Battle lines are being drawn up here for one of the hottest primary elections in the history of the Burg. Democrats for Mahoney opened their headquarters here this week and it is highly probable the local sponsors of the Tawes ticket will come right back with one of their own. Things had been right dull regarding the primary until this week when both factions of the Democrats began to jockey for position in the race. From now on in there will be plenty of action on both fronts. No word is forthcoming from the Republicans at this writing.

And while on the subject of elections we have a sizzler on our hands in the coming Town Election which will be held Tuesday. Two well-known candidates, both experienced in town government will slug it out politically Tuesday and a close vote is anticipated. We urge all registered voters to get out and vote for the candidate of their choice. Whoever the winner is will have some momentous decisions to make in the near future. With both local colleges having huge expansion projects under way which will necessitate more water and sewerage accommodations, some businesslike transactions are in the offing, ones which will affect the welfare of the town. Voters are urged to study the qualifications of the candidates and vote accordingly. We do not choose sides in a local election, all we try to accomplish is to put the facts before the public and let it be the judge. Be certain you cast your ballot Tuesday.

Most of us are of the apathetic type. We read the local papers and don't pay too much attention to what is going on about us. Suddenly when we are jolted by some stupendous matter that will affect us we are jolted into action. Take for instance the numerous stories that have appeared for several years about this proposed Monocacy Dam. Almost until this very week we were not cognizant that the thing would even affect us. Not until a large map was published showing that flooding stages of the dam would bring water to the very edge of town, in fact some houses would have water in their basements at flood stage. Now the air is buzzing with rumors that Route 15 will have to be re-routed. Emmitsburg will have to build a new sewerage disposal plant, etc. Don't take too much stock in these rumors folks because it will be many a year before any such project will be effected or completed. However, I do say that we should be attentive to future stories, hearings and discussions on this project.

Work is progressing nicely on the re-routing of Route 15 north to Gettysburg. The Pennsylvania section is well under way and work was started on the half-mile Maryland stretch to the state line this week. It won't be too long before we'll be enjoying that new road to Gettysburg.

Students Named To Honor Society

Ten senior honor students from Mt. St. Mary's College, have been selected by the Dean's Committee of the College for membership in the National Catholic Honor Society, Delta Epsilon Sigma. Those chosen are John A. Bruno, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Francis J. DiMeglio, Chester, Pa.; Gary L. Duhn, Silver Spring, Md.; Harold M. Farrell, Ashland, Pa.; Paul C. Garver, Harrisburg, Pa.; Bernard J. Lavery, Denville, N. J.; John P. O'Herrin, Kensington, Md.; Michael A. Topper, Emmitsburg; Russell V. Miceli, Trenton, N. J.; and Charles E. Robinson, Fairmont, W. Va. Students are chosen on the basis of character, high scholarship, and liberal culture.

Michael A. Topper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Topper, Emmitsburg. He is married to the former Catherine Bailey of Thurmont. He is a senior honor student majoring in mathematics with a scholastic average of 90.7 and an associate with his father in the Topper Insurance Agency, Emmitsburg. He graduated from St. Joseph's High School.

Egg Hunt Scheduled For Sunday

The children of Emmitsburg will be treated to an egg hunt Sunday afternoon. The affair is the annual hunt sponsored by the Emmitsburg Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and annually draws in the neighborhood of 500 kiddies of all ages.

Bernard Ott Jr., general chairman of the event, announced the hunt will be held at Community Field and will get under way promptly at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Members of the Post met this week and prepared 90 dozens of eggs for "planting" at the field. The children will be divided into different age groups so all will have an equal advantage during the hunt. Quite a number of the eggs will be marked and can be redeemed for small sums of money following the hunt. In addition a large quantity of candy will be distributed to the kiddies. Parents are urged to attend the event with the younger children.

C. Of C. Soliciting Funds For Factory

Ralph D. Lindsey, president of the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce, announced this week that the Chamber is actively supporting the drive to raise funds to help purchase land for the relocation of the Emmitsburg Manufacturing Co.

Some months ago the concern announced its intention of expanding its facilities and rebuilding a larger plant. At that time the Town Council and the Chamber of Commerce went to work on the project and after several weeks were successful in obtaining an option on some ground within the corporate limits of the town.

It was mutually agreed that about $1400 would have to be raised to buy the land and extend the sewer line to it. President Lindsey has appointed the following members of the Chamber to make personal solicitations for funds to meet the sum: Charles A. Harner, Daniel J. Kaas and Ralph F. Irelan.

Commissioner Norman Flax reported yesterday that after talks with company officials in Baltimore that they had agreed to utilize the ground and that they anticipated starting building in from six to 12 months. Commissioner Flax also represented Emmitsburg at the Planning and Zoning Commission's hearing on the Monocacy Dam held at Frederick last night.

LIBRARY MEETING

A meeting for all volunteer workers of the Emmitsburg Public Library will be held Tuesday evening, April 24, at 7 p.m. Please try to be present. If you are interested in working in the library and have not yet signed up, please come on Tuesday. More adult volunteers are needed. At this meeting schedules will be worked out and instructions given for handling books.

School Registration

The Emmitsburg Elementary Public School will hold registration for children who will enter first grade next September on Wednesday, April 25, at 2:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. (Children should be six years of age or over before January 1, 1963.)

At that time, registration papers will be given to the parents and explanations will be made of the regulations necessary before the children enter school in September.

Mr. Arvin Jones, Principal, Mrs. Anna Leary, teacher, and the County Health Nurse will meet with the parents.

FOOD SALE

Members of the Rocky Ridge Boy's 4-H Club will sponsor a food sale in the Fire Hall Saturday morning, April 28 starting at 10 a.m. On sale will be the usual palatable foods and the general public is cordially invited to attend the affair.

AUXILIARY TO SHOW FILM

The Auxiliary of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars will sponsor a film on Cancer entitled "Time and Two Women" in the Annex on Wednesday, April 25. The film is for women only and all the women of the community are cordially invited to attend this free film. Dr. George Morningstar will be present to answer any questions the audience might wish to ask.

MAHONEY HEADQUARTERS OPEN HERE

George P. Mahoney's Frederick County campaign drive took on new impetus this week when a representative group of Emmitsburg citizens formed a "Mahoney For Governor" organization.

The group has obtained a headquarters location and will be open Saturday to acquaint the voting public with the Mahoney ticket which includes Samuel W. Barwick for Attorney General; Carlton Sicks for Congressman-at-large; Marshall A. Levin for controller and Blair Lee, III, candidate for U. S. Senator.

The group will appoint a local general chairman of the Emmitsburg Committee for Mahoney next week.

Local headquarters will be located in the Allen Stoner property near the Square. Volunteer workers are being sought to staff the headquarters and those interested are urged to phone Mahoney Headquarters, HI 7-2349.

Auxiliary Makes Several Donations

Seventeen members were present at the regular meeting of the Francis X. Elder American Legion Ladies' Auxiliary held Tuesday evening in the post home, President Madeline Harner presiding.

