Does Thanksgiving come before Christmas? Seems sort of puzzling these days as you look around and see the Christmas displays already on exhibition. Really we haven't even had time to think or get ready for that grand occasion, Thanksgiving. It's really puzzling, however I imagine we'll survive it all. It really started as far back as two or three weeks ago when I first observed the Christmas displays in a distant city and that was what set me to thinking that perhaps I'd overlooked Thanksgiving. Emmitsburg merchants are taking their cue from the big city merchants and already merchandise representative of the occasion is seen on the shelves and I imagine the Town will have the lights and decorations up in short order, following the action of neighboring towns and cities. It's a fast and mercenary world we live in, really. The first real flurry of shopping will be seen next week when the Christmas fund checks hit the mail, I suppose. Oh well, in six short weeks it'll all be over. I wonder if the kiddies know the real meaning of Christmas anymore?

Citizens are becoming alarmed at the large number of roving dogs these days. The alarm perked up this week when a small boy was viciously attacked and hospitalized near Frederick. Three vicious animals dragged the boy from his bike and chewed him badly, so bad in fact, it was feared he might die for a while. While we haven't seen that sort of thing locally it could easily happen. There are numerous dogs at large here, upsetting garbage cans, ruining shrubbery and doing extensive harm to small game. It is impossible for one dog-catcher to patrol the entire county so I think it high time for a general revision of the dog laws of our county. Perhaps an authorized catcher could be appointed for each of the election districts? It is pointed out that even though the dog's owner has obtained a license for his animal it still does not give him the privilege of letting the canine run at will throughout the community. Let's call for some sort of action that will curb this negligence before it goes any further.

It seems to be the policy of representatives of the State Roads Commission to make the banquet circuit throughout the state and elaborate on the stupendous and magnificent plans the Commission has in store for the public and the motorist. For five years now I have been listening to spokesmen who have come here to discuss the proposed new Route 15 bypass of the town. Last year it was definitely promised and the Commission committed to advertise for bids on the project in October of this year. Nothing but dead silence has emanated from the Commission's Office concerning this bypass. No bids have been advertised and no information or explanation has been forthcoming. The public is in the dark and exactly nothing is being done. We don't care where the road goes, if and when it does, but I am of the confirmed opinion that the Commission's spokesmen should stop spouting off at banquets and to newspapers and even individuals, unless they have some definite information to give out. Building has been stymied for 10 years in the Emmitt Garden area by blow-offs by Commission spokesmen that the road would go through there in the near future. Ten years later we're still in the dark. I think the citizens of Emmitsburg are entitled to some explanation and not empty promises emanating from the mouths of fat spokesmen.

School Location Suggestions Are Made

The highly-controversial battle over where to locate a new North County High School which would accommodate students from Emmitsburg and Thurmont took on new impetus this week when the Board of Education came up with some new slants on the subject.

County Planner Robert Wirgau suggested to the Board of Education that a new high school be built at the southern edge of Thurmont. When enrollment in the northern part of the county is sufficient to warrant a second high school, it can be located at Emmitsburg, he reasoned.

No action was taken on this new proposal, but the school board voted to inform the Board of County Commissioners there is no alternate site available between the two towns. Sometime ago the educators forwarded a request to the Commissioners for money to purchase the Staub site at the northern edge of Thurmont as the site for a consolidated school. The Commissioners did not reject the offer but did ask for an alternate site.

Ross V. Smith of Thurmont, a member of the school board, attacked the continued delay which has kept a school from being built in the northern part of the county. He said "politics and pressure groups" have gotten into the selection of the school site. He criticizes the Commissioners for their stand on the problem.

"I think they're wrong. We've been working on this problem for three years. We've run all over the northern part of the county looking for sites. They tossed out the first choice (Jamison-Wivell location) because of money and the second (Staub) I don't know why," Mr. Smith continued.

Selecting a site has gotten to be "ridiculous," he added. The most urgent need for relief is at Thurmont, but he added that Emmitsburg students are and have been short-changed because of an inadequate program.

In Mr. Wirgau's proposal, he noted that based on land use plans, utilities and population, the need for a school now is at Thurmont. He suggested that instead of putting the school on the northern side of the town to place it on the southeast side where there seems to be more potential growth.

As the enrollment increases at the school and another is deemed necessary, a building can be erected at Emmitsburg, he said. Then the boundary areas can be changed and the Emmitsburg school could serve the area to the south toward Thurmont and the Thurmont school could serve a southern area. This in turn would help relieve the crowding at the Frederick High School.

Dr. James A. Sensenbaugh, Superintendent of Schools, recommended that the Board by two sites now—one at each town—with the understanding that Emmitsburg students come to Thurmont until a second school is needed at Emmitsburg. He noted that the price of land will continue to increase over the years, therefore, by buying now money could be saved.

May Hear Plane Tests Here

PATUXENT RIVER, Md. — If your hear a sonic boom or see a large dart-shaped aircraft skimming the treetops during the next few weeks, don't be alarmed. It's only the Navy testing a new type of jet aircraft at the Naval Air Test Center here.

The plane, a RA-5C "Vigilante" made by North American Aviation Corp. of Columbus, Ohio, will be undergoing tests to determine its military effectiveness over a wide range of altitudes and airspeeds. The test program began yesterday, and is expected to end about Friday, Dec. 13.

