Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

Mother Nature seems bent on shoving Christmas off the front page these days. With frigid northern air blasting the better part of the Nation naturally the paramount conversation is the weather. I believe several cold records were sent toppling here Wednesday and Thursday morning when the mercury was rammed down to near zero or slightly above. Records established half a century ago were broken for this time of the year, and there appears no hope of any moderation for the time being at least.

I see where the State Roads Commission is planning to develop a scenic route the entire distance of the shores of the Chesapeake Bay. This little scenic job will cost the taxpayers of Maryland a paltry $16,000,000. The idea of the whole thing is to offer a bit of competition to the famous Skyline Drive. The project is pretty well settled I am told and the Commission will go before the State Legislature next month to ask for the necessary funds. While reading about this I began to wonder why a scenic route was never laid in Western Maryland where the natural settings and mountainous terrain would make a perfect drive for tourists bent on sightseeing. Instead we have winding mountain trails that represent modern highways and just about nothing to attract tourists which this section of the state could use to bolster its economy. For many years now our governors have forsaken Western Maryland while the Eastern Shore and its environs received preferential treatment. Modern highways extend from Baltimore all the way to Ocean City but just look at our roads in Western Maryland. We have great potential here for mountain parks, fishing, hunting, etc., but the State has overlooked these potentialities consistently while being grossly engaged in building up the Eastern Shore area. It's getting so you only see the Governor once in every four years . . . and you know when and why. Let's get this belated modern highway between Harrisburg and Washington finished first boys before we tackle any other great projects. After all "they" have been talking over this modern highway between Harrisburg and the Nation's Capital for half a century.

From the mailbox comes a letter from an irate citizen. We reprint it and let you form your own opinion and conclusion.

Dear Abigail:

I read your column weekly. I can't say I approve of all the remarks that appear in it, but I am sure that an outspoken community newspaper is, at least potentially, a force for what is right and good.

It seems to me that there is an abuse of the citizens of this area, being perpetrated by the Potomac Edison Company. Specifically, I refer to the ten dollar deposit which that company requires as a sort of insurance that the customers will pay their bills promptly. My first reaction to this ten dollar rap is to feel indignant. Should a man be unfortunate enough to inadvertently pay one electric bill even one day late, it costs him ten dollars.

Other area citizens probably have felt that this policy of the Potomac Edison constitutes a public insult, and is the act of a corporate bully. I doubt that my indignant reaction is unique. If you feel there is any justice in these remarks, perhaps you would see fit to mention this matter in your next issue and print the text of this letter. For your information, I am enclosing a copy of a collection letter I received from the Potomac Edison Company.

Thanking you for your interest, I am,

Sincerely yours,
Thomas Casaleto

Christmas Program

The men of Tom's Creek Methodist Church will present a Christmas Program Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church. The title of the program is "Men of the First Christmas."

Mountaineers Win Two; Drop One

Mt. St. Mary's College basketballers regained some of their last year's championship form by bowling over two out of three opponents in action over the weekend.

Jim Phelan's Mountaineers edged Roanoke College Friday night at Salem, Va., by a 66-65 score.

The Maroons never led in regulation play. However, they did tie the score six times in the contest with the last time coming with 12 seconds remaining in the game.

In the overtime John Carrell provided the victory margin as he hit on two long jumpers to account for all of his team's overtime points.

Mt. St. Mary's flashy little guard, Ed Pfeiffer, paced all the scorers with 18 points on nine field goals. Pfeiffer got able scoring support from big John O'Reilly with 17 points and John Carrell 12.

Hard luck plagued the Mountaineers on Saturday night's action against Hampden-Sydney on the Virginians' floor. With their ace, John O'Reilly knocked out of the game by a blow on the head in the first eight minutes, the Blue and White went down to defeat, 84-82.

O'Reilly suffered a mild concussion in scrapping for a rebound at the eight-minute mark and was forced to sit out the rest of the game as the Mountaineers, defending conference champions, dropped their third game in five starts.

Bill Hardin took advantage of the absence of his opponent, O'Reilly, to tab 43 points for the Tigers. It was the first time in history Hampden-Sydney was able to defeat a Mount basketball team. When O'Reilly left the game he had scored 10 points and dominated the boards for his team. The Tigers were on top at that time 26-17 and late in the half built an 11-point lead only to have the Mount surge back to pare the lead to 43-41 at intermission.

The score was deadlocked seven times in the second half before Hampden-Sydney got the lead at 73-72 on Hardin's goal and from then on the home team led.

Dave Maloney led the Mountaineers with 30 points while Eddie Pfeiffer wound up with 23. The Mount caged 35 of 80 tries from the field for a 43.8 average. The Tigers managed only 31 goals but landed 22 free tosses as compared to 12 for the Mountaineers.

Tuesday night at Emmitsburg, O'Reilly and the Mountaineers went into high gear in the second half to rap upset-minded Catholic U., 83-70.

Because of heavy snow and bad road conditions in the Washington area, Catholic University didn't arrive at Mt. St. Mary's until after 9 p.m. The Mason-Dixon game didn't get under way until 9:30.

The long wait told on the Mountaineers in the opening 20 minutes and the best they could do was a 36-33 lead at intermission.

But the hot-handed Mountaineers, after their third M-D victory, emerged from the dressing room, allowed the Cardinals to close the gap to 36-34 before racing to a 43-34 margin on the shooting of Dave Maloney and John O'Reilly.

Big John O'Reilly who didn't look like a fellow recovering from a slight concussion, rolled in 18 points in the second half, mostly on layups from in close, and took down 22 rebounds to spark the Mounts to a margin as much as 18 points midway of the second half. O'Reilly, the team's leading scorer, connected on a three-point play at 9:38 to push the Mount's lead to 18. He wound up with 26 points and tied with the Cardinals' Bill Leahy for game scoring honors. Eddie Pfeiffer was second high for Mt. St. Mary's with 22 and Gene Horan was runner-up for C. U. with 24 markers.

The first half was a personal scoring duel between Leahy and Pfeiffer. The Catholic University forward hit for 17 points during the opening 20 minutes when the Cardinals held the lead three times and at one time had a four-point advantage.

But it was Pfeiffer's accurate jumpers that kept the Mountaineers a step ahead of the oncoming Cardinals. Eddie ran up 16 of his 22 points in the first half and in the opening minutes of play his shooting allowed the Mount to hold its slim edge.

More than one person has become wealthy merely by being polite.

Governor Tawes Asks Federal Aid For Local Farmers

Governor J. Millard Tawes this week asked Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman to declare seven Maryland counties eligible to participate in the Federal Government's livestock feed program.

Approval by Secretary Freeman would mean that livestock producers in the seven counties would be eligible to obtain grain and other feeds from the Commodity Credit Corporation for 25 per cent less than the support price.

In a letter to Secretary Freeman, the Governor asked that the following counties be designated as eligible to receive federal assistance: Baltimore, Carroll, Frederick, Harford, Howard, Montgomery and Washington.

Governor Tawes said that drought conditions that have existed in Maryland since last April have resulted in "a critical shortage of hay and other feeds and many dairy and other livestock producers in the affected area are in considerable distress."

