

Sealtest To Hold Annual Producer Meeting
The annual meeting of Sealtest dairy farmers will be held Wednesday, February 26, in Boonsboro. The meeting will begin at 8:00 p.m. in the Boonsboro Elementary School, and will feature a discussion on dairy industry developments by Dr. Roy F. Davenport, director of field services for Sealtest.

Entertainment and refreshments also will be part of the program.
Sealtest shippers in the Hagerstown area have been invited to bring their families and friends to the meeting.

Participating in Exercise
Herbert A. Glass, senior chief fire control technician, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn M. Glass

100 YEARS AGO

FLORIDA IS ATTACKED; BRAGG GETS TOP POST

By Lon K. Savage

Federal troops marched into central Florida 100 years ago this week in hopes of bring that state promptly back into the Union. But Southern troops greeted them with a barrage of gunfire that sent the invaders scurrying back to the coast.

Hardly had the Florida attack been repulsed when a new, and unrelated, event set tongues wagging in the South; Braxton Bragg, who had lost every Civil War campaign he had undertaken, was promoted to chief of staff of Confederate armies, and his critics within the Confederacy threw up their hands in disgust.

The Florida attack—called the Battle of Olustee and the Battle of Ocean Pond—was a "sideshow" in the war, according to one general, but it squelched Federal hopes of quickly ending secession in the state.

Florida had been spared the ravages of most Civil War fighting, and it contained few Confederate troops. Federal officials, spurred on by President Lincoln himself, believed they could occupy the north-central part of the state, cut the state's supplies to armies farther north and negotiate to bring it back to the Union.

Successful Landing
General Truman Seymour landed at Jacksonville February 7 without resistance and marched, during the next two weeks, in land to Ocean Pond at Olustee. A proclamation was issued calling upon Floridians to swear allegiance to the United States.

But Confederate soldiers in the area, commanded by General Joseph Finegan, quickly organized to repel the invasion. Troops came down from Georgia, and by February 20, more than 5,000 Confederates were dug in along the creek and pond.

Seymour, with an equal number of troops, moved into the battle zone that day and found it a hornet's nest. Finegan threw forward his men in an attack, and the armies collided in a pine-covered field.

The fighting was general for about three hours, but Confederate fighting and superior position told its tale. A New Hampshire unit lost 209 men, and a regiment of Negroes, fighting their first battle, lost 300 of their 550 men. The Federal line broke, fell back, re-organized, then fell back again. By evening, they were in retreat for Jacksonville, as the Southerners waited on their arms, failing to take advantage of their victory.

Bragg's New Job
It was four days later that Bragg's new promotion became effective, and it immediately caused an uproar. Bragg had lost his campaign in Kentucky in 1862; he was driven into southern Tennessee after losing at Murfreesboro; he was maneuvered out of southern Tennessee and then had lost ignominiously at Lookout Mountain in late 1863. Finally he had been removed from field command.

Now, President Jefferson Davis, who always had liked Bragg, put him in as chief of staff—General Lee's old job—one of the highest positions in the army. With bitter sarcasm, the Richmond Examiner summed up the feelings of many Southerners about the appointment: "From Lookout Mountain, a step to the highest honor and power is natural and inevitable."

Next week: A raid on Richmond.

York last month. The fleet that anchored under the coliseum lights was the largest in the history of the show, numbering 532 craft of all sizes, shapes, types and materials. The smallest was a six foot fun-buggy for land or pond; the largest ones topped the 40 foot mark. Materials included the traditional—aluminum, fiberglass, and wood—as well as steel, canvas and rubber. Types were varied, too, all the way from a surf-board type gondola to a handsome cruising sloop.

Despite the wide diversity, it was apparent that there was little that was really new this year. Unlike other years, when rafts of new builders were bringing in "revolutionary new" things, the selection seems to have settled into some fairly acceptable and sensible marine products. More than the general sanity exhibited by the products, the trend to quality is openly apparent. Builders of big boats and makers of small accessories have finally found that what we wanted was quality and that we are willing to pay for boats and equipment that will take the punishment we can dish out.