A Navy spokesman said the plane will be flying as low as 100 feet and as high as 45,000 feet with speeds varying from 150 to more than 670 m.p.h., which is the speed of sound. Supersonic runs will be conducted above 40,000 feet so that any resulting "sonic booms" will not cause damage at ground level.

The month-long project is another in the Navy's continuing aviation research programs conducted at the Naval Air Test Center.

Cullen Hospital To Convert

The Maryland Board of Public Works this week approved the use of one unit at Victor Cullen State Tuberculosis Hospital at Sabillasville for housing 10 inmates from the Maryland Training School for Boys.

This action was recommended several weeks ago by Gov. J. Millard Tawes in the face of considerable opposition. The move has long been a subject for debate in this area, with opponents arguing that, mixing medical and correctional cases in the same institution would be detrimental to all sides.

It is to become effective by Jan. 15 when a special building will be ready to house the youths at the Frederick County institution.

The board voted 2-1 for the move, with Gov. Tawes and State Treasurer John A. Lutkemeyer favoring it and Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein opposing it.

Catholic Census To Be Taken This Sunday

The eight-and-a-half-by-eleven census card which approximately 438,000 Archdiocese of Baltimore Catholics will fill out in the next week is divided into two parts.

The first will take care of the adult members of the family.

The questions deal with the age, occupation and sex of each and immediately launches into the religious status of each.

In the religion section the adults will be asked if they are Catholics, converts, have received confirmation and their marital status.

The last section asks whether the home is owned or rented, educational level, employment status and whether or not the Catholic is handicapped.

The second part is aimed at the children.

Here the questions are age, sex, number of sacraments received, (baptism, confirmation and Holy Communion), whether or not the youngster attends Catholic school and whether or not handicapped.

The third part of the questionnaire handles the subjects of whether or not the Catholic Review is received by the family, if a priest's visit is desired and whether anyone in the home is bed-ridden.

According to census officials, the card can be completed in about 10 minutes.

Although early starts began in hospitals, care homes and other institutions, along with rural areas of Anne Arundel County and Western Maryland, the major effort in the massive count will take place Nov. 17.

Starting early in the afternoon, about 50,000 volunteer workers will begin knocking on every door in Baltimore and nine outlying counties.

All Catholics are urged to remain home on the afternoon of the census and only those persons who permanently reside on the premises will be counted.

However, one member of the family unit may answer the questions for the entire family.

All information given to the census takers will be handled in strict confidence and only Catholics need fill out the form.

Fire Company Announces Building Fund

President John J. Hollinger presided over the regular monthly meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. held in the Fire Hall Tuesday evening, 26 members in attendance.

Chief Sterling H. White reported 14 calls received and handled since the last meeting. George L. Danner, chairman of the local Muscular Dystrophy Drive, reported that coin canisters had been placed in various business places and that the drive would be concluded shortly. The president extended thanks to Jeff Fitzgerald for his excellent drawings of the proposed new fire hall addition.

During the meeting it was voted to inaugurate a Building Fund. Ralph D. Lindsey, president of the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce, presented the company with a check for $200 which started the fund. The president named the following building committee: George L. Danner, chairman, L. Michael Boyle and Ronald Stouter. Anyone interested in donating to the fund is asked to contact any of the above committeemen. In a short talk before the group, President Lindsey urged the members to support and induce others to support the local Chamber of Commerce to enable it to become strong and healthy and to continue its fine community work. Two new members were voted to active membership. They were Herbert Giggell and Kenneth Slick. A thank-you note from Robert W. Stonesifer, social member, who is a patient at the Hagerstown Hospital, was received and read.

Town Commissioner J. Norman Flax requested permission to purchase two sections of used fire hose for use at the Rainbow Reservoir. The group agreed to donate the hose to the town. Chief White requested members to exercise extreme caution when pulling into and out of the parking lot beside the hall as recently large numbers of children have been playing in the area. President Hollinger reminded the group that the annual election of officers will take place at the next regular meeting.

Highway Fatals Continue Climb

Ten persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police.

Four of those killed were drivers, two were passengers; and for were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths; speed in one; and "driver error" was present in six of the fatalities.

"During October pedestrians accounted for over a third of Maryland highway fatalities," commented Colonel Carey Jarman, Superintendent of the Maryland State Police, "and we have generally the same pattern so far this month. This unfortunate trend indicates, I feel, a continuing failure on the part of many pedestrians to realize that they, as well as the drivers, have a responsibility in promoting safety on the highway.

"Too often pedestrians leave the total responsibility for highway safety to the drivers; but regardless of a driver's careful attention and strict adherence to the law, he cannot be expected to anticipate the illegal and unsafe movements of pedestrians. A motorist may see a pedestrian in time to avoid hitting him, but quite often a sudden stop or swerving, particularly on high speed roads, could result in a much more serious problem."

Colonel Jarman concluded: "The areas where a pedestrian can cross safely are properly designated. If he fails to cross at these specified places, the odds are always against him."

Eisenhower Named To Cancer Board

The board of directors of the Maryland Division of the American Cancer Society announced the appointment of Joseph F. Eisenhower III, Frederick, to the board of directors of the statewide organization. Mr. Eisenhower, active in the cause of cancer control for many years, is the executive secretary to Mayor E. Paul Magaha and the aldermen of Frederick. A long-time newspaperman, Mr. Eisenhower is known throughout the county as a columnist for the Frederick News-Post. For the past several years he has been chairman of the Cancer Crusade in Frederick County.

