The decision of the County Commissioners to refuse to grant money for the purchase of ground here for erection of a new consolidated school, was a prudent one we believe. Owners of the land were asking approximately $1000 an acre which real estate men here believe far too high a price to pay. While the residents of the area here are somewhat disappointed by the turn of events, they feel the move was justified in the interest of the welfare of taxpayers. For the present our local Public School will have to continue studies under overcrowded conditions. Classes, we understand, are being taught in the cafeteria and auditorium, and have been for some time. This condition probably will persist unless another site for the school's location is found, or, the present owners of the land come down to earth and volunteer a more reasonable price for the ground. We were really sorry to see this action transpire because we thought the new school was in the offing, possibly in the next two or three years. What happens now is conjectural and we hope that some sensible agreement can be consummated in the very near future.

Town Commissioner Norman Flax lamented this week the lack of adequate transportation for students at the Mother Seton School. On the scene early Tuesday morning, Commissioner Flax observed buses unloading students at the Public School which necessitated them walking to the Mother Seton School, a good two blocks away. What riled the Commissioner most was the fact that the temperature was 10 degrees below zero and the children were of such a tender age, anywhere between the ages of seven and nine years. Mr. Flax, and a large number of other parents and taxpayers can't understand the School Board's attitude in not paying bus drivers for the extra two blocks it would take to provide this vital transportation. Rain, snow or cold, no transportation is paid for these two blocks and the people of this area are of a conviction that they are being short-changed somewhere along the line. With the State Legislation now in session it would be a good and opportune time to again resurrect this important piece of business for the Emmitsburg District, one of the largest tax-paying ones in Frederick County.

Emmitsburgians shivered early this week when the temperature dropped suddenly to about 15 below zero. Residents went to bed with the weatherman's assurance that it, the temperature, would drop to around 10 to 15 above. Upon awakening and listening to the radio they were shocked when the report came that it was mightily cold outside. In disbelief many darted outdoors to the thermometers to verify the reading and sure enough it was cold, and brother I mean cold. Anyway a new cold weather record was established here and I never care if another record is broken. I am well satisfied with what's been done. While on this subject it is highly possible that Mr. Groundhog will see his shadow and depart for his den Saturday when Groundhog Day rolls around once again. With the cloudy skies and the threat of more foul weather ahead it is highly probable the little weather forecaster will bring us bad news and we might as well be prepared to settle down for another six weeks of you know what. There's one bright aspect about the whole thing though. The oil man, doctors and druggists are reported doing a rushing business these days.

Peppler Joins Packer Team

Announcement was made this week of the appointment of "Pat" Peppler, to the position of chief of player personnel with the world champion Green Bay Packers, of Green Bay, Wis. Peppler, son of Mrs. Ruth A. Peppler, Emmitsburg, formerly was line coach of the Wake Forest football team. He succeeds Dick Foris of the Packers, effective as of January 30.

Mounts Resume Court Action Tuesday

Mount St. Mary's College basketballers return to the basketball court Tuesday after a mid-year exam layoff. The prospects are gloomy for the Mounties who are limited to the services of two veterans on last year's championship NCAA team. Dave Maloney and John O'Reilly are the two veterans while the balance of the starters are freshmen. At the present time Jim Phelan's crew has an over-all log of 6-6 and a Mason-Dixon Conference record of 5-3.

Sidelined for his senior season is the Mountaineer sparkplug, flashy Eddie Pfeiffer, twice All-State and the team's leading scorer with 130 points and an 18.5 average when he bowed out with head injuries after seven games.

Phelan has also been without the services of the other half of his all-star back court duo Dave Maloney, who sat out two games and is still nursing a badly sprained wrist.

John O'Reilly, who missed most of the Hampton-Sydney game with a concussion, has been working recent games with four frosh.

The exam break gave Phelan a chance to rest his crippled troops. Bill McDermott, a 6'5 center, Lou Martine, 6'3 veteran forward, and Bernie Haag, 5'10 frosh backcourter, got a breather and a chance to lick the wounds that kept them sidelined until January. All are still way off form and must play themselves into shape.

Of recent efforts Phelan is apt to go with McDermott at center, Martine and O'Reilly at forwards, and Maloney and Johnston at the guards. The unheralded Johnston from Camden's Bishop Eustis has come on quickly in the last three games. A dogged, tenacious operator Johnston makes few mistakes, plays coolly and should get better with more confidence. He has shot well and kept the patched up offense moving.

