With the two college commencements now over there has been a mass exodus of our population as almost 1300 individuals have moved out from our midst. This figure is just about the actual size of the town's population. This annual exodus is felt by local merchants I am sure, but then I guess we are really fortunate in having them with us for at least nine months out of the year. Emmitsburg is a busy little town at commencement time with two colleges, two high schools and two elementary schools all having their exercises almost in a 10-day span. A new crop will return in the fall, as it always does, and then our little town can adopt itself to another busy schedule.

With perhaps the greatest Pope we have had in centuries lying dead, and one who preached humility, tolerance and benevolence, there are certain individuals in our state who would strip their brethren citizens of rights granted to them under our Constitution. These people I have reference to are those who signed and presented a petition to our attorney-general to kill our public accommodations bill recently enacted by our State Legislature which would grant equal rights to all citizens. This bill I am certain, had the popular support of our citizenry. Now it has been stymied or killed by a mere minority of selfish individuals. It will defer equal rights to our citizens for some time to come now. It is hard to understand how some of us can work so hard for the welfare of mankind while others do everything in their power for selfish gain. Pope John XXIII was an example of the former group while the signers of the petition represent the latter group.

A documentary film televised this week over a television network really has the people of Gettysburg reeling. In their opinion the viewing was anything but complimentary. It showed mostly billboards and junk yards, picnic tables being rented for 50c and greedy museum owners punching their cash registers. Little of the film was dedicated to the historic Battlefield and the coming Centennial of the Battle of Gettysburg. In a derogatory sense it showed the town ready for the "kill" as it plays host to thousands during the Centennial next month. We are at a loss as to understand the justification of such a film, or perhaps there is some element of truth in the reason behind it? Perhaps the public should be informed if it is being taken advantage of. . . . On the other hand certain individuals in Gettysburg can clarify the situation by telling the whole story.

Fire! Fire! How alarmed we become when we hear the siren wailing. How anxious we are to learn the location of the blaze or the identity of the house. How relieved we are when we hear it is not ours. How thankful we are when we see the untiring efforts of our local volunteer firemen risking their very lives to extinguish major blazes which destroy homes and belongings. All these fellows ask is your support. They receive no compensation for their dangerous work. All they ask is that you support them and give them the necessary tools and equipment. Well now your turn has come. The local Fire Co. has begun its annual financial drive and it is your moral and civic responsibility to back up these men. Won't you send in your contribution today?

EVA W. ASHBAUGH

Eva W. Ashbaugh, 48, died Friday morning at her home, 2507 Wiesman Road, Wheaton, Md., after a prolonged illness. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thornton, Bowling Green, Va. Survivors include her husband, Harry E. Ashbaugh, formerly of Emmitsburg; a son, Steve, Newberry, Md., and a daughter, Cheryl, at home; two sisters and three brothers from the Virginia area.

Funeral services were held Monday at 1 p.m. from the Warner E. Humphrey Funeral Home, Silver Spring, Md. Interment was in the United Brethren Cemetery, Thurmont.

Town Seeks Federal Aid On Projects

The Town of Emmitsburg will hold in abeyance for several weeks the decision to issue bonds for the payment of construction of new improvements to the town's water facilities it was decided at the regular monthly meeting of the Town Council held Monday evening in the town office.

Chairman of the Board of Commissioners John S. Hollinger presided at the meeting. If and when approved the bond issue probably would be in the neighborhood of $400,000. This figure would include the original purchase price of $170,000 plus construction of new lines.

On Tuesday of this week Commissioners J. Norman Flax and Dr. J. W. Houser and Mayor Ralph F. Irelan visited Congressman Carlton R. Sickles in Washington relative to projects for the town's benefit and which it is hoped Federal funds are available. Following their business meeting with Cong. Sickles, the group dined in the Senate Restaurant.

Other business transacted at Monday's meeting included the raising of water rent from $7.50 to $8.50 for those residents known to be using water for outside purposes. Quite a number, it is understood, removed outside hydrants some time ago to escape the increase in rent, however, it has been discovered that many still are using water for outside use by running hoses from their cellars. All will be billed for the new rate when the next quarter starts. The tenant house at Reservoir No. 1 is being improved and has been sublet to new tenants who are responsible for the care of Reservoir No. 1.