The Cancer Detection Survey presently being conducted among Frederick County women is financed by the Maryland Division of the American Cancer Society. The county was selected for participation in this life-saving cervical cancer project as the result of the interest of the board of directors of the Frederick County Chapter of the Maryland Division and the direct efforts of Mr. Eisenhower.

Since September, the Maryland Division of the American Cancer Society has maintained a permanent office at 22 South Market St. Mrs. Lucille Howard is the executive secretary.

SHERMAN JOINS GRANT; MAJOR BATTLE PLANNED

By Lon K. Savage

General William Tecumseh Sherman, the hard line Federal fighter who had helped win the Vicksburg campaign, came marching into the area of Chattanooga, Tenn., 100 years ago this week to help win a new campaign.

His arrival was enough to do that, too. For Sherman came at the head of four crack Federal divisions, veterans of Vicksburg. They had come all the way from Memphis and they arrived at a time when their strength spelled the difference between victory and defeat.

Sherman's men swelled the forces at Chattanooga under Gen. Ulysses S. Grant to 60,000. There was the Army of the Cumberland under George H. Thomas, the army that had been beaten at Chickamauga; there was the army of "Fighting Joe" Hooker which had come a-running from Virginia to Chattanooga; now there was Sherman's army of the Tennessee.

Confederate Gen. Braxton Bragg once had had nearly 60,000 troops, too, but he had wasted fully a fourth of them. Before Sherman's arrival, Bragg had sent 15,000 men under James Longstreet to Knoxville to beat down a little Federal Army there. Now, Bragg found himself outnumbered 60,000 to 40,000.

Grant Acts Fast

Grant fully realized his advantage and hastened to capitalize on it. Sherman reported to Grant on November 15; Grant immediately explained his plans to Sherman and his other generals, and by next morning, Sherman's men were on march for battle.

Grant's plans were as follows: he would send Sherman around behind Chattanooga to the east where he could cut off Longstreet and be in position to strike Bragg's left at Missionary Ridge.

Hooker and his Easterners were to strike Bragg's right at Lookout Mountain. Thomas' Army of the Cumberland was to hold the center, keeping pressure against Bragg while Thomas and Hooker advanced.

Longstreet Attacks

While Grant's men moved into attack formation, Longstreet was busy in his little campaign against Knoxville. Even as Sherman arrived at Chattanooga, Longstreet arrived at Loudon, Tenn., 90 miles to the north. There he crossed the Holston River and moved on the army of Gen. Ambrose E. Burnside.

Grant wired Burnside to "hold Longstreet in check," and Burnside acted accordingly. He withdrew slowly before Longstreet's advance, pulling back toward Knoxville.

On November 15, Longstreet caught up with a portion of Burnside's army at Campbell's Station, 15 miles south of Knoxville, and attacked. Burnside repulsed the attack long enough to get his army back to the city's defenses. Longstreet came on and began a siege of the city.

Next week: Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

Handling Baby Emergencies

By John D. Doherty, Ex. Secretary
Michigan Health Council
East Lansing, Michigan

A baby emergency need not be a frightening experience, if you know in advance just what you should do.

Following are some of the most common emergencies that involve babies and the action to be taken in each case.

Bites—Animal and Human

Clean thoroughly with soap and water and apply sterile dressing. Attempt to identify the animal and its owner. Notify your doctor immediately for all bites. Insect. Apply cold compresses. If pain or swelling are severe notify your doctor.

Burns

Wash gently with soap and water. Cover with clean, loose dressing. Do not use any other treatment without consulting your physician.

Convulsions

Keep baby lying flat. Loosen clothing and keep warm. Do not give anything by mouth until consciousness returns. If baby feels hot, sponge with or place in water which is neither hot or cold. Notify your doctor after convulsion is over.

Cuts, Wounds

If bleeding is profuse, keep the part elevated above the rest of the body if possible and apply pressure over the cut with a clean dressing. Clean with soap and water and cover with sterile dressing. If deep or a puncture wound, call physician.

Poisoning

Produce vomiting. This is most easily done by having a person drink warm water and gagging by sticking the finger down the throat. Save the container of the poison and call a physician. In case of strong corrosive substances such as lye, vomiting is not desirable.

Chemicals In Eye

Wash thoroughly with plain warm water and call your doctor.

Fractures

Move child as little as possible. Splint with a padded stick or thick newspapers tied in several places above and below the area. Call a physician. In case of neck or back injury any movement is dangerous.

Dental Injuries

If tooth is completely knocked out, recover tooth, place in clean tissue, gauze or handkerchief and take with you to the dentist. Prompt attention by your dentist to a broken or chipped tooth may save it.

Foreign Objects

Any foreign body in the nose, throat or ear should be taken care of by a physician. Do not attempt to remove it yourself. If breathing is difficult or embarrassed, put in head down position and slap back sharply. If the object is not obtained, call your doctor or go to the nearest hospital as quickly as possible.

(An attractive leaflet on how to handle baby emergencies is available free to anyone sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to the Michigan Health Council, 712 Abbott Road, East Lansing, Michigan.)

Electricity Rates Lowered Locally

Customers of The Potomac Edison Company in Maryland who reside in small towns and rural areas stand to benefit most from the rate reductions for electric service which went into effect on October 1.

A study of the new rates for residential service, for example, show that rural customers who were previously served under the rural-residential rate who use 150 kilowatt hours per month will save $1.28 per month, or $15.36 per year.