Following exams the Mountaineers meet Jack Ramsay's St. Joseph Hawks on the latter's floor Feb. 5 then play three top conference foes, Catholic U. away on Feb. 7, Loyola, an 85-75 victor over the Mounts for the first time in four years, at home on Feb. 9, and American at home on Feb. 18. The Mountaineers close out the schedule with winless Washington Feb. 17, old rival Western Maryland, Feb. 19 and American on Feb. 21, all away.

O'Reilly and Maloney at 17.7 and 17.6 points per game must carry the brunt of the Mountaineer scoring. Freshmen John Carrell has tailed off dismally in his shooting to lose his spot to Martine. If the two week rest enables McDermott to shake off his knee injury, O'Reilly could get much needed help on the boards. Johnston and Haag should ease the backcourt problem, but the club still lacks the fiery, take-chance play of Pfeiffer, to say nothing of his speed, ball-handling, and shooting.

Inexperience has cost the Mountaineers dearly. Five games have been decided by two points or less. All season long the Mountaineers have started poorly and then rallied to come from as far back as 17 points before running out of gas in the final minutes. Defense suffered most as Phelan's freshmen play and kept the Mounties with their backs to the wall.

Unless the Mountaineers come along quickly, Phelan, last year's NCAA Coach of the Year, could post his worst season since his 1959 club lost 12 while winning 15.

Snowfall Blamed For Wreck

A Florida bound Canadian suffered damage to his car and was arrested for failing to yield one half the highway as a result of an auto accident four miles north of here on the Gettysburg Rd. at 3:40 o'clock Sunday afternoon in a snowstorm.

State police said John Nagy, 56, Welland, Ontario, was driving south when he lost control of his vehicle, it crossed the center of the highway, and struck a north-bound auto driven by Paul V. Hahn Jr., 18, Thurmont. Damage was estimated at $150 to the Hahn car and $25 to the Nagy vehicle. Nagy posted $15 forfeit bond before Justice of the Peace John Whitman, Cumberland Twp., on the failing to yield one-half the highway charge and then Nagy and his wife continued their trip to warmer climes. No one was hurt in the accident.

Baltimore Federal Opens New Branch At Westminster

Baltimore Federal Savings and Loan Assn. will officially open its new Westminster office at 6 East Main St. on Feb. 1. Mayor Joseph L. Mathias will cut the ribbon at opening ceremonies which begin at 9 a. m., according to Henry P. Irr, president of Baltimore Federal.

To celebrate its opening Baltimore Federal is offering a selection of gifts for savers opening accounts or adding to present accounts between Feb. 1 and 23. All visitors to the new branch during that time will receive free prizes and will be eligible to win a 1963 Buick. The drawing for the Buick will be held Feb. 23, Mr. Irr said.

The two-story brick structure which is colonial in design, is located on the site of the old First National Bank. The building is patterned after the association's Colonial Williamsburg-type office in Downtown Baltimore, and will have five tellers and a new accounts area. An interesting feature is the display of pictures of historic Carroll County homes. In addition there will be a meeting room which will be available to local civic clubs and organizations and ample free parking, Mr. Irr said.

While the branch office will be colonial in design, it will offer the most up-to-date banking equipment. Baltimore Federal was one of the first savings and loans in the nation to install electronic accounting. Mr. Irr said a new automatic tape recorder will give the Westminster branch a direct tie-in with the home office.

Charles R. Foutz Jr., a lifelong resident of Westminster, is manager of the new office. Mr. Foutz, a son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Charles R. Foutz, is a graduate of Westminster High School and later attended Western Maryland College and Baltimore Business College. He joined the Carroll County National Bank in 1930 and was assistant treasurer when he left the bank in 1948 to serve on the staff of Western Maryland College. He was named branch manager late in 1961 when Baltimore Federal opened a temporary office at 77 E. Main St., Westminster.

Maryland's largest savings and loan association, Baltimore Federal reported assets of $254,000,000 on Dec. 21, 1962, an increase of $16 million during the year. The association paid its savers nearly $8 million in dividends last year based on its current dividend rate of 4% per annum, Mr. Irr said. He pointed out safety of the saver's investment, mentioning reserves of more than $19 million plus insurance of accounts by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. Baltimore Federal was founded in 1884 and has paid dividends continuously since that date.

