With March, the Spring month, just around the corner, and with the professional major league baseball teams in spring training, it's time we gave some thought to the coming Town election. In just two short months the election will be history, that's just how soon it will be upon us. To be elected will be the Mayor and one Commissioner. Only this time we'll be voting for a Mayor who will serve a two-year term. For over a century now we have been voting for the Mayor for one-year terms but public opinion spurred the Town Council into action and the law has been changed to read a two-year term. This is, in our opinion, a sound and prudent move. With the Town's business affairs becoming more involved annually and the work load increased, it has been an imposition on officials to have to delve into the problems at hand, totally unfamiliar to them, and then in a few short months have to stand for election again. The system was very discouraging to say the least. Come April the new officials will have considerable more time to become acquainted with the business at hand and to my way of thinking, be able to do a more competent job. With the town growing and its physical aspects broadening the longer term will prove beneficial to the community in general. The problems on hand have been multiplied many times over in the past decade and an individual should have some working knowledge of the nature of the business at hand. A new Mayor will have the confrontation of finishing the new water system, completion of the piping of natural gas through the town, its streets and alleys, problems created by the bypass this year and oodles of other unforeseen things that will arise. As I said before, the election isn't too far away and it is high time we gave some thought to the situation. It is not known at this time whether or not Mayor Ireland or Commissioner Hollinger plan to seek reelection as their terms expire in April, but should they decide not to run for office again there should be ample time allotted to the public to give ample time to select new suitable and qualified candidates for the job.

There was excitement aplenty one night last week when a well-known individual here reported his car had been stolen. Local and State Police were quickly summoned by the individual who looked out into his yard to discover his station wagon had disappeared and that an old car had been left there in return. After a swift investigation police discovered the vehicle in a local filling station undergoing a bath. The service station attendant quickly explained the situation. It seems that Jim had ordered his car picked up for service and had completely forgotten about it. The service station man picked up Jim's car, left his own there for transportation home when he delivered the wagon back to Jim and proceeded to go about his duties. As if cops and service station men don't have tough enough jobs, but then so do coaches.

Dear Abigail:

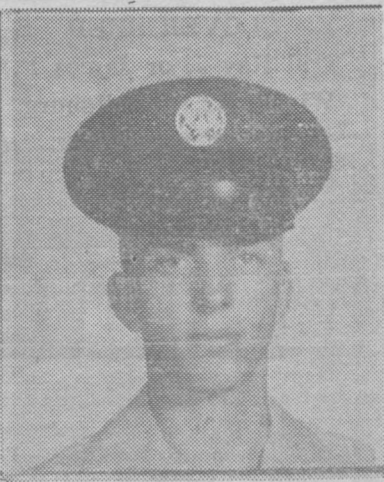

I think it's wonderful that our neighbor, Joe Wivell has almost completed his new blacksmith shop. We sure need one here in Emmitsburg. As one of his closest neighbors, it won't bother us, but you would be surprised to hear some of the people here in town talking against it. Why do people hate to see other people make good at a trade that will also be good to the people of this town? I bet the ones that are talking against it, will be his first customers. Here's hoping he has all the good luck with him, and I'm sure he will need it. We need other shops in town and more factories. The people seem to buy where they work. I would sure like to see more of everything here.

Sincerely,
Jennie Motter

HOOTENANNY

The students of St. Joseph's High School will sponsor a Hootenanny on Tuesday evening, Mar. 17, St. Patrick's Day, in the school auditorium. Further plans will be announced later.

Airman Assigned To Alaska

A/2C James O. Topper, who has been spending a thirty-day furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Topper, DePaul St., left Monday morning for McChord AFB, Washington. From there he will fly to an Air Force Base in Alaska where he will be stationed for the next two years. Airman Topper has just completed technical training as a Communication Analysts Specialist at Keesler AFB in Mississippi. He was a 1963 graduate of St. Joseph's High School.

Teachers' Club Sponsoring Clothing Drive

The Future Teachers Club of Emmitsburg is sponsoring a clothing drive through the month of February and the first week of March. Students throughout the school are collecting usable clothing to distribute to needy children in this vicinity and to underprivileged children in the Southern Appalachian Mountain regions of the United States.

Although the emphasis is on clothing for children, adult apparel will also be welcome. Shoes, coats, dresses, suits and underwear are all acceptable and needed.

This drive, known as Save The Children Federation Bundle Day, is being conducted on a county-wide basis by the Frederick County schools. Any persons with clothing to donate may send or bring the garments to Emmitsburg High School.

GEORGE M. GLACKEN

George M. Glacken, 68, died at 2:30 a.m. last Thursday at his home in Glydon, Md.

He was born February 1, 1896, a son of the late James and Louisa Davis Glacken. He was the husband of the late Eva C. Sprinkle Glacken. He was a veteran of World War I and was employed by the Maryland State Roads Department.

He is survived by one son and four daughters, George W. Glacken, Glyndon; Mrs. Ralph Keakner, Lutherville; Mrs. William J. Flynn, Silver Spring; Mrs. Bernard Bentz, Westminster, and Mrs. Richard Topper, Emmitsburg; 12 grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Loretta Smith, Johnstown.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Eline Funeral Home, Reisterstown, with the Rev. Elmer Sprinkle, pastor of the Shiloh - Dover Methodist Circuit, officiating. Burial was in Dover Methodist Cemetery.

New Beauty Shop Opens

Mrs. Rodney Herring, the former Eileen Crouse, has opened a beauty shop at her home, 19 E. King St., Littlestown, Pa. The shop is known as Eileen Herring's Beauty Shop. It will feature all styles and types of beauty work.

Mrs. Herring is a graduate of Littlestown High School and the Hanover School of Beauty Culture. She was employed at the Nu-Look Beauty Salon, Hanover, Pennsylvania.

Open house was last Saturday and door prizes and other gifts were awarded.

Town Asking For Bids To Improve Water System

The Town of Emmitsburg took additional steps to improve the local water system this week and Mayor Ralph F. Ireland announced that bids were being asked on a new filtration system and steel reservoir, both items being completely new additions to the old system.

The bids will be opened at 7:30 p.m. on March 9 in the Town Hall. In addition to the filtration plant and reinforced concrete reservoir, an upflow clarifier 26 feet in diameter and two automatic gravity sand filters 10 feet in diameter are included in the bid proposal.

The water filtration plant will be a 32-by-40 foot steel building. The reservoir will be 60-by-80-by-15 1/2 feet of reinforced concrete. Various pipelines and valves are also included in the bid offering.

An alternate bid proposal for the construction of a water filtration plant and a welded steel reservoir has also been asked for by the Mayor and Town Commissioners.

Under this alternate plan, Emmitsburg would obtain a 500,000 gallon welded steel reservoir with a concrete foundation instead of the reinforced concrete reservoir.

Elmer St. Clair Maxwell, Town engineer of Pikesville, created the plans and specifications for the proposed reservoir and filtration plant for the Town of Emmitsburg.

Work on the installation of the new water mains is continuing throughout the winter months and it is thought to be about a third completed at this time. With spring weather in the offing the work is expected to gain momentum and should be completed sometime this summer.

On-Job Training Available To Vets

Openings for "on-the-job" training of disabled veterans are being sought by the Veterans Administration as the surest way to obtain permanent employment for the veteran when his training is completed, according to F. E. Quinn, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Baltimore.

Merely to retain veterans in vocational schools or colleges accomplishes only a part of the task—they are still unemployed.

Their handicaps rather than their abilities may loom large in a prospective employer's eyes.

On the other hand, Mr. Quinn said, VA officials have learned, if an employer trains the disabled veteran in his own shop, there is strong assurance that he will retain the trained veteran as a "tailor-made" employee.

Mr. Quinn said the VA asks the aid of the veterans groups, employment agencies and the business world in general in locating employers who will offer disabled but ambitious veterans a chance to take training in specialized lines of work with a goal of permanent employment.

Lecture Program Is Expanded

The John Hay Whitney Foundation has recently announced a revision and expansion of the Visiting Lecturer Program in cooperation with the Department of State, the Conference Board Committee, and the U. S. Educational Commissions abroad.

Gettysburg College, Mt. St. Mary's College, St. Joseph College and Western Maryland College are among the colleges that will participate in 1964-65. These colleges were "chosen for their serious endeavor to give a polycultural dimension to their course offerings."

Visiting lecturers for the second semester at the colleges in the area are: Prof. Chien-Sheng Shih, dean of the College of Law, National Taiwan University, at Mt. St. Mary's College; Josephine Hwa Hung, professor of drama, National Taiwan University, at St. Joseph College.

Besides teaching courses in their particular fields, these visiting lecturers are available for engagements outside the colleges while they are in residence.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haley, Baltimore, and Miss Rebecca Haley, Washington, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Cy Haley over the weekend.

Mr. J. Earl Elder, Pittsburgh, Pa., spent several days last week visiting his mother, Mrs. Genevieve R. Elder. Mrs. Elder accompanied her son to his home in Pittsburgh where she will spend several weeks.

