Halloween was observed here Wednesday in a relative state of quietness. Very few incidents of violence or vandalism were reported and little property damage was observed. Several youths were apprehended for setting off dynamite caps and other acts of depradation but generally speaking the occasion was a gentle one. The recently-adopted curfew aided police in maintaining peace and quiet and few individuals were observed on the streets after 11 o'clock that night. The children appeared content to participate in the parade and indulge in tricking or treating activities. It seems apparent that the old rowdy-dowdy days of observing Halloween are fast becoming a passé.

Your money not going as far as it used to? Well here's one of the reasons. The cost of living rose again during September. The rise represents the highest monthly increase in more than four years. Meat prices were generally attributable to the hike in the cost of living. Seems as though Midwest farmers have been holding back livestock from the market in order to effect higher prices for their product. To date the only increase has been to the consumer, you and me. This boycott of the eastern market is beginning to have its effect on the cattle producers though and some have weakened and shipped their livestock to market. Just as soon as enough animals are released from the "freeze" then prices will become much more to our liking and more suitable to our pocketbook.

The latest word on the by-pass of Emmitsburg was issued this week by a State Roads Commission spokesman who said the by-pass is included in next year's work schedule. Just when the work will commence is conjectural but it is generally thought that the plans call for the construction to be ready for the Gettysburg Centennial sometime next summer. Indications are that bids for the project will be advertised in the near future, 1963 being only a few short weeks away.

Some good fiscal news pertinent to our county was released this week when it was announced that 1961 was closed with a surplus of $120,000 on the books. This indeed is good news with numerous other counties throughout the state and country ending the year with considerable indebtedness. With this surplus it is hardly conceivable that our county government is considering any increase in the tax rate.

Fair To Benefit Hospital

An all-day Community Christmas Fair, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Hanover General Hospital, will be held at the YMCA auditorium in Hanover on Monday, Nov. 19.

The event will begin at 10 a. m. and close at 9 p. m. Proceeds will go to the hospital building fund.

Mrs. James Winebrenner, chairman, said that the talents and originality of hundreds of residents have been recruited to insure the project's success.

Among the features of the fair will be a country store, complete with apple barrel and pot belly stove, an auction, mystery packages, home baked and canned foods and Christmas gifts and ornaments. Lunch and supper will be served in the diningroom of the association home.

Baby Buried
Funeral services were held Saturday morning from the Wilson Funeral Home, Emmitsburg, followed by a Mass of the Angels at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, for Christopher Patrick Stoner, 22-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Allen Stoner, 21 E. Main St., who died at his home Thursday morning. The Rev. Fr. Louis Storms officiated and interment was made in the church cemetery. The pallbearers were: Michael Frock, Michael Byard, Michael Shorb and Thomas L. Topper.

The first successful sea voyage by steamboat was made by John Stevens' Phoenix in 1809.

Father Fives New Mount Alumni Secretary

Rev. Carl J. Fives, S.T.L., Mt. St. Mary's College, has been appointed as the executive secretary of the Mt. St. Mary's National Alumni Assn., according to Rt. Rev. Robert R. Kline, Ph.D., college president.

The new secretary is a graduate of both Mt. St. Mary's College and Seminary. He received his bachelor's degree in 1938 from the college and was ordained to the holy priesthood for the Diocese of Scranton in 1942.

Immediately following his ordination he returned to the faculty of the college as an instructor in mathematics and was also appointed as the coordinator of the Navy V-5 program which was in operation at the college until '44. After two years of post graduate work at the Catholic University of America in Washington, he received his Licentiate in Sacred Theology in 1945 and completed his course work toward his doctoral degree.

In 1949 Father Fives was elected as academic dean of the college, a position which he held until 1953, when he was elected as college treasurer. In June of 1959 he was succeeded by Rev. John J. McGovern as treasurer and was subsequently appointed to the post of director of guidance.

Father Fives succeeds the Rev. Hugh J. Phillips, B.L.S., who served as alumni secretary for many years. Father Phillips, who is the college librarian, will continue to serve as director of the Grotto which is a national shrine, and as college chaplain.

Spook Parade Draws Many

Cold weather failed to dampen the spirits of Emmitsburg youngsters as they turned out in voluminous numbers for the annual Halloween Parade Wednesday evening.

An estimated 400 participated in the parade and vied for the many prizes offered by the sponsors, the Francis X. Elder American Legion Post. The parade was led by the Legion color guard, Emmitsburg Municipal Band, Police cars and fire trucks. Following the event soft drinks and ginger bread were served.

Thurmont Police Chief Dies Suddenly

Police Chief James R. Dubel of Thurmont died in his sleep of natural causes at 4:30 a.m. Sunday morning. He was in apparent good health when he retired Saturday night after an active day at his office.

At age 45, he has been the Thurmont Police Chief for more than 10 years. A member of the Police Chiefs Association of Maryland, he was also a Deputy Sheriff of Frederick County.

Chief Dubel served in the Marine Corps for four years from 1934 to 1938. A former member of the Acacia Lodge No. 33 in Anacosta, Montana and a member of the Enoch Chapter and the Enoch Council of the Masons in Frederick, he was a guardian of Job's Daughters in Thurmont and was very active in the organization of the Eastern Star Lodge in Thurmont several years ago.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon from the Evangelical Reformed Church at Thurmont at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Lloyd L. Wolf assisted by Rev. Richard A. Ruoff. Interment was in Mount Olivet Cemetery, Frederick.

UNICEF Drive Successful Here

Were you home when the children came with their greeting, "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" Tuesday night? Perhaps you missed the opportunity to share in this world service to children. It is not too late. If you desire to contribute anything, send it to Mrs. John Chatlos, Emmitsburg, and it will be sent to the proper place.

The rain may have dampened the children, but it did not dampen their spirits as they went out with their milk cartons to collect pennies for UNICEF. A total of $76.80 was collected that night with more coming in from those who were not home. Think what that gift can do. One penny will provide vaccine to protect a child from tuberculosis as it will provide five glasses of nourishing milk vital to growth. Five pennies will provide the penicillin to cure a child of a crippling tropical disease called yaws.

UNICEF is the world's largest international organization entirely devoted to the health and welfare of children and mothers. It cooperates with other United Nations agencies to combat disease and malnutrition in underdeveloped areas where illness and hunger are taken for granted. Aided countries match every UNICEF dollar with an average $2.50 and eventually take over the programs begun under the UNICEF sponsorship.

UNICEF has a record to be proud of: Over 103 million children vaccinated against TB; over 27 million persons cured of yaws, a crippling tropical disease; four million children saved from the blindness caused by trachoma; millions of children and mothers given a better chance of survival through shipments of powdered milk.

Those who helped with the "Trick or Treat" were Rachel Watkins, Betty Tokar, Gloria Fisher, Dennis Hess, Carolyn Wierman, Shirely Wierman, Jeffrey Wierman, Tina Saylor, Judy Hardman, Phyllis Chatlos, Rudy Chatlos, Sandy Wagerman, Beverly Kemp, Calvin Chatlos, Ronnie Wierman, Sheila Chatlos, Ann Umbel, John Martin, Edith Martin, Jimmy Keilholtz, and Linda Keilholtz.