THEREFORE, WE PLEDGE TO YOU our best cooperative efforts, and entrust to your care our greatest treasure—our children—confident they will become under your influence happy, productive, effective, citizens inspired with our highest American ideals.

Sodality Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Sodality of St. Joseph's Church was held on Monday evening in St. Euphemia's Hall. Fr. Storms opened the meeting with prayers. Mrs. Mary Sherwin, president, presided with 14 members present. Reports of the secretary and treasurer were read. The group decided to purchase a small second-hand coffee urn to be used at meetings and small gatherings. The members were asked if they would serve the St. Joseph's High School Alumni Banquet to be held some time in May, and also for an estimate price for the meal. They voted to serve the banquet and the price would be $1.75 per person if the alumni association decided on this arrangement. Mrs. Agnes Topper volunteered to take charge of the kitchen if they served the banquet. The Sodality will hold a pre-Lenten social for the members at the next meeting to be held on Monday, February 25. Each one attending will bring a prize valued at 50 cents. Helen Brown and Anne Gerken are in charge of refreshments. Dolores Burdner's name was called for the door prize, but she was not present. Father Shelton closed the meeting with prayers, after which he showed slides of pictures taken while he was studying in Europe.

Plans For New School Near Hear Snagged

Hopes for a joint public school to serve Emmitsburg and Thurmont students were dimmed last week when the County Commissioners adamantly refused to allocate money for the purchase of ground near here.

For some years the Board of Education has been studying the situation here and finally had chosen a site for the new consolidated school. The reason for their decision not to make the appropriation available was that the price of the land, an average of $1000 per acre, was far too high.

The Frederick County Commissioners met with School Superintendent Dr. James A. Sensenbath Tuesday to consider again the purchase of the Charles H. Jamison and Norbet Wivell land west of the Orndorff Road on U. S. 15 as the location of the proposed new consolidated Thurmont-Emmitsburg High School.

For the second time, the Commissioners told the School Superintendent that the $37,000 proposed cost of the land was too high and refused the proposed offer to purchase the 40 acre property.

Mr. Jamison is asking $1,000 per acre for 10 acres of his land needed for the school while Mr. Wivell wants $900 an acre for 30 acres of his land included in the proposed school location.

Under county law, the School Board is entirely responsible for finding locations for proposed new schools, but the County Commissioners must approve or reject the price asked for the land.

J. Norman Flax, a commissioner of Emmitsburg and a long-time opponent of plans for a consolidated school for the Thurmont-Emmitsburg area, said that he was both gratified and displeased by the County Commissioners' rejection of a request by the school board of $37,000 for a site for the proposed school.

"I think most of the residents of Emmitsburg feel as I do about this school," he said. "We fought the idea for a long time but finally agreed to a school mid-way between the two towns, and maybe now that the County has become cost-conscious at last (by rejecting the request for funds) the school board will do what Emmitsburg people want for a change."

"However, the delay caused by the rejection means that our children will have to continue going to school under crowded conditions for a while."

Some of the 445 students at the Emmitsburg High School are now attending classes in the auditorium, and Mr. Flax said that "all of our problems here could be solved by the simple expedient of adding five or six rooms to the existing school."

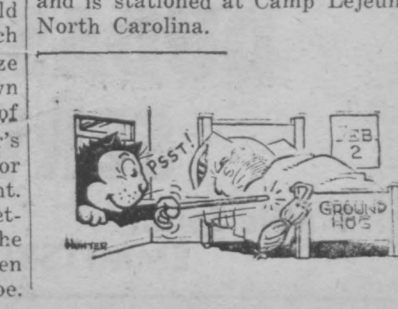

He also pointed out that the addition would be far cheaper for the county than building a new school, since both water and sewerage systems are presently available and would not represent an added expense.

"There is plenty of room on the present school site for an addition," he continued, "but, as I've been told before by the school administration, 'You'll get a new school whether you want one or not.'"

Talk of building a consolidated school to serve the two north-county towns has been carried on for the past several years. There had been much controversy over moving the high school from the towns in the early stages of the talks. Lately, however, the opposition to the plan had practically disappeared after a committee composed of leading residents of both towns got together to decide on a mutually agreeable site.

