Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

While talking to one of the older citizens of the community the other day the subject of the Old Fountain on the Square was brought up. Most of us older townsfolk remember vividly the landmark and the trouble "Old Doc" used to have keeping his Model T out of it. However the main point of the discussion was what ever happened to the four plaques that told a little history of the town on them? I distinctly recall having seen these signs but as to the wording or legend on them I can't for the life of me recall it. It runs in my mind it was something about the Army of the Potomac and the Civil War. Anybody want to give us some help as to what the wording was and where are they now?

As I conversed with one of the younger set this week the chap came up with a suggestion I thought. Seems as though he would like to see a few mailbox drops located at convenient sections of the town. This in my opinion is not a bad suggestion at all and I wonder why some of us hadn't thought of it before. It would be rather convenient to be able to stop at any end of town or Emmitt Gardens and drop in our mail rather than walk or ride five or six blocks. After all, there are quite a few elderly citizens who would appreciate such a convenience. Anyone wanna help on this one too?

Integration in Maryland is progressing rather satisfactorily, especially in that hot-bed, Cambridge. Schools opened this week and the anticipated flare-up between the Whites and the Negroes flopped flat as there was no violence worth mentioning. The schools there have now been integrated and so it will spread to the four corners of the Nation, peacefully, we hope. There will be trouble spots no doubt but the whole picture is shaping up much better than was anticipated.

Another Labor Day has been recorded in the annals of history and another bloody page has been added to the book. Every year records are broken regardless of radar, increased police forces, new and modern highways and other safety media. The problem seems almost hopeless and yet we live in the hope that this condition can be tamed any year but as to a solution we have none. It seems odd that we can lick and eradicate viruses such as tuberculosis and polio yet we can't make a dent in the slaughter records caused by the automobile, or rather, drivers.

With the parking problem becoming more acute each year it is highly possible that local parking ordinances might have to be changed to allow cars to park overnight on the streets in some areas. With the increase in the number of apartments in town many tenants have no other recourse than to park their cars on the streets overnight. Parking signs indicate only two-hour parking at any time but what the heck is a fellow going to do when there isn't a parking lot or garage within blocks? Would you tag them if you were the policeman or would you change the signs if you were on the Town Council? It's a problem that'll have to be solved in the very near future.

Thurmont Zoning Meeting Set

The Thurmont Planning and Zoning Commission will hold a public hearing at Thurmont High School on September 25, according to Secretary Wilhelm Benschel.

The purpose of the hearing is to familiarize the citizens of Thurmont with the proposed interim zoning ordinance and to review its contents.

Arthur Hatton, representing the Werner-Dyer Associates of Riverdale, near Washington, D.C., who has been given the responsibility of drawing up plans for the new ordinance, will be the main speaker and will outline the proposals of the ordinance to the Thurmont public.

Council Busy; Hears Delegation

President of the Board of Commissioners John S. Hollinger presided over the regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Commissioners held Tuesday evening in the Town Office.

Town Clerk Fannie Baker gave the treasurer's report and read the minutes of the previous meeting. Special meetings were held by the Council on Aug. 23 and two on Aug. 26. Discussed was the issuance of a bond for completion of the new proposed water system, the laying of gas lines through the town by the Penn Gas Co. and the layout of the new water system.

The meeting was attended by a delegation of representative citizens of the town and area who were interested in having Council rehire former Police Chief Wilmer E. Law. Spokesman for the group was Guy A. Baker Jr. Members of the delegation were Guy A. Baker, Jr., Richard J. McCullough, James J. Phelan, Francis X. Ligorano, Arthur Elder, Michael Boyle, Cy Haley, Walter F. Crouse and Ernest R. Shriver. The spokesmen had letters of recommendation from the two local colleges, St. Joseph High School and Mother Seton School. The board heard the delegation for about an hour and then said it would take the matter under advisement. Chief Law resigned Aug. 26. To date there have been several applications for the position Mayor Ralph F. Ireland said.

Prof. Leary Dies Following Automobile Accident

Prof. Albert Leonard Leary, 72, 800 W. Main St., Emmitsburg, former principal in Frederick County high schools, died Saturday afternoon at 2:25 at the Anne Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, where he had been admitted last Tuesday following an auto accident near Thurmont.

The Adams County coroner, Dr. C. G. Crist, said an autopsy showed the cause of death to be a cerebral thrombosis. He said the large blood clot had apparently entered Professor Leary's brain before the accident and the thrombosis had caused him to lose control of his auto prior to the accident. The coroner said Professor Leary had told police the brakes of his car would not work, but police could find nothing wrong with the brakes. However, cerebral thrombosis would, the coroner explained, have caused Mr. Leary to feel that he had carried out the braking that he had intended.

The accident happened on Route 77, 2 1/2 miles west of Thurmont, while the Leary car was traveling east. Police said the Leary vehicle came around a sharp curve on the wrong side of the road and collided with a westbound convertible operated by Donna Lee Clevenger, Hagerstown.

Mr. Leary's wife, Anna (Porter) Leary, 67, suffered lacerations of the face and knee and contusions of the left ankle. She also was Commissioner J. Norman Flax brought to the Council's attention the abnormal condition of the water system along the Waynesboro Road and Council agreed to look into the situation and discussed installing a two-inch main in the area. At the same time it was being considered replacing water mains up to and including a portion of the Tract Road. Installation of a new cast iron water main on Creamery Road for the proposed new factory and creamery there was discussed and estimates are currently being compiled.

In other action taken Tuesday night the Council renewed the notes it borrowed on for the original purchase price of the former Emmitsburg Water Co. Proposed and discussed also was the possible purchase of additional acreage in the watershed area.

Mayor Ireland said the Town had several offers for a possible site for a consolidated school to accommodate Emmitsburg and Thurmont children and will recommend one or several of them to the Frederick County School Board for possible purchase in the near future. Council said it had received a request from the Vigilant Hose Co. to remove a parking meter in front of the firemen's parking lot on West Main Street since the old Dr. Baldachino property had been razed. The meeting adjourned at 11:40 p.m.

removed to the Warner Hospital and later was released after treatment. Miss Clevenger suffered abrasions of the face and legs. Other passengers in her car were uninjured. Damage was estimated at $700 to each vehicle.

A native of Rock Hall, Md., a son of the late Isaac L. and Virginia (Maslin) Leary, Professor Leary had taught in the Frederick County schools since 1924. He taught school for 44 years and was a high school principal for 37 years.

He had resided in Emmitsburg since 1939.

A veteran of World War I, he served in the personnel department of the army from April, 1918, to May, 1919, and was a member of Gettysburg Barracks No. 2974, Veterans of World War I.

He was a member of Trinity Methodist Church of Emmitsburg; of the Baltimore County Retired Teachers Association, the Maryland Retired Teachers Association and the National Retired Teachers Association.

Surviving are his wife, the former Anna Porter, and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Rutledge, Jr., Catonsville, Md.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from the Wilson Funeral Home, Emmitsburg, with the Rev. John C. Chatlos officiating. Interment was made in the Wesley Chapel Cemetery at Rock Hall.

Maryland Knights Plan Outing

The annual State Reunion of the 16,000 Knights of Columbus in Maryland and their families will be held on Sunday, September 8, from 12 noon at the Pikeville Sportsman's Club, Delight—6 miles north of Pikeville on U.S. route 140.

The atmosphere being set for this year's event will be that of an old-time family reunion, Dr. M. D. Gilligan, chairman, has said. Planned for the day are a picnic lunch on the spacious grounds, softball games for adults and children, horseshoe pitching, children's games and contests, pony rides, a "teen-hop" and a twist contest for teen-agers from 2 to 5:30 p.m.

The feature event of the day will be a "tug-of-war" contest among the 57 councils of the Knights of Columbus in Maryland. Five man teams from each council will compete for the State Deputy's Cup. Entry deadline for this event is 2:30 p.m. on the day of the reunion. Charles F. Sohn, Grand Knight of St. Agnes Council No. 4449 is in charge of the tug-of-war arrangements.

Dr. M. D. Gilligan of Westminster, State Secretary of the Maryland State Council, is general chairman of the 1963 reunion.

Politics in school and churches is politics at its worst.

Maryland Acts On Ad Billboards

Maryland and 19 other states now have adopted laws controlling billboards along the Interstate highway routes, Executive Vice President Harry E. Uhler of the AAA Automobile Club of Maryland reported this week.

Those states which have laws measuring up to Federal standards will get a special bonus on Interstate projects, he said.

The first state to get a cash reimbursement was Kentucky, which early last month got a bonus of 1/2 of 1 percent on 7 Interstate projects. Maryland will become eligible for bonus payments as soon as it fulfills the terms of an agreement signed with the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

In presenting a $65,000 check to Kentucky Gov. Bert Combs, Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges said:

"The people of Kentucky have given concrete evidence they want the Interstate highways in their state free from distracting signs which mar the beautiful countryside."

To Wed Saturday

The marriage of William Van Brakle to Miss Eva Dummer, of Germany, will take place Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, Gettysburg, Pa.