Mount Receives Gulf Corp. Grant

G. W. Rappersberger, Baltimore Sales Manager of Gulf Oil Corporation presented Rt. Rev. Robert R. Kline, Ph.D., President of Mount St. Mary's College, a check for an unrestricted grant of $1,131.00. Martin T. Golibart, Mount Director of Development, looks on.

Mount Saint Mary's College this week received a cash grant for unrestricted use from Gulf Oil Corp.

It was one of some 692 awards, totalling $500,000 that Gulf will distribute this year as direct, unrestricted grants to as many universities and colleges under its Aid-To-Education Program.

In addition to capital grants, the other phases of Gulf's comprehensive Educational Assistance Program include direct grants, Gulf merit scholarships to children of employees and annuitants; employee gift-matching to colleges; departmental assistance grants; graduate fellowships; and faculty supplementation grants.

Direct grants, such as the one received by the Mount are calculated on the basis of a formula which takes into account the quality of the school's curriculum, the effectiveness of its program, and the amount of financial support provided by the alumni.

Institutions eligible for direct grants are those which are privately operated and controlled, and which obtain a major portion of their financial support from non-tax sources.

The amount awarded to Mount Saint Mary's College was $1,131, and the check was presented to Rt. Rev. Robert R. Kline, Ph.D., College President, by Mr. G. W. Rappersberger, Area Sales Manager of Gulf.

Property Owners Seek Rezoning

Notice of a hearing on rezoning for ground in the Emmitsburg area has been issued by the Frederick County Planning and Zoning Commission. The Commission states the hearing will be held in Frederick on March 11 at 1:30 p.m. and concerns the request of John and Margaret Glass to have rezoned about 6 acres of ground from its present A-1 agricultural status to B-3, commercial. The land is situated on the west side of Tom's Creek Road about 1400 feet north of the Keysville Road.

At the same time a hearing will be given on the application of Victor A. and Mabel Leisner, of Thurmont, for rezoning approximately six acres of ground from agricultural to commercial. The ground is situated at the northern approach to Thurmont where new U. S. 15 leaves old Rt. 15 and where the Thurmont Motel is situated. The site has been mentioned as a possible shopping center and is near the location of the proposed new Thurmont High School.

College Musicians Granted Audition

Three collegians from Mount St. Mary's College, held a recent recording session for the Columbia Recording Co. at the YMCA in Frederick. The trio, known as the Blue Ridge Singers, is composed of senior history major, Louis Armstrong, Lutherville, Maryland; Michael Bridge, junior history major from Kittanning, Pa.; and Thomas Smith, junior education major from Harleigh, Pa.

The Blue Ridge Singers made their first public appearance at Georgian Court College, Lakewood, N. J., in December. They have been scheduled for other college appearances at Villanova, Boston University, and several other neighboring colleges. For the benefit of the Philadelphia retarded children's fund, they were scheduled to sing on a program at Convention Hall.

The group sings popular folk tunes as well as some of their own compositions. Two of the trio have had prior experience in the field: Mike Bridge travelled with the Highwaymen for a summer and Tom Smith formerly sang with the Lonesome Travelers.

The Future Teachers of Emmitsburg High School held their monthly meeting recently in the school auditorium. They had three guest speakers: Shirley Hahn, Nancy Eyster and Lona Frock. Shirley and Lona told about life at Frostburg State College. Nancy enlightened the group on college life at the University of Maryland. All three girls seem to enjoy their schools immensely and many of the future teachers are now looking forward to their own college life.

Lions Club To Sponsor Eyeglasses Drive

The Emmitsburg Lions Club will conduct a drive to collect old eyeglasses it was decided at the regular meeting of the group held Monday night in Mt. Manor Restaurant, President C. Arthur Elder presiding.

Several years ago the Lions held such a drive and several hundred pairs of eyeglasses were gathered and have been distributed to needy individuals the world over. The president announced that in the near future a container for these glasses will be located in the Farmers State Bank where individuals wishing to donate them can deposit them there.

Eugene Sappington, secretary, was named Lions automobile tag chairman this year and those members desiring AL (American Lion) tags are asked to contact him immediately. The Middletown Lions announced a ham supper to be held there Saturday night. Attorney Edward D. Storm, legal advisor to the Civic Assn., was present and spoke briefly concerning matters on the Civic Grounds, part of which the State Roads Commission is seeking for the new by-pass of Emmitsburg.

Mount Teacher Training Program Greatly Expanded

Fifty-four seniors at Mount St. Mary's College are enrolled in the college's expanding teacher training program, according to the Chairman of the Education Department, Gerald C. Orosz, M.A. This number is 62% higher than last year's enrollment and nearly 800% higher than the number graduating in 1954. Professor Orosz attributes the tremendous growth in numbers to the expansion of job opportunities in the teaching profession and the continuing salary adjustments being made in the field.

Under the college's program as revised in 1959 in conjunction with the Maryland State Department of Education, the final term of study is devoted to a professional semester. At this stage, the senior student, having completed all course work in his major field of study as well as the college's required courses, concentrates on a teacher training program. During the first six weeks of the term, he undergoes an intensive study of courses in general methods of teaching, educational psychology, audio-visual aids, and special methods of teaching in his own field of study.

In his study of special methods, he is assigned to an instructor who is qualified to teach in the student's major field. Bernard S. Kalis, M.A., assistant professor of English; John M. Clark, M.A., instructor in mathematics; Gerald C. Orosz, M.A., former instructor in science and department head; and Joseph E. Flaherty, M.A., assistant professor of education and former problems of democracy instructor, will teach this term.

The remainder of the semester will be spent in observation and practice teaching in one of 18 area junior or senior high schools. During this time the student-teacher is assigned to a qualified secondary teacher as well as undergoing periodic observation and evaluation by members of the college faculty.

Among area schools participating in the program are: Emmitsburg High School, Thurmont High School, Taneytown High School, and St. Joseph's High School.

From last year's class, nearly twenty entered directly into the teaching profession; several continued on toward advanced degrees; and several others entered the military to fulfill their military obligations. The program provides reciprocal secondary certification within the provisions of the Maryland State Department of Education.

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Baker, Taneytown R2, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to William Edward Devilbiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myrle R. Devilbiss, Taneytown, R2.

Miss Baker is a graduate of Emmitsburg High School and the Hagerstown Business College, and is employed at the Rowan Controller Co., Westminster.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Taneytown High School and is presently engaged in farming.

Reader Discusses State Income Tax Bill Proposal

To the People of Maryland:

It was with dismay that I heard a radio announcer say that "Mr. Tawes spoke in defense of his request for a 4% income tax which is for the State Aid to Education bill and other purposes."

Although Mr. Tawes gave lip service approval to the Hughes Bill, we wondered if he might use some tactic like this to defeat it, for this 1% rise in income tax involves a lot of our money and now people who are uninformed will consider that it is "just for teachers."

We now have word that the Maryland Treasury will have a $40 million surplus at the end of the fiscal year. In addition, even when we thought the surplus was $20 million, Senator Derr and others felt that a 1% rise in tax would be more than adequate to provide for the expenses proposed in the Hughes Bill, as the aid-to-education bill is named.

This bill is extremely well thought out and constructed, and will do a great deal in relieving serious inequities in providing good supplies, school plants and teachers throughout the State of Maryland. The equalization policies of the bill will bring needed relief to those of our counties that have an insufficient tax income to support an adequate educational program.

Perhaps the citizens of one county balk at the idea of supporting other poorer counties. We are not citizens of only one town or county, but if the State of Maryland, the nation, the world, and God's Universe, and, as such, we are our brother's keeper and the keeper of our brother's children.

The passage of the Hughes Bill will make the State of Maryland a leader in the nation's educational program. Let's hold the Maryland flag high and show the world that we value our children and their futures by urging our congressmen to vote for the Hughes Bill. Your congressmen really appreciate hearing from you! Write and tell them your thoughts about the issues with which they are dealing for you.

Hepatitis Cases Lower This Year

There were 521 cases of infectious hepatitis, a disease which attacks the liver, reported in Maryland for 1963, according to Dr. Gregory Dimijian, Public Health Service epidemiologist assigned to the State Health Department. Although this is a reduction from the 745 cases reported in 1962, infectious hepatitis has become one of the most frequently reported communicable diseases in the United States during the past decade.

The disease generally reaches its peak during the winter months. Approximately 60% of the cases in Maryland in 1963 occurred in persons under twenty, the majority of whom were school-age children.

So few laboratory tests are available to help detect sources of spread of hepatitis that control of the disease is limited. Environmental sanitation, education in personal hygiene and judicious administration of gamma globulin to close contacts of the infected person are the chief control methods, the public health epidemiologist said. No specific vaccine is available.

When an outbreak occurs, the Department's Division of Epidemiology conducts an investigation to determine the likely sources of transmission and to make recommendations to reduce the opportunity for the spread of the infection.