HAHN—MILLER

Miss Sandra Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, Connelville, became the bride of Joseph Leon Hahn, son of Luther Hahn, Emmitsburg, and the late Mrs. Hahn on January 17 in the parsonage of the Germantown Church of God. Mrs. Stouter conducted the business meeting and Mrs. Victor Fiery, the international relations chairman, explained the work of the ACWW, Associated Country Women of the World. She emphasized all clubs could help this organization through a drive called "Pennies for Friendship." The club also voted to subscribe to the Country Woman magazine for one year.

Mrs. Stouter announced there would be a banquet at the Lord Baltimore Hotel on February 21, to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the State Council of Homemakers.

Mrs. Murray Valentine, director, reported the annual spring meeting of the County Council would be held April 6 at Hood College.

The club voted to give a contribution to the dairy judging team which is composed of two Frederick County 4-H Club boys. This team will go to England in June.

Mrs. Victor Fiery, Mrs. Charles Harner and Mrs. Robert Fitez were appointed as a committee to make plans for the 40th anniversary celebration of the Emmitsburg Homemakers Club. This celebration will be held in March.

tion that far exceeded its apparent significance as an item of news value. This happened simply because it was false news. At least, it was not true that Mr. Kennedy had a cold that was sufficient to send him home to Washington.

The news was released when he was out barnstorming for the Democratic candidates, but it was merely the cover that presumably helped maintain a curtain of secrecy when the Cuban emergency discussions began in Washington. Every precaution was taken to prevent leaks (which did occur) so as to keep Mr. Khrushchev unaware that any action at all was being contemplated. The press therefore was used, by way of false news, to set all suspicions at ease on the Cold War front. Such tactics soon were being described at the Pentagon as "news weaponry."

News Control
This nation had discovered in World War I how modern communications could be treated psychologically and used to serve our interests in waging "psychological warfare." Words could be used as bullets, to save men's lives and achieve bloodless victories, we came to think. In World War II most combatants were going all out with both truths and lies—whatever was needed to win, regardless of ideas or national goals. Then came the Cold War, and manipulation of facts, withholding of information, and brainwashing came to be the ultimate in atomic age conditioning.

Traditionally, our national leaders at least have paid lip service to "truth" in the process of dispensing information and news in war and peace. Government agencies have not usually put into circulation outright falsehood. But the temptation undoubtedly is great to commit political aggression in peacetime, and in fighting the Cold War the government views the easy advantages of information shuffling. News control is increasingly an objective of power seekers in public office. Politically tinged Historians will discover to what extent Washington manipulated news during the Cuban crisis, but current accounts are insisting that activity here was more than necessary and tended to take on a political color. The New Frontier did seem to control and at times close off information channels. It went all out in staging episodes that served to mislead people and disguise the government's particular role at some stages of the confrontation. News control, Arthur Sylvester, assistant Secretary of Defense, insisted was fully justified by the results in a period when news served as an available weapon.

Every American can be thankful that our news media rose up in almost unanimous horror at this. They commended Mr. Sylvester for his frankness, but they condemned as reckless and dangerous his disregard for truth. Such actions, they said, are more identifiable with Hitler, Mussolini, and the Soviet Union than with a free nation accustomed to relying upon independent news media to carry information to every crossroads village. They asked whether the Administration favors "managed control" of the news. They warned that henceforth information from the Pentagon, even if it should be the truth, will be suspect.

Quick Reaction
Editor & Publisher commented editorially: "History is replete with examples of government officials trying to make the press a hand-aided of politics and diplomacy. In our day we have an admission in Washington that a controlled flow of news in the Cuban crisis constituted a part of the nation's 'weaponry.' The thought is as admissible and as frightening as the actual management of news in totalitarian countries."

The Washington Evening Star wrote in an editorial: "The truth given the American people as what has happened is that part of the truth selected by officialdom to piece together a desirable image. That image may be a distortion, the inevitable result of an attempt to use the press and its news as instruments of national policy." Thomas Jefferson's "eternal vigilance" is truly the price of liberty here. Every American should insist that the government control neither the media nor close up information sources in a way that would limit the people's right to know.

OUTDOOR SPORTS TIPS

Reflecto Logs
The heat from your camp fire goes a lot farther if it's not wasted. And it's easy to deflect it right where you want it. One good way is to wrap logs in aluminum foil and use them as back logs to throw heat not up... but out toward you or in your tent. Foil keeps logs from burning but bounces heat off. And if you have very damp wood, wrap wet logs in foil and toss right into the flames. Wood dries in a jiffy, can be burned later.
Decoy Duck "Bait"
It's against the law to put out corn or grain to attract ducks into your decoys. But you will probably find no law (check to mak-sure) against artificial baiting. To do that, mix pea gravel with yellow paint and scatter in shallow water around your decoys. Ducks are used to seeing corn in refuges, will swing in for the feast.