Commissioner Flax, superintendent of the water division of the Town, announced that steps had been taken to improve the water pressure to the consumers on the Waynesboro Road and also that pressure had been raised to Mt. St. Mary's College which the system now serves. The Commissioner also reported that the survey of the present system was almost complete and that the new survey with new rights-of-way would be finished in the very near future. Mr. Flax stated that thousands of dollars in rights-of-ways and construction costs had been saved by obtaining permission from the County Roads Board to use the right-of-way beside the county road leading from Rainbow Lake to Emmitsburg. The new water lines will be laid parallel to the road. Tap in fees to the water mains will in the future be increased from the present $25 to $50.

The Town Council again discussed turning over the policing of Rainbow Lake to the Indian Lookout Conservation Club. The sportsmen have been in charge of the lake for a number of years now keeping it clean and stocking it with fish every year. Since the lake has become municipally-owned there have been demands placed on the Council for opening it to public use. However, Council has determined to place the lake under the jurisdiction of the Conservation Club and it is hoped to work out a plan whereby individuals, not being members of the club, can be granted a daily permit for a small fee, and be permitted to fish the lake. About a dozen deputies will be sworn in for duty at the lake and will have the power to arrest trespassers. These deputies will be members of the Sportsmen's Club. The Commissioners announced the purchase of a new utility truck to be used for general use by the Town.

In an effort to clear the books of delinquent water consumers the Council has adopted a new policy and will in the future, cut off the water source of all delinquents after sending them a 10-day notice.

The Commissioners also warn that several vacant lot owners have allowed weeds to grow quite high and they point out that unless these weeds are cut in the near future the town workmen will cut them and the property-owner will be billed for the labor.

Retires

Charles F. Troxell, a veteran of 39 years of service with the Potomac Edison Company in the town, recently retired from active service with the electric company.

Mr. Troxell was first employed by the predecessor Maryland Light and Power Company at Emmitsburg in 1924 and spent his entire period of employment in the Emmitsburg-Taneytown area.

When Maryland Light became a part of the Potomac Edison System in 1934, Mr. Troxell was named superintendent of the Commercial Department at Emmitsburg, later advancing to local manager here. In 1942 he transferred to Taneytown as meter reader and several years later became storekeeper and rural contact man.

He continued in these capacities until his recent retirement.

Mr. Troxell, better known as "Chic", was born and raised in Emmitsburg. He now makes his home at 700 West Main Street in Waynesboro.

Stubborn Fire Extinguished

The Vigilant Hose Company was called to St. Joseph College Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. when supplies in storage caught fire in the electrical shop of the college, firemen reported.

Several mattresses were destroyed, according to Chief Sterling White, but the amount of damages could not be estimated.

The blaze took one and one-half hours to extinguish, and White reported he had to call for an assist from the Guardian Hose Co. of Thurmont to help in battling the fire.

Cause of the fire has not been determined, he added.

Commencements Draw Thousands Here

Mt. St. Mary's

The Most Rev. Dr. Francis J. Furey, V.G., auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia, addressing the 155th baccalaureate services of Mt. St. Mary's College, spoke on the inviolable rights of the parent to educate his children.

This right "parents hold directly from the Creator and when the right to educate their children is anterior to any civil society and inviolable on the part of any power on earth," he said.

He reminded the graduates that this class and their four years of undergraduate study almost parallel the four years of the pontificate of the recently deceased Pope John XXIII. "His Holiness, Pope John, was like unto another St. Francis of Assisi," he said. "The life and works of the late Pope were of simplicity and love for the common people and things of the world which were a true reflection of the life and teachings of Christ and the basis of Catholic philosophy," he further stated.

In conclusion, he said, that if the graduates utilize the philosophy of their Catholic education and follow the teachings of the late Pope they will find the necessary peace of heart that his Holiness, himself declared necessary to the ultimate peace of the world.

Bishop Furey also presided at the honors convocation which preceded the baccalaureate.

On Wednesday morning the commencement exercises were held with the Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan presiding. Senator Thomas J. Dodd, of Connecticut, delivered the commencement address to the 155 graduates.

The Commencement greeting was extended by graduate Joanne Barkley of Fayetteville, N. Y., winner of the Carroll Medal for general excellence. Miss Barkley also received the Priscilla Turner St. Denis Award for history and the Bishop Allen Memorial Award for the highest average for four years.

The Right Rev. Msgr. Robert R. Kline, Ph.D., president of Mt. St. Mary's College, delivered the Commencement address.

The Honors Convocation, presided over by the Very Reverend Charles O'Connor, C.M., was held Tuesday evening, June 4.