The Chief Executive added that the Maryland U. S. Department of Agriculture Disaster Committee advised him that "approximately 31,000 head of cattle are to be liquidated in the seven county area unless the feed grain supply problem is alleviated."

Permitting the affected counties to participate in the livestock feed program "would be most helpful in preventing the liquidation of foundation animals in a number of the dairy and livestock herds in the affected area."

Earlier this year, Secretary Freeman, at the request of Governor Tawes, designated 14 Maryland counties as drought disaster areas. The action permitted eligible producers in Maryland to raise forage on lands retired from production under the Control Program, to borrow funds for emergency purposes from the Farmers Home Administration at a three per cent interest rate, and to receive a 25 per cent reduction in the rail rate on transportation of hay and other feeds.

High School Glee Club Program Sunday

St. Joseph's High School Glee Club under the direction of Rev. David Shaum, is making final arrangements for its Christmas program to be presented on December 16 at 4 p.m. in the school auditorium. The theme of the musical this year is The Singing Christmas Tree. A special presentation will be The Three Kings in the persons of Gene Lingg, Theodore Knox and Gary Miller.

Gettysburg Publisher Succumbs Suddenly

Samuel George Spangler, 88, retired manufacturer and president of The Times and News Publishing Company, died last Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg.

Mr. Spangler was removed to the hospital about 9:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in an ambulance after suffering a rupture of an aneurysm of the abdominal aorta.

He had attended a meeting of the board of directors of the First National Bank Tuesday.

In 1900, Mr. Spangler and the late J. Price Oyler formed the partnership of Oyler and Spangler and engaged in the manufacture of commercial fertilizers. Later they handled feeds and spray materials. They erected the plant that is now the Central Chemical Company's establishment on Lincolnway East at the Hunterstown road, near Gettysburg.

Mr. Spangler was the only president The Times and News Publishing Company ever had. He was elected in 1923 when the company was formed and purchased the paper from the late W. Lavere Hafer.

Seton School Plans Christmas Program

The annual Christmas Program at Mother Seton School will be held on Thursday evening, December 20 at 7:30 o'clock. Much of the presentation was developed by the children themselves as an activities project and should therefore prove especially interesting. Parents and friends of the school are warmly invited to attend, to applaud vigorously and to enjoy refreshments together following the program.

No regular PTA meeting is scheduled for December.

Christmas Party December 24

The thirty-third annual Lions Club Kiddies Christmas Party will be held on Monday, Dec. 24, it was announced at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in the Lutheran Parish Hall, President D. L. Beagle presiding with 18 members and one guest present.

Ralph F. Irelan, general chairman of the Christmas party reported he had interviewed a number of merchants relative to the date of the party and the unanimous opinion was that the day before Christmas would be an excellent time. Last year the affair was held on Dec. 16. The full page of sponsoring merchants and individuals contributing to make the party possible will be published in the Chronicle.

The one guest present at the meeting was Lion Nicely of the Brogue Lions Club of York County, Pa.

The club again agreed to sponsor the local Boy Scout Troop for another year at the approximate cost of $50. Lion Ralph Irelan reported on the shooting match held last Sunday in inclement weather and reported a net of roughly $50. He announced that another shooting match will be sponsored at the Civic Grounds Sunday, December 30.

Mrs. Sherwin Heads Sodality Group

The Sodality of St. Joseph's Church held its annual Christmas party on Saturday evening, Dec. 8 in the cafeteria of St. Joseph's High School. Preceding the party, reception of new members was held in the Church with Rev. Francis Stauble, Spiritual Director of the Sodality, presiding. Five new members were received into the association, as follows: Mrs. James Topper, Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke, Mrs. George Rosensteel, Mrs. Victor Antolin and Mrs. Englester. Following reception, the group gathered in the school cafeteria where a short business meeting and election of officers was held. Newly elected officers for the coming year are: President, Mary Sherwin; vice president, Margaret Myers; secretary, Kathleen Shorb; and treasurer, Rita Byard. Jean Joy Sanders' name was called for the door prize, but was not present. After the meeting, the ladies enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner. The outgoing president, Mrs. Loretta Adelsberger and the spiritual director, Rev. Francis Stauble, were presented gifts in appreciation of their work during the past year. After the dinner, the ladies enjoyed card-playing.

Bank Declares Dividend

Shuff, president of the Farmers and Mechanics-Citizens National Bank announced that the board of directors at their weekly meeting Tuesday, declared a regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share, plus a year-end dividend of an additional 10 cents per share. ## Commissioners Hear Budgetary Requests

The Frederick County Commissioners heard requests for a total of $80,878.39 in operating expenses for 1963 from two county departments and two private agencies subsidized by the county in three hours of budget hearings Monday afternoon.

The Frederick County Planning Commission asked for $31,779 in its budget request for 1963. The Sheriff's Office requested $38,700. The Frederick County Humane Society wants $9,149.39 under its contractual agreement with the county to operate the Animal Shelter on Gas House Pike. The Frederick County Historical Society was the only agency so far to ask for the same amount as last year, $1,250, in its 1963 budget.

The Planning Commission asked for the addition of a county planner at $7,000 per year, plus a continued salary of $6,270 for the present zoning inspector and $4,850 for the assistant zoning inspector and $3,200 for office help for a total salary request of $21,320 as opposed to $13,995 for this year, when some of the personnel was only employed for part of the year.

Professional assistance from national planner Julian Tarrant was reduced from $2,000 to $200, but the sum for a Planning Commission attorney was raised in the request from $300 to $1,200. Draftsmen's fees were reduced from $850 to $500. Miscellaneous expenses took a sharp drop from $680 to $100 but Social Security payments rose from $400 to $638, creating a total rise in operating expenses from $7,850 to $8,434. Capital outlays were increased in the 1963 budget request from $400 to $600, leaving a total Planning and Zoning Commission request increased by $8,105 from the $22,245 budget for 1962 to $30,354 asked for next year.

The Board of Appeals Budget, included in the Planning Commission request, remained $900 for salaries and $75 for advertising but was increased $100 in operating expenses for a total rise of $100 from the $1,325 allotted for this year to $1,425 requested for the coming year.

It was pointed out by chairman Wight that the Maryland State Planning Commission would refund $3,400 of the total proposed budget of the Planning Commission and Appeals Board.

The jail and sheriff's office budget submitted by Sheriff Alexander called for a $5,400 salary for the sheriff, $17,600 for his deputies and $3,500 for a clerk for a total salary request of $26,500, plus $2,400 for gas and oil for the sheriff's cars and $1,750 for tires and repairs.

The budget also contained $500 for traveling expenses, another $500 for special deputies, $1,000 for office supplies and equipment, $750 for uniforms, $1,250 for the maintenance of radio equipment in the cars and at the jail and office and $2,000 for telephone service. These figures plus $1,300 for a radio base station and $750 for a radio mobile unit created a total budget request of $38,700 for the Sheriff's Department.