The group voted a $5 donation to the District Reception for Dept. of Maryland Commanders and Presidents held in Sharpsburg on April 14; $2 to the Dept. of Maryland Ways and Means; $5 to the Society of Crippled Children and Adults.

The Americanism essay contest sponsored by the group was won by Samuel Valentine of Emmitsburg High School and Joseph Eckenrode, St. Joseph's High School. The title of the contest was "What Can We Do As Citizens to Help Combat Communism." The group wishes to thank both schools for the participation in the contest and Prof. John McCarty, Mt. St. Mary's College, who judged the essays. Members who attended the meeting at Cascade were: Ella Hemler, Nettie Ashbaugh, Dian Small, Mary Shuff, Ada Myers, Virginia Sanders, Melva Harman and Madeline Harner. It was announced that the crutches and commode chair which the group recently purchased had arrived and are now ready for the public's use. These items were purchased by recent subscriptions to magazines sold by members. The committee wishes to thank all those who aided in the project either by soliciting or subscribing. Following adjournment the group joined the men of the post for refreshments. The refreshment committee for May consists of Kathleen Shorb, Virginia Sanders and Beatrice Umbel.

Church Group Holds Meeting

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Trinity Methodist Church met last Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Charles Wadell on the Gettysburg Road for its regular monthly meeting with 18 members and guests present. Mrs. George L. Wilhide presided during the business meeting. Mrs. C. C. Combs was in charge of devotions. Election of officers for the ensuing year was held, with the selection of new officers as follows: Mrs. C. C. Combs, president; Mrs. Cleon Elliott, vice president; and Mrs. Ralph Kelly, secretary-treasurer. Following the business meeting, Mrs. Elliott showed films of various Latin American countries which were very interesting and informative. At a recent meeting of the Society, Mrs. George L. Wilhide, the outgoing president, was presented a life membership pin by the Society for her devoted service of the past four years. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting of the Society will be held at the home of Mrs. Francis Matthews on May 8 at 7:30 o'clock.

Readers Express Views On Election And Candidates

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

I am writing this letter to the Citizens and Voters of Emmitsburg as a reminder of the coming Town Election next Tuesday and to impress on them the importance of getting out the vote.

However, before we vote we should stop and look back over the past three years and see what really has been accomplished, especially the past year.

All this started just three years ago when Mr. Flax went into office for a three-year term as Commissioner. He started to ask questions about the business of the Town to familiarize himself with what was going on. Well there wasn't much of a bookkeeping job done—no reflection on the part of the town clerk—because there just wasn't much being done so little bookkeeping was needed. So after getting a town office, everything that was available as far as records were concerned, were moved in and Mr. Flax started to run into trouble. He found there were numerous people not paying town taxes and sewer service. Every one of them were perfectly able to pay them each year. When questioned about the matter they gave the answer that they were never made to pay. As of Dec. 31, 1961, there was 100% collection on town real estate and sewer tax—a remarkable feat.

Another major problem that has been solved in the past three years has been the paving of the alleys and streets, excluding the two state-maintained routes. Every spring the alleys would be tarred and chipped with fine stone and by the following spring it needed to be done over again. Mr. Flax fought to have all the town-maintained streets and alleys paved and this has saved the taxpayers considerable sums of money. He was instrumental in getting Emmitsburg out of the mud and dust by laying a new street there.

The past year the present Mayor and Commissioners negotiated with the Emmitsburg Water Co. in terms of purchasing it. Right now things are at a standstill but we can look forward to more negotiations soon that will mean a brighter future for the people of Emmitsburg.

The Mayor and Commissioners, and especially Mr. Flax, have been hounding the State Roads Commission the past year for improvements rightfully coming to the town. These demands are in the way of a blinker light, better paving of the two main roads in the corporate limits and not just loose stone as has been the practice.

It was Mr. Flax who also went to the Frederick County Board of Education pertinent to the existing school bus problem at the Mother Seton School where gradual progress is being made.

Voters! These are but a few of the things that have been accomplished the past three years and why? Because Mr. Flax has the courage to tackle these problems. I could go on and on with more accomplishments of our present Town Council but space doesn't permit. Certainly Mr. Flax has stepped on some toes but what he has accomplished has been very fair for everyone—not just for a select few!

You probably are wondering how I know about these matters. Well I asked about them as I wanted to know the truth and not take hear-say as an answer. You too, can get the true picture if you asked the Mayor or any Commissioner. It is your privilege as a voter and taxpayer to know the true picture. Why don't you ask your Town Officials about these issues rather than your neighbor or friends, before you vote. The information is free!

The past year has been a good one for Emmitsburg. Our officials have gone all out to make contacts for State and Federal grants and other assistance and a long-range improvement program has been set up. You've had to plan ahead 10 or 20 years these days—not day by day as has been done.

We are beginning to move forward now, let's keep it that way. Remember this when you go to vote next Tuesday.

Car Wash Saturday

The Senior Class of Emmitsburg High School will hold a Car Wash this Saturday, April 21, beginning at 8 a.m. at the high school. Pickup and delivery service may be obtained by calling HI 7-2264 anytime Saturday. A nominal fee of $1 per car will be charged.

Little League To Organize

An organizational meeting of the Emmitsburg Little League will be held on Thursday evening, April 26 at 7 p.m. in the VFW Annex, it has been announced. The meeting will be presided over by Richard J. McCullough, president.

All managers, assistants and other interested individuals are cordially invited to the meeting. Officers in charge announced this week the group is seeking contributions and those desiring to make donations are asked to mail them in to the Emmitsburg Little League. As usual advertising is being sold on the fence around the Little League field.

Quality has everything in its favor including the price.

It is my honest opinion that the people of Emmitsburg should support Commissioner Flax for another term in office.

The past three years he has proven what can be done in Emmitsburg. Look at our streets, alleys and parking lot!

The Board of Health has highly commended the Town on the way our disposal plant has been maintained. Flax's constant pressure on the State Roads Commission will bear fruit and we will get what has been denied us the past 10 years. He is for everything that will improve Emmitsburg. Other neighboring towns have had snow plows for years. Emmitsburg has one now. Mr. Flax has given unselfishly of his time and has fought for school bus transportation and safety controls.

Let's all support the man who will get the job done!

Mother Seton PTA Nominates

The Mother Seton PTA held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, April 11 in the school cafeteria with Patricia H. Parks, secretary, presiding. Sister Agatha lead the opening prayer and Pledge of Allegiance. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, as was the treasurer's report.

George Danner announced the scheduled for April 14 at the M-G Theater in Emmitsburg.

The nominating committee for next year's PTA officers made its report as follows: President, Sgt. George Van Kirk, St. Rita's; vice president, Edwin R. Miller, Our Lady of Mount Carmel, and Pierre Fontaine, Our Lady of Mount Carmel; secretary, Mrs. Robert Marshall, St. Anthony's; and treasurer, Mrs. Dolores Henke and Mrs. Norma Nusbaum, St. Joseph's Parish.

Nominations will remain open until the May meeting when elections will be held.

Appointments for Bazaar co-chairmen for next fall was as follows: St. Rita's, Mrs. R. T. Green; Our Lady of Mount Carmel, Mrs. Harold Williard; St. Anthony's, Mrs. Bernadette Hemler; St. Joseph's, Mrs. Robert Koontz.

