Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

Plans for the Jaycees' school fight continued rather quietly this week as the committee was busily engaged in gathering statistics for the impending injunction which the Town plans to throw at the Frederick County School Board in the near future. The committee reported it was pleased with the response of the citizenry in donating money to the cause and reported the goal about halfway accomplished. The committee also reported it was happy over the moral support given it by the community as a whole. Contributions have been coming in rather steadily and in a few short weeks the committee feels it will have sufficient funds with which to wage the battle with the School Board. Those wishing to contribute to the cause are asked to do so immediately.

The long-awaited bypass news was sprung this week when it was learned for certain which way the highway was going. Thus ended 10 years of anxiety on the part of many land owners in this area. Rumors were rife for quite some time that the road had been changed to the west side of the town. Individuals who were planning to build homes were hesitant to do so not knowing which route the new road would take. Now the final plans have been bared and the public knows exactly which way the new road will go. As was predicted from the start the bypass will go around the East End, back of St. Joseph College and through the empty lots of Emmitt Gardens. This building project has been tied up for 10 years due to the threat of the road going through there. Now that the situation has been clarified it is highly possible that building can be resumed in that section.

Information has it that it will take over a year to complete the bypass so that would take us up to the summer of 1965. Local businesses have that much time to make the necessary adjustment. It will be interesting to see what the effect will be on local business. Other cities and towns that have been bypassed have seemed to negotiate the transition without harmful effect. Oh here and there hardships have developed but looking over the situation here it is believed that very few will get "hurt". What loss in transient trade has developed has been offset by the increase in population and continued growth of communities. With the potential Emmitsburg has I don't feel we have too much to worry about here. We were lucky, in a way, that we were chosen as the last link in the chain of bypasses from Harrisburg to Washington, because business establishments were granted that much more time to stabilize themselves. We urge local businessmen not to get panicky because of the bypass because we have seen very little harmful effects from other towns both large and small, that were circumvented.

Old Man Winter seems to have taken just about his last fling at us by smothering the area with a six-inch snowfall this week. The snow came as a complete surprise and was unexpected until almost the last minute. Oh well, the worst is over and the best is ahead of us so we'll just sweat out the next six weeks.

Interesting Film To Be Shown

The thought provoking film entitled "Teenage Rock" will be shown at the Emmitsburg Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening, February 20, at 7 p.m. This program, to which the public is cordially invited to attend, will also include a performance by the Holland Hand Bell Choir under the direction of Mr. Samuel C. Hays.

Singing will be led by Mr. William R. Slemmer, Jr., and accompanied by organ music by Mrs. Mary Rosensteel.

Refreshments will be served during the social time at the close of the program. Mrs. Homer Tyler will serve as refreshment chairman.

There is no gain so certain as that which arises from sparing what you have.—Publius Syrus.

Named Heart Fund Chairman

Frank Ligorano, Student Union Director, Mt. St. Mary's College, has been named chairman of the Emmitsburg Heart Fund Drive for 1964. The drive will continue throughout February, with emphasis on the door-to-door canvass the last week.

Mr. Ligorano said it was hoped to top last year's local contribution of $341.00 which represented an average of about 25c per person for this area.

The chairman, in explaining the purpose of the program said: "It costs money to carry on the fight against heart disease and the only source is the contributions of the public. We ask you again for your contribution to help fight heart disease in this 1964 campaign. We are very grateful to industry, the churches, the schools, the clubs and organizations and individuals for their support and contributions. Make your check payable to the heart fund and send it to the campaign chairman."

Ligorano recited the many services and advantages the Heart Fund provided for afflicted persons. He referred to the heart education program the county society conducts through the distribution of health literature, especially pamphlets on the care of the heart.

He calls the attention of the public to the many hospital beds located at various points in the county for the use of cardiac patients. The beds and bedside commodes are available without charge and only a doctor's recommendation is needed to get one.

Attention is called also to the throat culture program and a rheumatic fever prevention program that are conducted by the county association.

Stressing the need for funds for research, Ligorano said: "Research has made wonderful strides. New drugs have been made available and heart surgery is prolonging many lives but there is yet a long way to go to find the cause of heart disease and effect a cure."

Chairman Ligorano announces the following list of volunteer workers who will bring the drive to a successful conclusion.

Mrs. Robert Koontz, Emmitt Gardens; Mrs. James Phelan, Old Rt. 15; Mrs. Fred Wolfe, South Seton Ave.; Mrs. Francis Adelsberger, North Seton Ave.; Mrs. Guy Baker Jr., W. Main St., South Side; Mrs. Wm. ## Farmers Notified

Area farmers were urged this week by Raymond Keilholtz, area chairman for the ASC Committee, to check, sign and return their wheat allotment cards for 1964 immediately.

Chairman Keilholtz reminded farmers that the deadline for filing for the ASC program is February 15 and that the deadline for signing up for the feed grain program is March 10.

Mounties Play Here Saturday

Mt. St. Mary's basketballers took two out of three games in action over the weekend. The Phelanmen had little difficulty in subduing Hampden-Sydney last Friday at the local gym taking the contest 66-49. Ed Folk earned 17 points while his teammate, Ed Sarmir, contributed 14.

Saturday night Jim Phelan's aggression faced stiff opposition from their arch rival, Loyola, and just managed to eke out a 98-93 victory over the Baltimore crew.

Loyola was forced to commit an excessive number of fouls against the taller Mountaineer squad and it was from the free throw line the Mount secured its advantage. Phelan's squad, out-shot from the floor 36-30, converted 38 of 52 free tosses while the Greyhounds made good on 21 of 27.

Off to a good start, Loyola took the lead and held on about midway in the half when the Mount pushed ahead and then built up a 49-40 halftime lead in the final three minutes.

The Mountaineers led the rest of the way although the Greyhounds pulled to within three points at one time. Again the Mount spurred for a 12-point lead with 1:40 to go after which Loyola rallied mildly.

Ed Folk topped the Mount scorers with 24 points and also led in rebounding with 16. John Carrell turned in some fine outside shooting and finished with 22. Lou Martine netted 14 and was also credited with 15 rebounds.

Maher of Loyola topped all scorers with a total of 26.

American U., Washington, proved to be the Mount's nemesis Tuesday and sent the Blue and White down to defeat, 78-75, in the Capital City.

The triumph was AU's fourth straight at home and their second of the season over the Mounties, who had brought an 8-game win streak into Tuesday's encounter.

The Mountaineers lead 9-6 early in the game only to have AU take command and trailed by as many as 11 points. Only once in the game after that did the Mounties draw even. This occurred when Ed Folk completed a 3-point play with 15:43 remaining in the second half to make the score 40-41.

John Carrell and Mike Costello led the Mountaineers with 17 and 16 points respectively.