The children met at the Presbyterian Church and returned there for cider and cookies. Those who helped at the church were Mrs. Sam Hays, Mrs. Benjamin Ogle, Mrs. A. A. Martin, Miss Ina Martin, Miss Margaret Franklin, Mrs. John Chatlos, Mr. Fred Wolfe and Mrs. George Martin provided the transportation for the children to outlying areas. Mr. and Mrs. John Geharth from Rocky Ridge came to help with the program. Mr. Geharth has been helping with this Halloween project for several years in the northern end of the county. He reported that the total collection for this year from Emmitsburg will exceed that of any previous year.

Thank you for your gift to this international project.

Group Backs Vote On Question 7

A 20-man team is carrying out a last-minute, hard-driving, statewide educational effort in Maryland, to get out a favorable vote for Question 7 on election day.

Passage of Question 7 will tighten loopholes in the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law and help end abuses which the Maryland Legislature uncovered at its last session when it passed Senate Bill 19, Gerald S. Wise, state chairman of Citizens for Protecting Unemployment Benefit Funds, said in announcing the appointments.

"All Maryland is covered by county and sectional leaders who are seeking to bring to the public's attention the vital need, for Maryland's economic growth, of passage of this important referendum.

"Failure of Question 7 means that Maryland's already high unemployment insurance rate will go even higher than it is now—second highest in the nation and 30 per cent higher than that of the average of all the other states. We shall lose potential investment in our state by outside industries and businesses unless we vote for Question 7. More, our own present business and industrial establishments hesitate to build more plants here because of the unattractiveness of Maryland's present unemployment insurance rate.

"Deserving unemployed will be taken care of better when Question 7 is approved by Maryland's voters. The people who simply don't want to work but to live off these funds that belong to our decent and honorable citizens won't get away with it any longer."

Mount Runners Win

The Mount St. Mary's College cross-country runners won their fourth victory in five engagements by taking a triangular affair from Randolph-Macon and Gallaudet Saturday here.

The Mountaineers had 27 points, Gallaudet 39 and Randolph-Macon 58.

GOP Rally Here Well Attended

A highly successful Republican rally was staged last Thursday night at Mt. Manor Restaurant by the Emmitsburg GOP District Committee with almost 200 persons attending.

All local candidates were in attendance and were introduced. The speaker for the occasion was William Kyle, state manager for Newton I. Steers, who is Republican candidate for congressman-at-large.

Mr. Kyle emphasized that for the first time in the history of Maryland, voters will elect a congressman at large as well as a congressman from each district. "The theme of Mr. Steers is vote for two in '62," he stated.

The manager also stated that Steers more than a week ago advocated some sort of peace patrol in the Caribbean such as is now in effect by our government. Steers has advocated bringing industry to Maryland and is against Federal intervention in local governmental affairs.

Speaking for Frank Small, Jr., gubernatorial candidate, was Miss Helen Remsburg, and Mehrl F. Wachter represented Edward T. Miller, senatorial candidate. J. Harold Hooper spoke on behalf of Congressman Charles McC. Mathias Jr.

Chairman of the rally was Sam Hays, and assisting as co-chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Eyster. Mr. Wachter, chairman of the GOP Central Committee, announced that a rally has been planned for Walkersville on Nov. 3.

Other members of the Central Committee present were Willard Koogler, William B. Crum and Edgar B. Palmer.

Coster, S.J., recently named prefect of discipline and athletic moderator at the school.

This will be the first head coaching job for Sullivan who was named to the Associated Press Little All-America team in 1957, his senior year at Mount St. Mary's.

While at the Emmitsburg college Sullivan was a member of the All Mason-Dixon Conference team for four years and named most valuable player in the NCAA small college tournament in 1957. He also was selected as the most valuable collegiate player in Maryland when he set a State scoring record of 1,170 points in his senior season.

Important Issue Before Voters

When Maryland voters go to the polls next week to cast votes for their favorite candidates, they will also have the opportunity of voting on an issue which they themselves have placed on the ballot. Last year they signed a petition to prevent enactment of Senate Bill 271 and have it placed on referendum in this November's election. SB 271 would have created the new 8th Congressional District by simply carving Prince George's and Howard Counties out of the old 5th District.

Maryland's Congressional Districts, from which Congressmen are elected to the U. S. House of Representatives, have been badly out of proportion for some years, with several Congressional Districts having populations between two and three times the size of other Districts. Obviously this is not fair representation. There has been some grumbling about this situation in the past but the whole issue was brought pointedly to a head when the national census was taken in 1960. This census showed that Maryland was entitled to another Congressman.

Instead of the 7 Congressmen that Maryland had during the 1950's, Maryland was now entitled to 8, and a Congressional District had to be set up for this 8th Congressman.

Of the 7 Congressional Districts, 3 had populations of less than 300,000, and 3 others had over 600,000. It seemed that in creating the 8th Congressional District the perfect time had at last arrived to try to even up Maryland's Congressional Districts. However, the Legislature merely divided the largest of the over-populated Districts, the 5th District, with a population of over 700,000, gave a couple of Precincts to Baltimore City and set up Prince George's and Howard Counties from the old 5th as the new 8th Congressional District. This left the old 5th District, as well as the 1st, 3rd, and 4th Districts with between 200,000 and 300,000 in population. However, it did little to alleviate our problem here in Frederick County. As part of the 6th District, we have one representative for over 600,000 people. In the 1st District, there is only 200,000 people to their representative. This means, a voter in the 1st district has three times the voice in our Federal Government that a Frederick Countyian does. To make matters worse, the 6th and 2nd Districts are among the fastest growing areas in the state. Only a complete redistricting job could have corrected the widespread inequities among Maryland's Congressional Districts.

Because of the unfair representation inherent in SB 271, the Maryland League of Women Voters spearheaded a drive to defeat it, and the League was assisted by other groups and individuals. The drive met with enthusiastic support and in a short time over three times the necessary signatures were obtained to defeat the Bill and have it placed on referendum for the vote of the people of Maryland this fall. Because of the success of this effort SB 271 was temporarily stopped from becoming law. It also caused the new 8th Congressman to run at large. To permanently kill SB 271, it will be necessary for a NO vote on the Referendum Item, which is Question 6, in the November election.

One of the difficulties in defeating a Referendum item is that it is more automatic to vote YES on something than to vote NO. But once the voters remember that Question 6 was placed on the ballot because of the unfair representation under SB 271, it is expected that they will turn in a large vote AGAINST this Question to defeat it once and for all.

The Frederick County League of Women Voters has undertaken a vigorous campaign to bring the issues of redistricting to the attention of as many Frederick County voters as possible. Their speakers bureau have spoken to the Optimist Clubs, Kiwanis, Junior Women's Club, Zonta, and many other civic organizations.

Anticipate Light Voting Tuesday

Light voting is predicted for Tuesday's gubernatorial election and it is doubtful if 40% of the eligible voters turn out to cast their ballot for governor and other state offices. Competent observers report public apathy in the county and state election. So spirited was the state's primary election last May that the wounds have not healed and indifference has replaced interest.

