BY ABIGAIL

A new spark of life in the old town was registered this week when the two colleges opened for another academic year. Quiet during the summer months, activity was generated early this week when almost 1400 collegians took up residence here once more. This just about doubles the normal size of the population here and it provides a welcome spurt in the economy of the community. With the explosion in population Emmitsburg for the next nine months will consist of approximately 2800 residents. The students buy clothes, maintain cars, purchase drugs and other useful hygienic articles, eat food, attend movies, bowl, etc. We are indeed fortunate to have the colleges as an integral part of our community.

Two old landmarks on the Square were removed this week and I must admit it is a considerable improvement. The face-lifting was effected when two old trees in front of the former Houck property were cut down. This leave just one more on the Square and this one probably will remain there for some time, more than likely for the purpose of holding up some of our tired unemployed gents. There are quite a few other trees that have been condemned and it is hoped to have them all removed in the near future. Many of them are dead and have been for some time, others representing traffic hazards.

For three weeks now Emmitsburg has been without an official policeman and Council still is in a dilemma over the situation. It is understood that five applications for the job were received but no decision as to Chief Law's successor has been made at this writing. The citizenry expects an answer very shortly, boys.

It is generally known that a vacancy will exist on our County School Board within the next six months and it is not a bit too soon to start looking for candidates from this community, or area, to fill this vacancy. For a good many years now we have been without representation from this section and it's high time we went into action. The blame for this lack of representation lays at our very own doorstep as we have not come up with a suitable candidate to represent our area. There are many qualified individuals here who could perform this public service and we should start ferreting out these candidates in the near future. We have let the position go by default this past decade but now with the threat of losing our school hovering over our heads the time for action has come. Both our Central Committees should come up with some likely prospects to end this era of apathy on our part. If we lose the school we should blame no one but ourselves.

Cub Scouts Seek Members

The past summer found Cub Scouts of Pack 1060 in den outings, at a baseball game at Memorial Stadium in Baltimore, a visit to the Snake Farm, family picnics to Rocky Ridge Park and Cunningham State Park, hikes along country roads, cook-outs with their own homemade hobo stoves, softball games among the dens, and climaxed by an all-day Pack bus trip to Hershey, Pa., where the Cubs were given a tour of the candy factory, the State Police Barracks, the zoo and also time was spent in the park.

It is hoped to get an enjoyable fall and winter program going. Also elections of officers. There will be a meeting of all committeemen, den mothers, all parents, (at least one parent per family), and anyone interested in Cub Scouting or any one wishing their son to join.

The meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, Sept. 24 at 7:30 sharp in the VFW Home. It is hoped there will be a large turnout.

Buys Registered Bull

Olin W. Cogar, Emmitsburg, recently purchased an Aberdeen-Angus bull from Adrian M. Frick, Westminster, Md., it has been announced by the American Angus Association.

Town To Seek Water Line Bids

Bids for the construction of new water mains from the mountain reservoirs to and through the streets of Emmitsburg will be advertised the first week in October, Town Commissioner J. Norman Flax revealed this week.

Future plans call for the installation of a filtration bed, a reserve tank of 500,000 gallon capacity and sediment basins. The city engineer is presently estimating the cost of the future improvements and bids will be asked at a later date.

Mayor Ralph F. Ireland said the Board was still considering applicants for the town officer's job but that to date no decision had been arrived at but it is hoped to have an officer on the job in the near future. He also said that the State Forestry Dept. had condemned 22 old trees along the streets and reported 10 of them already had been removed. Condemned trees are marked with yellow paint by the Forestry Department and this week two large trees in front of the Village Liquors (former Houck property) were removed.

Regarding the proposed installation of natural gas to Emmitsburg, Commissioner Flax reported that the hold-up was due to the lack of obtaining Federal permits but it was hoped that installation of the line would be effected shortly.

Town Officials To Attend Board Of Education Meeting

A representation of Emmitsburg citizens is expected to be present when the Frederick County Board of Education holds its next scheduled meeting Wednesday, Oct. 2, it was learned this week.

Expected to be discussed, and possibly selected, will be the site for a new consolidated school which would accommodate students from Emmitsburg and Thurmont. Town officials, representatives of various organizations and other interested individuals have let it be known they intend to be present at the meeting.

A site for a new high school to serve the Thurmont - Emmitsburg areas still has not been chosen by the Frederick County Board of Education.

The educators made an on-the-site inspection Tuesday night of five possible choices which are currently under consideration. The entire Board of Education was present for the tour. They expect to give further study to the problem before deciding on a location. On the tour the merits and demerits of each site were discussed. The five sites inspected were the Jamison-Wivell site along U. S. 15; the Staub property at the edge of Thurmont on old Route 15; the E. J. Terpenning site located between Payne's Hill and Orndorff Road; and the Keilholtz and Prongas sites on Old Frederick Road.