It was announced that it will be compulsory for boys in the first grade to wear uniform dress next fall. Since parents will be buying new clothes for older boys (2nd through 8th grades) this summer, it was suggested that they follow the prescribed uniform as closely as possible, as follows: Navy blue trousers, material at the discretion of the parents; light blue shirt with short sleeves; Navy blue bow tie, and Navy blue sweater—V-neck pull-over.

Sister Agatha asked for volunteers among 7th grade parents to help with the annual party for 8th graders and their parents. Sister also asked parents to encourage their children to fulfill their obligation to the Bishop's Relief Fund. The Easter Holidays were announced as extending from 3 p.m. Wednesday, April 18 to 9 a.m. Tuesday, April 24.

Excerpts from a questionnaire on favorite and non-favorite television programs, given all students in the school, were read by Sister Agatha. Although entertaining in itself, the report indicated a need for greater parental supervision over the family TV set.

The secretary adjourned the meeting and Sister Agatha lead a closing prayer.

Sister Agatha introduced Father Martin Slesseman of St. Joseph college who spoke on The Liturgy of Holy Week with Emphasis on the Easter Vigil.

Churches List Good Friday Service

The annual Community Good Friday Service in which all of the Protestant Churches of Emmitsburg participate will be held this year at Trinity Methodist Church from 1:30 to 3 p.m. The theme of the service which has been planned by the host pastor, the Rev. Forrest D. Davis, will be "From Gethsemane to Calvary."

The service will be divided into seven periods, each period reviewing some event in the Passion of our Lord from the time of His agonizing prayer in the Garden of Gethsemane to His Crucifixion on Calvary. The pastors of the four churches of town will serve as the liturgists for the various periods, and will also present a brief meditation for each period.

The first period, "The Garden of Gethsemane," will be led by Rev. William M. Hendricks, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. The theme of his meditation will be "The Betrayal and Arrest of Jesus." The second period entitled "The Ecclesiastical Trial," will be in charge of Rev. John C. Chatlos, pastor of Incarnation Church. The Meditation for this period will be: "The Verdict of Annas and Caiaphas." Rev. Davis, the host pastor, will preside at the third period, "The Courtyard," and will deliver a brief meditation on "The Denial of Peter." The scene of the fourth period, "The Temple," will be led by Rev. Philip Bower, pastor of Elias Lutheran Church, who will speak on "The Remorse of Judas." Rev. Chatlos will preside at the fifth scene, "The Civil Trial," and will present a meditation on "The Verdict of Pilate." The sixth period will be conducted by Rev. Bower who will preach on "The Experience of Simon of Cyrene." The scene of this portion of the service will be "The Road to Calvary." The last period will portray the scene of Calvary itself, when Rev. Davis will speak on "The Crucifixion of Jesus."

This community service is sponsored by the following churches in cooperation with the Emmitsburg Ministerial Association: Trinity Methodist Church, The United Presbyterian Church, Elias Lutheran Church, and Incarnation United Church of Christ.

All four Community Mid-Week Lenten Services which were held in the various four churches in town on four successive Wednesday nights were well attended. The total offerings from these services amounted to $152.97. A sum of $3.60 of this amount was used for the purchasing of bulletins for the services, leaving a balance of $149.37 which will be given to The Church World Service Center at New Windsor, Md., from the Protestant Churches of the Emmitsburg community.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the Community Good Friday Service which will be an hour and a half service from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

Senior Play

The Senior Class of Emmitsburg High School will present its annual play in the school auditorium on Friday evening, April 27 at 8 p.m.

The play, entitled, "Man Overboard," is a hilarious comedy-mystery and the public is cordially invited to attend.

General George Custer was 37 when he made his famous "last stand" against Indians in the Dakota Territory.

Close Local Election Is Predicted

Emmitsburgians will trek to the polls next Tuesday to select a Burgess and one Town Commissioner in the annual town election of the Corporation of Emmitsburg. The election has been forged into a torrid race for the office of Commissioner.

J. Norman Flax, incumbent Commissioner, is being opposed by former Mayor Clarence G. Frailey in a race that is expected to be exceedingly close. Flax has had three years of public service while Frailey has been Burgess for five terms. Interest in the election has drawn many new registrations and Town Clerk Charles D. Gillelan reported this week at the close of registration that 513, a new record, had been signed on the election books.

In a wait and see game Mayor James Edward Houck left the expiration date for filing go by without giving any decision as to whether or not he was running. After the deadline he expressed the opinion that he was declining due to both personal and business reasons. This left the only other candidate filing practically elected without opposition. The only single candidate for Mayor is J. Allen Bouey, World War II veteran and former Town Commissioner for six years. Write-in votes are permissible under Emmitsburg's voting laws.

In an eleventh hour decision, P. Allen Stoner, local insurance agent, announced his candidacy for Burgess via the write-in method. Mr. Stoner announced to the press this week that "in the light of last minute developments and other matters pertinent to good town government I have decided to seek the office."

The polls will be open Tuesday from 12 noon until 7 p.m., (EST) and voting will take place in the Town Office near the Square. Judges of election will be Miss Josephine Steinberger, Ralph F. Irelan and Lloyd G. Ohler.

W. Of C Meeting Held Here

Grand Knight Carl Wetzel presided at the regular meeting of Brute Council, Knights of Columbus held Monday night in the council home, 25 members in attendance.

Present at the meeting were the officers of the Mt. St. Mary's College Council, guests from Hagerstown and Frederick and Leo Koepfel of Silver Spring. Communications were received from the Mother Seton School and the Easter Seal Society expressing appreciation for recent donations made by the group. The Grand Knight announced that the annual communion breakfast will be held in St. Joseph's High School on Sunday morning, May 27, following the 8:30 Mass. It was announced at the meeting that the degree team had conferred the first degree recently at Westminster. James Oddo was admitted as a new member to the council. An invitation from Bishop McNamara Assembly, Frederick, was received and invited members to attend the 50th anniversary of the chartering of the assembly to be held at the Peter Pan Inn, Urbana, on April 28. Members were asked to have their reservations for the affair in by this Saturday.

Bowlers Conclude Season

The National League closed its bowling season this week at the Emmitsburg Recreation Center with some outstanding scores. The Thurmont team wound up with a high score for three games, 1553. Paul Hobbs had a single game of 139 and 352 for three. The Farmington Boys closed out with a nice 1512 for three.

The American League will terminate with a three team rolloff Monday night at the Center which will be closed Easter Sunday.

The Emmitsburg Brownies will roll games next Tuesday afternoon, April 24.

Anyone interested in bowling on a team in the summer league is asked to contact the manager, C. A. Harner.

100 YEARS AGO

McCLELLAN IS HALTED: SOUTH BEGINS DRAFT

By Lon K. Savage

Spring had come to Virginia, and the women and children of Richmond came out onto the streets beneath the foliage 100 years ago this week to cheer as the troops moved smartly through.