There appear to be no real issues county-wide involved in the Nov. 6 election and the 36 candidates for county office are expected to receive a relatively light vote from the county's 30,000 eligible voters.

Little publicity has been said on what ordinarily would be considered as county issues such as school spending, roads program, the tar base, inventory tax, a warden for the County Jail, industrial development, economic growth and others.

Most of the candidates have introduced themselves at party functions and some have touched on issues. But the general campaign grand appears to be based on honesty, efficiency, competency and enthusiasm for the office and its operation.

The local candidates who have ventured even the slightest mention of a campaign issue such as school spending, have been engulfed in the county's usual personality contest.

Veterans of both parties have said during the past month that no local issues will arise here. Most of them have trouble remembering the last time any heated debate arose over any local issue.

Little has been noted from candidates for state offices on views concerning the political appointment of magistrates, the jury system that permits jurymen, most of them laymen of the law, to decide both the law and the fact in court proceedings, slot machine and savings and loan regulation, redistricting and reapportionment.

Most of the campaign arguments have been based on past performances or condemnation of opponents, while little has been directed toward constructive programs of growth and improvement.

Maryland Democrats will carry a voter registration edge of better than 2½ to 1 over Republicans into next week's election. Democrats in Frederick County outnumber Republicans by about 4,000, according to figures released at the close of registration by the Board of Election Supervisors.

The following candidates will appear on the November 6 ballot.

Scouts Attend Camporee

The members of the local Scout Troop and Explorer Post of the Boy Scouts attended the annual Fall Camporee of the Francis Scott Key District at Breezy Grove, south of Frederick, recently. The site is the M. J. Grove picnic area which was made available for this event.

The theme of the Camporee was "Fit For Tomorrow," the Physical Fitness Program adopted by the Boy Scouts of America.

Two two-hour periods on Saturday were devoted to such activities as: 50 yard dash; push-ups; baseball throw; standing broad jump; and a short cross-country run.

Each scout was provided with an event sheet on which was indicated whether or not the individual standard was met. Consideration was given to the weight and age of this event.

The Saturday night campfire was a highlight of the Camporee. Scouts of the Catholic faith attended Mass at St. John's Church, Frederick. Scouts of Protestant faith attended church service on the Camporee grounds. The service was conducted by Samuel L. Edwards, Intern Pastor, United Presbyterian Church, Frederick.

At the closing ceremony at 1:30 Sunday afternoon each Scout patrol was presented with a participation ribbon, and each Troop and Post received a large ribbon. Each individual Scout and leader received a specially designed emblem to be worn on the scout uniform.

The two local units attending the Fall Camporee were: Troop 284, sponsored by the Emmitsburg Lions Club, Robert C. Simpson, Scoutmaster, and Explorer Post 265, Vigilant Hose Co., Martin Humerick, Camporee leader.

Both units were highly commended for their excellent camping and participation. Members of the Explorer Post also assisted with the administration of the Camporee, and in directing traffic.

County Health Clinic Given Check

A check for $800.00 was presented to the Frederick County Mental Health Clinic by the Maryland Association for Mental Health recently. Judge Jerome Robinson, president of the Association, noted that the funds were made available from the mental health campaign contributions by Frederick County residents. The campaign, held in May each year, is part of the nationwide Bell Ringer Drive for Mental Health.

In presenting the check to Dr. Forbes H. Burgess, Health Officer for Frederick County, Judge Robinson expressed the hope that the clinic would soon be able to add a psychiatric social worker and a psychiatrist for an additional day a week. This would permit the clinic to see more patients and to provide additional consultative services to the community.

The Health Department is also planning to increase nursing services to patients after discharge from the state mental hospitals according to Dr. Burgess. This program will, in time, require additional nursing service. It is hoped that by following up discharged patients and treating them, when needed, in the community, the readmission rates can be slow-

A board foot supposedly is a board that measures 1 inch thick, 12" wide and 12" long. But, as the old song goes, "It ain't necessarily so."

For example, 2 by 4s don't measure that at all but are 1 1/2 by 3 1/2 inches; 1 inch boards are 3/4 inch thick.

The explanation is simple: Cut originally the exact dimensions, most lumber is dressed before it leaves the saw mill. Planed smooth, it is marked "S4S," meaning "surfaced four sides." That's why the 2 x 4 you buy is 3/4 of an inch less than those dimensions.

FINISHED LUMBER SIZES (In Inches)

Table with 2 columns: Nominal and Actual. Rows include 1 x 2, 1 x 4, 1 x 6, 1 x 8, 1 x 10, 1 x 12, 2 x 4, 2 x 6, 2 x 8, 2 x 10, 2 x 12, 3 x 4, 3 x 6, 4 x 6.

Use right lumber size for accurate building and repairing.

This problem of size looms big when you want to use new lumber in an integral part of an old house. Dry lumber that doesn't shrink or swell is especially important in such remodeling work. Uneven walls and ceilings marred with cracks and bulges could result otherwise.

You can expect the least shrinkage in cedar and redwood. Moderate shrinkage is found in cypress, Douglas fir, cherry, chestnut, hemlock, pine, spruce and walnut.

The biggest shrinkers in drying are basswood, beech, elm, gum, birch, larch, oak and maple.

Many a wise how-to enthusiast has saved a lot of money by buying a poorer grade of lumber and dressing it up himself with a portable electric sander.

The Department of Mental Hygiene, according to Dr. Isadore Tuernk, its Commissioner, has proposed additional community psychiatric centers and facilities in order to halt this upward trend.

100 YEARS AGO

McCLELLAN ADVANCES; BRAGG ENDS INVASION

By Lon K. Savage

A Confederate campaign through Kentucky ended, and a Federal campaign into Virginia began 100 years ago this week.

In Kentucky, Confederate Gen. Braxton Bragg led his army and a long wagon train of supplies into the Cumberland Mountains, up through Cumberland Gap and down into Tennessee and Confederate territory. He had raised the hopes of Southerners everywhere when he had invaded the bluegrass state in mid-summer, but now Southern hearts fell as he pulled back, unsuccessful, into Tennessee.

In the East, Federal Gen. George B. McClellan, after six weeks of delay, finally crossed the Potomac River west of Washington onto Virginia soil again.

The two events occurred the same day—October 26.

Bragg's Retreat

Bragg retreated from Kentucky somewhat disillusioned. "The expectation that the Kentuckians would rise en masse with the coming of a force which would enable them to do so," he wrote, "alone justified an advance into that state . . . That expectation has been sadly disappointed."

Still, when Bragg reported to Richmond a few days later, he was able to relate some success from his adventure.

He had captured and brought out of Kentucky thousands of horses, cattle, and hogs—driving them on foot. His wagon train carried 50,000 barrels of pork and hundreds of thousands of yards of cloth and clothing.

Still, Bragg was never to completely live down the failure of the adventure. He had invaded Kentucky hoping to bring it into the Confederacy, and he had not done so. He had fought one major battle—the battle of Perryville—and though his army had inflicted more casualties than it had suffered, he had withdrawn after the battle—not the Yankees.

