NETS $1350

The regular meeting of Mother Seton School PTA was held on Thursday evening, Nov. 8, President George Van Kirk presiding. Copies of the financial report of the October bazaar were distributed among the members. A net profit of $1350 was realized from the event. Sister Agatha warmly thanked the parents for their wonderful support and services during the bazaar. The guest speaker for the evening was Miss Patti, representing the Baltimore Archdiocesan Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. Miss Patti outlined the CCD program and defined ecumenism. She emphasized how both these movements foster Christian unity among ourselves and between us and those of other faiths. Sgt. Van Kirk distributed pamphlets on Civil Defense and spoke briefly on emergency arrangements for Mother Seton School. The best thinking is that in case of disaster, parents should not try to reach the children and take them home, but leave them temporarily in the care of school authorities. Government agencies will draw up a Civil Defense plan for the school, if requested. Sgt. Van Kirk stated bluntly that if the PTA wishes such a plan it must go after it. At the conclusion of the meeting President Van Kirk turned the gavel over to the vice president, Pierre Fontaine, of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel parish. Sgt. Van Kirk leaves soon for duty in Oslo, Norway. Mr. Fontaine will serve as acting president for the remainder of the school year. Refreshments were served by members of St. Joseph parish with Mrs. George Danner acting as the chairman of the committee.

Kittens to cats
by H. JACK MIDDLETON
Purina Cat Care Center
Care

In return for the companionship and affection your pet cat lavishes on the family, you can see she gets the care necessary to keep her healthy and happy. It pays to brush or comb her coat at least once a day... for your pet's sake as well as your furniture's. But be gentle. Cats have delicate skin. Ordinarily, the fastidious cat takes care of her own bathing, constantly licking herself clean. But, sometimes, she can get unusually dirty and then, a rub-down with a damp cloth is in order. Baths are unnecessary for the most part, yet some felines like to frolic in the water. There are a few places your cat's agile, cleansing tongue can't reach and of these, the eyes are the most important. At the Purina Cat Care Center, we make sure to wipe the corners of the eyes daily so foreign matter can't accumulate or cause infection. If your cat can't get out, make sure she has a sanitary pan or box lined with newspapers (sheet or strips), cat litter, or sand and change the lining often. On the less clinical side of cat care, there's the matter of play and affection. A little fussin' over won't spoil your pet. Happiness can often come in the form of a tennis ball, a rattle, a spool of twine, a crumpled piece of cellophane and, most important, a loving pat from a member of her "people family."

It's Model Boat Time
Sailors from three to eighty-three with salt in their veins and a thirst for adventure are swarming to local ponds and lakes. Summertime is sailing time, and the country's fleet of model boats and ships is ready to be launched. Modelers like myself who have spent months building new vessels have anxiously awaited these warm days. In fact this past winter I've changed my whole scheme of model boating interest. For years I had concentrated on models of ancient vintage. But my new fleet sparkles with today's pleasure craft... motor launches, light sport cruisers, and slender sail boats. I've enjoyed every minute of this change from selecting ready-to-run models to building kits and mapping out the right kind of power to use. Now I have a good variety of fuel power and radio control in my models. It took only one day on the water to prove to me that my new fleet was a worthy one. As every model ship builder and sailor knows, there are few delights on the same par as launching a new ship... particularly when you've made it yourself.

100 YEARS AGO

GREAT BRITAIN DECIDES TO STAY OUT OF WAR

By Lon K. Savage

American armies moved, and American men died in the Civil War 100 years ago this week, but the most important news of the week came from overseas.

The English cabinet, after months of tortuous argument, decided in a session on November 11 and 12 to refuse a suggestion by France to call for an armistice in the Civil War. In short, the cabinet decided to keep Britain out of the Civil War.

The decision virtually ended the possibility that the American problem would be solved by persons from abroad. It also dealt a bitter blow to the Confederacy, which hoped for foreign intervention. And it provided a victory for the firm but tactful diplomacy of President Lincoln's Secretary of State, William Henry Seward.

The Meeting

The immediate issue before the British cabinet had been a proposal by Napoleon II, Emperor of France, that France and England ask for a six-month armistice in the American war to halt the slaughter and to re-open Southern ports. Behind it was a desire of both French and English interests in Southern trade—especially in the cotton trade.