Since it has been established that hepatitis can be spread by the fecal-oral route, children should be taught the extreme importance of hand washing, keeping hands and objects out of the mouth, and keeping the mouth away from the table or desk during school rest periods.

School washrooms should be inspected frequently and hand washing facilities should be easy to use. For example, the spring-loaded faucet is difficult for children to use, Dr. Dimijian noted. The delayed-action type, which cuts itself off after a brief interval, and the foot operated type are more suitable.

People who handle food in the home, in restaurants or in school cafeterias must be aware of the importance of their own personal cleanliness. There should be regular inspection for cleanliness of clothing, equipment and work areas. As flies are an ideal carrier from feces to food, an effective fly control program is important, especially in restaurants and school cafeterias.

Also, a safe water supply and an adequate sewage treatment and disposal system are essential. Two recent outbreaks of hepatitis in this country have been traced to shellfish taken from polluted waters.

These public health measures are important at all times, but must be pursued even more rigorously when an outbreak occurs.

For aid in prevention and control of infectious hepatitis or other communicable diseases, Marylanders may contact their local or state health departments.

New Tax Charts Now Mailed

Internal Revenue Service today said 4½ million copies of the new income tax withholding tables based on the 14% rate agreed upon by Congress will be mailed by the end of the week to employers throughout the country.

The 32-page booklet entitled "Employers Tax Guide" is expected to be in employers hands by this week, well in advance of the effective date of the lowered 14% withholding rate on wages and salaries. The effective date expected to be seven days after President Johnson signs the tax cut bill is estimated to be about March 1.

Printing of the tax guide began shortly after the 14% withholding rate was approved by Senate and House conferees on Monday, Feb. 10, and distribution of the guides in bulk was begun to Internal Revenue Regional Service Centers where they are being addressed and mailed to employers.

This early distribution of the new tax tables was made possible by the huge - volume processing techniques of the Internal Revenue Service. The distribution is about five days faster than would have been possible a few years ago. This speed-up was achieved because of the faster distribution of the material to the Service Centers, the high-speed production of mailing labels by electronic computers and high - speed labeling equipment.

Internal Revenue said employers should watch for announcements of the effective date of the new withholding rates in the paper and on radio and television. The new rates cannot be used until an effective date is announced.

Tobey's Opens Remodeled Store

Hundreds took the opportunity to witness the new look at Tobey's in Gettysburg Thursday night as the proud management held its Grand Opening after many weeks of extensive remodeling.

The designers have incorporated a bit of Adams County's early architecture inside to remind patrons of the contributions made by their ancestors in molding the nation's future.

Bright, modern lighting is supplemented by reproductions of authentic antique coachlights; walls are decorated in gold and silver scrolls on colonial white backgrounds; louvered doors and 'shutters' add a touch of outdoors to the atmosphere of space and relaxation.

California redwood siding is used to effect early American architecture, and distressed wood posts support the recessed display areas for ready-to-wear fashions. New display cases of white, gold and distressed wood have replaced the conventional accessories to add a sophisticated atmosphere to the new interior.

Soft, muted tones provide the perfect background for this season's pastel colors in fashions, and a bright blue carpeting in the ready-to-wear department adds glamor and comfort to the additional space. Floor area has been increased by nearly a third to provide greater display facilities, more spacious dressing rooms and greater shopping comfort. Suspended folding gold mirrors are reminiscent of the Victorian era, welding the decorator period of the past 100 years into a comfortable and outstanding decor.

The new Tobey's this year marks more than 22 years in Gettysburg, and this latest expansion is significant of the strides in local fashions during that period. Owned by Mrs. Shirley Dessen and Daniel Radbill, Tobey's constantly searches for the unusual in women's fashions. Highly-experienced in women's merchandising, the owners agreed to continue the distinguished practices of Mr. and Mrs. Tobey, who retired four years ago to reside in Florida, and constantly seek unusual fashions from New York and other fashion centers for quality merchandise and style. Famous-name brands are always present, but the owners also seek the creations of new designers and fashion experts.

The new interior provides a larger selection of coats, dresses, suits, sportswear and accessories than ever before to bring the smartest styles and fabrics to the wardrobes of their Adams County patrons.

The formal opening Thursday evening featured a radio broadcast from the new store. Grand Opening days will continue through Saturday night with complimentary roses for the guests.

FALLOUT SHELTERS are explained by Stuart L. Pittman (left), Assistant Secretary of Defense for Civil Defense, during eight weeks of hearings on civil defense conducted this summer by Rep. F. Edward Hebert (right), and his Subcommittee No. 3 of the House Armed Services Committee. Following testimony by 108 witnesses, the subcommittee, and later the full House Armed Services Committee, strongly endorsed the proposed nationwide $190.6 million fallout shelter program. The program has been authorized by the House of Representatives, and is awaiting Senate action now that committee hearings there have ended.

Do You Know Your Blood Type?

It is very important that everyone should know his or her blood type. The easiest way to find out (without cost) is to be a blood donor. Every donor's blood is typed when it reaches the laboratory at the Washington Regional Red Cross Blood Center. This information is then forwarded to the office of the Frederick County Blood Program where it is recorded and the donor sent a card (listing his blood type) that can be carried in the wallet.

"PLOP"
How many times have you been advised to call off a fishing trip "because the water's muddy?" Probably quite often, especially during the rainy months when downpours wash silt down streams and into lakes.

For most anglers, fishing comes to a standstill. But there's an exception to every rule, particularly when fishing is concerned, state the folks at Mercury outboards. And there's one special style of angling in which muddy water can be a real asset — bass fishing.

Fishing when a lake's all cloudy and "messed up" calls for different advertising techniques. If a bass can't see a lure, then offer him something he can hear, smell and taste. Take a cork and "dish out" the bottom end so that it will "plop" loudly when cast by rod or long cane pole to the shoreline. Two feet down from the cork, attach a hook with a glob of worms. As this rig is retrieved, jerk the rod up and down briskly. The fish hears, smells and tastes, and he's on.

For best results, say the Mercury authorities, cruise around the shoreline until you find a spot where the muddy water is just starting to clear at the edges, near stumps or in weed patches.

Instead of staying home when the lake looks like it should be plowed rather than fished, give this technique a try.

You might surprise a lot of bass in the process.

100 YEARS AGO

KILPATRICK'S RAID FAILS IN RICHMOND SUBURBS

By Lon K. Savage

Brigadier General Judson Kilpatrick was not yet 30 years old, but he already had made a reputation as a great cavalry officer of the Union army. One hundred years ago this week, Kilpatrick set out on one of his most famous—and most unsuccessful—exploits.

Kilpatrick led a cavalry raid on Richmond, the capital of the Confederacy, while the city was guarded by the whole of General Robert E. Lee's veteran army. He made it all the way to the city's outskirts, and there the raid collapsed, a spectacular flop.

The idea of Kilpatrick's raid originated in Washington, and it went like this: Kilpatrick was to set out from the Union lines along the Rapidan River in east-central Virginia, cross the river and head straight south for Richmond, skirting the east side of Lee's army. Simultaneously, General George A. Custer (the man who would become famous for his "last stand" in the West after the war) was to move southwest, on the other side of Lee's army, to divert Lee.

Once in Richmond, Kilpatrick was to wreak havoc on supplies and communications and attempt to free Union prisoners on Belle Island in the James River.

Good Start

All started well. On the night of February 27th, Custer, with 2,000 cavalrymen, moved out of the Federal encampment. Next night, Kilpatrick crossed the river with another 4,000 men and started south at full speed.

Near Fredericksburg, Kilpatrick divided his force. Col. Ulric Dahlgren, with 500 men, turned westward, to loop around Richmond and come at the city from the south, closer to Belle Island. Kilpatrick moved straight south, burning railroad bridges, ripping up tracks and cutting telegraph wires.

On the morning of March 1, Kilpatrick's men rode into the Richmond suburbs, five miles from the central city, and ran headlong into a line of Confederate troops hastily assembled to resist his advance. Skirmishing broke out, and Kilpatrick's men stopped.

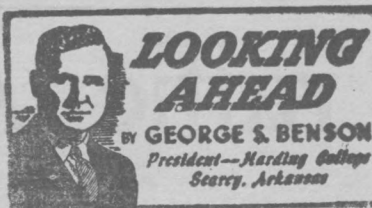

Dahlgren's Problems

Dahlgren, meanwhile, was having trouble, too. He had looped around west of Richmond as planned, but his hope to cross the James River was frustrated when he could find no ford. Therefore, he turned left and moved in on the city from the west, along the river bank, burning grist mills, barns and boats as he moved. He arrived in the western outskirts of the city on the afternoon of March 1 where he, too, ran into a line of resistance.

Both Kilpatrick and Dahlgren fought until nightfall and then gave up. Kilpatrick headed east toward the coast and federally-held Fort Monroe; Dahlgren started northward, but his men became separated. Three hundred of his men caught up with Kilpatrick and made their escape. Dahlgren and the other 200 made their way 25 miles to Aylett, where Confederates attacked them and Dahlgren was killed. The rest fled.