This is part of the $857,000 rate reduction which became effective with meter readings on and after October 1 for all Maryland customers of Potomac Edison. It affects some 85,976 customers of which 76,110 are in the residential category.

The bulk of the reduction—nearly $484,000—has been applied to the residential class of customer.

For those customers living in the larger urban areas there is a substantial reduction, although not as large as in rural areas. For the city dweller using 150 kilowatt hours per month, the reduction amounts to 93 cents per month, or $11.16 per year.

Reductions to commercial establishments, such as stores, service stations, etc., also were made. These, too, benefit the rural and small town customer more so than those in the urban areas. Over 9,500 such customers will receive reductions amounting to a total of $236,342.

Several categories of industrial customers receive rate cuts amounting to a total of nearly $136,000 per year.

The October 1st rate cut was the 13th major rate reduction for Maryland customers of PE since 1932. Company officials point out that larger, more efficient generating units and the availability of electric power through high voltage interconnections with adjoining electric power systems are major factors in the decreasing cost of electricity.

Two such examples were cited by PE officials. One is the fact that Potomac Edison and an affiliated company will share initial cost of construction of a 500,000 kilowatt generating unit near the West Virginia-Pennsylvania border. This new "Fort Martin" station will cost an estimated $48 million.

The second example cited was the interconnection now being built between PE and the Potomac Electric Power Company system. This 230,000 volt project will tie PE's transmission system into PEPCO's system at the latter's Dickerson Generating plant in Montgomery County. Such interconnections permit both companies to exchange electric power as needs dictate.

With the availability of electricity from such sources, utility officials point out, it is possible to hold down production costs and to pass these savings on to customers.

Livestock Show Opens Saturday

More than 1,430 animals from fifteen states will be exhibited at the seventeenth Eastern National Livestock Show, November 16-21, at the State Fair Grounds in Timonium, according to Show Manager Jack Matthews.

Animals will be shipped in by train and truck from as far west as Texas. Other states represented in this year's show include Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Georgia, Ohio, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and South Carolina.

At least twelve meat buyers from Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia will be at the Show to bid on the various animals offered for sale, Mr. Matthews said. "We are grateful for the excellent response of the buyers," he added, "for without them, there simply would be no Eastern National."

Major buyers who will be at the show include the Schludersberg-Kurdle Co., Baltimore; Heinz's Riverside Abattoir, Inc., Baltimore; Safeway Stores, Washington, D. C.; Arbogast & Bastian Co., Allentown, Pa.; Benson Meat Market, Bel Air; Geo. G. Ruppersburg & Sons, Inc., Baltimore, and Albert F. Goetz, Inc., Baltimore.

Fifty million participate in amateur art activities—32 million of them play musical instruments, 15 million paint, sketch or sculpt, a million are serious photographers and half-million are amateur actors.

Senate Whip Says Reduce Taxes Now

By Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D., Minn.)
U.S. Senate Majority Whip

Tax reduction is necessary now. The essential reason is that this nation still has about five million men and women unemployed. This is a personal tragedy for each one of the jobless citizens.

Our unemployment rate also offers proof that the economy is not growing and expanding fast enough to achieve and maintain full employment and full use of our plant capacity.

The $11 billion tax cut program means that $11 billion will be freed to go to work on our economy—to boost purchasing power, to increase production, to create jobs for all citizens, and ultimately to strengthen the United States with a more sound economic basis.

The basic reason for excessive unemployment is that economic activity is not expanding rapidly enough—that our economy is not growing fast enough—to use our productive resources fully.

Let none of us believe for a moment that only the unemployed are hurt by idle manpower and plant production. The Council of Economic Advisors tells us that our annual rate of production is now $30 to $40 billion short of maximum production; other economists estimate it higher.

Taking the midpoint of competent estimates, we have during the past decade, in consequence of the low economic growth, forfeited about $330 billion worth of total production.

In other words, we wasted that amount of money. Waste anywhere should not be condoned. However, the waste of manpower and plant capacity to the tune of $300 billion in 10 years is unpardonable.

Let us not forget that this is production, these wages and these jobs are irretrievably lost regardless of what action the 88th Congress takes in regard to tax reduction.

Where we are today is the platform from which we shall grow slowly or vigorously in the years ahead. A midpoint of competent estimates is that, if the economic performance of the past decade is repeated, we could forfeit during the next four years another 16 million man-years of employment opportunity and another $206 billion worth of total national production. In that event, by 1966, unemployment could be a full 50 percent higher than it is now.

The reduction of unemployment, the acceleration of economic growth is a positive goal. It reflects our awareness that, with new science and the new technology, we can within a few short years solve "the most pressing economic problem" in the United States.

Those who say that Congress will not act on tax reduction this year are engaging in political maneuvering and tricks of propaganda. The leaders of Congress do not accept such cynical assessments. We do not believe Congress and the Nation are so naive or indifferent that they will ignore the tax reduction program.

We have now within our grasp the opportunity for every American citizen to live a secure, challenging, productive and meaningful life.

With such possibilities within our grasp, Congress should need no marching orders. We know what must be done. And now is the time to get on with it.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses
Developing A New Industry
BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 14—This is an article on whales, but I need the help of the United Nations to make whaling a "new" industry. Well, here is my story.

