Emmitsburgians are breathing a sigh of relief today as Officer "John" Law returns to duty after a two months' absence from the job. After experiencing this two-month span with only part-time policing, citizens are elated that the position has once again been filled. Quite a few of us were concerned over the lack of police protection, especially with Halloween just about upon us. Vandalism has been increasing and nightly drag racing and tire peeling has had quite a few upset. You can bet your bottom dollar the old Town will quiet down once more, and in quick fashion. Welcome back "Johnnie" and thanks, Town Council.

Efforts by interested individuals and groups to move our local senior high school to Thurmont continue as meetings are held with the County Commissioners. I believe that the County Commissioners do not want to commit political suicide by acquiescing to pressure by certain elements, and will come up with a solution that will be equitable to both towns. There are several sites located half way between Emmitsburg and Thurmont that would prove suitable, and they definitely are for sale for that purpose. I am certain that the Commissioners are well aware of the friction generated over the movement and also the repercussion that will be felt unless a justifiable solution to the dilemma is reached. Emmitsburg is not decadent, it is very much alive and slowly but constantly growing. There always has been some question as to the accurateness of the 1950 census and it is felt this census did not represent a true picture of the community. With a 200-house development in the offing, a new factory about to be erected and with natural gas coming to town, there is no question about it, the town will show rapid growth and we will need our local public school. The fact that the Board of Education has taken away the Rocky Ridge students and comes almost to Saint Anthony's to transport students to Thurmont, instead of Emmitsburg, where they should be enrolled, has gradually eaten into the local enrollment. Return these students to Emmitsburg, make a few improvements and Thurmont will not need a new school and the taxpayers will save several million dollars. We advise the County Commissioners to weigh the matter prudently.

With Governor Tawes putting his weight behind the movement to transfer boys from a correctional institution near Baltimore to Victor Cullen Hospital at Sabillasville, it seems almost hopeless to continue the fight to retain the institution as a tuberculosis hospital. This battle has been raging for almost five years and it now appears that a culmination of that struggle is in the offing. Of course there are other influential factions backing the retention of the institution as it now serves, but with the Governor's weight on the opposition's side it doesn't look too promising.

Local Firemen Kept Busy

Members of the Vigilant Hose Co. battled for three and a half hours Saturday afternoon to extinguish a stubborn forest blaze on the Mountain Road near Rainbow Lake.

Chief Sterling White reported the alarm was received at 4:35 p.m. and it was 8 o'clock in the evening before firemen left the scene. The Guardian Hose Co. from Thurmont assisted the local company. Chief White estimated about five acres damaged and wishes to thank those non-members who assisted in the fighting.

Wednesday morning at about 6:15 the firemen were called to a tree fire in the Crystal Fountain Road area where it is believed a hunter set the tree afire to smoke out squirrels. The firemen were called Friday afternoon at about 1:30 to a minor brush fire on the property of Alfred Myers on the Irishstown Road. No damage was reported and cause of the fire was not determined.

Seminarian Assigned Here

Mr. Theodore Aaron Wachhaus, a first-year student at the Lutheran Seminary in Gettysburg, has been assigned to the Lutheran Church in Emmitsburg for a year of study. Mr. Wachhaus is 21 years of age and a native of Harrisburg, Pa. He graduated from Gettysburg College with an A.B. degree in June of this year, having majored in the field of psychology.

Seminary work, prior to Ordination, consists of three years of class work and one year of intern work. During the first of these four years, a Seminarian, in addition to his academic studies, gets his first real contact with the Parish Ministry through a fieldwork program. The student is assigned to a senior Pastor and in the course of the year obtains some experience in the six chief areas of a present day Pastor. Those six areas are: preaching, teaching, counseling, priestly work (marriages, funerals, etc.), organization, and administration.

Mr. Wachhaus began his year of study at the Lutheran Church in Emmitsburg on Sunday, Oct. 13. The Pastor of the church, The Reverend W. Ronald Reiser, will work with the Seminarian until May 10 of next year.

Mayor Irelan Reappoints Officer Law

W. E. Law will return to duty today as Town Officer after an absence of two months.

Officer Law resigned the position on August 26 after some "differences" between himself and Town Officials. Mayor Ralph F. Irelan reappointed Law this week and his appointment has been confirmed by the Town Council. Starting today residents can contact the Police Dept. by phoning HI 7-2813. The Town has been operating with part-time police protection for the past two months. In the meantime the Council has hired a "metermaid" to police the parking meters and direct traffic at the local schools.

Mayor Irelan said this week it was the intention of the Council to retain the services of the metermaid in addition to Officer Law and uniforms have been ordered for her.

Commissioner J. Norman Flax said the Vigilant Hose Co. has asked the Council to seek the cooperation of the local citizenry concerning the burning of leaves, trash, etc. Due to the extreme dryness caused by the summer drought, the Firemen caution that burning of trash represents a distinct hazard to property as well as human life. Absolutely nothing is to be burned within the corporate limits, Council ruled this week. In addition the ban on sprinkling and car washing continues until such times as sufficient rain falls to insure a plentiful supply of water. Rainbow Lake, the main source of the Town's supply, has dropped three feet in recent weeks and the ban was placed into effect to conserve remaining quantities in the reservoir.