The Mounts lead the Northern Division of the Conference with an 8-2 record. Over-all they are 13-5.

Tonight they meet Randolph-Macon at Ashland, Va. Saturday night they will be home to Catholic U.; Monday night they host Western Maryland and bring the regular season to a close on Tuesday evening meeting Washington College at the local gym. All games begin at 8 p.m.

County Lawyers Oppose County Regulations

The Frederick County Bar Association has gone on record opposing the proposed subdivision regulations of the Frederick County Planning and Zoning Commission.

A statement concerning the views of the local lawyers was released this week by the association president, M. Holmes Fout. Action was taken at a special meeting on Monday.

In a report by a special committee, which was adopted by the Bar Association, the lawyers pointed out that they fail to see "the need of additional local regulations to deal with the subject of roads, water and sewage. The Frederick County Planning Commission has not stated any other specific needs that should be protected against or regulated."

The lawyers first studied proposed subdivision regulations last October and reported that on the questions of roads and water systems and sewage, the regulations or authority to control these items existed with the County Commissioners and State Health Department.

Firemen Honor Past President

President John S. Hollinger presided over the regular monthly meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall.

Chief Sterling H. White reported two fire calls since the last meeting. Jeff Fitzgerald announced there were 75 active and 30 social members paid up at this date.

It was announced that the quarterly meeting of the County Firemen's Assn. would be held in Walkersville on March 11. Fruit baskets were sent to two hospitalized members during the month. They are Lloyd Fitez and Carroll Brown. The building committee met recently to discuss the company's building program. Thomas White and John Balmer were named to a committee to handle the FD license plates this year and anyone interested in obtaining these plates is asked to contact either of the above two committeemen.

A discussion on house rules took place and President Hollinger named the following committee to present a report at the next meeting: Harry Green, chairman, Robert Eiker and Terry Byard.

Immediate Past President John S. Hollinger was presented a trophy by the firemen in recognition of his many years of meritorious service to the company, both by being a member and an officer.

Profs. To Review Book Sunday

The Mt. St. Mary's-St. Joseph College Faculty Discussion Group will meet Sunday, February 16, 8:30 p.m., at the home of Professor Joseph Flaherty. The book to be considered is Vance Packard's "The Status Seekers." The discussion will be moderated by Professor Flaherty.

Veterans are responsible for the repayment of their G. I. loans. Should the veteran default on his payments and the Veterans Administration has to pay a claim to the lender, the veteran will owe the Government the amount the VA had to pay.

Route 15 Bypass Now Assured

Final plans for the bypass of Emmitsburg via U. S. Route 15 have been announced by the Maryland State Roads Commission. The plans were revealed this week when the Commission advertised for bids to complete the construction of the new roadway.

The bypass will represent the last link to be completed in the stretch from Harrisburg to Washington, D. C., a distance of over 100 miles. Motorists soon will be able to travel the entire distance without encountering a single stoplight.

The project will bypass Emmitsburg to the East and the road will run behind St. Joseph College.

The bids are requested for grading, drainage and paving re-laying U. S. 15 from existing Old Frederick Road to Welty Road for a distance of 2.324 miles (flexible pavement). Also included are a three-span continuous concrete slab bridge over Tom's Creek; relocation of the existing eight inch cast iron sanitary force main; reinforced concrete box culvert; and resurfacing of existing U. S. Route 15 from Flat Run to the Pennsylvania State Line for a distance of .94 mile.

The project should be completed by 1965.

The bridge over Tom's Creek is behind St. Joseph College. Thomas G. Mohler, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said that the bridge would be approximately 120 feet long and would be a low-level type structure.

This entire project when completed will be a link from Baltimore and Washington to beyond Gettysburg, first started in 1953. The first section of U. S. 15 to be relocated was a stretch of road from Thurmont north to the east end of St. Anthony's.

From that first contract, four other contracts for stretches of road have been completed. The fifth project is now in the process of being completed and should be finished within this year, Mr. Mohler said.

This section is from Tuscarora Creek to the Lewistown bypass and was started last fall. This particular section takes in almost four miles of road and is being done for a cost of $724,975.75.

Thus ends any speculation as to the route of the new highway. Local property owners have been "sweating out" the route for the past decade and building in Emmitt Gardens has been stymied for that length of time.

The Roads Commission also bared some of its future plans for Route 15 dualization. It said that dualization of Rt. 15 from Frederick to the Pennsylvania state line, a distance of 23.3 miles, was in the plans for the next six years, at a cost of approximately eight million dollars.

Sabillasville Residents Apply Pressure For New School

A delegation from Sabillasville was assured this week by the County Commissioners that everything possible will be done to have a new elementary school built in the north-county community as soon as possible.

The Commissioners said they are in favor of building a school at Sabillasville but have never received a request from the Board of Education for funds to provide a new facility there.

Appearing before the county officials were: Donald Manahan, Rev. C. H. Corl and Robert Martin. Mr. Manahan served as the spokesman for the group. He said "as you know, we have an inadequate school and being from the northern end of the county, we do not feel that our children are getting an equal education in comparison with other schools in Frederick County."

A. Irvin Renn, president of the County Commissioners, told the delegation that the Commissioners were not against building a school at Sabillasville. He said "we know you need a school and a school that is needed has never been turned down by this Board of County Commissioners."

When asked if the building of the Governor Thomas Johnson School would delay the Sabillasville School, Mr. Renn said he didn't know how anyone could say how much the school for this city will cost. The delegation was concerned with published reports that the Thomas Johnson School might cost $6 million and thus use all of the bond money available for the county.

When questioned as to just how the county's school financing stands at the present time, County Accountant Donald C. Linton said that last year a $2½ million county bond was sold and the county borrowed $902,000 from state bonds for school construction. These funds are to be used in building the Brunswick High School and Carroll Manor Elementary School, Mr. Linton said.

The county still has authority to sell $6 million in bonds. This authority was granted in 1962.

Mr. Manahan polled the three Commissioners to get their feelings on building a school at Sabillasville. Commissioner Russell Z. Horman said "I'm interested in supporting schools wherever they are needed in the county and I support a school at Sabillasville."

Commissioner Lawrence A. Dorsey said he favors building a school at Sabillasville. He told the group "it would be awful hard for me to vote all that money here (for Thomas Johnson High) and let Sabillasville without anything."

Lions Club Will Sponsor Horse Show

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club was held Monday evening in Mt. Manor Restaurant, President C. Arthur Elder presiding. One guest, Lion C. E. Wilson of the Fairfield Club, was present.

Robert Simpson, local Scoutmaster, was the guest speaker and gave a brief talk on the operations of the local Scout Troop which the Lions sponsor.