My Boyhood And Whales

When I was a boy, it seemed as if the ocean was full of whales. They apparently lived at the bottom of the sea where they would not be harpooned by whalers going out from New Bedford, Mass., and other seaports which made a specialty of getting whales. Gradually, the number of whales was depleted. Finally, an international "agreement" was arranged whereby the nations were given quotas; but these have never been honored.

Therefore, I have a definite proposition, namely, that the whaling industry be taken over by the United Nations, which would see that only the male whales are killed and that the female whales are allowed to reproduce. This would seem a legitimate work for the United Nations, and one which would bring the UN a definite income. I can imagine it making a good contribution toward paying off the United Nations' present deficit.

History Of The Cattle Industry

When I was a boy there was virtually no cattle industry. My uncle went west to Nebraska where the cattle with great horns were roaming freely over the prairies. Gradually, wire fences were erected to allow the cattle to be branded and ultimately dehorned. That was done with rattle, and we have the great cattle industry of today. The same type of thing could be done with the whaling industry; but it must take place under water instead of on the open prairie.

Whales are mammals, not fish. They are kindly and intelligent; but have gradually been driven away from civilized ports and killed, irrespective of whether they are male or female, and even when they are pregnant. The whaling industry could be brought back and become almost as great as the cattle industry; but this can only be done if the industry is controlled by an organization like the United Nations.

Let Us Appeal To The United Nations

Therefore, I make an appeal to the United Nations that it seriously take up this problem before the whales all go to the Arctic or Antarctic waters, largely under the ice, for protection. Let us turn the tide before it is too late, and bring forth and protect a new industry for the world which will equal the cattle industry in importance, and provide wealth, employment, and prosperity for all who have a part therein.

This is a very practical matter and it could easily be accomplished. The waters of the oceans are the only natural monopoly the United Nations have. Certainly, before spending billions on "going to the moon," we might find out what is at the bottom of the seas, which make up four-fifths of the world's area and which we now know almost nothing about.

How Did The Oil Industry Start?

John D. Rockefeller personally told me that there was a break-through in Pennsylvania where the crust of the earth was thick, and a puddle of oil was seen on the surface. Later other "breakthroughs" occurred in California, Texas, and other states. This is the way the great oil industry started.

THE "SECOND SEASON"

Fishing season has opened... again! September traditionally signals the end of summer vacations. It also ushers in a revitalized fishing period that rivals the action-packed weeks of spring.

With the approach of cool autumn weather and lower water temperatures, the fishing staff at Mercury outboard motors reminds us that we can expect to find activity picking up at a brisk clip. And it will steadily improve until snow flurries appear.

As the blistering heat of summer subsides, game fish lose their lethargy and move out of deep water havens into the shallows. Their appetites are whetted by more agreeable temperatures and a rapidly diminishing food supply. They're less choosy, now, and inclined to gobble at a tasty morsel whenever the opportunity arises.

Areas which produced only bullheads and bluegills in July and August suddenly start yielding lunkers again.

During fall, too, you'll discover many of our best waters virtually deserted. With the kids back in school and vacations over, many families won't return until next year. Most of the trotlines have been stored away and can't interfere with shore line trolling.

Autumn's definitely the time to go fishing, the Mercury experts say. The fish are cooperative. Days are pleasant. And there's plenty of elbow room for all.

This "second season" can be the best of the year.

Bottom Of The Ocean?

It is only common sense to believe there are many "break-throughs" on the crust of the floor of the ocean through which oil comes which the whales have been living on. Now, however, they have been driven north to the Arctic or south to the Antarctic, where it is too cold for them to be found and killed. The bottom of the ocean is today as brilliant a hunting ground as were the prairies of the Central West before the wire fences were built or the cattle branded or dehorned.

The first man of my acquaintance who had the foresight to study the bottom of the ocean was Mr. E. W. Scripps, who personally told me of his great undiscovered wealth and who left a sum of money to endow such a study. Let me add that I think he was a great-grandfather of the wife of William Loeb (commonly known as "Nackey"). Unfortunately, no United Nations existed in that day and Mr. Scripps was obliged to depend upon his newspaper syndicate to promote interest in the project.

A "How-To-Do-It" PAINT POINTERS

Long, warm—not hot—days, fewer bugs, less danger of sudden showers—these are factors that make fall preferable to spring for house painting.

About the only traditional drawback to fall house painting is the heavy dew that deposits adhesion-defeating moisture which the sun must dry off before painting can be begun.

That's no longer a problem, thanks to new "Lucite" house paint. A water-emulsion material, it can be applied to damp surfaces. Based on acrylic resins such as are used in tough, modern-day auto finishes, it goes on easily, and dries in minutes instead of hours, so you can apply two coats, where desired, in a single day. Then, your painting tools can be washed out in plain tap water at the end of the day.

And here's the best news. Properly applied over a sound base, "Lucite" house paint lasts longer than conventional oil-base paints.

Insulation Needed For All-Year Use Of Finished Attic

If finishing the attic to add living space is on your do-it-yourself schedule this year, don't waste time and money creating a room that's going to be too hot for comfort in summer and unbearably cold in winter.

Invest a little extra time and money to insulate it adequately now and you'll reap dividends in comfort and fuel savings far into the future. Installing mineral wool insulation to recommended standards usually pays for itself in a few years through savings on heating and cooling costs.

Even if you're not handy enough to tackle the rest of the attic finishing work, you should have no problem installing batts or blankets of mineral wool. No special tools are required—just a sharp knife and a heavy-duty staple gun, which you can probably rent or borrow.