YORK FAIR OPENS TUESDAY

With more than the usual amount of entertainment and agriculture exhibits, the big York Interstate Fair will open next Tuesday, September 10, and continue thru Saturday, September 14, day and night.

Located in the heart of an extensive agricultural and industrial area the York Fair has always stimulated farm production as well as serve to show its industrial products.

Tuesday as usual, will be children's day with star Anita Bryant, singer and recording artist, plus "Bullwinkle" a happy bull moose feature on television and newspaper comic strips. Both will appear afternoon and night.

President Horace Faber says jot these down . . . that you can't afford to miss any of these special daily features. On Wednesday afternoon and night, Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadian Orchestra and Dennis Day, star singer from the Jack Benny TV show. On Thursday afternoon and night, the stars will be Myron Floren and lovely Jo-Ann Castle from the Lawrence Welk TV show. Friday afternoon and night the one and only Frank Fontaine as "Crazy Guggenheim," from the Jackie Gleason show. Each afternoon and night there will be eight big international outstanding vaudeville acts. The highlight of each evening will be Frank Wirth's spectacular broadway revue on the mammoth covered stage. On Saturday afternoon and night an action packed thrill show by Jack Kochman's Hell Drivers with plenty of thrills, chills, and spills.

Both harness and running races will be presented every afternoon, Tuesday through Friday, on the fast half-mile track. The ever popular shows and rides will provide diversion for pleasure seekers on the miles of paved midways.

Better plan now to attend this the greatest of all fairs in the east. The York Interstate Fair is on tented nationally for its fine entertainment, exhibits and hospitality. Don't miss it, Sept. 10 thru 14, day and night.

County College Enrollment Up

Approximately 300 full and part-time students are expected to attend classes at the Frederick Community College this year. This is a 10 to 12 per cent increase in enrollment compared with last year, said Duval W. Sweadner, president of the junior college.

A meeting of the admission committee is scheduled Friday at 1:30 p.m. at the college. On Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m., Dr. James A. Sensenbaur, superintendent of Frederick County schools, will speak at a meeting of the college faculty in the school library. Dr. Sensenbaur attended educational workshops at Harvard University and the University of Georgia this summer and will speak to the faculty on current issues and problems in education.

A testing session for all full-time freshmen will be held Tuesday at 1:30 in room 222 of the school. The tests are designed to enable the college to give better guidance to the students.

Registration is set for Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. for all new students. All current students will register between 4 and 9 p.m. on Thursday. Regular classes are slated to start September 9.

Named Chairman

The Executive Board of the Maryland Synod of the Lutheran Church in America has announced that the Synodical Committee on Worship will be Chairman by the Rev. W. Ronald Fearer, Pastor of Elias Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg.

The committee will begin its official work today with a meeting that will be held at the Maryland Synod House in Baltimore. Others named to Pastor Fearer's committee are the Rev. Eugene Gardner, Rivera Beach, Md.; Rev. Fred Gross of Hagerstown; Rev. Roland Ries of Silver Run, Md.; Mrs. Grace Brame of Wilmington, Delaware; Miss Mary Rehmeier of Baltimore and Mr. Charles Whitten of Silver Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Brewer and children, Eddie, Terry and Timmy, and Kirk Henning, and also Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Poole and daughter, Kimberly Ann, made a trip Sunday to Shepton, Pa., where the recent mine disaster was outside Hazelton.

Three miners were trapped and two were rescued. They also made a return trip to the Pioneer Tunnel at Ashland, Pa., which is a mine open to tourists.

SIX HURT IN CRASH

Six persons were injured and damage totaled $2,900 when three cars collided Friday morning at 6:16 o'clock on the Sunshine Trail about two miles west of the Zora intersection.

State police said Evelyn M. Carson, 52, Lewisberry Rd., was driving east in a 1958 sedan when she saw a Gettysburg Shoe Company bus halted on the road ahead to pick up employees. She brought her vehicle to a halt behind the bus.

Joyce Elaine Mess, 31, Highfield, was driving a 1962 station wagon east, with four passengers, headed for the Gettysburg Shoe Co. where some are employed and some were going to seek jobs.

She was slowing her station wagon to stop behind the Carson car when a third vehicle, a 1958 coupe operated by Larry E. Minnick, 28, 50 Clayton Ave., Waynesboro, also going east, struck the rear of the station wagon driving it into the rear of the halted car.

Minnick and five persons from the station wagon were removed to the Warner Hospital in the Emmitsburg, Blue Ridge Summit and Waynesboro ambulances.

Mrs. Mess suffered bruises of the right shoulder and right forearm. Pauline Burkhardt, 50, Highfield, suffered fractures of the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh ribs on the left side and the fifth, sixth and seventh ribs on the right side, plus contusions and abrasions of the knee. She was admitted as a patient by the hospital.

Paul E. Biddle, 19, Hagerstown, suffered a fracture of the nose, contusions and abrasions of the scalp, neck and knees. He was treated and discharged.

Dorothy Toms, 17, Cascade, and Katie Curry, 18, Blue Ridge Summit, were admitted as patients for observation of head injuries. All five were occupants of the station wagon.

Larry Minnick, driver of one of the other cars, suffered a fracture of the fifth and sixth ribs of the right side, and a laceration of the forehead. He was admitted as a patient by the hospital.

Damage was estimated by police at $2,500 to the station wagon, and $200 to the Minnick car, both of which were described as demolished, and $200 to the Carson vehicle.

The Fountaindale Fire Company was called to clear the road of glass and gasoline.

Grange Show For Thurmont

The Thurmont Grange and Future Farmers of America Community Show will be held at the Thurmont High School September 20 and 21 in which approximately $400 in prizes will be given away.

Entries must be taken to the school September 19 from 7 to 9 p.m. and September 20 from 8 to 11:30 a.m. There are twenty departments in which there will be exhibits: fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, canned fruits, canned vegetables, jellies and preserves, pickles, baked products, meats, handwork-crocheting, needlework, sewing, embroidery, knitting, flowers, corn, small grains and seeds, hay, nuts, poultry, eggs, antiques, commercial, home products display, and miscellaneous.

Only exhibits grown by the exhibitor will be eligible for a prize, and exhibits and antiques out of the community will not be eligible for judging.

Judging will take place on Friday from 1 to 5 p.m. There will also be two $10 awards for the best ears of corn, given by the DeKalb and Pioneer Seed Corn Companies.

There are no fees, admission or charges for entering exhibits or attending the show activities, but a silver offering will be received.

The purpose of the show is so designed as to furnish information by a display of better production and improvement methods and to encourage greater care and development of better skills in production.

The Community Show is sponsored by the Thurmont Grange in cooperation with the Maryland State Fair Board and the Thurmont High School Future Farmers of America Chapter.

It is a non-profit enterprise. Any money over and above actual expenses will be applied to the promotion of next year's show.

Win Ribbons

Karl Smith, Jr. and Ronald Smith, both of Rocky Ridge, had the second and third-place ram lambs, respectively, at the recent Timonium Fair judging. Another Rocky Ridge youth, Ralph Keholtz, Jr., had the second-place ewe lamb.

Phelan Renews Contract As Coach

James J. Phelan, popular basketball mentor of Mount St. Mary's College will commence his tenth consecutive year at the helm of the Mountaineer court squad, it has been learned.

Looking forward to the new basketball season, Jim anticipates a good season but he warns that he expects difficulties and figures he lost an average of 50 points per game by last year's graduation.

Phelan's prospects are rather bright for the coming season though because he has nine experienced members returning from last year's squad. They are: Seniors Mike Costello, Tom Wahl and Dave Spewak; Juniors Ed Folk, Lou Martine; Sophomores John Carroll, Bernie Haag, Fran Fennerly and Mike Johnston. In addition Phelan plans to use former star Jack Campbell who is returning after a year's absence.

These freshmen will round out Phelan's 1963 team: Mike Lyons, St. Peter's, New Brunswick, N. J.; Ed Samir, Allentown Central Catholic, Allentown, Pa., and Pete Johnston. Bishop Eustace High, Pennsauken, N. J.

The Mountaineers face a rugged 22-game schedule for the coming season and two new opponents have been added to the card. They are Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W. Va., and Westminster College, perennial champions of the Western Pennsylvania area. Twelve home games are carded for the Phelanmen and the season's opener will be with St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in the Quaker City, on November 30.

Rumors were prevalent during the summer that Phelan would leave the Mount and it wasn't certain until just recently that he would come to terms with the local college. Phelan admits he had several attractive offers from other sources but made up his mind to stay here where he likes the country, the people, the community and the schools.

Local Garage And Lions Club Sponsors Kick, Pass, Punt Contest

Emmitsburg area grade school boys from eight through 11 can pit their football skills against thousands of other boys throughout the nation in the Third Annual Punt, Pass and Kick Competition which will culminate with a trip to Washington, D. C., for a White House tour, then to Dearborn, Mich., and then an appearance at the National Football League championship game for the top eight winners.

Sponsored nationally by the Ford Division of Ford Motor Co. and the National Football League, the Punt, Pass and Kick Program—PP&K—will be staged in Emmitsburg by Sperry Ford Sales with the Emmitsburg Lions Club as co-sponsor.