Fire Starter
Regular household cement works wonders as a fire starter. Just squeeze over wood and light. Burns hot and heavy.

Pheasants On A String
Hard-hunted pheasants are tough to scare into the air. Even on a drive they will slip between men and scurry out of sight without once flying. Try this trick to stop 'em. Just trail clothes line between each hunter. Slithery line is too much for even the steeliest nerved ringneck. One swoosh over his head and how much to lead him becomes your problem.

No-Slip Sponges
Sponges tied under your boots will provide good slip protection on mossy rocks. Waterproof adhesive tape holds them on.

Win A Drink
Test this one out before you try... but reliable authority says you can win a drink from your pals this way. When a whiskey bottle is emptied down to the last drop, but you can squeeze ten more drops out. Trick is to drop a light cotton thread down to the bottom, then tip the bottle on its side and count the drops as they climb thread and fall. Giving liquid an easy route to travel makes the difference.

$40 billion for merchandise, services, taxes, insurance, and other household expenses. Now I guess that 10% of this $40 billion reaches Wall Street. This means that our Federal Government is supplying annually $4 billion for Wall Street.

What Is Sent To Wall Street?
During 1962 the average of daily transactions on the New York Stock Exchange was about 3,500,000 shares. If an average price per share is assumed to be $30, this means that $100,000,000 was needed to buy said daily total; but probably only about 10% represented new commitments, on balance. That is, on an average day, only $10 million of new money was needed to keep Wall Street rolling. Multiply this by 250 days, and we have $2.5 billion of new money needed each year.

From where does it come? Of course it comes from a great many sources, mostly from "larger" individual investors, pension funds, trust funds, and investment or mutual funds. But if to this is added 8% of the Federal Government payroll, estimated above at $50 billion, this means that a substantial amount would be coming basically from Washington. Furthermore, an increase in these Government employees of only 1% would add $50 million annually to the above. Hence, to answer my question, the needed money to buy stocks comes largely from Washington.

Bowie Offering
40 Days Of Racing

Major thoroughbred horse racing returns east on Friday when horses and fans reunite as Bowie Race Course celebrates its 50th anniversary with the opening of a 40-day meeting. Post time daily for the nine-race program will be 1:30 p.m.

The return of the sport to Maryland ushers in the major circuit for 1963. Bowie will conduct 'big league' racing Mondays through Saturdays until March 23.

John F. Loomer, Bowie vice-president and general manager, said he is extremely optimistic about the outlook for the 50th year season.

"With a record stakes program totalling nearly $400,000, we have attracted a number of new stable to Bowie which will create high interests with race fans," Loomer explained.

"In addition," he added, "the 10th renewal of the John B. Campbell, Maryland's richest handicap, and several plant improvements will contribute to our cause for a grand race meeting."

The 14 major events, totalling a record $340,000 in added money, gets under way opening day with the first running of the $10,000 added E. Palmer Heagerty Stakes. The race honors the memory of the late turf writer and chart caller and is for 3-year-old Maryland foals at six furlongs. Last year's running of the E. Palmer Heagerty was contested under allowance conditions.

100 YEARS AGO

CHARLESTON, VICKSBURG REPORT NAVY FIGHTING

By Lon K. Savage

Fighting of a minor sort broke out in several places in the South 100 years ago this week—including in the Confederate Senate at Richmond.

At Charleston, S. C., two Confederate navy rams attacked a fleet of blockade ships, disabled two of them and gave the Confederacy the basis for a claim that the blockade had been lifted. At Vicksburg, where Confederate troops were successfully holding off the army of Gen. U. S. Grant, fighting broke out when a Federal ram went steaming down
the Mississippi River under the Confederate guns that defended the city.

And at Richmond, a hot verbal fight erupted over a bill to create a Confederate Supreme Court, and before the debate was through the fight had caused bloodshed on the Senate floor.

At Charleston

The fighting at Charleston attracted the most attention. Before daylight on January 31, the ironclads "Chicora" and "Palmetto State," left Charleston harbor in a thick haze and headed into a fleet of about 10 Federal blockade ships, waiting offshore. "The Mercedita," one of the Federal ships, was first to feel the advance when a shell ripped through her side and exploded, disabling her.