From then on, disappointed Southerners heaped criticism on Bragg, although President Jefferson Davis kept him in command. If it was any recompense, Federal Gen. Don Carlos Buell—Bragg's opponent in Kentucky—was relieved of command October 23 and replaced by Gen. Rosecrans because he, Buell, had failed to destroy Bragg's army. In Virginia

On the same day that Bragg passed through Cumberland Gap, McClellan's huge Army of the Potomac, 126,000 strong, began crossing the Potomac from Maryland into Virginia, and a new cry of "On to Richmond" began to rise in the North.

But Gen. Robert E. Lee, McClellan's longtime enemy, moved quickly to halt any such aspirations. As McClellan began his crossing, Lee messaged Richmond: "McClellan is moving more rapidly than usual, and it looks like an advance." Quickly, Lee's army moved out from Winchester, swooped south behind the Rapidan River and stepped neatly in between McClellan and Richmond.

Another campaign for the defense of Richmond had begun.

GRANT OPENS CAMPAIGN TO CAPTURE VICKSBURG

Gen. Ulysses S. Grant opened one of his most famous campaigns 100 years ago this week, a long, hard-fought campaign to capture Vicksburg, Miss., and to clear the Mississippi River of Confederates from end to end.

It was a small beginning—in fact, nothing more than a message from Grant to Gen. Henry W. Halleck, his commander in Washington. But Grant, himself, claims the message, on November 2, marks the beginning of the campaign. The end was still far off; in fact nearly a year and a series of serious battles would pass before Vicksburg finally would surrender.

Grant was in Jackson, Tenn. that November 2, and he knew the job awaiting him. Thanks to his victories at Forts Henry and Donelson, his and Gen. Don Carlos Buell's victory at Shiloh, Gen. John Pope's victory at Island No. 10 and the fall of Memphis, the Mississippi now was cleared of Confederates from its northern reaches to below Memphis. At New Orleans, too, the river was in Federal hands, and Federal troops sailed freely northward past Baton Rouge.

Vicksburg, alone, with its huge guns overlooking the river from the bluffs, was the bottleneck in Federal plans. Grant must take Vicksburg and cut the Confederacy in two. Forces

To do this, Grant had about 30,000 men that November 2, scattered through western Tennessee and northern Mississippi. He was opposed by an equal force commanded by Confederate Gen. J. C. Pemberton at Vicksburg, along the Tallahatchie River, Holly Springs, Miss., and Grand Junction, Tenn.

It was time to move, and Grant's message announced the movement: "I have commenced a movement on Grand Junction with three divisions from Corinth and two from Bolivar. Will leave here tomorrow and take command in person. If found practicable, I will go to Holly Springs, and, maybe, Grenada, completing railroad and telegraph as I go." Troops Move

And accordingly, next day, the Federal troops moved out southward and westward across the state line, into the Mississippi countryside. They were well equipped and rested from the pleasant and quiet months of September and October, and they moved forward with eagerness.

It was on this march that Grant's men strayed from their ranks, looted Southern homes of food, clothing and jewelry and, at times, set fire to buildings, leaving ruins behind them. Grant, according to one man with him, fully acknowledged that his men behaved abominably and made efforts to arrest the guilty persons. But he could not let the atrocities committed by his men stop his march southward.

Next week: Election Day.

Read Matthew 9:32-38.
The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few. (Matthew 9:37.)

When I visited a famous center for chest diseases in Boston, Massachusetts, I reflected upon its contributions in the field of surgery.

I thought also of one of its best surgeons going to India as a full-time missionary surgeon to teach and to heal. He could have remained with friends and relatives and probably amassed wealth and fame. He belongs in the great company of those unselfish persons who have made great sacrifices for good causes.

Many talented persons have no sense of duty; so they drift aimless through life. Even those of us with some vision of life's purpose have made negligible contributions to our homes, churches, and communities. Indeed, many times we have been burdens to others because of our self-centered lives.

We need to pause in our busy lives and listen for the "still small voice" so that our decision for tomorrow may be a better one. When we stop thinking in our selfish way, life will have new meaning.

Prayer
O God, we thank Thee for men and women who have sacrificed so much for others. Fill us this day with that sacrificial spirit so that we may do our bit to spread Thy kingdom on this earth. We ask in Jesus's name and for His sake. Amen.

Farmers Must Comply With Law

Farmers were cautioned today about the cross-compliance requirements of the 1963 wheat stabilization program. William L. Dudley, Chairman, Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, said that particular care is being taken to make sure that farmers understand these provisions when they sign up to participate in the wheat program.

Briefly, the Chairman declared, "cross compliance" means that a farmer who is participating in the 1963 wheat stabilization program by diverting wheat acreage on one farm will have to comply with the allotment — or small farm base, if this is larger — on other farms in which he has an interest in the wheat crop in order to be eligible for any program payment or price support.

Mr. Dudley explained further that a farmer who has an interest in the wheat crop on more than one farm would not have to divert wheat acreage into a conserving use on all his farms. But, if he wishes to participate in the wheat stabilization program by diverting acreage on any of his farms, he will not qualify for the diversion payments, for the regular price-support loan or purchase agreement, or for the extra price-support payment available under the wheat stabilization program unless he at least complies with the allotment or small farm base (if this is larger) on his other farms.

"Otherwise," the Chairman pointed out, "it would be possible to offset acreage reductions on the grower's participating farm by acreage increases on his other farms. Obviously, this would be contrary to the purposes of the wheat program, which include the reduction of unneeded wheat acreage."

As crisp fall winds sweep over ward, deserted bathing beaches, from The fascination of fishing the the turbulent waters of Cape Hatteras to the cool seas of Cape Cod, the surf fisherman finds this the most productive period for surf fishing, as the greatest concentration of bluefish, striped bass and channel bass move in-shore on their migration southsea from the beach lies not only in fish to be caught, but also in the attraction of the surroundings... the ocean, of limitless power with its changing tides, currents and storm-driven waves; its unpredictable catches; and even its loneliness.

In most sports, says Robert D. Hall, Salt-Water Fishing Editor, Sports Afield Magazine, there is some group participation, but in surf fishing the angler is usually a lone individual who matches his wits against the capricious sea. Knowing where to fish, what tides are most favorable for good results, method of rigging terminal tackle, and the proper size of hooks for a particular species of fish is very essential for success. To gain this knowledge, experience may be the best teacher, but, unfortunately, it takes too long, and the sportsman who is now at surf fishing is certainly at a disadvantage with an angler who has done this kind of salt-water fishing for any length of time.

While it is often essential to be able to cast a long distance, there are times when many species of fish are right there in the backwash of the surf, and it is necessary only to cast a short distance.

Fishing methods vary somewhat along our coast from the Outer Banks of North Carolina to the New England coast. Along a coast with considerable underwater rock formation, the bait slinger is at a disadvantage, since the hook his line most of the time. This is one of the main reasons why the majority of fishermen use wood or plastic plugs for striped bass and bluefish. The floating type of plug will usually ride high enough in the water to miss most of the seaweed and submerged rocks.

Where sandy beaches predominate, a metal squid with a piece of tail-hook pork rind will often produce a great many fish for the surf angler who is not afraid of working for them.