Emmitsburg youths will be tested for their ability to punt, pass and kick (using a kicking tee) footballs on the same day as thousands of other boys all over the country, with warm-up jack-eggs, football helmets and autographed footballs to be given as first, second and third prizes for each age group, or four top Emmitsburg winners in all. Scores throughout the state then will be compared to determine the four top Emmitsburg winners, and these scores compared to determine the most skillful eight, nine, ten and eleven year-old fledgling football stars in each of the areas covered by the telecasts of the 14 National Football League teams.

Area winners and their fathers and mothers will receive all-expense-paid trips to a National League game in their area and will compete during half-time to determine the four top Eastern Division winners and four top Western Division winners. These eight boys, accompanied by their parents, will visit Washington, D. C., where they will tour the White House. They will then travel to Dearborn, Mich., and tour Greenfield Village. The entire group then will go to the site of the NFL championship game, for half-time competition to determine the four national winners.

John S. Hollinger, sales manager for Sperry Ford Sales, points out there is no body contact necessary in the competition, no charge for entering and no special equipment needed. Registration will be open from September 3 through October 11, Hollinger said. Sperry Ford Sales will be the place to register.

"In 1962, the second year of the PP&K Program, 431,921 boys entered the competition," Hollinger said, "and President Kennedy said 'Programs of this type will enable our youth to build the energy and strength that is their American heritage.'"

Mr. Hollinger said entrants will be judged on the distance and accuracy of their punting, passing and kicking (using a kicking tee), with points awarded for each foot of distance the ball travels on the fly and subtracted for each foot the ball lands to the right or left of a center line. The Emmitsburg competition will be held at Community Field on Sunday, October 13.

Any ties in the Emmitsburg competition will be played off on the day of competition, and ties for top spot in the state and area standings will be played off at special contests. State winners will receive trophies, and area winners will receive complete junior-type football uniforms of the NFL team in their region, and the uniforms worn when the winners compete during NFL half-time ceremonies to determine the Divisional champions.

Lacerates Finger

Karl J. Orndorff, 41, Emmitsburg R2, was treated at the Annie Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Saturday, for lacerations of a finger suffered while grinding feed.

Since Phelan took over the reins nine years ago he has compiled an enviable record of averaging 20 wins against seven losses per season.

The popular LaSalle and Quantico Marine star won the Coach of the Year Award for small colleges in the NCAA back in 1962. Last season his team reached the Regional NCAA Playoffs at Reading and his log in NCAA play is 14-13. His squads have won first place once, third once and fourth once.

One of Phelan's biggest accomplishments was winning the Mason-Dixon Conference crown six times in nine years and his team is the present reigning champion.

County Adopting New Fiscal Year

A new budget request procedure is being initiated for the county in order to give the County Commissioners sufficient time for "careful analyzing" of budget requests, it was announced last week by Randolph B. Rosencrantz, clerk to the county commissioners and Donald C. Linton, county accountant, who have jointly worked out the procedure.

All department heads and others who receive county funds will have to submit two budget requests—one for money necessary to carry them through the six-month period prior to the change-over to the fiscal year; and one for the fiscal year which will be in effect July 1, 1964.

September 13 has been set as the deadline for submitting budget requests for the "short" period—January 1, 1964 to June 30, 1964.

November 1 has been set as the deadline for submitting tentative budget requests for the "long" year—July 1, 1964 through June 30, 1965.

From October 14 to 18, department heads will be given appointments to meet with the County Commissioners to go over the budget requests for the six-month period.

November 18-22, public hearings will be scheduled on final budget requests for the six-month period.

Early next year the Commissioners will schedule public hearings and take final action on the fiscal year budgets.

This is the first time that the county has attempted a standardized procedure in budgeting.

The Commissioners felt the need for more time to analyze the budget requests in order to see that the taxpayers get the "best value for the dollar," it was pointed out.

It is planned to study in detail each request and to check past expenditures and benefits derived from these expenditures.

During the weeks that will be spent on the budget, the Commissioners also plan to study in detail the sources of revenue and requested expenditures in order to better estimate expenditures and needs prior to setting the tax rate for 1964.

Work on the new budget procedures and the standardizing of forms have been thoroughly investigated by county officials, including research which involved comparisons with other counties. Local accountant Lloyd Fogle was instrumental in assisting county officials with setting up the new procedures, when he served temporarily as county accountant after the new board of Commissioners was elected.

In instituting the new procedures the county officials have requested that all department heads study the budget procedures and "to feel free" to make suggestions for the most effective money procedure for the county.

The changeover to a fiscal year for all counties was ordered by the last session of the Legislature. A desirable procedure, it will now put all counties on the same budget status as the state and federal government; and also eliminate the short period of time that commissioners, after an election, have to prepare for a new year which had been the case in this county.

Extra Grazing Land Opposed

Proposed legislation to allow livestock to graze on land retired from production of crops has been termed "illogical as cutting off one's hand to save a finger."

A. Kenneth Miller, executive secretary, Maryland Farm Bureau, elaborated on his statement by pointing out that grazing of Conservation Reserve land can only add to the current livestock and dairy over-supply situation that exists today.

On Capitol Hill there is a debate about the wisdom of this proposal as contained in U. S. Department of Agriculture's recommended legislation. It was recently approved by the U. S. House Agriculture Committee by the narrow margin of 17-16.

If passed by Congress, it would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into agreements to convert the acreage now in the Conservation Reserve Program into the "Land Use Adjustment Program," thus providing that these acres could be brought back into pasture land for grazing, reforestation, recreation and habitats for wildlife.

At the end of this year, over 2,200,000 acres of land will come back into production unless action is taken by Congress for an extension of the present land retirement contracts.

Farm Bureau is working for such an extension through the cropland retirement provision of their wheat and feed grain legislative proposals. This approach would give the Secretary of Agriculture the authority to extend such contracts for three years under a competitive bid basis. There would be a continued prohibition against grazing or harvesting.

Chest X-Ray Use Increased

Eight hundred more persons received chest x-rays this year than in 1962 in the mass x-ray survey, reports Mrs. Freda Doll, executive director of the Frederick County Tuberculosis and Public Health Association.

A total of 9,027 area residents took advantage of the services of the x-ray mobile unit which ended its six-week survey Thursday.

The survey for the detection of tuberculosis and other chest ailments.

normalities was sponsored by the Frederick County Tuberculosis and Public Health Association and the Frederick County Health Dept.

Serving On USS Worden

Nevin C. Staub, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy F. Staub, Rocky Ridge, is serving aboard the guided missile frigate USS Worden which was commissioned at the Boston Naval Shipyard, Charlestown, Mass., Aug. 3. The 7,000-ton Worden is the third of the Leahy class guided missile frigates which carries "Terrier" missile launchers forward and aft.

In addition to her pair of dual "Terrier" surface-to-air missile launchers, Worden carries anti-submarine rocket (ASROC) weapons, conventional three-inch anti-aircraft guns and torpedo tubes. She is equipped with a helicopter landing platform and the latest search and detection equipment for use against enemy air and underwater targets.

MUSIC MASTERS

WOODY HERMAN: BIG BAND

Celebrating his twenty-fifth year in the music business, Woody Herman is very much on the 1963 scene with a big band that's both new and NEWS!

Woody Herman has assembled what critics judge to be his best band to date and with the most exciting new jazz sound to break the Big Band barrier. The brass is brilliant, the trumpets blast as one, the saxes are loose and easy and the rhythm section has a fantastic, contagious drive. The band has its live audiences stomping, and cheering wildly.

Solid bookings have kept the Herman Band on the move since it was formed less than a year ago and SRO audiences from the Metropole in New York to Basin Street West in Los Angeles are creating a great swell of enthusiasm from coast to coast for the new Herman sound.

A new legion of Herman fans has been caught up in the excitement of this big new band and the sales of Herman lp's for Woody Herman Philips Records reflect a market for his product far beyond the jazz buffs. His new album, "Encore: Woody Herman 1963" is enjoying outstanding action as have his other Philips releases scoring high on jazz and pop charts.

The man with the clarinet and business man's air has hit the eye in the needle in a climate known for its unfriendliness to the big band sound. In an era of trios and small groups, the big Woody Herman Band is blasting a happy music and cutting an explosive swath across the country gathering fans in its wake.

As recently as 1961, deaths from measles officially reported in the United States totaled 510. However, it has been estimated that instead of the 400,000-to-500,000 cases annually reported, the actual number has probably been eight to ten times as large. There may also be a number of additional deaths attributable to measles but reported as caused by other diseases.

In any event, this "plague of childhood" couldn't possibly disappear too soon for the common good. Is its first cousin, German measles, also fated to succumb? Unfortunately, that will have to take a little longer. "Unfortunately" because of the especially pernicious effect it can have on women whom it strikes in the early months of pregnancy—the damage it may visit on their unborn children.

Yet the day of its defeat, too, may not be very far off. For the German measles virus was isolated a little more than a year ago, and the development of an effective vaccine can reasonably be hoped for in the not-too-distant future.