Mayor Irelan said this week that signs of activity were evident at the natural gas line terminal north of Greenmount and it is believed that the actual installation of the new line to Emmitsburg will begin in the near future. Representatives of the gas company will meet with Town Officials Monday.

Sentenced

Donald LeRoy Glacken, Emmitsburg, who was charged with turning off the lights of his car recently to avoid identification, was sentenced Saturday to 30 days in jail and ordered to pay the costs by the Adams County Court, Gettysburg, last Saturday.

Commissioners Studying School Sites

The Frederick County Commissioners declared Monday that a decision to relocate or consolidate Emmitsburg Senior High School would not be made until the County Board of Education provides extra sites in this area.

The Board of Education, against the wishes of the citizens of Emmitsburg, has recommended the Staub site in Thurmont for the location of a new consolidated North County High School. It is understood that several farmers or property-owners located about half way between the two towns have offered as high as 40 acres of ground for a school site and the County Commissioners would like more information on these sites.

The Emmitsburg - Thurmont School site controversy has been flaring for months. An end to the problem is not in sight. Monday a delegation from Emmitsburg appeared before the Commissioners asking that the school be placed either at Emmitsburg or between the two towns.

A. Irvin Renn, president of the Commissioners, said that requested information on additional sites between the towns has not been received from the Board of Education. He said no action will be taken on the Board of Education request for $30,000 for purchase of the Staub site at Thurmont until the desired information is furnished.

Samuel C. Hays, who served as spokesman for the Emmitsburg group, said the present situation is similar to one several years ago when Emmitsburg was faced with losing its high school. He reminded the Commissioners that at that time a petition bearing 1,500 signatures was brought to the county office protesting the move.

He said "We are appealing to you to help us and to prevent the School Board from making a damaging blow to Emmitsburg." He said that schools are part of a community the same as homes, churches, business, etc. When one of these is taken away, the community is being torn apart. Mr. Hays stated. We seriously object to having the school taken away from us, he added.

Former Burgess C. G. Frailey injected that a proposed housing development is planned for Emmitsburg in which 200 homes are to be built. He stated this might produce enough students to fill a high school.

The group said it naturally would prefer to have the school at Emmitsburg but a location between the two towns would be acceptable.

The Commissioners noted that a site between the towns was recommended first by the Board of Education but it was rejected because one of the owners demanded $1,000 an acre for his land.

Commissioner Lawrence A. Dorsey said he is interested in establishing a school in the northern section of the county which will offer the same kind of education that students in Frederick and other parts of the county get. He said he is interested in getting a school with a "full curriculum."

In reference to the Jamison-Wivell site which was turned down, Mr. Dorsey said "We thought we were doing the right thing by trying to save some tax money."

Other members of the delegation were John L. Baumgardner, Raymond Keilholtz and Robert C. Simpson.

The identity of any person furnishing such information will be held in confidence, if requested.

Any person having information is requested to contact Gettysburg Substation, Pennsylvania State Police, telephone number Gettysburg 334-1119, or the District Attorney of Adams County, Gettysburg, Penna.

The seven county departments seeking funds requested a total of $120,229.39. A few of the offices were asking for a dollar or so less than was spent during the first six months this year, but most wanted more money.

Largest request was that of the Assessment Office which was not represented by any official at the hearing. The requested amount was $27,137.34.

Other offices seeking large amounts of funds were: Treasurer's office, $26,304.32; Trial Magistrates' office, $25,004.05; and the Board of Election Supervisors, $22,835. Other requests were Circuit Court, $8,530; State's Attorney's office, $8,015.84; and Liquor License Commissioner's office, $2,402.84.

An inspection of the various budget requests shows the following requests for specific items. The Circuit Court requests, which is virtually the same as this year, consists of $8,200 for salaries and $330 for operating expenses.

The Trial Magistrates' office is asking for $17,690 for salaries, $3,199.05 for operating expenses and $4,115 for capital outlay. Money for purchase of equipment in the County offices at Emmitsburg and Thurmont is being asked for the first time.

He warned residents that restrictions "must be enforced" to conserve the supply. He reminded residents that any unnecessary use of water is in violation of the order to save water.

Fleming said, "We will be in a desperate situation in the event of a fire." He said local streams are very low and that the reservoir could not supply sufficient water to bring a large blaze under control.

ELECTIONS HELP LINCOLN; HE CALLS FOR TROOPS

By Lon K. Savage

As the military might of the Civil War converged on the area of Chattanooga, Tennessee, 100 years ago this week, Americans on both sides of the warfronts were discussing a hodgepodge of news events.

The biggest non-military news came in the form of election returns. Most of the states of the North had held elections in mid-October, and when the votes were counted, the results were clear: with notable exceptions, President Lincoln and his party had been given a vote of confidence.

