Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

Local citizens are cautioned to use extreme care when burning trash and dead grass this time of the year. This caution was urged this week by Fire Co. officials who have been kept busy, needlessly, during the week when they answered five alarms. Under the law there is a time during the day when burning will be permitted, and then only proper supervision. Local officials aren't as tough as some of the others in the county. One Frederick area resident was fined for unintentionally starting a brush fire this week, so watch your step here . . . don't press your luck too far folks.

There is apt to be quite a bit of street and sidewalk work in town this spring as a result of the bitter winter that has just ended. The sub-freezing weather played havoc with roads and sidewalks and some of them are in a hazardous condition and must be repaired as soon as possible. Citizens must remember this: Sidewalks are the property-owner's responsibility and must be repaired at the owner's expense. However it is the Town itself will be having work done right along and it is highly possible that while contractors are in town working they can give private property owners a better price break if they have their walks repaired then.

Interested in becoming one of the Town Officials? If so you have just about three more weeks in which to let your intentions be known. To date no one has filed for the office of Town Commissioner or Mayor. Not even the present incumbents have made public their intentions of seeking re-election. With the election just a month away it's really time to start thinking about the matter folks. And for those of you who have not as yet registered for the Town Election, you can do so any day simply by dropping into the Town Office. It only takes a minute and you'll be glad you did.

With the advent of spring comes our annual request that property-owners tidy up their premises by painting, repairing or by tidying up the place. Emmitsburg really is a neat-appearing town, despite the antiquity of some of its houses. With proper care these houses can fit neatly into the picturesque surroundings of the town itself and become part of the neat pattern that is ours to behold. Spring in Emmitsburg is about as nice a scene as you will see anywhere. We have rolling hills, mountains, valleys, flatlands and farms as well as small creeks. Let's keep our property in conformity with our natural environment folks.

Grange To Host 4-H Clubs Here

On Tuesday night, April 2, at 8 p.m. in the Lutheran Parish Hall, the Emmitsburg Grange will be host to the Emmitsburg and Rocky Ridge 4-H Clubs. Mr. David Eigenbrode, assistant County Agent, will show the slides made of the Rocky Ridge club. These slides were made in conjunction with the United States Department of Agriculture and will be used in every one of the 50 states in the training of 4-H leaders. This is the first showing of the slides, completed with the transcript, to be shown here in this community. The slides were shown at Rocky Ridge but the completed film has just been finished.

The public is invited to attend this meeting. Bring your family, friends, and neighbors and see what a 4-H Club can do. Refreshments will be served.

Senior Class Play Tonight

The Senior Class of Emmitsburg High School will present "Come to Dinner," the three act comedy by Kurtz Gordon, in the high school auditorium tonight—the curtain will rise at 8 o'clock. Every youthful actor in the production has worked hard and diligently on this excellent play to make it a performance for your enjoyment.

The cast includes the Misses Susan McClain, Lona Frock, Sylvia Brauer, Nancy Eyster, Sandy Wagerman, Elizabeth Flory, Nancy Glass, and the Messrs. Douglas Valentine, Austin Umbel, Thomas Humerick and Charles Kline.

Number Of Brush Fires Occur Here

The Vigilant Hose Co. responded to five alarms Sunday and Monday afternoons.

The local fireman were called Sunday to the property of Louis Cooper on the Gettysburg Road to extinguish a field fire.

The four calls Monday were almost minutes apart as area individuals began burning brush. Fires were extinguished at the following properties: Guy Ridenour, St. Joseph College, Ralph Tabler and James Wivell. Fire Chief Sterling White reported no damage as a result of the fires. The chief warns residents to be extremely careful and to burn brush only under supervision as the ground and grass is dry due to the March winds.

John J. Hollinger, president of the Fire Co. announced this week that razing of the recently purchased Baldacchino property adjacent to the fire hall has begun. The razing is under the supervision of John Balmer.

Father Kearney Rites Held

A Solemn Requiem Mass was offered in the Chapel of the Immaculate Conception at Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, last Friday morning, for Rev. Francis P. Kearney, J.C.D., Dean of Academic Studies since 1954, who was fatally stricken on Tuesday. Very Rev. Thomas J. Kilcullen, J.C.D., vice president, was the celebrant.

The eulogy was given by Rev. David W. Shaum, Ph.D., who remarked that Father Kearney was privileged as a priest in that he combined the two paths of Christ's sacred ministry. He served both in the field of parish administration and ministering and in the instruction of others in an institution of higher learning.

Father Shaum further stated that the deceased had celebrated his twenty-fifth anniversary of his sacerdotal ordination last spring . . . twenty years of which, he served at Mount Saint Mary's College and Seminary. In conclusion he said, "The Mountain College and Seminary is bereft of a priest, a professor, an administrator, a confidant and a friend. In its loss, the administration, faculty and student body—deeply conscious of his tireless and untiring efforts on their behalf during these two decades—pledge to his dear Mother, sisters, and brothers, their fervent prayers and good works on behalf of his heroic soul . . ."

Other officers of the Mass were: Rev. Carl J. Fives, S.T.L., deacon; Rev. Philip A. Barrett, S.T.B., sub-deacon; and Rev. Gommarr A. DePauw, J.C.D., master of ceremonies.

Pallbearers were selected from among the lay faculty and were: Dr. John J. Dillon, Prof. Dominic G. Greco, Prof. Robert J. Henke, Dr. Robert T. Marshall, Prof. Richard J. McCullough, and Dr. John W. Richards. Other members of the faculty served with the president of the student body and the four college class presidents as honorary pallbearers and ushers.

A second Pontifical Requiem Mass was offered at the new Cathedral of Mary Our Queen on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in Baltimore.

Science Building For St. Joseph College Planned

A bill has been introduced in the General Assembly by Senator John A. Derr to authorize a $750,000 state debt for a new science building at St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg.

A spokesman at the college, Sister Rosemary, said the $750,000 would be matched with an identical amount from the school.

She said the science building, which is now in the preliminary planning stage, would be built on the eastern side of the campus.

The building is part of a 10-year growth plan for the college, she said. Also included in the plan is a residence hall for 150 students which the college hopes to complete in several years.

The Sister said all of the 592 students at the college would use the labs and classrooms of the proposed science building.