MOUNT SCHOLA TO PRESENT CONCERT SUNDAY

The Mount St. Mary's Seminary Schola Cantorum will present its annual Christmas concert in the college chapel on December 16 at 8 p.m. with tenor Maynard Spedden as guest soloist. Excerpts from Benjamin Britten's Saint Nicholas Cantata with Spedden handling the solo passages will highlight the program.

Under the direction of Rev. David W. Shaum, Ph.D., professor of music, the Schola Cantorum Christmas concert has performed to turn-away audiences for the past ten years. Rt. Rev. George D. Mulcahy, rector of the Mount St. Mary's Seminary will speak briefly.

The concert will be a three part presentation: "The Word," "The Witness," and "The Liturgy."

The first part of the program will present Jacobsen's "Richard de Castre's Prayer to Jesus;" Shaw's "I sing of a Maiden;" Back's "My spirit, be joyful;" Cantata No. 146; Goemman's "A Virgin Most Pure," with Maynard Spedden; di Lasso's "Hodie apparuit;" and the ancient carol "Christ is born of a maiden fair."

Britten's Saint Nicholas Cantata will make up the second part of the program. Written in 1948, the libretto is based on legendary incidents in the life of St. Nicholas, universally known as Santa Claus and the patron saint of children, seamen and travelers. The chorus and the soloist describe his miraculous adventures with the vivid conviction of eyewitnesses, transforming themselves into the contrasting characters of the drama as it unfolds and drawing the separate threads of the story together with each climax of their prayer and praise.

In the final offering the congregation will join the choristers in "O, Come All Ye Faithful," the "Tantum Ergo" and Bach's Final Choral from the passion according to St. John" will complete the program.

Rev. Francis X. Callahan will serve as lector for the occasion and the orchestra will be under the direction of Joseph Chalker, Assistant music supervisor for Carroll County schools.

The Voice of America will tape the concert for the third year in a row, and will rebroadcast the concert throughout the world.

Council Adopts Same Tax Rate For 1963

Emmitsburg's real estate, personal property and sewer taxes will remain the same this year, Mayor J. Allen Bouey announces. The decision to hold the line on any tax increase this year was made at a recent meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners.

At the present time the town's tax rate is 70c on $100. This same rate will apply to businesses also. The Town Fathers announced that all unpaid taxes for 1962 will become delinquent after December 31 and urged all delinquents to make payment by that time. After December all delinquent accounts will be sent to the County Treasurer for collection, and extra charges will result. The sewerage tax will remain at $25 per basic unit.

The Council was happy to announce that it was able to keep the same tax rate despite the fact that many other municipalities in the county and state were forced to raise their rates. Mayor Bouey is currently working on the new budget and new tax bills will be mailed out early in January. Negotiations with the Emmitsburg Water Co. for the purchase of its assets by the Town are still progressing it was reported and work on the new sewer line is continuing. Street Commissioner J. Norman Flax reported.

Campus Comment

Last week, after discussing the work of our Senior Student Teachers in Baltimore, we indicated that our Junior Education students were also gaining practical experience here in Emmitsburg schools: Mother Seton School, Emmitsburg Public High School and St. Joseph's High School. This is the first year our Teacher Assistantship program and both students and the participating schools are endorsing it.

The purpose of the program is twofold: to provide the cooperating secondary schools with the service of teacher assistants and to provide the teacher trainees with a realistic preview of their profession. By becoming familiar with the varied activities of the teacher and working with young people, the junior education student becomes more aware of the work of the school as an integrated whole, gains an understanding of working with young people, and builds a background necessary for professional courses. Thus she is aided in developing the personal, social, and professional qualities of a teacher.

The teacher assistant reports one hour per week to her respective school, usually being assigned to a teacher in her major field of study. Typical duties are grading tests, typing, distributing materials, taking attendance, tutoring, or assisting with audio-visual aids.

Most of the students had never realized how much additional work is involved in teaching; presenting a planned lesson before the class is only a part of the job. This is the time to acquaint themselves slowly with the varied demands of a teacher's time so they will be more prepared for the role of the student teacher and finally, the teacher herself.

The teacher assistant program has been adopted in many school systems in order to give teachers more time to devote to actual teaching. We are fortunate in having the opportunity to participate in such a program and appreciate the cooperation of our local schools, the principals, and the teachers. We sincerely hope that our one hour per week is as much an aid to them as it is to us.

"MS" TELETHON VERY SUCCESSFUL

The Maryland Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society today thanked the many hundreds of volunteers and participants in the "MS Telethon" held this past weekend on WBAL-TV.

In expressing appreciation to these volunteers, Douglas A. MacFarlane, Campaign and Telethon Chairman, said he particularly wanted to thank the more than 200 people who responded to a request for telephone volunteers and also the entertainers, high school and college groups who worked many long hours on the "MS Telethon."

The final returns are not yet in, he said, but the response to date has been excellent. MacFarlane said that those who made a pledge should send their contributions to MS Telethon, c/o Equitable Trust Company, Box 125, Baltimore 2, Md. Those sending checks should make them payable to MS Telethon.

Contributions on the "MS Telethon" will be used to carry on much needed patient therapy, clinical and recreational programs, as well as help determine the cause and cure of Multiple Sclerosis. All contributions will be credited to the local chapter of the donor.

C. C. D. JOURNAL

Customs from many different lands have combined to give Christmas a truly melting-pot aspect in America.

The Christmas tree is not, as is often supposed, a derivation of the Yule Log. It originated in Germany about 1600, but did not become widespread until after 1800. The Christmas tree is the result of combining two religious symbols of Medieval days — the Paradise Tree and Christmas Light. The Paradise Tree, a fir tree hung with apples, was the only stage prop for the popular Paradise Play, depicting Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden. Christmas Light symbolizes Our Lord as Light of the World. The Christmas tree represents Christ as the Tree of Life—evergreen to symbolize eternity and everlasting life.

The Christmas Crib originated with St. Francis of Assisi who celebrated the Christmas Eve of 1223 at Greccio, Italy with a Bethlehem scene including live animals.

Lights in the windows during the Christmas season was brought to America by Irish immigrants who, during the English persecution, put lighted candles in their windows to indicate a safe haven for priests who might be hiding in nearby forests.

Mistletoe, considered a healing plant by pagan Druids, symbolizes Christ, the Divine Healer. And poinsettia, a plant native to Central America, symbolizes Divine Love by its flaming color and the Star of Bethlehem by its shape.

Celebrating the Twelve Days of Christmas is a custom that has been long out of favor, but the calendar lists the people and events that make up this period of festivity. Feasts of St. Stephen, the first martyr of Christianity, St. John the Evangelist and the Holy Innocents of Bethlehem are a few of the commemorations.

New Year's Day, the octave of the Nativity, is a second Christmas and should be celebrated with all of the radiant features of Christmas. In France, presents are given on this day; in other countries, a part of the Christmas gifts is withheld for a second joyful present-giving on New Year's Day.

And, as a blazing conclusion to the Twelve Days of Christmas, we celebrate the Feast of the Epiphany. It commemorates the visit of the Magi to Bethlehem when our Lord manifested Himself as Redeemer to these representatives of the gentiles using the miraculous star to guide them.

It is no great wonder that this feast is the central feast of Catholic Missions.