Clarence E. Hahn was appointed the club's delegate to the International Convention to be held in Toronto, Canada in July. Lion Cy Haley reported he would attend a Penn-Maryland Horse Show Circuit meeting Wednesday night in Waynesboro. The group voted unanimously to hold the 1964 Horse Show and the date has been set for Sunday, July 26. Cy Haley was named general chairman of the show, Guy A. Baker, Jr., show secretary and Ralph McDonnell, field chairman.

After discussing the Jaycee School Fund Drive the Lions voted a $25 donation. The Taneytown Lions Club will hold an oyster, shrimp and fried chicken feast in Taneytown on March 10.

Income Tax Exemptions Are Explained

An explanation of personal exemptions and dependents appears to be one of the main questions asked by taxpayers on the telephone service furnished by the Internal Revenue Service, according to Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia.

In order to clarify this particular item and to assist those taxpayers who may have problems in this area, we have asked the cooperation of the news media to publish the following information regarding exemptions and dependents.

You may claim deductions for your exemptions even though you elect to take the standard deduc-tion.

Your Own Exemptions

You may deduct $600 for yourself even though you may be the dependent of another.

Exemption For Age

If you are a citizen or a resident of the United States, and are 65 or older by the end of the year, you get an additional $600 exemption. You are considered to be 65 on the day before your 65th birthday.

Exemptions For Wife Or Husband

If you file a joint return, you may also claim a personal exemption of $600 for your wife, another $600 if she was 65 by the end of the year, and another $600 if she was blind at that time.

You cannot claim your wife as a dependent. You are permitted her exemptions only by reason of the marital relationship.

Exemptions For Dependents

You are allowed an exemption of $600 for each person who qualifies as your dependent. You may NOT claim the additional exemptions for age and blindness for a dependent. To obtain the $600 exemption, each of the following five separate tests, which are discussed in detail below, must be met:

1. Support Test. 2. Gross Income Test. 3. Member of Household or Relationship Test. 4. Citizen Test. 5. Joint Return Test. You must furnish over half of the total support of the dependent during the calendar year. In determining whether an individual received over half of his support from you, compare the amount of support provided by you with the entire amount of support which the individual received from all sources, including support provided by the individual's own funds.

Tax-exempt income and savings which are used for the support of a dependent must be included in computing total support to determine whether you contributed over half. Such items are not included, however, in making the gross income test. Examples of tax-exempt income are, Social Security benefits; Welfare Society benefits; Armed Forces family allotments; Life insurance proceeds; Tax-exempt interest & Nontaxable pensions.

Gross Income Test

Generally you cannot claim a person as a dependent if he received gross income of $600 or more for the year. As in the support test, if you file on the basis of a fiscal year, this test is applied with respect to the calendar year in which your fiscal year begins.

Gross income is the total taxable income of the individual.

Member Of The Household Or Relationship Test

If a person is a member of your household and lives with you for the entire year, it is not necessary that he be related to you in order for you to claim an exemption for him.

A dependent related to you in any one of the following degrees is not required to be a member of your household or live with you:

1. Your child, or your grandchild, great grandchild, etc. (A legally adopted child is considered your child);
2. Your stepchild, but not the stepchild's descendant;
3. Your brother or sister, half brother or half sister, stepbrother or stepsister;
4. Your parent, grandparent, or other direct ancestor, but not foster parent;
5. Your stepfather or stepmother;
6. A brother or sister of your father or mother;
7. A son or daughter of your brother or sister;
8. Your father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law.

Citizenship Test

Your dependent must be a citizen or resident of this country or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Canal Zone, or the Republic of Panama for the year you claim the exemption. You may not claim anyone living in any other part of the world as a dependent unless that person (1) is a citizen or a resident of the United States, or (2) was a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, the Panama Canal Zone, or the Republic of Panama for some part of the tax year.

Joint Return Test

You are not allowed an exemption for your dependent if he or she files a joint return. Suppose you supported your daughter for the entire year while her husband was in the Armed Forces. However, your daughter and her husband file a joint return. Even though you meet all the other tests you may not claim your daughter as a dependent. If, however, your son-in-law files a separate return he may not claim an exemption for your daughter, since she would then be your dependent.

St. Joe's Girls Win

The girls' basketball team of St. Joseph's High School defeated the girls of Emmitsburg High in a fast-moving game played last Friday afternoon. The game ended in a tie, 28-28, but at the end of the two minute overtime, St. Joe's proved the winner, 30-28. High scorer for St. Joseph's was Mary O'Brien with 16 points.

French Majors From Two Colleges Meet Here

Dim recollections of high school French or a tourist's phrase book would have been of little help to anyone attending the meeting of French language majors from Gettysburg College and Saint Joseph College at Emmitsburg Wednesday evening.

A panel discussion in French with participants from both colleges was arranged by Sister Margaret Flint, D.U., chairman of St. Joseph's Modern Languages Dept. to discuss the forthcoming production of Jean Anouilh's "L'Alouette" which will be staged in French by le Treteau de Paris at St. Joseph's on April 13. Le Treteau de Paris, a French repertory group, is presently touring college campuses throughout the United States under the auspices of the Cultural Counselor of the French Embassy.

Mary Jo Roos, president of the Omega chapter of Pi Delta Phi, national French Honor Society for college and university students, welcomed faculty and students from both colleges. Virginia Wagner, chairman, led the panelists in a lively discussion (all in French) of the play. Under scrutiny were its characterizations, historical values and philosophy, and comparison with Shaw's "Jeanne d'Arc."

Panelists from Gettysburg College were Nancy Shaffer, chairman; Katrine Hedrick, Sandy Parkin, Jodi Gafroy and Lee Gross. Representing St. Joseph's were Carolyn Cox, Joan Finn, Cathy Kochanski, Mary Jo Roos and Virginia Wagner.

For interested students who find that French is not quite their forte, a similar session is planned to be conducted in English at St. Joseph's on March 10.

Mount Dean Names List

Rev. Carl J. Fives, Dean of Studies at Mt. St. Mary's College, announces 26 collegians have been included on the Dean's List for the past semester.

To qualify a student must attain an 88% or better average in all of the subjects for which he is registered.

The current list includes 14 seniors, eight juniors and four sophomores. Of this number seven are from Pennsylvania, six from New York, five from Maryland, four from New Jersey and one each from Connecticut, Rhode Island, Georgia and Virginia.

Southern States Meeting Planned

Approximately 73 members of Southern States Cooperative's advisory boards, directors of local cooperatives, committee members, agricultural workers and retail agency managers from this area, will attend a regional board meeting in Frederick on February 19. The session will be held at the Francis Scott Key Hotel and will begin at 10 a.m.

Also attending the meeting will be a number of guest young farmers from the area.