Out, Darned Spots! With measles vaccines fully developed and Government-licensed, one more contagious disease can fairly be described as on its way to being "scratched" from the list. This may be even better news than is commonly realized. For measles neper deserved its popular reputation as "just a nuisance," to be faced and gotten over with

by Vant Neff

The latest Soviet world-rocker is their refusal to pay their share to the United Nations. Not only is this a direct refutation of the Charter, which calls for the suspension of any member more than two years in arrears, but it is a disclosure before the whole world that, if the expended funds represent the maintenance of peace and order, the Soviets are against it.

All is not outgoing from Russia to Cuba. The Soviets buy Cuban sugar at a great deal under world prices. Regardless of whether they use some of it at home or sell most of it on the world market, at today's prices, the Soviets reap upwards of $150,000,000 of that nasty word "profit."

It takes time, but the world is beginning to know that not only is there no single Communist country (including Russia) which is prosperous and well-fed... but no country has received Soviet aid without "hooks in it". That's been true in Indonesia, Egypt, Latin America, Africa... everywhere the Russians have delivered their shoddy merchandise, for the materials they demand in return.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wrote it so well in the Saturday Evening Post, on "Wild Federal Spending", and I take the liberty of quoting it here, verbatim: "If we keep headed in this direction, we may soon have to find a new term, perhaps "dollar-ette", to describe accurately the buying power of our monetary unit"... "Were I a younger man, planning for the best possible future for my family, and looking forward to eventual retirement, I would bitterly resent the effrontery of the politicians who so blithely plan to experiment with the future value of my savings, my insurance, and my pension."

There may be some good reason why the Garment Workers' International Union objects to having its own workers, who administer the Union's activities, organize themselves in a union. Or, maybe they just can't take their own medicine.

A U-2 plane flies over Russia and it is shot down... over Cuba, and it's shot down. A helicopter wanders over the Korean lines and is shot down. Will somebody please explain why Soviet Radar boats, inside the 3-mile limit off Cape Canaveral, Florida, and real close in other tests, are treated so politely by our own Armed Forces?

Harry Bridges, boss of the International Longshoremen's Warehouse Union, still advocates and openly works for trade and cooperation with Red China, and friendships with the very Communist countries who are all working to bury us. Granted that, in our free society, there is relatively little that the Government can do about it, but what in the world is wrong with the rank and file of Harry Bridges' own union?

A sign of the times is the shrinking membership in unions throughout the country. Is this a rejection of the union's uninspired leadership... resentment that salaries are being clipped for union dues... or just plain disillusionment with the "pie-in-the-sky" promises of union leaders?

One of our great peace-time showpieces is the nuclear ship, Savannah. It cost $80,000,000. It was built to show the whole world our "Atoms for Peace" Program. Now it won't sail... the reason?... labor conflict. And, worst of all, an inter-union battle. Of course, this disturbs you, but imagine the ridicule to which this subjects us, and the impotent administration of this country, in the eyes of the world.

At this writing, Tony "Pro" Provenzano, leader of the Teamsters Local 509, and close friend of the International President, James Hoffa, has been tried and found guilty of shaking down a transportation company for $17,000. Tony "Pro" was opposed for leadership in the Local by Walter Glockner, a shop steward elected on an anti-Provenzano ticket. Walter Glockner was murdered in front of his home. Though it has been reported that Glockner gasped out the names of his killers at this time, no one has been apprehended. Is there any wonder that the public throughout the nation is completely fed up with gangsterism in labor unions? Congress cannot continue to ignore unbridled power-mad labor leaders.

FEDERAL TROOPS SEIZE CHATTANOOGA, KNOXVILLE

By Lon K. Savage

Two of Tennessee's most important cities fell into Federal hands within the first 10 days of September 100 years ago.

They were Knoxville and Chattanooga, the last two large cities in the state to succumb to Federal troops. With their subjugation, almost the whole state of Tennessee was under Federal control.

Knoxville's fall came first, on September 2, and Chattanooga's came a week later. The fall of Chattanooga, vital rail center and gateway to Georgia, the Carolinas and Alabama, was by far the more important. The Confederates abandoned both cities without a fight, but within three months, the two east Tennessee cities would be the center of some of the heaviest fighting of the war.

Burnside's Move

The fall of Knoxville came with relatively little fanfare. General Ambrose Burnside, the man whose fame rests more on his whiskers than on his fighting, engineered the feat.

Since mid-summer, Burnside had been moving down through the mountains of east Kentucky and east Tennessee with a force of troops he had organized under orders from Washington.

A Confederate force of 6000 under General Simon Buckner occupied Knoxville and could have given Burnside a good fight, but that was not to be. For down in Chattanooga, General Braxton Bragg was being threatened by the Federal Army of the Cumberland, 60,000 strong, and felt he needed all the help he could get. So he ordered Buckner to abandon Knoxville and come to his aid in Chattanooga.

When Burnside arrived at Knoxville on September 2, there was nothing for him to do but occupy it—a job he accomplished with ease.

At Chattanooga

At Chattanooga, meanwhile, Bragg was unhappy with his situation. For the past weeks, he had watched while Federal General William S. Rosencrans brought his huge Army of the Cumberland down through the Cumberland mountains from Murfreesboro and Tullahoma to get him.

Rosencrans had done an admirable job of moving; his army had come across the mountains in several columns; slowly and quietly it had circled to the west of Chattanooga, crossed the Tennessee River southwest of the city, and now it was beginning to fan out into the mountains south of the city along the Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama lines.

Bragg was fearful. "A mountain is like the wall of a house, full of rat holes," he petulantly told one of his officers. "The rat lies hidden at his hole ready to pop out when no one is watching. Who can tell what lies hidden behind that wall?" and he gestured to the mountains nearby.

Rosencrans was the rat, he figured, and he, Bragg, couldn't seem to set a proper trap. Instead, Bragg feared Rosencrans would cut him off from Atlanta. Therefore, he pulled out of Chattanooga and marched 30 miles southward to Lafayette, Ga. to wait some more. Next day, September 9, Rosencrans' army began moving into the city.

Rosencrans' secondary objective—the capture of Chattanooga—had been achieved. His primary objective—the destruction of Bragg's army—would prove far more difficult.

Next week: Little Rock Captured.

to the Philadelphia area. References to unexplained baby deaths occur throughout history. There is even one reference in the Book of Kings in the Bible. They continue to appear frequently throughout the world in all social strata of life.

In January of 1961, a group of researchers in Cleveland reported the fact that they were able to isolate viruses in 12 victims out of 48 cases. We were hopeful at that time that a solution to the mystery was found. Unfortunately, since then no one has been able to demonstrate more than a one per cent virus isolation. After working unsuccessfully for three years we have abandoned the theory.

A current theory comes from England where a team of scientists are studying the possibility of an allergy to protein in cows milk in some babies who died in apparent good health. The team checked the level of antibodies in serum taken from the babies and found higher levels than were recorded in normal babies—the theory being that the allergy caused an edema or swelling of the lungs which caused suffocation. Their theory still remains to be proved.

As far as socio-economic factors are concerned one trend seems clear, at least here in Philadelphia. Concentration of crib deaths seems to occur in lower socio-economic levels—in delapidated houses. Negro victims outnumber whites by two to one. Victims range in age between one month and 15 months with the largest number between two and four months. And yet it is not clear what these factors have to do with deaths.

Parents of children who are victims of unexplained deaths naturally have a feeling of despondency and inadequacy. They often blame themselves, as if they had failed in some way to properly care for their loved one. As far as we can tell, care has nothing to do with crib deaths. Parents of such victims can take solace in that to our knowledge there was nothing they could do to prevent the tragedy. It is as if lightning or another catastrophic accident happened without warning and without cause.

Maybe next year some new technique in pathology will unveil new light on Crib Deaths. Until then parents like myself, and I am the mother of ten children must find comfort in the knowledge that science is doing all it can to find the solution.

"Well done, good and faithful servant; you have been faithful over a little, I will set you over much." (Matthew 25:21. RSV.)

A few years ago, the Canadian government returned the "Polish treasures" to the Polish government and people. During World War II, these treasures valued at millions of dollars had been secretly carried out of Poland for safekeeping. After a dangerous voyage they were brought to Canada and stored in a government building in Ottawa.

When they had lain fifteen years in the vault, an expert was asked to examine them. He found they were being damaged simply by lying in the vault. It was felt that they should be restored to use for the people who prized them most the Polish people.

It is not uncommon for people to hide their treasures and neglect using their talents. But talents and treasures are given that they may be used. We are under obligation to contribute to the well-being of our world, for the common good, and for the glory of God.

Prayer

O God, our Father and our Friend, in gratitude we praise Thee because Thou didst invest so generously on our behalf. Thou didst not withhold Thine own Son but freely gave Him up to the death for us all. We thank Thee that by grace we are heirs of that investment. Direct us in Thy service, for Jesus' sake. Amen.

Cancer Society Opens Office In County

The Maryland Division of the American Cancer Society this week announced the official opening of a permanent, full-time office in Frederick County.

Located at 22 South Market Street, Frederick, the office will bring to the citizens of Frederick County the educational and service programs of the American Cancer Society in leukemia and other forms of cancer.