100 YEARS AGO

ROBERT E. LEE BEGINS PENNSYLVANIA INVASION

By Lon K. Savage

General Robert E. Lee began 100 years ago this week an invasion that would end at a little Pennsylvania town called Gettysburg.

The invasion was a gamble by the now world famous Confederate general to carry the Civil War's heaviest fighting outside of Virginia, and hopefully, to end the war quickly somewhere near Washington. Lee and other Confederate leaders had given long deliberation to the all-important decision, and now it was time to act upon it.

On June 2, therefore, Lee's army of 80,000 began leaving their trenches at Fredericksburg, and slipping quietly northwestward along the bloody Rappahannock and Rapidan rivers of central Virginia where so much of the fighting had occurred during the past year. Richard Ewell's corps led off the movement, marching smartly to Culpeper, leaving one corps at Fredericksburg to protect Richmond, 50 miles to the south.

Hooker Watches

As Lee moved, his Federal counterpart, "Fighting Joe" Hooker looked on in some puzzlement from the other side of the Rappahannock River. Was this, Hooker wondered, to become the much discussed Confederate invasion of the North? He sent out one of his subordinate generals, General John Sedgwick, to answer his question.

Sedgwick acted promptly. After laying pontoon bridges across the Rappahannock, his army crossed and felt its way toward Fredericksburg. Lee's men who still were there responded violently; there was fighting, and Sedgwick fell back across the river, satisfied that he had the answer. It was his opinion, he told Hooker, that the bulk of Lee's army still remained at Fredericksburg.

But Hooker remained suspicious. He wired President Lincoln June 5; it appeared, he said, that Lee was moving northward via Culpeper, leaving behind a rear guard at Fredericksburg. "I am of the opinion," he wrote, "that it is my duty to pitch into his (Lee's) rear..."

Lincoln's Reply

Lincoln fired back his reply the same day: "If he (Lee) should leave a rear force at Fredericksburg," he wrote, "tempting you to fall upon it, it would fight in entrenchments and... man for man, worst you at that point, while his main force would in some way be getting an advantage of you northward."

"In one word," the President continued, "I would not take any risk of being entangled upon the river, like an ox jumped half over a fence, and liable to be torn by dogs front and rear without a fair chance to gore one way or kick the other."

So Hooker waited and watched, gradually edging his army to the northwest to stay parallel with Lee's army. His tactics had been decided for him; as Lee moved, he would move, carefully staying between Lee's army and Washington.

And so the two armies glided northwestward on each side of the Rapidan River, the one facing the other, and both moving inexorably toward the town of Gettysburg.

Next week: The armies clash: Brandy Station.

Many Improvements Made By Utility

The board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland approved during the past 12 months expenditures totaling more than $76,600,000, according to L. Mercer Smith, vice president of the company.

This total includes $5,700,000 authorized in the board's regular meeting on May 27.

Approval was granted to spend about $1,350,000 for several major projects in the Baltimore Metropolitan Area.

These include an expenditure of over $720,000 for the provision of a private branch exchange switchboard, associated dial equipment and special service lines for the telephone company Processing Center at Cockeysville.

Also in the Baltimore Suburban Area to meet continuing customer demand for additional service, the board allotted $540,000 to install additional switching equipment in the wire centers at Dundalk, Brooklyn, Reisterstown and Clarksville. Approval was given to spend $86,000 to place outside cable and wire in the Pikesville, Reisterstown and Woodlawn areas.

For the rapidly expanding Maryland area suburban to Washington, authority was granted for the expenditure of $346,000 for five projects. These will furnish outside cable and wire in the Allentown, Silver Spring, Gaithersburg, Ashton and Riggs Road sections.

For Western Maryland, authority was given to spend $1,200,000 for needed construction and expansion of telephone facilities. At Cumberland, dial central office equipment to serve about 3,000 additional customers will cost about $609,000. The cost of cable additions for the northwest section of Hagerstown will amount to $224,000. A total of nearly $340,000 was earmarked for two jobs in Oakland. These will provide additional cable and wire facilities in the Deep Creek Lake and Lake Park-Swanton sections. For Williamsport, an expenditure of nearly $30,000 was approved to extend cable facilities to homes on the property at the Potomac Fish and Game Club.

An allocation of over $800,000 was approved for expenditure in the company's Westminster District. About $262,000 will be spent to place cable in the northern and southern sections of Elkton. To provide for anticipated demands for service in Buckeysville, approval was granted to spend $367,000. To provide equipment to handle the increased volume of calls between Bel Air and Churchville, $90,500 was allocated and $85,000 was allotted to the construction of a building and the installation of additional dial switching equipment at Brunswick.