A highlight of the meeting will be a discussion on "Meeting the Changing Credit Needs of Farmers Today," by a special credit panel. The panel will be composed of Herbert Snyder, representing the Production Credit Assn. of Frederick; Henry Shoemaker, a representative of the Farmers & Mechanics National Bank of Frederick; and Price Hopkins of Frederick, representing the Farmers Home Administration. Robert Bryan, Southern States Regional manager of Baltimore, will be the panel moderator.

William T. Milleson of Springfield, a member of the Southern States 15-man board of directors, will preside at the meeting.

Those expected to attend the meeting from the Emmitsburg area are: Ralph D. Lindsey, manager of Emmitsburg Feed and Farm Supply, and local board members: Raymond E. Keilholz, Carroll Wivell, Kermit Glass and

Local Man Saves Lives In Fire

Twelve persons were left homeless and approximately $23,000 in damages was reported following two fires in the Blue Ridge Mountain area within 20 hours last week.

The first fire occurred Wednesday morning when a 10-room, two and one half story frame apartment house at Cascade was gutted by fire.

The fire, which caused approximately $16,000 in damages, was spotted by John J. Sanders, Emmitsburg, R2, an employee of a cleaning and pressing establishment next door to the apartment house.

Sanders climbed a seven-foot porch post, swung himself onto the roof and got into the second floor apartment occupied by the family of Sgt. Johnny M. Reynolds, a Ft. Ritchie cook.

Military Police from the headquarters at the Fort Ritchie gate, ran to the scene as Sanders handed down Reynolds' infant son and his wife. Sanders then jumped to safety. Firemen from Ft. Ritchie and Blue Ridge Summit battled the blaze.

The second fire was reported at 5:30 a.m. Thursday when a nine-room house at Pen Mar, occupied by the Leory Thomas family, burned to the ground, leaving the family homeless.

Mrs. Emma Krieger, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krieger, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin McCleary of Waynesboro, and Mrs. Robert Sismore, Seaside, Calif., visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Shorb recently.

100 YEARS AGO

SHERMAN'S MEN BURN, SACK MERIDIAN, MISS.

By Lon K. Savage

Meridian, Miss., a railroad center 150 miles east of Vicksburg, had become an important supply depot for the Confederate army during the Civil War. Perhaps more important, it had become a center of activity for Southern guerillas who raided Union installations in the Deep South. But 100 years ago this week, Meridian, Miss., became a wasteland—sacked, looted, wrecked and burned by Union soldiers under General William Tecumseh Sherman.

Sherman would make his reputation for destruction with Southerners later that year in his famous march across Georgia, but he gave a good preview of his warfare at Meridian.

Sherman had set out from Vicksburg with 20,000 men on February 3 to destroy the railroads there and, if things worked out well, to move on toward Selma or Mobile in Alabama.

Confederates Withdraw

His men easily beat down resistance as they moved across the state. They passed through Jackson February 6 and arrived at Meridian on the 14th. Outnumbered Confederates under Bishop Leonidas Polk withdrew. Then the Federals went to work.

There were 10,000 of them at the job, and they spent five days on it. Their objective was to destroy all that could be of use to the Confederate war effort, and they interpreted the objective literally.

They tore up railroad tracks from 25 to 50 miles in all directions, bending the tracks and burning the ties. Sixty-one bridges and culverts were burned. So were more than a mile of trestles.

Turning on the buildings, the soldiers burned the town arsenal, two hotels, several factories, shops and storehouses. Bales of cotton, textiles, foodstuffs and army equipment also went up in blaze.

Cavalry Stopped

Sherman had ordered a force of cavalry to come down from Memphis and join him in a march into Alabama. But Confederate General Nathan Bedford Forrest had intercepted the Union cavalry as it moved south and in a sharp fight at Okodona sent it retreating in panic back to Memphis. Although outnumbered, Forrest had out-manuevered and out-fought the Federals to win one of his most glorious victories.

Without the cavalry support, Sherman turned his men westward again and left the smoking ruins that marked Meridian. As his army headed back for Vicksburg, Negro slaves from throughout central Mississippi fell in behind the blue coated column and marched with them.

Soon, Sherman noticed, there were "about ten miles of Negroes" following his army—from 5,000 to 8,000 men, women and children marching they knew not where, except that they were marching away from slavery.

Next week: A fight in Florida.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Prices And Inflation

BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 13, 1964—Upturns in selected commodity prices, especially nonferrous metals, are causing concern in some quarters. These could be the first signs of a broad price breakthrough on the upside within a few years. Many are wondering whether this might be the forerunner of a new wave of inflation.

What Is Inflation? No two authorities define inflation in exactly the same way. The economist takes one point of view, the banker another, the manufacturer a third, and so on. But they all boil down to this: Inflation comes when the supply of money exceeds the supply of goods.

Such a situation occurs whenever there is a big enough increase in government or private credit to trigger higher prices and higher wages. It can also occur when there is an increase in the circulation of money, because this has the same effect that more money would have. In very recent years, careful money and credit management by the federal government—especially the Federal Reserve System—has kept inflation pretty much in check. Now that taxes are to be reduced substantially, it will be harder to hold inflation back.

Further Uptilt In Prices

I forecast that domestic wholesale commodity prices will show further strength in the months just ahead. I base this prediction on the following convictions: (1) Cost are high and will rise further, especially during the first half of 1964; (2) profit margins are unrealistically small in certain instances; (3) demand, which is already heavy, will broaden considerably when the tax cut becomes effective.

But I want to point out too that these plus factors are very nearly offset in many cases by large world supplies of raw materials as well as by strong competitive pressures in individual industries, both in the U. S. and in leading producing nations abroad.

Crop Prices To Firm Also

Public spending power could be increased by nearly $6 billion this year, once the tax bill becomes law. At first, this will spur the effort to raise the price level. But later, as the government applies the brakes in the form of higher interest rates and perhaps some credit restrictions, manufacturers will likely have some second thoughts. I forecast we are not now headed for runaway price inflation.

However, in addition to price firming in industrial commodities, I look for a better tone in farm product quotations, though gains there will probably be limited. During the past couple of years we made some good dents in the huge surpluses of agricultural products our government has been holding. This was helped by expanding exports due to crop reverses in Europe. But the U. S. last year also produced more food and feedstuffs than ever before, so the surplus is still a problem. Hence U. S. crop prices can hardly be expected to show great or lasting upturns. Whatever gains over 1963 do occur will result from smaller livestock marketings and heavy purchases of grains for shipment abroad, including those to Russia and her satellites.

What About Consumer Prices?