In addition to its intensive research program, which amounts to more than $462,000 in Maryland alone, the American Cancer Society's service program is the heart of the cancer control effort. It most closely touches the patient and the family of the patient, and most deeply involves the time and efforts of the Society's volunteers. The comfort-providing aspects of its patient-aid program helps ease the many problems of the cancer patient and his family.

Anyone wanting information or assistance is requested to call 662-2357, or visit the Market St. office where Mrs. Leon M. Howard, Executive Secretary will be glad to make the services and educational materials of the Society available to them.

Mr. Joseph F. Eisenhower is the General Chairman of the Frederick County Chapter of the American Cancer Society which has for a number of years served the people of Frederick County. Mr. Guy W. Nusz is treasurer and Mrs. F. J. Cook, secretary.

The opening of the Frederick County office is a part of the statewide expansion program of the Maryland Division to insure the services of the American Cancer Society are made known and available to all citizens of the Free State.

Do not try to get ahead of everyone on the highway or you might be leading the procession, horizontally, before long.

The effort to make money often prevents the making of a man.

Mervyn LeRoy is better known as the director and/or producer of some 60-odd of the better-remembered products of Hollywood, ranging from "Little Caesar" to the current hit, "Gypsy." His eleven-year tenure as the president of one of America's glamor race tracks, Hollywood Park, is less well-known, perhaps because he modestly says, "Actually, everyone on the Board is a president. We work together." LeRoy's life reads like a script which today he'd probably hesitate to film because "Horatio Alger" tales are considered "corny." He started out selling newspapers on the streets of Oakland, California; at 17 he was a vaudeville star; at 27 he was a full-fledged Director in Hollywood and recognized as one of the most talented of a talent-packed industry. He survived the appellation "boy wonder" and continues today as one of the film art's greatest craftsmen. Next to producing a fine film, LeRoy likes nothing better than breeding a fine Thoroughbred. LeRoy's affinity for racing is not strange, his father was at one time president of the old Emeryville race track.

The Ancient Enemy

In this day of steel ships protected by the best safety devices that science can invent, the sea still claims 200,000 lives a year.

Nobody knows how much higher the toll might be if it were not for the Inter-Governmental Maritime Consultative Organization (IMCO), the United Nations agency responsible for coordinating worldwide marine safety measures.

At one recent IMCO conference, for example, 54 nations drew up a code of regulations for the use of radar, radio and other 20th century weapons against the sailor's ancient enemy—the sea. The conference also drafted standard, up-to-date procedures for signaling, fire-fighting and nuclear-powered ships.

One of the most valuable maritime safety services is the U.S. Coast Guard's North Atlantic Ice Patrol, financed by international agreement. The patrol, which uses ships and planes to spot dangerous icebergs, was born of one of history's most shocking disasters.

In April, 1912, the liner Titanic sank on her maiden voyage from Southampton to New York when she rammed an iceberg off Newfoundland. Over 1500 passengers and crewmen lost their lives on that fateful night!

Lax practices of the day, long since tightened up in international conferences, were partly responsible for the toll. Another liner which passed within sight of the Titanic's lights did not receive the SOS because the radio operator had gone to bed!

Wheat Growers Urged To Consider Program

Time is short for winter wheat producers to consider how their wheat plantings may affect their participation in the 1964 feed grain program, Chairman William L. Dudley of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, reminded growers this week.

The Chairman said that many wheat farmers in Maryland are also feed grain producers and as a result are eligible to participate in the 1964 feed grain program by diverting feed grain acreage out of production.

He noted the drop in 1964 wheat prices as reflected by the present wheat futures market. Currently, the judgment of the market is a July 1964 Kansas City wheat futures price of around $1.55 per bushel. This price, adjusted to a farm level, reflects a wheat price of about $1.25 to $1.30 per bushel.

A 1964 crop in excess of current disappearance of about 1.3 billion bushels for domestic and export use will undoubtedly put heavy downward pressure on wheat prices, probably forcing prices down to a feed price level as the supply seeks a consumption outlet.

Chairman William L. Dudley pointed out that the 1964 feed grain program has been designed to reduce possible expansion of overall grain acreage. The program provides an effective guide for farmers to follow in keeping their overall crop acreages in 1964 reasonably in line with expected needs.

While the program provides flexibility in enabling farmers to shift acreages among crops not directly under the feed grain program, it also provides for maintaining soil - conserving acreage, including summer fallow and idle land on participating farms at 1959-60 levels. This will tend to limit overall acreage expansion, particularly if substantial numbers of wheat-feed grain producers participate in the program.

At the same time, payments for diverting feed grain acreage to a conserving use, price-support payments on the acreage seeded, and the availability of price support will help maintain income. An added incentive to keep overall grain acreage in check is the boost in the payments to be made for diversion of maximum acreages under the program.

The Chairman urged all farmers in Maryland who intend to seed wheat this fall and who also plant feed grains to look into the possibilities of participation in the 1964 feed grain program before they complete their seeding plans. Even though the feed grain sign-up will not be until early next year, farmers who plan to participate will need to keep their fall-seeded acreage in line with total crop acreage permitted on their farms under the feed grain program.

Social Security News

If you are one of the many people receiving a monthly social security check in this area, you no doubt look forward to its arrival the first week of each month. W. S. King, District Manager of Social Security in Hagerstown, advises that most of the difficulties associated with the late arrival of checks could be avoided if beneficiaries would notify the Social Security Administration well in advance of any change in address.

Here's what you should do in case you change your address. Notify your social security district office just as soon as you know the new address. Remember this: you have to sign the notice of the change in address and it must be reported under your social security claim number. Just your name is not enough.

It's also a good idea to notify the post office of your new address. This gives you "double insurance" that you will get your check promptly. This will permit the post office to forward your check, if there should be a delay in getting the new address listed on the social security records.

The social security office and the post office will not know where you are living unless you tell them. A letter or a call at the social security office will save you time and worry. Better still, it will get your social security check to you at the right time. But remember—any written notice to social security about a new address should contain, in addition to the new address, the old address, the social security number, and the signature of the person receiving benefits.

The Line That Beats The Heat

THE TROUBLE with family vacations, from a fisherman's viewpoint, is that they come during hot weather after the fish have moved into deep water. Dad fishes hopelessly, but usually with poor results. His conventional spinning and bait casting lines simply won't take his lures down where the fish are. The answer? A fast sinking line made especially for deep trolling.

Until recently deep trolling was an exasperating business. Metal lines kinked and snarled on the reel, prohibitively heavy weights were needed for ordinary lines and you were always uncertain as to just how deeply your lure was running. The line was the villain, but that's no longer true. Lines engineered for deep trolling are now available to the hot weather fisherman and these specially designed lines work for, not against, him.

These special purpose lines have an exterior of braided nylon but concealed inside is a core of soft lead. The result is a line that won't kink, one that spools on and off the reel smoothly and handles almost as easily as an ordinary fabric line. But sink? Like a rock!

When selecting one of these lines for deep trolling, insist on one which is "metered" in brightly contrasting colors at 10-yard intervals. There will be a color code decal for attaching to your reel and by glancing at this you can tell exactly how much line you have out at any time. This enables you to experiment at various depths and, better still, to keep your lure at exactly the pay-off level when you locate fish.

Do your deep trolling slowly—just fast enough to give your lure a slow wobble—but spice up the action by "pumping" your rod. And troll with confidence. The fish may have gone deep but they haven't sworn off eating. They will still belt your lure—if you just get it down to 'em.

A good line for deep trolling is Gladding's "Mark Five Special"—the only lead core line with a fly line finish. It's extra easy to handle and reduces friction for especially fast sinking.

Refresh For Fall

With No-Sew Drapery Linings

The casual season is fading fast and Fall formality is just around the corner of the calendar. To avoid height-of-the-season delivery delays, and the need to make hasty last-minute decisions, now is the time for plan-ahead homemakers to cast a critical eye at their own rooms and plan new purchases for the new season.

First thing to come under scrutiny should be draperies, because they're also the first thing visitors see. The wisest choice involves draperies with linings. Soot, dirt, light and weather attack from outdoors; lined draperies insulate against hot-to-cold temperature vagaries, keep soot outside and prevent the fading and fraying of fabrics caused by sunlight deterioration.

The problem has been solved by WundaLiner—a new product that's well worth looking into, for new draperies or refurbishing old ones.

Patented by Cameo Curtains, WundaLiner is made with buttonholes at the top that slip over the same hooks that hold draperies, and clips that fasten the lining to side seams. Easy to install—no sewing is needed—it's made in standard drapery widths and lengths. Each pair lines the two halves of a single-width drapery; the linings can be interlocked for wider widths, or adjusted in length, without sewing.

The easy-on, easy-off feature also means simpler maintenance. The lining, which gets the harder wear and needs more frequent care, can be unbuttoned and washed. Draperies made of modern fibers can be washed separately, where they would require dry cleaning if they were permanently lined.

WundaLiner is made in 30" to 108" lengths, in cotton sateen from $2.49 to $4.99, cotton backed with all-weather aluminum insulation from $2.99 to $5.99 and fiberglass from $3.99 to $6.99. All are available at leading stores. In combination, WundaLiner, plus new draperies, cost far less than most draperies with linings sewn in.