For the Great Mills area in southern Maryland, an expenditure of $285,000 was approved for rerouting the cable and wire network from the present central office to the new dial center at Valley Lee.

It is difficulties which show what men are.—Epictetus.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

Misplaced Scepticism

A few years ago when a horse named Velran won the first race ever run at Sunland Park, his owner, Walter M. Cluer, Phoenix, Arizona businessman and president of Turf Paradise, had neglected to bet on his horse. He wanted a $2 ticket to frame with the picture of the winners' circle ceremony so he hid himself to the $2 cashier's window and offered to buy an uncashed ticket from those waiting in line. Velran had paid $5.90 and Cluer offered to pay $10 for a ticket. His offer inspired only glares and some skeptical remarks, but he finally convinced one man and came away with his ticket. With a winning ticket in hand, the fan is suspicious of anyone trying to obtain the ticket even at double its face value. Before a race, however, many fans go to the opposite extreme and are gullible enough to make touting a major nuisance of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau which has sometimes had to throw the same tout off the track every other day of a meeting. Touts range from the one with a rub-rag hanging from his hip pocket and a bucket on his arm, masquerading as a groom, to the smooth-talking, well-dressed "trainer". The amount they ask the "pigeon" to bet for them on a promised "sure thing" ranges from $2 to hundreds. Their victims are legion.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to procure a Divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Larry D. Webster, for the care and custody of the infant children, namely, Larry D. Webster, Jr., Cheryl Lynn Webster and Lorie Yvonne Webster, and for such other and further relief as the nature of her case may require.

The Bill states in substance, that the Plaintiff is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, and has been so for more than one year last past; while the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and that the last known address of the Defendant is 824 Christian Place, Indianapolis, Indiana; that your Complainant was married to the Defendant at Luray, Virginia, on August 3, 1956, by Rev. Webster, Jr., age 6, Cheryl Lynn Webster, age 4, and Lorie Yvonne Webster, age 1½ years, all of whom are residing with your Complainant and whose care and custody your Complainant was granted in No. 19662 Equity, in this Court; the Bill further alleges that ever since the said marriage, the Complainant has always conducted herself as a kind, chaste, dutiful and affectionate wife toward the Defendant, Larry D. Webster, and that the Defendant, Larry D. Webster, between the time of the said marriage and the filing of the Bill of Complaint herein, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the Complainant and that such abandonment and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for at least eighteen (18) months prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint herein and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties to the cause is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation, to all of which the Affidavit is made.

It is thereupon this 27th day of May, 1963, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, in Equity, ORDERED that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this Order of Publication to be published for at least four (4) successive weeks prior to the 29th day of June, 1963, in some newspaper published in Frederick County, Maryland, giving notice to the Defendant, Larry D. THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read Titus 3:1-8.

If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new (II Corinthians, 5:17).

While I was sitting by my bedroom window reading the Bible early one morning, the sun's rays began to fill the room. The overhead light became of less and less importance. During the darkness of the night, the artificial light had seemed satisfactory; but as the brightness of the sun filled the room, that light faded into insignificance.

This reminded me of what happens in every true conversion. When the Holy Spirit enters in, we begin living a new life, the life in Christ. The old life no longer satisfies.

As long as we are content to live in the darkness of deception, Satan appears as brightness to us, for he presents himself as an angel of light. When we receive Christ, His brightness replaces Satan's darkness, and our whole being is illuminated with new life from God.

Prayer

Our Father, we thank Thee for the working of Thy power within that leads to repentance. We ask Thee to lift the blindness from our self-centered hearts and enable us to surrender fully to Thee. We know it is only Thy goodness that leads to true repentance. We ask this repentance for any who have never experienced the new birth. In the Master's name we ask it. Amen.

Thought For The Day

The light of Christ will banish all darkness if we receive Him as Lord and Savior.

Navy Schedules Big Air Show

PATUXENT RIVER, Md.—One of the country's biggest all-Navy air shows will be staged at the Patuxent Naval Air Test Center on Saturday, July 20, it was announced this week.

The show, an annual open house staged for the benefit of the Navy Relief Society, drew nearly 50,000 spectators from throughout the Middle Atlantic states in 1962.

Highlighting the festival will be appearances by the U. S. Navy's famed Blue Angels flight demonstration team and 'Chuting Stars' parachute team.