Confederates later reported finding on Dahlgren's body a paper stating that his men were to burn Richmond and kill President Davis and his cabinet. The paper, published in Richmond's newspapers, caused a sensation and brought prompt disclaimers from Federal officials in Washington. The whole truth of the paper has never been established.

Next week: Grant is promoted.

Castro's High Jinks Fail

Fidel Castro's first all-out drive to expand Communism in the hemisphere has ended in failure for the Cuban dictator and complete victory for supporters of freedom in Latin America. On December 1, about 93 per cent of the voters of Venezuela turned out to accomplish their first orderly transfer of power in 142 years of turbulent history. They did this (64 per cent was the best we could do in the 1960 presidential elections) despite Communist promises that anyone appearing on the streets would be shot.

This was a tremendous victory for freedom. It meant that one free nation had refused to knuckle under to the terrorists of international Communism, who were trying to disrupt free elections and perhaps force Venezuela into military rule. This open and undisguised use of sabotage and bloodshed has also revealed the hand of Castro, his cohorts, and his sponsors. It has shown to other Latin nations what may be in store for them. Their crises will likely come one by one, as the Cuban gangsters become the Communist bridgehead for subversion and sabotage in the New World. Rebuke To Castro

Venezuela is trying hard to beat back this fifth-column that Castro finances and arms. This Red underground has burned factories, robbed banks, bombed oil fields and pipelines, wrecked stores, kidnapped U. S. officials, and fired on police and pedestrians. It has five times attempted assassination of President Betancourt. But the people turned out anyhow on election day to give a complete victory to democratic government. It was a great rebuke to Castro although it will not stop him. The Castroites, throwing their worst at Venezuela, were concentrating on one of the most prosperous and stable nations of South America. Contrary to what many people want to believe, Communism does not cast its eye exclusively on the "have-not" countries. It considers industrious and even wealthy countries fair game for its exploits and develops whatever techniques it believes will advance the conquest. Venezuela apparently knows what has been hitting it.

A Progressive Country

This oil rich country has made much progress under Betancourt, who helped establish order and stability after the chaos of several dictatorships. The government has endeavored to broaden its economy by encouraging expansion of private enterprise, even while pursuing a variety of industrial projects of its own. Relationships with foreign oil companies are good and likely to be continued. Agricultural output has improved. Perhaps most encouraging is the doubling of school buildings and enrollments, along with progress in reducing illiteracy.

The energetic and able government under Betancourt evidently has enjoyed some help from the Alliance for Progress. If earlier encouragement and more dependence could have been placed on native private enterprise, as in Germany, the nation might have become the showcase that it is much sooner. Several poorly planned, impractical, and even wasteful government projects were undertaken in Venezuela by the dictatorships. The present government has managed to maintain a balanced budget and avoid inflation.

What Can Be Done?

President Betancourt lost no time in prevailing upon the Organization of American States to investigate Castro gun-running and guerilla activities in Latin countries. His case was strengthened by this three-year example against his own land. Said he: "As long as Fidel Castro's regime exists in Cuba the security of all peoples of Latin America will be threatened. A joint, energetic and definitive action will be necessary to isolate that regime and to put an end to that Communist bridgehead on our continent."

To what extent the OAS will strengthen President Betancourt's hand remains to be seen. It would not be impossible for the U. S. to help create a blockade that would prevent, or at least limit, Castro's activity in exporting revolution. The bearded one cannot say or do more than he has already done. The OAS certainly has a right to translate into some kind of action its concern about Castro's tactics. Which nation will be the next to be attacked by sabotage and subversion from within?

Green Thumb Tips

Seeds to sow upon the snow include those of such annual flowers as poppies and cornflowers and one vegetable—spinach. Of course the spinach won't be planted in a neat row, but what difference does that make if you have extra-early greens to eat?

January is a good month to make flower boxes—window, patio, porch or balcony, whichever is most useful for your garden. Make them of a rot-resistant wood-like redwood if you do not wish to keep them painted, and be sure to provide holes in the bottom for water drainage.

Have you ever sat down with yourself and made an honest evaluation of your previous season's garden? It's more satisfactory than making New Year's resolutions, for you get results.

Which types of flowers or vegetables grew best for you? Which do you want to grow again and which not? Where are the places in your garden that need pepping up with colorful blooms? These are the kinds of questions you should ask yourself.

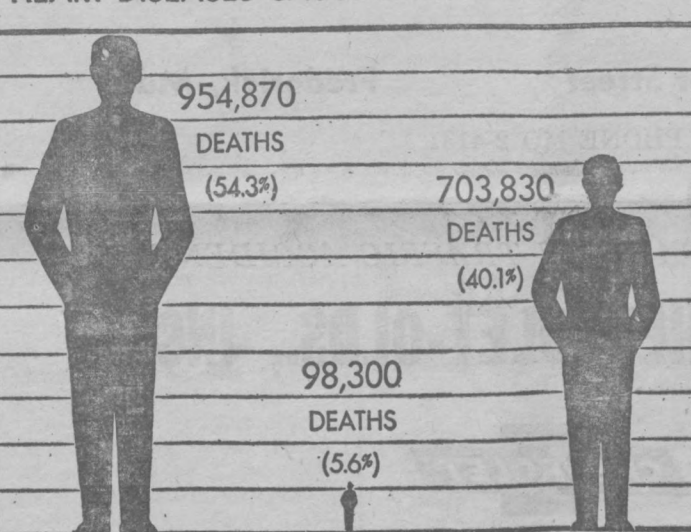

Then read the seed catalogs, now arriving, for suggestions to help you have a finer garden this year.

Want to keep children occupied and happy? Let them mix wild bird seed with peanut butter and put dabs of the mixture on the scales of a pine cone of the open type, like that of a white pine. Closed cones will open speedily if placed on top of a heated radiator or in a warm oven. Hang cones from tree branches and watch the birds come.

Satisfaction is practically guaranteed the gardener who orders disease-resistant varieties of both vegetables and flowers. These varieties are plainly described in the catalogs as having been bred to ignore many plant troubles.

Poor Man's Orchid, properly named Schizanthus (pronounced Sky-zan-thus) is an easily grown annual flower that makes beautiful summer corsages. Flower colors are white through shades of cream and pink to crimson and mauve.

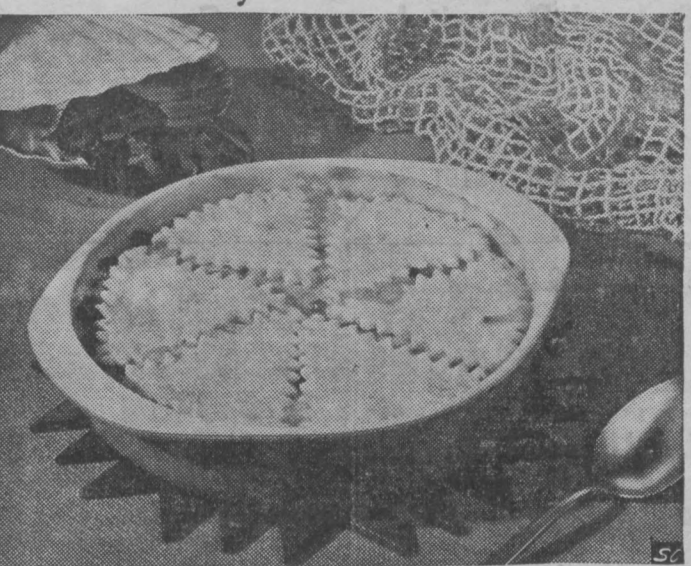

HEART DISEASES CAUSE 54.3% OF ALL DEATHS

SOURCE: LATEST AVAILABLE FIGURES (1962) FROM NATIONAL OFFICE OF VITAL STATISTICS

DISEASES OF THE HEART AND CIRCULATION were responsible for 954,870 U.S. deaths in 1962, or more than half of the total from all causes. This points up the magnitude of the heart problem and the need for research, education and community heart programs supported by the Heart Fund, which reaches its highpoint and climax on the week-end of Heart Sunday, February 23. More than 1,750,000 Heart Sunday volunteers will visit their neighbors to distribute heart-guarding information and to receive Heart Fund contributions.

Party Pie For Lent

When you'd like to feed guests something special during Lent, this delectable pie is just the main dish. Tender crabmeat, lobster and shrimp, which are easy to buy in cans at your supermarket, are combined with tiny green peas in a creamy base. Triangles of golden crust on top are made the easy, no-mess way with pie crust mix. You just sprinkle on the water, mix and roll out the dough. Serve Seafood Pie bubbly hot from your oven—soon!