All of the Northeastern states except New Jersey had voted in favor of Lincoln's supporters. Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and Kentucky, too, had backed the Union's cause, and even in Missouri, where pro-Southern sentiment still was strong, the results were favorable for the President.

New Jersey voters, however, defeated the Republican party, and Ohio voters gave the President a definite scare.

Ohio Election
In Ohio, Copperhead John Vallandigham — the man whose pro-Southern feeling had gone so far that Lincoln had exiled him to the Confederacy—was running for Governor against a Lincoln man, John Brough, and much of the election was built around Lincoln's stature. Vallandigham, living in exile in Canada, roused a powerful vote, but when all were counted, Brough—and hence, Lincoln—had a majority by 62,000 citizens.

Perhaps because of his success in the elections—but more likely because he had delayed until after the election—Lincoln issued a call three days after Ohio's elections for 300,000 more troops, and this time he said the troops would be required. In short, it was another way of saying they would be drafted.

In Virginia
In Virginia, where the front had been quiet since the Confederate retreat from Gettysburg, Generals Robert E. Lee and George Gordon Meade—the men who had slugged it out at Gettysburg—began sparring again halfway between Washington and Richmond. Lee broke the silence by crossing the Rappahannock River and advancing toward Meade, and for a week the two armies maneuvered, circled, growled and occasionally skirmished before finally returning to their old camping grounds and settling down again.

In the harbor of Charleston, S. C., fighting picked up. Action started when a rumor went around the Federal fleet outside the harbor that the Confederates were re-mounting guns on Fort Sumter, scene of the war's outbreak. The Federals, who had reduced the fort nearly to ruins weeks before, opened fire on it again and knocked another wall to debris, leaving the fortress a useless but historic pile of rubble. That marked the last heavy bombardment of the fort for the war.

Down in New Orleans, there was action, too. Nathaniel Banks, the Massachusetts politician serving as a Union general, set sail with a corps of men aiming to capture the state of Texas. It would prove too big a bite for his men to chew.

Next week: A "Cracker Line" is opened.

H. O. Toor Heads Shoe Association

Preliminary estimates show that the nation's shoe industry production may be down at least six per cent for 1963 despite the fact that Americans are buying more shoes, reports Harold O. Toor, who was named president of the National Shoe Manufacturers Association meeting in Chicago last week at the National Shoe Fair.

Mr. Toor, who heads Freeman-Toor Corporation, the country's largest independent shoe corporation, points to the 60 per cent growth in foreign shoe imports within the past seven years as one of the main causes for the decline in United States shoe industry production.

"Import figures have gone from one per cent of the U. S. market in 1955 to 10 per cent by mid '63, and will be 20 per cent by 1965 if current growth continues. The dollar volume of imports was up 34 per cent in 1962 over the previous year and is rising for this year.

"Imports are glutting our market because the foreign countries have cheap labor and are able to undersell us. Japan and Italy, from which 90 per cent of shoes are imported, pay shoe workers 36c and 49c an hour respectively, as compared with a $1.95 U. S. average," he said.

"Worst of all," Toor points out, "is the loss of jobs. That 55 million pairs of shoes imported last year eliminated 21,000 job opportunities here. And 47,000 jobs will go by 1965 should the import rate remain unchecked."

Mr. Toor is spearheading the industry's Foreign Trade Committee, representing NSMA, New England Shoe and Leather Association and the St. Louis Shoe Manufacturers Association. The committee has appealed to the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee for help. To date, 235 congressmen and 35 senators have signed a petition asking the President for assistance. Action is expected shortly from the Chief Executive.

"NSMA is looking for sensible, voluntary import quotas rather than higher duties," says Mr. Toor. "If the rate of increase of imports is leveled off, I see a bright future for the industry."

Toor adds that the quality of top-of-the-line business is up despite imports. For just as in wearing apparel, the trend in shoes is toward fashion merchandise. Another factor in the future of the shoe business, according to Toor, is the big increase in the teen-age and college market due not only to the increasing numbers of teens, but also to their buying ratio of four pairs of shoes to every one pair of adult shoes.

Fortunately, Toor's own sales of $30 million plus at Freeman-Toor are running 20 per cent ahead of the industry and are about 12 per cent ahead of the firm's record 1962 figures.

Freeman-Toor Corporation, with headquarters in the Empire State Bldg., New York, is the parent company of Freeman Shoe Corporation, Beloit, Wis., makers of men's shoes; H. O. Toor Shoe Corp., Hanover, Pa., makers of children's shoes and men's casual wear, and Botany Shoe Corp., N.Y.C.

Freeman-Toor Corporation operates 10 factories located in Beloit, Wis.; South Beloit and Dixon, Ill.; Hanover, Reading, Annyville and Bernville, Pa.; and Emmitsburg, Maryland. The company operates 210 leased shoe departments over the entire United States, six shoe stores, and is the manufacturer and distributor of Botany Shoes.