When the wildfowls wing their way southward and the cool air of late fall heralds the approach of winter, this is the time to go surf fishing.

International Race Scheduled Nov. 12

Owners of Carry Back and Kelso, the two richest horses in training, have accepted invitations to represent the United States against challengers from six foreign nations in the eleventh running of the $125,000 Washington D.C. International which probably will crown the Horse of the World on Monday, November 12, at Laurel Race Course.

Carry Back, a four-year-old owned by Mrs. Katherine Price, has earned $1,139,965—the fourth equine millionaire—and Kelso, a homebred of Mrs. Richard C. duPont, has banked $988,380 during his three campaigns. "We are happy to accept the invitation to run Carry Back in the International. If everything is all right, we will arrive at Laurel approximately November 3," telegraphed Jack Price, Carry Back's trainer, to Bill Boniface, chairman of the American Selection Board which honored the two American representatives.

"We are grateful for the invitation to run Kelso in the Washington D.C. International at Laurel on November 12. We accept with pleasure and extend our appreciation to the American Selection Board for this honor," Mrs. duPont said.

Kelso, a gelded son of Your Host and Maid of Flight, will be out to redeem his effort in last season's International when, in his debut on the grass, he fell victim by three-quarters of a length to Preston Madden's T.V. Lark in a tingly renewal of the weight-for-age mile and one-half turf classic. T. V. Lark's time was 2:26 1/5, a new course record.

Locked in a duel with Carry Back for Horse of the Year honors, Kelso this season has won the Stymie, Woodward and Jockey Club Gold Cup in a late season drive to become the first three-time annual champion. Carry Back, his luster not dimmed by a tenth-place finish in the October 7 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe, in which it is reported he was ridden without confidence and finished less than six lengths back of the winner, has captured the Metropolitan, Monmouth and Whitney this season.

With America's big two slated to oppose Japan's Takamagahara, Canada's Lebon M.L., England's Pardo, Italy's Delvin, France's Kistine and Match III, the European champion, and a horse from South America, the International could produce a winner which will be acclaimed a World Champion.

Boating Facts...

Just five years after aluminum's discovery in 1886, a Swiss boat builder applied the metal's light weight, strength and minimum maintenance requirements to a sleek lined, swift sailboat.

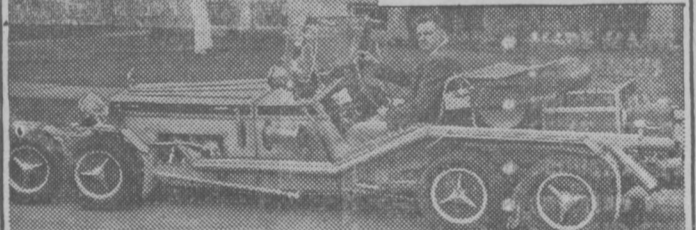

An improvement in the Navy's PT boat fleet in 1948 was the use of aluminum hulls. The reason was to obtain more speed and maneuverability from the light weight material.

As a result of aluminum's marine applications through the years it is now a popular material for boats. Since 1946, boating enthusiasts have bought more than 1,000,000 aluminum hulled pleasure boats.

Born on farm near Urbana in 1908; married to Helen Virginia welfare of this County. I am not interested in finding ways and means to raise more taxes but am interested in finding ways and means of making our tax dollar buy more of the necessities of the County. I am interested in having adequate classrooms and an ade-ing staff but the best teachers available. I am against anyone using County equipment, material or County-paid personnel for their perunemployment compensation law

Proposed improvements in the Law include an increase in the maximum benefit from $35 to $38 per week—for the majority of

At the same time these improvements will eliminate loopholes that permit a free ride.

A FEW WORDS OF EXPLANATION — No votes are registered until you open the curtains. You can therefore make as many changes in your ballot as you wish while the curtains are closed. There is no danger of anyone knowing how you vote, as the movement of the red handle to the left returns the voted levers to their unvoted position before the curtains begin to open. So leave voting levers down before opening the curtains.

To protect your boat at night, even though it may be chained to its pier, put up a searchlight so it can shine on the boat. Thieves have a horror of being spotlighted, especially if there is a house or other nearby that might...

Whittaker Chambers' comment in his book, Witness, that when he took up his slings and aimed at Communism, he hit something else, "What I hit," he wrote, "was the forces of that great Socialist revolution which, in the name of the idealism has been inculcated in the nation for two decades." Lenin vowed that the U. S. would be forced to spend itself to destruction, and now the promoters of the American socialist state are trying their best to follow through for him. Is Mr. Khushchev pleased by our march toward socialism? Well, apparently he is continuing to count on it to bring victory to the Reds, for the Communist Party here and in Russia has many times urged our peaceful acceptance of socialism through legislation. Why should the Soviet army undertake military campaigns, when a little patience plus infiltration can do a thorough job of conquest? The Reds have the experience to prove that their plan works. They think it will work with America.

Internal Threat

Mr. Khushchev has voiced this idea many times. An example was in a speech last June in Rumania, quoted by the Associated Press: "I am convinced that tomorrow the Red flag will fly over the United States. But we will not fly the flag. It will be the American people themselves. In other words, he is counting on the internal factor of apathy, negligence, misfortune, and ignorance, plus the disservice of misled Americans who espouse socialism and who fight his battles for him.

Moreover, Mr. Khushchev is counting on the U. S. to foster socialism abroad, supporting it with foreign aid. We have been doing this for years, and of course he appreciates it. In the name of social justice and redistribution of wealth, American taxpayers have been supporting socialist experiments around the world which, if continued will destroy the institution of private property. Whenever this is done the Communists can then come in with their propagandists, saboteurs, and technicians and finish the job without firing a shot. It is time for Americans to wake up.

Toward Socialist America

According to Associated Press reports, the annual convention of the National Education Association in Denver heard a panel discussion last June which advised teachers and educators to fight back at "right wing extremists." This was the advice of several educators in a session on "Thunder on the Right and Education." One of the speakers lumped the "right wing" with the Communists when he said that the only way to counter all the extreme revolutionaries is to expose their methods.

Whatever happened to educators who consider ideas? But this is the way it goes. One of the panelists, a prominent educational leader, called upon "true lovers of freedom" to challenge "openly, aggressively, and unrelentingly" their opposition. But what opposition? The Communists? No, he was calling for this kind of action against Americans who have been aiming the most telling blows at Communism. Anybody who exposes the Red menace must be heckled and baited.

Liberals Captured

This sort of thing makes it obvious that the Communists have outfoxed the Liberals. Having won them over to fight their battles against the anti-Communists, they continue to use them in their purposes of making Socialist America. Many well-intentioned Liberals remain blind to the inroads being made with their help toward the Socialist state. Many of them seem unaware that the policies and ideas to which they are devoted could lead us into Communism.

Do the Communists bother to support legislation that tends to be socialist? You can bet they do! One has only to read their publication, The Worker, to see that they like anything that looks like the welfare state or more government spending. Do Communists work for programs they like? Richard Arens, formerly on the Un-American Activities Committee staff, has said that the Reds can pour 50,000 letters into Congress in 72 hours, supporting any bill that resembles socialism. The support they are able to obtain from Liberals is the greatest hoax of our time.