When the cabinet assembled to discuss the proposal, most of the leaders had been, at one time or another, in favor of intervention in the war. There were Lord John Russell, the British Foreign Secretary; Lord Palmerston, the Prime Minister, and William E. Gladstone, the liberal cabinet leader who, a month earlier, had argued in favor of the Confederacy despite its stand on slavery.

But there were serious difficulties in the path of intervention.

Chief among them was the attitude of Russia. To Russia, the United States presented a guarantee of European equilibrium and a check on British aggression. Three days earlier, Russia had rejected the French proposal.

Moreover, there was the matter of slavery. Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation of September 22 had been published worldwide, and British intervention might appear as a type of defense of the institution of slavery.

Finally, there was the Battle of Antietam in September, when the Confederacy's General Robert E. Lee had been driven from Maryland back into Virginia. This tended to reduce the argument frequently heard in Britain that the American Union could never be restored.

Russell Gives In

In the meeting, itself, Palmerston urged delay in any action on the French proposal. Russell, more inclined in favor of the South than his Prime Minister, conceded. The Russian threat of non-cooperation, more than anything else, probably convinced him. "We ought not to move at present without Russia," he had said.

"Lord Russell rather turned tail," Gladstone wrote about the meeting. "He gave way without resolutely fighting out his battle." The decision was made, and England notified France that it would not join in a request for an armistice, since Lincoln would not accept it.

Napoleon II now was alone in his desire to intervene. Eventually, he, too, decided to stay clear of the war. Next week: Battle lines are drawn.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Crisis

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 15—The Cuban situation is featured in the news as a great "crisis".

I think, however, that all news today must be discounted somewhat because of the competition between the various news media. The newspapers have to come out with an edition on schedule, while radio and television grind out material for eighteen hours daily. Owing to the fact that these newer methods of communication get tremendous income from advertising in connection with these newscasts, probably twenty per cent of the news has to be manufactured and certainly much of it is exaggerated. Therefore anything called a crisis today should be discounted.

The Struggle Between Those Who Have And Those Who Have Not

It seems as if this struggle all started with Cain and Abel, and has continued throughout the ages. A reading of the Old Testament shows how crises constantly developed in Persian, Babylonian, Egyptian, and Roman history. Whatever change has occurred in military warfare, there seems to have been no change in human nature.

Furthermore, each nation has its cycle. Those who are at the top; then power and wealth deteriorate and they go back to the bottom again. Even the stock market has its cycles. Moody counts ten of these from the time our battleship Maine was sunk in the harbor of Havana, Cuba, in 1898 to President Eisenhower's heart attack in 1955.

English History During the past summer, I have been reading a most complete history of England. It consists of seven volumes and about six thousand pages. It is entitled THE PICTORIAL HISTORY OF ENGLAND, published by W. and R. Chambers of London, England, about 1850. The story consists of continual crises beginning with the year 56 B.C. As one reads these volumes, he thinks that England could not possibly last more than a hundred years. The serfs were continually fighting to get a little property and freedom, while those who inherited their property lived in great castles. The conflict, however, was much the same as today.

From my reading of history I see no possibility of either Democracy or Communism being wiped out. Both will be suppressed at certain times in certain nations, but will rise up again in other nations. Whether, in the final analysis, it will be the same old struggle with each group alternately becoming stronger, or whether the two groups will gradually merge by becoming more alike, no one can tell.

At present, the Communist nations consist of Russia, China, and their satellites, with India more or less on the fence. These Communist countries are controlled by Dictators and hence are more efficient in time of war (whether cold or hot) than are the Democratic nations.

The Dictators of these countries can control the news and actions of the people much better than can the President and the Congress of any Democratic country. Furthermore, I believe there will always be Dictators, and there will always be Presidents or other such heads of free states, and both will always have the above advantages and disadvantages. This even applies to a little country like Cuba, which is making headlines today.

Word To Investors Yet, I am not pessimistic. Conditions are far better today than in any of the two thousand years covered by the history of England which I have been reading supplemented by THE STORY OF MANKIND, written by Hendrik Van Loon, and similar books. There is today and always will be an opportunity for those with integrity, industry, scientific and inventive curiosity. Opportunities may be more difficult for those who are living on inherited property without making a definite contribution to the welfare of the world.