The Derr bill was referred to the finance committee.

Village Liquors Moves To New Location

Village Liquors, owned and operated by Ralph F. Irehan, has moved from the Myers Apts., on the Square, to the former Houck property which Mr. Irehan purchased some time ago. The new store has been completely remodeled.

I speak truth, not so much as I would, but as little as I dare; and I dare a little thus more as I grow older.—Montaigne.

In 1812 when Governor Elbridge Gerry of Massachusetts signed a legislative bill creating a crook-backed district in Essex County, a new word was adopted to American politics. Looking like some grotesque prehistoric bird, the gerrymandered district became known in political language as an election district whose boundaries had been drawn for partisan advantages. Congressional districts have sometimes been characterized by odd shapes and considerable disparities of population.

In 1961 because of a booming population, Maryland was awarded an eighth Congressman. Since the General Assembly was unsuccessful in creating a new district in 1962, Maryland's eighth Congressman now represents the entire State. Again this year, the General Assembly is attempting to carve a new district out of the existing seven. At least six bills have been introduced to accomplish this job, without creating entirely new districts characterized by disparities of population and geography.

Behind the efforts of the Assembly lies the inherent problem that unless the new eight districts are truly representative by population and geographical standards, the legislation will be petitioned to referendum under Maryland's Constitution and defeated at the polls. And as a result, the passage of an acceptable re-districting measure appears doubtful, if not impossible.

Beyond the immediate concern of most legislators in proposals for fair re-districting, is a growing awareness of Maryland's new political "center of gravity", its suburban areas. Concentrated particularly in Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince George Counties, these areas of exploding populations require particular attention. Apparently, there can be no happy solution to re-districting without including each of these Counties in a separate district. As the 1963 Legislative Session draws to a close, this kind of a solution appears nowhere in sight.

OUTDOOR SPORTS TIPS

Air Conditioned Dog Pen
Relieve your dog from the terrible heat of mid summer with a tip borrowed from the Egyptians. Works just as good 5000 years later. Spread burlap along the sides of dog's pen and wet down with a hose. The evaporation will pull heat from the air and lower the temperature and Fido will love the shade the burlap affords.

Tame A Hornet's Nest
Must be many ways to get rid of a hornet's nest. (Belt and run!) This way insures no sting. Get a CO2 fire extinguisher and wait until night when the critters have all come home to roost. Cut off the nest and let loose with the CO2. Cold galvanizes the hornets in their tracks.

Same trick might work in some of the big metropolitan parking lots.

Puppy Feeder
New plastic cups cottage cheese comes in can make a good puppy feeder. Get as many cups as you have pups and cut a one by six plank to receive the cups. Mount the plank on appropriate length legs (so pups won't step in them) and you can feel a canine army at little expense.

(Try for a $50 prize. Send your tip to A.A. Contest, Sports Afield, 919 8th Ave., New York 9, N.Y.)

Your Personal Health

Warts
Do you have warts? If so, you have a lot of company. Many people, particularly children, have warts. Sometimes they hang on for years. Often they just go away after awhile, for no known reason. Usually a wart is nothing to worry about.

A wart is a virus infection of the outer layer of the skin, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association. The ordinary wart is a benign tumor that does not turn into cancer.

Warts can turn up anywhere on the body, but are most common on the hands, fingers and soles of the feet. Girls are four or five times more likely to have warts than boys, but in adults the incidence is about the same for both sexes. Warts are contagious and are started by contact with the virus that causes them.

The plantar warts (those on the soles of the feet) cause the most trouble. These are most common in adolescents and adults with moist feet. Plantar warts occur most often at points of pressure and sometimes can be confused with painful calluses. They can be most uncomfortable, even making walking painful.

Physicians generally use either an electric needle or a freezing process to remove warts. Either process will work and the choice is up to the individual doctor.

For some unknown reason, warts sometimes can be "charmed" away by suggestion. Mark Twain readers still recall the stumpwater and dead cat remedies of Tom Sawyer. If the patient firmly believes the remedy will cure warts, sometimes it will. Sometimes the physician will destroy the largest wart and then find that the smaller ones go away without further treatment.

If a wart is so located that it is constantly irritated in the way of shaving, or is unsightly, it is advisable to have it removed.

Most of the non-prescription wart remedies contain acid. These could cause harmful burns if the patient did not follow directions carefully.

If you have a wart that is located in an irritating spot or is causing an unsightly appearance, consult your doctor and follow his advice on whether it should be removed and what removal procedure to follow.

Your Heart Association Says DON'T BE A FUTURE CARDIAC

A whirling dervish? Johnny's top? No, this is a clock-fighter. He's trying to get an hour's work out of each minute. Your Heart Association says, tension without let-up can be hard on you and your heart. Relax a bit, you may add years to your life, and you'll enjoy them more.

Oh Baby, What A Headache!

Lucky babies — they don't get headaches. And now there's good news for adults who suffer bigger-than-baby-size headaches. Modern science has developed new extra-strength pain relievers that work fast to combat pain and relieve the depression that is often a side effect.

The makers of one of these new products, Excedrin, have researched the big headache problem, and report the causes of the three most common types:

JOB PRESSURE
Conferences, contracts and deadlines can lead to the tension headaches that stiffen neck muscles, keep them taut, almost in spasm, and result in head pain.

EMOTIONAL UPSETS
Women are susceptible to sick headaches caused by aggravations and emotional upsets. Often accompanied by nausea, the throbbing pains usually center on one side of head, or above the eyes.

SINUS CONGESTION
The pains of sinus headaches result from painful swelling of the mucous membranes. Even the cheekbones may ache when the frontal sinuses are inflamed.

Equestrians Receive Top Trophy of Year

As Dale Robertson (center) star of TV's "Wells Fargo" looks on, Mrs. Barbara Worth and Lt. Col. A. H. Norton display the coveted Martini & Rossi trophies received for being voted the year's Horseman and Horsewoman.

LOS ANGELES . . . America's leading horsewoman and horseman have been chosen by the members of the American Horse Shows Association held at the Ambassador Hotel.

They are Mrs. Barbara Worth, Sacramento, and Lt. Col. A. H. Norton, Roswell, New Mexico.

Both received Martini & Rossi trophies for garnering the greatest number of votes in a poll conducted throughout the year in the pages of Horse Show Magazine, the organization's publication.

