Last year's drought coupled with this season's prolonged dry spell is playing havoc with most local farmers. Many have been hard hit financially and are forced to make emergency loans to continue their livelihood. Two years in a row of such bad financial luck and hardship could easily force some of them out of the business. The drought was broken during this week and it is expected to be a boon to late crops, easing the burden somewhat. Tuesday and Wednesday the downpour was considerable and almost two inches of rain was measured. Many towns have reported even ordered the discontinuance of air-conditioners operated by water.

And while on the subject of water there still are some complaints about the cloudy condition of our drinking water. You remember the mess that was stirred up several weeks ago? Well it was thought it would settle down in a short time but still complaints are being received. The whole thing is deceptive and hard to trace to its origin though and in general most of the homes have satisfactory water. There are isolated spots though from which complaints come that the water is not fit to even bathe in let alone drink the stuff. I haven't the solution to these complaints but a thorough inspection of the plumbing I believe, would be in order.

There are two sides to every story. Every so often fed-up adults bemoan cajoling of our youth. There are many who are firm believers of that old adage, "spare the rod and spoil the child." They are firmly convinced that our present day youth is spoiled and have too many things for their own good. This week we received a letter from one of the so-called "fed-up" adults and are going to reprint it in the hope we can learn the other side of the story. I feel certain that some of our better-trained and learned youth will respond next week and by this system or method I believe we might come up with some sensible answers to the problem. The contents of this letter are not necessarily those of this columnist.

Dear Abigail: Here is an answer to your column in the Chronicle of Aug. 16th.

Teenagers always seem to be saying, "What can we do? Where can we go?"

The answer to these questions is Go Home!

Fix the car, mow the lawn, build something, learn to cook. Interest yourself in a hobby. Get a job! During the school year study your lessons and most of all don't be a dropout. And when you are through and not too tired read a good book.

Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your community does not owe you recreation facilities. The world does not owe you a living.

In plain simple words: Grow Up; quit being a cry baby; get out of your dream world; develop a backbone not a wishbone; and start acting like a man or woman. If you do this you won't have time to get into trouble!

A Parent
Come on you teen-agers, let's hear your side and as long as the letters in response are not of a personal nature, derogatory to any individuals or organizations, signed in good faith, factual and in good taste, I will reprint them. Let's find out whether we are too soft with our youth, or if they have too much or not enough recreational time and places to utilize it. And if you want me to I won't publish your name, but you must sign your letter for my own personal information. It will be kept strictly confidential.

Local Band At Ocean City

The Combinations, a local musical aggregation composed of Tommy Harbaugh, Gene Eyer, Harry Harner, Wayne Sanders, Dave Naill and John Shorb, will provide the music for a dance at the boardwalk ballroom, Ocean City, Md., next Thursday night from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

Farmers Urged To Claim Drought Benefits

In further commenting upon a program of assistance to drought stricken farmers of Frederick County as well as every county so affected in the State, Noah Kefauver, President of Maryland Farm Bureau, urges the farmers themselves to appeal directly to the local disaster committee which is composed of the County Agent, the Director of Farmers Home Administration and the County ASC Manager.

A call or letter to any one or all of these individuals or their respective offices is the most effective way to convince them of the seriousness of the situation. Under the present law these are the people who must recommend action to the State Committee which includes the heads of the same organizations at the State level. The recommendations of the State group then go to the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture for approval and implementation.

Mr. Kefauver said: "In conversation with many farmers in the dry areas, I am positive that the situation is worse than last year and feed, hay in particular, will be higher in price because of scarce supply in areas that seemed to have unlimited amounts last year. I believe that is general agreement that the corn program of last year was a great benefit and should be renewed as soon as possible."

Knights Of Columbus Officers Installed

Grand Knight Lumen F. Norris presided at the regular meeting of Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus held Monday evening, 25 members in attendance. District Deputy Paul A. Keepers and District Warden Carl A. Wetzel, performed the installation of the newly-elected officers of the council.

Recorder Everett Chrismer read the minutes of the previous meeting and several communications, many of which required action. The Grand Knight announced the annual Knight of the Year banquet and dance will be held on Saturday, October 26 and that a committee will be named later.

William E. Sanders, immediate past Grand Knight, was presented with an appreciation certificate by District Deputy Paul Keepers during the meeting. Chairman Arthur Elder and assistant chairman Cy Haley gave a progress report on the coming crab feast.

Library Enjoys Melon Party

Saturday afternoon ten children were awarded reading certificates at the Emmitsburg Public Library by the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, William Ryder. These youngsters had completed the reading of eight books on the "Round the World" reading list and had reviewed each one to some worker in the library. Those reading the eight or more books were: Debbie Baker, Nancy Carr, Calvin Chatlos, Sheila Chatlos, Sharon Danner, Linda Gillespie, Carolyn Keilholtz, Christopher Warthen, Joel Warthen and Karen Warthen.

Others who read one or more books were: Gary Baker, William Carr, Jr., Melvin Cregger, Phyllis Davis, Wanda Eiker, Glenda McLaughlin, Judy Miller, Lynn Miller, Skipper Newcomer, Claudia Rosensteel, Eric Simpson, and Rodney Springer.

Following the awarding of the certificates, all the children who had read at least one book were invited to a watermelon party in the back yard of the home of Rev. John Chatlos. The watermelons were donated by Mr. Bob Dicken, manager of the Acme Store in Emmitsburg. They disappeared in no time and everyone present expressed his appreciation for the gift.

Mrs. Katie Warthen, the Librarian, was in charge of the Summer Reading Club. The library is open every day except Sunday and new books are being added all the time.

Lions To Picnic

The annual picnic of the Emmitsburg Lions Club will be held Monday evening, Aug. 26 at Kump's Dam Park. All members of the group, their wives, children and those who assisted with the production of the recent Horse Show are invited.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JOHN N. FRANKLIN
Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Fox Franklin died at her home, Thornbrook Farm, near Saint Anthony's Thursday, August 22, aged 83 years, after a lengthy illness.

The deceased was a daughter of the late J. Calvin and Sara Forney Fox and was a member of the Emmitsburg Presbyterian Church. She was the widow of the late John N. Franklin who predeceased her about 10 years ago.

Mrs. Franklin is survived by six children as follows: Mrs. Elizabeth Larsen, Coral Gables, Fla.; George E. and Mary E. Franklin, Baltimore; Wilson, Margaret and Leanna, at home; three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, also survive.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. from the Emmitsburg Presbyterian Church, Rev. William H. Hendricks, pastor, officiating. Interment will be made in Blue Ridge Cemetery, Thurmont. Friends may view the body at the late home Friday after 11 a.m. and between 1 and 2 p.m. at the church on Saturday. M. L. Creager and Son, funeral director.

BASIL J. SANDERS

Basil James Sanders, a life-long resident of Frederick County, died Wednesday, Aug. 21 at the home of his nephew, Regis Sanders, R1, Emmitsburg, aged 75 years.

The deceased was a son of the late George R. and Catherine R. (Long) Sanders. His wife, Mary (Mumma) Sanders, predeceased him 19 years ago.

Mr. Sanders was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, the Holy Name Society, and the Francis X. Elder Post 121, American Legion. He served during World War I with the 71st Infantry Division from July 23, 1918 until Jan. 6, 1919. He is survived by a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning, meeting at 10:30 a.m. at the Wilson Funeral Home, W. Main St., followed by a requiem Mass at St. Joseph's Church at 11 o'clock, Rev. Louis Storms, pastor, officiating. The Rosary will be recited Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the funeral home where friends may view the body. Military graveside services are planned and the interment will be made in Mt. Tabor Cemetery, Rocky Ridge, Md.