Down the east-west thoroughfares the battle-stained veterans moved on horseback, on foot and riding on caissons, around the Confederate capitol and on to the east, flags flying and bands playing. For days they had marched through, led by men who suddenly had become famous: the colorful J. E. B. Stuart, the fierce-looking James Longstreet, the harsh disciplinarian Jubal Early and the opinionated but able D. Harvey Hill. Over them all was Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, commanding field forces in Richmond's defense.

The time had come for the South to make its stand outside its capital city. Some 50 miles eastward, Gen. George B. McClellan had gathered a federal army of more than 100,000 men, intent on pushing up the peninsula between the York and James Rivers to Richmond. Now, Johnston was bringing his army south from central Virginia, through Richmond and east to Williamsburg and Yorktown to halt the federal advance.

Chance Is Missed

Although the Confederate troops didn't realize it, they already had halted McClellan temporarily—merely by arriving in his front.

For their arrival meant that McClellan had missed his chance. The young federal general had set out on his march up the peninsula April 2, when the peninsula was protected only by Confederate Gen. J. Bankhead Magruder with a little army of 8,000 to 12,000 men, dug in from the York to the James (many of them using intrenchments left from the battle of Yorktown in the American Revolution). Had McClellan launched a major assault at that time, there can be little doubt of the result.

But April 5 came, and with it the surprising word went back from federal Gen. Erasmus Keyes on the front to McClellan: "I am stopped by the enemy's works." Rain fell hard that day, and the roads turned to a morass in which guns and wagons sank to their axles. McClellan, greatly over-estimating Magruder's strength, decided to lay siege on Yorktown.

Delay Is Costly

And while McClellan prepared his siege, Joe Johnston's Confederates swooped down from the Rapidan, filed through Richmond and moved into Magruder's defenses. Now, thanks to McClellan's delay, the thing he feared most—a strong Confederate line—actually existed.

Back in Richmond, there were other developments that week. The Confederate Congress was in session, occupied with a thorny problem. The first year of the war was over, and the enlistments of thousands of soldiers was terminating. Affairs had gone badly in the West, along the coast (just the preceding week, Fort Pulaski at Savannah, Ga., had fallen to the federals, closing the Savannah River to blockade runners), and Richmond was under threat.

So on April 16, at President Jefferson Davis' request, the Confederate Congress enacted the first national draft law in America.

It provided for conscription of all able-bodied white men from 18 to 35 and extended the service of the 12-month men to three years. But it exempted men in foundry and railroad work and planters with 20 or more slaves. The railroad raised a fuss against Davis that would last for the rest of the war.

Next week: New Orleans is captured.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Babson Discusses Depressed Stocks

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 19—A book has recently been prepared by Mr. H. G. Olson of my organization, giving charts, earnings, prices, etc., for the common stocks of 100 well-known companies. In view of the high level of the Dow-Jones Industrial Average (up from 265 ten years ago to around 700 today), I have made a partial analysis of these 100 stocks. The book should interest every investor.

Railroads And Airlines

Of course, the principal railroads are in this list, with the Pennsylvania & New York Central included. No wonder they are trying to merge today as their only salvation. Among the other railroad stocks which have had a hectic record are the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific; the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific; the Reading Co.; and the Erie-Lackawanna.

The stocks which have suffered the most are the airplane stocks. Trans-World Airlines, one of the largest, sold at $80 per share in 1946 and is selling around $10 today. When we consider the aircraft manufacturers, we find that Douglas Aircraft Co., which I consider one of the best, sold at $95 in 1956; but sells for less than $40 today. Eastern Air Lines sold at nearly $60 in 1951; but sells today at less than half that price.

Automobiles And Footwear

Among the active high-grade automobile stocks is that of the Chrysler Corporation, which comes next, in my opinion, to General Motors and Ford as the best three. Chrysler stock has dropped from about $100 in 1952 and 1955 to around $50 today. The Ford stock was brought out at about $70 a share in 1956, but soon slumped below $40 due to sales by "free riders" looking for a quick profit. Ford Climbed above $90 in 1959; again fell to $60, but is now near $100!

Whether or not the increase in automobile riding has raised havoc with the shoe industry, I leave to you readers. The stocks of two large shoe manufacturers—International Shoe Co. and Endicott Johnson Corp.—have had an unfortunate record. The International Shoe stock has dropped from about $50 to less than $30; while Endicott Johnson has declined from $50 to $20 today. This same trend applies to men's and women's clothing as shown by the record of Bond Stores, Inc.—and to floor coverings such as Congoleum-Nairn.

Farm And Other Machinery Stocks

I am sorry to see that J. I. Case's stock has declined from nearly $40 in 1951 to less than $10 today. It has paid no dividends since 1955 but manufactures a full line of good farm and earth-moving machinery. With the farmers prosperous and the great roadbuilding campaign ahead, it seems to me this company should do better or else change its management. I think it is now taking needed action. Let us hope so.

Another machine company which is being honestly operated, at Waterbury, Conn., is the Scovill Manufacturing Co. The stock of this company sold at nearly $50 per share in 1945-46; has had "downs and ups" since then and now sells at about $25 per share. The Rheem Manufacturing Co.'s stock sold at $45 in 1955, dropped to $10 in 1957, and now sells around $15. Foote Mineral's stock sold at $60 in 1957 and now sells around $20 per share. I have faith in this company.

New Mining Companies

One of the most interesting mining stocks is that of the U. S. Smelting, Refining, & Mining Co. This sold at over $80 per share in 1946 and again in 1952. It has sold at $40 or lower since 1957. New Jersey Zinc sold at over $80 per share in 1951 but now sells for less than half this. Island Creek Coal sold at over $50 per share in 1956 and now sells for about one half this. Hudson Bay Mining & Smelting sold around $100 in 1956; now sells for $55. Consolidated Mining & Smelting showed a similar trend. Most of the steel companies are doing well; but the stock of the Pittsburgh Steel Co., which sold above $35 in 1956-57 has recently sold at $10.

Merchandising Stocks

Of all these stocks Montgomery Ward shows one of the widest fluctuation. It sold at $50 per share in 1946; then declined to $25 in 1948, again hit a high of over $50 per share in 1955 and 1959; but is now again about $35. Of the variety stores, S. S. Kresge Co., operating nearly 800 stores, sold at $45 in 1950 and is now selling around $30. Let me close by saying that the stock of the United Fruit Co. sold above $70 in 1951; is now about $25.

In the above review I have mentioned only about twenty-five or so of the one hundred depressed stocks which Mr. Olson has selected. Of the remaining issues, there are many which are probably more attractive than those described above. An investor should study all in order to realize these two facts: (1) Just because the Dow-Jones Average has been going up almost constantly during the past ten years, this does not mean that all stocks have been going up in price. (2) There must be some great bargains in the popular listed stocks which have money-making possibilities for those who will search for them.

The easiest way to pull apart tightly wedged sections of a fly rod is to place the rod behind your slightly spread knees, grip the two sections with your hands outside your knees, and use your thighs for added leverage in pulling outward.—Sports Afield.