This year's show will salute the air station's 20th anniversary and will carry the theme: "Naval Air Test Center—Twenty Years of Progress and Service."

Also included in the open house schedule will be flight demonstrations by NATC test pilots flying the Navy's latest aircraft.

Some of these planes are still undergoing testing at Patuxent River and are not yet in operation with the fleet.

In addition, static exhibits concerning aviation and the space age will be on hand as well as a variety of Navy aircraft which will be available for public viewing.

Plans are also under way to present a deep sea diving exhibition featuring divers—using both conventional and "frogmen" equipment—from the U. S. Navy Deep Sea Diving School. The divers will perform in a specially-designed glass-fronted tank which permits spectators to see how the underwater men do their jobs.

A concert group from the U. S. Navy Band will provide instrumental selections throughout the air show. Other exhibits and attractions are being added constantly by the program committee.

Gates will be opened to the general public at 10:30 a.m. and the show will be from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, July 21, will be used for a "rain date" if the scheduled show is cancelled due to inclement weather.

To reach the Patuxent River Naval Air Station, take U. S. Route 301 to Waldorf, Md., turn southeast onto Maryland Routes 5 and 235 and follow 235 to Lexington Park, Md.

Aid Bill Introduced By Cong. Sickles

Congressman Carlton R. Sickles (D-Md.) this week introduced the new impacted aid bill recently approved by the House Education and Labor Committee.

Under the bill introduced by Sickles, the popular $380 million impacted aid program would be extended, as is, for one year but with two additional provisions. The first brings the District of Columbia into the program, and the second excludes school districts which are not being integrated from the program.

The District of Columbia would receive an estimated 4.5 million dollars yearly for the operation and construction of District schools under this bill.

The second section of the Sickles bill requires that local educational agencies' application for funds will be approved after June 30, 1963, only if such agencies certify to the Commissioner of Education; that its public schools are operated without discrimination among students on the basis of race, color, religion, or national origin, or that it is carrying out a plan which it has adopted and filed with the Commissioner for desegregation of its public schools with all deliberate speed, but in any event by June 30, 1963.

Helen Wood Bauman, editor of Christian Science periodicals, was named President at the June 3 Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

SET YOUR SIGHTS HIGH BE AN ARMY AVIATOR

Young men with an eye cast towards a career as a pilot—you have a future in the U. S. Army. Keeping pace with its ever-expanding air capability, the Army is now offering high school graduates direct enlistment for aviation training.

Under the aviation option, high school graduates may apply for training as helicopter or fixed wing aviators if they are: United States citizens; more than 18 years of age but have not yet reached their 30th birthday; able to pass comprehensive mental and physical examinations; between 5' 4" and 6' 4" in height; under 200 pounds in weight; willing to enlist for two years, and agree to accept an appointment as a warrant officer upon successful completion of their aviation training.

Before enlisting, qualified candidates will receive a guarantee, insuring entry into aviation training upon successful completion of eight weeks basic training.

Candidates may indicate their choice of Rotary Wing (helicopter) or Fixed Wing training. However, the decision as to which type of flight training individuals receive will be based on the needs of the service.

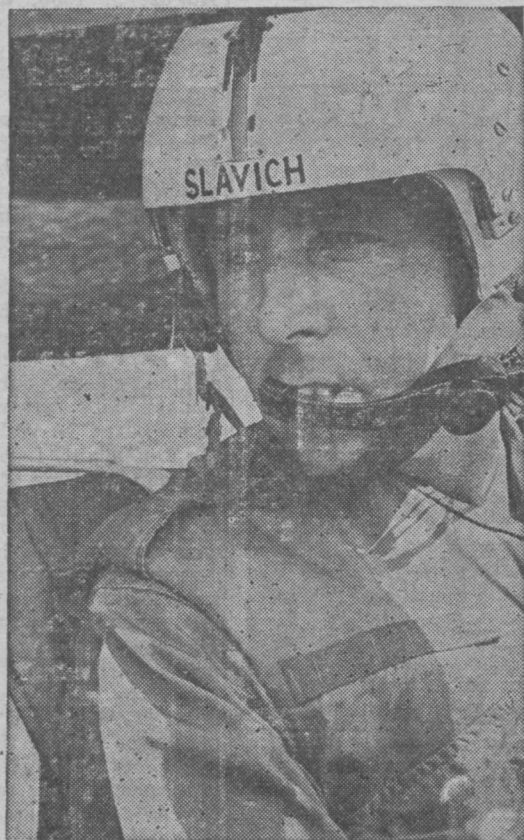

Candidates will be promoted to the grade of sergeant (E-5) and will receive the pay and allowance of that grade while attending Preflight and Primary Flight training.

