain, and John Slidell, Confederate commissioner to France. They had been forcibly captured at sea a week earlier while aboard the English steamer Trent, enroute from Havana to their assignments in Europe.

Their captor: Capt. Charles Wilkes, commander of the San Jacinto, whose men had fired across the Trent's bow, forced her to stop, boarded her and forced the Confederates to come with them.

International Crisis

The incident, violating rights of ships on the high seas, caused international crisis, and, within a week, William H. Seward, secretary of state, found his nation on the brink of war with Great Britain. Nothing could have pleased the Confederacy more.

The capture of Mason and Slidell, itself, had been done quite simply. Wilkes, returning from Africa, had put in on Cuba's southern coast and had learned that the two Confederates had run the blockade from Charleston and arrived at Havana, where they were to take the Trent to England. He immediately took his ship into the Bahama channel to intercept the Trent.

Sighting the Trent, Wilkes fired twice across her bow, then sent his executive officer and some men to her in small boats. There, the plan was outlined to the outraged British captain and Mason and Slidell, with their secretaries, were taken prisoners.

Their protesting wives stayed aboard the Trent, and Slidell, in leaving, told his wife, "Good-bye, my dear, we shall meet in Paris in sixty days." His teen-aged daughter wept as he was taken away.

Repercussions were immediate. When the Trent reached England, the crewmen were treated as heroes, and a cry went up in the press for redress from the Yankees for the insult to British rights. The government ordered 8,000 crack troops to Canada, and war seemed imminent.

In the United States, the picture was reversed. Wilkes became a hero. Banquets were held for him in Boston and New York. The House of Representatives gave him a vote of thanks for his bold maneuver. Crowds cheered him, and Mason and Slidell were imprisoned at Boston.

In The South, the seizure was on every tongue, and President Jefferson Davis was indignant. At the same time, he and others thought gleefully of the prospect of Britain's declaring war against the United States.

Britain protested formally, and an assurance came from Washington that Wilkes had acted on his own, not on order of his government. Then France, Prussia and Austria made known their wishes that Mason and Slidell be freed. President Lincoln, hesitating to rule against the hero of the hour, let things ride, hoping the uproar would subside.

And gradually, it did. By late December, the incident was no longer top in the news, and the day after Christmas Seward got his nation out of the scrape. Wilkes, he told the British government, had departed from international law in his act, Mason and Slidell would be "cheerfully liberated." On January 1, the men were freed to go to Europe.

Next week: Kentucky Confederates set up their own government.

Contrary to most shining examples it is possible for an individual to be healthy, wealthy and wise.

Most vacationists have now gotten over their vacations and are beginning to get down to work again.

ABUNDANT LIFE

BE HONEST WITH YOURSELF

A big man stood at the corner of a vacant lot one day and watched two boys in a race. One was the street-urchin type; one, a vigorous schoolboy. They were about the same age and weight, and in every way well matched. When they came to the corner lot, though, the schoolboy stopped while his friend took the short cut across the lot. The watching man was interested.

"Why did you stop so soon, my boy?" he asked. "It seems to me that you were a step or two ahead when you quit."

The boy looked up. "Don't you see that sign?" he asked, pointing to a sign which read "No Trespassing." "I'm no law-breaker."

"Oh, Mr. Janssen. He's in California for the winter."

"Away for the whole winter? Then how could he know if you went across his lot?"

"Maybe he couldn't, but I would know," was the simple answer.

Later, this man sent this boy, then eighteen, on an errand of trust and of much importance to them both. "I picked him out," the man explained, "because I never knew him to take advantage of a situation. He is honest with himself."

It is strange, but many people feel that the wrongs they do are done in secret. They forget that there are always two who know: God and themselves. The Bible says, "Be sure your sin will find you out." It may seem that one little sin did no one any harm, but God's law says differently. Sin is always harmful. Because there are no cars at the intersection, a person may feel all right about running a red light. But it will be easier to disregard the next one, at which time there may be other cars going through.

The Bible says, "Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for justice, for they shall be well satisfied" (Lamsa Translation). Many times it seems that we are wasting our time doing the right thing, but Christ promised that if we would try our best to do the right thing, we would be well rewarded.

It is always better to do the right thing. When you are tempted to cheat just a little, resist the impulse. Instead, do something good for someone. You'll be much richer for it. You'll discover abundant life.

Stroke:

The Hopeful Side

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 4th in a series of articles on Strokes.

For The Family With A Stroke Patient

Once a stroke has occurred, the important point to remember is that, in nine cases out of ten, recovery is possible. How fast and how much progress he makes depends largely on the stroke patient himself. There is also a good deal the family can do to help the stroke patient at home.