Keep "Spring" in Spring Cleaning

ORGANIZE in advance and keep the "spring" in the upheaval called "spring housecleaning". Realize that chores can be spaced out... spring isn't gone in a day... and thus your energy and ambition can be conserved. The Lysol Home Health Information Bureau offers these pointers to help keep the "spring" in spring cleaning. 1) List all chores, then systemize them in terms of area and type of cleaning—such as kitchen cupboards and utility closets one day and clothes closets another. 2) Don't try to do too much at once; leave some time for relaxation and enjoyment of the first balmy spring days. 3) Make your schedule elastic for you need a sunny day to hang out winter woollens and rainy days are right for clearing out the toy and medicine chests. 4) Remember that you can disinfect as you clean by merely adding Lysol brand to your cleaning water.

THE DAY THESE WIRE PLIERS CUT THROUGH ROPE

It was a quiet day in a quiet Baltimore neighborhood. Not that telephone lineman Clarence Bivens particularly noticed. He was absorbed in work, at his high perch atop a utility pole.

Suddenly Clarence heard the frightening sound of a child choking. He looked in all directions and at first saw nothing. Then, some hundred yards away, he spotted a small boy hanging by his neck, from a rope tied to a tree limb.

Hardly believing his eyes, Clarence clambered down the pole, dashed to the tree and severed the rope with his pliers.

Happily, the four-year-old boy escaped with just mild rope burns on his neck. Lineman Bivens had prevented a tragic ending to a child's game that had toyed with danger.

For five years, Clarence Bivens has been using his skill and tools to provide dependable telephone service. But his lineman's pliers never performed a more important service than on the day he cut the rope.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Shipbuilding in Maryland

Last week the House of Representatives approved a bill which, if approved by the Senate and signed by the President, will bolster the economy of Maryland and the entire east coast. The bill which the House approved eliminates a twenty-six year old government subsidy to Pacific Coast shipbuilders. In simple terms, the six-percent preference worked like this—if an east coast and west coast ship builder were bidding to construct or repair a United States Merchant Marine vessel, the west coast could bid six per cent higher than the east coast and still get the contract.

When the law establishing the six-per cent differential was enacted in 1936, the ship building industry flourished on the eastern seaboard. The government was interested in expanding our merchant fleet and desired to give the west coast some incentive to build ships. Today, the west coast has a great ship building industry and no longer suffers from the drastic cost differential as it did during its beginnings.

I supported the bill to remove the present six-per cent preference for the west coast, and I base my argument on grounds which are not tied to the geographical location of Congressional districts.

To maintain and extend the six-per cent differential in favor of Pacific coast shipyards, this House would be required to sit as a sort of court. It would have to determine that there is a national need, that Pacific coast shipyards, workers, and communities are making a unique contribution to that need and that such contribution is being made at a financial sacrifice which should be compensated from the National Treasury.

Before this determination could be made the House would have to have all the facts. The testimony on this bill was voluminous, but not all factual. Such facts as were submitted are complex and, in some instances contradictory. In such a case, it is necessary to turn to the most qualified and least interested witnesses. Among these was George H. Staples, Associated Director, Civil Accounting and Auditing Division, General Accounting Office, who said: "based on our analysis, our opinion is that the information on regional ship-building costs presented by the respective regional ship building interests and the related testimony of these interests, all as contained in the record of the hearings, are not sufficiently complete, reliable, or accurate to support the contentions of the respective interests or to serve as a sound basis for determining relative ship building costs."

What Mr. Staples told the committee and the House is that there is no evidence upon which to grant a verdict against the entire country in favor of the west coast. And what a judgment would follow upon such a verdict. It would not only be a money verdict to be satisfied by tax dollars paid into the Treasury by all of us, but also in jobs, and paychecks and depressed areas created not by economic fluctuations, but by governmental preferences.

Final approval of this bill will mean that the east coast shipbuilders will be able to compete on an even basis and that more ships will be built, rebuilt, and repaired on the east coast. The effects of this will extend beyond the shipyards to the railroads and industries which support the shipyards.

Conceit is God's gift to the little man.

Lime Is Essential For Good Soil

It is estimated that 161 million acres of land in the United States would be agriculturally improved by the application of agricultural limestone, a farming practice that dates back before Christ.

Aglime is applied to the soil for a number of reasons. Probably the most common benefit is to neutralize the soil acidity. This creates a soil condition favorable to the growth of the majority of crops. It also enables growth and activity of desirable soil bacteria.

Liming aids in the control of some plant diseases. For instance, the organism that causes club root of certain vegetable crops and take-all of wheat cannot thrive in a soil that is properly limed. In addition, applying agricultural limestone aids in controlling temporary plant disorders caused by lack of available iron, manganese and boron.

Certain plant food elements are applied when limestone is added to the soil. Calcium, magnesium and most of the minor plant food elements are contained in the liming materials. Generally, liming materials are not regarded as fertilizers. However, they should be looked upon as such when applied to soils low in calcium or magnesium.

Applying aglime makes certain plant food elements in the soil more available to plants. There is evidence that plants take up more phosphorus and nitrogen in properly limed soils. Other nutrients are likely affected. Thus, greater returns are obtained from fertilizers when the soil has been properly treated with lime.

In some soils, structure is improved by the use of lime. Soil structure refers to the arrangement of soil particles which has an effect on the soil's physical condition.

Certain weeds cannot thrive in soils that have been limed. This reduces cost of cultivation and increases the amount of fertility available to the crop.

Aglime is essential for best results from legumes. Not only is growth increased, but the amount of nitrogen that the plants add to the soil is raised when liberal quantities of aglime are present. Alfalfa, for example, is one of the heaviest feeders on calcium.

Liming is a beneficial practice in conjunction with green manuring. An acid soil is unfavorable for decomposition of green manuring crops, and for changing the nitrogen in the organic matter to a form used by plants.

Considering the many values of aglime, no one should overlook this basic soil requirement — agricultural limestone!

Japan 'Rockets' Into Space Race

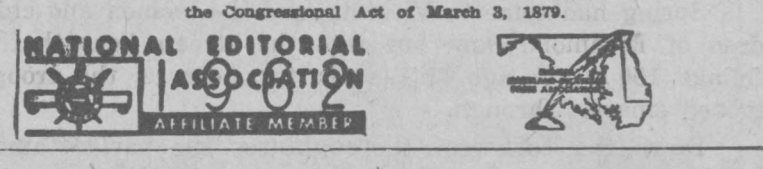

Third-ranking power in rocketry may well be Japan. The country first began making rockets in 1955 and now has reached the stage where its scientists are considering space exploration efforts that can be exceeded only by Russia and the United States. From a new space center in the region of Kagoshima in southern Japan a rocket called Lambda (eleventh letter of the Greek alphabet) is expected to be fired on a horizontal flight of 1,900 miles. The rocket is 26 feet in diameter and develops 42 tons of thrust. Another rocket, called the Mu, capable of carrying a man into space, will be ready by 1965.