It's funny, but there are always some people, in any community, who are always willing to be a candidate for whatever happens to be open at the time.

Few of us know our real friends until we meet with misfortune or difficulty.

100 YEARS AGO

LEE CRUSHES BURNSIDE
AT FREDERICKSBURG, VA.

By Lon K. Savage

Gen. Robert E. Lee, his staff gathered around him, stood on the ridge of Telegraph Hill 100 years ago this week just west of Fredericksburg, Va., and gazed down through the lifting fog below. It was almost too good to be true.

Off to the left below him stood the town of Fredericksburg, shrouded in the mist. To his front, a plain stretched from the hill on which he stood to the Rappahannock River beyond. Pontoon bridges led across the river to another range of hills rising on the river's other side. To his right and left, nestled in hillside rifle pits and gun emplacements, Lee's 80,000 men waited patiently.

It was 10 a.m., December 13, and as the fog rose, the sun's rays fell to the plain, where they glistened off thousands of bayonets. There, fully in Lee's view, the huge Federal army of Gen. Ambrose E. Burnside, 100,000 strong, moved to and fro, flags and pennants waving, bands playing, all preparing for a hopeless attack on Lee's hillside position.

Lee's troops had watched during the past two days as the Federals put up their pontoon bridges and crossed the river. The Rebels had shot at the construction crews, harassing them until Burnside finally shelled Fredericksburg with his artillery. Then the Federals crossed, as the Confederates took position in the hills, their guns zeroed in on the plain that the Federals had to cross.

Burnside ordered his men forward in two attacks, one on each of the Confederates' flanks, and the men moved resolutely forward to the slaughter.

To Lee's left, the Federals poured from the streets of Fredericksburg, yelling "Hi, Hi," and swarmed across the plain toward a sunken road and stone wall, behind which 2,500 Confederates waited in a nan impregnable position.

The Confederate artillery and muskets volleyed into the charging Federals, knocking them down by scores, but new waves of men followed them. Six times the Federals charged, according to one general's count, and the blue clad bodies piled three deep at points.

A Federal officer, viewing the scene from a Fredericksburg church steeple, cried, "See how our men, our brave fellows, are falling." And another described it: "The whole plain was covered with men, prostrate and dropping, the live men running here and there, and in front closing upon each other, and the wounded coming back." Not one armed Federal reached the stone wall alive, but 5,000 fell in the attempt.

Jackson's Line

Off to Lee's right, Federal Gen. George C. Meade led another attack with equal vigor but with little more success. At one point, his men broke through the line of "Stonewall" Jackson, but Lee quickly sent forth reinforcements, drove the Federals back and patched the hole.

The sun set early that short December day, and the attack melted away to the cries of the wounded and dying on the frozen battlefield. In all, more than 12,000 Federals and 5,000 Confederates were casualties.

Next day—it was Sunday—Burnside was near tears. "Oh! those men! those men!" he wailed, referring to the dead and wounded. "I am thinking of them all the time." Then, facing up to the harsh realities of war, he withdrew the remnants of his army across the river whence it had come.

Next week: Grant is halted.

Safety Urged In Decorating Trees

More than 50 million American families in the next few days will be buying Christmas trees and decorating them for the holiday season.

Unless care is taken, this happy symbol of the holiday season can bring tragedy, warns the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

These suggestions are offered by the Board to keep your Christmas tree firesafe:

1—When you buy a Christmas tree, choose one which appears fresh. Before you buy the tree, run your hand over the needles to make sure they are firmly attached. If needles fall when brushed, the tree is dry and you should select another one.

2—When you get the tree home, keep it outdoors until you are ready to decorate it. You can keep it fresh by standing in a pail of water.

3—You should wait until just before Christmas before setting up the tree.

4—You should place the tree in the coolest part of the room, away from radiators, heaters and the fireplace. This will keep the tree from drying, and reduce the chance of fire.

5—Your Christmas tree stand should be of the type equipped with a water container in which the trunk can rest. Fresh trees will "drink" a sizeable amount of water, and you should fill the water container daily.

6—Only flameproof decorations should be used on the tree—those made of glass, metal or fire-resistant material.

7—Use only electric lights to illuminate the tree and be sure to check light strings before placing them on the branches. Those your skin to soak up undue moisture non-breathing bag will cause. No Bird's Nest

Sooner or later every monofilament slipper up and is presented with a monumental backlash that extends down through the entire spool. To nip such bird nest possibilities before they start, tape a piece of clear tape across the spool just a little deeper than your ordinary casting distance. If a heavy fish takes line, the light tape whisks through the guides with no dire consequences. But if you backlash, the tape keeps the tangle in the top of the line where it can be unraveled easily. Well, fairly easily.

Counting Crows

Crows can count, honest. Up to one. Here's proof and a good tip at the same time. Walk into a woods and call crows. Nothing happens. They know you are there. But have a pal go with you. Both walk in, one walks out, and see what happens. Crows come. They counted one in, one out, everything okay. Some crow hunters claim they (the crows) can count up to two and you have to have three men in, two men out. What's Crow I.Q. in your area?

Dry Matches

Matches sealed in aluminum foil will stay dry for a long, long time.

Mix Before You Camp

With new dried foods, mix in four kitchen and save yourself time and trouble. Potatoes, coco, biscuits, even coffee can be mixed the way you like it with powdered milk at home and repacked for field use. In camp just add water.

Double Duty Ash Tray

Set the ridge pole of your tent in a big metal ash tray instead of on tent floor or dirt. Prevents pole sinking, arrests wear on floor canvass, and you can snuff out butts in it.

Mud Snow-Shoes

To retrieve ducks in gork, use an old pair of snow-shoes and scoot easily over softest spots.

with frayed wires should be thrown away. If you buy a new set, select a type that bears the Underwriters Laboratories label.

8—The switch controlling the tree lights should be some distance from the tree.

9—Electric trains—part of Christmas in many homes—should be set up away from the tree. Sparks from toy trains could be fire hazards.

10—Lights on Christmas tree always should be turned off when everyone is away from home.

11—Check the tree frequently for dryness. In particular, check tree needles near lights. If they have started to turn brittle, change the position of the lights.

12—When needles become so dry they start falling, take the tree down at once and put it outdoors.

13—When Christmas presents are opened, the gift wrappings you intend to keep should be folded and put away. Other paper, ribbon and boxes should be gathered up and thrown away promptly.

BABSON

/rites...

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Reviews 1962

BABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 13—Before attempting to assess prospects for 1963, it would be well for readers to look back on 1962 to "get the lay of the land," so to speak. The trends of the past year could provide valuable clues as to what may happen in 1963—which will be discussed in full in my 1963 Forecast for release on December 27, 1962.

A Year Of Crises
1962 had more than its share of dramatic events. Noteworthy among these were the forceful role played by the government in various aspects of business. Early in the year, Labor-Management bargaining in the steel industry was given definite "guidance" by the government. This helped to bring about an early and peaceful contract settlement. Only time will tell what the impact will be on the basic rights and responsibilities of Labor and Management in formulating mutually satisfactory working agreements. Shortly thereafter, attempts of certain leading steel companies to raise prices were dealt a severe setback at the hands of the government. This jolted confidence and helped to trigger the stock market slump, another crisis.