MRS. WILLIAM P. ETCHISON

Mrs. Alice M. Doll Etchison, widow of William P. Etchison, died at her home near Emmitsburg last Wednesday at 6 a.m. after an immediate illness of two weeks.

She was the daughter of the late John and Maria Keefe Doll, Frederick. She was a native of Frederick and spent most of her life there, with brief sojourns in Pittsburgh, Washington, and Richmond, Va. She observed her 83rd birthday on August 7. Her husband predeceased her 34 years ago. She was a member of St. John's Catholic Church, Frederick.

Surviving are one son, W. Richard Etchison, instructor at Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, and one brother, George C. Doll, Frederick.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at 10 a.m. at St. John's Catholic Church, Frederick. Interment was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery. Pallbearers were: Thomas Gardner, Jesse Humphreys, John H. Hanna and Judge Edward S. Delaplaine.

Scouts Enjoy Movies At M-G

The Girl Scouts and their families of Taneytown, Thurmont and Emmitsburg, were the guests of the M-G Theater of Emmitsburg on Monday night to see some Girl Scout movies. These were all in color and were provided by the Girl Scout Council of Central Maryland, Inc. They were: "A Mile High - A World World"; "Adventuring in the Arts"; and "The Wider World."

During intermission, Mrs. John Chatlos introduced the three All-States Senior Girl Scouts who were guests of the Chatloses this week while they worked with Troop 1316 on planning and taking a camping trip to Camp Rockwood, Md. Miss Ann Lennahan is from Arlington, Va.; Miss Linda Hutson is from Cape Girardeau, Missouri, and Miss Paula Jessewein is from Bozeman, Montana.

These girls were chosen by their respective councils to attend the All-States Encampment at Camp Shadowbrook and to work with other troops in camping projects. Troop 1316 left Wednesday afternoon for a two-night camping trip, and will return this afternoon. Mrs. John Chatlos and Mrs. Byron Nowell of Rocky Ridge accompanied the troop.

Jurors Drawn

The 48 jurors for the September term of court were drawn Tuesday morning in the Circuit Court room in Frederick by Chief Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer. Clerk of the Court Ellis C. Wichter and State's Attorney Robert S. Rothenhofer were also present for the ceremony.

The new term of court will begin Sept. 9 when the grand and petit juries are chosen from the jury members selected.

Among those selected were: Marie J. Rial and Floyd Lee Woods of Emmitsburg; and Harry T. Fisher and Ross C. Firor of Thurmont.

Guilty Of Assault; Held For Court

Raymond F. Springer, Emmitsburg R1, pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder, Gettysburg, Monday evening, to charges of assault and battery and malicious mischief and paid a fine and costs on a disorderly conduct charge brought by his niece, Mrs. Jack Myers, Liberty Twp. He furnished $1,000 bail for his appearance in court October 19 on the assault and battery and malicious mischief charge brought by his wife, Marlene.

Teachers Assigned

Among the new teachers appointed by the Frederick County Board of Education were Francis B. Fair, a graduate of Frostburg State, to Emmitsburg High in science and Conrad D. Shafer Jr., a Mount St. Mary's College graduate, to Thurmont High in mathematics.

Zanzibar produces 80 per cent of the world's cloves.

Dr. Solomon Returns To College

Sister Margaret Hughes, Dean of Studies at Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg, announces the return of Joseph A. Solomon, Ph.D., to the faculty after an absence of two years during which he worked with the Coal Research Bureau, School of Mines, at West Virginia University, Morgantown, W. Va.

Formerly chairman of the Division of Natural Sciences and Mathematics at Saint Joseph's, Dr. Solomon returns as Professor of Chemistry. He will not, however, completely sever his association with the Coal Research Bureau which plans to use his services as Consultant Chemist.

Dr. Solomon, a native of Vandergrift, Pennsylvania, was educated at schools there and at Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa. Wartime service with the Naval Reserve interrupted his collegiate program, but after honorable discharge, he returned to Westminster, and in 1949, received his B.S. in chemistry. Doctor Solomon attended the Stevens Institute of Technology, and later accepted a fellowship at the Carnegie Institute of Technology from which he received his doctorate in 1958.

Prior to his first appointment at Saint Joseph College, Doctor Solomon was associated with the U. S. Steel Company as Analytical Chemist, and later in the same capacity, with Research and Development of the Gulf Oil Co.

Nun Receives Educational Grant

The Public Health Service Division of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has notified Sister Denise Eby, Associate Professor of Chemistry at Saint Joseph College, that she has been awarded a grant of $3,320 for her proposed research on the "Effects of Cancer and Anticancer Agents on Cell Membranes."

Sister Denise has taught the sciences in secondary schools, and since 1950 has been on the faculty of the department of chemistry at Saint Joseph's. She directs student research, and in the last few years has received three consecutive grants from the National Science Foundation for an Undergraduate Research Participation Program in chemistry. Sister Denise was also the recipient of a $10,000 grant from the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission in 1960 for a program to integrate radioisotope techniques into the college's science curricula.

Sister Denise, a graduate of Saint Joseph College and the Catholic University of America, is listed in the latest editions of American Men in Science and Who's Who in American Education. She is a member of the American Chemical Society and National Science Teachers' Association.

COMBS REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Combs are visiting relatives in Hazard, Ky., and will attend the Combs reunion on August 25. Mr. Combs is a native of Hazard, Ky.

The State Motor Commissioner, Benjamin Combs, has asked all relatives of Combs to attend the reunion.

The Governor, Bert Combs, will be there. He said, "Speeches will be limited to five minutes and I'll be proud to set the first example."

The first Combs in America, according to family records, was John Combs, who arrived in Virginia on May 20, 1619, a year before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

The first Kentucky Combs was Benjamin Combs, who came to America in 1775 to what is now Clark County, Ky.

Attend Institute

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Weybright recently attended the American Institute of Cooperatives held at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.

The three-day session was attended by 3,000 persons and represented 14 various youth groups. Mr. Weybright is manager of the Thurmont Cooperative, Inc., and motored to the three-day agricultural symposium of economic conditions at Lincoln.

Removed For Surgery

J. Henry Timmerman, Gettysburg Road, was removed Monday afternoon by Gettysburg ambulance from the Warner Hospital, to Harrisburg General Hospital, where he will undergo surgery.

Crab Feast Saturday

The public is cordially invited to attend the annual Crab Feast sponsored by Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, to be held at Kump's Dam Park on Saturday, August 24.

Lumen F. Norris, Grand Knight, announces the affair will get underway at exactly six o'clock and servings will continue until nine p.m.

On the menu will be hard-shelled crabs, steamed shrimp, corn-on-the-cob and barbecued chicken. Tickets to the affair are selling at $3 per person. In case of inclement weather the event will be held in the VFW Annex on the Square. Arthur Elder and Cy Haley are chairmen of the feast.

Bowling Leagues Organizing

The management of the Emmitsburg Recreation Center announced this week that new bowling leagues are being formed for the coming season. The Monday and Tuesday night leagues held their meetings Monday night. The Wednesday and Thursday night leagues will hold their initial meeting on Thursday evening, August 29 at 8 p.m. in the Recreation Center. All interested bowlers are urged to present.