British bird watchers claim a record fight for a seabird called the Manx shearwater. The bird was banded with No. 2057768 on the island of Skoholm, off the southern tip of Wales, on Sept. 9, 1960. In March, 1962 it was found dead on a beach in Adelaide, Australia — 20,000 miles from Wales. The black-and-white hook-billed shearwaters are related to the petrels and albatrosses. . . . 120,000,000 gallons of water spill over the U. S. and Canadian cataracts of Niagara Falls every minute.

Pigs that run through natural gas pipelines in the Southwest aren't edible but they do squeal. It's the sound made by these heavy metal cylinders covered with wire brushes as they are pushed through the line by the flow of gas, cleaning foreign matter from the walls. Job done, the pigs are turned into branch sidings by seven-ton "pig diverters." These huge units, made by Tube Turns, are the heaviest pipe fittings of their kind ever made. The diverters shunt the pigs out of the line and the gas flows on unimpeded.

Frying eggs on a sidewalk is old hat. On Venus, you could broil a steak. Temperature there is estimated at 600 degrees F., 50 degrees hotter than your oven broiler. . . . U. S. family income, on the average, will increase from the present $6,800 to $8,200 by 1971, according to the National Planning Association. And, the NPA says, 42.3 per cent of that income will be spent on services, including medical and dental care.

MEET DAVID HUME

Democratic Candidate for Governor

"He is a man of high principle, an eminent conservationist, a lawyer of broad experience, a leader in many civic causes, and a political campaigner of proved ability."
Washington Post

"He (Mahoney) is as unwilling as the Governor to challenge the slot machine lobby in a legislative battle to uproot the devices from the four Southern Maryland counties they still infest. Both men are wrong. The right side is supported by . . . David Hume, who perceives more clearly the States responsibility."
Baltimore Evening Sun

"Observers tend to sell Hume short around the State, but his star should rise as he becomes more known . . ."
Lexington Park Enterprise

"He is possessed of brilliant intellect, unbounding energy, an unquenchable thirst for knowledge and evident ambition for public service. Add to these characteristics his demonstrated courage in being forthright on public issues . . ."
La Plata Times Crescent

"If David Hume could talk personally with every Democratic voter we do not believe there would be any doubt about the outcome of the Democratic Primary next spring."

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

By Max Aronoff, Director
The New School of Music
Philadelphia, Pa.

Your Child And Music

Preparing your child to love music is one of your most important responsibilities as a parent. Every child is musical; the vital question is whether you as a parent are willing to take the trouble to train his ear, develop his sense of rhythm, and above all, accustom him to beautiful musical sounds.

I see scores of young children in our preparatory courses each year. The amazing difference is quite evident between a youngster who is growing up in a musical environment and the one who comes from a home where music is never performed and rarely heard. Early exposure to classical music is extremely important, more important than parents generally recognize.

When new parents come to members of our faculty for advice, we urge them to continue playing classical music on their phonographs, radios or home instruments while their infants are in the nursery. Make the first sounds your baby can distinguish musical sounds. A little later, as he grows bigger, play rhythm games with him—even the traditional Pat-a-Cake can develop his feeling for musical rhythms. Sing to him, play to him, and encourage his own tiny attempts to sing or to exercise the family piano.

All kinds of homemade instruments can be improvised for the toddler's delight and instruction. If mother can stand it, pots and pans make marvelous practice drums. Incidentally, if the mother is a pianist herself, there is definitely no reason why she should not help her young child explore the keyboard.

Giving a youngster his own phonograph records is another excellent psychological maneuver to foster his interest in good music. When my son was four, I started presenting him with his own recordings of Mozart, Bach, Beethoven and the other great composers. The records were worn-out specimens from my library, but my son coveted them and developed a lasting appreciation of music that was once considered "unappealing" to the young.

If children are accustomed to good music, they can also appreciate concerts as a surprising early age. Perhaps you live near a large city with a symphony that schedules youth concerts. Also, take advantage of the recitals by touring soloists and ensembles.

(Mr. Aronoff, violinist with the famous Curtis String Quartet, will discuss music lessons for children in a future column.)

All-Electric School To Be Built

A "first" in Montgomery County, Maryland this year will be the construction of the first all-electric school building, the Woodfield Elementary School, at Woodfield, Md.

The construction of this school also creates a "first" for the Potomac Edison System since it will be the first all-electric school in the area served by this electric company.

The total electric concept is a strong and permanent trend in modern school construction. The key to the overall concept is electric heating. In the total electric school, electricity is the sole source of energy for light, heat and power.

One of the primary features of electric heating is the substantial savings derived from the installation of the heating system. The cost of construction of the school building is kept down because deep foundations, chimneys or stacks are not required. With an electric heating system, schools are able to build better buildings for less money.

In Montgomery County, electric heating has been incorporated in several schools when additions have been made to the present building. These additions have had individual electric room heating, but the entire building has not been converted to an all-electric school. The Woodfield Elementary School will be a unique addition to the Montgomery County School system.

James H. Sheldon, director of construction for the Montgomery County School Board, said that they plan to break ground for the new school building in the very near future and to have the work completed by January, 1963. He said that they hope to have enough of the work completed by September of this year in order to have a partial enrollment of students in the school at that time.

This modern, one-story building will have eight classrooms and a kindergarten. The building is designed for expansion and will eventually have 24 classrooms. It will be of masonry construction, with 20,232 square feet and 240,900 cubic feet. The building will cost approximately $299,500.

There are approximately 124 schools in Montgomery, which is located adjacent to Washington, D. C., one of the fastest growing sections of the country.

Sheldon said that the Montgomery County School Board has been successful in keeping "reasonably in step with the growing requirements" but that there is always a need for extra classrooms. In some areas in the lower grades, the schools are filled and in some places, makeshift quarters are used.

Because of its electric power, the total electric school is destined to be the most important architectural influence in school construction in the '60s. Valuable floor space is not designated for boiler rooms but is utilized to accommodate more students of equipment. Individual room heating controls provide more comfort in the separate classrooms.

The Woodville school will have all-electric equipment, including self-contained classroom unit ventilators, cooking equipment, lighting, baseboard heat and automatic temperature controls.

Men! If you are 62 or older, you may be entitled to social security benefits now.

This reminder comes from W. S. King, Manager of the Hagerstown District Office who explained that, as a result of the 1961 changes in the social security law, it is now possible for men as well as women to draw reduced benefits at age 62. The effective date of this change was August 1961.

When asked if all men should file for benefits at 62, King pointed out that most men who are over 62 and still working for high earnings would be better off to wait until they are 65 to file for full benefits. He explained that high earnings would prevent payment of reduced benefits.

The primary purpose of this new provision, he stated, was to enable workers who retire between 62 and 65 or workers in this age group whose earnings are low for any number of reasons to start receiving benefits immediately. This is in line with basic social security philosophy which is to partially replace lost income as a result of retirement or disability.

Mr. King went on to say that once a man elects reduced payments, his benefit rate will remain reduced even after he reaches age 65. However, for most men it will be many years before they would lose money by filing early. Most men feel that the immediate income outweighs any possible loss of benefits in the distant future.

