The Weekend Weather Forecast

Cooler Friday, turning a little warmer over the weekend. Some rain expected Sunday.

BY ABIGAIL

Emmitsburg is presently undergoing more physical changes than it has in the past century. Employment here for the next year should give the economic picture here a substantial boost and local merchants should feel the effects. No less than five major projects are scheduled or are already under way in the locality. Mt. St. Mary's and Saint Joseph Colleges have been expanding for the past two years and will continue to do so for some time. Currently under way are the installation of natural gas into the town and the new water system which will contain a new reservoir, filtration plant and water mains extending a distance of over five miles. In addition the new bypass which is scheduled to start almost any day now should give plenty of work for at least another year. Then, too, the local bank is planning extensive remodeling and expansion and several buildings are to be razed. Boyle's Store is planning a new and larger parking lot for its customers and is presently razing an old building next to the store. Plans have been under way for some time for the erection of a new sewing factory on Creamery Road. So you see, my dear friends, Emmitsburg has been extremely busy during the past year and will continue to be for quite some time. All this represents economic growth and progress, something of which we can be quite proud of. What we need desperately here is a building project. Homes in the $13,000 to $17,000 range are badly needed here and would sell quickly. At present we have one planned housing project but this will be held up until the completion of the new water system this year. Until we have more and adequate housing here we cannot expand any further. If ever there was an opportune time to do well in the real estate business, I'd say it is right now. Almost daily people come here from Ft. Detrick, Ft. Ritchie, Thurmont and Frederick looking for homes for rent or for sale.

Another Emmitsburg business has faded into oblivion. This week it was announced that the Emmitsburg Insurance Agency had changed hands. The agency, formed half a century ago, has merged with the Simpson Insurance Agency, a comparative newcomer in the field. In two short years this agency has consolidated two of our most popular agencies, Wilhide Insurance Agency formerly operated by George L. Wilhide, and now the Emmitsburg Insurance Agency, owned and operated by J. Ward Kerrigan, former newspaperman, college professor, banker, accountant and insurance man. The old names are fading from the scene and it gives one a feeling he is growing a trifle older, but also gives one encouragement that the business is still here and that progress is being registered. We can't help but feel grateful for the fine service rendered by these two insurance agencies that have been with us for so long and the part they played in the progress of Emmitsburg and we congratulate the new owner and wish him a long and successful string of business years.

Now that the Heart Fund and Polio Drive are behind us we are faced with one of the most noble of causes, the fight against cancer. This drive opens in April and the drive for solicitors is on. Anyone interested in assisting in this humanitarian cause is asked to contact the local chairman, Ye Editor, Arthur Elder. Area captains and soliciting teams are badly needed at this writing. May we here from YOU?

Drive Report

Frank X. Ligorano, chairman of the Emmitsburg Heart Fund Drive just concluded, announced this week that total collections to date in this area amounted to $553.57. Contributions will still be accepted.

The chairman takes this opportunity to express his deep satisfaction and appreciation to the many volunteer workers who aided in the drive and also those who made contributions. The collection represented one of the finest ever made here.

Town Sets April 28 Election Day

A special meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners will be held next Monday night to open the 12 bids received on the installation of a new filtration plant and steel reservoir, to the present water facilities, it was decided at the regular monthly meeting held Monday evening in the Town Office Building.

At the meeting it was announced the annual Town Election will be held on Tuesday, April 28 from 12 noon to 7 p.m. Voting this year will be held in the newly-acquired Town Building, East Main St., the former Water Co. building. Mrs. Yonnie Baker, Town Clerk, advises that those interested in voting in the coming election can register any time during the year, or up until 10 days prior to the election, April 28. Council abolished the annual registration period several years ago and now potential eligible voters can register any time of the year. To be eligible to vote a citizen must be 21 years of age or over and must have resided within the corporate limits of Emmitsburg for at least 12 months prior to the election.

Candidates seeking office must be property owners and must have resided in the corporation limits for at least 12 months prior to the election. Those interested in running for the elective offices must file in writing with the Town Clerk at least 10 days prior to the election.

Terms expiring this April are those of Mayor Ralph F. Ireland and Commissioner John S. Hollinger. Both officials are at this time non-committal as to whether or not they will seek re-election. Hold-over Commissioners are Dr. J. W. Houser and J. Norman Flax. The term for mayor is for two years while that of Commissioner is three years.