Batts of mineral wool are installed carefully between wall studs with vapor barrier facing heated area.

Here are a few points to keep in mind:

To insulate the whole attic space, staple insulation across the collar beams and down the rafters to the wall plate.

To insulate just the living space within the attic, staple insulation across the collar beams, down the rafters and knee wall studs and along the ceiling joists to the wall plate.

Don't cover vents. Air circulation is important both winter and summer.

Staples should be placed no more than six inches apart.

Be sure to butt ends of batts or blankets tightly. Fill any irregular spaces with mineral wool torn from a batt and then cover the area with vapor barrier.

Read Psalm 46.

Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee. (Isaiah 26:3.)

A Chaplain has told of an experience during World War II. His outfit had moved four times during the night and now was resting in a grove of olive trees in one of the most beautiful spots of the Po River Valley in Italy. There was a lull in the fighting. It was Sunday, a balmy, spring-like day, and the chaplain was preparing to hold services.

He waited as the men assembled. As he waited, he wondered just what he should say to them. None of his sermons previously seemed to fit. As he thumbed through his Bible, his eyes came to the Book of Isaiah and the words of our text.

This was what he needed and what his men needed. God's perfect peace! That was his message to his men that day. They were led to see that, no matter what their outward circumstances might be, they could experience the perfect peace of God as they put their trust in Him.

O God, teach us to trust in Thee. When we are faced with trouble and anxiety, help us to look to Thee for Thy guidance into the peace the world cannot give or take away. Keep us in Thy love, and help us to love Thee now and evermore. In the name of Christ we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day
No matter what our outward circumstances may be, we can know the perfect peace of God.

Have you ever spent hours picking burrs, sand spurs, thistles,
etc. out of wool socks, sweaters,
etc.? Tedious job isn't it? Well, the fast way to get 'em out is with a comb, preferably a steeltoothed one. Teeth tend to lift rather than pull spines and the job gets done fast.

No Rust... For Sure

Salt water fishermen have real problems trying to keep snaps, swivels and other small stuff from corroding. No matter how good the material is, daily use in the brine seems to be able to break it down. Here's one way to really beat the salt. Just store the items in baby food jars filled with oil.
Constant oil emersion flushes salt away and inhibits corrosive attack.

Sometimes fishing (and often hunting) keeping the squeak out of oarlocks is important. Oil is Temper gets you into trouble.
Pride keeps you there. Luck is always against the man who depends on it.

Repeat Performance

On May 13, 1960, a sorry spectacle was staged at City Hall in San Francisco. There fanatical Communists got enough support from misdirected and poorly informed young people to accomplish the break-up of hearings being conducted by the U. S. Congress, through its House Committee on UnAmerican Activities. There are otherwise solid citizens who to this day will insist, despite all the evidence, a widely shown filmed version, and the subsequent testimony, that nothing serious was amiss. No Communist conspiracy. No subversion of youth.
U. S. Communists all discredited and powerless. Just a demonstration for civil rights.

The Communists still dislike,
with reason, the House Un-American Activities Committee.
And the party is still powerful enough, despite the intent of Supreme Court decisions to curb its activities that are yet to be enforced, to pull off another demonstration. This time it was staged as near to the Halls of Congress as it is possible to get. Those who have insisted the San Francisco riot didn't happen must now be impressed post facto, with the presence of some kind of power apparatus in operation for Communist purposes.

They Don't Show Up

The Committee was undertaking to get the facts of the illegal visit that 59 students made to Cuba this summer as guests of Fidel Castro. It was Chairman Willis himself who was presiding when the San Francisco fracas took place.
This time he had to call off the hearings after two days of what press services described as the "noisiest and roughest demonstrations at the Capital in years." On the first day 15 yelling, kicking demonstrators were ejected. Next day, a reinforced squad of policemen had to clear out at least 35, some from the hearing room.

In ending the public hearings, Congressman Willis said he believed the "ugly episode" was Communist inspired but that for the most part the "big boys who don't show up are the Communists." Of those defiant students who applauded the expressed scorn from the student travellers toward both the State Department and the Committee, he said they were following the most unAmerican tradition ever in these demonstrations. Most of them were dupes of the Communists.

Propaganda Junket

In handling the problem, the best our government came up with was a State Department reprimand in the form of cancelled passports after completion of the trip. This seems consistent with the current warming trend that Washington follows in the Cold War and is little different from the Attorney General to known Communists, who carry on their activities as if all were forgiven.
A five-year prison term could

Some interesting USDA figures have been called to our attention by the Bag-T-Nut Company of Baltimore. They show that nuts of all varieties, plus dried beans and peas, are the most economical sources of iron, protein and niacin. They also rank high as dollar-conscious supplies of thiamine, calcium and riboflavin.

Here's a tip that may save you some money on that seasonal favorite the turkey. Few people realize that recent breeding techniques have made toms equal in tenderness to hens. The price differential was valid at one time but there's no reason for it today, other than the law of supply and demand.

Onions may soon lose their reputation as tear-makers.
They're starting to follow the path blazed by potatoes toward increased sales in processed forms — fresh frozen, especially. One of the pioneers in this field, Southland Frozen Foods of New York, reports being exceptionally pleased with sales of polyethylene-bagged diced onions.

What can you make for Christmas-season bazaar items?
The National Cotton Council (Box 12286, Memphis, Tennessee) offers a free booklet of sewing ideas to groups or individuals, entitled "Cotton Bag Sewing Ideas" featuring inexpensive toy and apparel items.