A stroke results when something interferes with the blood supply to the brain, blanking out one or more of the control centers of the brain, for example those that control muscular movement on one side of the body. Thus after a stroke, the patient may not be able to move his left fingers, hand, arm or his left foot. Sometimes the part of the brain that controls the ability to speak is affected; and sometimes the patient is unable to think clearly.

The doctor should be called immediately when a stroke occurs so that he can determine the proper individualized treatment for each patient. The family's cooperation with the doctor may be essential to the patient's recovery. Often the doctor will arrange for a nurse or physical therapists to come in and care for the patient and show the family what can be done and how to do it.

Soon after a stroke, the doctor may start a program of exercise to restore function of a paralyzed arm or leg in order to prevent stiffening of muscles and joints. If the patient is unable to perform these exercises for himself, the family may have to exercise the paralyzed limbs for the patient. The doctor may also instruct the family in methods of massage to help stimulate circulation, until exercise can be started. Exercises for the patient should not be started until the doctor has prescribed them; and instructed the family or patient on what to do and how to do it.

Although most patients can hear and understand what you say to them, some may not be able to speak at all after a stroke, or their speech may be slurred. Speech defects almost always improve after a time but while the trouble exists, the patient is understandably worried and upset. Reassure him that the condition will probably improve and arrange signals so that he can tell you what he wants; for example, to close one eye if he wants water, to open his mouth if he wants food. The doctor may suggest other possible signals.

If the patient can write, keep pencil and paper nearby. With a little ingenuity, a bell can be arranged in such a way that even a severely disabled person can ring for attention. It is very reassuring to the patient to know he can ring for help at any time, especially if he has trouble speaking. Such a means of communication will make him feel less anxious when left alone. The doctor will tell you about any special speech therapy he may want for the patient.

When the stroke patient is well enough to get around, there are a number of simple and practical self-help devices that will enable him to do more things for himself. A bit of resourcefulness and imagination can solve many minor but troublesome problems. Some of these are illustrated in a booklet "Strokes: A Guide to the Family," copies of which are available from your local Heart Association.

Allow the patient to take on more responsibilities for self-care and other activities as he becomes able to do so. If he can brush his teeth, or shave, or comb his hair or dress himself, encourage him to do so, even though it may take a long time. You may need to learn patience and resist frustration as much as he does!

Attitudes — the patient's, the family's, and visitors' — can greatly influence the patient's recovery for better or for worse. The patient must have the will to recover, the desire to be self-sufficient and useful again. Here the family can help by encouraging the disabled person, buoying his spirits when he becomes discouraged, showing confidence in his improvement, permitting him to help himself as much as possible. Only family members can reassure him that he is wanted and needed and still has an important place in the family circle.

When his condition warrants it, encourage friends to spend time with the stroke patient. This will help keep him in contact with the world, will stimulate his interest and satisfy his social needs. Have the patient participate in family planning and activities; feeling useful is a tremendous morale booster. Praise any successful effort he makes but don't be discouraged by his failures. Recovery from severe stroke may be a long slow process.

The recovery may be a difficult period for the family as well as for the patient. It will require much patience and understanding. But the results — the degree of independence and self-confidence the patient achieves — are well worth the persistent efforts and patience.

Expenditures Great

The board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland has approved expenditures of more than $57,500,000 during the last 12 months for improvement and expansion of telephone service, according to an announcement by L. M. Smith, vice president and a director of the company.

This includes $3,261,000 authorized in its regular meeting last week for service improvements.

The largest single amount approved in the October meeting was $1,203,000 to provide the necessary dial switching facilities, additional voice channels and equipment needed to meet transmission objectives in the new long distance switching center at Catonsville which will serve the Baltimore Metropolitan area.

An allocation of $78,000 was granted for two projects to place wire and cable to meet the anticipated customer demand for service in the southern section of Pikesville and in the south and west areas of Woodlawn. For the Chase exchange, $49,000 was approved to add 700 lines with the associated terminating equipment to provide for future growth in this area.

For Western Maryland, $94,000 was approved for the erection of a 72,000 cubic foot building to house dial equipment at Braddock Heights, $129,000 to establish an all cable route between Union Bridge, Frederick and Westminster and $24,000 to add lines and central equipment at Hancock to meet the growing demand for service.

Central office building additions to house dial equipment needed for growth at Still Pond on the Eastern Shore and North Beach in Southern Maryland were approved at a cost in excess of $70,000.