Girl Scout Week Being Observed

Girl Scout Week is being celebrated by the Girl Scout Council of Central Maryland from Sunday, March 8, through Saturday, March 14. Local Girl Scouts will join more than 3½ million girls and adults throughout the country in observing the 52nd anniversary of the founding of the Girl Scouts of the USA.

"A Promise in Action" is the theme of Girl Scout Week and of the Girl Scouts' 62nd anniversary which occurs on March 12. On that date in 1912 the first Girl Scout troop was formed in Savannah, Ga., by Juliette Gordon Low.

A major event of Girl Scout Week will be a series of parties for parents, held in communities throughout the Central Maryland Council's jurisdiction, which includes Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Frederick, Harford and Howard Counties. These events will give parents a firsthand view of the Girl Scout program as well as an opportunity to share in the fun, learning and adventure that Girl Scouting brings to girls.

The Girl Scouts of the USA is a nationwide organization for girls from seven through 17. Its purpose is to help girls develop as resourceful individuals ready to share their abilities as citizens in the home, community, country and world. Every member promises to do her duty to God and country, to help other people and to live by the Girl Scout laws.

There are four age levels within the Girl Scout program. They are Brownies, 7 and 8 years; Juniors, 9, 10 and 11 years; Cadettes, 12, 13 and 14 years and Seniors, 15, 16 and 17 years.

Major Girl Scout activities and interests are demonstrated in the seven days of Girl Scout Week. The week opens with Girl Scout Sunday or Girl Scout Sabbath for girls of the Jewish faith. Other days are: Homemaking, Citizenship, Health and Safety, International Friendship, Arts and Crafts and Out-Of-Doors Day.

BAPTIZED

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Orndorff was baptized Sunday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church. The sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. George Ecker and the child was named Gail Marie.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sanders was baptized and his sponsors were Miss Judy Joy and Thomas Joy.

Mountaineers Eliminated

Mount St. Mary's basketballers rang down the curtain on another successful basketball season Saturday night when they dropped the Mason-Dixon Tourney championship to Catholic U. in a thrilling contest that was won in the final seconds, played on the opponent's Washington court. The score was 56-52.

Phelan's crew, North Division titlists, began the tourney in brilliant fashion last Thursday evening by crushing Bridgewater 92-58.

The Blue and White came right back Friday night and polished off its arch rival, Loyola of Baltimore, 84-72.

Saturday night in the Nation's Capital, an overflow crowd of 2,000 watched Catholic employ a zone defense that befuddled the Mountaineers throughout in gaining its first triumph over a Mount team in 11 games. Mt. St. Mary's had twice beaten the Cardinals this season in M-D play. The title was the first for Catholic and places the Cards in the NCAA small-college tournament.

From start to finish the outcome was in doubt as neither team could build a big lead, the Mount holding a six-point advantage at 24-18 late in the first half for the biggest margin of the game.

Coach Jim Phelan's outfit was successful on its outside shooting through the first half to thwart the Catholic zone. After Catholic got an early 6-5 lead, Bernie Haag and Mike Costello landed long tosses for the Mount. The score was tied later at 9-9, 12-12 and 18-18 and then the Mount shot ahead on Ed Folk's jumper and a pair of twin-pointers by Haag. Catholic came right back on goals by Jack Spencer, Bill Leahy and Charlie Boylan to tie the score at 24-24 with 1:37 of the half left. Fouls by Folk and Fessler created a half time deadlock at 25-25.

In the second half the Mounts' long tries began to miss and they then began to commit fouls which proved fatal.

The lead changed hands 10 times in the second half, and was tied 50-50 with 3:02 remaining. John Sevic landed a pair of fouls for Catholic after which Leahy and Spencer rimmed goals to sew up the verdict.

Three Mount players fouled out in the late minutes, Bernie Haag with 3:00 left and Lou Martine and Folk a short time later, and their absence was keenly felt.

The Mounties held the edge in field goals, 21-17, but Catholic made good on 22 of 30 free throws as compared to but 10 of 18 for the Mount. In rebounding Catholic held a wide lead 43-27.