And while we're talking about Christmas ideas, we recently received from one of the manufacturers a box of metal-coated saran icicles. Out of curiosity we dug out the old kind we used last year and were amazed at how much brighter the icicles in this new box are. And the makers claim they won't tarnish with age.

be legally imposed on these violators of the ban on travel to Cuba. Is this reluctance to crackdown a firm policy of Washington?

Estimates are that this propaganda junket may have cost Fidel Castro as much as $200,- 000. The students had to go via Prague, some 8,000 miles out of their way, because Canadian authorities would not permit a Cuban plane to pick them up.
But apparently very little was done by Washington to interfere. Once in Cuba the group frolicked with Fidel and other Communist brass. They beamed broadcasts from Radio Havana about all the truth they had discovered.

New Crop Of Lecturers

By this time some news media had dug up information showing the leaders of the excursion to have ties with Communist fronts. One of the leaders has claimed to be working toward "a revolutionary Socialist Party" in the U. S. and expects the "working class" to "seize control of the State." Another told newsmen in Havana that the American visitors were Marxist - Leninists and would defend the right of the Communist Party to exist in the U. S. Another is employed by an organization officially cited as a Communist front.

One wonders whether these pro-Castro students have now returned to college and university campuses to continue their propaganda stint, pleading sympathy for the "brilliant successes" of the bearded dictator.
Evidently this junket qualifies them to join the renewed drive being undertaken by the Communist Party to rebuild its youth movement in a "softer" America. One major tactic, according to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, is to flood campuses with speakers.

Communist spokesmen appeared on more than 30 campuses last year. That record will doubtless fall as soon as these young Fidelistas move out onto the lecture circuit.

Book Available On Maryland's Courts

Maryland's court system is the subject of a publication released by the League of Women Voters last week. Entitled, "The Maryland Judiciary—a Study of the Judiciary Article of the Maryland Constitution", this is the latest in a series of studies on the state's Constitution undertaken by the League.

The study presents an historical review of the Maryland judicial system, and an analysis of the courts at each level. It compares the courts with criteria established by the American Bar Association and the National Municipal League.

"We are looking ahead to 1970, when the voters will be asked to decide by referendum whether a Constitutional Convention should be called to rewrite Maryland's 100-year-old constitution," stated
Mrs. Otto Landman, of Bethesda,
Chairman of the League's State Constitution Study Committee.

Studies have already been completed on reapportionment of the General Assembly, state-local relations, and the referendum procedure.

The judiciary study focuses attention on a number of areas, including:

1. The absence of a unified and uniform judiciary throughout the state and its subdivisions. "Maryland's judiciary . . . is in many instances so diverse as to provide different justice in different parts of the state."
2. The possibility of being tried twice for the same offense in the state courts, i.e. double jeopardy.
3. The unique responsibility of juries to judge law as well as facts in criminal cases.
4. The present method of nominating and selecting judges, which is now under critical review by the Bar itself.
5. The existence of judges at several levels of the court system who are not required to have legal training.

These and other questions will be studied by League members throughout the state before its members decide what changes in the judiciary article of the Constitution should be supported by the Maryland League.

Copies of "The Maryland Ju-diary" may be obtained in Frederick from Miss Rita Gieskin, 1412 N. Market St., Frederick, or they may be ordered from the League of Women Voters of Md., 3416 Highview Court, Silver

Spring. The price is 30c per copy.

Social Security News

W. S. King, District Manager of the Hagerstown Social Security Office, stated this week that his office receives many requests from people on the Social Security rolls about having their benefits increased. He states that one of the first questions asked of a person making such an inquiry is,
"Have you worked since you applied for social security benefits?"

Mr. King explained that the amount of benefits under the Social Security Law is based on the worker's average monthly wages. If, after applying for social security benefits, the worker continues to work or returns to work, he may apply to have his benefits refigured to include the additional earnings. If these additional earnings do not cause the worker's average monthly wages to increase, the benefits payable would remain the same.

If you have worked since applying for social security benefits you should discuss this matter with your social security office as soon as possible.

Don't be a cloud because you can't be a star.

One good thing about silence is that it can't be repeated.

NEW CHEVELLE!

BY CHEVROLET

The kind of handling ease
you'd expect in a smaller car.
Come on down and drive it.

The kind of comfort you'd expect in a large interior.
Come on down and sit in it.

Only a car that looks as good as this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II.
Come on down and stare at it.

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to do more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses*!
And if that makes you think this is one frisky car, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a roomy car here. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions bumps.

And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's suave good looks, too.

Sound good? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this isn't one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving.