In keeping with the expansion program of the various Toor factories, the company has just broken ground to double the size of the Hanover, Pa., factory. Construction has just been completed doubling the size of the Emmitsburg, Md., plant. Other plans are in the formulating stages for expansion of the Freeman-Toor Corporation factories.

Sister To Speak
Sister Margaret Mary of St. Joseph College, will be one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Washington-Maryland Unit of the Catholic Library Association to be held Saturday at Dunbarton College in Washington.

Your Personal Health

The nose is a delicate organ, both as concerns its smelling abilities and its structure.

The nose bruises and bleeds easily when punched. Its delicate lining covers a dense network of blood vessels, and the slightest break in this mucous surface causes bleeding.

It's an indelicate topic, but—too many people pick at the nose in a sort of habit pattern that is not only repulsive to others but also potentially dangerous. Serious infection may result. Another dangerous practice is pulling hairs from the nose. Excessive use of nose drops or inhalants can cause permanent damage to the delicate membrane.

A sometimes serious side effect of nose troubles can be involvement of the sinuses that empty into the nose.

If you must wash out your nose, use mild salt water and put it in drop by drop. Don't pour it in as though you were flushing out a catch basin.

If you catch a cold and your nose drips, blow it gently with both nostrils open to clear out the mucus. If one side is closed and you blast away, some of the force will back up into the throat.

Germ-laden mucus might be driven into one or both tubes into the middle ear, with possible infection resulting. Blow gently.

Your nose is a useful appendage. It records many sensations, both pleasant and unpleasant. Sense of smell is an important part of the sense of taste. Smelling smoke might serve as a warning of danger from fire.

Don't abuse your nose. It must last you a lifetime.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley
LONGEVITY

Through the use of corrective reading and bifocal lenses, man has increased his usefulness and enjoyment on the job and in periods of recreation. Years ago, people 40 years of age were considered too old for their jobs.

Today, bifocals are even made in contact lens form. Trifocals can be had in spectacles and, although they exist, trifocal contact lenses are not used to any great extent. Trifocal lenses, naturally, give one a greater vision range. If the bifocal is set for reading at 16", then one has trouble reading at 26", which is a little past arm's length. You have often seen people trying to read across the table through their bifocals. I have seen people bang their head trying to read a price tag in a show window because they were attempting to get within their bifocal range.

Beside the progress in the development of optical devices, there have been equally important medical advances. Cataract operations are quite common today and these have greatly extended the useful range of human vision.

Plastic spectacle and contact lenses, different types of bifocals, safety glasses and lenses that correct astigmatism are further advances.

The best possible answer to better sight still, however, lies with you. Have your eyes examined regularly.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses A Possible U. S. Dictator BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 24, 1963—My very good friend, Fred Conn of Tampa, has sent me an interesting little book entitled "The Cat Can Yield But Its Skin". This was written by Currie B. Witt and Lavania Lee Witt. Its purpose appears to be to change the present tendency in Washington to help more people in this country "get something for nothing". The book is based on the life and days of Benjamin Franklin. Its authors seem to feel that the nation could turn back to the time of Franklin; but the history of all nations shows that this is impossible, or at least improbable. History and governments have always changed in cycles, not "turned turtle" and reversed. Edison E. Shrum Of Scott City, Missouri Today I would like to tell readers about another important work in which I am interested. For many years Mr. Shrum has been studying ancient history, going back to the Persians, covering in detail the history of the European countries. His book is only mimeographed, but it represents very careful and impartial studies. It shows that the trend with people in every nation has been to get something for nothing; but they have never long succeeded. In fact, no man, not Aristotle, or Alexander, or Caesar, has succeeded even in making permanent reforms. The Typical Government Cycle Nearly all nations have started with a race which was natural to the soil, like the Indians of our country. Gradually they divided into tribes, with born rulers. In a way, China and portions of Africa are now emerging from this Tribal Era, with natural-born leaders having exceptional courage, energy, and intelligence. Gradually these tribal leaders combine and we have the beginnings of a nation. At this point, some stronger power from abroad comes in to take possession. In the cases of the United States, it was the English who took the eastern portion as a British colony; Spain, the southeastern portion; and Mexico, the southwest and what is now California. This was the Colonial Era. The Beginning Of Our Republic George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and the Adamses formed a republic in the United States. This consisted originally of thirteen colonies which gradually got their independence from England. This republic, organized under the original Constitution, was far different from the form of government we have today. Voters had to be property owners; and color, sex, and religion also entered into qualifications for voters. Congress consisted of two houses: (1) the House of Representatives, theoretically elected by the people; and (2) the Senate, made up of members chosen by the legislatures of the various States. The Last Hundred Years Ever since the Civil War, railroads, public utilities, and all other corporations in which people invest their money have been getting exclusive franchises or privileges. This applies to doctors, lawyers, and Indian Chiefs' as well. There are nearly a thousand separate "offices" in Washington which offer, directly or indirectly, these special privileges. This is a long, long way from the freedom of which Washington and Jefferson dreamed. The point of my article is that these laws granting special franchises or privileges — by the Federal Government or by the separate States—will not be cancelled by legislation. The clock cannot be turned in reverse. Mr. Shrum shows, in his careful study, that the only way other countries have gotten rid of special franchises and privileges has been by the appointment of a Dictator. I do not mean that Mr. Kennedy will become a dictator; but I do mean that he can cancel what is already in operation only by being a dictator. History shows that dictators finally lose their powers and a Republic is started again—to be followed by a repetition of what this country has gone through via amendments to our Constitution and other legislation which have brought us to our present condition. Then we will start over again and experience another two hundred years of similar changes. The difference between "results" and "consequences" is that results are what you expect and consequences are what you get.