It's worth noting that there weren't many new companies making boating products. As you walked down the concrete channels the names on the banners and signs over the booths were mostly familiar ones, ones that had been in the show last year, and the year before, and the year before that. These are the outfits that have proven themselves and their products and can stand behind their merchandise. This is a great relief to us after suffering through years of here-today-gone-tomorrow companies that were nowhere to be found when you wanted some warranty work done. It all boils down to that overworked phrase: buy with confidence. It also means that you'll be getting your money's worth this year. A new program kicked off at the New York Show by the boat-builders should prove a boon to buyers. On all the aluminum craft scattered around the four floors of the show were shiny aluminum foil labels supplied by Committee of Aluminum Producers that pegged the hull material as "Marine Aluminum." This, in case you didn't know, is not the same as your pots and pans or airplanes. It is rather a group of alloys carefully engineered for marine service. The aluminum people are using their new label to emphasize aluminum's strength, lack of maintenance and corrosion resistance. This answers that first question, "What's it made of?"

There were some new products shown this year, but for the most part the real changes made in equipment were internal or at least not associated directly with the basic, well established hull design. Nearly every runabout on the floor sported the bucket seats, for instance, and better treatment of the interiors. Vinyl paneling is now the rule rather than the exception, and color-keyed decor is becoming the rage. Paint jobs were far better than previous years—so good in fact that some of the wood hulls looked every bit like fiberglass and you had to squirm down inside before you could see the planking and establish the material from which it was built.

There is no shortage of power selection this year. Most manufacturers held onto their '63 horsepower models and added a few models into the line to broaden the choice and the versatility of the line. Inboard and inboard-outboard options are wider, too, so it now is no chore at all to match your power to the use.

Among the eye-catching new products present in New York was a boat (or a car, whichever you'd care to call it) that will go darned near everywhere. With a 9% hp aircooled kicker and oversized Terra-Tires, this two-seater will scramble up a 45 degree brush-covered hill, down an embankment, and plunge into the pond for a 4-knot swim. No one seemed to know, though, whether it should be licensed by the motor vehicle department or the boat division.

A remembrance of things past was an ice boat based on the South Bay Ice Scooters used by the Coast Guard in yesteryear to sail supplies over the ice to New Jersey lighthouses. These scooters have no rudder, tiller, or wheel since they are steered by changing the set of the sails. Impression—chills and thrills for less than $400.

Down one of the side aisles a crowd was gathered around a movie that showed how anyone, even died-in-the-wool duffers, could water ski with the aid of a new training device. It clamps over the tips of the skis and holds them in place during that critical moment when you're trying to get going.

There was more for the eyes and the check book—powered sleds, scuba divers' intercom system, binocular stabilizers, hypersensitive sailboat speedometers, high performance engines, and a really going big-boat hull—that would take pages to report on fully, but in general this year's fleet is pretty stable. So look alive! The fleet's on its way. Look it over carefully and ask plenty of questions—it's your privilege. Then, when you sign on the dotted line you'll know what you're getting. The odds are the highest they've been in years that you'll be getting a good product. P.S. Wear comfortable shoes!

NO. 20,541 EQUITY
In the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The Bill of Complaint is a suit to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Margaret L. Bashan Fravel.

The Bill recites that the Complainant, Robert L. Fravel, is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where he has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, whose last known address was 1409 Bennington Street, Kansas City, Missouri; that the parties hereto were married on the 22nd day of April, 1961, at Liberty, Missouri, by Rev. Lee F. Soxman, Jr., a regularly ordained minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage no child or children were born; and that the parties to this cause have voluntarily lived separate and apart without any cohabitation for more than eighteen months prior to the filing of this Bill of Complaint, and that the separation between the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation.

The Bill then prays that the Complainant, Robert L. Fravel, be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Margaret L. Bashan Fravel, and for such other and further relief as the nature of his case may require.

COURT ORDER

It is thereupon this 23rd day of January, 1964, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks before the 29th day of February, 1964, commanding her to be and appear in this Court, in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 31st day of March, 1964, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

OLD MAN WINTER ADDS HAZARDS TO DRIVING

Common sense should tell motorists to respect Old Man Winter and the added hazards or problems he throws down in the form of snow, ice or cold weather, according to the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

Paul E. Burke, Executive Director of the Commission says "The same good sense that makes us put on overcoats for cold or rubbers for heavy slush should motivate drivers to put on their tire chains when they elect to go during severe conditions of ice or deep snow." "Otherwise, instead of just getting getting a cold or wet feet, the following things can happen to the unprepared or negligent driver:"

1. Get stuck, tie up traffic and annoy neighbors; 2. Get hurt or have heart attack from trying to push or shovel out a chainless car; 3. Be the cause of a traffic jam which delays hundreds or blocks snowplows. The situation then can become progressively worse. If a fire breaks out and fire trucks cannot negotiate around chainless vehicles, this could result in your house, along with neighbors', being burned.