Human nature is the same—

ORDER OF PUBLICATION No. 20147 Equity in the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, in equity.

MARGARET B. MCKELVY 238 N. Market St., Frederick, Maryland vs. WALTER A. MCKELVY 1321 Swissvale Avenue, Pittsburgh 21, Penna.

The OBJECT of the BILL OF COMPLAINT in these proceedings is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Plaintiff, Margaret B. McKelvy, from the Defendant, Walter A. McKelvy, and for such other and further relief as the nature of the case may require.

The BILL states in substance, that the Plaintiff is a resident of Frederick County, Maryland having resided at 238 N. Market St., Frederick for more than one year last past and that the Defendant is a resident of the State of Pennsylvania, having resided therein for more than one year last past, his last known address being at 1321 Swissvale Avenue, Pittsburgh 21, Pennsylvania; that the said parties were married on February 11, 1942 at Ellicott City, Howard County, Maryland, by a regularly ordained minister of the Gospel; that no children were born to said marriage; and the BILL alleges that more than five (5) years ago the parties voluntarily separated and since that time have voluntarily lived separate and apart, said separation having continued for more than eighteen months last past; and that there is no reasonable expectation of a reconciliation between said parties. The BILL prays for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII with a prayer for general relief.

It is thereupon this 22nd day of October, 1962, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Plaintiff give notice to the non-resident Defendant of the object and substance of the BILL by causing a copy of this ORDER OF PUBLICATION to be published in some newspaper published in Frederick County once a week, for four successive weeks prior to the 24th day of November, 1962, warning said Defendant to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 25th day of December, 1962 and show cause, if any he has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

In November the checks will contain the regular monthly increase. These increases for veterans with service-connected injuries will boost payments from $19 to $22 a month for those who have 10 per cent disability and will range up to an increase of from $25 to $250 a month for an unattached veteran with 100 per cent disability. In some special cases where a disabled veteran requires attendance and aid the monthly payment will be raised from $600 to $725. These increases were designed to meet the rising costs of living since the last compensation payment increase in 1957.

Farmers Cautioned On Land Use Program

Farmers taking part in the Conservation Reserve program, whose contracts expire the end of this year were urged not to destroy the protective cover on their land until they become acquainted with provisions of the new 1963 Land Use Adjustment Program authorized by the recently enacted Food and Agriculture

Act of 1962. Conservation Reserve contracts covering 1.3 million acres of land on about 19,000 farms expire at the end of this year. William L. Dudley, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee for Maryland, said that such farmers will have an opportunity to continue diversion of their land from production of row crops and small grains and keep it in conserving use for another year, under terms and conditions similar to those for the existing contracts. As under the Conservation Reserve program, farmers taking part in the 1963 land use program will be required to provide a cover which will protect the land from wind and water erosion. Specific details concerning payment rates and other provisions are now available in ASCS county offices. Longer-range aspects of the Land Use Adjustment Program are being developed and will be announced later, the Chairman said.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Winter camping is not foremost among the popular outdoor activities of today, and that is a shame, for most of those who indulge swear it is just as much fun as summer camping — or more so. There are long weekends and vacations during the colder seasons. A fellow has little competition for choice camping spots during the off-season. The bugs and snakes are gone. The woods are often under a virgin mantle of bright, clean snow and there is a peaceful quietness. The blemishes and eyesores created by the careless summer campers unfortunately among us have magically disappeared. Instead of hot, muggy days, the temperature is on the crisp and invigorating side. And, if a chap goes with the correct equipment, he is eminently comfortable at all times. One item he simply has to have is a good, wood stove, of the sheepherder variety, for keeping the tent warm. A-wall tents are the accepted shelter when using woodburning stoves, but there is no law which states other types of tents cannot be so employed. In something like an umbrella tent it is best to run the stove pipe, by using elbow-joints, out of an asbestos-metal ring through the sidewall, rather than through the roof. Make sure your tent is large enough so the stove is at least two feet from any canvas. One can cook on these stoves too, of course, but having a good, petroleum-fueled camp stove for use outdoors makes for faster and more intense heat. In winter the nights are longer and the camper can really get in some impressive sack time. And speaking of which, of course, good warm sleeping bags are a must. Clothing will be a bit different from summer wear, being of the insulated and woolen variety. But, here again, a chap needs nothing he wouldn't ordinarily have in the closet for hunting or ice fishing. The grub supply should be more ample than that on a summer trip of like duration, for activity afield is generally stepped up a bit during this time of year, and Garantuan appetites follow. The basic premise of camping in general is that, beyond the fun afield, it swiftly transports a man from the routine of day-to-day city living. He enters another world, and by so doing, gets a new perspective, or, as John Jobson, Camping Editor, Sports Afield Magazine says, "You get your batteries recharged."