Next, the Confederate rams attacked the "Keystone State," and after a lengthy exchange of fire, she, too, was disabled.

That was about the end of the little battle, but because of it Confederates in Charleston claimed the blockade of the city had been lifted and blockade runners could legally enter the harbor unmolested until a new proclamation of blockade was issued. The Federal government, however, never agreed the blockade had been raised.

In Vicksburg

Three days later, the Federal ram "Queen of the West" made a daring run down the Mississippi in front of the Confederate guns at Vicksburg. The "Queen," commanded by Col. Charles E. Ellet, was hit three times before she got abreast of the city and a dozen times or more before she got through. But as she passed, she rammed and heavily damaged the Confederate steamer "Vicksburg," which lay at one of the city's wharves.

After running the gauntlet of the Vicksburg guns, the "Queen" went on downstream to the Confederate-controlled Red River, where she began attacking and destroying Confederate Vessels carrying supplies from the West.

In Richmond occurred the most bizarre of the fights.
On January 30, a bitter debate began on a bill to create a Supreme Court for the Confederacy.

Five days later, the debate erupted into violence, when Sen. William Yancey of Alabama and Sen. Benjamin Hill of Georgia began making personal remarks about each other in their debate. After one such remark by Yancey, Hill hurlled a glass inkwell that struck the Alabama legislator on the cheek, causing blood to spurt. Then a glass tumbler whizzed by Yancey's head and broke against a window ledge. Yancey started across the floor to get at Hill, when other Senators intervened, and the sergeant-at-arms was asked to remove both men.

(The bill never passed, and the Confederacy never had a Supreme Court.)

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

Care Of Baby's Feet

By Dr. Benjamin C. Mullens
President

American Podiatry Association
Surveys made by the American Podiatry Association in public and private schools reveal that one out of every two children has a foot disability.

Not all of these children have serious disabilities. Enough, however, have foot problems which,
if not treated, will lead to chronic foot disorders in adulthood.

A baby's feet are soft and malleable. The 52 bones in his feet are chiefly soft and rubbery cartilage. His feet can be twisted, turned and bent gradually without difficulty. Yet, lack of intelligent attention now may pave the way for a lifetime of the common American complaint, "my feet
are killing me."

It's the wise mother who, despite all temptation, lets her child take his own good time about standing or walking. Generally, children pull themselves upright and take their first steps between nine and 15 months of age. Don't use outside aids such as baby walkers or mother's hands to force him to his feet before he is ready.

A child doesn't need shoes until he begins to stand. At that time they provide him with a stable base, as well as protection.
Then, in a completely natural way, they encourage him to walk.

His first shoes should be as carefully constructed and fitted as any he will ever wear. A baby's feet grow at a surprising rate and outgrown shoes should be promptly replaced.

To insure healthy feet for your child, a few simple precautions should suffice.

Examine your baby's feet regularly. When you give him his daily bath, run your hand gently over the soles and upper part of his feet. If you feel or see rough, hardened skin or red, rubbed spots, have his shoes checked. If they're not at fault, take him to a podiatrist, who is a professional foot doctor. It is also advisable to have your child examined if he drags one foot, is clumsy and falls

more than other children of his age, or, if he seems to be knock-kneed or bow-legged.

Criminals Face Atomic Weapon

One nuclear weapon is in daily use, not in international conflict
but in the fight against crime, reports the American Nuclear Society. Science has provided a tool of great sensitivity and accuracy
called "neutron activation analysis" to detect and identify evidence.
Material for test is exposed to neutron irradiation, causing some atoms of each element present to become radioactive. Identification is then made by radiation characteristic. This technique, the Society says, enables investigators to establish the identity of persons, establish the origin of contraband narcotics, detect traces of gunpowder on the hands of a person who has fired a gun, verify art masterpieces, date archeological findings and even tell the age of wine.

An old oil well, long past its producing days, has been put to new use in the Pierce Junction field south of Houston, Tex. Pan Geo Atlas Corporation has converted the 8,200-foot-deep shaft into a "testing well," enabling the company to test its oil-detecting and well-perforating products under actual field conditions. . . .
The great Pyramid of Giza, 482 feet high and 756 feet square at the base, could be duplicated in the U. S. today for a mere $62 million, including labor, equipment and material, according to imaginative engineering students at Harvey Mudd College in Claremont, Calif. who undertook a study of the ancient wonder as a class project. The structure would be two years abuilding and would require five million barrels of cement and .5 million cubic feet of granite.