Spending Syndrome

Some philosophical conclusions might be reached from looking at our spending record as a nation during the past generation. That record includes the fact that 27 of the last 33 national budgets have run deficits. From $3.6 billion of federal spending in 1931 our spending has soared to an estimated $93 billion, and so much of this has been borrowed that the federal debt has soared from $16.8 to $305.9 billion. President Kennedy's budget calls for spending $98.8 in the fiscal year that has just begun, a level of spending that will exceed the highest World War II year by a half-billion!

You can decide whether the fact that we continue to spend without paying our debts makes us irresponsible people trying to escape reality, a nation of mad materialists bent on something for nothing, or just heartless spendthrifts wasting the resources of future generations. Whatever way you look at it, it does seem that we must either change our directions or revise our view of certain fundamentals. The alternative would require us to view liabilities as more desirable than assets, debt more useful than credit. Not all of us in this crazy world are going to agree to that! Spend To Be Prosperous?

Nevertheless, there is a new

STANLEY T. BLAKELY
Port Detrick
Frederick, Maryland
VS
ALICE B. BLAKELY
918 Northwest Shephard St., N.W.
Washington, D. C.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The Bill of Complaint is a suit to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Alice B. Blakely.

The Bill recites that the Complainant, Stanley T. Blakely, is a resident of Frederick County, Maryland, being a member of the Armed Forces of the United States, stationed at East Coast Relay Station, Fort Detrick, Frederick, Maryland; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, residing at 918 Northwest Shephard Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.; that the parties to this cause were married on July 17, 1962, at Wilmington, N. C., by Rev. Boykins, a regularly ordained minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage no child or children were born; that between the time of the said marriage and the filing of this Bill of Complaint your Complainant has discovered that the Defendant has committed the crime of adultery in Frederick County, Maryland, with a certain man whose name is unknown to him at the present time; and that since the discovery of said adultery your Complainant has not lived or cohabited with the Defendant as husband and wife, nor has he forgiven or condoned her actions in any way.

The Bill then prays that the Complainant, Stanley T. Blakely, be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Alice B. Blakely, and for such other and further relief as the nature of his case may require.

COURT ORDER
It is thereupon this 19th day of August, 1963, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks before the 14th day of September, 1963, commanding her to be and appear in this Court, in person, on or before the 15th day of October, 1963, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

rel required to spend the U. S. into a whirl of prosperity?

Self-Discipline Needed
From last year's public works program, Idaho, a state well-equipped Congressionally, got 20 times as much as Kansas, where the population is three times that of Idaho. The U. S. Travel Service, which was set up to save dollars for the international balance of payments by promoting tourism in America, spent $14,772 just to develop an insignia. Then it spent more than $400,000 for six foreign offices, in which the remaining $220,000 would be spent. This illustrates the self-defeating nature of whole programs of spending for prosperity.

We may not be able to discipline our balance of payments unless we can also bring other fiscal abuses into line. In fact, our international financial problems should not be treated as a matter apart from our domestic difficulties. The easy money policies we have followed at home have not proved out as a stimulant of economic growth. Our attempts at managing agricultural production, our tolerance of inefficiency and waste, our hesitance to allow industry new machines or to go into automation—these things all play a part in creating the deficits that hurt us all.

Debts Have To Be Paid
We could cut in half our foreign military spending without endangering our security or losing friends. If our spending budget cannot be balanced with income in the midst of peace-time prosperity, just when do we ever expect it to be balanced? The answer is simply that it will remain up-ended as long as our national leaders are dedicated to the philosophy of spending. It is to be fervently hoped that not all of them will embrace the sophisticated spending ideas now being advanced. Let us hope that more of them will see how spending has distorted the economy for a generation, not stimulated it.

Wasteful, non-productive spending will never get us out of our present fiscal difficulties. Loose financial policies can eventually bring us to the very brink of disaster. The deficits, international and domestic, are these to be dealt with. They will not go away. We must develop responsible monetary policies that will recognize the mistakes of past years and get us back to sanity before it is too late.

OUTDOOR SPORTS TIPS

Silent Shells

Why take a chance when that big old buck is pussy footing through the woods toward you—the spare shells in your pocket might clink together. In the silent woods, a slight sound can make a noise like an explosion. Poof! The buck vanishes like magic. Stow shells in "store-bought" cases or wrap with a light rubber band.

Keep Our Powder Dry

Before you put your tackle box away for the last time this fall, sprinkle lures, feathers, rubber skirts, etc. liberally with talcum powder. By absorbing all moisture, rust keeps to a minimum and the first toss overboard next spring washes powder away.

Pleasing Plastic

Remember when saving string was a big thing? Well, today's fisherman is a plastic saver. By keeping an eye out for odd bits of plastic a, supply is built up that adds sex appeal to spoons, feathers, trolling lures of all kinds.

Storing Outboard Motor

To maintain the finish on your outboard motor through the long winter, mix oil and gasoline half and half and spray motor inside and out. Gas evaporates, leaves motor covered with light protective film. Next Spring wash off with detergent and water and you're ready to go.

Hose Holders

Here's an ingenious idea that solves a knotty fishing problem with little work and no expense. There are times when you want to carry your rod to another fishing spot, but don't want to dismantle it. So you put the hook in a guide, tighten the line and get going. But keeping hooks, lines, lures from getting tangled is a headache. And if there are several rods all wrapped together, the situation can get chaotic. One reader solves this problem by cutting small inch-long pieces of rubber hose of the 3/8 or 1/2 inch variety. Each hunk he slices in a long cut that enables the hose to be opened, slipped over rod, line and lure. Natural rubber action closes the hose, holds the whole thing securely. In five minutes you can make a couple dozen hose holders that will last indefinitely. Indefinitely until you lose 'em, that is.

Shooting Stand Of Iron

An old ironing board that folds up for closet storage also will fold up to go in your car's back seat, or trunk. In shooting country, however, along with a folding camp chair it makes an excellent rifle bench rest. A shooting stand of iron, so to speak.

King Size Stringer

One reader (who must be some fisherman) uses a wax sash cord for a stringer. (That part is okay.) Then he tips each end with metal points to slide the fish on easier. So far so good. (Now comes the king size part.) Next step is to stretch the string er from the bow of the boat to the stern. (This guy really thinks big!) Seems then no matter which end you are slaughtering them from, the stringer is right there to hold 'em on. (He's all man, this boy!)

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

Better Teaching Hinges On Education Bill

By U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.)
Chairman, Subcommittee on Education

"If a nation expects to be ignorant and free, in a state of civilization, it expects what never was and never shall be."
—Thomas Jefferson.

The Administration's education bill which I introduced on January 29, 1963, as S. 580, is a comprehensive but selective measure. It is designed, in President Kennedy's words, to provide the Congress with a "combination of elements designed to solve problems that have no single solution."

Although the bill covers many areas of education, it is not a general aid bill. It is a series of specific proposals designed to accomplish specific objectives at every level.

The 24 major provisions of the bill range from a $1 billion loan program for college classrooms to an attack on specific learning problems of handicapped children. It contains a program for vocational training, expanding and improving the George-Barden Act, and it helps states to improve programs of general university extension assistance. It continues existing National Defense Education and impacted area programs and improves the service provided by the Office of Education.

Although our program does not contain scholarship provisions for university students, it does provide work-study opportunities which should help, together with the loan insurance provisions, to ease the financial hardship on families of moderate means. The work-study program not only provides the student a job, it insures that the job is geared to his educational program. The loan insurance brings into the education field the successful program which has made so many Americans home buyers.

Existing programs, such as those carried on under the NDEA, are strengthened and improved. This is particularly true in the fellowship program of Title IV of NDEA. Under S. 580, the number of graduate fellowships would rise from the present 1500 to 10,000. Graduate students need to be trained in all higher education fields so potential college teachers will be available, to train the engineers and scientists our country will need in the coming decades.

One popular provision of the bill is the $50 million a year matching grant program for public junior or community colleges. This program is designed to provide the supporting technical personnel needed by our scientists and engineers in our defense program. The revision of vocational education legislation and programs of matching money for general university extension programs as well as the assistance provided for building public community libraries in our urban centers will give Americans of every age group an opportunity to increase their economic skills through training and study.

The emphasis of the bill throughout is to improve the training of teachers and, in its cooperative research sections, to improve the quality of the education given our young citizens. This is why the bill extends NDEA titles providing for institutes at which teachers can be given refresher training. I pay just tribute to President Kennedy when I say that the President has taken his responsibilities most seriously in sending to the Congress this legislation.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

With the wheat harvest either in, or practically in, it will be most interesting to see what price level will be reached following the wheat farmers' rejection of the proposed plan to reduce acreage and up-hold prices.

It is also interesting to realize that during the voting this year, the program was extended to include those farmers growing 15 acres or less of wheat. C. W. Harder. There were 558,700 so-called "regular" wheat farms, and 733,800 small farms. It is generally believed the small growers defeated the plan.

Actually, no one makes a living from 15 acres of wheat. These growers planted wheat to feed to their poultry or livestock. The government estimates that the number of farmers who took advantage of the previous exemption from controls on 15 acres or less grew from nothing to over a million in ten years.