The international scene took the limelight later in the year. The Cuban furor was followed shortly by the invasion of India by Red China. President Kennedy's forthright stand on Cuba restored American prestige in the eyes of the world. However, the Sino-Indian border clash underscored the magnitude of world unrest.

A Spateful Of Records
Notwithstanding the above-mentioned crises, the American economy put together an excellent year. New records were set in many sectors. Total dollar value of goods and services produced (the Gross National Product) set a new record of $555 billion, according to my estimate. This trend is persistently up from the $519 billion average in 1961. The Federal Reserve Index of Industrial Production, which measures physical volume of output, is estimated to have averaged 119 (also a new record), versus 110 in 1961.

Other record-shattering performances included peaks in new construction expenditures, business capital outlays, retail trade, and personal income. Employment was also of record

A Spateful Of Records

Notwithstanding the above-mentioned crises, the American economy put together an excellent year. New records were set in many sectors. Total dollar value of goods and services produced (the Gross National Product) set a new record of $555 billion, according to my estimate. This trend is persistently up from the $519 billion average in 1961. The Federal Reserve Index of Industrial Production, which measures physical volume of output, is estimated to have averaged 119 (also a new record), versus 110 in 1961.

Other record-shattering performances included peaks in new construction expenditures, business capital outlays, retail trade, and personal income. Employment was also of record size; but, due to the increase in workers, the rate of employment relative to the growth in the labor force was disappointing. This situation points up a fundamental weak spot in our economy. If not remedied by sane business and government policies, it could haunt us in the future.

A Good Year For Consumers

The total spent each year by federal, state, and local governments is an awesome figure. Nevertheless, this is only about one-third of the total spent by consumers. Hence, our economy is still keyed to how consumers fare. In 1962, consumers had, indeed, much to be pleased about. Their earnings rose to unprecedented highs, and employment was ample in most areas. They spent rather freely, but still they added significantly to their savings. These factors were primarily responsible for maintaining a high level of public confidence.

Prices And Profits

Price structures were generally under pressure throughout 1962. The Bureau of Labor's Wholesale Price Index was fairly steady, but with a slight downward tilt. Prices for industrial and primary commodities, however, slipped more, due to abundant supplies and cautious demand. Price shadings, both announced and "under the counter", were commonplace. Retail prices were also subject to "discounts".

Starting the year with a slight sag, business profits turned upward moderately the remainder of 1962. Though price structures were on the soft side, businessmen shored up their profits through cost-cutting measures and by maintaining brisk production rates.

Stock Market

Many investors are still suffering from the slash in stock market values last spring. While the slump was breathtakingly sharp, subsequent rallies gradually restored a measure of confidence. Nonetheless, many investors undoubtedly learned a good lesson from the shakeout, and a considerable amount of unhealthy speculative thinking has been quashed. It appears that the stock market too is groping along trying to gauge the treacherous currents of the past year.

Insurance Dividends Due Many Vets Soon

Approximately 86,000 Maryland veterans of World War I and II will receive about $6,157,000 in regular and special insurance dividends next month. F. E. Quinn, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Baltimore, said this week.

The Veterans Administration estimates the bulk of this fund, $5,928,000, will go to World War II veterans in Maryland holding National Service Life Insurance (NSLI). The $5,928,000 represents both the annual 1963 regular dividend and a "special" dividend.

The VA estimates further, Mr. Quinn said, that about $229,000 in regular dividends will go to World War I veterans in Maryland, holders of U. S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI).

The regular dividends paid to both World War I and World War II policyholders are primarily a return to the policyholders of part of their annual premium payments since the death rate among GI policyholders continues to be lower than the rate upon which the payments were established by law.

The special dividend going to World War II veterans will be paid from the contingency reserve fund due to the fact that study and current experience indicate that the fund is more than ample to meet the needs of the insurance program.

Mr. Quinn said he had been advised the first dividend checks will be mailed out the first working day in January.

Through the cooperation of the U. S. Treasury Department and the U. S. Post Office, 75 per cent of the dividend checks will be distributed to veterans in the State by January 15, and all of them are scheduled to be distributed by the end of January.

Throughout the nation more than $227,000,000 in 1963 insurance dividends will be distributed,

"TAKE TEN" WHILE YOU ARE ADDRESSING HOLIDAY CARDS

It's that time again—time to address Christmas cards and holiday notes. The list of names seems endless with so many other things to do. Sometimes it requires late evening concentration at your desk. If you work at it too long at a time, you may develop writer's cramp, eye strain or "penmanship squint."

To avoid any of these discomforts, follow the old Army rule and "take ten." Literally this means: give yourself a ten-minute rest period to allow your body to revitalize itself. It may be a good idea—if your card list is long—to "take ten" after you have finished all the names starting with J, and then again after you have finished all those starting with S.

The ten-minute break is nature's own prescription for resting tired muscles and avoiding fatigue.

As you begin your card-addressing task, it is well to remember several facts about eyes and "close work." Researchers for the Murine Company say that the normal distance for seeing at which the eyes are practically at rest is 20 feet or more. Many seeing tasks—such as addressing cards and reading—are performed at approximately 14 inches from the eyes. When the human seeing machine operates at close range, muscles become tense and irritability sometimes results.

Here are some suggestions to follow to make the annual job of addressing holiday cards less taxing: Don't attempt to perform the job in a dim light. (Candlelight may be festive but not feasible.) Indirect or diffused illumination in the writing area, along with good general lighting, is recommended for eye comfort. If you are over 40, remember that your eyes, along with the rest of you, tire more easily than they did a decade ago.

So "take ten" and relax your eye muscles by focusing on some distant object for a few seconds. Have a cup of coffee, too. During your "break" you will also find it helpful to use eye drops to rest and soothe your eyes made tired by "penmanship strain."

This will go a long way toward keeping a merry twinkle in your eyes as you say "HAPPY HOLIDAYS."