Each man has to make his own choice either to file early or to wait until he is 65. Mr. King said that the staff at the Hagerstown office will be able to give each man detailed information on the amount of benefits he would be able to receive and give other facts to assist men in making their decision. He urged all men under 65 who feel that they may qualify for reduced benefits to come to the office. There he can discuss his individual case with an experienced member of the social security staff.

CATS TOP DOGS
Cats outnumber dogs in this country, according to a recent survey. It estimates that some 12,000,000 families own about 25,500,000 cats, while approximately 17,900,000 families own about 24,130,000 dogs.

"Now here's the plan. John, you remove the paint cans. Mary, you remove the magazines. Mabel, you remove the newspapers--"

"And fourth, my Lord, when we've finished, you keep it clean."

Another "FIRST" for the Farmer-Owners of Southern States Cooperative

Mark up another big "first" for the farmer-owners of Southern States Cooperative as the first load of feed goes out to a patron's bulk-storage from Southern States' brand new, advance-design feed mill at Baltimore — "Tomorrow's Feed Mill, Here Today!"

"Turn left at the big tree." Truck enters drive-way of Lee Barnhard's Woodlawn Farm near Olney, Maryland. Here, 3500 laying hens are waiting to convert "the first load" into added profit for him.

Lee Barnhard (center) watches while "the first load" is air-hosed into his bulk feed bins. Thus ends a historic first for farmers in the Baltimore mill area — the first of countless future deliveries of Southern States top quality "feeds for every need."

If you are not using Southern States Feeds now is a great time to start!

Where Lies Responsibility?
When JFK and associates speak of the nation's need and requirements in various 'areas', they point frequently to the responsibility of the nation. For instance, the President told Congress a few weeks ago that the nation "falls far short of its responsibility" in meeting its health needs. As a generalization, this observation may have its merits, for our leaders ought to hold up goals before us that are attainable. Responsibility is a strong word. It is a key word that needs to be spoken in a statesman-like manner. The most significant area in which the concept of responsibility needs to be developed today is in the political area, where an administration's zeal for popular approval and vote appeal leads it to demand action and lots of it. It apparently believes that something must be in the Congressional hopper for everybody. We are rapidly reaching the stage where each citizen must determine whether this is the kind of government he wants, a government that offers Utopia in exchange for increasing power.

Let Government Do It

When Mr. Kennedy talks about responsibility, he usually means that the nation (taxpayers) can have whatever they are willing to pay for or borrow money for. This, in itself, is a misdirected notion, for some of the things we need most can be purchased with no amount of money. But the idea that everybody can be healthy, nobody unemployed, and all of us secure comprises a dream we have not realized. After nearly 30 years of managed economy and many billions of dollars later, we arrive at a point where certain truths stand out clear and bold.

One of these truths is that the more the Government does for more and more people, the more self-defeating these arrangements become. The assuming of too much responsibility by government results in irresponsibility on the part of individuals just as is being experienced in Russian agriculture. The Communist government promised to feed its people, but the system brought only irresponsibility and the farmers are not producing. The whole Communist system rests upon the assumption of power through promises of big performance.

Increased Power

The glowing promises of power-packed political regimes are seldom realized. What they offer never compensates for what is given up in terms of freedoms and individual responsibility. What we are saying is that when our government asks for more and more responsibility, this becomes, finally, a matter of irresponsibility. From every point of view, fiscal or moral, the government which restrains its impulses toward power is the one most responsible. Our government is not restraining itself, but is leaping forward toward increasing power with each passing year despite the Constitutional limitations upon it.

American labor, long the recipient of federal nurture and protection, awake the other day to this realization. Labor Secretary Goldberg said that the federal government could no longer allow labor-management disputes to be settled "on the old testing grounds of clash of selfish interests" but would have the courage to draw "guidelines" to protect the national interest. The screams rose to a crescent do at AFL-CIO headquarters. This would be quite incompatible, George Meany said, with the idea of free collective bargaining. Industry spokesmen agreed.

The Grab For Power

Mr. Meany went on to accuse the Labor Secretary of "infringing on the rights of free people and free society." He declared that Mr. Goldberg's guidelines would be "a step in the direction of saying that the Federal Government should tell either or both sides what to do." This proposal should have come as no surprise to Mr. Meany or anyone else. Once allowed to put its head in the tent, the camel soon ousts the Arab. It is the same with government.

The Secretary's proposal is quite in harmony with the extension of federal power during the past 30 years. It is perhaps not likely that the present government, as obligated as it is to the political power of labor, will be disdainful of labor's interests. But that makes also the point that deciding what is the "national interest" may be too much responsibility for the government to assume. The whole direction is wrong. It is the people who need to accept more responsibility, not the government. We all need to take seriously Mr. Kennedy's inaugural admonition to ask what we can do for our government, not what it can do for us.

FOREST PARK OPENS SUNDAY

New Forest Park, Hanover, Pa., will open for the season Sunday, April 22. There will be a free show in the bandshell by Merle Everettes and the Hilltop Harmonizers. The school tickets will be printed in the newspapers, and cut the ticket out of the paper and bring it to the park. The tickets are good for free gifts, by Royale Dairy Ice Cream, free Baker's pretzels, free soft drinks, free rides, contest, prizes and skating. The school days are: Hanover School Day, Saturday, April 28; Adams County School Day, Saturday, May 5; York County School Day, Saturday, May 12; Maryland School Day, Saturday, May 19 and 26; and Saturday, June 2, Everybody's School Day.

"Saying It With Flowers" —By Dick Mansfield

Easter nosegay of gladness—or Easter bouquet for sadness—this decision rests with you Mr. Motorist and Mr. Pedestrian, warns The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission. Your obligation to walk and drive in a safe, sane, and intelligent manner is doubly accented during this holy season, but it should not stop there. Love for your fellowman should be the keynote to follow at all times. The motorist has a deep obligation—he never drives alone—his passengers, the people in cars he passes, pedestrians who cross his path, and the family waiting at home—all depend upon his driving behavior. The pedestrian likewise has his obligations—he never walks alone. Therefore, why not learn to live safely by driving and walking according to prescribed rules and regulations. Obey the law—show courtesy and drive defensively—by doing this you cannot help but be aware of your moral responsibilities. Set an example for others to follow. We need your support. Can we count on you?

Leading Lady in the Fashion Parade

Dirndl skirts are back again and how wonderful they look on girls from six to well—sixty. So fresh. So perky. Cottons, linen-like rayons and many synthetics have all taken to this young new look this spring. But will they stay fresh and new looking after laundering? Even those fabrics with special crisp finishes tend to get limp and tired after a few trips to the washer; they need a little extra attention in the form of starching. Not old-fashioned boardy starch that takes measuring, mixing and cooking, but a modern cold water starch you pour directly from the box into the final rinse according to directions. Washer starching takes only a few minutes but, oh, the difference in the result! The makers of the starch, Niagara, suggest using a small boxful for the contents of a whole washer load (even less for a partial load) to get a lovely crisp finish that not only restores the new look but also keeps dirt from penetrating and makes subsequent washings easier.

Can WE get BANK LOANS?

The answer is YES! Whoever you are, whatever you do... you'll find it easy and simple to arrange a low-cost loan at this bank to meet your needs.