Students, housewives, and others who plan to make extra cash by working during the pre-Christmas rush were advised to avoid possible delay by getting a social security account number now. W. S. King, district manager of the Hagerstown social security office, reminded students who have never had a social security number to apply for one without delay at their nearest social security office. Housewives should check their social security cards to make sure that the account is in their married name. If the card is still in the maiden name, application should be made to change it. The key to the benefits which are paid to workers who retire, die, or become disabled is the number on your social security card. Any person who cannot locate his or her card should take immediate steps to make application for a new one by obtaining a form for this purpose at the nearest social security office.

There are some 1,100 flocks numbering 38,000 sheep in Maryland. The veterinarian will make the diagnosis and supervise the treatment. Return visits will be made to

The program, according to the Maryland State Veterinary Medical Association, is necessary because Maryland is considered a sheep scab infected area. Sheep farmers here cannot send their animals to surrounding states without undergoing examination and dipping.

Sheep scab designates varied parasitic problems of the skin, caused by the mange mite.

The eradication effort is a cooperative program of the Live Stock Sanitary Service, the Extension Department of the University of Maryland and the Animal Disease Eradication Division of the United States Department of Agriculture.

There are some 1,100 flocks numbering 38,000 sheep in Maryland. Under the eradication program, Extension Department personnel will visit farms and examine their flocks, and will call in a veterinarian if they find any suspicious - appearing signs of sheep scab. The veterinarian will make the diagnosis and supervise the treatment. Return visits will be made to

by Dr. R. I. Schattner
GUMS

The major cause of tooth loss in adults is not cavities, but periodontal conditions (diseases of the gums).

Here are some tips for healthier gums: Massage your gums with your toothbrush. Place the bristles at a 45° angle

Dr. Schattner against the gums and gently vibrate towards the teeth.

Bleeding gums are a warning sign. A dentist should be consulted. Be careful of toothpicks and dental floss. Vigorously forced against the gums, they can cause damage and eventually periodontal disease.

A mouthwash should be used after brushing. A teaspoonful of table salt in warm water is fine to mechanically cleanse the teeth and gums of food particles.

However, to remove potentially harmful bacteria in the mouth, a new antiseptic (germ killing) and anesthetic (pain killing) mouthwash called Chloraseptic is now available in drugstores.

Found to be more effective than iodine as an oral germ killer, this medication relieves pain from sore throats as well as irritations in the mouth.

But remember, the most important advice: SEE YOUR DENTIST TWICE A YEAR.

YOUR Social Security

Students, housewives, and others who plan to make extra cash by working during the pre-Christmas rush were advised to avoid possible delay by getting a social security account number now. W. S. King, district manager of the Hagerstown social security office, reminded students who have never had a social security number to apply for one without delay at their nearest social security office. Housewives should check their social security cards to make sure that the account is in their married name. If the card is still in the maiden name, application should be made to change it. The key to the benefits which are paid to workers who retire, die, or become disabled is the number on your social security card. Any person who cannot locate his or her card should take immediate steps to make application for a new one by obtaining a form for this purpose at the nearest social security office.

Pipe Cleaner Huzzah!
How many uses can you think of for the lowly pipe cleaner?

Here are a few to start you thinking: Hold parts of rod together when disassembled. Keep line from unwinding on reel. No o.k. and crummy oiler. (Can also be used to clean pipe.)
Leaded Gun Barrels

Mercury can clean lead out of shotgun barrels in a day or two. Plug end of barrel, fill with mercury. Pour out and wipe clean after 2 days. Barrel looks like new. Your druggist has the mercury.

Baked Batteries
Heat flash light batteries over your campfire for a few more hours of light.
Cracked Guide
A hair-line crack in a guide can wear line and lose fish. Fix it like this: wrap a section on line carefully all around guide. Weaving it around and around and laying it up smooth. Then lash to supporting arms. Will work for several days.