Obviously, these farmers balked at paying government set prices for feed grains, and they also balked at curtailing their small plantings to force them to buy more feed grain.

Actually, in the past, a few huge corporate farms have been tapping the treasury for the lion's share of the money paid out for surplus wheat. And they could also well afford to take acreage reductions, because their checks from the proposed government plan would have been substantial.

On other hand, government could not continue on the old basis, because every bushel of wheat raised on exempt plantings of 15 acres or less to feed on the farm stock merely resulted on less sales of wheat grown under controls, because more farmers can grow their own feed for less than government supported prices.

Thus, the wheat referendum result may be called the revolt of the independent farmer.

Government, however, is now worried as to the repercussions a flood of low price American wheat may have on foreign nations when the International Wheat Agreement whereby the government is pledged to hold up price on U.S. wheat for export.

This preoccupation with what foreigners will think is not new in history. After Imperial Rome spread all over the then existing world, and "big shots" of the Empire were given big holdings overseas, it became policy, as a means of keeping tranquility in rest of the world, to import grain at prices so low the small Italian farmer could not compete.

So by the thousands the small farmers gave up their plot of land and came to Rome where they lived on a dole. The rest is history. In time the peoples across the waters became restless, anyway, and they moved in to sack a demoralized Rome.

It is possible many wheat farmers know much more about Roman history than many government theorists.

After all, much took place in Rome that teaches lessons in economics long before Elizabeth Taylor arrived there.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses
Job Opportunities Ahead

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 1—My advice to young men and women entering college this fall is not necessarily to major in whatever seems good right now. They should consider, instead, what is likely to look good several years from now—after they get out of school.

Successful Workers Look Ahead

The difference between the college graduate who just holds down a job and the one who gets promoted on a job is that the successful climber knows enough to look ahead. For example, the young man or woman who is a careful planner wants to know first where the road he hopes to take is leading. Better this than to accept what looks like a good job now and be regretful later on. My father told me long ago, and I have told my grandchildren the same thing: The first step in planning a career is to appraise your own interests, values, goals, personality, and abilities. You have got to like the job you're doing, too.

It is a sad and much too common sight to see a fellow butt his head against a wall trying to compete in a position for which he lacks both the proper personality and the basic aptitude. If you want to be a success, develop your assets and do work for which you are fitted and which makes you happy. These steps I feel are essential, but they do not go far enough. All job hunters should investigate, in their search, the probable future expansion and growth of the industries being considered.

Where Our Economy Is Going

Our population right now is close to 190,000,000, and further definite gains lie ahead. More than $7,000,000 are gainfully employed. Our gross national product has climbed to $580 billion, and still further advances are in store over the years ahead. With a shorter working week and more efficient production, our people should receive in wages, interest, and other income about $550 billion by time this year's college entrants graduate in 1967.

Spensible income should grow greater in the coming period, and there should certainly be a continued expansion in consumer spending as a result. This will open ever broader opportunities for those going into advertising and the selling of new products. My forecast assumes, of course, that the international situation will not grow worse and that there will be a generally favorable economic climate so that business can operate without serious disruption.

Looking Toward 1967

Labor costs—both industrial and agricultural—should continue to rise, so give close attention to industries that make labor-saving devices such as materials-handling equipment, conveyors, farm machinery, construction machinery, office machines, and automated processors. Remember, too, that the need for more new roads, hospitals, and schools is bound to boom construction as the population increases. Still further development of new materials will ensure gains in light metals and high-speed alloys. Look also to the chemical industry, which could surpass most other lines as a result of unending research in farm chemicals, drugs, petrochemicals, plastics, and synthetic fibers.

I see no end to the uses of electricity, and output rapidly will move ahead. Both domestic and foreign markets will expand for electrical appliances such as clothes dryers, electric blankets, heaters, dishwashers, television sets, and air conditioners. The market for electronics applications is also very far from saturated. Engineers will be turning out a never-ending array of new products, new materials, and still-undreamed-of gadgets.

Wanted: Sales Experts

Young men and women should note that there will be excellent job chances for those interested in surveying, researching, analyzing, and motivating human wants. College freshmen should now look toward 1967. They should recognize the fact that there will be a still insatiable demand for doctors, nurses, school teachers, and preachers. And, if selling intrigues you, that may be the best 1967 job of all!

U. S. Population

Jumps 5 A Minute
The population of the United States is increasing at the rate of one million persons every 135 days, or about five a minute, reports the Census Bureau. If this rate continues, the country will pass the 190-million mark late this year and reach 200 million by 1967. Estimates are based on birth and death rates and immigration and migration statistics.

Echo II, a larger and stronger version of the first U. S. balloon communications satellite, is a 135-foot-diameter mylar plastic bag coated with aluminum. It will be launched into an orbit some 700 miles from earth later this year and should be clearly visible at dawn and dusk. Echo I, launched Aug. 12, 1960, is torn and almost deflated but still aloft. . . . Snake bite kills at least 40,000 people a year, the World Health Organization estimates. Perhaps 70 per cent of the fatalities occur in Asia where, WHO says, every kind of poisonous snake can be found. If 2,500 varieties, only 200 are considered dangerous to humans.

Dutch elm disease has left many unsightly stumps marring the landscape. Forestry experts at Syracuse University suggests the use of decaying wood of the same species to get rid of them. Inserted into bored holes, the fungi grows and speeds the breakdown of the stump for easy removal. . . . Overhead supply units for use in connection with heart surgery, a growing technique in U. S. hospitals have been introduced by National Cylinder Gas, Chicago. The Maysco units, one for the heart-lung machine operator, the other for the anesthesiologist, carry all supply lines (water, electricity, gases, intercom) eliminating the usual tangle of cables from the floor of the cardio-vascular operating room. Results: greater cleanliness, minimized clean-up time and reduced danger of infection.

EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley

THE RETINA OF THE EYE

The back of the eye has the nerve endings of the optic nerve and this portion is called the retina. It is the inner coat of the eye. The retina changes light stimulation through the optic nerve for interpretation so that we can see.

The image on the retina may be blurred or it may be clear. The clearer it is, the sharper your vision. If the eye is out of focus, you may be hyperopic, which means far-sighted, and the image falls behind the retina. If this image falls in front of the retina you are near-sighted. When you have astigmatism one focus may fall in front of and the other in back of the eye. It is important this image be clear and this is the purpose of the crystalline lens which controls the focus of the eye. If this crystalline lens cannot maintain focus, auxiliary lenses are needed in the form of spectacles or contact lenses.

There are many other factors that must be considered beside the sharpness of the retinal image. If the prescribed lens is not comfortable, or the eyes cannot work together, you may have more problems. The two eyes together may have a different measurement than one eye alone. The two eyes must be considered a team and measured that way.

The National Eye Research Foundation advises us to have regular eye examinations in order to protect our most prized possession.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The Bill of Complaint is a suit to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Rosetta Virginia Jackson.

The Bill recites that the Complainant, Sylvester Leroy Jackson, is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where he has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, whose last known address was 152 W. 84th Street, Apt. 3E, New York 24, New York; that the parties to this cause were married in May of 1960, in Frederick, Maryland, by Rev. ## Army's Versatile Skycrane Helicopter can be on the market for beekeepers who wish to chase their charges away while collecting honey. . . . The world's smallest and probably oldest planetarium—a sphere 15 feet in diameter—has been an attraction for 58 years at the Chicago Academy of Sciences. The rotating globe is also the only perforated planetarium in America. To the audience seated in the dark on tiny chairs (capacity is 16), the bright points of light from the outside appear as celestial bodies.

GIANT FLYING CRANE—Shown unloaded and carrying a detachable van, the U. S. Army's new CH-54A helicopter, the SKYCRANE, possesses a wide range of capabilities. Its primary missions include the transport of vans or pods to serve as repair shops, command, post or hospital units; as well as retrieval of aircraft and missiles, and transport and placement of bridge spans. The CH-54A is manufactured by Sikorsky Aircraft.

Hogs get ulcers from "cited" living conditions, according to Dr.

B. G. Harmon of the University of Illinois. They're still raised on farms, of course, but some spend their lives jammed inside buildings with concrete floors like apartment dwellers. The swine nutrition specialist says he doubts that pigs had ulcers when they so to root for themselves in the woods.

Togetherness Outdoors

Like any other red-blooded American family, we like to take our comfort outdoors during the warm months—and that means a whole season of barbecue meals at poolside.

Our rugged, stainless steel grill is a chef's delight. It's not only a dandy cookstove and breeze-easy to clean, but dew and drizzle couldn't corrode it if they tried. Stainless stays pretty at a party, too; its prosperous glow gives status even to our hot-dog cookery.

Before washing removable barbecue grill, stainless tools and skewers, according to advice from Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, it is well to soak the equipment briefly in hot soapy water. Your stainless barbecue hood will take kindly to a little fine scouring powder on a sponge-grease comes off with a wipe.

Over 250,000 homeowners this year are enjoying swimming pools in the backyard. I'm sure many of them, like us, welcome the convenience of corrosion-resistant stainless steel for handsome, low-maintenance ladders, diving board stands, platforms and all metal pool accessories.