Peaceful Conquest

Whittaker Chambers' comment in his book, Witness, that when he took up his slings and aimed at Communism, he hit something else, "What I hit," he wrote, "was the forces of that great Socialist revolution which, in the name of the idealism has been inculcated in the nation for two decades." Lenin vowed that the U. S. would be forced to spend itself to destruction, and now the promoters of the American socialist state are trying their best to follow through for him. Is Mr. Khushchev pleased by our march toward socialism? Well, apparently he is continuing to count on it to bring victory to the Reds, for the Communist Party here and in Russia has many times urged our peaceful acceptance of socialism through legislation. Why should the Soviet army undertake military campaigns, when a little patience plus infiltration can do a thorough job of conquest? The Reds have the experience to prove that their plan works. They think it will work with America.

A New Baby Book

When three prominent physicians, men I know well and respect, urge me to read a new book on baby care, I find it difficult to resist.

Now that I've read, "Bringing Up Babies," by Dr. Walter W. Sackett, Jr., a Miami, Florida family doctor, I can well understand their enthusiasm. The book, published yesterday by Harper, truly is a family doctor's practical approach to child care. It's a stimulating book indeed.

My three physician friends have this to say about "Bringing Up Babies":

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Consultant Emeritus, The Mayo Clinic: "One of the most delightful and helpful books ever written for mothers, containing the wisdom of a man after my own heart."

Dr. Paul Dudley White, Past President, American Heart Association: "Mrs. White is reading it now and enjoying it highly; she thinks it is the most sensible book on the subject she has ever read and has now and then read me extracts from it, which seem to me first rate."

Dr. Laurence W. Kinsell, Director, Institute for Metabolic Research: "Dr. Sackett demonstrates that a little 'horse sense' is worth a great deal of fancy psychology." "Bringing Up Babies" not only concerns itself with the infant, but also with pre-natal care and the problems of bringing up the child and the teenager. What adds to its usefulness is its format; 382 subject sections that make for easy reading and ready reference.

The book's opening page should give you a clue to what follows. Not mincing any words, Dr. Sackett advises that frustration, applied judiciously from the very beginning, is a valuable technique in raising a child, if we want the child to become a self-sufficient adult in a world that is full of frustrations. Writes Dr. Sackett:

"As a family doctor, I have had the opportunity to observe the practices of many experienced mothers with several children, as well as young mothers struggling to do their best with an only child. In analyzing the family management techniques of the experienced mother compared to the beginner, one factor emerged with startling clarity: the mother of several children was able to devote less attention to each member of her brood, yet each successive child tended to be happier, healthier, and better adjusted. In a large family, the younger children learn more rapidly to accept the fact that the world does not revolve around them. My job, as I saw it, was to work out a method whereby the newer mother can learn the lessons of experience without undergoing all the tribulations."

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Selling
 BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 25—I was amazed, and even shocked, the other day when I saw the results of a survey of college students and their job preferences. Of those polled who had made a definite decision, only 5% intended to take up selling as a vocation. Worse yet, many of the students made it clear that they looked down upon salesmanship as an inferior occupation, and some even felt that it is hardly "decent".

Salesmen Are Today's VIP's

Few seemed to realize that there are vast areas of sales activity besides counter clerking and door-to-door canvassing. Most of these youngsters would be astonished if they knew that those salesmen who call at their homes to sell life insurance, books, household goods, etc., comprise only about 2% of the total sales force of this country. The great mass of salesmen—their other 98%—are selling to the nation's millions of retailers and corporations. Those people are kingpins in our free economy and, along with those who sell advertising, they create and satisfy enough new wants to keep our economy in high gear. The salesman is a mighty powerful person.

It should be made clear to our young high school and college students that sales work has a special appeal to those with persistence and ambition, because their earnings will be in direct proportion to ability and hard work. An experienced salesman gets a tremendous kick out of his job because he realizes that everybody's standard of living can be raised by his efforts. He also learns that if only a thousand customers buy a product, without salesmanship, it may cost $10; but that, with imaginative selling and the consequent mass production, the consumer may get the same article for perhaps $2, or even less.

izes that everybody's standard of living can be raised by his efforts. He also learns that if only a thousand customers buy a product, without salesmanship, it may cost $10; but that, with imaginative selling and the consequent mass production, the consumer may get the same article for perhaps $2, or even less.

Answer To Overproduction

One of the major fears of business right now is overproduction. So, naturally, the Number One Problem is how to dispose of the enormous volume of both heavy and consumer items our industrial complex is capable of turning out. The answer is live-wire salesmen. I am not referring to the few get-rich-quick boys who only want to make a fast buck. They are here today and gone tomorrow. I do mean those talented salesmen who learn how to get close to a prospect, how to gain his confidence, and how to give him real service. It is such men—and women too—make up the great and important backlog of our merchandising empire.

A top-notch salesman has the true spirit of a missionary,—boundless courage, complete honesty, unlimited energy, firmness, and outstanding adaptability. The good salesman must be able to rise above extreme frustration, to organize his own work program, and to operate under relentless pressure. No salesman is a clock watcher; he only wishes his working day were a bit longer. In view of the wonderful qualities that a good salesman must have, you can't blame me for being shocked that only 5% of the college youngsters in that survey seriously considered this glamorous field in their job preferences.

Sales Incomes Exceptionally Good

Whether a young man begins as a manufacturer's representative, wholesale marketer, specialty salesman, sales engineer or retail merchandiser, his opportunities will be exactly what he makes them. If he is a good worker, he will probably want to work on commission. Then it will be entirely up to him whether he makes $25 a week or $250. Whatever the starting guarantees offered to college seniors, the average after five years is about $8,000. The average in sales management ranges between $12,000 and $15,000 in middle-sized companies, with some earnings reaching well above that level.

Salesmen as a group need no labor unions, since their hours and their earnings are dependent upon their own ambition. Young people should be aware, however, of the fact that salesmen are often the ones who work up to the top executive posts. Looking ahead over the next decade, I believe that an enterprising young man entering the sales field at this time will have an excellent chance to get ahead rapidly, and at the same time to make an all-important contribution to our economy.

OUTDOOR SPORTING TIPS

Make Your Own Launching Ramp

How many times have you eased your car down to water's edge . . . and watched it ease into the ooze? Those last few feet are the dangerous ones and often it's hard to spot the dividing line between hard bottom and a haulout distress call. End the gamble by making your own ramp this winter. Join two four-foot-planks 12 inches wide with a hinge (so they will fold to fit in trunk or boat), bolt cross pieces of scrap lumber on both sides for traction and to stop planks from splitting. Now as you approach danger point, unfold planks and keep car wheels on them. Gives you eight feet of low cost, no-stick insurance.

Toughen Dog's Feet

Here's a good way to toughen your dog's feet prior to the hunting season. Put a wide strip of coarse gravel or crushed stone across his pen. As he walks back and forth over it prior to opening day, roughness will strengthen pads without injuring them.