For the fast growing Maryland section adjacent to Washington, an expenditure of $350,000 was approved to provide additional local and long distance dial switching equipment and outside wire and cable in six major wire center areas.

Telephone calls save Baltimore family $21.43 over two-week period

Mrs. Councell calls her local paint store to arrange for the delivery of some paint.

Mrs. Marbury L. Councell recently kept a diary for us, of all the telephone calls her family made over a two-week period.

The purpose: to see how much time, traveling and money their telephone saves them.

At the end of the two weeks, this is what Mrs. Councell estimated she saved, in money—$21.43. Also she saved 192 miles of traveling around, plus 18 hours of working time. And to Mrs. Councell, the busy mother of four young children, those "extra" eighteen hours probably were the most important.

If you kept a telephone diary, chances are your totals would be different. But one thing is almost certain—you'd find, too, that your telephone does far more for you... than the small amount it costs.

My peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. (John 15:27.)
Peace! How we all long and pray for it in this distracted world! For years the cold war has been fomenting hatred, mal-nations and individuals do not acknowledge Jesus, the Prince of Peace, as their Lord. They are not willing to submit themselves to His rule, to obey His teaching.

He came to this world to make peace. By His atoning death on the cross, He has made it possible for men to have peace with God—to know the peace of sins forgiven, the peace of reconciliation, the peace of fellowship with God.
The Prince of Peace says to us as He said to His disciples long ago, "My peace I give unto you."

O God, Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, may Thy divine peace keep our hearts and minds in the knowledge of Thee and of Thee and Thy will. Help us to be Thy peacemakers among men; through Thy Son our Savior we offer our prayer. Amen.

Two Groups Intensify Drive Against Quacks

Medical quackery is the target of a double crackdown by the government and the American Medical Association. False claims for vitamins, minerals, and food supplements cost 10 million Americans $500 million a year, according to the Food and Drug Administration. And, the AMA says, medical quacks gyp the public out of a billion dollars annually and due untold damage to the nation's health. The two organizations planned an intensive educational campaign and enforcement program at the first National Congress on Medical Quackery held recently in Washington, D. C. . . . Space ships with blast-off weights equal to that of our biggest battleship—50,000 tons—appear "feasible," according to a report to the American Rocket Society.

How full is your freezer? It may make a difference, if the electricity goes off. Specialists at the Department of Agriculture report the food will stay frozen about two days if the freezer is fully loaded, only one day if it's half full. Dry ice will help keep the contents frozen if the power failure is a long one . . . Smoother-textured ice cream is produced when the formation of large grainy crystals can be minimized. A development in Louisville, Ky., already used extensively in the manufacture of peanut butter and margarine has been applied to the production of ice cream. This Votator continuous-processing equipment utilizes temperatures lower than usual in the ice cream industry—with resultant smaller crystals.

Anti-freeze offers maximum protection when diluted to a 60 per cent solution, says a producer. At 100 per cent, the liquid does not give 100 per cent freeze protection—paradoxically the water you add actually lowers the freezing point to some extent . . . A 1,000-mile-long "mountain range" with some peaks more than 6,000 feet high was discovered at the bottom of the Pacific this fall in a spot south of Alaska, where existing charts showed almost a flat bottom. CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

The farm harvest this fall is one of the largest in history and preliminary reports indicate that national average per-acre yields will exceed all previous records. This crop is also the first under the Administration's "Emergency Feed Grains Program" which I opposed when it barely gained approval in the House of Representatives last March. The failure of this program was substantiated by official statistical announcements of the Department of Agriculture last month.

The problem is, in its simplest terms, that United States farmers constantly overproduce feed grains relative to the nation's need. This results in a lower market price, lower farm income, and an annual increase in Government stockpiles. The Administration plan, as argued by its supporters, would reduce feed grain production; cut Government stocks; and result in a tax savings of about $500 million in grain storage and handling. This tax savings, the Secretary of Agriculture admitted in July, would be offset by the cost of the program which was estimated at $500 million also.

In July, the Secretary of Agriculture predicted that this program would result in a feed grain crop reduction of 800 million bushels and would reduce the surplus in storage by several hundred million bushels. Although the plan has reduced the amount of feed grain acreage, the corn yield per acre is six bushels above last year's record high of 54.5 bushels per acre. This is because the American farmer is able to produce larger yields per acre by efficient use of land and fertilizer and by intensive cultivation. He is therefore able to raise more food on less land. It is true the Corn Belt weather was favorable this year, but it was also favorable in 1959 and 1960.