THE DAY THESE WIRE PLIERS CUT THROUGH ROPE

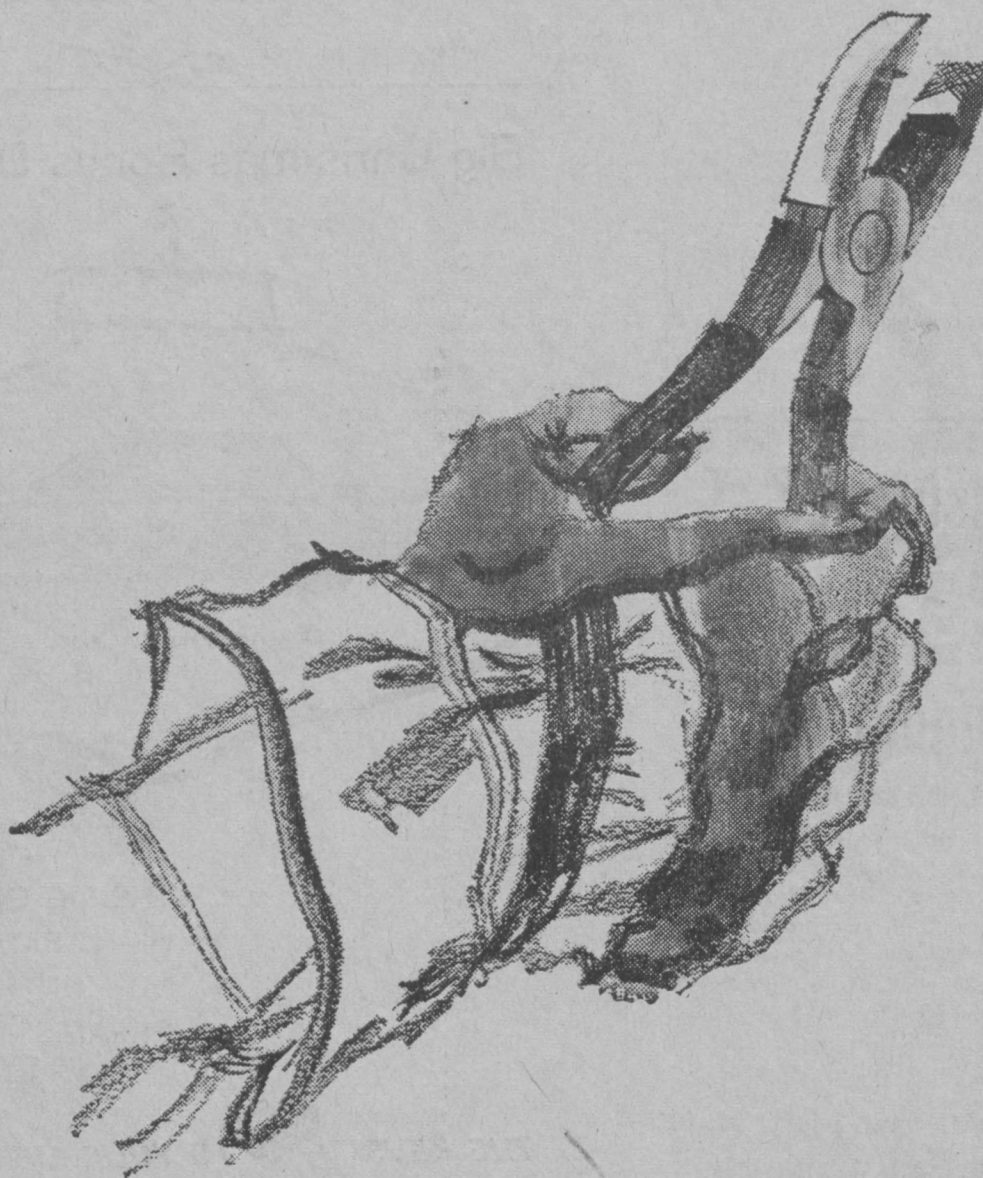

It was a quiet day in a quiet Baltimore neighborhood. Not that telephone lineman Clarence Bivens particularly noticed. He was absorbed in work, at his high perch atop a utility pole.

Suddenly Clarence heard the frightening sound of a child choking. He looked in all directions and at first saw nothing. Then, some hundred yards away, he spotted a small boy hanging by his neck, from a rope tied to a tree limb.

Hardly believing his eyes, Clarence clambered down the pole, dashed to the tree and severed the rope with his pliers.

Happily, the four-year-old boy escaped with just mild rope burns on his neck. Lineman Bivens had prevented a tragic ending to a child's game that had toyed with danger.

For five years, Clarence Bivens has been using his skill and tools to provide dependable telephone service. But his lineman's pliers never performed a more important service than on the day he cut the rope.

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

Baby's Skin Problems

By Dr. Louis B. Wexler,
Attending Dermatologist

Beekman Downtown Hospital and Fordham Hospital, New York

A baby's skin differs from that of an adult and requires special care. It is more sensitive and easily affected.

Not only is baby's skin thinner, it has less keratin, a protein substance which forms the base of the skin, and less pigment, the skin's coloring matter. With both of these substances in short supply, the ability of baby's skin to protect itself against sunlight, friction and changes in temperature is not as great as that of adults.

What is more, many of the sebaceous (oil) glands found in the skin, for example, has undeveloped sebaceous glands in the diaper area; that is, in the groin and the anal regions. Thus, the protective oils secreted by the sebaceous glands are not present in the natural folds of skin in this area making these folds vulnerable to infection and disease.

Perhaps the most important element in the proper care of a baby's skin is the changing of the diaper as soon as it is wet or soiled. For three of the principal causes of diaper rash are contained in a wet diaper.

It is the natural decomposition of the urine in the diaper by certain bacteria that results in the foundation of ammonia, a powerful skin irritant. The wet diaper also seems to emphasize the presence of any traces of irritating soap and detergent which have not been completely rinsed away after washing. It also seems to be a irritative environment for the skin-irritating bacteria that have survived the diaper's washing because washing is not sterilizing.

Most doctors as well as the American Medical Association are agreed that the processing of diapers by a professional diaper service is far more effective in restraining the growth of ammonia-forming bacteria and in removing irritating soaps and detergents than any home laundering.

Changing the diaper as soon as it becomes wet also prevents the softening of the baby's skin. Softened skin will often permit the entry of bacteria and the development of skin rashes.

LOOKING AHEAD

Did Khrushchev Win In Cuba?
As the post-election weeks come and go and the political uses of the Cuban crisis fade more into the background, the nation needs to restudy the whole Cuban experience. Whereas the showdown appeared to bring victory both political and diplomatic for President Kennedy, it appears more and more as the cheers subside to be in fact a guarantee of Cuba to the Communists. To say the very least, the latch key was left hanging out for Khrushchev when the President offered his "assurances" against any invasion of Cuba.

At this writing, the President has not seen fit to interpret this guarantee to the American people, a thing which he most certainly needs to do. Was this meant to be only a description of traditional American policy, that is, that this nation is not in the habit of invading its neighbor? Surely, Mr. Khrushchev has known of our traditions (which he often refers to as "warmongering"), but this time he apparently realized that his own actions were providing a very suitable pretext for an invasion of Cuba.

A Quick Deal
The world is familiar with the rattle of Soviet rockets over the cobblestones of Moscow on May Day. This time, however, the Russian premier by merely setting up some of these missiles in Cuba and rattling them under our noses, won the permanent visa to Cuba that he so much wanted. Cuba therefore remains a Soviet satellite, armed with everything else but these particular missiles. It seems very clear that Khrushchev is a past-master of the quick deal, for he usually comes out a little ahead of anybody who assumes the "no-win" posture.

What we ought to fear most — and we must emphasize that there is no new threat here — is this base not for missiles but for propaganda, subversion, and infiltration that will exist as long as Castro ("a Marxist-Leninist until the day I die") is in charge. This is part of the Cold War, but for a generation our government has refused for the most part to face up to the necessities of this kind of warfare. Unless we demand that Khrushchev dismantle the whole Castro regime, we are losing the Cold War with Cuba and the Communists as well.