Feather Holder
Some salt-water fishermen are collecting holders tooth brushes come in to hold their feathered lures. Keeps 'em in good shape a lot longer than bouncing around in the bottom of your tackle box.

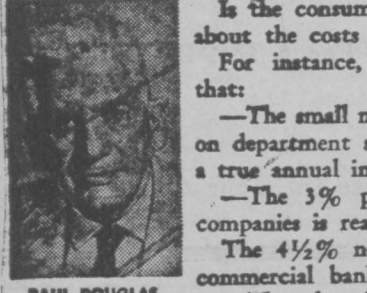

Refinishing Tip
When refinishing ultra - deluxe items like a gun stock or rod rack, run a magnet over the surface before varnishing. It will pick up every last trace of steel wool used to smooth surface.
Keep Gun Oiled
And an easy way to do it is by pinning a lamb's wool pad saturated with oil to the flap of your gun case.
Fire Starter
One Million One
Soak a charcoal briquet in turpentine and wrap in aluminum foil. Starts easy, burns hot, lasts a long time.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

"Bill of Rights" To Protect Consumer

By Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.)
Chairman, Subcommittee on Production and Stabilization, Senate Banking and Currency Committee

Is the consumer entitled to know the truth about the costs of consumer credit?

For instance, how many consumers realize that:
—The small monthly service charge of 1 1/2% on department store charge accounts is usually a true annual interest rate of 18%.
—The 3% per month plan of small loan companies is really 36% interest per year.
—The 4 1/2% new car financing plan of some commercial banks is really 9% per year.
—The advertised 5% rate on home improvement loans is not less than a 6% home mortgage, but nearly twice as much, or about a 10% interest rate.
—The so-called 6% rate offered by some used car dealers is always 12% a year and sometimes very much higher—as much as 18% to 25% interest rate per year.
—Credit plans for teen-agers now being promoted by some retailers as only "pennies per week" sometimes amount to 80% interest per year.
Those of us in the United States Congress who have sponsored the "truth in lending" bill—which would require the full disclosure of the costs of consumer credit—believe that the borrower has the right to know what credit is costing him.
In spite of widespread public support, however, opposition in the Senate has prevented its enactment. To overcome this opposition will require determined support for the bill by the average consumer.
The "truth in lending" bill simply requires that anyone engaged in the business of extending credit at the retail level fully disclose in writing the costs of credit to the borrower before the papers are signed. This written statement must include the total amount of the finance charge expressed in dollars and cents and the simple or true annual interest rate on the debt owed.
Such information would enable the borrower to compare accurately the costs of credit offered by different lenders before signing on the dotted line. He then could shop as wisely for credit as he does for other items in the family budget.
For the past two years a Senate Subcommittee has held extensive hearings on the "truth in lending" bill. This investigation has demonstrated conclusively that many, if not most, consumers are either unaware, confused, or badly misinformed about the interest rates and charges they pay for various types of credit.
These are not unusual cases but merely a few common examples involving inaccurate or misleading interest rate information. Test yourself—do you know what the finance charge was, and the true annual interest rate, the last time you borrowed money or bought on credit?
Today the personal debt owed by American families has reached the amazing figure of $205 billion. Out of every $100 take home pay, American families pay out at least $13 to meet payments on loans and installment purchases, and an additional $5 to meet mortgage payments.
Interest and finance charges on these personal debts now total $14 billion a year, or $5 billion a year more than the interest cost on the national debt.
With such sums involved, it is only fair to demand, as the "truth in lending" bill does, that the consumer be told the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth about the interest rates and finance charges he is asked to pay.
This should not be a partisan matter. Republican consumers need protection just as much as Democratic consumers.

Read I John 4:1-6.
Be zealous to be found by him without spot or blemish, and at peace. (II Peter 3:14. RSV.)
One day while riding on a train in Japan, I began talking with a young married man, the father of two small children. We got on the subject of happiness. Finally he said, "You who have faith forget how unhappy one can be. If you could remember the unhappiness of those of us without faith, you would be more zealous in trying to help us."
I then tried to recall my life without Christ, its uncertainty and lack of purpose, its burdens and loneliness. However, my life had been chased when Christ and I became one. Life took on new meaning; it became purposeful. I entered into fellowship with Him. To be like Him became my goal. In the place of loneliness, I found Christian friends abundant. I began to enjoy the fruits of peace.