The Martini & Rossi trophy, awarded to each winner, is a handsome bronze statuette of Duke Emanuele Filiberto, founder of Torino, Italy. The trophy is an excellent replica of a famous monument in that city, home of Martini & Rossi, a leading manufacturer of wines and vermouths.

Barbara Worth began her career as a horsewoman at the age of 8 years, when she showed her first horse at the California State Fair at Sacramento, Calif. Since that time, her entire life has been devoted to the training and showing of horses.

GRANT'S OPERATIONS FAIL AT VICKSBURG

By Lon K. Savage

Five rather battered Federal gunboats backtracked through the bayous and creeks north of Vicksburg, Miss., 100 years ago this week, their mission a failure.

When they arrived back on the Mississippi River and reported to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, Grant was forced to come to a rather bitter conclusion: all his attempts to capture Vicksburg over the past six months had come to naught. He appeared no nearer to victory in Vicksburg than he had been the preceding autumn when he first began moving against the city. Confederate troops still were strongly entrenched in the city, their powerful guns overlooking the big river from the Vicksburg bluffs. The Federal troops trying to get at the city had done little more than get themselves mired in mud and swamps.

The Gunboats

The five gunboats had made the latest of four attempts by Grant to reach the city from the east or south. Commanded by Admiral David Porter, the boats had gone up the Yazoo River just north of Vicksburg, had turned into Steele's Bayou and had tried to move eastward through a series of bayous and creeks. Their purpose, to bypass Confederate fortifications on the Yazoo behind Vicksburg.

But the effort had been useless. The gunboats had moved into the swamps and creeks and had gotten themselves hopelessly entangled in the trees and brush overhanging the creeks. Confederate soldiers shot at them and chopped down trees so that they fell across the creeks both in front and behind the gunboats, trapping them.

Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman finally had come to Porter's rescue, and the gunboats turned back toward the Mississippi.

Previous attempts to reach Vicksburg had had similar results.

First had been the Yazoo Pass expedition, in which Federal boats tried to move through a series of bayous and rivers for more than 200 miles to reach Vicksburg from the rear. The expedition met disaster in mid-March when Confederates in a hastily-erected fort, Fort Pemberton, opened fire on the vessels. The boats, caught like sitting ducks, had no recourse but to retreat.

Lake Providence

Next was the Lake Providence expedition, which began on the Mississippi's western bank far north of Vicksburg. There, according to the plan, boats would enter Lake Providence in northern Louisiana and make their way southward through bayous and rivers to the Red River. From there, they would move into the Mississippi and attack Vicksburg from the South. That plan, though it produced some good fun and fishing for the soldiers, was foiled when Grant found he couldn't get enough light draft boats to haul his army.

Finally, there was the plan to change the course of the Mississippi to bypass Vicksburg. Grant's engineers had dug a new channel for the river to bypass Vicksburg, but the channel was ruined in a flood.

As March came to an end, Grant had no choice but to find a new plan to capture Vicksburg. Already, that plan was beginning to form in his mind.

Next week: A bread riot in Richmond.

away from opportunities and obligations beyond her shores. He is aware that rapid communications and travel have shrunk the world, and that the U. S. must assume its responsibility as leader of the free nations. He is a businessman whose company has been engaged in foreign commerce for 45 years and who understands that America must continue to open new markets and participate in world trade.

First-Hand Knowledge

Prior to his appearance before the Committee, Mr. Harnischfeger had made two trips each to the Far East, to South America, and to Europe. He had attended several international meetings with bankers and business leaders from all over the world to discuss ways and means of expanding our trade, developing economic and social problems. His remarks are still most pertinent, and have taken on added significance in view of recent developments related to European trade and our foreign affairs.

At that time Mr. Harnischfeger commented that if a program proposed by The Citizens Foreign Aid Committee four years earlier had been adopted, so that we would have readjusted our military and aid policies, our international balance and our flight of gold would have been under control. But he was again recommending measures he believed would balance our budget and permit a substantial reduction in taxes, thereby reducing costs and improving our competitive position in international markets.

Budget Beyond Capacity

Here is what he proposed last August:

1. In order to correct our unfavorable balance of payments, stop the flight of gold and balance our budget, the U. S. drastically reduce our economic give-away and military assistance programs.

2. Both business and government must discipline themselves. The government's $92.5 billion budget ($98.8 this year) is beyond the capacity of the American industry and taxpayers.

3. Accelerated depreciation allowances should stimulate the purchase of modern equipment and reduce costs.

4. Industry must insist that increased wages be predicated on increased productivity.

5. Our allies carry their share of foreign military expenses and, thereby, save us $3 billion. Before World War II, defense costs of our allies were substantially higher.

6. Unspent foreign aid appropriations for fiscal '62 probably amount to more than $6 billion. These should be screened and re-obligated so as to reduce fiscal '63 aid to not more than $1 billion.

7. Our defense costs which represent the largest outlay of our Government—$10 billion—should be rescreened. Elimination of waste and duplication would save over 10 per cent. Elimination of obsolescent arms and weapons would save additional billions.

8. There should be a reliable re-evaluation to determine whether it is desirable to spend billions to reach the moon—where one can live under an oxygen mask.

These recommendations cover a wide field, and you may not favor all of them. But you will undoubtedly agree that they could have as their author suggested, an important influence toward making possible the survival of the U. S. as a solvent nation strong enough to lead the free world. Years of deficit spending and taxes that burden the economy could eventually break down our fiscal structure. Such a catastrophe would panic the free world, cause untold suffering, and endanger the American way of life!

TB Assn. To

Expand Program

The Board of Directors of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association voted recently to approve the expansion of its program in health education into the area of control of other respiratory diseases.

In conjunction with a nationwide campaign in May and June, the TB Association will begin what has been termed by association President John D. Alexander, as a "symptoms campaign."

"Persons suffering from the symptoms of Shortness of Breath and Chronic Cough will be urged by the TB Association to seek medical assistance during the campaign," Mr. Alexander said.

He pointed out that the two month effort will be strictly educational in nature, "programs will be geared to informing the community in general and physicians in particular of the diseases masked by these two common and chronic symptoms," according to Mr. Alexander.