"Avoiding accidents and dangerous traffic blockades during severe snow or ice conditions should be everyone's objective," declared Burke. "It's also your moral responsibility," he concluded.

It is a hard thing to say, and it leads to some very serious charges. But this column has predicted it before and considers it worth repeating now. Some policies of the Alliance for Progress are paving the way for the success of Communism in the struggle for Latin America. The Congress meant it to be otherwise. NO. 20,547 EQUITY

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The Bill of Complaint is a suit to procure a divorce A MENSA ET THORO from the Defendant, Margaret H. Hamilton.

The Bill recites that the Complainant, Paul D. Hamilton, is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where he has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant, Margaret H. Hamilton, is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, whose last known address is c/o Mrs. Emily Hulst, 214 West 26th Street, Wilmington, Delaware; that the parties to this cause were married on the 16th day of August, 1963, at Wilmington, Delaware, by a regularly ordained minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage no child or children have been born; that on or about the 13th day of November, 1963, the Defendant abandoned and deserted your Complainant, declaring her intentions to live with him no longer as husband and wife, that said abandonment and desertion were deliberate and final, and that there is no reasonable hope or expectation of a reconciliation between the parties.

The Bill then prays that the Complainant, Paul D. Hamilton, may be divorced A MENSA ET THORO from the Defendant, Margaret H. Hamilton, and that he may have such other and further relief as the nature of his case may require.

COURT ORDER
It is thereupon this 29th day of January, 1964, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks prior to the 7th day of March, 1964, commanding her to be and appear in this Court, in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 7th day of April, 1964, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

tions - without - compensation in Argentina, Peru, and Brazil is staged behind a backdrop of permissiveness on our part. Public Ownership

Hardly a word is spoken for private capital, but our government has been quick to support the right of the State anywhere to take over private property and to own the tools of production, regardless of whether it means progress or socialism. For years U. S. personnel in and out of the State Department have urged land reform for Latin America, as they urged it for China. This gimmick looks like democracy and appears to include the characteristic regard for private ownership.

The trick is that once the peasant has his land, the government sees to it that control of agriculture brings him into a "commune" or collective farm arrangement. Over 2 million acres of Cuban land controlled by U. S. sugar interests were included when estates were divided into 66 acre plots for Cuban farmers. The former American holdings, with schools, playgrounds and clinics, were once considered a worker's paradise. The Castro Pattern

Good wages, compared to $1 to $1.50 today, helped give pre-Castro Cuba one of the highest living standards in Latin America. Some Cuban farmers now enjoy deeds to their 66 acres. But each is told what crops to plant and is permitted to use for himself very little of what he produces. Each farm is organized very much like those "enjoyed" by the Red Chinese. One can not rent, sell, nor mortgage his land. After 4 years of this kind of land reform, it is no wonder that Cuban sugar output dropped to the lowest in 20 years.

True, we have referred to Cuba, the only Communist nation in the New World. But in land reform movements of a half-dozen other Latin countries, where estates have been broken up to provide peasants with small tracts, the economic success has been dismal. Mexico is worse off for having tried extensive land reform, the experts say, and Bolivia is bankrupt because of nationalization plus land reform. Wherever the large, efficient estates that operated with some success privately are broken up, the result is usually economic disaster. The same would likely happen in the U. S. if every good-sized farm were divided and distributed to small holders.

Why Not Enterprise?

Nevertheless, the Alliance for Progress continues to use its billions to push for land reform. What bitter irony there is in a government pamphlet urging support for the Alliance: "The lesson of what happens when social progress is too long delayed has been all too graphically and painfully learned in Cuba." In other words, we must undertake reforms like those in Cuba. Thus, there is no hurry for the Reds to rush in, if we are willing to do the job for them by driving out private business from Latin America. With this backdrop of socialistic land reform being urged by the U. S., is there anything we can say when Argentina grabs our oil investments?

It is impossible for the $1 billion per year the Alliance scatters about to do for those countries what some $6 billion of invested capital from U. S. business is doing. Progress throughout Latin America must depend upon the investment of private capital in sound enterprise that creates jobs and promotes economic growth. The emphasis that the Alliance has placed upon public expenditure, in government-to-government handouts, has brought about a dangerous flight of capital away from the Latin countries.