Child Eye Care Essential

With school starting soon, Maryland's Optometrists today pointed out that a school child should have a corner, if not a room, that is all his own to do his homework if he is to do his best.

With the increased study load exerted on students today, a child cannot concentrate and perform well with the distractions generated by a normal family, Dr. Ivan E. Tellis, of the Maryland Optometric Association pointed out. The optometrist says the ideal place should be evenly lighted, without glare and without large areas of darkness, and now is the time to arrange this place, before school begins. If possible, the room should be in light pastel colors that reflect rather than absorb light. It should be comfortable and attractive, and it should be a place where the child likes to work.

"You can't expect a student to function at his best if his atmosphere isn't visually conducive to study. On the other hand, you can't expect him to do a good job in or out of school either, if his vision facilities are not up to the demands of the work," Dr. Tellis commented.

He recommended several things for parents to consider: (1) that small children have reading matter of large type-size—the smaller the child, the larger the type, (2) that children below the third grade not concentrate for more than fifteen or twenty minutes on close work without looking up to relax eye muscles and the entire body, and (3) that all students, regardless of age or school level, keep their vision up to par with a professional vision exam at least once a year.

Rocky Ridge Girl Attends Institute

Miss Alice Stambaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Stambaugh, Rocky Ridge, was selected to attend the American Institute of Cooperation Summer Meeting. Chosen on the basis of her leadership, qualities and interest in Farmer Cooperatives, Alice was one of fifteen youth delegates representing Maryland Cooperatives at what is one of the largest Farm Business Meetings.

The summer session was held on the campus of the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska, August 4 to 7. There the Maryland youth had an opportunity to meet with over a thousand youth delegates from the fifty states and hear a program of over two hundred prominent cooperative leaders and educators. The keynote speaker was Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, John A. Baker.

Miss Stambaugh was selected because of her good record during nine years of 4-H club work and her interest in the future of agriculture. Her 4-H projects included food preparation and public speaking. She is a graduate of Thurmont High School, Class of '62 and a student at St. Mary's Seminary.

Miss Stambaugh was sponsored by the Thurmont Cooperative and went with the Maryland Cooperative Group.

end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Combs. are no health conditions that would interfere with participation. Schools now generally require a doctor's certificate for the student to "go out for the team." Adults need periodic physical checkups too, even though they may be feeling fine. While scheduling examinations for the children, don't forget the older members of the family. Your doctor will probably want to check the children's vision and hearing. Small children can, and frequently do, suffer gradual changes in their eyes or loss of hearing without realizing it. Either of these conditions can play havoc with school grades and social adjustment in the classroom. If your child wears glasses, they should be rechecked to make certain his prescription is still suitable. The small child who can't see the blackboard clearly or can't hear the teacher's questions is frustrated and baffled. A dental checkup also is important. Many schools now encourage pupils to bring a certificate from a dentist each year showing that an examination has been made. Small cavities can be filled before they become major dental problems, and potentially serious dental troubles often can be corrected if discovered early. Ask your doctor also whether your children are properly immunized against the various contagious diseases that threaten children and adults. A return to the indoor life of the school room exposes the child to infection to a much greater degree than the outdoor life of the summer months. Vaccines against smallpox, polio, tetanus (lockjaw), whooping cough and diphtheria are now routine. New measles vaccines are now on the market. Make certain your family is protected. If your child is planning to participate in vigorous sports on one of the school teams, let your doctor know. He will examine the youngster to make certain there

Highway Fatals

Show Increase

Fourteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police. Six of those killed were drivers; five were passengers; and three were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in two of the deaths; speed in four; and "driver error" was present in eleven of the fatalities. "A review of fatal accidents for a whole year discloses the most critical periods are from five to seven in the evening, and from midnight to two a.m.," commented Major G. E. Davidson, Field Commander of the State Police. "Everyone is interested in and concerned about the problem; many are contributing generously in this regard; but all too many have the attitude: 'It can't happen to me'. But it does—week after week. With the approaching Labor Day Holiday, and the heavy travel associated with it, the potential of accidents—property damage, personal injury and fatal, are problems to think about—and do something about—before they happen. These tragedies are the responsibility of all of us," continued Major Davidson, "every man, woman and child—whether walking, driving, or a passenger." West Virginia and Virginia Military Institute have won nine of the last 10 Southern Conference football titles. You can use canned fruit pie fillings for milk shakes for the youngsters.

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH

Back To School

It's back to school for millions of American youngsters in a few weeks. It's starting school for the first time for the kindergarten or first graders, several million of them. There's no one season of the year that is best for physical checkups. In fact, the health care of your family should be a constant affair throughout the year. But, if you have been putting off a visit to the family doctor for your small fry, now is a good time to phone for an appointment, with the reopening of school in the offing.

Your doctor will probably want to check the children's vision and hearing. Small children can, and frequently do, suffer gradual changes in their eyes or loss of hearing without realizing it. Either of these conditions can play havoc with school grades and social adjustment in the classroom. Ample Supply Of Teachers

Dr. Fred Brown, Jr., Assistant Superintendent for Instruction of the Frederick County Board of Education, said this week that as the situation now stands the teaching staff complement for the county schools is in a satisfactory condition. Dr. Brown said that at the present time teaching need requirements were limited to two elementary French teachers, seven general elementary instructors and two psychologists to replace the two who had resigned. However, he cautioned that each year the School Board faces the "last minute" resignations. These resignations, he explained, are due in a large part to the transfer of Fort Detrick employes whose wives constitute quite a sizeable section of the county teaching staff. He also added that changes in the family status of teaching mothers invariably results in a number of these "last minute" resignations.

Capt. Wins Pentathlon

SAN ANTONIO, TEX. (ANF) —Army Capt. James W. Moore, Erie, Pa., won the U. S. modern pentathlon championships held at San Antonio, Tex. He took first place by amassing a total of 4918 points in the five events which consisted of riding, shooting, fencing, swimming and running. The pentathlon has no maximum score or world's standard due to the variance in riding and running courses. Captain Moore won the championship on the strength of a second-place finish in the final event, the 4000 meter cross country run. Captain Moore has qualified for a place on the United States team which will compete in the world pentathlon championship to be held in September in Bern, Switzerland.

FORT SUMTER WRECKED BY FEDERAL SHELLING

By Lon K. Savage

Historic Fort Sumter in the harbor of Charleston, S. C., the scene of the first battle of the Civil War, was nearly destroyed by Federal gunfire 100 years ago this week.

From August 17th to the 23rd, Federal shells rained on the five-sided fortress in one of the Civil War's heaviest bombardments. It was an all-out Federal effort to liquidate the fort and, in so doing, to clear the way for the surrender of Charleston, itself. But despite the tons of shells that fell, the week ended with the fort—or what was left of it—still in Confederate hands and Charleston in little danger of falling into Federal hands.

Sumter was bombarded under the direction of Maj. Gen. Quincy Gillmore, one of the top engineering officers in the Federal army. It was anything but new. Since April, Federal warships had hammered at the fortress. On July 10, Gillmore had landed troops on Morris Island, just south of Charleston's harbor, and on the 11th and 18th, he had launched two attacks on Fort Wagner, a Confederate stronghold on the northern end of the island, which protected Sumter. Both attacks failed with heavy Union losses.

Tactics Changed
So Gillmore changed his tactics. He brought up 18 big, rifled guns to the south end of Morris Island, and before daylight on the 17th, the first gun boomed out, its shell arching across two miles of land and sea toward the fort. By the 19th, all 18 guns were in action.