The four-week Preflight Course is primarily to prepare the candidate for his duties and responsibilities as a warrant officer.

The Commandant, United States Army Primary Helicopter School at Camp Wolters, Texas, warns that "... the preflight training period is perhaps the most demanding. This is because the standards prescribed and procedures followed are modeled after those prevailing in Officer Candidate Schools. This is a period of pressure for the Warrant Officer Candidate when his metal and motivation are put to the test."

Upon graduation from flight training, candidates are released from their two-year enlistment, are appointed as warrant officers and will be required to serve on active duty for a period of three years.

Rotary Wing training requires 36 weeks and Fixed Wing courses run 42 weeks. (ANP)

3 SAVINGS BONDS BOUGHT IN 1943 AND HOW THEY GREW

	$25	$50	$100
Cost in May 1943	18.75	37.50	75.00
Value in May 1953	25.00	50.00	100.00
Value in May 1963	34.26	68.52	137.04
Value in May 1973	49.68	99.36	198.72

As you can see by these three examples, Savings Bonds don't necessarily stop growing when they mature. They go right on building in value as you hold them.

This means that those Bonds you tucked away and forgot about are still earning for you at a good clip. (Every E Bond ever purchased and not cashed is still earning for its owner.)

Of course, your Savings Bonds work hard in another important way. As you build your own financial strength—you build the strength of our nation.

Millions of American families think this is a pretty good assignment for their money... so much so that they've made U.S. Savings Bonds the most widely held security in the world.

Start buying U.S. Savings Bonds now where you bank or work, and see if you don't feel pretty good about it, too.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity • You can get your money anytime
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed, or stolen • You can save automatically on Payroll Savings

"OPINIONS FROM THE FIELD"

This article isn't intended to discourage the youth with exceptional physical abilities not to pursue an individual sport to the maximum but rather is intended to point out to the vast majority of average youths the thrills and lessons that can be gained by participating in as many sports
as possible.

In my own case, I tried my hand at most every kind of sport
available—from marbles to track, soccer, basketball, baseball, tennis, bowling, golf, archery, hunting and fishing. In each sport this writer gained a workable knowledge of the game and had the feeling of "belonging" even though he never was outstanding.
My first taste of competition came at a very early age when I ran in the 50 Yard Dash, 80 pound class (that was a long time ago) at the County Field Meet. From this I learned the feeling that can only come from actually participating and also the stark realization that you are only second best. From other sports I enjoyed the pleasures of winning and the disappointment of losing. In later years I have enjoyed trying the many varied forms of hunting and fishing. Every boy can't be a champion but most can get, as I did, much pleasure from engaging in many types of sports.

The youth of today have many opportunities to compete at an early age with such programs as the Little League followed by the different sports offered in the high school physical education programs. When I went to school
the greatest thing that could happen to a boy was to "make" the team. Today, too many boys with talent either don't play or have to be coaxed to play. This, in my opinion, creates a situation where too many boys have too much time on their hands. On the other hand, the boy who plays all the sports and goes hunting and fishing with his father, doesn't have time on his hands and consequently keeps out of trouble. In closing let me remind those who would hesitate in trying a sport unfamiliar to them that even Mickey Mantle had to start sometime. . . .

OUTDOOR SPORTING TIPS

Go To Pot

Go to pot with a bar of yellow soap when you're camping—and coat the bottoms of the pots you use. Soap won't burn off in the fire's heat but the soot will wash off in a jiffy. Another way: Cover pot bottoms with aluminum foil which transfers heat but not impossible - to remove, get-all-over-everything, dad-blast the stuff
soot.

Flare Up

Red railroad flares are inexpensive at Army-Navy and hardware stores, yet their incandescent color signals help anywhere in the world. Why not stow one in your boat, your car, your home, your fishing-hunting jacket pocket?
No Jingle Bow Hunter's Special
Tape keys, loose change, cartridges, that might clank at the wrong time with adhesive tape.
The big bucks will hate you.

Quick Pipe Break-In

Let's say you want to take a new pipe on a camp vacation.
But you don't want the bother of breaking it in. Here's the fast way to do it. Fill the bowl with the regular tobacco you smoke,
plug the stem with paper then soak the tobacco with whiskey and light. We are informed that the alcohol will burn with the tobacco acting like a wick. One caution, watch the fire doesn't burn
the finish on the outside of the bowl.