It is true that in the midst of my happiness I have many times forgotten my fellowmen, many of whom know not peace and joy because they know not Jesus Christ. I need God's forgiveness every time I forget that my happiness cannot be complete until I have earnestly tried to give it to my neighbor.
Everyone is welcome to the service, which begins at 11 o'clock Thanksgiving morning, in the church edifice at 18 N. Court St., Frederick, Md.
Hymns, prayer, and a specially prepared Bible Lesson-Sermon are all a part of the service, which also includes a period for spontaneous expressions of gratitude by church members in the congregation.

Children Thrive on Compassion In March of Dimes Arthritis Fight

"We study the child, not the laboratory report."
When Dr. Jane Borges, director of the March of Dimes-financed Arthritis Special Treatment Center at the Home for Crippled Children in Pittsburgh, Pa., says this, she isn't trying to put the laboratories out of business.
But she is trying—and succeeding—in putting children stricken with rheumatoid arthritis back in the important business of leading nearly normal lives.
Juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, which afflicts 30,000 youngsters in the United States, is a cruel disease which comes and goes like a thief in the night. Seemingly healthy children suddenly contract high fever, swollen and aching joints, rash, anemia, and severe involvement of body organs. Many suffer deformities of the limbs. Total or partial disability often occurs.
Despite continuing research, neither the cause of juvenile rheumatoid arthritis nor the reason for its unpredictable cycle of recurrence is yet known.
Prevent Side-Effects
What Dr. Borges and a growing number of experts in the treatment of rheumatic diseases do believe they know is how to prevent much of the permanent physical, mental and social scarring which have been agonizing by-products of this disease for so long a time.
Rejecting old theories of prolonged bed rest and virtual isolation, these innovators have introduced the rheumatoid arthritis child to programs of intensive therapy and close contact with children of the same age group. They encourage regular school attendance.
At the same time, education of the family in all aspects of the illness is begun early by the physician with diligent follow-up by the social worker.
Successful Results
In most cases, successful results have been achieved.
At the March of Dimes-supported center in Pittsburgh, for example, Dr. Borges last September admitted a 12-year-old girl who could not move her shoulders, elbows, or arms. She contracted rheumatoid arthritis at age six and had been in and out of hospitals since that time. When she was at home, she was rarely taken outside and saw other children only infrequently. She was painfully shy, took little interest in her studies.

Today, nearly a year later, this same girl is still confined to a wheel chair. She must attend many of her classes at the Home's branch of the Pittsburgh school system while in traction. Other complications persist.
However, daily baths in the Hubbard tank, used so successfully by polio victims, and twice-daily physical therapy have restored the use of her arms and hands. Occupational therapy—she is just now finishing a throw rug—has restored movement to her once-frozen shoulders. The challenge of competition with her schoolmates has transformed her into an excellent student.
Child in Pain
In another case, a six-year-old girl, after four years of operations and assorted treatment, was unable to adjust to school and playmates because of intermittent pain and the childhood awareness that she was the only child with a brace.
Placed among children with similar problems, she was exposed to the physical and social therapies of Dr. Borges' program. She went back home six months later "a different child . . . obedient . . . getting along happily with brothers, sisters and playmates," according to a grateful mother.
Dr. Borges, a trim, vibrant woman, views her work at the March of Dimes-financed center and its results this way: "The laboratory reports on these children, after we have worked with them for a time,

Chinese Lecturer Gives Talk Here

Dr. Wing-tsit Chan, professor of Chinese philosophy and culture at Dartmouth College, lectured on "Chinese Religion" and conducted a seminar at Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg, Nov. 9-10.

He is one of the six authorities on Asian studies who assisted Gettysburg and five other colleges, St. Joseph, Hood, Mt. St. Mary's, Dickinson and Western Maryland, in setting up their present joint project for increasing and enriching their course offerings in non-Western culture.

Dr. Norman Richardson, chairman, department of philosophy at Gettysburg College is coordinator for the six-college Asian studies program, financed by a Ford Foundation grant of $180,000.