Day after day, the shells dropped on Sumter. Gillmore reported 450 a day hit the fort, and the Confederates figured even more. Masses of brick and parapet crumbled off Sumter's walls. By the 23rd, the fort's offensive powers had been nearly demolished. Gen. P. G. T. Beauregard, Confederate commander at Charleston, described the historic stronghold as "a confused mass of crumbling debris." Between 3,000 and 6,000 projectiles had hit the fort in the eight-day period.

Confederates Stay
Inside the fort, the Confederates stuck to their guns as long as they had them. The danger of a Federal shell exploding in the fort's powder magazine—blowing them all to kingdom come—was realized, but they held on.

Among the Federal guns in the bombardment was the "Swamp Angel," an eight-inch 200-pounder Parrot rifle gun mounted in a marsh battery.

On the morning of August 21st, Gillmore demanded that Beauregard immediately evacuate Morris Island and Fort Sumter or he would open fire on the city. That night, the "Swamp Angel," its barrel elevated to 31 degrees and aimed "just to the left of St. Michael's Church in Charleston," boomed out, and ringing bells told the Federal artillerymen their shells had fallen in the city.

Beauregard protested vigorously against the "firing into a city filled with sleeping women and children," but next day, the "Swamp Angel" opened fire again.

On the 36th shot into the city, the "Swamp Angel" blew out the jacket to its breech and fell silent. Charleston was safe. The cannon disappeared from the history books, to emerge after the war as a monument in Trenton, N. J.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Higher Education Facilities Act Of 1963

By the year 1970, it is estimated that the number of students seeking higher education will be almost double the total campus enrollment of 1960, due chiefly to the increase in the numbers of young people of college age. This act authorizes a 5-year program of matching grants to public and nonprofit higher education institutions for construction of academic facilities. It provides also for the establishment or improvement of graduate schools and cooperative graduate centers. Authorization for the Commissioner of Education to make loans to public and other nonprofit institutions of higher education, or to higher education building agencies, for the construction of classrooms, laboratories, and libraries has been granted. In order that Congress may review the operation of the program, at the end of a 3-year period, further authorization of appropriations would be required for the last 2 years of the program. In America, there is no room for the denial of an opportunity for higher education simply because of insufficient facilities in our existing academic institutions. The Education Facilities Act as conceived by the House will be a significant step toward alleviating a foreseeable condition which cannot be allowed to become a reality. Therefore, I supported this bill which passed the House by a record vote of 287 to 113.

District Of Columbia Crime Laws
An omnibus bill dealing with crime and punishment in this Nation's Capital was approved by the House on August 12. I believe that for the guilty offender punishment should be swift, sure and just. Prompter disposition of criminal cases was made possible last year by the House fight to add new judges to the District Juvenile Court. Sure punishment is possible under existing laws, and must necessarily rest largely in the discretion of trial judges who see the defendant, hear the testimony and are the best equipped to make the punishment fit the crime.

The justness of criminal proceedings was at issue in the debate over the District Omnibus Crime Bill. I felt that the bill as it was drafted contained the seeds of dangerous injustice. This was recognized by the House when on motion of Minority Leader Halleck, seconded by Majority Leader Albert, it struck down a mandatory sentence provision. On balance, I felt the bill contained too many such provisions of doubtful constitutionality and dubious policy. I was forced to oppose this bill, but will continue to work for the improvement of the criminal laws of the District for the protection of innocent and guilty alike.

Potomac River Valley Project
As the hearing before the Army Corps of Engineers on the Potomac River report set for September 4 draws near, much attention is focused on the Potomac River Valley.

For 32 years the historic associations and natural beauty of the Potomac River Valley and the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal have been recognized nationwide as worthy of preservation. Much of the Potomac River traverses regions which are still virgin lands, unmarred by heavy industry. The Potomac River Valley and the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal should be protected from encroachment by the instruments of spoilation. It is with this concern in mind that all of us in the Sixth District focus our attention on the September 4 hearings to be accorded the Potomac River report.

New and Easy

Money-Saving Main Dish

Tender baking in a zippy sauce turns fish fillets into an appetizing main dish welcome any day of the week. If you are so fortunate as to have a fisherman in your family, this cookery idea is one to flatter his catch — on those days when the fish bite. Other days, frozen fish fillets are a ready answer to a good fish dinner.

Frozen perch fillets are suggested for this dish, for perch is a popular fish and the frozen fillets are readily available and inexpensive. The sauce takes but a stir to prepare, for it is double-rich evaporated milk with a variety of seasoning ingredients added for zippy flavor.

DEVELOPED PERCH FILLETS

- 1 pkg. (12 oz.) frozen perch fillets
- 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 1/2 cup evaporated milk
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce or steak sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper

Throw perch fillets according to package directions. Mix evaporated milk with remaining ingredients until smoothly blended; let stand 10 minutes. Place thawed fillets, skin side down, in bottom of a buttered 9-inch baking pan or pie pan so that the pieces form a layer of even thickness. Cover with evaporated milk mixture. Bake in preheated moderately hot oven (400° F.) until fish is done, about 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

clude careful consideration of the meaning of a name when choosing one for the new arrival?

The overwhelming majority of our common given names are of Latin, Greek, Hebrew or Teutonic derivation. All of these names have a definite meaning though few people really know what they are. Most of the meanings are pleasant, some are rather neutral and a few are questionable.

Is the child likely to give any attention to the meaning of his name and be influenced by it through life? That the child may be affected by his name is indicated by the emphasis placed on suitable Christian names by the Catholic Church.

If a child has a name with an unpleasant or questionable meaning or connotations, playmates may learn of it and, as children are wont to do, tease the bearer. An inspiring name may tend to stimulate the child to a successful life.

Some names that might otherwise be considered suitable have rather disagreeable meanings. For example, Calcin means "bald"; Cecil indicates "blindness"; Mary, "bitterness"; and Claulia, "lame." Many names have lost favor and have disappeared because of their unpleasant meanings. Mary, on the other hand, has withstood its meaning because of the famous persons who have borne the name, especially, the Virgin Mary.

Most of our popular given names today do not have meanings which would make them inappropriate. The Teutonic names, for example, consist, usually, of two elements with little or no relation between them, and tend to emphasize warlike terms. For example, William, which has the dual meaning, "resolution" and "helmet" and Robert, which means "fame" and "bright."

Hebrew names have a religious connotation and often relate to deity, as Elizabeth, which means, "oath of God." The Latin and Greek names tend to refer to abstract qualities, as Sebastian, which means, "venerable" and Anthony, "inestimable."

In some cases the meaning of a name is not so important as an unpleasant connotation which it may have acquired in later years. An example is, Adolf, from Hitler's actions. Perhaps, the most notorious example of this is Judas, which signifies, "praise" or "confession", but which parents will not choose because of its relationship with Christ's betrayal almost 2,000 years ago.

Some names suggest unpleasantness because they tend to bring to mind a word which is not inspiring. For example, Dulcia, meaning "sweet," makes some people think of the word "dull." Ruth, which means, "beauty," reminds some people of the attribute, "ruthless."

Clean Pots

First lesson a Boy Scout learns is to cover the bottoms of his pots with soap so soot from open fire washes off easily. The more modern way is to wrap pot bottoms with aluminum foil. When it comes time to go, throw the foil away. A light wire holds top of foil in place.

Corny Worms

An ear of corn planted in a moist corner of your garden will gather worms like a magnet.