Ex Parte in the Matter of the Petition of GLENN CASTLE and ELVA C. CASTLE His Wife, for the Adoption of an Infant

NO. 615 ADOPTIONS In the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The Petition is for the adoption of an infant, and recites that your Petitioners are husband and wife, having been married in June, 1942, at Frederick, Maryland, by a regularly-ordained minister of the Gospel; that your Petitioners are residents of Frederick County, Maryland, where they have resided all of their lives, presently residing at Route 2, Middletown, Maryland; that your Petitioners have in their care and custody a certain Terry Lynn Hoffman, a female child who was born on September 25, 1958, at Washington, D. C., who has been in their care and custody since February, 1959, and that your Petitioners entertain a deep and abiding love and affection for said child, and desire to adopt the said infant and their own child; that the natural mother of the said infant, Sara Jane Hoffman (Knox), is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, whose last known address was 3755 Butler Avenue, Apartment 4, Los Angeles 66, California, and that the natural father of said child is legally unknown; that the said Glenn Castle, one of your Petitioners is 39 years of age, is self-employed as a carpenter, and earns approximately $150.00 per week; that your Petitioner, Elva C. Castle is 42 years of age, and is a housewife; that your Petitioners are members of the Caucasian race, and members of the Protestant faith; that your Petitioners have two children of their own, namely, Eugene Bruce Castle, 20 years of age, and Patricia Diane Castle, 17 years of age; and that your Petitioners can provide the said infant with a comfortable home, with proper training and environment, are willing and able to do so, and that the best interest and welfare of the said child will be promoted by the passage of a Decree of Adoption in this case.

The Petition then prays that a Decree may be passed declaring the said infant child, Terry Lynn Hoffman, to be the adopted child of your Petitioners; that the name of the said infant child be changed from that of Terry Lynn Hoffman to that of Terry Lynn Castle; and for such other and further relief as the nature and equity of their case may require.

It is thereupon this 7th day of November, 1963, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Petitioners give notice to said non-resident of the object and substance of this Petition, by causing a copy of the same to be published in some newspaper published in Frederick County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the 14th day of December, 1963, commanding her to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 14th day of January, 1964, and show cause, if any she has, why the Decree should not be passed as prayed.

Guest Lecturer Coming To College

Jane Gaston Mahler, Ph.D., will visit Saint Joseph College on Saturday, Nov. 16, as a guest lecturer of the Institute of Fine Arts in Oriental Culture. A world traveler and outstanding authority on oriental art, Doctor Mahler's illustrated lecture will be on "Aesthetics". A question and discussion period will follow the talk. Sponsored by the ESSO Education Foundation, the session is the third in a series of eight programs offered by the 1963-64 Fine Arts Institute at Saint Joseph's. Doctor Mahler is Associate Professor of Art History and Archaeology at Columbia University and Barnard College. A native of Dallas, Texas, she received her baccalaureate degree from the University of Wisconsin, and her master's from Columbia University. Dr. Mahler has the distinction of being the first and only recipient of a doctoral degree in Chinese Art and Archaeology from Columbia.

In 1937 Dr. Mahler was awarded the Kokusai Bunka Shinkokai scholarship to study Japanese Art, followed in 1938 by a Carnegie fellowship to study at the Sorbonne, Paris. In 1955 she was awarded the Marian Talbot Fellowship of the American Association of University Women and the Asia Foundation Fellowship for research in Asia.

She is a member of the American Oriental Society, Japan Society, the Board of Governors and Board of Editors of Archives of the Chinese Art Society of America, the Board of Trustees of the Asia Society, the Society of Western Geographers, and the College Art Association. At Columbia, she is faculty chairman of the Sackler Research Committee on Central Asia and Related Areas and past president of the Board of Governors of the Women's Faculty Club.

In the past eight years, Dr. Mahler and her husband, Charles H. Mahler, have made three trips circling the globe, spending a major part of their time in Asia where they photographed art treasures in color for teaching and research, and for use in seminars which they conduct at Columbia. Dr. Mahler has lectured extensively in major museums of the United States, as well as cultural centers of India and Nepal. She is editor in chief of "Art Treasures of Asia," and has also read papers and lectured at the American Oriental Society, Association for Asian Studies, and College Art Association. She recently participated in the televised series "Great Teachers of our Time" over WPIX.

Dr. Mahler has authored several publications on Far Eastern art, including "History of World Art," "Foreigners Among Figurines of the Tang Dynasty of China," "The Art of the Chinese Sceptor," "Turkish Miniature Painting," and is a contributor to the Encyclopedia of Painting and the Encyclopedia of World Art.

Thomas Casaletto, Director of the Fine Arts Institute, announces that a lecture-demonstration on the "Oriental Dance" will be presented on Dec. 7 by Averil Tong, with Rose Kwong.

Correction

In last week's Chronicle it was erroneously stated that Mrs. Mary Pastorett, owner of the Emmitsburg Clothing Store, had purchased the Gift and Candy Shop in Gettysburg. The statement was incorrect and premature. Mrs. Pastorett has leased the Shop and will release an announcement as to policy and products handled at a future date. County Psychologist Named For Schools

Dr. Frances M. Clarke was recently appointed psychologist by the Frederick County Board of Education. Her duties will consist of performing tests, evaluation, and general psychological services for all county public schools, continuing a program of several years standing in the local school system. In other years there were normally two psychologists, but she is alone on the staff.

Dr. Clarke brings to Frederick County a wide background of experience. Her most recent position was that of director of training and research for a National Institute of Mental Health project offering graduate training in therapeutic early childhood education.

Prior to this she served as educational adviser to the Ministry of Education of Costa Rica as an employee of the U. S. Department of State. For the ten years preceding this Dr. Clarke held the position of Coordinator of Psychology at Maryland State College, Towson.

Attending Convention

Miss Gertrude Hotelling, Assistant Professor of Nursing at St. Joseph College, is attending the American Public Health Association Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, this week, as a representative of the college.

The A.P.H.A. is the professional organization for public health workers and is composed of members of all disciplines interested in public health.

Success is not so much a matter of talent as of concentration and perseverance.