Racing At Bowie Ends Monday

BOWIE, Md.—The best Maryland bred horses in training will be attracted to Bowie Race Course during the final two days of the 12-day Fall session when the Southern Maryland center offers two $10,000 handicap events exclusively for Maryland bred. Saturday, Bowie stages a $10,000 handicap for 3-year-olds and up at seven furlongs. On closing day, Monday, Oct. 28, a $10,000 handicap event for 3-year-olds will be the feature at a mile and one-sixteenth. Nominations for the two events close on Thursday and Friday. Among the older performers eligible to contest Saturday's seven furlongs test is John A. Manfuso's All Brandy, a fleet-footed daughter of Double Brandy who won the Barbara Fritchie Handicap and Eastern Shore Stakes here during the Winter meeting. The 4-year-old is the only older Maryland bred who accounted for two important decisions at Bowie during the past session. However, such notables as Donald G. Ross' Alias, Watson Elliott's Tuscany P o m p, Wayne Kendrick's Jeune Occupy, Mary G. Christmas' Towson and R. M. Forbes' Paget must be considered if nominated. Tuscany Pomp accounted for the Abraham Lincoln Stakes here. Towson was voted the 1962 champion Maryland-bred. The closing day highlight centers on the Maryland-bred 3-year-olds and a star-studded field is expected for the finale. Hilltop Stable's Bonny Johnny and Lucust Hill Farm's Knocklofty both won stakes during the past meeting at Bowie. Bonny Johnny was hero of the opening day E. P. Heagerty Stakes while Knocklofty won the Annapolis and Prince George's. The likely contenders include the likes of Glenelg Stable's Rairtan Valley, Woodfield Farm's Flexer Foot, Manfuso's Air Spin, Steve Dulin's Joey Binder, Shamrock Farm's St. Simon Stock and Max Zipkin's Fast Blow. Rairtan Valley, a roan son of Royal Vale, won the Maryland Derby at Laurel last Spring and then went on to account for the Lamplighter Handicap at Monmouth Park and a Maryland-bred handicap at Laurel in the Summer. Flexer Foot, a fast-stepping daughter of Gain a' Foot, finished second here last Wednesday after a big Summer campaign. Life magazine reported that a survey of 25 merchandise-minded builders from coast to coast showed that builders credit 60% of their sales to newspaper ads.

Then, there's the terminal sterilization method. This is much the same except that the batch of bottles may be made up without sterilization, then capped and heated to sterilize afterward. This latter method may save some time but has the minor disadvantage of frequent complaints of nipple-clogging.

The third technique is the newer sterile jar method. The formula is prepared sterile, and either prepared or poured into a sterile preserving jar and capped sterile. The jar is stored in the refrigerator, and, when milk is needed, it is poured into a clean (not sterile) nursing bottle, and a clean, (not sterile) nipple is placed on the bottle. The bottle is then heated to drinking temperature and given to the baby.

The fourth technique is the modern supply-and-demand method. The can of milk (evaporated or commercial modified) is washed and the top is scalded. Two holes are made in the top, and an aluminum-foil or plastic cover is placed on the can, which is put into the refrigerator. When a nursing bottle of formula is needed, the mother takes a clean (not sterile) nursing bottle and pours a specified amount of milk from the can into the bottle. She then pours a specified amount of boiling hot water into the bottle. The hot water and the cold milk combine to make the right temperature, and the baby can be fed at once.

Sterilizing prevents growth of bacteria in milk or food when it stands for a period of time. It is not necessary to kill the bacteria found in the clean bottle or the milk. There are probably fewer bacteria in the clean bottle and the milk to begin with than on the baby's hand or the blanket or the sheet which he puts into his mouth.

OUTDOOR SPORT TIPS

Record Shots

If you want tricky target practice to prepare your shotgun eye for doves, woodcock and other zig-zaggers, get a stack of old phonograph records. Next step is to wait for a good wind, then corral a friend to sail them at you. You'll get crossing, climbing, corkscrew and somersault shots... normal flight patterns for the aforementioned game birds.

Hanging Hangers

Wire hangers have a lot of uses around camp. How many can you think of? Rod holder with end stuck in mud or shaped to clasp boat gunwale. Rack for towels. Toilet paper holder. Boot hanger. Lantern stand. Pot hanger. Steak grill. You can even use them to hang clothes on.