The Backing Away
Perhaps Mr. Kennedy who has once reversed his direction to pursue a policy of action instead of inaction, of strength instead of weakness, could conceivably do it again. The flush of political victory and of almost unanimous free-world approval of his blockade will not be enough to put us out ahead in the Cold War. For America to hold the approval of the free world, there will have to be an end to backpedaling and concessions. Instead of a quick return to a no-win policy, let us

Hit into their hearts.

Bringing Puss Home

You've just bought a brand new kitten. Now you have to get her home — and happy.

Transport her in a well-ventilated but closed box — or, buy a commercial cat carrier. She probably won't take to it at first, but it is not particularly comfortable to drive a car — or ride a subway — with a nervous cat trying to claw her way out of your lap or up your back. Better for puss, too. Once you get home, put the kitten into her cat bed, a low-sided, small, box lined with soft flannel or wool will do. Leave the top on part of the box. Kittens love to have a dark corner to retreat to. A bit of catnip in it, and a bowl of water beside it, will appeal to her, but she will probably side off on an exploring trip before settling down.

It is important to reassure her. If she vanishes under the TV, let her stay there for a while. But if she hides for a long time, chances are she is frightened and should be sought out and gentled.

When she has finished exploring you can offer her something to eat. At the Marina Cat Care Center we have found that small kittens grew rapidly when fed moistened Cat Chow several times daily. Serve fresh every 4 hours or so. As the kittens grow, (8 to 5 months), we reduce the feedings to twice a day. Many cats prefer to nibble at food throughout the day, which is now practical with dry Cat Chow. Let her eat as much as she wants. If she refuses the proffered food, take it away and try again later. She may not be hungry her first few days in a new home.

make plans to take the initiative.

If an excuse is needed for reopening the discussion with the Soviet Union, we might use the approach suggested by former Ambassador William D. Pawley, who knows Latin American problems. His suggestion was that Russian statements made in New York in early November by their Mr. Mikoyan supporting Castro's demand for withdrawal from Guantanamo had already justified cancellation of any implied agreement with the Soviets regarding Cuba. At that point, Mr. Pawley observed, the initiative could have been regained and our "backing away from victory" avoided. Perhaps this could still be done.

Was It A Treaty
Does the President believe that a treaty with Russia on Cuba, including "assurances not to invade," would meet the approval of the Senate? According to Article II, Section 2, of the Constitution, the President is authorized to make treaties only "with the advice and consent of the Senate," two-thirds of those present concurring. Mr. Kennedy might well follow the Constitutional pattern and discover what a source of strength representative government can be to its leadership. Such a course would help close the gap that has been so apparent between public will and executive reluctance.

Present evidence available makes it appear that Mr. Kennedy has given ear to the concession crowd that helped him desert the Cuban patriots at the Bay of Pigs. Who were these irresponsible advisors? The President can take steps to replace them with men who are wise and knowledgeable, as well as cautious. The nation needs leadership that will not bring us to defeat through disastrous policy recommendations we need men who understand what the Cold War is all about and who will not fear to place America on the line against Communist aggression.

Your Personal Health

Your TB Association And Respiratory Disease

Anything that damages the lungs or hampers breathing is of concern to your TB Association, because it may have a bearing on TB. For instance, flu and pneumonia may be a cause of breakdown among people infected with the TB germ. In the same way, other respiratory diseases are not only serious problems in themselves, but they are special problems when combined with TB.

A respiratory disease is an illness that affects the body's breathing system. Some of the respiratory illnesses are infectious, passed on from one person to another — colds, flu, tuberculosis. Fungus diseases that affect the body's breathing are caught by inhaling spore-bearing dust. Others, such as pneumonia and acute bronchitis, can be caught from somebody else. But they are also caused by germs which stay quietly in the throat most of the time, but go into the bronchial tubes and lungs and multiply when a person's resistance is lowered. Here are some of the things that TB associations have been doing in the fight to control respiratory disease:

Contributing to the salary of a teacher of respiratory diseases at medical schools.

Supporting research projects on the lungs and on the diagnosis and treatment of respiratory disease.

Providing scholarships for respiratory disease courses for doctors and nurses.

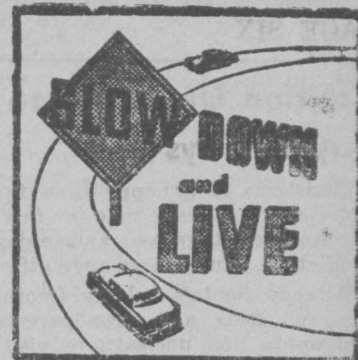

Providing scholarships for medical students to gain experience with respiratory diseases.

Supporting screening programs to find respiratory diseases early.

Supporting community efforts to control air pollution.

Assisting, through grants and personnel, the operation of a chest diagnostic clinic.

The TB association's work in respiratory diseases is financed by Christmas Seal contributions.

Mrs. Lila Masson of Detroit, Michigan—Mrs. America—shares her joy with all Americans in receiving a U. S. Savings Bond among her gifts. She says the gift was particularly appropriate, since regular buying of Savings Bonds is a family habit in the Masson home. The gift of an extra Bond during the Yule season is something she recommends to every family.

Read Luke 2:8-20.

Blessed be the Lord God of Israel: for he hath visited and redeemed his people, and hath raised up an horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David; as he spake by the mouth of his holy prophets. (Luke 1:68-70.)

Zacharias, the father of John the Baptist, thus spoke of Jesus a few months before the Redeemer's birth. The hour of the merciful visitation was soon to come. "The dayspring from on high" would soon rise over the world.

It is an event neither unexpected nor unforeseen. "In thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed," the Lord had said to Abraham. Christ's coming will be the accomplishments of that promise, "his holy covenant, the oath which he swore to our father Abraham."

In our planning to celebrate Christmas once more, we shall miss the point of it all if we do not seek the true meaning of the holy testimony. We need the spirit of Jesus in our souls so that "the great dawn" may rise up clearer for us and lead our steps onward in the way of peace.

Prayer
O Lord, we thank Thee for sending Thy Son to us. We pray that "the dayspring from on high" may rise upon more and more persons to illuminate and redeem them from perversity and wickedness. Grant us peace; through Christ. Amen.

Caution Urged When Buying Toys

Christmas is a happy time for American families, a time for families to get together and enjoy each other. And to exchange gifts. Already Santa's helpers (mothers and dads and grandparents and aunts and uncles) are visiting the toy shops in anticipation of making it a big Christmas for the small fry.

The toys this season are infinite in variety and ingenuity. Most of them are completely safe for the small children. But some of them may have inherent built-in dangers to the health and safety of the youngsters.

Here are some shopping hints that may help you insure that Christmas in your household is unmarred by a preventable accident or illness originating from toys or decorations. Avoid toys made of lead or colored with lead-based paints. Small children sometimes chew off the lead paint and swallow it, and serious illness could result. Be careful about small toys that can be swallowed, flammable toys and toys with rough or sharp edges. Baby's toys should be too large to put in the mouth, washable, lightweight and non-brittle. Electric toys can be a special hazard. Look for the UL (Underwriters Laboratory) label on the cord and the toy itself.