"Chronic cough and shortness of breath are the two most persistent and yet, frequently ignored symptoms of the serious pulmonary disease," according to a statement read to the TB Board by Dr. Moses S. Shilling, president of the Maryland Trudeau Society, medical arm of the TB group.

These two symptoms can indicate the presence of a broad spectrum of major and minor respiratory diseases ranging from the typical winter cold to flu to tuberculosis, emphysema and chronic bronchitis. Dr. Shilling added, "It is important that every person with these symptoms receive prompt medical attention to prevent further serious complications."

Citing statistics from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's November 1962 bulletin, Mr. Alexander and Dr. Shilling pointed out that diseases of the respiratory system hit hardest in the older age groups.

The insurance company survey showed that the mortality rate from respiratory diseases for persons in the 25 to 44 age group is 3.7 per 100,000. At age 45 to 64, the jump is to 11.7 per 100,000. At ages 65 to 74, 25.2 per 100,000 persons died from respiratory diseases and in the oldest age group, 65 to 74, respiratory diseases accounted for 71 deaths per 100,000.

From an American Thoracic Society study, it was determined that over 12% of the patients discharged from 132 hospitals during a six month period, had entered because of an illness transmitted through the respiratory tract. Baltimore's own Union Memorial Hospital was one of the 132 which participated in this study.

Studies of other agencies have shown, too, that as many as 19% of all workers in the U. S., granted social security disability benefits for the first time in 1960, had a diagnosis of respiratory disease. Tuberculosis and emphysema were the most frequent diagnosis, accounting for 11.4% of all primary diagnoses.

"Emphysema ranks second among all disabilities for which workers were awarded benefits in 1960. One measure of the seriousness of respiratory diseases, in addition to the familiar morbidity statistics, is that of disability. Data as shown in the social security reports underscores the importance of selected respiratory conditions as causes of inability to engage in gainful activity.

"Because of these figures and from our own knowledge of the serious impact of respiratory diseases, we feel certain that an intensive campaign to educate our citizens in the areas of early diagnosis and treatment is badly needed," Dr. Shilling and Mr. Alexander said.

The tuberculosis association hopes to have the support of physicians in general practice, as well as chest specialists, local health departments and hospital clinics.

Group Opposes Cullen Closing

The chairman of the Citizens Committee for the Retention of Victor Cullen Hospital this week said his group is fed up with the apparent inconsistency of the state's administration in their attitude toward the future of the tuberculosis hospital near Sabillasville.

The chairman, Francis M. Manahan, said opposition to the proposed plan to convert the hospital to a training school for boys is still strong in Frederick County and throughout the state.

He pointed out that 700 persons who met in the recreation hall of Victor Cullen Hospital in April, 1961, voted unanimously against converting the hospital to a training school. He emphasized that a petition was signed by 7,000 persons, most of them residents from the proposed closing of the hospital.

He said public sentiment toward Western Maryland, who also opposed it, is still as strong as it was when that public meeting was held.

More citizens' meetings and public meetings are planned this spring to reiterate the opposition to the change, Manahan said. Gov. J. Millard Tawes assured the group in 1961, the chairman said, that all pressure to convert the hospital to a training home for boys would be called off for several years. "Before two years," he said, "they have caused it to be a hot issue again."

The governor also told the committee in 1961 that he would appoint a committee to study the activities and potential changes of the hospital, the chairman said. He said he had no knowledge of any study on the hospital.

He said the group is not opposed to the gradual phasing out of the hospital, but that they did oppose spending half a million dollars to convert the institution to a training school.

About $300,000 has been spent for renovation of the hospital during the past five years, he continued.

He said the committee agreed that the state needed a home for delinquent boys, but questioned the wisdom of converting the Cullen hospital for that use.

We could never be saved from our sins were we dependent upon any human being, no matter how godly. God himself came in the person of His Son, Jesus Christ. He is the sinless one.

We may not be able to understand how Christ can save humanity from its sins, but our part is to accept in faith that Christ died for us. This is an individual matter. Do you and I believe in Christ as our personal Savior?

Prayer
We thank Thee, Father, that Thou didst care enough for us to send Thy Son to die for us. We ask Thy forgiveness for our sins. Help us to believe in Him. In His name we ask. Amen.

Thought For The Day
Only the Son of God was good enough to pay the price of our sin.

Read I Peter 3:13-22. God shows his love for us in that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us. (Romans 5:8, RSV.)

The ministr's wife was discussing sin with some juniors. She explained that God could not be holy and overlook sin. Neither could He tolerate it. To be certain they understood, she repeated once more. "Everyone sins."

Bill looked stunned. "Does everyone sin?" "Yes," she replied. "Does even your husband sin?" "Yes."

"Well," he said desparately, "how are we going to get to heaven then?"

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

OLDSTERS FLEEDED IN BILLION DOLLAR RACKET

By U.S. Sen. Pat. McNamara (D-Mich.)
Chairman, Senate Special Committee on Aging

Those of us who have long been concerned with the problems of America's senior citizens have felt that they were particularly vulnerable to the glib appeal of the pitchman, the real estate racketeer and the peddler of quack nostrums.

When you are ailing and in pain, for example, you will listen to the fast-talking "salesman" with the "sure cure" for arthritis. Because your retirement income is low, the "quick-money" scheme has strong appeal. And the snow-bound oldster is attracted by the warm retirement haven described in the mail-order real estate advertisement.

Countless thousands of senior citizens are being lured to the loss of their life savings to purchase heartless "cures" for cancer and arthritis; to make down payments on worthless land in over-promoted real estate tracts, or to buy "life-time" contracts from certain dance studios.

We have only scratched the surface in uncovering these fraudulent practices against the aging.

One conservative estimate of the annual "take" from these frauds is upwards of $1 billion a year.

This is a matter of deep concern to those of us in the Congress who believe that the Government has a duty to help the people protect themselves against fraud and deception.

The need for such assistance in this "Age of the Hard Sell" was never greater. Television and radio bring the glib, persuasive "pitchman" with his often exorbitant, misleading claims into every living room.

At recent hearings of the Senate Special Committee on Aging, one Government witness, for example, told us of the operations of a high-priced food supplement chain with a clever TV promotional campaign, backed up by a door-to-door sales force of 75,000 people.