While wholesale prices of both agricultural and industrial commodities are moving up, what will happen to prices at retail and to living costs? I believe 1964 will see more of the same type of creeping inflation that we have had during the last few years. Heavy total government spending (at all levels) is a big factor in this year-to-year boost in consumer prices and living costs. Waste and inefficiency in both government and private business are also important. Hence I see no early end to the steady decline in the purchasing power of the dollar.

vs. MARGARET L. BASHAN FRAVEL

1409 Bennington Street Kansas City, Missouri NO. 20,541 EQUITY In the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION The Bill of Complaint is a suit to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Margaret L. Bashan Fravel. The Bill recites that the Complainant, Robert L. Fravel, is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where he has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, whose last known address was 1409 Bennington Street, Kansas City, Missouri; that the parties hereto were married on the 22nd day of April, 1961, at Liberty, Missouri, by Rev. Lee F. Soxman, Jr., a regularly ordained minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage no child or children were born; and that the parties to this cause have voluntarily lived separate and apart without any cohabitation for more than eighteen months prior to the filing of this Bill of Complaint, and that the separation between the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation.

The Bill then prays that the Complainant, Robert L. Fravel, be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Margaret L. Bashan Fravel, and for such other and further relief as the nature of his case may require.

COURT ORDER It is thereupon this 23rd day of January, 1964, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks before the 29th day of February, 1964, commanding her to be and appear in this Court, in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 31st day of March, 1964, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

Don't be fooled by talk of government economy. Total spending by public agencies will climb in coming years — even though controls may ease the impact. Inflation is by no means dead. In the early 1970s, if not before, it could be our country's Number One Problem!

"There, there, dear don't cry - maybe tomorrow you'll push the right buttons to get breakfast!"

One day all on his own Billy started learning how to ride a bike (his older brother's). The straightaway was a breeze, but the first corner cost Billy a badly skinned knee.

His mother felt the doctor ought to take a look at it. She picked up her phone. "Bring him right over," said Doctor Williams.

Problems have a way of disappearing when you lift your phone.

After the doctor treated the battle-scarred knee, Billy's mother relaxed. She really was proud of Billy's feat.

Maybe a bike for his birthday?

The phone call? Certainly not the major event of the day, but still an important one. It brought peace of mind to a conscientious mother.

POLICE DESERVE YOUR COOPERATION

When you would prefer to drive 10 or 15 miles over the speed limit . . . when you would like to go the other way down a one-way street . . . when you would like to park in a No Parking zone or do something that is contrary to the rules, yet which seems harmless to you . . . these are the times when you might feel that traffic laws are against you. But then, when you see some one else high-balling it at a dangerous speed, zooming through a school zone, or under the influence of alcohol, then you wonder where the Traffic Officer is.

Too many of us seem convinced that traffic laws are for the other fellow. . . and only for him. . . we want laws to protect us against the reckless, irresponsible drivers . . . and so they do. Yet traffic laws serve a double purpose. They protect us against the unsafe driving of others, true. They also are designed to serve as a guide as to how to use the streets and highways with the greatest safety convenience, and to protect other drivers (and pedestrians) against our own misdeeds behind the wheel. It is no more than the act of an intelligent person to protect others by knowing and observing those same rules we depend upon to save us from the rash behavior of other drivers and pedestrians.

Violators pay an extravagant price for willful or thoughtless flouting of traffic laws. They exact a senseless price from the blame-less victims of the accidents they cause.

ASSOCIATION

Who Hates Business?

While various prominent leaders on the national scene were focusing their attention upon the supposed presence of hatreds on the American scene, because of President Kennedy's assassination, there was one hatred that was escaping attention.
Who is it that seems to want business to get more than its share of mistrust? What hates business? Who is it that fights business and makes it a continuing battle? Who hates the idea of production for profit, and wants to ignore the fact it is the consumer who determines the profit?

Considered the world over, perhaps it is the whole kit of Marxist ideas that most conflicts with the idea of the free market place in a free environment, a system that is fed by consumers' demands and an answering enterprise. Certainly it is Communism that calls for the overthrow of capitalism, that vows hatred for private and individual enterprise as opposed to the interests of the State.
This is the framework in which a world-wide conflict is conducted against private business.
The Use of Freedom

Yet it is these freedoms to buy and sell, to hold property, to offer services, to invest in ideas, to accumulate tools, and to invent and develop that distinguishes the American success story. These freedoms are powerful. The respect business has toward the use of these elements of power is understandable. Business knows and respects the power of new ideas, of the use of accumulated capital (labor and tools), of efficient methods, of competition for acceptance, of the stimulus of profit. Most successful businesses in America have used these wisely and with restraint.

Who, then, hates business?
The general public? Not really, unless one finds some misinformed intellectual, disgruntled employee, or professional accuser. Despite the venom spewed by a sector of the press toward business, most Americans respect the system and even "big" business. Despite a considerable vacuum of economic education, the public is not unfriendly toward business. Many are not informed, but they are not disloyal nor anti-business.
The Controllers

Some otherwise thoughtful persons see too much of the competitive spirit, thinking perhaps, as labor leaders so often express themselves, that what is one man's gain is another's loss. They fail to see that benefits of or system are passed on to everyone very thoroughly.
Everyone enjoys the productivity of all of us and our machines.
Our wealth and per capita income have been doubling every 25 years, mostly because of the effort and skill being exercised in all kinds of business activity. Business has no reason to apologize for its pursuit of profit, in view of the benefits enjoyed by all.

Who, then is anti-business?
It is probably not unfair to reflect at this point that another system based largely on state control or state ownership of both tools and men, has gained a very large following in the world. Most of the Communist following is enforced, however.

But the Marxist leaders have found that their easiest path to power is to fight business and like to think that power in gov-the people, but it is easy to see how close this gets us to the

There remains some lingeryear. Confidence at the New Year is high, in almost every measurement of business activi-

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

Positioning Your Infant

By Kenneth S. Shepard, M.D.
Director, Well Baby Clinics
Northwestern U. School of Medicine
When first born, an infant assumes a "position of comfort."
This is the intra-uterine posture.
Many infants actively resist efforts to alter this position and when released promptly reassume their position of comfort.

Early in life, an infant develops a preferred attitude that is not related to this "position of comfort." It is important that a mother be aware of this so that she may avert certain, though usually temporary variations in body contour or position.

The infant who is permitted to lie continuously on his back may flatten the back of his head. If an infant, who lies on his back, always turns his head in the same direction, a flattening of the side of the head may result.

Should the infant's position be changed to abdomen-lying after the side of the head has been flattened, he will continue to affect the same position, producing a lateral elongation of the skull.
In most instances, however, these variations from normal skull contour are corrected spontaneously soon after the infant starts to sit up.