Homemade Porkrinds

Fall fishing can produce big fish in large numbers. And, you can use a large catch to build good fishing next year. Nothing adds charm to a spoon like a white strip cut from the belly of a big bass or pike. Fill a jar with strips from your big day preserved in a saline solution. You're in business for months to come.

Flashy Rod Holder

Got an old flashlight? Weld a nail to the bottom and it will make a fine band rod holder. To store, unscrew body, turn nail into body, and screw closed.

Homemade Camouflage

U. S. Army fatigues, the famous green work-alls, are a good start to a fine camouflage outfit for bow shooting. Just lay suit out and dab brown and black shoe dye all over. Make long lines and short lines, dots and blotches. Break up your silhouette and you will bring home the bacon.

Rugged Outboard Mat

Rubber mats between your outboard's motor clamps and the boat's transom cut vibration way down. You can buy a "store-bought" version... or cut a piece out of a discarded rug. Many inexpensive rubs bed nap in a layer of foam that will do the job nicely.

Old Saw

Campers: You may like the pioneer aspects of felling a forest with your trusty ax. But if it's firewood you're after (and you want it fast and you want it the easy way), a bucksaw makes more of it easier than any other method.

Ice Cold Shooting

One .22 shooter uses his wife's cookie tins to freeze small round targets. Dye added to water makes them easy to spot.

Sock 'Em

We are sworn to secrecy never to reveal the originator of this tip. But the man claims if a coon or fox has escaped in his den and can't be driven out by usual methods, he just takes off his sock and throws it in the den. Fox comes a-running.

Laurel Race Draws Much Attention

LAUREL, Md.—Ticket sales for the $150,000 Washington D. C. International, to be run at Laurel Race Course on November 11, are far exceeding last year's, Laurel treasurer Frank J. Brady reports.

"Sales are way ahead this year," he says. "There are still plenty of good seats left, but we'll sell out before International Day."

The widespread interest in Laurel's classic invitational race, which offers fields of champion horses from all parts of the world, is emphasized by the list of ticket requests from throughout this country and even foreign countries.

The most numerous ticket orders come from nearby Baltimore, Washington, D. C., and locations throughout the host state of Md.

However, requests have been processed from such widespread spots as Kansas City, Missouri; Port Huron, Michigan, Nashua, New Hampshire; and Elkhart, Indiana.

Several residents of Toronto, Canada, have written for tickets, and organized groups will be here for the International from Canada and England.

Other places where international horse racing has staunch fans who will witness Laurel's race in person include Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, Massachusetts, North Carolina, Connecticut, Ohio and Rhode Island.

Admission prices on International Day are the same as always—$2 for the grandstand and $4 for the clubhouse. Reserved seat prices are $4.10 and $2.10 in the grandstand, $10.00 in the clubhouse, and $8.00 for box seats.

In addition, there will be unreserved seats available for early arrivals on International Day. Interest in this year's International has been growing with the announcement of horses participating from France, England, Ireland, Hungary and the U. S. Several more will be added to the field before November 11.

Livestock Show Set For Nov. 16-21

The Kiddies' Barnyard — one of the most popular public activities last year at the Eastern National Livestock Show — will be enlarged for this year's show scheduled for November 16-21 at the Maryland State Fair Grounds at Timonium.

Jack I. Matthews, show manager, said the Barnyard, which was put together "in about a week" last year, proved such a success that plans this year are being made well in advance of the show. Sponsored by the Cockeyville-Timonium Kiwanis Club and supervised by two area 4-H clubs, the Barnyard will feature a large collection of rabbits, lambs, kids, colts, calves, chicks, ducklings, piglets and other farm animals which youthful visitors will be able to see and touch.

"I was surprised to find out that so many city children have never seen farm animals, much less touch them," Mr. Matthews said. "So we're trying to bring together as many baby animals as possible to give children an opportunity to see them in as nearly a natural habitat as possible."

The Barnyard will be constructed in two cow barns and will be open Saturday, November 16, through Tuesday, November 19. A small admission fee will be charged. Included with the admission price will be an old-fashioned hayride around the fair grounds.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Today, with modern communication between boats, there is a tendency to broadcast the news once a school of fish is sighted. This friendly consideration for our fellow anglers deserves the highest praise and, as it is a two-way street, it usually means better fishing for all concerned.

The surface disturbance caused by the churning motors of too many boats, however, often frightens the baitfish that the blues, tuna or other fish may be feeding upon, and they seek deeper water for protection. Once bluefish are forced down, you must change your method of fishing. This can be accomplished by deep trolling with a drail or planer, or by jigging a metal lure over the area from a drifting boat.