Testimony documented the claim that millions of dollars are being spent on misbranded products aimed at our older people.

One of the cruelest deceptions practiced upon our senior citizens is the "mail-order" promotional campaign misrepresenting the retirement haven in a warm climate.

Numerous state officials appeal to the Congress to crack down on "glaring examples of misrepresentation."

The real estate commissioner of one western state described the advertising and direct-mail promotion of a subdivision promoter in Arizona.

Billed as a lush retirement haven, the subdivision advertised "complete utility service . . . with roads, electricity, water and phones available," he said, while the truth is exactly the opposite.

Investigation disclosed that there are no utilities at the site; that the fancy-named roads are bulldozed scars across the desert, and that the nearest water is six miles from the subdivision's center.

At this point, however, it is quite clear that the Federal Government has a greater responsibility for protecting our senior citizens from consumer frauds.

Here's Recipe for Cooking Renown: Good Cookbook, New Electric Range

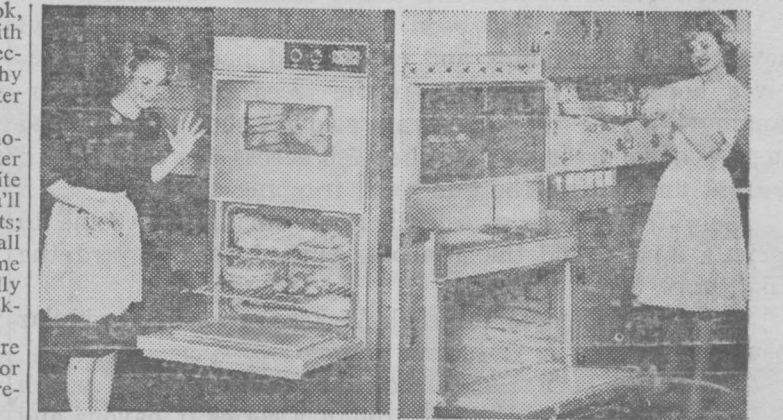

Anyone who can read can cook, say home economists today. With the superior help given by new electric ranges, there's no reason why even an inexperienced homemaker can't cook to perfection.

Here's the advice home economists give all women, no matter how experienced they are: write down the menu in advance so you'll be sure to buy all the ingredients; plan your timing carefully so all dishes will be ready at the same time; and prepare foods carefully according to directions on the packages or in the cookbook.

Finally, put the food in the care of an automatic electric range for carefree cooking with gourmet results.

With the new electric ranges, you no longer have to stand by to watch and probe every few minutes. Electric ovens, with their fully automatic stop and start timers and accurate heat controls, cook your food exactly the way you want it.

Some ranges have thermostatically controlled surface units that quickly bring the temperature in the pot or pan up to the temperature you have set, then automatically hold it there, whether it's a slow simmer, high heat, or a setting somewhere in between. The constant, controlled heat does away with spillovers, burned food and scorched pots. Double boilers are no longer necessary for sauces and custards, and the temperature is so exact you can even bake a cake on the surface element.

Automatic meat probes are another feature of many of the 1963 electric ranges that make good cooking easy. With them, you can cook roasts or poultry to just the degree of doneness you want without guesswork or testing. Some models automatically keep meat at serving temperature without further cooking, once it's done.

Many electric range models have removable rotisseries that automatically turn roasts or poultry to cook to juicy perfection.

As for appearance, the 1963 electric ranges suit decorator tastes in both color and design. Pastel finishes, polished copper, brushed chrome and white finishes are available in a variety of styles — free-standing models, built-in ovens and surface cooking units, compact slide-in ranges, and high-oven models, estate is so commonly associated with inflation protection, it might be well to lead off

with a discussion of LAND TRUSTS.

Real Estate Trusts

The better-quality land companies have several advantages:
 (1) While some of the older companies originally garnered their land for agricultural purposes, in recent years the discovery of minerals has introduced a "kicker" to companies of this type. (2) There is usually a basic source of earnings in the form of surface leases, water rights, etc. (3)
 These companies operate with little in the way of plant and equipment investments. (4)
 Their labor and other operating costs are at a minimum.

One of the largest domestic land trusts is KERN COUNTY LAND COMPANY. It owns nearly 2 million acres in California, New Mexico, and Arizona; and participates in development of oil and gas properties in Western Canada, Louisiana and Mississippi, and even Australia.

Another large land company
 is TEXAS PACIFIC LAND TRUST, owner of about 1,700,
 000 acres in Texas. In 1954 this company transferred to TXL OIL CORP. most of its oil, gas, and other mineral rights on its then producing property. It retained title to virtually all the surface land, a small perpetual royalty interest in 85,000 producing acres, and a 1/16 royalty in future
 mineral production from 387, 000 acres.

Established Mining Companies

Mining issues provide another hedge against inflation. In a sense, mineral deposits are sort of underground bank deposits. Improved mining techniques, development of machinery capable of massive ore extraction, and new methods of upgrading ore quality help to offset effects of rising labor costs. Best investments are in companies with large ore reserves and undeveloped acreage.

The AMERICAN METAL CLIMAX COMPANY has many attractive features. This company holds land in Africa, Mexico, Canada, and South America. Domestic properties are located in Colorado, New Mexico, and Michigan. American Metal Climax produces more than half the world's supply of molybdenum and owns the world's largest molybdenum mine. The company also has large investments in African copper mines. It is a large custom smelter and seller of nonferrous metals.

Other lines include a potash
 mine and refinery in New Mexico, plus oil and gas interests.

Copper Properties

The major copper mines also hold merit for investors interested in underground mineral deposits. KENNECOTT COP-PER is the world's largest copper mining company. Its Utah and Chile operations are exceptionally low-cost. Ore reserves of the company are substantial. Kennecott's investments include a 67% ownership of Quebec Iron & Titanium and a 13% interest in Kaiser Aluminum.

The world's second - largest copper producer is ASACON-DA. More than two-thirds of its copper is mined in Chile. In addition, it has mines in Montana and Nevada, and in Mexico. Anaconda is also a leading fabricator of copper, and processing uranium and aluminum. Operating costs of its foreign mines are low.