SPORT TIPS

Hot Worms

Keep worms from freezing by placing them in a woolen sock filled with sawdust. In severe weather, carry sock in your pocket.

Quiet Safety Chain

Stop the safety chain on your trailer from rattling by slipping a section of garden hose over it.

Plastic Repairs

This tip works best on plastic decoys, but keep it in mind for other applications. To plug a plastic decoy holed by stray shot, insert a piece of nylon string into the hole. Melt string into the decoy by holding a match against it. When nylon cools, nylon plug will be tough and tight.

Slicker Zipper

Here's a good idea. Tie a small dippy sinker on the zipper of your warmest winter jacket and you won't have to take off heavy gloves or mittens to close 'em up. Cleaner Raincoat

Don't forget. The plastic bags in which clothes now come back from the cleaners make an acceptable raincoat in a pinch. They take up little space. Tuck several in the pockets of favorite coats. Ice Catch

Know how to catch a big one ice fishing. Don't try to net him. Draw him to the surface and grab his jaw with oversize pliers.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Insurance

BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 20, 1964—some years ago, I was National Moderator of the Congregational-Christian Churches. At a large meeting, I was asked, "What would Jesus, as a young man, do if He were living today?" I assumed He would not be a carpenter, but suggested that He probably would be a life insurance agent. This was quoted throughout the country, and even today I receive letters about it.

Selling Insurance Today
If insurance agents would take their work seriously enough, they would make their sales part of their religion and carry them on in a prayerful manner. In fact, I believe that any readers who wish to buy life insurance should deal only with active, praying salesmen. I have always felt that life insurance is a good example of applied Christianity. It is for this reason that I advise dealing with truly religious insurance salesmen — "whether Christian or Jewish". Let us not forget that Jesus was a Jew.

Next to purchasing insurance from religious-minded agents, we should be sure that our children are being brought up by religious parents. In other words, be sure of what you believe, and love your children enough to bring them up properly. Above all, teach them to pray. I might add that a praying parent is the best insurance we can provide for our children.

What About Land?

After one buys a reasonable amount of life insurance, he should buy some land and build thereon a little house on a bus line on the "right side" of his town. This method of selecting a home site is described in detail in a previous weekly column of this paper; therefore I will not repeat it at this time. Whatever may happen to stocks and bonds in future years, children and a little fertile land may be the best investment you can have. I now believe there will be no nuclear World War. However, to prevent such a nuclear war, we must all teach our children the great danger in communism. I doubt if any reader of this column will ever see World War III as a nuclear war.

The Kremlin may have no religious principles, but the Russian people do have brains. They know that a World War III based on nuclear attack would be a devastating loss to them as well as to us. Many young Americans talk in favor of "co-existence." They appear to believe that we of the United States will gradually become more socialistic, while Russia will become more capitalistic. This may be true; but to attempt to conduct such an experiment would be like trying to mix oil and water. Such a mixture depends upon constant agitation; this would mean continual small wars such as are now being carried on in Vietnam and other Southeast Asian nations. We have tried this "co-existence" in Korea for many years, but with no success. What About Cuba?

Russia's method of obtaining control of countries by infiltration is clearly shown by what she is now doing in Cuba. No shots have been fired, yet Russia today is in control of Cuba. Cuba is only 90 miles from Florida where I dictated this weekly column. The next step is for Russia to try to jump over to Central and South America. The great country of Brazil is nearly ready to turn communistic.

Communism would make useless all of our present insurance. In other words, communism would wipe out the value of the land which we are also depending upon. Therefore, I cannot close this column on insurance without issuing a special warning against the infiltration of communism, which is creeping into this country and gaining control by indirect methods rather than through warfare. The value of insurance has an intimate—but opposite—relation to communistic ideas, which must be nipped in the bud and not allowed to develop as they have in Cuba and which are now extending further into Latin America. So, to return to my subject on the value of insurance, I must close with a strong reminder that any insurance that we might now have would be worthless if we should become too "soft" to communism and thereby let it become too common and widespread here in the United States.

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH

Hemorrhoids

Hemorrhoids, or piles, are one of the most common health problems encountered today. Hemorrhoids are enlarged veins inside or just outside the rectum, somewhat like varicose veins in the legs. A frequent cause is constipation that results in straining, but there can be other causes as well. Anything that interferes with flow of blood through the rectal veins can cause hemorrhoids.