All-Around Foil

The same aluminum foil you cook with makes a good scouring pad, aided and abetted by a handful of sand or gritty dirt, for other pots and pans.

Orange Peel Pike

Now it can be told! Pike no foolin' have a weakness for the flashy color of an orange peel. Try one instead of a pork rind and see.

Deer Spotter

Now here's an idea. No matter where you go today, there's an airport . . . and some nice guys who for gas money and maybe a little extra will be glad to fly you over the area you plan to hunt. You can make rough maps, even use evening hours to spot deer herds, size up feeding, bedding, hiding areas.

No Tangle Decoy Anchors

Thin flat sheets of lead can make good decoy anchors. Here's how: Cut it into strips three quarters of an inch wide. Attach cord at one end. Now when you store decoy, wrap line around its body in the regular way, but to close off, take a hitch around decoy's neck with soft lead strip. Line stays right in place; soft, pliable lead will never break.

Ferrule Cement Fiberglass

Got a chip or hole in a fiberglass tackle box? Fill spot with ferrule cement, let dry and sand smooth.

Woody Dog

Don't forget to ventilate the trunk of your car if you plan any long trips with your dog in it. Fumes can knock him out or ruin his nose temporarily.

HOW TO SCORE A 160,000 MILE BULLSEYE—Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. left nothing to chance on his history-making space flight. He was watching as his SIGMA 7 space capsule, the candy-striped retro-rocket package strapped to the heat shield, was hoisted (1) to the top of the gantry at Cape Canaveral. He checked progress as technicians gingerly lowered (2) the capsule into position atop the Atlas booster, closely observing his all-important "brakes." Enclosed in the candy-striped dome, the "brakes" consist of three small bucket-size solid fuel Thiokol retro-rocket engines each 12 inches in diameter and 15.5 inches long. Their performance brought to a successful climax Schirra's six-orbit flight which had started at 8:15 AM(EDT) Oct. 3 with a spectacular blastoff (3) from the launch site. At 5:07 PM(EDT) the retros fired in perfect sequence, burning for about 11 seconds. Together they generated sufficient reverse thrust to slow the capsule velocity by about 500 feet per second, thus easing SIGMA 7 out of its orbital path. Owing to the performance of the pilot, capsule, "brakes" and the large supporting team, Walter Schirra splashed safely into the Pacific 21 minutes later, having scored an almost-perfect bulls-eye after a flight covering 160,000 miles. Schirra climbed (4) out of his capsule at 6:15 PM(EDT) aboard the carrier Kearsarge to the cheers of the Navy crew.

THOR RESEARCH CENTER FOR BETTER FARM LIVING

A sidewalk is rather simple to build and makes a good project for teenagers of the family to help construct.

Here are a few tips:

Dig the sidewalk bed about three inches deep. Check the drainage. If the soil holds moisture and drainage is poor, dig another six inches and fill with gravel or cinders. If earth is well drained, concrete can be poured after earth has been packed solid with a tamper.

A sidewalk is a good project for teenagers.

Construct forms of 2 by 4 inch stock. Drive 1 by 2-inch stakes at regular intervals to support the forms. Crosspieces should be located every four or six feet.

The top of the walk should be at least an inch above the ground surface and should be angled from one-fourth to one-half inch for proper drainage.

Now you're ready to pour the concrete. Be certain to use the same concrete mixture for the full depth of the sidewalk.

If you've used crosspieces, pour concrete into alternate forms — leaving every other form empty until 'the filled sections are solid enough to hold their shape. Then take out the crosspieces and fill the empty sections.

Contractors use power-driven trowels to speed completion of their cement work. They are as easy to operate as a power lawn mower. You can probably rent one in your vicinity.

A Trio Of Travel Books
(Concluded)

Here Is Alaska

A travel book in a different sense from the two preceding: not a personal account of actual experiences in becoming acquainted with places other than one's home but rather like a series of illustrated lectures giving impersonal information about such places. The author is the wife of the famous Arctic explorer Vilhjalmur Stefansson and has lived and traveled widely in Alaska; and it would seem that she has brought together everything of interest about our newest state in this beautifully printed book, a revised and expanded version of an earlier volume written before Alaska attained statehood.

Perhaps the varied content of "Here Is Alaska" can be best indicated in brief space by a number of typical questions to which it gives clear and interesting answers:

1. What is the design of the Alaskan flag? Who made the design?
2. When did the U. S. buy Alaska from Russia?
3. Name 3 things that Statehood meant for Alaska.

4. What do DEW and White Alice mean?
  5. What are Alaska's main industries?
  6. What mountain is now the highest in the States?
  7. What 2 things does Alaska need most to insure a prosperous future?
  8. What is the ratio of planes to people in Alaska?
  9. What is muskeg? umiak? potlatch?
  10. The Russian capital of Alaska? The present capital?

Farmer Pension Law Signed

"Farmers need to be aware of the biggest single change in tax laws passed by Congress this year," stated Noah E. Kefauver, president, Maryland Farm Bureau, in respect to the new pension law.

This voluntary program, encouraged by income tax deduction, will make it possible for self-employed farmers to provide for their old age needs.

Farm Bureau has stood behind legislation to extend to self-employed people similar favorable tax benefits the law provides employees under a qualified retirement plan.

A warning was issued by Kefauver for farmers not to rush hastily into a pension plan as it is complex with restrictions, limitations, and requirements.

One provision of the law states that all full-time employees with 3 years service must be given an opportunity to take part in a plan, if a self-employed person wants to set up a pension program for himself.

Tax deduction is allowed to 50% of the total contribution. The total annual pension payment may not exceed $2500 a year or 10 per cent of income, whichever is less. Pensions may be financed by one of four methods: annuity contracts, trust fund, mutual fund shares or new "retirement" government bonds.

Kefauver urged farmers to look into the details carefully as the law goes into effect on January 1, 1963.

Anyone who's gonna get serious about catching a large-mouth black bass on a flyrod and a popper bug will have to remember a number of items. He'll want to recall that during the warm months bass feed in the shallows in early mornings and late evenings, and the shoal waters are where he'll want to present his popping bugs.

He'll remember that the first few feet of water next to the shore is where the hungry bass will feed, and he'll confine his casts to that area; perhaps by donning a pair of hip waders and strolling around the edge of the lake as he casts, perhaps by throttling his Mercury outboard down to a purr and casting as he travels along at drift speed, flicking the edge of the water with his popper bug.

He'll balance his outfit for popper bugs, remembering that it takes a heavier line and longer rod to present bugs properly than it does to drop a dry fly on the surface of a quiet trout pool. He'll use a long leader, say nine feet, tapered to a whisper at the business end, and tied directly to the popper.

And he'll reverse the obvious by recalling that in popper bug fishing the race belongs to the slow. He'll cast his bug so that it lands a foot or so from shore with a gentle "whap" - then let it lie quietly until all the ripples have disappeared. Then he tightens the line enough to make the bug twitch, but gently, giving the impression of a large insect that has fallen on the water and is unable to get airborne. He keeps twitching and tightening the line, slowly, all the way during the retrieve.