The estimated $500 million cost of this program has been increased by $270 million. The estimated 800 million bushel reduction in production has been lowered to 490 million bushels. The estimated television, only 85 per cent had sanitary plumbing. Another census oddity: married women outnumbered married men by 300,000 in the 1960 count, mainly due to the absence of married servicemen stationed abroad or married crewmen of merchant vessels at sea. . . . Dogs can be trained to smoke—but it's hard to get them to enjoy it, reports a doctor in St. Paul.

"several hundred million" bushel reduction in stockpiles has been conveniently forgotten.

The failure of the feed grain program to solve present farm problems has also brought us dangerously near to the creation of a new farm surplus problem. Farmers used fields which had been "retired" from feed grain production to raise soybeans and the result is an estimated 720 million bushel soybean crop—an increase of 162 million bushels over 1960. The increase of $45 cents per bushel in the Government supported price of soybeans to $2.30 per bushel, was a major factor in the increase in soybean production. As a result, the old farm problem remains and a new problem is being created.

An Administration official in the Agriculture Department stated on October 10th that there was some drop in the total feed grain picture, and he would have us believe that this indicates a successful program. But, even if the program does save the taxpayers the $500 million in storage and other expenditures as the Administration claims, the actual cost of this paper savings may well reach one billion dollars by the end of this year.
As the editor of one leading newspaper put, "The taxpayers have managed to survive a whole series of saving-by-spending plans . . . but it just may be that not even taxpayers will be fooled forever by this sort of bargain."

People who smile the most are the hard workers, says a doctor. Keep up on your toes and you're not down in the dumps.

IT'S no fun having the cooking center of a home out of commission for long, and that's why a fast-moving schedule is important when you repaint walls and ceilings in the kitchen. Since it usually takes more time to get ready to paint than it does to paint (especially with a roller), the wise idea is to get the little nuisance jobs out of the way before you start. In other words, do them yesterday!
The first thing that must be done is to wash walls and ceilings, preferably with trisodium phosphate—or paint cleaner. With a big cellulose sponge the job goes fast, removing all the grease and oil which would prevent proper drying of the paint. Then patch any cracks or blemishes.
Now, remove all electrical outlet and switch plates and lay them out on a newspaper to be painted separately. Let the ceiling fixture down by loosening the

Al-Azhar Gets Secular Bodies

For the first time in its 1000-year history Al-Azhar, Cairo's Muslim University, is to have non-religious faculties in addition to its Islamic studies institutes.

The innovation was recently decided upon by the United Arab Republic National Assembly, which approved a draft law for the reorganization of Al-Azhar and its subsidiary bodies. The law authorizes the establishment of faculties of medicine, engineering and industries, agriculture and administration to be attached to the Muslim University.

Under the general reorganization plan the University will have an Academy of Islamic Studies which will become the highest body for Islamic research. Its task will be to modernize Muslim culture and assist in liberalizing Islamic thinking, as well as to help the University's other administrators direct higher, broader Islamic studies. Fifty of the world's best Islamic scholars are to compose the Academy. These will represent the various religious concepts. Twenty will be citizens of countries other than the U.A.R.

In its revised capacity, Al-Azhar will undertake everything related to higher education and research, applying these fields to the preservation of Islamic culture, its interpretation and dissemination, and to accomplishing a revival of the Arab heritage. The University will supply the Islamic world with scholars, and, through cooperative activities, attempt to strengthen cultural and scientific relations with Islamic, Arab and general foreign institutions of higher learning.

Sheikh Mahmoud Shaltout, rector of Al-Azhar, has said that the parliament-approved reorganization will be implemented from the beginning of the coming 1961-1962 school year. He said the new law will consolidate the position of the University both at home and abroad, and enable it to afford its students and graduates new and broader opportunities. Its degrees will be made equivalent to those of other universities in the country.

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses
Canadian Conditions

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 16—In these perilous times, it is a joy for me to discuss our nearest neighbor, Canada. A line more than 3,000 miles long separates us, and there is not gun or any other form of "wall" or defense on this very long line between us and Canada. This certainly shows that some form of nuclear disarmament should be possible for all the world. Canadian Business Follows U. S. Business

Canada is now enjoying a gradual recovery from the mild recession of a year ago. Industrial activity has turned upward, although to a modest extent. Canadian business, however, is subject to intense competition caused by overcapacity and a corresponding pressure upon prices and profits.

For some time Canada has been a leading trading country, surpassed only by the United States, the United Kingdom, and West Germany. In the year 1961, export markets have accounted for about 15% of Canada's national output. The United States currently exports only 4% of its output. As a result, the Canadian dollar fluctuates, and right now is worth less than the American dollar.