Chum Pot

It might bear repeating that there are several kinds of inexpensive ways to liven things up when fishing gets dull. Cat food and sardines are two of them. Just puncture cans and lower to the bottom or spoon on the surface depending on whether you're fishing top or bottom. Oily food attracts small fish which brings the big ones in.

Fish & Gas Don't Mix

A tip that will help you catch more fish is to always carry soap in your boat and wash hands if there's a chance you've gotten oil or gas on them. Oil or gas odor lingers long and can transfer to bait easily. Fish hate it, fish will stay away from your hook in droves.

Pipe Cleaner Varnisher

When refinishing a rod, a pipe cleaner will be just the right size to varnish under the guides where small brushes won't reach.

12 Gauge Sun Shield

Ever shoot a .22 equipped with a telescope sight on a bright sunny day? If you have, you know glare can be a problem. Fix that by cutting the cardboard off a 12 gauge shell and painting it flat black inside and out. It will slip down scope out of the way when you don't need it, shield the scope end when you do.

Tailing A Skunk

Laugh at the next Old Timer that says you can pick a skunk up by its tail with no dire results. Or, tell him you'll watch from a distance while he does it. Even held by the tail a skunk is fully armed.

No Handgun Flinch

If your shooting problem is flinching, a good way to check it (or even discover it) is to let a friend load or not load the gun as he sees fit before he hands it to you. You'll be amazed how a flinch really shows when the hammer comes down on nothing but a loud click.

Maryland Fishing Guide Available

Wanna go fishin? Wonder where the fish are? Like to know what baits to use? Bothered about the seasons, sizes, and creel limits?

If any of these questions bug you, you need a copy of the new Maryland Tidewater Fishing Guide just published by the Department of Tidewater Fisheries. The new fishing guide is a map, folded as a road map, showing the best fishing spots, marked by numbers, and how to reach them. On the reverse side there is a list of numbers containing a legend which names the fishing ground, the best season for fishing that area, and the types of fish likely to be caught there. Also, there are pictures of the most common fish to be found in Maryland's tidal waters so you can recognize what you have caught. There is also text for each species, the types of fishing to be done, the kinds of fish to be taken, and the methods and baits most likely to bring you success.

Also, there are complete stories on how to sport crab and how to ice fish. In addition to this, there is information on the dividing lines between both tidal and fresh waters and a chart that shows the most abundant fish, their seasons, size, and creel limits and an eighteen inch rule for measuring your catch.

The new fishing guide is free and can be had by addressing your requests to the Department of Tidewater Fisheries, State Office Building, Annapolis, Md.

What in the WORLD! by TED Quake Protection

Determined to avert "another San Francisco" anywhere in the world, earthquake experts are fanning out across the globe to study the cause and devastation of temblors. Their goals: to devise a warning system and to design buildings that will withstand the terrifying shocks. The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) is coordinating these efforts. It is helping set up detection stations where none existed before, notably in Southeast Asia. Geophysicist William J. Cromie points out in his book, "Earthquakes," that the network must include deep-sea monitors that "may provide clues to the best methods of earthquake prediction." One simple shockproof construction technique was tested by a UNESCO scientist in Iran after last year's quake, which left 12,000 dead (as contrasted with perhaps 500 in San Francisco in 1906.) The method: girdle Iran's mud-walled homes with steel straps. These bands, which four men can apply in two hours, prevent the walls from spreading and allowing the roof to collapse on the occupants.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley
CHILDREN'S EYES

So often I am asked, "How do I know my child's eyes are not working properly?" The answer is very simple. Have his eyes examined. Eyes do not hurt like teeth, or other organs, and often give no warning when something is wrong. The eye, itself, is not very sensitive. One can rub their eye quite hard, or open your eyes under water when swimming. Actually, the sensation when wearing contact lenses is not on the eye, but on the eyelid.

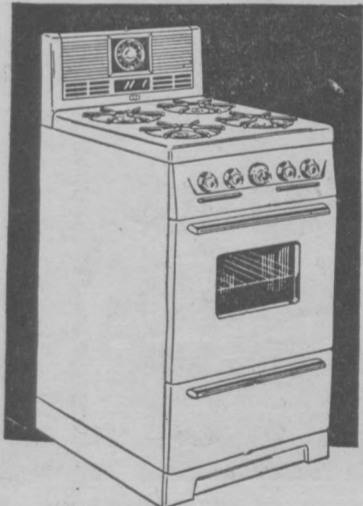

Wesley

One should look for the little symptoms that give you hints as to the problems a child may be having with his sight. Signs of visible strain, straining to see, wrinkles on the forehead, red eyes, problems with the lid or any abnormality as far as the shape or appearance of the lid or the eye itself—should be checked very carefully. Does the child fall or stumble over toys or steps? Does he narrow his eyes at times? Does he complain that his eyes hurt? Also watch his school marks. They are always an indication of the efficiency of an individual.

All of these symptoms point to the fact that the only way you will know for certain about your child's vision, is to see that he has regular and frequent eye examinations. The National Eye Research Foundation advocates tests twice yearly.

off. Such windshields scratch easily. Use only water on them—fresh water—unless you have one of the new cleaners formulated especially for the purpose.

A clean cockpit is always nice, and in these days of fewer floorboards, it takes less work to keep it that way. Pouring in a few pails of water and detergent is a popular way of doing the job. Detergents and soaps packaged expressly for boats are excellent, but household detergents are often satisfactory. Use a sponge on any obviously dirty spots. Try a more powerful industrial detergent if necessary. Some boat owners then get rid of the water, if they've been careful not to pour in more than several pails, by taking a spin and opening the drain plug. Of course the whole process can be repeated. Another popular method is to wash the boat at a marina or waterfront boat service shop, wheeling up a power pump to clear out the dirty water. Even small waterfront establishments are likely to have such no-effort pumps today, and all you have to do is ask for them, for most often they're kept out of sight and half the customers don't know about them, according to Willard Crnadall, Boat Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

I hope you haven't lined your pier with tire casing, a one-time favorite, for if you have, I don't want to land there. Black marks on the side of the boat reusit, and they are difficult to remove. Discarded fire hose, another old favorite, prevents gouges and puts no rub marks on the boat. It's generally hard to obtain, though. Now you can buy not-too-expensive plastic pier liners, mostly foam, to do a complete job. Of course, there are plastic fenders on the market, too, to hang over the side of your boat when you land, particularly if you dock at an unpadded pier. And fenders of older materials still do a good job.

Foreign Aid And Gold

If the $4.9 billions of foreign aid authorization originally requested by the President this year could instead be coming to these shores as "American aid" in gold, the dollar would be firmed up tremendously. At this writing Congress is trying to whittle several more billions from the handout list, but it appears unlikely that they'll get the authorization down as low as $4 billion. The Clay Report, which urged scaling down foreign aid about a billion dollars, is having some influence on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. There are some demands and much pressure for the aid, but few nations willing to relinquish it.

David Bell, former budget director who now heads the Agency for International Development, visited our State recently. According to press reports of his Little Rock address, he presented a general whitewash of the whole foreign aid business. It was an interesting coincidence that an adjacent headline read: "Gold Outflow Still Puzzles U. S., Europe." That story went on to say that no new remedies were expected from a Paris meeting of international policy makers. Such is fully understandable, for the real remedies will have to be found in Washington on Capitol Hill, with or without the cooperation of the likes of Mr. Bell.