From the time of birth, a full-term healthy infant can, when lying face downward, lift his head and turn it from one side to the other. For this reason, it is frequently advised that the infant be placed on his abdomen. The infant quickly learns to prefer this position, and many babies are unable to sleep until so placed.

DON'T WORRY, CHUM.

Since the baby who is placed on his abdomen will usually lie in a frog position, there are some who fear that the thigh bones may turn out and externally rotate at the hips and that pressure may be exerted on the knee, the heel and the ankle. There is no need for concern as the rotation of the hips is corrected quickly when the infant begins to stand and walk. The pressure on the heel and the ankle is also self-correcting.

Remembering that the infant is a person who is lying in bed practically all the time, and mindful of his strong tendency to develop a position of preference, it is advised that his position be changed from time to time.

One suggested routine is that at night the infant lie on his abdomen, while during part of the day he may lie on his back and then be propped alternately on one side and the other.

LAKE, SEA & RIVER

BY GEORGE ROUNDS

A stroll along the seawall of almost any harbor or boat basin will uncover nearly every type of boat hull configuration afloat today. The simple fact that there are so many different hull shapes at tests to the statement that no one hull shape is ideally suited to every boating need. A tour of a large boat show can be even more confusing to the newcomer because there you are not only confronted with a wide variety of hulls but also face a barrage of trick names builders have ascribed to their particular boats in order to have a peg to hang their advertising hooks on. Some of the names, most, in fact, give some sort of clue to the design, and some even hint at the use to which the boat is best suited, but this isn't always the case.

One ancient hull form that was reborn in recent years and has gained much favor with the speed buffs is the catamaran — those twin-hulled boats that seem to float over the waves effortlessly. The "cats" of today can lay claim to a pedigree that includes the balsawood rafts used by the early Polynesians to cross the Pacific.

Basically, a catamaran appears to be two ordinary hulls joined by a deck or cabin area, but that's only basically. Several decades ago, the famed Gar Wood experimented with catamarans by taking a conventional hull and slicing it down the middle, putting the left half on the right side and the right half on the left. They were linked by spacious cabin areas that rode above the waves like the trick rider in the circus astride two horses at the same time.

In the early revivals of the cat hulls, builders had a tough time beating the tremendous strains put on the decking or super structure between the two hulls. Going into a sea on an angle, one hull would ride up the wave while the other was going down the other side. Each hull was working against the other and the results were sometimes disastrous. Today's cats have been able to capitalize on the structural developments that came out of the aircraft industry, and now many builders are turning out twin-hulled buggies that can take terrific poundings and twistings without so much as a whimper. Many of these boats have been the front runners in powerboat racing in recent years.

Modern catamarans also have taken a page from the aircraft boys' books and have designed airfoils in their center sections that create added lift as the boats hot-foot through the brine. By shaping the tunnel between the hulls, the designers have been able to give their craft cushions of air on which the boats ride as the twin hulls slice through the waves. The ride is generally smoother, but it can get pretty hairy when you're charging full bore into the wind and a gust gets under that airfoil. Suddenly you're a pilot instead of a boatman, and during those few seconds of flight you find yourself wondering, even praying that everything arrives back on the water in its proper order. Usually it does.

Increased stability is the claim of the triple-hulls boats. These come with a variety of tags — trimaran (usually applied to triple-hulled sailboats), cathedral hull, gull-wing hull, sea sled, or whatever else the designer or his cronies feel properly describes the shape. These boats utilize a double air cushion, one on each side of the "M" shaped bottom. This affords better balance when the boat approaches flight. Even dead in the water, the cats and their triple-hulled cousins exhibit amazing stability compared to conventional single-hulled craft.

The advent, or resurgence of new boatbuilding materials such as aluminum and fiberglass reinforced plastic have added to the rapid rediscovery of multi-hulled craft.

Aluminum, perhaps more than any other material, has allowed the houseboat to make a big recovery in recent years. Its high strength to weight ratio — high strength and low weight — has meant that houseboats could be built bigger and more comfortable without requiring tremendous power to move them through the water. Many of these aquatic cottages are twin hulled, riding on pontoons of aluminum that assure the owner of long life and low maintenance.

But houseboat construction is not limited solely to aluminum. You can buy one made of fiberglass reinforced plastic, conventional wood, plywood, steel, and even — if you're not going to move it far — of concrete. This last is more appropriately found in floating homes that could not really be classified as boats. But all the others are quite mobile. Some even come equipped with wheels so you can cruise one lake or river, hitch it up to your car, and trail it to another spot for a cruise.

With new production techniques coming along all the time, the horizons open to the naval architects are virtually limitless. People think that they've finally hit on the ultimate hull and then someone like Ray Hunt or another imaginative designer comes along and tosses convention into a cocked hat and the business is off and running again. This year's crop of new boats includes some brand new concepts in hull shape, and the odds are that every year will find at least a few new ones skimming or slicing the waves across the nation.

Like I said, you'd need forty pairs of hands to tally up the number of hull designs and combinations that can be purchased today. Because of this, the decision as to which boat to buy can be a hard one. But if you find a savvy dealer and ask him the right questions, you should be able to fit your new boat to your needs. A misfire in choosing a boat can spell disappointment, even tragedy, but once you've found the right boat a whole new world of excitement is yours for the turn of a key or the hoisting of a sail. A good boat can be the difference between fun and foolishness. If you use your boat as it was designed to be used, and apply a little common sense at the helm, you're on your way to better, happier days.

OUTDOOR SPORT TIPS

Cotterpin Sinker

Clip sinkers onto your line thru a woman's hairpin or light cotterpin. If the sinker gets hung up in rocks a slight pull opens the wire. You lose sinker but save valuable gear.

Sizzling Clothespin

Latest rage from the South where bass grow BIG in deep impoundments is a clothespin lure. Seems locals take a spring-type clothes pin. Two treble hooks are attached with strong wire. Now comes the kicker. They spring the end of the clothes pin and insert a seltzer tablet and heave the works to the bottom. Tablet sizzles, bass investigate, trophies sail aboard.

Dry Rubber Boat

You know how it is to get rubber boots dry. Think how hard it is to get a rubber boat dry. Way to do it is to carry a bag of sawdust. After using boat, sprinkle with sawdust, roll boat up. Later unroll, sweep damp sawdust off and rewarp.

Shotgun Decoy Anchors

Run a loop of copper wire thru an empty 12 gauge shotgun shell. Fill shell with lead. You've got an acceptable light-weather decoy anchor.

Scope Smack

Do you have the dread disease, scope smack? This comes when you put your eye too close to your rifle scope, fire and get belted . . . usually on your eyebrow. Cure with radiator hose. This comes in a variety of large sizes that you can find to fit the diameter of your scope. A small piece makes a cushion.