Silent Bow String

The twang of a bow may spook
a deer even though your arrow flies silently past him. A silent shot may give you another chance.
Quiet your bow with two rubber suction cups of the kind found on children's bow and arrow sets.
Drill the centers and thread your bowstring through. When bow is strung, slide cups to either end where they stop vibration and dampen sound.

Freeze Up

Can anybody remember this tip
until the cold weather rolls around again? If the key to your car trunk or door freezes up, hold your cigarette lighter in front of (but not touching) key. Gently blow heat into lock.

Better Battery

This is one of those "maybe" tips but it's intriguing enough to provide food for thought. If your battery is too weak to turn the car over, drop a mothball in each cell. What happens next is the question. And what happens to your battery after that is even more of a question. And this is a good place to state again that these tips are offered as ideas only. The wise sportsman will check each one out for himself.

Great trials seem to be a necessary preparation for great futures.—Edward Thomson.

GOOD FISHERMEN
ARE SCIENTISTS

The billiard player who can call and make his shots is universally admired for his skills.
But the fellow who can score regularly with a rod and reel
seldom earns the same acclaim.
Yet, Mercury outdoor fishing experts maintain this guy not only can match the cue handler
in terms of skills and experience, but he also possesses the analytical attitude of a scientist
when engaged in his piscatorial
angling pursuits.

If you aspire to the lofty levels of the experts, you'll have to approach the subject with an intense desire to learn the habits of your quarry in a limited number of frequently visited waters.

Your primary tool is a notebook or an acute memory, as is often the case with many fine fishermen.

Your other tools will include thermometers to measure temperatures of water and air, a barometer, a keen sense of observation and a bit of scholarly briefing on the personal habits
of each fish you seek.

You'll discover how many days at certain water temperatures are required before spawning activities commence or an insect hatch comes off, at what temperatures fish appetites are sharp, and how many days of a certain air temperature are needed to bring water temperatures to productive levels.

You'll learn how high and low barometric pressures in relation to storm fronts affect feeding habits on a certain pond or stream, how rainfall and rising water levels encourage or discourage strikes.

After a period of probing and recording, usually years, say
the Mercury outdoor people, your observations will fall into a meaningful pattern. You'll discover a correlation of factors that'll enable you to literally
"call your shots."

Learning the "where" and
"when" and "why" of fishing
not only produces more fish,
but where can you find a better
classroom?

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

Basic Baby Needs
By Dr. Glenn R. Hawkes
Department of Child Development
Iowa State University

Babies are not as materialistic
as they seem.
They do like food, a place to sleep and a constantly fresh supply of sterilized diapers. But there are long-range aspects of baby care that parents must perform.

Among them love and understanding, education, health, security, opportunity to play and grow, guidance from adults and spiritual and moral values.

These basic needs of a baby
are worth reviewing from time to time. They are well worth using as a guide to our actions and attitudes in behalf of the children we have brought into the world.

How do we as parents, contribute to these basic needs, day in,
day out?

The United Nations, even though it is involved in any number of international problems, finds time to investigate these basic needs of a baby. A baby from any nation, they say, is entitled to grow and develop in good health, has the right to special care and protection, and has the right to adequate nutrition, housing, recreation and medical services.

According to the UN, a baby should be brought up "in a spirit of understanding, tolerance, friendship among peoples, peace and universal brotherhood and in full consciousness that his energy and talents should be devoted to the service of his fellow men."

Thus, everyone shares with parents the obligation as well as the pleasure of creating a baby's world, to make it a place of happy development for all babies.

To paraphrase an old saying:
"Babies do not live by bread alone."

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Forest And Pasture Land BABSON PARK, Mass., June 6—We have been taught since childhood "not to put all our eggs in one basket." That, however, was when our parents knew nothing about bonds and stocks, but even then made the mistake sometimes of putting all their savings in one bank. Well, the investment future is just as uncertain now as it was fifty years ago.

Forest Lands Forest lands, like all other investments, have advantages and disadvantages. Trees grow during week ends and holidays as well as any other day of the year. These trees have no labor unions and never argue about "wages." Their value depends upon various factors, such as the state the forest land is in and also how near it is to transportation to a cutting mill. Hence, the price varies from $10.00 an acre to $200 an acre according to the location and the length of time for the growth to mature.