Hemorrhoids themselves seldom are dangerous to life, but the condition that causes them can be serious and should be corrected. They also can cause considerable discomfort, and even pain. Hemorrhoids do not turn into cancer, but rectal symptoms that appear to be hemorrhoids may actually be caused by cancer.

Many cases of hemorrhoids can be relieved by medical treatment. Some require surgery, but the operation usually is not a serious one.

If your hemorrhoids are caused by constipation, they can be made worse by self-treatment, especially if you use laxatives regularly.

If you have the symptoms of hemorrhoids—aching discomfort, pain, itching, bleeding, protruding veins—see your doctor or go to a hospital clinic. Continued bleeding often causes anemia. If a blood clot forms in a protruding vein, piles can be extremely painful. If untreated, they can break and hemorrhage.

Hemorrhoids are common among women during pregnancy. Every expectant mother should see her doctor early in pregnancy. Prevention of hemorrhoids is one of the things he will discuss with her.

Even though you have no apparent symptoms of piles, your doctor will usually make a rectal examination each time you report for a physical checkup. Only in this way can beginning cases of medical problems of the rectum be discovered early.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

Doing Diapers At Home

By Margaret B. Long
Supervisor, Home Economics Education, Jacksonville, Fla.

"Can I correctly do my own diapers at home and still protect my baby from diaper rash?" This is a question I'm frequently asked when I appear before groups of young mothers.

The answer is, yes. Good diaper hygiene to prevent diaper rash can be practiced simply and surely, by diapering your baby with correctly processed diapers and following a fastidious diapering routine as long as baby wears diapers.

The National Baby Care Council in cooperation with the diaper service industry and medical authorities has set up the following accepted procedure for the correct processing of diapers in your own home:

1. Rinse wet or soiled diapers immediately upon removal. Store until washing in a closed container filled with soapy water or disinfectant.

2. Three rinses in clear hot water before washing. Follow with four separate sudings. In all home washers, the load must be lighter than for the usual family laundry — not more than 16 diapers.

3. Six rinses in clear hot water to remove all soap and detergent. This is accomplished in an automatic washer by resetting the dial.

4. After washing and rinsing, sterilize diapers, boiling them 30 minutes.

5. Rinse sterilized diapers in vinegar-water: one cup of vinegar to a gallon of water to be sure diapers are not alkaline.

6. Wring as dry as possible then treat diapers, according to directions, with the special diaper antiseptic suggested by your physician.

As a home economist, let me say, professional diaper service costs very little more. It is estimated that diaper service will cost you about 42 cents a week more than the cost of doing diapers at home. When you consider the time and the effort you save, the extra few pennies are well worth the convenience.

A diaper service, each week, will supply you with 80 to 100 clinically clean, soft, white diapers free from irritating residues of soap and detergents. Professional diaper processing is done under strict laboratory control, using specialized washing and rinsing equipment. Diaper service is well worth considering.

STAINLESS BABY CARE

While few mothers own a stainless baby, any mother can acquire stainless utensils that make baby-feeding a less harrowing task. This cup and porringer, made of Jones and Laughlin stainless steel, never need polishing and require only a soap-and-water treatment to come clean.

Trotters To Play In Baltimore

The World Famous Harlem Globetrotters, combining great basketball with hilarious showmanship, make their second Baltimore appearance on Thursday night, March 19, as they take on the improved Atlantic City Sea Gulls at the Civic Center.

The entire Globetrotter show featuring one of the finest arrays of show business stars in the nation, will be on hand at the Civic Center. Cab Calloway and Peg Leg Bates will headline the show.

Tickets are now on sale at the Baltimore Bulletin box office in the Civic Center. They are priced at $4, $3, $2.25 and $1.50.

Owner Abe Saperstein has assembled a Trotter team which is one of the finest in the club's history. Fine veterans such as Meadowlark Lemon, Tex Harrison and Clarence Wilson lead the club.

Newcomers Connie Hawkins, Jim Tim Robinson and Bobby Joe Mason have sparked the Trotters through a great season. Hawkins and Robinson are considered two of the finest big men to enter the pro ranks in many years.

Hawkins led the now defunct American Basketball League in scoring after only one year at the University of Iowa. The 6'8", 220 pounder is a product of Boy's High School in New York where he was a prep All-American selection.