Pipe Cleaner Lure

Trout men attention. On those early spring hatches when the trout refuse everything you throw at them, wrap a piece of pipe cleaner around the hook and try that. Two good reasons for it: Trout are probably working on nymphs which are designed to look like pipe cleaners. 2. What can you lose?

Go To Blazes

Traditional blazes to mark a trail are cut with an ax. More modern way is to use a shot of spray paint. Best way in deep woods is to cut saplings and break down so they point the path. You can find 'em in the dark; they stick up above deep snow. CAUTION: Don't use this tip except in remote areas. The cops will get after you.

No-Snag Spinning

This tip calls for cutting small minnows out of sponge rubber. These are then hooked on lures that depend on bottom bouncing for their effectiveness. Paint minnows white for more attractiveness. Now, cushioning action of rubber will save some losses. But watch carefully that you aren't losing fish, too. Sometimes it's better to lose a few lures and catch fish than save the lures and not.

Ice Up The Bait

Ice keeps dead bait in good condition. It works just as well keeping live minnows active and fresh. If you've got a long way to go, place an ice cake on the top of your minnow bucket. Drip keeps them kicking. Don't forget to empty out water to prevent overflow, though.

"The only time money goes very far these days is when a quarter rolls under the bed."

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH

Heart Attacks

What can I do to keep from having a heart attack?

This is a question that almost all of us ask sometimes.

Heart disease is a broad term that covers many different types of disorders. Heart and blood vessel ailments are the leading cause of death in the United States. Millions of people are walking around with some sort of heart or circulatory problem. No one can tell you positively that a given pattern of life will prevent a heart attack. There still are many unknowns. But there is enough evidence on the causes of heart attacks to suggest a few fundamentals.

Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, offers some suggestions.

Worry about "symptoms" that may or may not be heart disease is futile. Clear away the doubt by consulting your physician. A regular checkup will enable him to discover budding heart problems early.

Regular, moderate exercise to keep physically fit is advised by most health experts. However, the term "moderate" is important, and plenty of rest to ease the work-load on the heart is equally vital.

Keep your weight down. It isn't difficult to devise a diet that will provide proper nourishment without adding surplus pounds. Ask your doctor what you should weigh and how to reduce if you're overweight.

Tensions and anxieties often aren't easy to reduce or eliminate from your life. But it's wise to try. Adequate vacations each year are important. A relaxing change of pace on weekends helps.

Research studies have analyzed the possible roles of tobacco, dietary fats and other elements in heart disorders. Extensive studies are still under way. If there are doubts in your mind regarding your personal habits, consult your doctor for suggestions on new patterns.

There are some encouraging developments. Most people who have heart attacks recover and can go back to work. High blood pressure usually can be controlled. Recurrent attacks of rheumatic fever, forerunner of rheumatic heart disease, can be prevented. Strokes aren't necessarily hopeless and invalidism can often be reduced or prevented. Heart defects often can be repaired and sections of diseased arteries often can be replaced through surgery. Many patients with circulatory disorders affecting their legs and arms are helped by treatment.

President Lyndon Johnson and the Congress of the United States both have officially proclaimed February, 1964, as American Heart Month, with the President urging the people of the United States to "give heed to the nationwide problem of the heart and blood vessel diseases."

You cannot be certain of preventing heart disease. But you can control or lessen some of the factors that often are associated with a tendency toward heart troubles. Your best course is to talk it over with your doctor and follow his counsel.

TV Series On Reforms In Catholic Worship

"Directions '64", the ABC-TV and WJZ-TV Public Affairs program, will offer a series of four special reports on the reforms in Catholic worship decreed by the second Vatican Council meeting in Rome.

In the first program, to be presented on Sunday, February 16 at 2 p.m. on WJZ-TV, John B. Manion, Executive Secretary of the National Catholic Liturgical Conference, will examine reforms in the Mass as they were set forth in the Council's Liturgical Constitution. In some of the prayers, chants and readings of the Mass, Latin will now be replaced by the language of the people.

"Directions '64" will illustrate these changes by presenting an actual demonstration of the major parts of the Mass celebrated in English.

"The Mass in Musical Manuscript", a performance of five unpublished masses in English by the Welch Choir, is the title of the second in this special series of "Directions '64" presentations. It will be offered by WJZ-TV at 4 p.m. on Sunday, February 23.

The final two special programs dealing with the reforms in Catholic worship will be televised by WJZ-TV on the following two Sundays, March 1 and 8. Consult your TV listings for the time.

Heavyweight

A fruit of Big Max pumpkin may weigh 100 pounds or more. W. Atlee ("Widge") Burpee, IV weighs about half that amount.

Imagine growing pumpkins that average 100 pounds in weight! Just think of all the pies you can make from even one of these big fruits! To say nothing of the gorgeous autumn decorations for Halloween and Thanksgiving that you can arrange around even one of these mammoths!

Big Max, as this new variety is named, grows up to six feet in circumference; has bright yellow-orange flesh which is three to four inches thick.

Its outer appearance is from a round to a flattened round shape. The skin is pinkish-orange and slightly roughened.

It requires 120 days from the planting of the seeds to the time these big pumpkins are mature. For very large fruits, space the hills to allow plenty of room for the vines to spread and give the plants a thorough soaking with the hose when rains do not fall.

Adequate fertilizer is, as always, a deciding factor in growing largest size pumpkins.

Our Library...

Just browsing through the Juvenile section of the library is a delight. Books enrich your child's mind and spirit and open to him the wonderful world of enjoyable reading. Children will read if the right books are easily available to them at the right times. Visit the library with your child, help your child choose the right books for his age level or ask the assistance of your librarian. In a group according to age you may choose any of the following titles from the local library:

Ages 2-6—"The Tale of Peter Rabbit," Beatrix Potter. How Peter Rabbit went into Mr. McGregor's garden against his mother's wishes and came to regret his disobedience. A classic story that has retained its charm for 60 years.

"Bruno Munari's ABC," Bruno Munari. From "An ant on an apple" to "a fly going Zzzz." An alphabet book of distinction with stunning illustrations.

Ages 3-5: 3-6—"Little Bear's Visit," by Else Minarik. When little Bear visited his grandparents he enjoyed grandmother's story about when she was a little cub, but the story grandfather told about the goblin was better still.

"A Friend Is Someone Who Likes You," Joan W. Anglund. "Some people have lots of friends—and some people have quite a few, but everyone—in the whole world has at least one friend!" is the message of this charming little book.

"Curious George," Hans Rey. The curiosity of a mischievous monkey led him into all sorts of adventures even though he had promised to be good.

"The Cat In The Hat," Dr. Seuss. An extraordinary cat amuses the children while mother is out of the house on a dull rainy day. An instantaneous hit with little children, with a vocabulary any beginner in reading can understand.