BATTLEFIELD JUMP FOR ARMIES CONFERENCE—Paratroopers of the U.S. Army Forces Southern Command's 193d Infantry Brigade drop into a simulated battlefield during a special demonstration of the U.S. Army's counterinsurgency capabilities. The airborne, mechanized, and amphibious attack at Venado Beach, Fort Kobbe, C.Z., was part of a demonstration for delegates of 17 American countries attending the Fourth Annual Conference of the American Armies at Fort Amador in the Canal Zone. The paratroopers are members of the 193d's 3d Battalion, 508th Airborne Infantry.

Baltimore Bullets Reveal Ticket Plans

The Baltimore Bullets this week announced basketball ticket plans to fit every Marylander's sports pocketbook.

General Manager Paul Hoffman announced four different plans, three of them covering 11 games and one covering the full 38 game home schedule. Each plan involves a bonus game or games.

Each plan will enable Bullet fans to see every team in the National Basketball Association at least once.

The largest plan covers the 38 game home schedule. Fans who purchase season tickets on that basis will get a bonus of six free tickets.

The other three plans cover the three basic days of the week on which the club will play at home. The ticket buyer pays for 10 games on these plans, and gets the opening game against the defending World Champion Boston Celtics and the great Bill Russell on Oct. 16, as a bonus game.

"Plan A" includes ten Wednesday night games and one Thursday game. On this plan fans can see the champion Celtics three times.

"Plan B" covers five Saturday games, three Wednesday games, one Thursday and two Friday games. Defending Western Division champion Los Angeles, sparked by its two all-pro stars, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, appears twice on this plan.

"Plan C" includes all of the Bullets six Sunday games, five of them afternoon games, as well as three Saturday's one Wednesday and a Thursday game.

Hoffman also announced that tickets can be purchased on four different charge accounts. They are the Diner's Club, the Charge-It Plan, Equitable Trust, and the Bullet Budget Plan.

Lutheran Women Plan Activities

The Lutheran Church Women of Emmitsburg will begin its Fall season on Thursday, September 12 with a meeting scheduled for 7:30 in the Parish House.

The guest speaker for the meeting will be the Reverend John C. Stiff, D.D. Dr. Stiff is Pastor-Superintendent of the National Lutheran Home for the Aged in Washington, D. C., and will give an illustrated talk using colored slides. Following Dr. Stiff's presentation, there will be a question and answer period concerning various phases of life at the National Lutheran Home for the Aged.

Also highlighting the evening will be the official presentation of the office Charter to the LCW at Elias Church by the Reverend W. Ronald Fearer, Pastor. Serving as new officers of the LCW, the official women's organization of the Lutheran Church in America, are: President, Mrs. Charles A. Harner; vice president, Mrs. George Eyster; secretary, Mrs. A. W. McGeary; and treasurer, Mrs. Charles Linn.

Fall Activities For Lutheran Youth

Sunday evening, September 8, will mark the beginning of the youth activities for the Fall and Winter months for the young people at Elias Lutheran Church. Luther League, which is the official youth organization for young people between the ages of 12 and 25, will meet at 5:00 p.m. for an outdoor fellowship supper. The group will also have a Worship Service and a period of recreation which will be followed by the viewing of the 16mm color-sound film, "Time and Eternity."

The new officers for the Luther League will be installed during the Worship Service on Sunday morning by Rev. W. Ronald Fearer, Pastor. They are: President, Ronald Reaves; vice president, Renfred Zepp; secretary, HOLLACE Imbler; and treasurer, Clyde Hahn. The officers and two other Luther League members, Grace Zepp and Gary Reaves, represented Elias Church last weekend at the annual Labor Day Luther League Convention held on the Gettysburg College Campus.

Knights Meet

Grand Knight Lumen F. Norris presided at the regular meeting of Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, held Monday night in the Council Home on the Square.

Arthur Elder and Cy Haley, co-chairmen of the recent crab feast reported the affair a social and financial success. Approximately $171 was netted from the affair.

A thank-you note was received from President and Mrs. Kennedy for a sympathy card sent them during the recent death of their baby son. Also a thank-you note from the Hagerstown Council was read. Tickets to the Charity Ball in Baltimore on Oct. 12 were distributed by District Deputy Paul A. Keepers.

Carl A. Wetzel, six-point program chairman, named his standing committees for the year. Ballooning on the Knight of the Year candidate took place at the meeting and the results will be announced later.

Regional Meeting Scheduled By Several Industries

The first Western Maryland Regional Planning Conference, featuring round-table discussions on a variety of planning and zoning subjects, will be held Sept. 14 at the Morris Frock American Legion Post in Hagerstown.

The conference, according to the Maryland State Planning Department, will be devoted solely to the interests of Western Maryland and will gear its presentation and discussion to the unique economic and geographic characteristics of the region.

Keynote speakers for the all-day meeting will be Congressman Charles McC. Mathias Jr. and Harry A. Boswell, chairman of the Dept. of Economic Development in the state. The workshop is sponsored by the State Planning Department and Planning and Zoning Commissions of Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington Counties. The Potomac Edison System, Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. and Western Maryland Railway helped to plan the conference.

Many county and city officials, professional planners, engineers, architects and attorneys will act as panelists on such subjects as planning organization, planning and zoning administration, the Federal planning assistance program, subdivision layout, industrial development, community facilities programming and budgeting and many others.

The conference will be especially valuable to those communities that do not have planning and zoning programs but which are interested in investigating the possibility of establishing such a program. The workshop opens at 9:30 a. m. and is scheduled to close at 3:30 p. m.

A crab and shrimp feed was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Joy, Saturday, Aug. 31. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joy; Mr. and Mrs. John Joy and daughter, Debby; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Joy and daughters, Karen and Cathy; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Joy and daughter, Sandra; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Joy and children, Denise, Perry, Barry and Lorry; Mr. Kenneth Joy, Mr. Patrick Joy; Lt. and Mrs. Michael Joy and daughter, Julia; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henke and Yvonne and Robert; Mrs. William Martin and Bruce Martin; and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Joy.

Mrs. Frances Stinson has returned to her home here after a week's vacation at Stone Harbor, N. J.

1st. Lt. and Mrs. Michael Joy and daughter, Julia, returned Labor Day to Jacksonville, N. C., after spending the weekend visiting relatives. Lt. Joy is stationed at Camp Lejeune.

Miss Rebecca Chrismer has returned to New York City after spending Labor Day weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Chrismer.

On August 30, 1963, Miss Pearl Neiman of The Emmitsburg Beauty Shop and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith of the Beagle Apts., drove approximately 650 miles through Virginia, West Virginia and Tennessee to the Great Smoky Mountains. Route 11, taken all the way, was extremely good traveling and had many excellent motel accommodations. After a short stay near the Smokies, they journeyed home by way of the Skyline Drive which attracts many tourists. The highest elevation was 3,680 feet and many lookout stations were provided for breath-taking views of the Shenandoah Valley. On the way to Front Royal, they also stopped at the famous Luray Caverns. The Emmitsburgians had an unforgettable trip and a safe return.

License Issued

A marriage license has been issued by the clerk of court to William Robert Van Brakle, Emmitsburg, and Eva Ingrid Dummer, Emmitsburg, formerly of Leipzig, Germany.

A Report To America

The nuclear test ban treaty, already agreed to by the Soviet Union and Great Britain, is currently being discussed by the U.S. Senate.

Arguments for ratification of the treaty can be summed-up in five basic points:

- The treaty represents the first step to halt the perilous international arms race, and is therefore progress toward peace.
- The treaty is a step toward freeing the world from the fears and dangers of radioactive fallout.
- The pact is, in the words of President Kennedy, "a step toward preventing the spread of nuclear weapons to nations not now possessing them."
- "This treaty," continued Mr. Kennedy, "can limit the nuclear arms race in ways which on balance will strengthen our security far more than continuation of unrestricted testing."
- Funds saved by the cessation of testing can be used for peaceful purposes.

The Citizens Committee for a Nuclear Test Ban believes that the treaty represents extremely significant progress towards world peace and urges you to write your senator indicating your approval of ratification of the treaty.

New Fluoride Supplement Improves Dental Health

NEW YORK, N. Y. (CFN) — Despite 18 years of water fluoridation and more than 8,000 published scientific reports proving that it safely reduces tooth decay, most U.S. communities still do not fluoridate their water.

the U.S. Public Health Service, and the World Health Organization.

Until recently, children in nonfluoridated areas were unable to get enough fluoride in their diet to have any great effect on reducing the number of cavities. To fill this need pharmaceutical science has developed an effective fluoride supplement formula known as Vi-Daylin w/Fluoride.

Vi-Daylin w/Fluoride is a chewable candy-like tablet that not only contains fluoride but also all the vitamins that children normally need.

Dental authorities say, however, that a vitamin-fluoride supplement is only one step in a proper cavity-reduction program. The following three steps should be taken also:

Have children brush teeth regularly and thoroughly three times a day, if possible.

Schedule and keep regular medical and dental appointments.

Control the amount of sweets and sugar your children eat, and avoid between-meal treats.