SEAFOOD PIE

Makes 6 servings

Filling:
One 10-oz. pkg. frozen peas
One 10-oz. can frozen cream of shrimp soup
1/2 cup milk
Two 3-1/2-oz. cans crabmeat, drained and flaked
One 5-oz. can lobster, drained

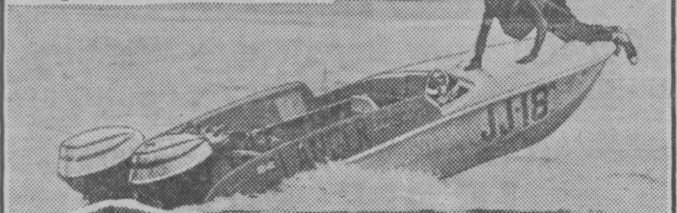

Pastry Topping:
One-half 10-oz. pkg. Flako Pie Crust Mix (1 cup)
2 tablespoons cold water

Heat oven to hot (425°F.). For filling, combine peas, soup and milk in medium-sized saucepan. Heat until defrosted. Add crabmeat and lobster; pour into a 1-1/2-quart round casserole.

For pastry topping, empty pie crust mix into bowl. Sprinkle water by tablespoonfuls over mix; stir lightly with fork until just dampened. (If necessary, add another tablespoon cold water to make dough hold together.) Form into ball. Roll out on lightly floured board or canvas to fit top of casserole. Using pastry wheel or sharp knife, cut to fit top of casserole; then cut into 6 pie-shaped wedges. Arrange on top of crabmeat mixture. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) for 25 minutes or until golden brown.

FAIR LASSIE with a smile is Ann McKeon, chosen 1964 World's Fair Summer Festival Queen.

VANTAGE POINT—The "design" on arms of this parkway lamp post near New York is made by "cool pigeons" that seem to enjoy watching the whizzing parade of cars.

I said to her, "You know, really, for your sake as well as for the children's, you would be justified in leaving him."

Her reply was, "But I can't do that; you see, I love him still."

Is not the essence of love to give and to forgive and to go on forgiving, waiting for the day when a response in love might be given?

The cross of Calvary is the eternal backdrop for the love of God shown in behalf of unworthy man. The cross says to us, "Love never faileth." Here was love which cried out in the hour of crucifixion, "Father, forgive them."

The followers of Jesus Christ are in the army of the forgiven and the forgiving!

Prayer

O God, who by way of the cross hast redeemed us, teach us to be forgiving toward those who sin against Thee and their fellowmen. Forgive us, as we forgive. In the name of our Redeemer, Jesus Christ. Amen.

Thought For The Day

The Christian is not only a forgiven sinner; he is also a forgiving saint.

T. Taylor Faichney (Ontario)

for 1963, and the amount of taxes withheld.

For nine out of 10 wage earners, social security taxes of 3-5/8 per cent were taken out of the first $4,800 of their earnings.

W. S. King, District Manager of Social Security in Hagerstown, suggests that every worker should occasionally ask for a statement of earnings credited to his social security account. This statement can be compared with personal records, such as the withholding tax form, to be sure the social security record is correct. It's even more important for the worker to do this if he has held several different jobs during the year.

King said it is very easy to get this statement from social security. His office has a pre-addressed post card used to request a wage statement. Future social security payments will be based on the wages posted to the worker's account. For this reason, it's important for the wages to be correctly reported and credited.

To get the post card form or for other information, write, call, or visit the social security office at Hagerstown.

MEN, MACHINES, AND DEATH

From Harvard Medical School comes an interesting new look at the causes of those highway mishaps that kill 40,000 Americans each year.

In the past, "man failure" has usually been designated as the typical cause of such accidents. A mixed bag of human infirmities has been cited, including heart failure, mental blackout, faulty vision, alcohol intake, and impaired driver efficiency due to physical, mental or emotional troubles.

The discussion has been perhaps a little one-sided, since the people blamed for these various faults, having perished in the accidents, aren't in the most advantageous position to refute the charges.

Comes now a Harvard team of investigators headed by Research Associate Alfred L. Moseley, with a progress report on their five-year fact safari known as "Research on Fatal Highway Collisions." Researcher Moseley has concluded, according to the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, that vehicle failure as a factor in auto fatalities occurs at a rate "many times higher than was believed."

According to the Harvard researchers, vehicle failure springs from two distinct causes: failure of the car to function safely, and faults in its design. The former is a relatively simple matter of proper inspection and repair. The latter raises more complex problems, such as whether windshields have maximum visibility, whether interior car furnishings ought to be padded, whether driver's seats are best designed to combat fatigue.

Some progress has been visible in recent years, nudged along by enlightened if tardy legislation. Seat belts are becoming universal; padded dashboards are available in some cars if you ask for them. There's still a long way to go, but with continued research and education we can hope for a healthy drop in crucial highway failures, both mechanical and human.

While postal cards have been used in previous years in connection with wheat allotment programs, the Chairman explained, their return this year is more important than ever.

Since marketing quotas are not in effect for 1964, farm measurements of 1964 wheat acreage will not be made unless requested either by returning the card or by calling at the ASCS county offices to furnish needed information. Upon request, the farm visit to measure the wheat acreage will be made without cost to the farmer.

The card asks (1) how many acres of wheat will be harvested for grain on the farm in 1964, (2) whether the farmer intends to apply for price support on the 1964 wheat crop, and (3) if the allotment is more than 13.5 acres and the farmer will not apply for price support, whether he wants the wheat measured to preserve maximum acreage history credit.

Chairman Reeves urges that farmers return the cards as soon as possible so that county offices may obtain measurements and give producers an opportunity to adjust excess wheat acreage before the final disposition date.

Under-18 Drivers Banned In New York

Under-18 motorists from Maryland headed for the World's Fair should have an adult along to do the driving chores in New York State.

This warning came from Harry E. Usher, Executive Vice President of the AAA Automobile Club of Maryland. He also noted that New York City and State requires that drivers be at least 18 years of age.

Drivers younger than 18, even though they may have a valid Maryland driving license, are forbidden to drive in New York State," he pointed out.

Knowledge of this quirk in state and city law is especially important during 1964 and 1965, the two years when the New York World's Fair will be held. Mr. Usher said millions of motorists are expected to head for the fair.

He said New York State officials have launched an extensive out-of-state program to forewarn young drivers about New York's driver age laws.

Wilmington, Delaware
NO. 20,547 EQUITY

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR FREDERICK COUNTY, MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The Bill of Complaint is a suit to procure a divorce A MENSA ET THORO from the Defendant, Margaret H. Hamilton.

The Bill recites that the Complainant, Paul D. Hamilton, is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where he has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant, Margaret H. Hamilton, is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, whose last known address is c/o Mrs. Emily Hults, 214 West 26th Street, Wilmington, Delaware; that the parties to this cause were married on the 16th day of August, 1963, at Wilmington, Delaware, by a regularly ordained minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage no child or children have been born; that on or about the 13th day of November, 1963, the Defendant abandoned and deserted your Complainant, declaring her intentions to live with him no longer as husband and wife, that said abandonment and desertion were deliberate and final, and that there is no reasonable hope or expectation of a reconciliation between the parties.

The Bill then prays that the Complainant, Paul D. Hamilton, may be divorced A MENSA ET THORO from the Defendant, Margaret H. Hamilton, and that he may have such other and further relief as the nature of his case may require.

COURT ORDER

It is thereupon this 29th day of January, 1964, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks prior to the 7th day of March, 1964, commanding her to be and appear in this Court, in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 7th day of April, 1964, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

Vets' Insurance Dividends Paid

Almost a million veterans who hold GI life insurance policies are using their regular annual dividends to guard against loss of their insurance, according to F. E. Quinn, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Baltimore.

Mr. Quinn said VA has paid nearly $280-million in dividends for 1964 to more than 4.7 million veterans and servicemen who hold participating GI insurance.

GI policyholders may arrange to leave future annual dividends with the VA at interest as a credit to meet monthly premiums should the policyholders fail to pay them before the end of the 81-day grace period.

These dividends are subject to withdrawal by the policyholder on request, Mr. Quinn pointed out.

A policyholder who wishes to join those veterans who leave their dividends on deposit with VA for this purpose should write to the VA office which serves his policy, making sure to include his insurance number.

According to a recent poll of seven leading big-game hunters, the world's top trophies are: bongo, ovis poli, Asiatic ibex, markhor, giant sable, Siberian tiger, giant eland, African elephant, Alaska brown bear, jaguar, mountain nyala and greater kudu.—Sports Afield.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

LBJ to Activate Kennedy Programs Humphrey Predicts

By U.S. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey
Senate Majority Whip

This is the time for a hard look at the record of Congress for 1963, the unfinished business for 1964, and the basic role of Congress in our Nation.

The record of the first session of the 88th Congress was far from perfect. I have been outspoken in expressing my view that Congress should have completed action on several major problems which are still pending.

But the excessive criticism of Congress in recent months has not been reasonable. This was not a "do-nothing" Congress. Those who use that phrase should be reminded of the following:

After a long and responsible debate, the Senate approved ratification of the treaty banning nuclear weapons testing in the atmosphere—the most significant step in the field of disarmament and peace since the end of World War II.

Congress completed action in the final days of the first session on the most comprehensive aid-to-education program in history—including a loan and grant program to higher education, a program of aid to vocational and technical schools, and expansion of both the National Defense Education Act and the Aid to Impacted Area schools programs.