Trinidad drug plants are being studied as possible sources of anti-virus serums. Among them are colorfully named specimens such as Love Vine, Wild Coffee, Shadow Benee, Chandelair and Man-Better-Man. . . . Leprosy today afflicts 15 million persons, chiefly in warm climates and underdeveloped countries, according to the Leonard Wood Memorial (American Leprosy Foundation. . . . Niagara Falls, on both the Canadian and U. S. sides, have suddenly grown 16 feet taller. Hydroelectric projects have taken water from the Niagara river and increased the distance from the brinks to the pools below. The Horseshoe Falls are now 176
feet high, the American Falls 183 feet.

After the United States purchased the Danish West Indies
in 1917, the name was changed to Virgin Islands.

BALTIMORE STREET IN GETTYSBURG

It takes nearly 10,000 tubes of nickel stainless steel to package the uranium oxide fuel of the first nuclear powered merchant ship, the N. S. Savannah.

The world's deepest oil well, in Pecos County, Texas, reaches 25,240 feet below the earth's surface. Nickell alloy steel drill pipe was used to reach that depth.

"OPINIONS FROM THE FIELD"

"Population Explosion", "War Babies", and "Suburbia" are terms that were seldom used ten or more years ago. Today they are mentioned almost daily in relationship with the need for more schools, more highways, more homes, and countless other current problems. No doubt these problems are urgent and demand action from the Federal, State, and local governments. However, little mention is made of how this "Population Explosion" has affected such things as hunting and fishing, especially in our community.

One doesn't have to go back very far to recall the days when a "No Trespassing" sign in the mountains was as rare as hair on a frog. The mountains were considered to be everybody's hunting grounds and one was free to hunt Grouse and Deer where he pleased. This idea is a thing of the past as evidenced by the increasing number of "No Trespassing" signs along our mountain roads. Land owners are protesting the growing number of so-called "city" hunters; city hunters have purchased land and are trying to keep out local hunters, and some even charge a fee for hunting. This constant reduction of hunting territory has forced the increased number of hunters to concentrate on the still open ground. The result has just about taken all the pleasure out of hunting. Along with these facts we must also keep in mind that this increased hunting pressure has seriously reduced the deer population. Contrary to the belief of some game officials, I believe a Antlerless season at this time would be disastrous.

The first mentioned terms not only have affected hunting, but fishing as well. If you don't think so, take a drive up along Hunting Creek or Fishing Creek on the morning of April 15th. You'll think it's Old Home Week for there will be cars parked on and off the road for miles. On the stream every pool, riffle, and pocket will be covered by the flailing rods of fishermen. If you intend to fish, you will have to get to the stream before daylight in order to select a fishing spot. Even though you might stand at a particular pool for a long time waiting for the opening hour, you will probably be joined by many others when the time comes to start fishing. If you are at all skillful or a bit lucky, you will reel your limit and head for home. If not, it won't take long for you to become disgusted by the constant traffic up and down the stream. This is Trout Fishing???

We, in this community, are fortunate to have the forests and streams so close to our doorstep. However, automobiles and good highways have taken our doorstep closer to the big cities and the countless number of people therein. Many of these people enjoy hunting and fishing and quite naturally go to the closest area offering same. Someday there may come a time when it becomes so crowded and the game so scarce that they will no longer come. Until that time—"Enjoy yourself, it's later than you think."

New Tax Refund Plan Available

The new plan to give U. S. taxpayers the opportunity to take tax refunds in Savings Bonds is one that should prove a boon to individual citizens, as well as a constructive step in the direction of easing the Nation's debt management problem.

Public interest in this plan has been evident for a long time. A recent survey indicated that a significant number of taxpayers who received refunds last year might have taken them in Bonds if given the option. Individual taxpayers can benefit from the plan by making it a method of insuring that their refunds are not simply absorbed into household money, to vanish in day-to-day spending. The plan will permit the setting aside of the nucleus of a special fund for educating their children, planning for retirement, and the like. And for all taxpayers it represents an opportunity to own a real share in America while earning a good return on their money.