Second-largest domestic copper producer is PHELPS DODGE, which is a favorite of mine. Nearly all of its ore output, the bulk of which is mined
 in Arizona, is used by its fabricating plants. It has a 16% interest in Southern Peru Copper, and sizeable investments in Amerada Petroleum, American Metal Climax, and New Jersey Zinc. A very interesting article on Arizona appears in the March National Geographic.

COPPER RANGE is an important copper producer in the Lake Superior region. Though it is medium sized and a relatively high cost producer, it is fully integrated from mines to market.

Turning to the base metals,
 UNITED STATES SMELTING
 REFINING & MINING COM-PANY is a leading producer of lead, zinc, copper, silver, gold, and even coal. Most of its mining properties are in New Mexico and Utah. Company is increasing its emphasis on oil and gas development. It holds leases, royalty claims, and mineral options on acreage in various U. S. mountain and plains states, and in Western Canada.

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

Double Trouble

By Mrs. Eileen B. Cavaliere
 Main Line Mothers-of-Twins Club Are you the harried mother of twins? Then I am sure you will agree that there is a woeful lack of practical knowledge and advice on how to raise them without keeping yourself in a state of perpetual crisis.

A few years ago, several of us
 got together and with the cooperation of our local Bryn Mawr (Pa.) Hospital, formed a group appropriately called the "Mothers-of-Twins Club." Our objectives were to meet regularly, discuss common problems, and to compile helpful information. Similar groups have sprung up across the country. Perhaps you can join one.

Twins basically have as many differences as any other siblings, but having begun as one, they tend to stay very much alike.
 Their differences result from experience and environment. Great credit is due parents who allow them to develop individual personalities.

The needs of each baby should be served individually so that the differences in each will continue to grow. Names alike in sound and dress - alike emphasize the "twinness" and perhaps should be avoided.

Spend some time alone with each twin and let a separate relationship develop between you and each child. Teach yourself to stop comparisons. Let one be slower or different, if he will, but let each be himself.

Try not to let one twin dominate the other. Face the problem as if they were any two children in the same family, and not as a different problem because they are twins.

Twins are aware of their alike-
 ness and some enjoy it very much.
 Do not deny them this enjoyment, but call a halt before it interferes with the development of a fully rounded individual personality. The closer twins stick together, the harder it will be for them to lead individual lives
 later on when marriage or vocation claims their full time and attention.

Within the framework of good
 twin baby care, it is necessary to search for easier and quicker methods of doing everything. Take advantage of prepared baby foods,
 professional diaper service, household aids. There are many other practical short cuts in caring for twins, and you will soon learn how important these short cuts are. So do not apologize for your use of such time and mother savers, and do not have guilt pangs about using them.

But no pleasure is comparable to the standing upon the vantageground of Truth.—Bacon.

The big economic question for the USA is not whether there will be inflation but whether there will be deflation and an economic collapse.

36 days that proved Ford's total performance!

RIVERSIDE, CAL.
 January 20

In a total performance test of brakes, suspension and steering on the twisting Riverside sports car course, Dan Gurney drove a Ford hardtop to victory over 43 other stock cars. The 500-mile grind demonstrated Ford's superior stamina and road-holding.

MONTE CARLO
 January 23

The '63 1/2 Falcon V-8 Sprints made their debut with a fantastic showing in the 2,500-mile Monte Carlo Rallye. Through Europe's worst winter weather they placed 1st and 2nd in class. Besides this . . . one Sprint defeated every entrant in the Rallye's six special stages.

PURE OIL TRIALS
 January 27

In a competition designed to test all-around performance, Fords were overall winners in Class I and Class II in the Pure Oil Performance Trials at Daytona.
 Their total performance design added up to most total points in gas economy,
 acceleration and braking events.

DAYTONA, FLA.
 February 24

Daytona "500" history was made when
 '63 1/2 Fords blazed into the first five places! Since Daytona is the toughest track in the world, this was eyewitness proof that Ford's total performance design can endure the maximum in automotive punishment.

... and here are the 63 1/2's that gave total proof of Ford's durability and handling!

You may never see a competitive auto event. But at 30 mph on rain-slick blacktop, in the close-packed rush of 5 o'clock traffic, on a twisting mountain road, the results are important to you.
 On every slippery surface you need the kind of roadability that placed five Fords out front in the Daytona "500." On every busy cross street—

 you want the brakes that won on Riverside's sports car circuit. Your engine will hold up better through years of turnpike use because it's as beautifully balanced as Falcon's Monte Carlo V-8's. The winning competition car is bound to be a great road car—and Ford is the big winner!

If it's Ford-built,
 it's built for performance
 . . . total performance!

By Ted Kesting

It's true; real landlubbers are rare today. But the sportsman who goes out only in the boats of friends is likely to get just a passenger's viewpoint and, if each friend has a different sort of boat, he may get no real insight into any. If you have yet to buy your first boat, there is one big, important point to remember: there are rules for good, safe boat buying, rules for any boat buying. You must follow them all; being a beginner is no excuse. Only experts can make exceptions — they alone can figure out a calculated risk.

A boat must be chosen to suit both the waterway it will be run on and the load it will carry, that is the basic consideration you as a first-timer must never lose sight of. Nothing can reveal sheer imbecility better than buying a boat smaller than what the waterway calls for, simply because as is often said, it is easier for a beginner to handle. Only proper size can combat steep waves, in a powerboat, and it's a genuinely safe bet no waves will ever level down because a novice is out in them.

This does not mean you have to buy a big boat, says Willard Crandall, Boats Editor, Sports Afield Magazine. The waves of the ocean, Gulf and large lakes, such as the Great Lakes, will not offer any problem, for you won't be going out on them. Not only are sheltered waters safer for those getting their experience, but also they afford quicker and more fun-filled chances to get that experience.

Of course, it is quite evident that circumstances vary for any first boat. Sheltered waters are bays, quiet ponds, and so on; and they offer a variety of places on which to keep the boat as well as to run it.

An outboard of about 16 feet is about the most popular boat in America today; it's well-suited to a trailer, to one of intermediate size that's the easiest of all to learn to handle. For a first boat, you're wise to choose something outstanding popular—since there's obviously less chance of going wrong in view of your inexperience. Besides, a 16-footer is a remarkably versatile boat. It's as good for the fun of family or guest cruising as for fishing.