Congress also sent to the President for his signature these major programs: a new Mental Health program, Aid to Medical Schools, legislation which settled the rail dispute, and a new and effective feed grains program.

Above all, the critics should be reminded that the 88th Congress lasts two years. We are half way through the time we have to do the work of the 88th Congress. And we are more than half way through the work which must be done on other major programs.

My bill to establish a Youth Conservation Corps (the Youth Employment Act) is an example. It has already been approved overwhelmingly by the Senate, and was voted out of the House Committee on Education and Labor. It now requires action by the House Rules Committee and a vote by the House of Representatives.

The major challenges to Congress for 1964—during the second session of the 88th Congress—were initiated by President Kennedy and were reaffirmed as goals by President Johnson.

The first—the civil rights program—is a moral responsibility for the Nation and for Congress. The letters pouring into my office and into other congressional offices call for action on this program as "a fitting memorial to the late President Kennedy." President Johnson is deeply committed to this program.

The second—legislation to reduce taxes—is a fiscal responsibility for Congress and the government. This tax legislation is essential to give new thrust to the economy, to strengthen the base of our prosperity, and to create new jobs for the unemployed.

These are just a few of the goals of the 88th Congress. They were conceived as tools to strengthen America, by President John Fitzgerald Kennedy. They will be forged into action and reality in 1964, through the challenges and the leadership of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"PRIME MINISTER" ARRIVES—Mr. Kenneth W. Riebe, in his role as Prime Minister of the mythical Territory of Columbia, and Lt Col Allen E. Simmons, pass through an honor guard at the bivouac area of the Red Forces' 41st Civil Affairs Company during USSTRICOM'S Exercise SWIFT STRIKE III. Lt Col Simmons, the 41st's Commanding Officer, presents the Red Homeland salute. Mr. Riebe, in reality the City Manager of Newberry, S.C., was one of some 50,000 citizens of North and South Carolina, and Georgia, whose personal cooperation made it possible for USSTRICOM to conduct the largest military exercise in our country's peacetime history.

Babson Talks To Those Who Want To Retire

BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 27 — Each year more people reach the time for retirement, either because of age or because they have accumulated enough funds to ensure a living income. This always brings up anew the questions of where to go, what to do with spare time, whether to buy or rent, etc.

Climate Should Be Considered

Certainly, climate is one of the main considerations in choosing a place to retire to. First thought is usually that the warm states like Florida, California, and Arizona offer the best opportunities. For older couples this may well be true. Of course, no state, county, or community offers all the advantages. Places that may have attractive and lively business in the summer may be quite the opposite in winter, — and vice versa. So, time and care must be taken if you are to make a move for which you will not be sorry.

While I know that an even, warm climate is often fine for those who are no longer young or for those with respiratory troubles, there is something wearing about weather that is hot for too long a time. Studies have indicated that the most dynamic and intelligent people are likely to develop in climates with marked contrasts. Younger couples — especially those who still have their children with them — should consider either a section of the country with a wide temperature range or else two homes in areas with entirely different weather patterns.

Income Is A "Must"

Rapid population growth in states with the most inviting weather has not come as a result of new babies or thriving agriculture and industry so much as from newcomers moving in to retire and bask in the sun. Such people must, of course, be able to depend upon regular checks, such as those coming from pensions, insurance, rents on properties in other localities, and dividends on stocks, interest on bonds or mortgages. Social security payments are a great help, but they will not pay all the bills in the states on which people are now converging.

Some seem to think that places with delightful winter climates offer very cheap living conditions. This is frequently an illusion, often created by publicity agencies. You may not spend so much for fuel, electricity, and clothing in sunny areas, but food and rents usually cost just about as much, for comparable accommodation. So do medical and dental services, entertainment, and transportation. Also, states and cities throughout the country have varying ways of collecting taxes; but even if some of these look more inviting, they turn out about the same.

Some Want To Work

Most men and even many women get restless after they loiter around for a while. If you want a job, be sure to go into something for which you are trained. If you want a business of your own, work in that field first before you buy an establishment. Some interesting potential fields for "retired" workers are real estate, shopping services, typing, dressmaking, debt collecting, plant and tree nurseries, frozen-food programs, manufacturers' representatives, caretaking services, landscaping, and interior decorating.

Some people want to buy homes rather than rent, and this is often a good idea if you are careful in your selection. Be sure that a house you are considering is in an area that is improving, not deteriorating. Be sure it is near churches and stores. It is wise to include enough land for a vegetable and flower garden, and this in a pinch might be sold as a house lot or two if you ever need to retrench a bit. Never buy unless you have lived in a community — preferably for at least a year — and have got the feeling of the place. Real estate values are influenced more by the trend of feeling than by any business statistics.

First Steps In Choosing

Pick out a state by studying real estate booklets, maps, and information available at most libraries. Next, write the Chamber of Commerce at the capital of the state being considered. Ask for data on different parts of the state, including climate and opportunities. I urge you, then, to visit the localities, even if you have to take a leave of absence to do it. Sight-seeing decisions are often disappointing — and can be very costly.

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH

Disappearing Act

People keep on asking, "Why all the talk about tuberculosis when everybody knows it's disappearing fast?"

The answer is that there's a crucial difference between real disappearance and a "disappearing act." The alleged disappearance of TB is more apparent than real. Tuberculosis staged a dramatic upsurge in the first six months of 1963 in New York City, for example, with the health commissioner reporting a sharp rise in the case rate—the first increase in 10 years. Chicago, despite a moderate decrease, reported a continuing TB situation that made necessary an all-out struggle on the part of health forces.

True, there has been some basis for the general notion that TB is "on the way out." Since the introduction of highly effective "wonder drugs" in tuberculosis treatment, beginning with streptomycin in the mid-forties, there has been a gratifying decline in the rate of new cases and deaths throughout the United States. Only in recent years have these "wonder drugs" given rise to "wonder germs"—strains of the tubercle bacilli that have learned to adapt themselves to the action of the drugs and to withstand their effects.

Determined research is now going on in various quarters to develop further improved drugs that will overcome the new resistance. This is a slow, gradual business. Meanwhile the vigorous case detection and prevention campaigns carried on against TB by your Christmas Seal organization continue the year round. And that, by the way, is one more reason why you should respond now to your Christmas Seal appeal if you didn't get around to it during the season. It still isn't too late. And it's still important.

Adams Countian Files For Assembly

Francis Worley, of York Springs, R1, Pa., who gave his occupation as unemployed, has filed his petition to become a candidate for the General Assembly of Pennsylvania at the April 28th Republican Primary.

Mr. Worley, a former State Representative from Adams County, has masters degrees in both law and government. As a legislator, he opposed excessive tax measures and improper use of

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids, in duplicate, for site development in connection with the construction of the Governor Thomas Johnson High School, Frederick, Maryland will be received by the Board of Education of Frederick County, 115 East Church Street, Frederick, Maryland until 2 p.m., EST, Tuesday, March 17, 1964 at which time and place they will be publicly opened.

This contract will include grading, seeding, storm drainage, sanitary sewer, exterior lighting, bituminous paving, concrete walks, curbs and gutters, construction of track and athletic field, and miscellaneous equipment.

ONLY BIDS OF CONTRACTORS WHO ARE CURRENTLY PRE-QUALIFIED BY THE MARYLAND STATE ROADS COMMISSION WILL BE CONSIDERED. Such qualification includes both financial rating and classification, as applicable to this project.

Copies of the drawings and specifications may be obtained at the office of the Board of Education of Frederick County, 115 East Church Street, Frederick, Maryland or the office of Lloyd Associates, 121 Alleghany Avenue, Towson 4, Maryland. General contractors interested in submitting a proposal may obtain three sets of contract documents by depositing $200.00 per set made payable to the landscape architects.

Proposal cannot be withdrawn or changed after time set for start of bid opening and cannot be withdrawn for a period of thirty days after bid opening, except with express consent of owner.

All bids are considered final when submitted and none can be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days after the bid opening.

THE OWNER RESERVES THE RIGHT TO REJECT ANY OR ALL BIDS, TO WAIVE INFORMALITIES AND DOES NOT OBLIGATE ITSELF TO AWARD THE CONTRACT TO THE LOWEST BIDDER.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids in duplicate for the construction of the Governor Thomas Johnson High School, Frederick, Maryland will be received by the Board of Education of Frederick County, 115 East Church Street, Frederick, Maryland until 2 p.m., EST, Wednesday, March 25, 1964 at which time and place they will be publicly opened.

The project consists of construction and completion of the Governor Thomas Johnson High School excluding grounds development. This project includes 2 junior high school departments, a senior high school department, a vocational department, an auditorium, a gymnasium and is designed for 2,400 students.

The contract document will require that the project be completed within six hundred (600) calendar days, and that liquidated damages of two hundred dollars ($200.00) per calendar day will be assessed against the contractor for each day not complete, as set forth in the specifications.