Some of the land owners have offered to sell the land for a set price while other sites are available at an appraised value.

Dr. James A. Sensenbaugh, Superintendent of Schools, said that the site problem might be discussed later this month at one or more of the meetings scheduled to work on the budget.

It is understood that a number of other sites have been kept in mind if the consolidation effort collapses and it is decided to enlarge the present existing schools in the two towns. These sites are already, or could easily be, equipped with water and sewerage facilities. Town Commissioner J. Norman Flax said this week that Emmitt Gardens would make an excellent and suitable site for an enlarged school as well as other suitable farmland on the edge of town.

Sister Madeleine Conducts Workshop

Sister Madeleine, D.C., Chairman of the Home Economics Department at Saint Joseph College, recently conducted a workshop at DePaul Hospital, Norfolk, Virginia, under the auspices of the Tidewater Section of the Virginia Dietetic Association. The workshop explored the "principles and techniques of teaching nutrition and dietetics in nurses' training programs," in cooperation with the American Dietetic Association's efforts to improve dietetic training.

Among the invited participants were the directors and educational coordinators of Tidewater Area nursing schools, as well as teaching dietitians from the local hospital staffs.

Sister Madeleine discussed the fundamental principles of learning applied specifically to the teaching of nutrition during a nurse's training. A variety of teaching techniques was considered from both teacher and student vantage points, among them, the panel discussion, visual aids, slides, and filmstrips.

The workshop participants considered the values of role-playing and demonstration presentations as an effective means of increasing student participation. Sister Madeleine also demonstrated a flannel board lesson from initial steps in preparing her own flannel board through its use as a teaching tool. Nutrition taught by the use of make-your-own Speed-i-o-slides was shown by a series Sister Madeleine had made on the enzyme action on food molecules.

The purposes, process of selection, use and a variety of follow-up techniques to assure effective learning from filmstrips was demonstrated.

Fine Arts Institute To Be Held

During the academic year 1963-64 an Institute on the Fine Arts in Oriental Culture, consisting of a series of eight four-hour lectures, will be offered by Saint Joseph College, to students, teachers, and persons seeking an increased knowledge of Oriental culture. The Institute is under the sponsorship of the ESSO Education Foundation.

Conceived as a means of restoring the fine arts to their rightful place in the lives of students and teachers in liberal arts colleges, Sister Rosemary, D.C., president of Saint Joseph's stated, "This Institute, and its predecessor, the Institute on Fine Arts in Christian Culture sponsored by the ESSO Foundation in 1960, are an outgrowth of several years of serious consideration by the administration and faculty of the Division of Humanities. The series purpose is to increase an awareness of the discipline of each art form, the capability of making mature aesthetic judgments, and sensitivity to the importance of the arts in Oriental culture."

Indian sculpture, the subject of the first demonstration - lecture, will be presented on September 28 by Stella Krashinsky, professor of Indian Art at the University of Pennsylvania.

Each presentation will take place on Saturdays from 9:40 a.m. until 2:20 p.m., with luncheon at noon. The sessions will continue monthly until April 11, 1964, and will include lectures and demonstrations by artists and authorities in Oriental culture, all of high repute in their field. The visiting speakers will make use of tape recorders, color slides, and their personal artifacts. Several have offered to perform their specialty arts before the audience.

The Institute, under the direction of Thomas J. Casaleto of the speech and drama department of Saint Joseph College, will include the following subjects: Chinese literature and painting, Japanese drama, the aesthetics of Asian art, Oriental dance and music, and the architecture of the East and West.

Two Colleges Open; Enrollment 1365

Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, began its 156th year with the capacity enrollment of 748 collegians and 129 seminarians, according to Dean of Studies, Rev. Carl J. Fives. Of this number, 203 are freshmen, 204 sophomores, 112 juniors, 181 seniors, and 8 special students. The enrollment is 27 over last year despite the fact that the freshmen number is less. The difference in the number of freshmen was caused by a lack of housing.

There are 58 seminarians registered in the philosophy division and 61 in theology. They reported back a week prior to the collegians in order to participate in their annual retreat and the ordination services. The Most Rev. T. Austin Murphy, Auxiliary Bishop of Baltimore, presided at the services for ordination on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 13 and 14.

The freshmen registered on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 15, and began a three-day orientation and testing program designed to acclimate them to campus life. The program was under the direction and supervision of college administrative officers and student leaders. The testing program was administered by senior education students under the direction of the Guidance Director, Robert P. Adams.