Two professors were designated by each of the six colleges to undergo two years of concentrated study of China and India.

Lectures and seminars are rotated between the six colleges. The first of twelve seminars was held at Gettysburg College Sept. 28-29. Other seminars were held at Dickinson College on Oct. 12-13 and at Hood College, Oct. 26-27.

Dr. George B. Cressey of Syracuse University will lecture and conduct another seminar Nov. 30-Dec. 1 at Mt. St. Mary's. Remaining seminars are scheduled as follows: Jan. 4-5, Western Md.; Feb. 8-9, Gettysburg; March 1-2, Hood; March 15-16, St. Joseph's; March 29-30, Western Maryland; May 3-4, Dickinson; May 17-18, Mt. College IQ Scores Cover Broad Range

IQ scores of U. S. college students cover a very broad spectrum, according to the American Council on Education, which reports that test scores of more than 60,000 students in 200 colleges and universities averaged a score of 104.

For individual institutions, the ratings ranged from 38 to 142. Regionally, colleges in the Northeast enrolled students of the highest ability (117), followed by the North Central states (105), the West (101) and the South (95).

Global TV could be the greatest force yet discovered to break down the language barriers that hamper communication, says Dr. Arthur C. Clarke, British physicist. Dr. Clarke points out that despite the many languages existent, only seven take care of the needs of half of mankind. These seven are Mandarin Chinese, English, Hindustani, Spanish, Russian, German and Japanese. Unless a new universal language is concocted, the choice will eventually be between English, Mandarin and Russian, Dr. Clarke says.

Nurse shortage in America is serious now and could become critical in the next five years, according to Chemetron Corporation, which conducted a survey among a thousand U. S. hospitals. At least 300 full-time professional nurses for each 100,000 population is the accepted standard; the survey shows the country to be about 100,000 nurses shy of this quota.

... India's first full-fledged rocket center will soon be built in the town of Ranchi. Leading industrial B. M. Birla has started a fund with a target of nearly $2,000,000. The center is expected to send up a two-stage rocket late this year.

Hummingbirds execute power dives in excess of 60 m.p.h. while wooing their mates, reports the University of California. The male at first hovers to attract her attention, then climbs 50 feet or more into the air. Then comes the spectacular dive and a pullout just in time to avoid a crash.

... Many Types of large jets require over 700 gallons of pure water for each engine at take-off. The water (1) cools the compressor and (2) gives mass to the jet stream to obtain maximum thrust.

The Northern Lights have seen strange sights but none to match the new snowshoes being adopted by the Canadian army and air force. They're abandoning the old cowhide-and-wood affairs in favor of shoes consisting of a magnesium frame strung with nylon-covered aircraft cable. Oldtimers may snort, but the Canadian researchers say the new shoes will last 10 times as long and can't be chewed by rats.

Car Insurance Fee Doubled

Mr. C. H. Whittum, Chairman of the Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund Board, announced this week that the uninsured fee for 1963 will be $70.00. This is a $38.00 increase over the present $32.00 fee.

This means that a person applying for 1963 automobile tags must have a valid automobile liability insurance policy from a licensed Maryland company with at least 10/20/5 limits. If he does not have proof of insurance, he must pay in addition to the tag price, an additional $70.00 fee.

The increase in assessment against the uninsured is necessitated by the $2.2 million deficit. As of November 8, 1962, the Fund had paid to claimants on behalf of uninsured motorists the total amount of $2,892,078.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley CONTACT LENSES

Many people ask "Can I wear contact lenses?" Only one person can answer that for you, and that is your eye doctor. Most people can wear them but there are some who cannot for physiological or psychological reasons.

The theory of contact lenses was evolved by Leonardo da Vinci in 1508, but nothing was done for 300 years. Then a French mathematician and philosopher named Descartes proved the practical side of contacts but none were made until 1889 in Wiesbaden, Germany.

These lenses were made only for medical purposes; to protect the eye from a diseased eyelid. The Wiesbaden contact lenses covered the entire eye and were painful to wear.

The contact lenses of today, however, can be worn in comfort all day after the wearer becomes fully adapted to them.

It is very important for those who wear contact lenses to check with their eye doctor at regular intervals. The National Eye Research Foundation suggests that all of us should have our eyes examined every six months.