Contract documents including drawings, specifications, forms, etc., may be obtained at the office of the architects, Henry Powell Hopkins and Associates, 10 East Mulberry Street, Baltimore 2, Maryland, or at the office of the Board of Education of Frederick County, 115 East Church Street, Frederick, Maryland.

General contractors may obtain not more than three sets of contract documents by depositing $100.00 per set, with the deposit in the form of bank check made payable to the architects. Cash will not be accepted. Upon return of the documents to the architect or owner within ten days of bid opening, postpaid and in good condition, deposit will be refunded to those who submit a bona fide bid, accompanied by proper bid guarantee in sufficient amount, and accepted for consideration by the owner.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check or bid bond, in amount of not less than 5% of the base bid proposal, made payable to the Board of Education of Frederick County.

The owner reserves the right to reject any or all proposals; to accept or reject any item of proposal; and to waive any informality in any proposal or the bidding.

Until the available number of contract documents is exhausted, a sub-contractor or manufacturer interested in a major item of work may, at the discretion of the architect, obtain one set of contract documents from the architect or owner upon deposit of $100.00 per set; $50.00 of this deposit will be refunded upon return of the documents in good condition, postage prepaid within ten days of bid opening.

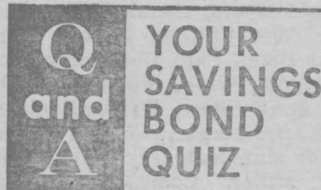

Subcontractors or manufacturers may at the discretion of the architect, obtain a partial set of drawings upon payment to the architect for cost of reproduction. They may obtain a volume of specifications upon deposit of $10.00 of which $5.00 will be refunded upon return of specifications.

By order of the Board of Education public funds. Mr. Worley was Adams County's first representative to devote himself full-time to his legislative duties and was known throughout the county for his impartial helpfulness to all his constituents, including the poor and uninfluential. Mr. Worley was widely known throughout the state as a pioneer sponsor of progressive and forward-looking legislation.

Mr. Worley pointed out that today the average citizen is paying about one-third of his income in federal, state and local taxes. He said that there is a crying need for holding down taxes and reducing unnecessary government expenses.

Mrs. Worley accompanied the former Assemblyman to the Commonwealth's Election Bureau in Harrisburg where they filed the petition last Monday.

Q—What do I have to do to be sure my old E Bonds continue to draw interest?

A—Not a thing. It's automatic. All E and H Bonds are continuing to draw interest.

Q—It is true that I am limited on the amount of Savings Bonds I can buy?

A—There is an annual limit on holdings issued to one owner in any one calendar year of $10,000 in E Bonds and $20,000 in H Bonds. However, two persons as co-owners can hold together double each of those amounts.

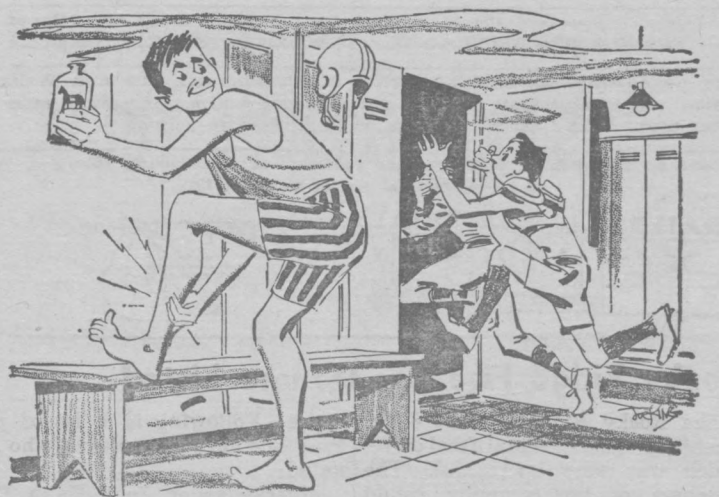

Q—I bought some E Bonds back during the war. Are they still drawing interest?

A—They certainly are! All E Bonds issued between May 1941 and May 1949 have been granted a second 10-year extension. That now makes them 30-year bonds.

Q—I know that chain letter schemes are generally illegal, but somebody had one the other day using Savings Bonds. Said it was all right because it helped the Government sell more bonds. Can you tell me about this?

A—The Treasury does not condone such schemes, even to sell more bonds. In fact, issuing agents have been told to refuse to sell bonds where they know or suspect they are to be used for such purpose. This applies whether or not the letters or bonds are sent through the mails.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day
Strong (Smelling) Medicine

The relation of Thoroughbred racing to collegiate football might seem remote, but to John Kirby, University of Nebraska guard and All-Big 8 conference star, it's a natural. The 206-pound linebacker is something of an enigma to his trainers, but trainers of race horses understand why young Kirby never "pulls up sore" after a game or practice scrimmage. The David City, Nebraska, lad learned his secret on the race track where, during summers, he likes to help out around his father, Terry Kirby's stable at Ak-Sar-Ben, Madison Downs or other tracks on the Nebraska circuit. While body contact among race horses is frowned on by the stewards, their bones and sinews do take a pounding, and their aching muscles, John noted, were relieved by strong horse liniment. "I tried it when I began to play high school football, and now I give myself a rubdown with the same liniment Dad uses on his horses."

The Nebraska coaches are delighted with the fact that young Kirby seems to defy "charley horses," but the horse liniment makes it a bit of a problem finding roommates on the road trips. They allow as how it is, to say the least, a bit fragrant.

How to be smarter than your wife
(on the subject of Savings Bonds)

Of course, there's no question about who's smarter at your house on most subjects. But to remove any doubt as to who knows more about U. S. Savings Bonds, the Treasury Department presents this little quiz. You take it first so you'll know all the answers and then pop it on your spouse. Great for the morale.

1. A Series E Savings Bond reaches maturity in:
☐ 5 years ☐ 7 years ☐ 10 years
2. The money you earn from Savings Bonds is exempt from state and local income taxes.
☐ true ☐ false
3. You have to be an American to buy U. S. Savings Bonds.
☐ true ☐ false
4. Americans owned more Savings Bonds in:
☐ 1943 ☐ 1953 ☐ 1963
5. Uncle Sam will give you a new Bond free if:
☐ You accidentally toss it in the washing machine
☐ The neighbor's dog swallows it whole
☐ A thief steals it
6. It's hard to redeem a Savings Bond.
☐ true ☐ false

7. A Bond that costs $18.75 will:
☐ Grow to $25 and stop
☐ Keep on growing if you don't cash it in
8. You can have somebody else buy your Bonds for you.
☐ true ☐ false

ANSWERS

1. 7 1/2 years is correct.
2. True. What's more, federal tax on E Bond interest may be deferred until the Bond is redeemed.
3. Generally speaking, true. You must be either a resident; a citizen living abroad; or an employee of the U.S., military or civilian.
4. In spite of the fact that Bond-buying was nearly universal during the war years, the correct answer is 1963.
5. You're right no matter which answer you checked.
6. False. Any bank will redeem your E Bond anytime after the two-months' holding period.
7. A Series E Bond will keep growing for 10 years past maturity. Extension is automatic.
8. True. A perfect example is the Payroll Savings Plan. You can buy Bonds for other people, too. In fact, they make excellent gifts.

Wheat-Barley Deadline Near

Maryland farmers will have until February 29 to redeem loan wheat and barley, according to George B. Reeves, Chairman, Md. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee. On or before this date a producer with either farm-stored or warehouse-stored wheat or barley under government loan should notify his local ASCS County Office if he wishes to pay off the loan and repossess the grain. If the loan is not repaid by this date, CCC will accept the grain as full satisfaction for the loan principal and charges.

Community College Begins Semester

Enrollment figures for the second semester at Frederick Community College were announced this week by Duval W. Swadner, president of the college.

There are 289 students attending classes at the junior college this semester. This represents an increase of 18 over the 271 students who were enrolled there during the second semester last year.

Enrollment is normally less during the second semester. This year is no exception. During the first semester this year there were 337 students enrolled, the most ever attending classes at the institution.

A study of the student body shows 209 of the students enrolled this semester attended classes during the first semester. There were also 13 readmissions, 50 new students and 17 nurses.

St. Joseph's Professor Awarded Fellowship

Marie G. Wanek, Ph.D., Associate Professor of History at St. Joseph College, is being granted sabbatical leave after the spring semester to accept a National Defense Foreign Language fellowship awarded by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, for post-doctoral work in South Asian languages at the University of California and the University of Pennsylvania. The fellowship offers Dr. Wanek intensive instruction in Hindi-Urdu under the Inter-University Summer program in South Asia Studies at the University of California at Berkeley, and includes further study of the language with area courses and special lectures at the University of Pennsylvania during the academic year 1964-65.

Dr. Wanek is the recipient of one of a total of ten post-doctoral awards which will be made under the National Defense Foreign Language Fellowship Program for 1964-65. Through these awards, it is the intention of the Office of Education to enable selected faculty members of accredited four-year colleges within the United States to acquire special qualifications for administrative or teaching roles in undergraduate programs on non-Western language and area studies. Fellows are expected to return to their sponsoring institutions on the completion of their fellowships.