Upperclassmen registered Monday with their classes beginning on Tuesday. Freshmen classes began on Wednesday following the annual Mass of the Holy Ghost which was celebrated by Rt. Rev. Robert R. Kline, Ph.D., college president.

As part of the Sunday program the Mount Saint Mary's Mothers Guild held a tea reception for the parents of the incoming freshmen. All activities were held, in conjunction, with the fall registration in the new Cogan Union Building.

Other members of the administration who were scheduled on the program were the Dean of Men, Rev. Robert S. Grace; the Dean of Freshmen, Rev. Robert H. Wharton; the Chaplain, Rev. Hugh J. Phillips; the Registrar, Guy A. Baker, Jr.; Public Relations, Dean J. Sprague; Student Union Director, Francis X. Ligorano; and Capt. F.R. Allen, USMC.

St. Joseph College Orientation Week Coming To A Close

Soaring to a new high, enrollment at St. Joseph College this fall reaches 617 students. Because of inadequate housing facilities, freshman intake had to be limited to 120 girls, in addition to the postulants and members of the Community of the Daughters of Charity and other religious communities. The total freshman enrollment, including religious, will be 179.

Last Saturday, 86 seniors returned early to St. Joseph's campus as the orientation program began. Under the direction of Sister Mary Ellen, dean of students, chairman of the committee, the Cooperative Government Association Executive Board met Saturday afternoon to officially open the 1963 program, followed by a meeting of the entire orientation committee in the evening. Actual work of the committee began on Sunday as each new freshman was greeted on the "A" by several seniors who proceeded to make her feel right "at home" at St. Joseph College.

Beginning with the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, which takes place daily, the course of Saturday afternoon offered an alumnae open house in the Student Center to refresh freshmen and their parents after the long and tedious job of unpacking had been at least partially accomplished. Freshmen received the president's welcome in the evening followed by a mixer in the student center. Monday opened an initial week of work interspersed with fun and just "becoming acquainted" with a new atmosphere and new faces, activities and personalities. On tap were registration, tests, a trip to the bookstore, a convocation, a campus tour, an afternoon "Meet the Faculty" social, and an open house for freshmen of St. Joseph College and Mt. St. Mary's in the evening.

Tuesday's schedule included more testing, a first trip to town—Emmitsburg—and a freshman social at the Mount. Wednesday introduced the OGA and campus clubs to the freshmen with a picnic supper at the creek and a little sister-big sister "get acquainted party" in the evening. Thursday, upperclassmen registration began and included a general open house at Mt. St. Mary's.

Friday, the freshmen, along with their senior sisters, travel to Mt. St. Mary's Grotto, the Gettysburg Electric Map Museum, the battlefield, finishing the day with dinner and a movie in Gettysburg. Saturday offers an introduction to the library for freshmen in the morning, the annual fall fashion show and card party sponsored by the Emmitsburg chapter of the Alumnae of St. Joseph College in the Student Center at 2 p.m., and the upperclassman welcome to the freshmen in the evening.

Sunday closes orientation week with the academic procession and Mass of the Holy Ghost in the college chapel.

13 Die Over Weekend On Roads

Thirteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police.

Nine of those killed were drivers; two were passengers; and two were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in eight of the deaths; speed in six; and 'driver error' was present in all of the fatalities.

In commenting on these highway fatalities, Colonel Carey Jarman, Superintendent of the Maryland State Police, said: "In sixty per cent of last week's fatalities (8 out of 13), we see again alcohol as a contributing factor. Again we are prompted to ask: Are we going all-out in our efforts to deal with the problem presented by the operator who drives while under the influence of alcohol?"

"The answer obviously is no," he continued, "and until we do go all-out we will continue, week after week, to see lives snuffed out on our highways because operators are driving while under the influence of alcohol."

"It will take stern measures to deal with this problem adequately and the sooner we get at it the better. Our present law which provides, on a voluntary basis, a test for alcohol is not good enough. The law should make it mandatory for a person suspected of driving under the influence to submit to a test for alcohol."

Hanover Fears Water Shortage

More drastic restrictions on the use of water, including a complete shutdown in about 30 days of all industry using water from the community supply, were foreseen this week as the severe drought in the Hanover, Pa., area continues.

Unless sufficient rains fall in the meantime, it will be necessary to order industrial users of the public supply to halt operations, the Hanover Municipal Water Works Commission revealed.

October 13 was set as the tentative date for halting industrial use of water if no relieving rains fall prior to then.

Any fool can criticize, condemn, and complain . . . and most fools do.