Capitol Handicap Saturday At Laurel

The forty-fourth running of the Capitol Handicap Saturday is the headliner this week as Laurel Race Course completes the first full week of its 28-day spring meeting.

Twenty-six top sprinters were named to the six-furlong event and the entry of the Brandywine Stable's Greek Money and For the Road appears the favorite.

Expected to oppose Greek Money, last season's winner of the Chesapeake Stakes and Preakness, and For the Road are the Argonne Stable's Grand Wizard, Carolyn K Stable's Happy Angle, Circle M. Farm's I'm For More,

G. C. Frostad's Kisco Kid, either of Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' Post Exchange or Military Plume, Mrs. William Cox Wright's Moon Shot, either of T. A. Grissom's Nero or Still Echo, Paul Mellon's Third Martini, John J. Roe's Tilmar and Walter F. Wickes Jr.'s Vendetta.

Venetta won the Capitol in 1960 and Moon Shot came home first in the stakes in 1961.

Serving as a prelude to the Capitol will be the Cherry Blossom Purse. Cherry Blossom Princesses from the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia will participate in winner's circle ceremonies after the race.

As an extra dividend, the winning owner will receive a pearl-mounted horseshoe, valued at $2,000. The horseshoe made by the famed "pearl king," Yoshitaka Mikimoto, of Tokyo, will be formally presented by an attache from the Embassy of Japan.

Commemorative Stamps For 1964 Tokyo Olympics

Japan has to date issued nine Olympic Games Commemorative Stamps to help publicize the 1964 Tokyo Olympics. One-half of the proceeds from the sale of these stamps were earmarked for the Tokyo Olympic Organizing Committee. Olympic stamps were issued for the first time by the Greek Government in 1896 to commemorate the re-establishment of the Olympic Games, and this practice has been followed for each Games. The Japanese Olympic Stamps were sold out on the first day of each sale.

Text of the letter was made public this week by Ray H. Smith, chairman of Pomona's legislative committee, who wrote the Grange's protest at the direction and insistence of Bernard Remsburg, Pomona Master.

The text follows: "Frederick County Pomona Grange has for many years been opposed to the use of alcoholic beverages on the grounds that they so frequently lead directly to a variety of excesses, to a majority of traffic accidents, to blighted character, and to broken homes.

"This Pomona Grange opposed legislation of a very few years ago that legalized the sale of hard liquor in the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick. It now opposes the proposal to liberalize the sale of these same liquors in other public places in Frederick County, and urges your (members of the delegation and State Senator John A. Derr) influence and support to defeat the proposal."

Firemen Seek County Money

A delegation representing the Gracemah Volunteer Fire Company appeared before the County Commissioners this week seeking an allocation of funds to help defray costs of providing the community service.

The delegation was led by Chester L. Fogle Jr., president; and Leslie R. Sovocool Jr., secretary.

It was brought to the attention of the Commissioners that they are receiving no funds from the county at the present time. Other city and county fire companies receive a certain amount of aid each year.

The Commissioners said that the Maryland Legislature specifies the amounts of money and to whom it is to be paid. A. Irvin Renn, president of the Commissioners, said that it might be possible that the county could give them a small sum, however, he said the Commissioners would have to discuss the matter further before making a commitment. During the course of discussion, the legal entanglement of the fire company was mentioned. Several years ago the company split and suit was entered against the treasurer of the organization. The suit is still unsettled.

Film Premiere To Aid Muscular Dystrophy

A premiere showing of the cinerama production "How the West was Won" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 10, at the Town Theatre in Baltimore. The Maryland Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Society, will benefit from this preview showing of the first full length cinerama film to come to Maryland.

Reserved seat tickets may be obtained by making a minimum contribution of $5.00 per ticket. Single ticket contributions of $10 or more will also receive a MGM record of the original sound track from the film.

Reservations for the preview may be made by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your contribution to, MS Premiere, 101 E. Mulberry Street, Baltimore 2, Maryland.

Mr. Thomas D. R. Parr, Chairman of the Maryland MS Chapter, stated "Since the Orioles are opening the baseball season in Baltimore that afternoon, persons may want to make it a full day affair with dinner and the premiere following the opening game."

The technicolor film features 24 great stars among a cast of 12,000. It is a highly recommended documentary of the winning of the untamed West.

The Maryland MS Chapter helps to support a world-wide research program of the National Society. It also maintains the only year-round program of patient aid and activities in the state for local MS victims.

Your social security provides a basic protection against three major lifetime "risks": old age, disability and death.

It is important to remember that the program provides this lifetime protection—not only retirement benefits in old age, but also individual and family payments if you become too disabled to work, and payments for your family if you should die.

You may write to the nearest social security office for two free publications that will help you to understand the types of protection you are buying with the social security taxes you are paying.

Booklet 35—Your Social Security—which explains in simple language the main facts of the program.

Leaflet 855—Social Security Benefits—which tells how you earn social security credits, how many credits or units of coverage you need for benefits to be payable, and how to estimate the amount of your benefits.

The Hagerstown District Office is located at 59 North Cannon Avenue.

One trouble with legislation is that too many lawmakers overdo the "it" in politician.

When To Sow Vegetable Seeds

Some vegetables are called "hardy" because seedlings and small plants will live even if a light frost should occur when they are growing. These are the vegetables you can plant as soon as frost is out of the ground.

In alphabetical order, they are: asparagus, beet, cabbage, carrot, chard, kale, lettuce, onion, parsley, parsnip, pea, radish, spinach, turnip and New Zealand spinach.

"Half-hardy" vegetables, to be planted when danger of a heavy frost is over, include broccoli, cauliflower, celery, endive, and kohlrabi.

"Tender" vegetables, which must wait until all danger of frost is past, are bean, corn and potato; while cucumber, eggplant, lima bean, melon, okra, pepper, pumpkin, squash and tomato are "extra-tender" and soil temperature should reach 60 degrees before seeds are sown.

Early Tax Returns Show Carelessness

Review of early filed Federal tax returns in the Baltimore District, which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia, reveals that some taxpayers are failing to fill in all required data, Director Machiz said this week.

Mr. Machiz said individual and business taxpayers particularly should carry forward to proper lines on the face of the return data from any attached schedules.