Dr. Wanek has devoted several years of study and research in the history and culture of India. In the summer of 1963 she travelled to India as a participant in the Fulbright Summer Institute in Indian Civilization. She is an active participant in a non-Western Studies Seminars program, a co-operative venture of the faculties of St. Joseph's and five area colleges, which has been underwritten by a grant of $180,000 from the Ford Foundation. Dr. Wanek and Sister Mary Ann Berry, D.C., are the faculty representatives from St. Joseph in this year's study of India.

Dr. Wanek, a native of New York, resides in Washington, D.C. Prior to joining St. Joseph's faculty, she taught in schools in Jacksonville, Florida, and Washington, D.C. During World War II she was associated with the War Department as a translator, and later joined the staff of Georgetown University as a research analyst. She received her B.A. from the College of Mt. St. Vincent, New York, her master's degree from Columbia University, and in 1959 her doctorate from Georgetown University.

College To Increase Tuition

An increase in tuition at St. Joseph College, effective September, 1964, was announced by Sister Rosemary Pfaff, D.C., President.

To effect an equitable transition to higher charges, Sister Rosemary said the college plans a sliding scale of increases at $100 annually from the present rate of $600 for freshmen and $500 for upperclassmen until tuition reaches $900 a year for all students. In notifying parents of the increase, Sister Rosemary stated, "Since our very beginning it has been our aim to provide the most economical education possible while maintaining the highest collegiate standards. We have, nevertheless, reached the point where our costs far exceed our income." Residence hall fees and board charges will remain unchanged.

St. Joseph College, which is conducted by the Daughters of Charity, recently initiated a Ten-Year Program of development and expansion. Immediate priority under the program has been given to student housing needs. To alleviate crowded accommodations in the present facilities, a new dormitory is presently under construction and will be ready for occupancy in September. On the architects' boards are plans for a new science building.

Tom White, Bob Wilhide, Peg Wilhide and Sharon Herring attended the Civic Center in Baltimore, over the weekend.

Bloodmobile Scheduled Here March 12

On Thursday, March 12, the Red Cross Bloodmobile will make its annual visit to Mount St. Mary's College here. The Bloodmobile unit will be set up in the Student Union Building and registration will be from 1 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Postmaster James A. Grove of Frederick, chairman of the Frederick County Blood program, stated that last year's visit to the college produced a total of 224 pints of blood and he hopes this visit will be just as successful. He said that 237 persons appeared at the Bloodmobile on the visit and 13 were deferred for medical reasons. Out of the 237 persons appearing, only 10 were residents of the Emmitsburg area who were not connected with the college in some manner. He attributes this lack of interest to the fact that the majority of persons residing in the Emmitsburg area use the facilities at the Annie Warner Hospital in Gettysburg, Pa., and since this hospital does not operate a Blood Bank, it is not possible for blood replacements to be made by the Red Cross. When blood is needed at this hospital, it is necessary that donors of the same blood type as the patient be recruited prior to the operation. In many instances this puts a tremendous burden on the patient's family or friends to locate donors. To compensate for this lack of coverage at the Gettysburg hospital, the Frederick County Blood Program will set up a separate file for all Emmitsburg residents who donate blood to the Red Cross Bloodmobile, and when donors are required, the names of those having the blood type needed will be supplied on request of a person acting in the patient's behalf. This procedure worked very well several months ago for a Thurmont resident who needed blood donors to go to the Gettysburg hospital. It is unfortunate that this hospital does not have a Blood Bank of its own, so that replacement of blood could be made by the Red Cross.

Emmitsburg area residents are urged to avail themselves of the opportunity to participate in the Frederick County Blood Program by appearing at the Student Union Building, Mount St. Mary's College on March 12.

Lawyers Protest Proposed Subdivision Rules

Lawyer after lawyer testified in strong terms against the Subdivision Regulations proposed by the Frederick County Planning Commission at an over two hour public hearing this week in Frederick.

Murray H. Fout, president of the Frederick County Bar Association, which has officially opposed the Subdivision Regulations, began the parade of attorneys by reading a resolution unanimously adopted by the attorneys.

Robert E. Clapp Jr., said, "We are not interested in any last minute changes in the regulations not yet approved," referring to changes in the Subdivision Regulations suggested by the County Commissioners.

He then itemized a long list of specific objections to clauses in the Subdivision Regulations. David Weinberg added that "A whole staff of high priced technical experts will be needed to properly administer this highly technical ordinance."

Parsons Newmans claimed the clauses of the ordinance were "manifestly drawn without reference to each other" and that they contain "inarticulate language."

Manuel Weinberg said, "I am amazed that the planners produced these regulations and recommended them to the Commissioners knowing that they were illegal under the terms of the State law in Article 66-B."

W. Jerome Offutt was the only local attorney who had a good word to say for some kind of Subdivision Regulations being needed now in Frederick County, but even he said, "These specific Regulations are not a professional job."

Commissioner A. Irvin Renn, who was in charge of the Commissioners public hearing, cut off debate at the end of two hours and ten minutes without further explanation by the Planning Commission aside from a short statement by Dan Wight but said he would consider the possibility of a second public hearing on the subject.

Grangers Will Discuss Cattle TB Program

The Agricultural Committee of the New Market Grange of New Market has arranged a meeting concerning the recent outbreak of Bovine Tuberculosis in the Southeastern section of Frederick County. The meeting is scheduled for March 2, at the Linganore High School auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

Several outstanding persons who are vitally concerned with the TB control program in the State and the recent outbreak in particular have been secured to serve as a panel at the meeting. These persons include among others, Dr. Thomas A. Ladson, and Dr. Padlock of the Maryland State Livestock Sanitary Service, and Mr. Charles Ellington, newly appointed head of the Maryland State Inspection and Regulatory Commission. In addition several other persons including a USDA epidemiologist, local veterinarians, are expected to participate as panel members.

The purpose of the meeting is to (1) provide an opportunity for interested persons, and farmers to gain a better understanding of the outbreak situation; (2) understand precisely what is involved in the TB control program; (3) present some facts to the general public regarding TB and (4) provide the farmer with information regarding testing, disposal of infected animals, and government payments made to farmers for these animals. The intention is to provide the farmer with an informative and educational "airing" of the situation in an effort to prevent further misunderstandings and erroneous reports.

All farmers and interested persons are invited to attend this meeting regardless of whether they have been directly affected by the outbreak or not.

Miss Gwen Shorb, Washington, visited over the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shorb.

SPACE SCIENCE

by Waldman

Our space target is the moon. Project Apollo will follow Mercury and Gemini in the U.S. space race. Apollo will be used for manned flights near the moon and for a landing on the moon and return to earth.

Without today's welding processes, Apollo would not be possible. It contains the light, strong metal Titanium, which cannot be joined by conventional methods. Researchers answered the problem by developing the electron beam welder, the size of a .38 pistol.

There's another catch to Titanium. It must be welded in a vacuum. On earth the vacuum is man made. Out in the endless vacuum of space there'll be a ready-made workshop.

Famous Moments In Sports

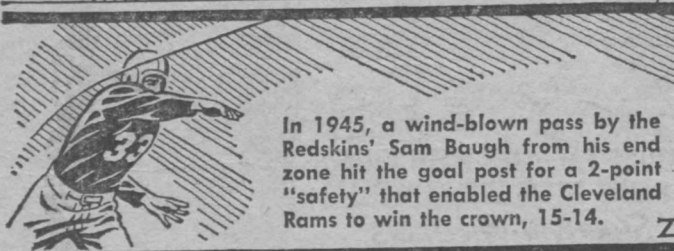

PRO CHAMPIONSHIP HIGHLIGHTS

Football has its "Monday Morning Quarterbacks" . . . Baseball its "Hot Stove League" . . . Golf its "19th Hole". Americans like to relive great moments in sports. Marlboro Cigarettes dug into the archives for these sports thrills.

INSTANT STICKTOITIVENESS for people who keep slipping up on saving

If you're long on planning to save money, and short on following through, here's an idea that's tailor made for you: The Payroll Savings Plan.

It starts you saving instantly. Doesn't cost you a nickel's worth of wit power. And it can give you thousands of dollars in savings before you know it.

The idea of the plan is cunningly simple: you don't save your money, you put somebody else up to it. Your employer.

Every payday you have him set aside a small amount from your pay and put it towards the purchase of a U. S. Savings Bond. You don't see the money that's being saved, so you hardly miss it. And since your employer's not as apt to forget about saving—your nest egg builds up fast.

Millions of Americans use the Payroll Savings Plan to save money, so you know it works. The money you save this way helps your country, too, by giving Uncle Sam financial strength to stand up to the enemies of freedom.

Why not say the word to your paymaster and get started saving this payday? Your new perseverance will amaze your friends, your family and yourself.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- You can get your money when you need it
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You can buy Bonds where you bank, or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work