In the scoring, Haag landed 15, Folk 14 and Costello 10 points to lead the Mount while Leahy and Boylan each landed 15 for the new champions.

The Mountaineers finished their campaign with a lofty 18-7 record.

Liners Downed By Hancock

Hancock took advantage of a slow-starting Emmitsburg team Tuesday night at Hagerstown to knock the Liners out of Class C contention with a rousing 63-42 victory.

The Panthers raced to an 18-7 first period lead behind the shooting of Denny Kerns and rolled into the second round of the District 1 tournament against Flintstone.

Kerns, who dumped in 19 points, scored eight in the first period while Ronnie Hoopengardner tossed in six. Hoopengardner ended up as the leading Hancock scorer with 21.

Emmitsburg shot only 25 percent from the floor. Eddie Baker paced the Liners' attack with 12 points. Gene Eyler was next with nine.

After taking a 31-19 lead at intermission, the Panthers blew the game open in the third quarter with a 24-point explosion ignited by Hoopengardner's eight points. Most of the lefty's buckets came on a soft jump shot from the top of the foul circle.

The Panthers also resorted to their fast break in the third segment which netted almost half their points.

Emmitsburg kept the game close early in the first period with a combination man-to-man and zone defense, but Hancock began to find the cracks in it.

Insurance Agency Changes Hands

Emmitsburg's oldest insurance agency has merged with another agency it was formally announced this week. Emmitsburg Insurance Agency, owned and operated by J. Ward Kerrigan has been purchased by the Simpson Insurance Agency, after being in existence for half a century. The new agency is owned and operated by Robert C. Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Simpson.

The agency had its humble origin in the former Emmitsburg Savings Bank and the concern consisted of three individuals at the time. Henry M. Warrenfeltz, J. Albert Saffer and J. Ward Kerrigan were the founders and they continued to do business in the bank building which changed hands in the 1930's, the building being purchased by the Farmers State Bank, now merged by the Farmers & Mechanics National Bank of Frederick.

"J. Ward", as he is familiarly known, you might say, started his career, after graduating from Mt. St. Mary's College, as assistant postmaster, under the guidance of the late postmistress, Mrs. Rose Foreman. Leaving the postal system he took up banking and was named assistant cashier at the old Emmitsburg Savings Bank. Mr. Saffer retired from the firm a few years later to become Cashier of the Farmers State Bank, succeeding Stanley R. Damuth. Later Mr. Warrenfeltz retired from the agency and it has been run by "J. Ward" ever since.

From one policy and one company—the Peoples of Frederick—the agency enjoyed a steady growth in business volume and kinds of insurance coverages provided. When it was purchased and taken over by Mr. Simpson on Monday of this week there were more than a half thousand clients on the books, many of whom were among its very first customers.

The Emmitsburg Insurance Agency under Mr. Kerrigan's management has employed many young men and girls in or just graduating from local high schools who got their first taste of practical business experience in his office and later moved on to bigger fields away from Emmitsburg.

Looking back over the years, Mr. Kerrigan stated that he really enjoyed his work as an insurance agent and is going to miss the contacts with the public, but feels that he can now take things a little easier and perhaps do a little traveling, and try to lead the life of a "country squire."

K-C Planning St. Patrick Day Social Affair

The regular meeting of Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, was held Monday night in the Council Home, Grand Knight Lumen F. Norris presiding with thirty members present.

Rev. Fr. Louis Storms, pastor of St. Joseph's Church was a guest at the meeting and spoke briefly.

A letter from the State Council was read concerning a communication to all high school principals in reference to a scholarship sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. Paul A. Keepers, chairman of the "CC" tag committee reported a substantial number of members had applied for the tags and that they would be ordered in the near future. A sympathy message was sent to the family of Luke Hart, Supreme Director, who died recently in Connecticut.

The grand knight appointed the following committee in charge of the St. Patrick Day social function to be held March 15: Guy A. Baker Jr., chairman, Rev. Robert S. Grace and Cy Haley. Admission to the affair will be $1 per person.

A revision of the present by-laws is planned and the following committee was appointed to handle the matter: Paul A. Keepers, chairman, Carl A. Wetzel and Lumen F. Norris.