Cutover land with spruce or pine trees a foot or two high may be the best investment for young people, if it is properly located. However, such trees in the north are not ready to be cut or sold for fifty years. Then too, we must not forget the fire dangers or wind hazards.

What About Pasture Land?

I have been successful in buying pasture land in Kansas where grass grows which is excellent for feeding cattle. The cattle raisers of Texas buy a railroad ticket to ship their steers to the stockyards in Kansas City or Chicago to be slaughtered and sold for beef. They find that by giving these steers a stopover in Kansas on their way north—to be fed on a pasture like mine for two months—the steers increase materially in weight and are worth much more when they get to market. Sometimes such pasture land will produce oil. Your real estate agent will send you a map showing what he has to offer for sale and indicating what the chances are that oil might be found on your pasture. Pasture land varies in price—from $75 to $150 an acre—according to the availability and quality of water for the cattle and also in accordance with the possibility of oil. I have never heard of anyone taking losses on such pasture land if it was purchased through a reliable broker. When Texas cattle are pasturing on your land it is customary to pay a professional caretaker so much a head for watching the cattle. All of this information you can get from many sources; but my business I have handled through the office of Carl C. Chase of Eureka, Kansas.

Trustees Have Their Advantages And Disadvantages

Many readers of this column have put money in the hands of trustees of banks or other trustees in favor of their children and grandchildren. These trustees have their advantages; they are careful, honest, and reasonable in their charges. On the other hand, they naturally do not like to buy forest or pasture land if it pays no income, as their fees depend upon the income from the estate. Therefore, although there are times when certain non-dividend-paying stocks are really safer than Dow-Jones gilt-edge stocks, yet trustees refrain from buying them because they yield no income to the trustees.

The trustees' fees, however, can be so arranged that both the principal involved and the income received will be recognized. This is both fairer, and often safer in the long run, for the beneficiaries. Never hesitate to be liberal with the trustees upon whom your children and grandchildren are depending. Therefore, whether you are taking care of your own fund or employing a trustee, I urge you to have some of the money invested in forest or pasture land. Next week I will discuss real estate; but this is something entirely different from what I am writing about this week.

Commemorative Coin Souvenir On Sale

The first in a series of Commemorative Souvenir Half-Dollars to be issued by the Frederick County Civil War Centennial, Inc., during 1963 and 1964, will be released to the public on Friday, June 28. It will commemorate the Change of Command of the Army of the Potomac from 'Fighting' Joe Hooker, to General George Gordon Meade on June 28, 1863, prior to the Battle of Gettysburg.

The medal will feature a picture of both Hooker and Meade on the obverse side, and a picture of the Historical Monument to General Meade, which is located on Route 340 just South of Frederick, on the reverse side. The medal will be 1 15/16" in size and will be struck out of polished bronze stock. A limit of 10,000 will be cast, and will be available in both Frederick and Washington Counties.

Distribution of the medals in Frederick County will be made at the Frederick County Civil War Centennial office, main lobby floor, in the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick. Orders may be placed by phone or in person beginning Tuesday, June 4, between the hours of 10:00 A.M., and 3:00 P.M. Persons are requested not to phone the Hotel telephone number, but rather, to call the Civil War Headquarters number, MO 2-2022. Mail orders will be accepted, provided they are accompanied by the money in advance plus 25c to cover mailing and handling for each five medals ordered. According to C. Lease Busard, President of the Centennial group, no limit will be placed on the number that can be obtained, until the limited supply shows signs of being exhausted, which is expected early after they are offered for sale this week.

Distribution of the medals in Washington County will be made at Hays Inc., 28 W. Washington Street, in Hagerstown. Advance orders will not be taken from this location, with the medals being offered on the day they are released, which is Friday, June 28. Special Medal

In addition to the regular medal, 500 specially Oxidized Bronze Medals, serially numbered and registered, will be sold at the time of the rededication events on Friday afternoon, June 28. These can be obtained only by those attending the activities at the scene of the Monument, and will be offered one per person until the supply is exhausted. Each will be individually boxed and will be extremely valuable as collectors items, since only a total of 500 will be struck. The medal will be copyrighted and no duplicates or additions can be made. No advance orders for the special medal can be accepted and the time for distribution will be announced in a later article.

Two passengers on the motorcycle were Gertrude Ridenour and Lewis C. Hixson.

No one was seriously injured in the accident, according to Emmitsburg Police Chief Wilmer E. Law, although brush burns were sustained by occupants of the motorcycle. None was hospitalized.