Outdated Concepts
The evidence seems to indicate that now is the time to cut back foreign aid, with the idea of soon eliminating all grants, most military help, and any unrealistic lending. In Europe they are saying that Washington doesn't know how well the Marshall Plan worked, but that it has not worked in underdeveloped countries and won't. In Formosa and in Germany the people have been willing to help themselves while being helped. In fact, Europe has been helped so much with our aid that European central banks now largely control the U. S. dollar. These international bankers are aware, however, that it is a shaky dollar; that is why they are so worried.

Too Much And Too Little

As to the gold problem, it was the Clay Report to President Kennedy back in March that in these strong words expressed "increasing concern . . . over the contribution of foreign aid to the persistent deficit in our international payments . . . These deficits have produced a sustained decline in our gold stock and a marked increase in foreign owned dollar balance . . ." This is a situation that has been building up for many months, yet even the top officials of AID will not recognize the relationship of foreign aid to our poor showing in international balance.

Dr. Melchior Palyi says that the trouble with foreign aid has been that it is too much for our pocketbooks and too little for the recipients. In other words, $5 billion is quite a lot for American taxpayers, but very little when placed into 1 1/2 billion overstretched hands. The funds are stretched out so much that the economic results are negligible and the psychological benefits doubtful. Mostly, it amounts to providing subsidies to whatever political regime can find some use for the money for political purposes.

How To Give Aid

Americans who work to produce the dollars that go out as foreign aid, if they favor foreign aid at all, are devoted to the idea that healthy and growing private enterprise is the essential element in economic development. Despite this belief, we are sending our help largely to governments and government-owned operations of various sorts. Mr. Bell has said, perhaps in apology for our aid supporting Socialist government schemes, that what works in America will not necessarily work in some emerging land. The trouble with Mr. Bell and some of his associates is that they have incorrectly assessed the American experience, where government hand-outs have never succeeded and freedom of enterprise never failed.

We could get our dollar back on a sound basis more readily if we would give real encouragement throughout the world to business and businessmen to get on with the real task of foreign development. If the political climate in underdeveloped nations is hospitable to free enterprise, then the entrepreneur can go to work in the most fundamental forms of trade and commerce. If this is not done, Communist methods may be introduced into the vacuum that selfish governments never fill.

and Delaware will hold their annual summer convention September 6, 7 and 8 at the Carousel Motel in Ocean City, according to George Rash, city editor of the Hagerstown Daily Mail and president of the Maryland-Delaware Press Association.

Keynote speaker will be Hans L. Carstensen, vice president of the N. W. Ayer & Son advertising agency, Philadelphia. Eugene E. Hines, Director of Education for the Washington office of the National Society of Public Accountants, will conduct a workshop on recent tax rulings.

In addition to attending membership and business meetings, journalists and their wives will be entertained by associate members at a beachcomber's party and fire light sing, will take an ocean cruise as guests of the Mayor and City Council of Ocean City and will attend a press hop and midnight pool party.

Program chairman for the 3-day event is William Kerbin, Jr., publisher of the Snow Hill Democratic Messenger; assisting him are Miss Pat Rosencrantz, city editor of the Frederick News, Dan M. Tabler, editor of the Centerville Record-Observer, and Philip O'Connell, advertising manager of the Potomac Edison Company.

How millions of Americans help make every day "Independence Day"

When you buy a U. S. Savings Bond you do more than save money. You continue a tradition which was begun 187 years ago . . . and needs your support today more than ever before.

Tens of millions of Americans put their strength into this fight by buying Savings Bonds month in, month out where they bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where they work.

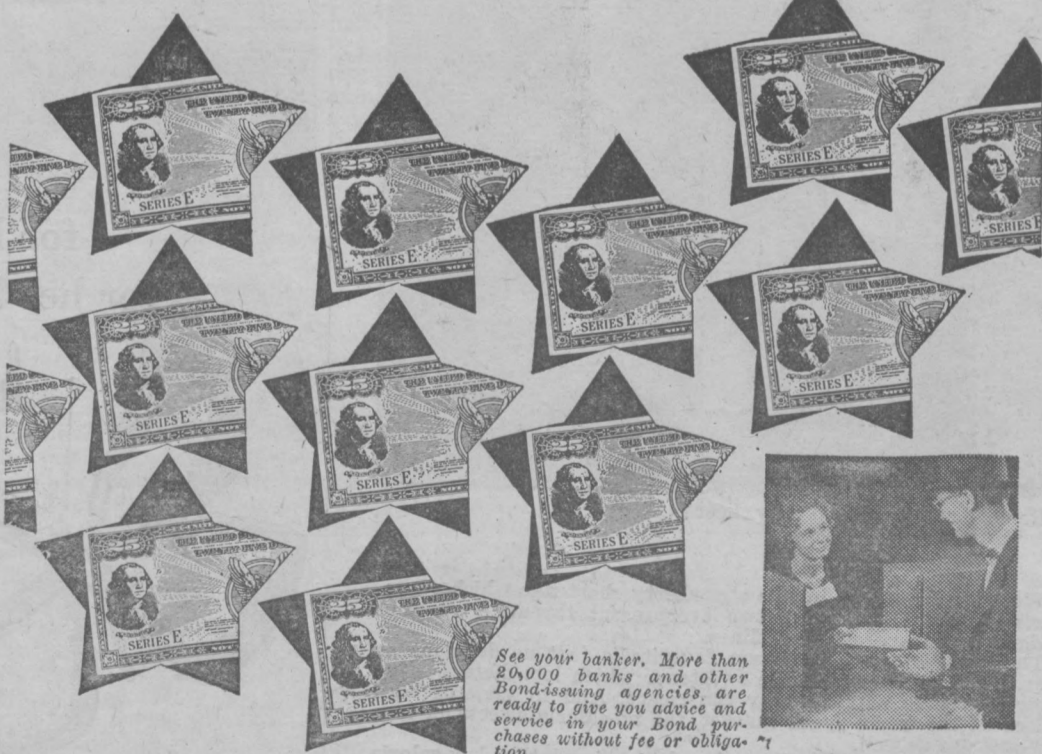

Dollars for freedom. Bond purchases help keep our Nation strong in a number of ways. Perhaps the most important is the dollars-and-cents assistance to our government in managing the public debt.

Bond savings help the individual manage his "public debt," too—another important step to national strength.

Your own "bill of rights." The Savings Bonds Program can help you build for a financially independent future, just as it has helped millions of others. Since 1941, Americans have spent $87 billion in Bond savings for new homes, new businesses, college educations, and happier retirement years.

Series E Bonds return $4 at maturity for every $3 invested, and are protected against loss, theft, or destruction. Start saving for your independence today—with U. S. Savings Bonds.

See your banker. More than 20,000 banks and other bond-issuing agencies are ready to give you advice and service in your bond purchases without fee or obligation.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Calls For Old-Fashioned Thrift
 BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 22—It is amazing to me how many people today seem quite happy to "live it up" without any regard for their pocket-books. Our so-called "welfare state" has made people take the problems of unemployment and old age security far too lightly. When I talk to young people, I find they are giving little or no thought to their financial futures. The result is that they never accumulate even the few dollars they need to start them along the road to sensible budgeting and a program of successful investment. Thrifty Men Come Out Ahead

 My father—I have never forgotten—used to warn me that the man who spends less than he gets will be an employer, but that the man who constantly spends all that he gets will always be an employee. The importance of saving, my father insisted, was in no way related to how much a man had on payday. He believed that a poor man who saved something was far wiser than a wealthy man who had no system of saving whatsoever.
 I have often thought about my father's words. And I have noticed that partners in business and partners in married life always get along better when they have some cash in the bank. A great many of life's troubles begin when bills come in and there is nothing to pay them with. I decided when I was still very young that I would rather tell my dollars where to go than ask where they had gone.
ABC Of Independence
 Step number one in beginning an investment program is to set aside some of your income every single week. This involves budgeting regularly and intelligently, putting first things first. It is obvious, for example, that it is better to pay the grocer than the doctor, even though food costs may be fairly high. Household labor costs and general expenses are also high today, plus insurance, taxes, repairs, etc. But oftentimes children or other members of the family can help lessen expenses by doing more of the chores and/or by bringing in some extra money from outside jobs.