Jigging is done by moving the metal lure in an up-and-down manner. This can be performed with a rod and reel or a handline. First, you should discover at what depth the fish are feeding, and then confine your fishing to this particular depth. Once you have determined where the fish are, then the line can be marked for this level. There is a wide range of sizes in metal jigs, some — for snappers and mackerel — weighing an ounce or so, and some, weighing one or two pounds, that are used for commercial fishing. If you desire to catch the greater number of fish in a short period of time, the lure you select should have sufficient weight to sink rapidly, says Robert D. Hall, Salt-Water Fishing Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. When jigging, it seems the fish will nearly always strike the lure as it is being moved upward and, of course, with a taut line it is easier to hook your fish.

The men who go offshore for white or blue marlin have discovered that it is advantageous to troll a deep line, as well as to skip bait on the surface. Many times a deep trolled line will catch more fish than one on top.

In some areas where northern weakfish and bluefish are fairly plentiful, the jigging method is often very productive. A chum pot or an old onion sack filled with chum will soon attract the fish in sufficient quantities. The chum pot or bag should be filled with ground mossbunker, butterfish or any oily trash fish. Mossbunker is preferable for this reason. The fish oil, slowly flowing from the container with the current or tide, creates not only a slick on the surface, but also an odorless stream that fish will follow right up to its source.

County Tax Rate Likely To Be Hiked

The county real estate tax rate would have to be hiked 35 cents if the County Commissioners were to approve the budget of the various agencies as they have been presented.

This increase over the present $2.04 rate per $100 assessed value would cover just the six-month period beginning in January. Over a full year the increase would amount to about 70 cents. Needless to say there will be plenty of cuts in the budgets with the Commissioners saying they hoped to maintain the present tax rate.

The budget hearings began this week with the Board of Education presenting a request for more than $3 million from the county coffers. Hearings for the budgets of the other county agencies were planned for Tuesday and Wednesday.

Although the Commissioners have been presented with a stack of inflated budgets, it was apparent that they would be cut down to size. The Commissioners and their staff have been working on the budgets for several weeks in an effort to maintain the current tax rate.

Figures released from the county office show that the total education request amounts to $3,229,666. All of the other agencies are asking for $834,696.34. This represents total requests of $4,064,362.34. The projected income for the first six months of next year totals just $3,284,254.40 therefore funds or cuts needed amount to $780,107.94.

Based on the real estate tax rate of $2.04 the projected income would amount to $2,455,848.40 based on an assessable base of $240,253,380. Last year's base was $226,483,500. On the current base about one cent on the tax rate would result in $24,000 revenue.

In releasing the preliminary budget requests figures, A. Irvin

Renn, President of the County Commissioners, stated that each budget will be carefully analyzed. The Commissioners, their clerk and accountant have already spent many hours on the requests and plan to spend many more in an effort to hold the line on the tax rate.

To help guide them while reviewing the budgets certain guides have been established such as limiting raises to a basis of merit and length of service. It was noted, however, that careful consideration will be given to those items taken out of last year's appropriation. Capital items will be eliminated wherever possible.

The Commissioners stated that it is more evident than ever that the county must be authorized a new source of revenue or the state must assume a larger share of the cost of education.

Naval Demonstration

James Houck, Charles Cool, Donald Wantz, Dick Hardman, Thomas Gingell and William C. Smith were among the more than 500 relatives and friends who were guests of Seaman First Class Robert Gingell and Capt. Benjamin B. Pickett, USN, aboard the U. S. S. Albany last Saturday.

The special indoctrination cruise left the Norfolk Navy Base at 9 o'clock in the morning. During the trip to the Virginia Capes the guests were treated to a simulated missile launching demonstration, fire-fighting team in action and a "man overboard" rescue drill. The U. S. S. Albany is the world's most powerfully armed warship. She is armed with three modern missile systems: The TARTAR System, 15-ft. long with a range of over 10 miles for "close-in fighting"; the TALOS System, 1 1/2 tons each with a range of over 65 miles. This system is the Albany's "big punch." TALOS is a surface-to-air guided missile designed to knock down enemy aircraft at a moment's notice. The Albany's third missile system is her ASROC launcher which is an anti-submarine rocket that will destroy enemy subs before they come within torpedo range.

While cruising through Hampton Roads the visitors were treated to the rare sight of two of the world's mightiest aircraft carriers at anchor: the Forrestal and the Enterprise.

The cruise was designed to increase the understanding of Navy life aboard a heavy cruiser and, specifically to understand the position filled by the U. S. S. Albany in our national defense and to see first hand the day-to-day work performed by her crew.

Church Group To Observe Anniversary

In a worship service on November 1, the United Church Women will observe their twentieth anniversary.

Each year the United Church Women have studied the problems of peace, believing that the mission of the church and world of affairs are interdependent and interlocking. As they have worshipped together, they have given generously to establish additional opportunities for women.

This year the program of study and worship takes a new form. The joint efforts of the women of the protestant churches of Emmitsburg and the surrounding community will have a service for the dedication of friendship packets and layettes assembled or made by the women's groups of the churches.

The offering for the evening will make possible an extended program at the Church Center for the United Nations, and continue the United Church Women's program of international education and action.

The service will be held at the Presbyterian Church of Emmitsburg at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 1. Everyone is invited to attend.