Canada And The European Common Market
Concern has arisen that Canada's trading position may be hampered by the European Common Market. The great postwar impulse for multilateral trade in the Geneva Agreement on Tariffs and Trade is changing in favor of general trading blocs. The European Common Market may develop into a new nation that could rival the population, production, and power of even the United States.

I believe Canada should examine carefully the above possibilities, and consider some form of association with Western Europe. Perhaps it should join this European Common Market, a move which might eventually influence the United States to join. This could result in a North Atlantic Trading Area of great strength to the "free world."

Canada And Prevailing Wages
Many in Canada feel that joining the Common Market would result in lower wages for Canada, in view of the lower wages prevailing in Europe. However, efficient workers can demand and secure high wages. I further believe that such a united front would do much to prevent Communism from working further westward.

We cannot have everything we want in this world, and we must have a spirit of "give and take"—economically, as well as militarily and politically. Also, Europeans should realize that only by including Canada can Western Europe extend its trading borders to the Pacific Coast. It seems as if this could be a great advantage to the Common Market. The very talk makes me very optimistic.

Canada And Natural Resources
Canada can supply Western Europe with oil, iron, copper, asbestos, sulphur, aluminum, nickel, pulp and paper products, and even fishery products. One of the first projects may be to build a pipeline for crude oil from Western Canada to Montreal. Relations with Venezuela are now being cultivated by the United States. How this will affect Canada's oil prospects is an open question.

Thus far, large sums of money have gone from the United States into Canada to help develop these natural resources. Very little of Canada's imported money has been for industrial goods, but mostly for investments or speculations in Canada's natural resources.

Outlook For The Future
Factories may be built and go to decay; machinery may become obsolete; trade routes may change; but, at the worst, Canada's natural resources cannot be destroyed even though their exploitation may taper off for a few years. This means that Canada would profit from inflation, and investments there could be a good hedge for those who are fearful of inflation.

In closing, let me remind readers that Canada's economic growth has taken only about fifty years; and with her present political, social, and economic structure, this excellent growth should continue. Hence, businessmen and investors should be optimistic about the future of Canada, even with radically changing world conditions.

Warned Against Contaminating Water

Homeowners with private water supplies and professional exterminators are warned by the State Department of Health to avoid injecting highly toxic or potent chemicals into the soil near wells, springs, or streams. Water contaminated by these chemicals can be fatal to humans, animals, and fish life.

Robert M. Brown, Chief of the Bureau of Environmental Hygiene, said that recently in Maryland a family well was contaminated by a highly potent chemical, used for termite extermination, which had been injected into the soil around the foundation of the home. The householder, detecting a peculiar odor in the water, contacted the local health department. Chemical analysis established that the water was contaminated with insecticide. A new well had to be drilled.

Homeowners, farmers, professional exterminators, and vendors of pesticides are urged to contact their local health department for advice before injecting or recommending the injection of a toxic chemical into the soil near a source of water supply.

Mr. Brown also cautioned users to carefully read labels on all chemicals for killing insects and controlling weed growth. Many such products are readily available in the form of liquid sprays, dusts, and aerosols. Properly handled and used in accordance with instructions, these chemicals serve a good purpose. However, even in small amounts, some of them may be quite harmful by contact with the skin, through inhalation, or by contamination of the water supply. The environmental hygienist explained there is the possibility that toxic materials sprayed or spread on lawns, foliage, and crops may reach the water supply through surface drainage. Labels on chemicals for use by the public do not always point out this hazard.

Must Abide By Court Order

A consent decree enjoining Montebello Liquors Inc., a Baltimore rectifier, from using the names Maryland Gentleman or Canadian Gentleman or any other trademark containing the word "gentleman" or "gentlemen" was entered last week in the United States District Court for the District of Maryland, it was announced this week by A. Smith Bowman, Jr., vice president of A. Smith Bowman Distillery, Inc. of Sunset Hills, Fairfax County, Va.

Montebello, which had been selling liquor since 1950 under the name Maryland Gentleman, consented to the court's order giving it until the end of November to stop selling Maryland Gentleman and to destroy its labels. The Bowman Distillery had sued on the grounds that the name Maryland Gentleman infringed on their product, Virginia Gentleman.

Virginia Gentleman, a four-year-old, 90-proof, straight bourbon whiskey manufactured by the Bowman Distillery, enjoys an unusual popularity in the eastern part of the country and is in short supply. The distillery is owned by Lefcourt Realty Corporation and operated and managed by A. Smith Bowman, Jr., and E. DeLong Bowman under long-term management contracts.