Bloodmobile Here Thursday

The Science Club of Mount St. Mary's College, has volunteered as a club project to assist with the American Red Cross Bloodmobile which will visit the college campus on March 16. Donors will be accepted between the hours of 3 and 7:30 p.m. in the Cogan Union, according to Mr. Francis X. Ligorano, Union Director. During last year's visit over 200 pints were donated.

The American Red Cross offers blood protection, on a unit for unit basis, for every resident of Frederick County, no matter where they may be hospitalized in the United States if the hospital is a participating hospital in the program. There is no charge for the blood service. The families of those covered are also protected.

Recently the mother of a Mount collegian in Rhode Island was provided with all the necessary blood during a major operation under the Frederick County coverage.

The success of the Frederick County Blood Program is dependent upon filling the quota set for the county. A person who is in good health, weighs at least 110 pounds and is between the ages of 21 and 69 inclusive may donate.

Single persons 18 to 21 must have the written permission of their parents or guardians. A doctor and specially trained nurses supervise the program.

College Announces Medal Recipient

Sister Rosemary Pfaff, D.C., president of St. Joseph College, announces that Mrs. Sylvester A. Lowery of Philadelphia will be the 1964 recipient of the Louise DeMarillac medal which is awarded annually by the college to a Catholic laywoman in recognition of her self-sacrificing personal service to her neighbor. The recipient is selected by the hierarchy of her diocese to receive the honor through which the American community of the Daughters of Charity annually pay tribute to St. Louise deMarillac, their French foundress. In 1960 Pope John XXIII issued an Apostolic Brief proclaiming St. Louise as patroness of the works of social welfare.

Mrs. Lowery, native and life-long resident of Philadelphia, was nominated by Archbishop John J. Krol as recipient of the award from his diocese. The presentation will be made at Emmitsburg on March 14 by the Most Rev. John J. Graham, D.D., Auxiliary Bishop of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Lowery is general chairman of the Committee for Foreign Relief of the Catholic Relief Service of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. In 1954, at the suggestion of His Eminence, Cardinal Dougherty, Mrs. Lowery organized the Children's Aid Committee to relieve the plight of children in war-torn countries. Expanding its operation, in 1946, the Committee for Foreign Relief, Archdiocese of Philadelphia, was organized. Mrs. Lowery is also foundress of the Adoration Society, and is a member of the Ladies of Charity, and the Alliance of Catholic Women. In 1951 she was recipient of the Cross "Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice" from Pope Pius XII, and has also been honored as Lady of the Grand Cross of the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem.

In December 1963, Mayor James Tate of Philadelphia cited Mrs. Lowery for her "unflinching zeal, singleness of purpose and her devotion to good works." In his tribute, he stated, "Philadelphia's reputation as a center of brotherhood and Christian charity has become known to millions around the world through the efforts of one woman who has devoted the major part of her life to helping others. . . . She has set a high standard of humanity and service—one which has been recognized by her government, her church and her community."

Recipients of the Louise DeMarillac medal in recent years include Miss Alice R. May, Assistant Director Catholic Charities, Baltimore in 1959; Miss Mary A. Dixon, Washington, D. C. 1960; Mrs. Clara Fowler, Richmond, Va. 1961; Mrs. Amedeo Giordano, New York City 1962; and Mrs. Mary Theresa Smith, Newark, N. J., 1963.

The program for the day will include a tribute to Saint Louise by the student winner of the St. Louise DeMarillac Speech Competition, an annual contest which was initiated in 1960.

We can't understand how that "unbeatable" football team was defeated last season.

Chronicle Will Publish Series Of Baby Pictures

It is an undisputed fact that the responsibilities of tomorrow's world, our Nation, and Community will rest upon the shoulders of the children of today. Since this is true, the publishers of this newspaper would like to give you a good look at these future "World Builders."

The only way we can do this is by publishing pictures of them in a feature series. To assure the latest and best reproduction pictures they must all be of uniform size and quality.

An expert children's photographer with all the necessary equipment for this specialized work will be here Saturday, March 14. Pictures will be taken at the VFW Annex and the Studio will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There is no charge to the parents. There are absolutely no strings to this invitation. It is bonafide in every sense of the word. Parents do not have to be subscribers, nor even readers of this newspaper to take advantage of this feature. Neither are they obligated to purchase pictures after they are taken. Those who want some additional prints may obtain them by arrangement with the Studio representative when they select the pose they want printed in the paper. It is entirely up to them.