 My observations of present conditions indicate that a man with a family of four bringing home earnings of $5,000 (after income and social security taxes) ought to try to hold his living costs under 85% of that total. About 43% would go for food and clothing, and 39% for housing and transportation. I have said before—and I still believe it is true—that many families are paying too much for transportation. This is particularly true of those in the lower income brackets. Unless they buy more for cash and buy less on credit, they will never get started on a sensible financial basis for the future.

 Even with reasonable allowances for benevolence and church and for personal and miscellaneous items, there should still be at least 5% left for insurance, savings accounts, and investments,—or, more specifically, about $250. I heartily advise you to put half this amount into life insurance and the other half into savings. Starting on such a tight budget, I would definitely not make any provisions at this time for speculative investment.
Start Budgeting Early In Life
 One of the most important things in a man's life is to learn early to budget and to save. Failure to do this is responsible for the sad fact that close to 30% of the men 55 years old right now are not self-supporting. Most of them have made enough money between the ages of 30 and 50 to keep themselves and their families in comparative ease for life if they had only followed a definite plan of saving. It seems senseless to me to work the best part of your life to earn a few dollars if these dollars are going to earn nothing for you afterward.
 Only by way of labor and saving is important capital built up. Those who consume less than they produce can turn their surplus back into productive channels that will increase the nation's wealth. Investments of various sorts, including bank deposits, can build up independence for you and educate your children. In addition, savings provide the capital for commerce and industry to generate new productive facilities and thus open new employment opportunities.

Read James 2:14-26
 "The glory which thou hast given me I have given to them, that they may be one even as we are one." (John 17:22, RSV.)
 In southern Europe, I saw some Roman architectural structures, among them the familiar aqueducts.
 An interesting story is told of one aqueduct built in the year 109 at Segovia, Spain. For eighteen centuries it carried cool water from the mountains to the thirsty city. Then modern pipelines were laid, and the old aqueduct was no longer used. Almost immediately it began to fall apart. The dry mortar crumbled, stones loosened and began to fall. A few years of idleness ruined what eighteen centuries of service had not destroyed.
 The church is the aqueduct for the spirit of Christ. Is it tremendous power for good to be sapped and destroyed by careless neglect? The servant with one talent was denounced not because he had stolen it, or gambled it, or misappropriated it, but because he had done nothing with it.

 Prayer
 Our Father, help us to keep open the channels of spiritual power by devout living and faithfulness to Thy church. Strengthen us to serve the church of our Lord Jesus Christ and to pray, as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
 Thought For The Day
 The church is the channel for the living water of Christ.

The Age of Private Transportation
 "Get the farmer out of the mud" was the battle cry of the highway program in the 1920's and 1930's. In the early days of the automobile age, a paved road outside of the limits of a city or incorporated town was rare enough to be a curiosity.
 Today, almost 70 percent of the 3,127,225 miles of rural roads in the United States have some kind of surfacing. A substantial amount of the remaining non-surfaced road mileage is so little traveled that paving is not justified; nevertheless, much remains to be done before we can claim a complete all-weather road system in the United States.
 Nowadays, however, "getting the farmer out of the mud" is one among many objectives of the national highway program. The automobile and the truck have become such an integral part of American life that good highway transportation is essential to the success of almost every activity. Industries, schools, churches and shopping centers share the farmer's vital concern with the highway program. Commuters get stuck in urban traffic jams more often than farmers get stuck in the mud.
 The essentiality of highway transportation to the national economy and the national defense is reflected in the Federal-aid highway program, which has assisted the States in the improvement of their highway networks since 1916.

 Federal-aid expenditures for highways, increasing in line with the increase in highway travel, now approximate $3 billion per year, all of which is collected by means of special taxes on highway users, chiefly the 4c-per-gallon Federal tax on gasoline.
 These special tax receipts are allocated by Congress to four categories of Federal-aid highway expenditures: (1) aid to the State primary, or trunk-line, highways, (2) aid to farm-to-market roads, (3) aid for the improvement of city arterial streets and expressways and (4) aid in the construction of the 41,000-mile National System of Interstate and Defense Highways, the new system of coast-to-coast interconnected expressways designed to meet our defense needs and to serve as the backbone for our total highway network. The Federal government pays 90% of the construction cost of the Interstate highways and 50% on other Federal-aid highways.
 State, local and Federal officials are all working together to coordinate their highway construction activities, recognizing that the roads are economic and social lifelines which are the key to better living for all of us.

Fire can destroy the Bond...but not the savings

All that the owner of this charred U. S. Savings Bond has to do is mail the remains to the Treasury Department, with as much more information as he can give—serial number, and date and place of issue. He'll get a fresh Bond to replace it. No charge.
 The Treasury has grown accustomed to providing this sort of service. In the past 20 years they've replaced over 1,300,000 Savings Bonds that have been lost, stolen, burned or mistakenly tossed out with the trash.

Every U. S. Savings Bond sold is registered in the name of its owner, and a microfilm record made. So the government always knows when, where, and in whose name a Bond was purchased—even if there isn't a burned crisp to send them.
 This assurance against loss is another of the many reasons why Americans now hold over $46 billion in Series E and H Savings Bonds. The money they're saving is providing for their personal security. And it's also helping to build the strength of America at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever.

 U. S. Savings Bonds are a good way to provide for your future. Buy them where your bank or work.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity • You can get your money anytime • Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen • You can save automatically on Payroll Savings

Colts and Kids

To many, the idea of a race track being a philanthropic organization is a bit startling. However, that is just what Del Mar Race track is. Originally built in 1937 by Bing Crosby and a group of his film industry associates, Del Mar has enjoyed steady growth as a summer vacationland for horsemen and racing fans alike. In recent years, however, it has enjoyed the distinction of being a potent force in the continuing battle against juvenile delinquency. In 1954, control of Del Mar passed to an organization known as Boys, Inc., set up by a Texan named Clint W. Murchison whose activities range from oil fields to publishing houses. Murchison also raised and raced Thoroughbreds and saw a parallel between "colts and kids"; both have boundless energies which need to be directed. Delinquency can develop in both colts and kids if this direction is lacking. So it was that Murchison and his close friend Sid Richardson of Dallas, set up Boys, Inc., and acquired the lease of Del Mar Race Track. As far as the horsemen and the fan are concerned, Del Mar continues to operate as does any responsible race track; it is a member of Thoroughbred Racing Associations, thus insuring the protection of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau, it offers top purses for top horses, and it annually gives 90% of its profits or $250,000 whichever is greater to Boys, Inc.