Missile - throwing toys, from sling shots to air rifles, are dangerous, particularly to the eyes. Toy archery sets also are hazardous. If your child receives a toy that propels BB shot or arrows, by all means establish ground rules for safe use, and see that they are enforced.

Air rifles are illegal in many localities and a check of local laws is advisable before making the purchase. Never forget that BB shot ricochet easily from a hard surface.

Christmas tree ornaments, particularly strings of small lights, are another potential holiday hazard. Children will sometimes chew up and even swallow a small bulb, with obvious results. Tree lights of flimsy wiring, or old strands that have been reused for years, sometimes can be fire hazards.

Glass tree ornaments often shatter easily and sprinkle slivers around the room. Handle ornaments and lights with care and keep the extras and the discarded bulbs out of reach of the tots.

Apply Early For Social Security

A delay in checking on your social security benefits when you are close to retirement age may cost you money, W. S. King, Social Security District Manager in Hagerstown, said this week.

In a recent case, a school teacher discovered that taking a few minutes to inquire at the district office resulted in $250 more a year in benefits for her. In another case, a widow considering remarriage was able to learn how she could continue to receive a monthly benefit.

People who plan ahead will want to learn how much their social security benefits will be each month so that they may assure themselves comfortable retirement. They will also want to have all the necessary applications processed so that they can start receiving monthly benefit checks as soon as they do retire. The district office will be able to help you on both counts, Mr. King said.

Persons between 62 and 65 should inquire about the options available to them. Under the 1961 amendments, men as well as women, were made eligible for retirement benefits in reduced amounts beginning at age 62. Your social security representative will give you the facts so that you can decide whether it is to your advantage to take your retirement benefits three years early.

By making an early inquiry, a person soon to become eligible for benefits can learn what documentary proofs, such as a birth certificate or marriage certificate, is necessary to assure prompt payment of his benefits.

Everyone is a coward, about some things, and justly so.

Any idea a college professor has about money is bound to be theoretical.—Grand Rapids Press.

This is the time of the year to be thinking up some good resolutions. The year 1963 is just around the corner.

Chiropractic Advice On Trimming Tree

Rules to stay trim while trimming the tree were issued today by the Maryland Chiropractic Association.

Dr. Joseph H. Inloes, of Baltimore, chairman of a special chiropractic committee on Yule-tide safety, said a dad and mother can do their backs, themselves and their families a real favor by obeying these instructions while fancying up the evergreen and decorating the house for the holidays:

1. Use a ladder—a good, sturdy, strong one.
2. Have another member of the family assist by steadying the ladder for you.
3. Don't stretch so far as to cause your spine to curve too much. This bad posture may put too much strain on ligaments weakened by poor posture habits or lack of proper exercise and result in an aching back.
4. Be sure to bend the knees while lifting using the spine as a lever will break down even the strongest back. Really heavy packages and boxes of ornaments should be handled by two or three people. Remember — after picking up the box or package, do not twist from the waist up to set it down. Turn the whole body around by moving the feet.
5. Relax, don't fuss with one another while decorating, make it a fun project. Enjoy a Merry Christmas and have a safe tree trim.

"OPINIONS FROM THE FIELD"

Last Saturday at sunset another Maryland deer season came to an end. According to the game officials 193 bucks were killed in Frederick County compared to the record of 268 killed in 1957. Many opinions are given for the smaller kill with most blaming the warm weather at the beginning and the rain, fog, and snow during the latter part of the season. Whatever the kill, it was interesting to note that residents of Thurmont, Emmitsburg, Lantz, and other small communities in the northern part of the county accounted for nearly 90 of the 193 total. This disproves the theory of many local nimrods who claim that the "city" hunters shoot most of the deer. Certainly Emmitsburg hunters shouldn't be ashamed of 25 kills compared to less than 10 for Baltimore residents.

According to the checking stations, most deer averaged less than 100 pounds and this leads some to believe that the deer aren't getting the proper diet. However, game officials state that 9 out of 10 bucks checked are only 1½ years old and a deer must be 3½ to 5 years to be of trophy size. Thus, a male deer born this summer will probably be killed next December, will weigh between 75 and 100 pounds, and be anything from a spike to a 6 point. Occasionally, bucks escape hunting pressure by leaving the mountains, entering a refuge or restricted area and thus live an extra year or so before being killed. This is the reason for an occasional deer to weigh 140-150 pounds and have 7-10 points. Further evidence was a "low country" buck killed this year weighing 209 pounds. What a deer!

As usual the woods had its share of "stump and bottle" shooters. This writer saw a group of hunters shooting target near the Foxville Fire Tower at 9:00 the first morning. This kind of dangerous foolishness is usually reserved for the last day of the season by hunters unloading their guns. It is the opinion of many hunters, myself included, that this practice should be stopped. Near-by Pennsylvania has a law with a $10.00 penalty for "target shooting or shooting at random during the big game season except at properly protected targets within 200 yards of camp or headquarters." A law of this type might help to curb this dangerous practice.

Thus endeth this epistle with the stark realization that if the writer had to depend on game for food he would have starved to death years ago. Wait 'til next year tho' . . . !

FIRE CHIEF GIVES SAFETY TIPS

Fire Chief Sterling White of the Vigilant Hose Company this week issued the following safety suggestions to be observed over the Christmas period. Chief White says these eight safety rules will pay good dividends:

1. Don't leave the Christmas tree near any stairway which would provide a draft.
2. The tree should not block any door or exit.
3. An inspection of the tree should be made every day by someone in authority to determine whether the tree should be left up for a longer time; when the needles begin to fall remove the tree at once.
4. Be sure that decorations throughout the room are flameproofed.
5. Be sure that plenty of ashtrays are provided for smokers; don't allow smoking near the tree.
6. Avoid using net or gauze type fabrics for dresses, costumes or children's clothing. Loosely woven fabrics easily catch on fire.
7. Extreme care should be taken in the use of tallow candles. 8. If loosely woven costumes have to be worn, they should be flameproofed with the following solution: Mix 9 oz. of borax, 4 oz. borax acid, one gallon of warm water. Dip the fabric into this solution, wring by hand, then hang to dry. This flame-proofing method must be repeated after each laundering of the garment.

We appreciate your cooperation, let's try to make our churches, homes and places of business Fire Safe for our own and our children's sake at Christmas time and throughout the year.

For a fire-safe Christmas in your home, follow these rules also: Trees: For a natural tree (fir, spruce, pine), pick firm-needed, fresh-looking one, no bigger than you need—the larger the tree the greater the hazard. Saw off at an angle an inch or more above the original cut. Stand the tree in water until it is brought into the house, keep it in water until it goes out.

Metal trees, for all practical purposes, won't burn but they conduct electricity. So use indirect lighting; lighting strings on the tree may create a dangerous shock hazard.

Plastic and metalized plastic trees will burn; use only ones clearly marked as made of slow-burning materials. Lights: Check lighting sets for frayed wires, loose connections, and broken sockets. Never use wax candles on or near the tree. Make sure tree and other inside decorative lights are turned off before retiring or leaving the house.

Decorations: Use noncombustible decorating materials (metal, glass, asbestos, etc.) where possible. If combustible—like flocking—be sure they are "flame-proofed."