Girl Scouts Receive Honors

Tuesday night, October 15, a new Junior Girl Scout Troop was born. When 27 Brownies received their Brownie wings at St. Euphemia's Hall and flew up to the next age group, the troop became a reality. Mrs. F. D. Culbreath of Hampton Valley Road is their leader. She conducted a rededication ceremony in which the new Junior Scouts said their Promise and Laws and received their Girl Scout pins.

Mrs. Ralph Lindsey, leader of Brownie Troop 1300, presented wings to the following girls: Anna Antolin, Ivanka Antolin, Jean Anderson, Vicky Bussy, Nancy Carr, Sheila Chatlos, Deborah Gillespie, Mary Ann Rice, Linda Topper, Ann Umbel, Margaret Wagernan, Deborah Watkins, Winifred O'Brien and Nancy O'Brien. She also welcomed into Troop 1300 four new Brownie Girl Scouts who have met the requirements for membership: Phyllis Davis, Kathy Gillespie, Bobby Jean Staub, and Rose Marie Staub.

Mrs. Louis Orndorff, leader of Brownie Troop 1317, also presented wings to the fly-up members of her troop: Claudia Rosensteel, Debbie Smith, Mary Kay Hoade, Barbara Topper, Cathy Ott, Linda Seidel, Barbara Seidel, Susan Topper, Debbie Sprinkle, Loretta Norris, Cheryl Topper, Cathy Stoner and Donna Vaughn. The members of Mrs. Richard Dickson's Troop 1487 helped to join in this collection. The pennies and nickles that you give when the youngsters call at your door will save thousands of other children from slow starvation and tortuous death from disease. The children who help will receive their arm bands and collection containers at the Lutheran Hall, and will return to the Lutheran Church when they have completed their assigned street for refreshments which will be served by the women of that church. Mr. John Gearhart of Rocky Ridge will again help the community in this collection as he has so ably done in the past. This is the fifth year Emmitsburg has joined in this collection.

Mrs. John Chatlos, leader of Catette Troop 1316, invested Kyle Turner as a member of that troop and presented badges to several members: Sports, Mary Kay Sherwin; Insect, Diane Dutrow; Home Gardener, Bonnie Fuss; Farmer, Clara Jean Tyler, Farm Safety, Clara Jean Tyler; Child Care, Clara Jean Tyler; Dabbler, Debbie Baker and Pamela Topper; Homemaker, Betty Tokar, Diane Dutrow and Debbie Baker; Cook, Mary Kay Sherwin and Carol Weidner; Campercraft, Debbie Baker, Diane Dutrow, Carolyn Frock, Dorothy Marshall, Glenda McGlaughlin, Mary Kay Sherwin, Pamela Topper, and Betty Tokar.

Mrs. Robert Myers, former leader of Senior Troop 88, at present the assistant leader, presented to Joyce Sanders, Phyllis Chatlos and Jeanne Myers, their Program Aide bars which they have earned by helping at Day Camp and with the different troops of the community.

The program opened with the Salute to the Flag of the United States of America and the singing of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." At the close, all the scouts were massed at the front of the auditorium for the song, "Girl Scouts Together," and "Taps."

UNICEF Collection Wednesday

In Emmitsburg, the "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" night will be Wednesday, Oct. 30, at 7 p.m. beginning at Elias Lutheran Parish Hall. All children are invited to join in this collection. The pennies and nickles that you give when the youngsters call at your door will save thousands of other children from slow starvation and tortuous death from disease. The children who help will receive their arm bands and collection containers at the Lutheran Hall, and will return to the Lutheran Church when they have completed their assigned street for refreshments which will be served by the women of that church. Mr. John Gearhart of Rocky Ridge will again help the community in this collection as he has so ably done in the past. This is the fifth year Emmitsburg has joined in this collection.

Hymn Sing Well Attended
The Hymn Sing at the Incarnation United Church of Christ Sunday night, held in connection with the ingathering of the "little churches", was well attended. The special musical numbers were appreciated by all. Among these were an organ solo by David Naill, "Prelude in C Major by Bach," an accordion solo by Calvin Chatlos, "Over the Waves", and a vocal solo by Janet Springer, "Climb Every Mountain."
The choir of the local Presbyterian Church presented the anthem, "To the Blessed Trinity," by Lorenz. Then Youth Choir of St. James United Church of Christ near Littlestown, sang three numbers: "The Lord's Prayer," "He and After a While." The Youth Fellowship of the host church sang "Peace, Be Still." Mrs. Eric Glass was the accompanist for the singing of the favorite hymns.

The offering from the little churches and from the service will go toward the building fund for an educational building for the local church. The Women's Guild sponsored the service. Rev. John Chatlos, pastor, read the Scripture and had the evening prayer.

Since 1941, the Treasury has sponsored two partial payment plans for purchasing U. S. Savings Bonds: through the Payroll Savings Plan "where you work," and through the purchase of Savings Stamps at schools and post offices.