Every day, prudent men and women from every walk of life are taking advantage of our low rates to borrow money to pay taxes, insurance premiums, medical and dental expenses and other worthwhile purposes. Come in and find out all about this friendly, sensible way to borrow money.

Campus Comment

Saint Joseph College students have found that the history of Emmitsburg is quite fascinating. This town has seen important people and events in American history, and the delightful side-lights in its story are numberless.

For example, in 1786 the population consisted of seven families and the town was called "Poplar Fields." During that summer, the men of the village gathered at Hockinsmith's Tavern to change the name. "Emmitsburg" or "Emmettsburg" was proposed and the men cheered wildly and threw their hats in the air at the suggestion. We don't assume that they didn't like "Poplar Fields" but that they had great respect for William Emmitt, a large landholder.

Emmitsburg is naturally linked with the Blue Ridge mountains. At the top of the mountain is a peak known to all of us as "Indian's Lookout." Tradition has it that during the American Revolutionary War the Indians used it to scout for the British.

Later, in 1861, the Union Army had made tentative plans to capture the peak as a possible vantage point against the Confederates, but General John F. Reynolds, in command of the Union First Corps, passed it by and marched on to Gettysburg. Earlier in the year General Phillip De Trobriand had gotten permission to use the cupola of Saint Joseph Central House as a watch tower against the "Rebels." Some of the interesting human events of Emmitsburg are recorded in a little journal written in 1909 by James Helman. Here are a few of the incidents:

Tomes Creek
"We call it Tom's Creek, but the name is actually Tomes Creek, named for an Indian tribe that lived alongside it. One often hears that it was named after a half-Indian named Tom. But he was really the son of an Indian and a Negro. His mother named him Tomes for her tribe and the father was called Bones. So—Tomes Bones!"

We enjoyed these two excerpts particularly:
Military At Mount Saint Mary's
"Mount Saint Mary's College boys had two companies prior to 1860. One, the older boys, uniformed and equipped with rifles and the others with bows and arrows. Regularly on Washington's Birthday they came to town to parade. It was a gala day for all—the band was a fine one led by James Hickey and other professors. The president of the college and other officials accompanied them in a fine carriage."

Pic-Nics
"Around 1860 and earlier it was customary for the young men to invite the ladies of the town to picnics. The ladies provided the provisions and the men provided the transportation. They would go to Split Rock usually and spend the day dancing. Where are the social relations of today compared with those of the by-gones?"

These are just several of the many stories of the history of Emmitsburg. The citizens of the town have every right to be proud of its history. It certainly is an interesting one.

Rocky Ridge 4-H Plans Food Sale

A Bake Sale will be held April 28 at the Emmitsburg fire hall for the benefit of the Rocky Ridge Progressive 4-H Club. Knives will also be sold in an effort to boost the club's treasury, it was decided at a meeting of the group held at the home of Gary Valentine last Friday.

Ronald Krom called the meeting to order. The roll call of naming "A Type of Livestock" was answered by 32 members present. There were four new members present.

Discussion about setting up a booth and a float then followed. The group talked about the completed basketball season in which the team was undefeated. The club decided to again have a judging team, and practice was scheduled for James Hill's farm on April 17.

There was some discussion on planting pine trees for a club project. Members taking cattle to the McDonough School Fair were announced. Mr. Keilholtz informed the club that the group would have to supply soft drinks for the County Livestock Tour which will be held soon. Following the meeting, there was a garden demonstration by the Smith brothers; Ken Krom gave a talk on lime and fertilizer and Mr. Keilholtz, the leader, gave an interesting demonstration on making a rope halter.

Refreshments were then served by the Valentine family. The next meeting will be held at the home of Carol Saylor on May 11.

Mount Nine Downs Baltimore

Baltimore U. and Mount St. Mary's were locked in a pitcher's duel for 10 innings Tuesday, but the Mounts outscored the Bees 3-2 in the 11th and won their first game of the season, 4-3.

The score was tied 1-1 going into the 11th inning. Baltimore U. quickly scored two runs, one coming in on Norm Knoerlein's double. Knoerlein, who had three hits in five appearances at the plate, then moved to third on a passed ball and scored on a fielder's choice.

The Mounts bounced back in their half of the 11th with three runs. Bob Krauss led off the inning with a double, Woody Stoner took first when hit by a pitch and Ernie Bell walked, loading the bases.

George Amoss also was hit by a pitch and took first, forcing in the first run. Charlie Roy followed up with a line single which drove in Stoner and Bell.

The victory brought Mount St. Mary's league and overall record to 1-2, while the loss made Baltimore U.'s record even at 3-3.

Nursing Course

St. Joseph College has announced the opening of a new division of nursing, offering a four-year basic course, the first four-year program in nursing to be introduced in Maryland. A bachelor of science degree will be conferred upon the satisfactory completion of the course. The introduction of this course enables St. Joseph College to carry on the traditions in nursing of Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton its foundress.

Girl Scouts Meet

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 72 met on Tuesday with their leaders, Mrs. Ralph Ohler and Mrs. Charles Shorb. The meeting was called to order by the president, Dale Elder, and was opened with the Flag Ceremony. Final results of the Cookie Sale were announced and discussed. The girls then colored eggs and fixed Easter baskets from plastic tomato containers which had been collected. The meeting closed with the Friendship Circle.

Mount Track Team Wins

Mt. St. Mary's track team won its third dual meet in four outings by outclassing Loyola of Baltimore 91-31 Monday afternoon here as two new Mount school records were established.

Duncan Bossle and John Dolan who won two events apiece, each set a school mark. Bossle streaked to a 51.2 clocking in the 440-yard dash and Dolan turned in a 25.4 mark in the 180 low hurdles to set the records. Dolan had previously set the record in the hurdles at 25.7 on Saturday against Catholic U.

Bossle jumped 23 feet to win the broad jump and Dolan won the high hurdles in 16.2.

In the Saturday meet with Catholic U here, the Mount trackmen easily defeated the Cardinals 81 2-3:39 1-3.

Dolan won the 120 high hurdles in 15.3 and the 220 low hurdles in 25.7. Duncan Bossle won the 100-yard dash and the broad jump.

Correction

In last week's writup concerning the Emmitsburg Library reopening it was erroneously stated that among the guests attending were Mrs. C. Burton Cannon Jr., County Commissioner; Mrs. Donald Woods, candidate for county treasurer and Mrs. George Stup, candidate for the clerk of court. The candidates themselves, all males, were present and not their wives.

License Refused
The State Dept. of Motor Vehicles this week announced it had refused a reissue of a driver's license to Kenneth D. Peterson, R3, Emmitsburg.

ASK YOURSELF

Why have we fallen behind other towns in local progress?

Why did Emmitsburg have to pay for Traffic Lights, Curbing and Gutters on state-maintained Roads while other towns received these improvements at the State's expense?

Why were we about to lose State benefits?

Do you want another Tar and Chip Program by the Roads Commission?

I promise you this will not happen if I am re-elected to the Office of Town Commissioner, Tuesday, April 24. I respectfully solicit your vote.