He'll remember that variety is the spice of life to a bass as well as to an angler, and he'll vary his retrieves as much as possible, first one way and then another, giving free rein to his inventiveness and fishing skill, trying to make that bug look as much like a moth as possible.

And, if he remembers all these things, he'll catch fish. Simple, isn't it?

and daughter, Barbara, Biglerville, spent Wednesday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sanders.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

In all the discussion of slashing U. S. tariff protection to work with the European Common Market, it has largely escaped notice that there is a disparity between the legal business practices in Europe and in America.

The U. S. antitrust laws are not recognized in Europe, where business is done largely by cartels and monopolies. These cartels have their own cosy way of rigging markets. Unfortunately, they have also been teaching the big American combines who have set up operations in Europe to take advantage of the cheap labor, some of the tricks.

A recent example is the case due to be tried in October in Federal courts in which the government charges that the two largest American electrical manufacturers were in cahoots with a European firm to keep U. S. made radio and TV sets out of Canada.

The European party to this arrangement was Philips Gloeilampfabrieken, of Holland. This is a huge firm, many of whose products are sold in the United States.

But the Justice Department found that Philips as well as the two U. S. combines have Canadian plants.

It is charged the three conspired to keep American products out of Canada by reserving all patent rights for their Canadian subsidiaries.

New Mount Building Dedicated

In conjunction with the Annual Homecoming at Mt. St. Mary's College the newly-opened Student Union Building was formally dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Robert R. Kline, Ph.D., college president. The building, which was constructed at a cost of over $750,000, was named in honor of the Cogan family which has served as benefactors of the Mount for many years. John F. Cogan, '80, and his brothers, Philip J., '82, and Patrick H., who did not attend the Mount, made many outstanding contributions to the Mount prior to their deaths. Their sons and grandsons have graced the rosters of the Mount from 1907 to the present, and Rev. John F. Cogan, Jr., Ph.D., '14, was a member of the faculty from 1918 until his untimely death on Dec. 21, 1954. He served in many administrative offices of the college; vice president, dean of studies, chairman of the athletic council, moderator of the yearbook and college newspaper, as well as many other organizations.

Father Cogan's influence during his 40-year tenure, was felt in all spheres of life at the college. The students consider him to be a legend and at one time presented him with a symbol of his nickname, the "Golden Spike." Members of the family present for the dedication included Mrs. Maher Cogan, Mrs. Paul Cogan, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cogan, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Cogan and Rev. John R. Flynn, M.M.

Brownie Troop 1300 Meets
On October 29 the Brownies of Troop 1300 met at four o'clock in the Methodist Education Building. Fifteen girls were present and dues were collected.

The group enjoyed Hallowe'en refreshments after which the girls showed their talents by making Hallowe'en costumes out of newspapers and paper bags. Prizes were given for the most original; the prettiest, first, second and third prizes in each, and one prize for the ugliest. Judges for the contest were Mrs. Vernon Keilholtz, Carolyn Keilholtz, Juanita Lindsey and Rachel Watkins.

The birthday girl for October was Vicky Valentine. One new member, Debbie Watkins, was present.

The U. S. first minted 5-cent pieces in 1749. Today Americans spend the equivalent of 68,000,000 5-cent pieces a day for their newspapers.

Mount Host To Workshop

The Student Government of Mt. St. Mary's College, was host to a Student Government Workshop for representatives from area colleges, recently. Edward J. Kuhn, Jr., Mount president, was the acting host for the day.

Rt. Rev. Robert R. Kline, Ph.D., college president, welcomed the delegates to the workshop. Mr. Andrew Von Eschenbach, president of the Student Council of St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, and Mr. Joseph Tate, president of the Student Council at Villanova University, Philadelphia, also addressed the opening session.

The objective of the program was the discussion of the various phases of Student government activities. Miss Mary Ann Tietjan, president, Trinity College, directed a seminar on the improvement of athletic publications. Mr. Walter J. Moloughney, Mount Saint Mary's, regional treasurer of the National Federation of Catholic College Students, discussed the functions of NFCCS in Student Government. Mr. Charles J. Smith and Mr. Tony List, both of Representatives attending also came from Hood College, Frederick; Loyola College, Baltimore; Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg; Mount Saint Agnes College, Baltimore; and Villa Julie College, Baltimore.

There are more than 1500 daily and 10,000 weekly newspapers produced in the U. S.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley

So often the question arises: "What is the difference between professional eye specialists—such as an optometrist and an ophthalmologist?" First, the optometrist is a specialist in vision as the dentist is a specialist in teeth. By law, he is permitted to examine the eyes and to prescribe.

Wesley

He also does orthoptics, which is visual training, and also fits contact lenses. He can recognize diseases of the eye and refers such cases to the ophthalmologist. The ophthalmologist is a physician. He specializes in medical care of the eye. He treats eye diseases and also does surgery. He, too, can prescribe glasses or contact lenses. Then, there is also the oculist. He is a physician who specializes in the care of the eyes, nose and throat, although he also is known as an ophthalmologist. The optician is one who fabricates contact lenses or glasses according to the prescription of the optometrist or ophthalmologist.

There are many reputable manufacturers of frames and contact lenses, but only the eye specialist is qualified to examine your eyes. The National Eye Research Foundation is supported by both groups of eye specialists. It is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to better vision and eye care. The Foundation recommends that your eyes be examined on a regular basis—at least once every six months. In this way, much serious trouble may be avoided.

ABUNDANT LIFE
by ORAL ROBERTS

YOU NEED A LITTLE MORE FAITH

As I was talking to a friend of mine one day, I inquired as to how he was feeling. He shrugged his shoulders and said, "Oral, there is nothing wrong with me that a little more money wouldn't cure."

I could not forget my friend's statement. It kept preying upon my mind. Later I was praying and reading my Bible. The Lord spoke to my heart that I should tell that man: "Friend, there is nothing wrong with you that a little more faith won't cure."

Many people say they have faith, but why is it that they find it difficult to get out of their troubles? It is simply because having faith is not enough. You must make your faith a living faith. It must live in your heart. It must be felt in your spirit so that you can let it go out to God. You can have all the faith in the world, but if you do not make your faith an active faith, you might as well not have any at all.

How does a person get evidence for his faith? He gets evidence, not through wishing, not through presumption, but through the written, literal promises of the Word of God.

We have promises made by God to us in the Holy Bible.

These promises are so faithful and sure that God has sealed them with the blood of His only begotten Son. We have evidence for our faith, and we can stand upon the Word of the living God.

Jesus said, "I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly." More speaks of a larger quantity. Abundantly speaks of an inexhaustible supply. Jesus promises us life over and beyond the ordinary. Salvation is life. Healing is life. The supplying of our needs is life. All these things God has promised us in His Word. And we can have them when we claim them by faith.

When you are tormented by fears and doubts, your body is full of aches and pain and your life is full of needs, open your Bible. Read God's promises to you. Put your name in the place of the people in the Bible and say, "Lord, this promise is for me. This is the evidence for my faith."

Many of us frantically try to solve life's difficulties and problems by our own limited efforts while God's love waits to sustain us and to give us unlimited strength. Our part is to have faith and let Him bear us up.