The consent decree follows by three months a victory by the distillers of Virginia Gentleman over Schenley Distillers, Inc., in the United States District Court in Delaware. In this case the court issued an order barring Schenley from using the names Indiana Gentleman and American Gentleman.

The officials of the distillery also reported that another law suit is in progress against Barton Distilling Company to try and stop them from using the name Kentucky Gentleman.

E. DeLong Bowman, president of the Virginia distillery, reported that, in an effort to meet the continuing demand for their products, new equipment has been installed and that the capacity of the distillery would eventually be increased from its current annual production of 12,000 barrels a year to approximately 16,000-18,000 barrels a year.

A. Smith Bowman Distillery, Inc. also bottles a 100-proof, bonded straight bourbon named Fairfax County.

All About Dogs

Dogs Can Live Longer

Just as the life expectancy of man has risen in the past years—so has the dog's. There were 17 million dogs in the country 11 years ago—today there are more than 26 million.

Clarence C. Fawcett of the Purina Dog Care Center has come up with a few tips on how you can help give your dog longer life. Start with a healthy puppy.

When you buy a pup (from a reputable kennel or pet shop), or acquire him from a neighbor, try to select one with a smooth, glossy coat, clear eyes and nose, and a lively, alert personality.

Make sure your pet is checked by a veterinarian. The number-one pet killer is distemper. When this dread disease does strike, your dog's chances for a complete cure are pretty slim. Fortunately, your local veterinarian can provide preventative "shots." He can also immunize your pet against other canine infections.

Besides his usual walk, your dog's health improves when you play with him. Most puppies like to retrieve sticks, balls, etc. Such activity builds muscles while providing him with fun and companionship. A piece of rubber hose or a leather strap—perhaps an old towel—will do fine.

Sweet Party Touch: Candy-kabobs

Extra insurance for a successful teen party is "Let 'em Eat," and another good idea is to let the youngsters do-it-themselves. For instance, putting together this dessert course of Candy-kabobs can help fill those awkward moments of shyness until the party gets into full swing.

Candy-kabobs are a confection to suit everyone's individual taste and can well add the festive touch to an otherwise simple barbecue or buffet party when used as the focal point of the table setting. They are so easy to put together. Here's how:
Use a paper container, flower pot, or other container and cover with crepe paper. Attach ribbon bow and set on doily. Weight bottom of container with pebbles or flower holder. Slip your favorite candies and chocolates onto moistened skewers (so candies will slide easily). Top skewers with rock candy or ribbon bows. Fill out container with varicolored tissue paper or colored cellophane.

Looking for Bargains?

It's easy to recognize a horseman these days; they list to the near or off side, depending on which pocket of their jacket holds the Fasig-Tipton Company's catalogue of yearlings to be sold at Saratoga August 7 through 11. Until last week there was no list; the other pocket contained the Breeders' Sales Company catalogue of the yearlings sold at Keeneland. These two sales annually bring a total of some $6,500,000. Since 1917 August at Saratoga has been synonymous with sales and since 1918 when Man o' War was knocked down to Samuel D. Riddle for $5,000 horsemen have been hoping for another such bargain. Bargains at the sales come a little higher these days. The highest priced bargain of all time is Globemaster, one of the top 3-year-olds this season for which Leonard P. Sasso paid $80,000 at the 1959 Saratoga sales. Globemaster has already won over $200,000. Whether they'll prove to be bargains remains to be seen, but two colts certain to inspire very active dollar duels, represent the whole crop and the final crop of the great English stallion Hyperion. This is the only time in Hyperion's 20-year stud history when one sales company has had an "exclusive" on his yearlings. One of these potential headliners, out of the imported mare, Nasretta, belongs to Mrs. George Greenhalgh of Berryville, Va.; the other, owned by Mrs. Winston Guest of New York, is from a mare named Djeco.

Futurity Race At Pimlico

BALTIMORE—Who could be the spoiler in Crimson Satan's bid for racing's two-year-old championship this Saturday, November 18, in the $115,000 Pimlico Futurity?

The name could be Obey, a son of the great Nashua who only a week ago ran third in the Garden State Stakes despite one of the roughest trips since the Titanic's maiden voyage.

A grey colt owned by Mrs. Herbert Herff, Obey has looked several times as if he were ready to explode with victory in a major race, but racing luck has rarely been with him.

In the Garden State, won by Crimson Satan, Obey had to take up sharply when he was crowded at the first turn and got into close quarters again at the top of the stretch, but still made a mild rally to be third. Jockey Howard Grant thought he had been bothered enough to claim foul, but the official result stood.