Robinson, 6'6" and 220 pounds, is a former Bradley University star. The jumping jack was a prep All-American and has played guard, forward and center during his career.

Commissioners Approve School Plans

The Board of County Commissioners is definitely in favor of "proceeding without further delay" in the construction of the Governor Thomas Johnson High School.

Democratic Commissioners A. Irvin Renn and Lawrence A. Dorsey said they favor construction of the school, including the auditorium. Republican Commissioner also favors construction.

While county residents awaited the meeting, the Commissioners, who will eventually be the ones who say "yes" or "no" to the allocation of funds for the school, were polled on the subject.

Commissioner Renn said: "The Board of County Commissioners has not specifically approved nor disapproved any funds for this school. We have, however, included the proposed cost of this school in planning for our bond issue."

"I feel that the matter of the Thomas Johnson High School has been adequately discussed in joint meetings between the Board of Education members and the Board of County Commissioners. As a matter of record there has been at least three meetings of this group and I am sure each Board has met several times with the architects.

"Any major change or alteration should have been proposed before the plans reached the final stage. The preliminary plans for this school were in sufficient detail to determine major items to be included. These preliminary plans were available over a year ago."

"I feel the critical need for additional educational facilities in Frederick County is too severe to consider the possibility of a year's delay. Our temporary classrooms at Frederick High are now filled to capacity and more facilities are definitely needed. It is my hope that the Board of Education will take final action on this matter without further delay."

Commissioner Dorsey said: "We can't wait, we have to go ahead and build a school. We have an example of not planning ahead in the $100,000 which was spent for those little red schools at Frederick High School. If the people in power years ago had planned ahead and built the necessary schools, maybe the schools would not be so overcrowded today.

"But since adequate facilities have not been built, we of today must face the facts and proceed without delay to provide all necessary schools. We can't wait."

"In reference to the Thomas Johnson School, I recall that over a year ago the architect came to the Commissioners' office to present the preliminary plans. I knew then that the school included an auditorium. I didn't object to it then and I don't now. I did object, however, to the greenhouse on the roof, the swimming pool and the wall to wall carpeting."

"The School Board knew before we did what was being planned. If they wanted to make changes in the plans, the time to do it was then not now."

"The educators know what is needed in schools. We must have confidence in them. If they don't know what is needed to teach our children, no one does.

"I don't want to spend a dollar more than is necessary but we must face up to the situation and not give it a political run-around."

Commissioner Horman said: "No one has to sell me on the value of education. We must have good teachers and adequate classrooms, but the indebtedness of the county is important to me too."

"I think we should pay our way more than we are doing. Our population is growing rapidly and probably will continue to grow. Our children might have the same problem we have in furnishing enough classrooms. We are burdening them with a tremendous financial debt."

"Financial experts say when the debt becomes eight to ten per cent of our total assessed value, we will lose our credit rating therefore the interest rate on bonds will be much higher."

Cadette Troop 1316 Meets
The regular meeting of Cadette Troop 1316 was held on Thursday, February 13 at 4 p.m. It was open with pledge of allegiance, the Girl Scout Promise and the singing of Our Chalet. Next the group had the reading of the minutes by Marty Byard. Following this, Mary Topper reported that the troop has $63.56 in the bank. The troop decided that on Feb. 19 in the VFW at 6 p.m. they would serve dinner to the Cub Scout mothers. The troop then talked about Girl Scout weekend and its theme. Before the closing of the meeting the group played the game of Truth or Consequences. The meeting was then closed with the formation of the friendship circle and the singing of "Fare Thee Well."

Michael Humerick has returned to an Ohio Air Force Base after spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Humerick. He was accompanied by his parents who visited with Mrs. Humerick's relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wivell visited last Monday with Mrs. Anna Topper and family, Hanover, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolfe and Mrs. Gertrude Peters have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Peters, Baton Rouge, La.

Recent Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wivell were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wivell and family; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoff and family; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reaver and family and Miss Betty Moser.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Detheridge and family have moved from the home of Mrs. Detheridge's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cool, to Fairfield.
Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wivell during the past weekend were: Mr. Charles Wivell and sons, Eddie and Timmie; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wivell and family, Highland, Md., and Mrs. Fred Hoff and children.

Mary B. Miller has sold a property to Bernard V. Miller for $12,500 according to the stamps on the deed. The property is located along the east side of the Old Frederick Road in the Emmitsburg District and contains nearly an acre of land.