Ages 5-7—"Madeline," Ludwig Bemelmans. Madeline's appendicitis operation made her the envy of the eleven other little girls in Miss Clavel's Parisian boarding school. Fun in rhyme and pictures.

Age 7-8—"Mike Mulligan and His Steam Shovel," Virginia L. Burton. Mike and his faithful steam shovel, Mary Anne, undertake to dig the foundations of the town hall in just one day. But they are left in a terrible predicament until a little boy solves the problem of what to do with the stranded Mary Anne.

"The Biggest Bear," Lynd Ward. Johnny goes out to shoot a bear but instead brings home a cub which he keeps until it becomes a trial to the whole valley.

Any of these books will delight your pre-school and first to third graders. Make it a date to come with the children to the library.

Ten March of Dimes Medical Advances Are Listed for Year

Ten March of Dimes-financed projects in birth defects and arthritis have been cited by The National Foundation for outstanding progress in 1963.

"In 1963 the arthritis riddle continued to baffle the experts and despite many informative studies by scientists, no significant breakthroughs concerning cause or prevention were reported," according to Dr. Theodore E. Boyd, the organization's director of scientific research.

"In birth defects research, progress was more promising," he stated. "New light was shed on the genetic code of life, on how a baby develops normally and abnormally in the womb and on the causes of some of the hundreds of defects which affect more than a quarter of a million newborns in the U. S. each year."

Dr. Boyd reported that in 1963 The National Foundation-March of Dimes awarded more than $3,812,000 for research grants. Dr. William S. Clark, medical director, also called attention to the continued rapid growth of the Foundation's treatment and research center program.

There are now 48 March of Dimes centers for birth defects and 29 for arthritis across the country, he said. Approximately 1,000 National Foundation chapters granted more than $1,500,000 to finance such centers in 1963.

The list of top ten March of Dimes-financed projects and achievements follows:

1. Test for Galactosemia. Development of an accurate blood test to detect both victims and symptom-free carriers of an inherited chemical defect called galactosemia, which causes mental retardation in babies when they drink milk. Test perfected by Dr. Arthur Robinson and associates at the University of Colorado.

2. Test for Maple Syrup Urine Disease. Development of a simple blood test to identify infants with an inherited condition named maple syrup urine disease, because of a telltale odor to the urine of its victims. The condition involves abnormalities in body chemistry and generally results in death by the age of two. Test devised by Dr. Joseph Dancis and colleagues at New York University.

3. Homograft Barrier Cracked? Apparent cracking of the "homograft barrier," a notable achievement in efforts to make adult animals permanently tolerant to organ transplants and skin grafts, which open the way to solving the problem in man. This potential major breakthrough, accomplished by Dr. Robert A. Good and research team at the University of Minnesota.

4. Clues to How Cells Specialize. Evidence found to show the existence of chemical messengers between living cells which instruct cells of one kind to change their specific job. Some birth defects may be caused by errors occurring during pregnancy in this cell specialization messenger system. Research conducted by Dr. John Papaconstantinou and others at University of Connecticut.

5. New Kind of Gene Discovered. Studies of inner workings of cells revealed new kind of gene (unit of heredity) which controls the putting together of proteins into proper form. This significant research directed by Dr. Robert S. Edgar of the California Institute of Technology.

6. Viruses and Birth Defects. Tentative identification of several viruses as causing miscarriage, stillbirths and birth defects when mothers-to-be are infected during pregnancy. These preliminary findings reported by Drs. Gordon J. Brown and Thomas Francis Jr. of the University of Michigan.

7. Synthesis of Biologically Active DNA. For the first time the master code-of-life chemical DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) has been synthesized in the laboratory in a form that is biologically active. This is as close as anyone has come to creating life in the test tube. Achievement by Drs. Rose M. Litman of the University of Colorado and Dr. Waclaw Szybalski of the University of Wisconsin, and their fellow investigators.

8. New Clue to Birth Defect Cause. New lead to causes of and Eddie Baker.

The Liners poured in hits points at a 53 per cent clip.

From the foul line, Emmitsburg hit 30 of 39 attempts.

A 20-point first period set the pace for the Liners who rang up a 44-20 margin by intermission.

Warner dropped in 13 for the Carroll County quint while Crouse scored 10.

Emmitsburg also won the junior varsity game, 41-29. Carson Kelly hit 19 for the Liners.

Sentry Safety Council

Hot Cold, Flu Facts!

Statistics prove about 50 percent of the entire population suffers some sort of respiratory ailment between September and April of each year. No drug will cure flu or the more than 100 varieties of colds! These contagious diseases are caused by viruses passed from person to person. In an effort to reduce ailments, Americans suffer each year, the Sentry Safety Council of Sentry Insurance companies has compiled these health tips:

Avoid people with colds or flu. Wash hands often, always before eating. Teach children to keep fingers out of mouth. Don't cheat on sleep. Eat well-balanced meals. Drink plenty of liquids to tone up system, help elimination. Guard against getting chilled. Exercise sensibly. Don't overdo shoveling snow, or in a gym. When you have a cold, stay home and rest the first day. Always cover your mouth when sneezing or coughing. A sneeze can blast thousands of germ-laden droplets 12 feet. Use disposable tissues and place in waste containers. Blow your nose lightly warns the Sentry Safety Council. Forcing spreads infection. Soap is an effective germ killer. Keep your home clean. Don't rely solely on home remedies. Indiscriminate use of drugs can hide early warning signals of serious illness. Aspirin and approved nose drops give relief. Call your doctor if fever, chills or headache persists more than 24 hours. Finally, the Sentry Safety Council says be thoughtful of others by keeping your germs to yourself and you will guard your own health... thoughtfulness is contagious, too!

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read Isaiah 1:16-18; Ephesians 2:1-10.

Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. (Isaiah 1:18.)

The sad statement of a cultured and successful businessman was, "I have ruined my life." He stated that he had broken every law of decency and nearly every commandment.

The past with its horrors was always before him, causing him much unhappiness. He had neither hope nor faith, and he greatly desired love. His was a tragically misspent life.

We brought to his attention great men in the Bible and in the church who had been cleansed "from all unrighteousness," whose sins were as scarlet but had become white. Following their example, he offered prayers of confession, contrition, and for forgiveness daily. Finally, he became a new man.

It matters not how great our sin, God can and will pardon and redeem us if we are sincere in our repentance.

Prayer

Our Father, help us to be conscious of our sins. Lead us to acknowledge our sins and to be truly penitent. We cry to Thee to forgive us, not because we deserve forgiveness, but according to Thy mercy and loving-kindness; and through Christ our Savior, in whose name we pray. Amen.