Three weeks prior to that, in the rich Champagne, Obey lost all chance when he stumbled coming out of the gate.

Still, Obey finished second to Jaipur in the Cowdin and second to the unbeaten Ridan in the Washington Park Futurity. If and when he puts the combination of his best form and luck together he might take the measure of the best of them.

The fastest colt in the Pimlico Futurity this Saturday will almost assuredly be a big bay grandson of Citation who answers to the name of Green Ticket. The question is how far will Mrs. Adele C. Rand's bay bomber carry his sizzling speed.

Other colts among the definite Pimlico Futurity starters who give the indication of still being on the upswing in their young careers include George D. Widener's stakes-placed Endymion; and Greek Money from the Brandywine Stable of Donald C. Ross. Greek Money arrived at Pimlico off a winning performance last week in the James H. Connors Memorial Stakes at Narragansett.

Two possible longshot spoilers are Darby Dan Farm's Melanion, a colt which just recently made his racing debut and won his last prep by five lengths, and Turf and Paddock Stable's Will of Iron, who smothered his opposition in his last prep at Laurel.

Civil Defense Meeting Is Scheduled

A Civil Defense meeting will be held in the Thurmont High School auditorium on Tuesday, Nov. 28 at 7:30 p. m.

The public is urged to attend this meeting. Mr. George Bodmer, radiological unit chief of Frederick, will be the principal speaker.

Dr. Bodmer will speak on the different types of fall-out, their effect on people now and in the future. How fall-out shelters can help you. What to do if a nuclear explosion takes place. These and many other questions will be answered.

Everyone takes for granted the almost unbelievable blast and heat unleashed by a nuclear bomb. What worries the world today are the uncertain—thus, more terrifying—effects of a nuclear bomb's by-product: radio-active particles, or fall-out.

Your survival may depend on what you know and how well you are prepared in advance.

NONE INJURED IN CAR CRASH

Efforts of Paul H. Trent, 32, Fairfield R1, to slow after passing another car resulted in an accident 2 miles north of here on the Gettysburg Rd, last Thursday afternoon, state police said.

Trent was traveling south when his car struck a southbound sedan operated by Donald R. Shipley, 36, Frederick. Police said Trent passed another northbound auto and turned back into his proper lane. Another northbound car was ahead of him, according to police, who said that when Trent tried to slow his auto to avoid striking the slower moving vehicle ahead he lost control of his own car and it went into the southbound lane striking the Shipley vehicle.

Damage was estimated at $800 to Trent's sedan and at $600 to Shipley's auto. No one was reported injured.

Tips Given On

Turkey Preparation

Turkey, ranking high on the list of essential foods—succulent, tender, plump and golden brown, is unsurpassed in down-right good flavor and general attractiveness for Thanksgiving says Mrs. Judith A. Phell, Food and Nutrition Specialist at the University of Maryland, Cooperative Extension Service.

When buying medium or heavy birds, 12 pounds or over, allow 1/4 to 1/2 pound (ready-to-cook) per serving, says Mrs. Phell. However, the actual number of servings depend on the quality of the turkey, correct cooking and carving skill.

Thawing frozen turkeys requires one to three days, depending on the size of the bird. If the bird is frozen and stuffed commercially follow the package directions. The refrigerator is the best place to thaw unstuffed frozen turkeys. Thaw whole birds and large parts in the original wrappers. Unwrap small parts and separate them so air can reach each piece.

To clean the bird remove pinfeathers, wash inside and outside thoroughly and then dry with a clean cloth or paper towels.

Mrs. Phell placed emphasis on not filling the turkey with stuffing until roasting time. She also said a turkey should never be stuffed and then home frozen for later use.

One last tip from Mrs. Phell—truss the legs to assure uniform cooking, even browning, an attractive bird on the platter and easier carving.

Marine Recruiters To Visit College

The Marine Corps Officer Selection officer, Capt. R. T. Smith, will be on the campus of Mt. St. Mary's College Nov. 21 and 22 to interview students for Marine Officer training programs. The officer selection team will be at the college to provide information and interview applicants. Freshmen and Sophomore men attend two 6-week increments of Platoon Leaders class training at Quantico, Va., during their summer vacations. Juniors attend a 12-week summer training session the summer prior to graduation. Applicants are commissioned second lieutenants immediately upon graduation. Seniors and graduates attend a 10-week officer candidate course after graduation and are then commissioned. For qualified applicants, platoon leaders class (aviation and aviation officer candidate courses are available. There are no training commitments whatsoever during the school year. Members of the PLC are not required to complete any special college course, but are required to maintain an overall "C" average, successfully complete the summer training, and earn a baccalaureate degree before being commissioned. All time spent in the program is counted for pay purposes upon commissioning—a feature unique in Marine officer training programs.