Sweet Low-Calorie Treat

Remember this old pep rally cheer?
 "Strawberry shortcake,
 huckleberry pie,
 V-I-C-T-O-R-Y"

Well, it's come true in this strawberry shortcake which represents V-I-C-T-O-R-Y over two everpresent threats—overshot budgets and overgrown waistlines.
 The traditional berry season favorite is just as delicious as ever, made with a no-calorie sweetener which lets dieters enjoy their shortcake with an easy conscience. And in view of high prices on the world sugar market, the no-calorie sweetener is a low-cost one as well.
 The Sparkling Lemonade, cool and tart, is another low-calorie treat. These recipes are suggested by The Pillsbury Company:

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE
 (Serves 6-8)
 1 quart strawberries 1 teaspoon liquid Sweet*10
 angel food cake slices
 Clean strawberries; slice. Sprinkle with Sweet*10. Toss lightly with fork. Serve with angel food cake slices.

SPARKLING LEMONADE
 (Makes 2 quarts)
 1 quart cold water ¼ cup lemon juice
 1 quart chilled sugar-free lemon-lime carbonated beverage 2 teaspoons liquid Sweet*10
 Combine all ingredients. Add ice cubes.

NO. 20402 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR FREDERICK COUNTY, MARYLAND
STANLEY T. BLAKELY
Fort Detrick
Frederick, Maryland
VS
ALICE B. BLAKELY
918 Northwest Shephard St., N.W.
Washington, D. C.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The Bill of Complaint is a suit to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Alice B. Blakely. The Bill recites that the Complainant, Stanley T. Blakely, is a resident of Frederick County, Maryland, being a member of the Armed Forces of the United States, stationed at East Coast Relay Station, Fort Detrick, Frederick, Maryland; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, residing at 918 Northwest Shephard Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.; that the parties to this cause were married on July 17, 1962, at Wilmington, N. C., by Rev. Boykins, a regularly ordained minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage no child or children were born; that between the time of the said marriage and the filing of this Bill of Complaint your Complainant has discovered that the Defendant has committed the crime of adultery in Frederick County, Maryland, with a certain man whose name is unknown to him at the present time; and that since the discovery of said adultery your Complainant has not lived or cohabited with the Defendant as husband and wife, nor has he forgiven or condoned her actions in any way. The Bill then prays that the Complainant, Stanley T. Blakely, be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Alice B. Blakely, and for such other and further relief as the nature of his case may require.

COURT ORDER
It is thereupon this 19th day of August, 1963, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks before the 14th day of September, 1963, commanding her to be and appear in this Court, in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 15th day of October, 1963, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

Marlin Contest
September 6

The Fifth Annual White Marlin Tournament at Ocean City, Md., the "White Marlin Capital of the World," will be held Sept. 6 through 12, with the annual awards banquet set at the Pier Ballroom at 7 p.m., Saturday, September 14. Co-sponsored this year by the Ocean City, Md., Marlin Club and Carling Brewing Company of Baltimore, the event is expected to draw more than a thousand skilled and amateur marlin fishermen from many parts of the country.

Capt. William Bunting, Jr., president of the Marlin Club, said that entries should be mailed to the secretary, Capt. Jerry Simpson, in care of the Club, Box 73, Ocean City, Md. Copies of the entry form may be obtained by writing to Capt. Simpson now. Private or charter boats may be used in this all-tackle tournament, Capt. Bunting declared. No entry fees are required of individual anglers, but there is an entry fee of $20 per boat which must be paid prior to the day's fishing.

Prizes also will be awarded to the largest fish by weight for sailfish, dolphin, bonita, wahoo and tuna. Although primarily a white marlin tournament, the event offers suitable honors for anglers

More than $1,000 in sterling silver bowls and plates as well as a gold bracelet for the top woman angler are planned by the club through the Carling joint sponsorship, Capt. Bunting said. The contest, he added, is expected to cap all prior events.

Timonium Fair Opens Monday

The highlights of festivities on opening day, Monday, August 26, at Timonium Fair will be a combination of Baltimore County day and the selection and crowning of the 1963 Farm Queen.

Howard W. Clark, President of Maryland State Fair and Agricultural Society, announced that Mary Houck, Carroll County 1962 Queen will be on hand to greet County Executive Spiro T. Agnew and many county and state dignitaries at the ribbon cutting ceremony Monday, at 11:30 a.m. Officers and directors of the Maryland State Fair and Agricultural Society will be present to join some 200 guests at a luncheon in the attractive air-conditioned Flamingo Room in the grandstand, in celebration of this big opening day.

Following the ribbon cutting, the procession of guests lead by Mary Houck, Howard W. Clark, President and John M. Heil, Vice President, will march in a colorful parade to some lively stepping music by the Kiwanis Club band along the midway to the Grandstand. The opening day heavily scheduled, will follow thru for the guests with touring the fair grounds, attending a feature race, in which Maryland bred horses will participate, and the selection and crowning of the 1963 Farm Queen.

At 6:00 p.m. Mary Houck, Farm Queen of 1962, will be guest of honor at a special dinner to be held in the Flamingo Room in honor of the participants from 23 counties who will vie for the title of State Fair Farm Queen of 1963. The young lady to be picked from twenty-three local county winners will reign for the duration of the Timonium Fair. The dinner will be the fore-runner of the contest which will take place in the pavilion starting at 8:00 p.m. Miss Houck will lead the parade and reign throughout the contest until the 1963 Queen is selected. Howard W. Clark, President of the Fair, will announce the winner and crown the 1963 Farm Queen.

The Queen's Court, consisting of the four runners up will assist the newly selected Queen in her duties during the duration of the Fair. The very busy schedule will include the awarding of trophies, entertaining visiting dignitaries, both local and international, touring of the fair grounds and Exhibition Hall, the presenting of trophies to the winners of the many feature races being held at Timonium Track and the participation of the Queen and her Court in the big parade Sunday, September 1, 2:00 p.m.

Attend Meeting
Vice President William Kelz and Secretary Robert A. Seidel Sr., of the Emmitsburg Lions Club, attended the annual presidents' and secretaries' meeting of District 22-W held last Sunday at the Venice Motel, Hagerstown.

Labor Day Traffic To Be Heavy

At 6:00 p.m. Friday, August 30, the Labor Day holiday will get under way officially, Paul E. Burke, Executive Director of The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, warns — then the madness will begin—a frantic race to have fun during summer's final holiday. Those participating will not return to normalcy before midnight, Monday, September 2 and during those 78 hours of hustle, bustle, hurry and flurry too many people will die or suffer disabling injuries in traffic accidents as happened last year in Maryland when 11 people lost their lives and 406 were seriously injured due to unwarned traffic accidents. This year, the starting gun will find the State's 20,000 miles of streets and highways clogged with a seemingly endless swarm of automobiles—all filled with folks determined to do the holiday up in fine style. What will they do wrong?—They will try to drive too great a distance in too little time—get irritated at all other drivers—make things especially tough for themselves by combing drinking and driving—and they will speed—he discourteous—ignore traffic signs—flagrantly disregard traffic while crossing or walking on the highway and break every traffic law in the book.

Traffic accidents, the executive director pointed out, are a terrible waste of the Nation's manpower. This country is not just a piece of land—it is people and to kill or injure them so wantonly is to rob this Nation of its most vital resource.

Some wives remind me of Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders. They're always yelling 'Charge!'

Priest Dies
Rev. John L. York, pastor of St. Agnes Roman Catholic Church, Philadelphia, for nearly 41 years, died Sunday in the church rectory. He would have been 71 years old next month. He studied for the priesthood at Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, and at St. Charles Seminary, Overbrook.