Director Machiz said it is important that returns filed this year be accurate and complete. Internal Revenue is turning to electronic computers to maintain taxpayer accounts. For this system to function beneficially for the Government and for taxpayers,

Mr. Machiz also called attention to the legal requirements effective this year that taxpayers enter their tax account identifying numbers on returns. For the individual, this is his Social Security number, or a similar number assigned for tax purposes. Director Machiz said his office will supply application forms for any persons still needing numbers. This also applies to business taxpayers, who must enter their Employer Identification Number on their returns.

In the record world, the most highly prosed award any entertainer can win is a gold record—glittering proof that a recording has reached one million sales...

It was only a few short years ago, the Platters made their first appearance on Mercury... and it took just 90 days for disk jockey's across the country to latch on and kick off "Only You," the hit that gave them their first gold record.

"Only You" was followed immediately by "The Great Pretender," and in a matter of a few short weeks, the group had registered their second gold platter. Then came "The Magic Touch," "My Prayer," "Twilight Time"...

The success of these top level entertainers is no secret. Termed as "best sellers" throughout the world, the formula for this international success is five beautiful voices, four men and a girl. This combination has created a unique and exciting sound (often imitated but never duplicated) that lets them sing any song and make it brilliant.

And a real pot of gold for anyone and everyone who enjoys their brand of music is the recent release on Columbia... "Encore of Golden Hits" by the Platters... an exciting collection of their biggest hits.

Classical Spotlight "Music, the greatest good that mortals know, And all of heaven we have below..." These are the words of the celebrated British writer Joseph Addison. They express perfectly the pleasure that is yours when you listen to the great classics... the music of the masters.

Via way of your easy chair and stereo, you thrill to the genius of Beethoven at his most joyous in the Symphony No. 7... delight in the passionate medleys that Tchaikovsky lavished upon his "Romeo and Juliet"... share in the elegance of "A Concert At the White House" with the world famed cellist Pablo Casals.

You'll also hear the exciting pace of modern living in George Gershwin's ever-popular American Classics "Rhapsody in Blue," and "An American in Paris." In the Mormon Tabernacle Choir's singing of "Beloved Choruses," you'll be inspired by their fervor and spirit.

Choose your favorites and discover anew the enduring beauty of classical music... music that has stood the test of time. "The great good that mortals know."

Disc Derby Review of the Week

A motion picture event of outstanding interest to music lovers is the beautiful new color production of Richard Strauss's beloved opera... "Der Rosenkavalier." Filmed at the Salsburg Festival, the movie has had only a few scattering showings, including Washington. Eventually it is sure to become a classic, particularly since it perpetuates the incomparable Marschallin of Elisabeth Schwarzkopf, the superb Baron Ochs of Otto Eilemann, and the feintive interperaction of conductor Herbert von Karajan. These three great artists also participated in the Angel recording of "Der Rosenkavalier."

Our Library...

To adult readers who enjoy a good book of fiction. The library has received a copy of a current best seller "Fail-Safe." It is written by an associate professor of political science at the University of California. Eugene Burdick has written political science texts and famous novels. Co-authored with Harvey Wheeler, who is presently a professor of political science at Washington & Lee. Wheeler's writing has been mostly professional articles for journals, but he wrote "Abraham, '58" which is the story which provided the basis for Fail-Safe, in 1957.

Fail-Safe is the almost unbearably gripping story of several hours today, tomorrow, or next year in which life, as we know it on earth, hangs in precarious balance and only a few very important people can do anything about it.

Something has gone wrong. A group of American bombers armed with nuclear weapons is streaking past the fail-safe point, beyond recall, and no one knows why, their destination Moscow.

Fail-Safe is a novel impossible to put down and impossible to forget. Its characters are memorable, its technical details convincing. The author's storytelling ability is matched by their deep conviction. From the first deceptive calm to the final shattering pages, it gives the reader a clear view of the manner in which disaster can strike us all, enemies or allies alike, tomorrow, next month, or next year—a dilemma that must haunt us every day of our lives, told here with the masterful suspense and tremendous skill of two highly gifted authors.

This book is a 7 day book—and must be returned after 7 days, you won't want to miss this one.

"OPINIONS FROM THE FIELD"

If someone were to ask me to name one person in this community who has caught more fish than anyone else, I wouldn't even have to give it a second thought. This distinction could only go to a slim little fellow known to everyone as Joe.

This time of the year you can probably find him hunched over a pair of Sucker rods somewhere between the Sister's Upper Dam and the Willows. If the day is cold he may be sitting next to a little fire but if the sun is warm, he will be backed up to a stump with eyes glued on those lines. You can be pretty sure that somewhere along the bank his stringer will be holding a half dozen or so nice fat Suckers.

Later, when the Trout season reopens, you might see him at the dam above Thurmont or hopping from rock to rock somewhere along Friend's Creek. Only on rare occasions will he be found flyfishing on Hunting Creek for he never had much confidence in such things as he calls "lumps". Regardless of his fishing techniques, Joe puts many Trout in the pan and in some cases, some pretty big fish. I recall an incident a few years back when he asked if I wanted to see a couple nice Trout. I thought he was going to bring some frozen ones from the house so you can imagine by amazement when he walked over to an old watering trough and pulled out a live Trout over 20 inches long. In this same trough I could see several more, just as large. There's nothing like having fresh fish on hand...

Troutfishing and Suckerfishing don't take up all of Joe's time for there are times when Carp have to be caught at Loch Raven or Catfish at Chain Bridge. That name Chain Bridge stands out in my mind because Joe talked a couple of us into a trip down there one time. This turned out to be quite a trip for in addition to a 150 plus mile ride, we used five pounds of Jumbo Shrimp and lost half of our lines, hooks, and sinkers. Did we catch any monster Catfish? No, the biggest was 14 inches long.

To illustrate how dedicated this fellow is to the sport of fishing I recall a cold November evening a few years ago. The sun had dropped back of the mountain and an icy wind was rapidly turning my hands to a pretty shade of blue. This was Pheasant season and my bird dog and I were making one last swing before heading for home. As we came out of the field and started down along Tom's Creek I could hardly believe my eyes. There was Joe, fishing rod in hand, and four or five Trout hanging from his belt. I figured right then that any man who would be Troutfishing under conditions like that, really enjoyed fishing.

So ends the story of Joe, not a legend but a real life story...