America's role in today's world places upon each youth the need for individual leadership, confidence and self-reliance. These attributes are required in business and the professions as well as in the military—the Marine Corps builds leaders!

Dog Bites Child

A four-year-old boy of Thurmont, who was bitten in the lip by a stray dog is now undergoing a series of inoculations, it was learned this week from his mother, Mrs. Severn Thompson. The Thompsons are military personnel and the youth is being treated by an army doctor.

Frank Stockman, county dog catcher, said the animal is a brown and white mongrel. As yet he has been unable to locate the dog.

Driving Privilege Revoked

Girl Scouts Plant Flowers

The Girl Scouts of Emmitsburg, which include the Brownie, Intermediate and Senior Girls, will finish planting their flower bulbs at the Doughboy on West Main Street tomorrow, Saturday, at 10:30 a. m. Crocus, Narcissus and Daffodil bulbs have been planted on two sides of the grass plot. The third side will be planted on Saturday and the tulip bulbs will be placed on all three sides. These are all yellow flowering bulbs, which the girls hope will be blossoming in the spring of 1962 for their Golden Anniversary, when the Girl Scouts of the United States of America will be 50 years old.

The Scouts wish to thank Rev. John C. Chatlos for the time he gave in plowing the ground for them. They wish to thank also Mr. Louis Sontor Jr., also, for his time in helping to prepare the ground and for his guidance in planting the bulbs.

Bulbs grow into beautiful flowers, but they do cost money, and the only money the Scouts have is received from their weekly dues. Therefore, if any good citizen of the community wishes to encourage these girls and help in this beautifying project, donations will be accepted. Your donation may be given to any leader: Mrs. Louis Orndorff, Mrs. Ralph Lindsey, Mrs. Charles Shorb or Mrs. John Chatlos.

New Books At Burr Artz Library

THE COMING TESTS WITH RUSSIA—Walter Lippman. The gist of a conversation on April 10, 1961, between Khrushchev and Lippman, reprinted from the 'New York Herald Tribune.' The former speaks frankly about a divided Germany, the two Berlins, and the so-called neutral countries of Cuba, Iran, and Laos. To this clear statement of the Russian viewpoint, Lippman adds the reactions of an American political liberal.

SKETCHES FROM LIFE OF MEN I HAVE KNOWN—Dean G. Acheson. These engaging and disconcerting sketches by a former U. S. secretary of state focus on personalities and lighter moments in international diplomacy during the period between 1945 and 1953. Winston Churchill, Ernest Bevin, Robert Schuman, Arthur Vandenberg, and Gen. George Marshall are among the individuals vividly re-created in anecdotes and descriptive passages that give insight into the somber as well as the more cheerful aspects of world politics. Appeared in part in the "Saturday Evening Post."

ERIC SLOANE'S WEATHER BOOK—Eric Sloane. This book may help the reader to learn how to forecast tomorrow's weather; more important, it is hoped the book will give to many a new concept of weather, that it will explain the character as well as the mechanics of the sky and the atmosphere. Not everyone can be a meteorologist; but it is easy to be weather-wise, and the pleasure of being close to the weather is endless.

HISTORIC HOUSES OF GEORGETOWN AND WASHINGTON CITY—Harold D. Eberlein. The authors present the stories of houses whose associations are inseparably connected with national history. Included are the White House, Dumbarton House, the Bowie-Sevier House, Tudor Place, Woodley, the Van Ness House, and many, many others.

COVERED BRIDGES OF THE MIDDLE ATLANTIC STATES—Richard S. Allen. Bridges of Frederick County are described, with the statement that some of the most interesting old bridges are to be found in this area. Gift of Mrs. Mary Condon Hodgson in memory of Mr. Robert L. Kolb.

MATHEMATICS IN EVERYDAY THINGS—William C. Vergara. Given in memory of Mr. Robert L. Kolb by Miss Mary S. Wilkinson, Medina, New York, formerly a member of the staff of the C. Burr Artz Library.

Service for MSTA, serves as Coordinator of the MAFTA program.

AUTOMOTIVE TRANSMISSIONS AND POWER TRAINS—William H. Crouse. Given in memory of Mr. Robert L. Kolb by Miss Mary S. Wilkinson, Medina, New York, formerly a member of the staff of the C. Burr Artz Library.