The Treasury hopes to benefit from the plan, too. At present more than 45 billion dollars in Eeries E and H Savings Bonds are outstanding, nearly one-sixth of the national debt. The Treasury is keenly interested in increasing the amount of money in Bonds, since every dollar in this type of security is a dollar less that the Treasury has to raise through the commercial banking system. The Treasury is also aware of the beneficial effect that Savings Bonds have in encouraging the habit of thrift and in helping to maintain economic stability in communities throughout the country.

Just as the Payroll Savings Plan has appealed to many people because it is an automatic way of saving, it is expected that the new tax refund plan will be popular for much the same reason. The Treasury hopes so.

It would be well for all citizens who are expecting tax refunds this year to consider seriously taking them in Savings Bonds—to benefit themselves and their country. A check mark in the proper place on the new tax forms can put you in an active role in supporting the Nation, and feathering your own nest at the same time.

Braille Book

Displayed Here

On display at the Emmitsburg Public Library is the first volume of the world's first Braille encyclopedia—books of general knowledge which the blind can "read" by running their fingers over the characters indicated by a dotted surface.

The World Book Encyclopedia was chosen several years ago by the American Printing House for the Blind to be transcribed into Braille because of its adaptability for various aged individuals.

The reproduction of an encyclopedia in Braille is a formidable task. Printed in ink type, the 1960 edition of World Book comprises 20 volumes, 11,700 pages and occupies two feet of shelf space. The Braille version fills approximately 38,000 pages and 145 volumes and spreads across some 43 feet of shelf space.

Field Enterprises Educational Corp., together with the Field Foundation, Inc., donated a total of $115,500 to finance the project. The actual publication was done at the American Printing House for the Blind on a non-profit basis.

The volume on display in Emmitsburg was loaned to the Library by Mrs. Kenneth L. Mercer of Walkersville, Md., who is district manager for the World Book Encyclopedia. Mrs. Mercer is the former Constance Harner and resided in Emmitsburg for a number of years with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Karl Harner.

Mrs. Mercer stated that most of the Braille World Book sets now being used over the country have been donated, particularly to the schools for the blind. The Library of Congress in Washington, has several sets now in use, thus opening a new world for blind students interested in research.

DON WILSON'S DISK DERBY

The "new laughter" is as much a part of our time as frozen chives and tranquilizers. And it all began on records. You have to see a pratfall or a slow burn or a funny costume, but the new laughter doesn't need these things. It does, however, make demands of its audience. The new laughter lives in the rapport established between performer and audience through a sophisticated awareness of the traps and trappings of our times.

Five master craftsmen of the new laughter are Jonathan Winter, Victor Borge, Shelly Berman, Phyllis Diller and Jackie Mason, each of whom has created his own improbable world of wit on records.

A good example of this wit is the world of Jackie Mason, who in turn looks at his world through eyes bleared with cold, hard, hilarious logic. "Kids know what they're doing when they play doctor," he intones wisely. "You never find them playing accountant!" Mason's world is peopled by failures so abysmal they can rise only to become underdogs. And he leads the parade. But Mason's gift is that of making his endless list of inadequacies endlessly comic. Note: "I want to leave you with the words of a great comedian" (Verve).

Another example of the new laughter is the album "Humor Seen Through the Eyes of Jonathan Winters." This assumes Falstaff proportions. Winters uses truly remarkable talents of mimicry to create a tiddy world peopled with knowing rubes, yoke-like city slickers, and dominated by the world's oldest airline stewardess, Maude Frickert.

Review of the Week
"BY SPECIAL REQUEST" is a program of rock 'n' roll starring Jackie Wilson, a mighty nervous boy. He gets really wrought up singing standards like "Cry," "Stormy Weather," and "Mood Indigo." Seeing the degree to which he's overcome, we wonder if singing is safe for him! After all fame and fortune aren't everything.

Mardi Gras

Dance Planned
The traditional Mardi Gras Ball will be given by the Civic Club of Frederick on Feb. 23 at the Scott Key Hotel, Frederick. Invitations have been mailed and tickets also may be obtained from members of the Civic Club. Proceeds from the ball will be used to fulfill the club's obligation to preserve and restore the Steiner House.

Mrs. Jennings Bailey and her co-chairmen are hard at work to make this a wonderful pre-Lenten masquerade ball.

The princesses were selected at an afternoon tea given by the committee at the Steiner House. Selected was Miss Susan Love Chamblin, a senior at Frederick High School. Queen Susan will be presented to the King along with the princesses of the court on the night of the Mardi Gras Ball. The King of the court will be selected in the near future from a group of Frederick business men.