The Chronicle simply wants pictures of all the youngsters and the more, the better. Children who have been photographed for this feature in previous years are especially invited to return, so that we may see how many have changed. So the Mothers and Fathers of the community in which this newspaper circulates should remember the date, Saturday, March 14 at the VFW Annex, and not fail to bring their children to the photographer.

You will be mighty glad, afterwards, if you did, and very sorry if you do not permit your children to participate in this event. The kiddies will have much fun and both Mother and Dad—and the youngsters, too—will be very proud to see their pictures in print later. No appointment is necessary. There is no age limit. If you wish to make an appointment phone Hillcrest 7-3731, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. You may come at any time during Studio hours. All children must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Photography will be handled by the Danville, New York office of the Woltz Studios of Des Moines.

Mount Contests To Be Played In Civic Center

Mount St. Mary's will play two of its basketball games next season in the Baltimore Civic Center.

Dr. John J. Dillon, Mount athletic director, announced that the Mountaineers will tangle with Manhattan on Dec. 17 at the Civic Center and will play Loyola there on Feb. 4. The game with Loyola would be the Baltimore team's home game.

Both games will be parts of doubleheaders.

Other teams rumored to be scheduled for the civic Center next season are New York University, Duquesne, Kansas, Utah State and American University.

There was no confirmation from Ben Roth, head of Championship Sports, Inc., the outfit that will promote the games.

Father McNulty Hurt In Accident

A Catholic priest was injured Tuesday in a two-car collision at the intersection of Rts. 15 and old 15 a mile north of Dillsburg. He was identified as Holy Spirit Hospital in Camp Hill as the Rev. John J. McNulty of Immaculate Conception Church, Fairfield.

A hospital spokesman said he suffered a possible fracture of the left wrist and a small cut of the lip. His condition was listed as satisfactory.

State police Cpl. Erich A. Borneman identified the drivers as Elmer C. Fissel, 70, Dillsburg and Father McNulty. He said the Fissel car was making a left into old Rt. 15 from Rt. 15 when the accident occurred about 1:55 p.m. Damage to the autos was estimated at $1,100.

Fissel refused medical treatment for his injuries according to the investigating officer.

Bank Plans Extensive Remodeling

Plans for the extensive remodeling and expansion of the Farmers State Bank Branch of the Farmers & Mechanics National Bank, were revealed this week by George L. Wilhide, vice president of the Farmers & Mechanics Bank.

Mr. Wilhide announced that the bank had purchased the J. Ward Kerrigan property which houses Orendorff's Food Market and had contracted for the Louise Sebald property adjacent to the Kerrigan property. Both properties are adjoining the present bank building on the Square.

According to the bank's plans both of these properties will be razed in the near future.

The purpose was stated to be for badly needed expansion of the present banking quarters and banking facilities which are inadequate now since there has been a substantial growth in recent years in the business of the bank.

It is planned to employ the services of an architect in the near future to redesign the present banking quarters and to plan for enlarging the banking quarters by use of the real estate being purchased. Also to plan for the possibility of installing a Drive-in Window in the future.

Interesting Grange Meeting Held

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange was held recently with Master Harry Swomley presiding with good attendance, which included some visitors. The meeting was opened with a song, prayer by the chaplain and the salute to the flag. The rapping of the charter ceremony was then held in memory of Brother George Martin.

Mrs. Ralph Tabler was elected treasurer in place of the late Mr. Martin.

J. Alfred Cutsail, Executive Secretary of the Frederick County Planning and Zoning Commission was present and explained the proposed subdivision regulations and answered questions. The next meeting will be held April 15, which will be Friendship Night with Tuscarora Grange as guest.

Election Board Moving Complete

The moving of the office of the County Board of Election Supervisors from the Court House to Winchester Hall in Frederick, was expected to be completed Monday.

Located in the Court House between the Magistrate's Court room and the office of the clerk of the Magistrate's Court, the Board will now be located in the ground fireproof room at Winchester Hall. Recently vacated by the Girl Scouts.

The change of offices is necessary to give the Trial Magistrate's office more space. A few minor alterations have been made in the former Girl Scout office in preparation for the election officials.

The move also provides more space for the election officials. The permanent election records are also being moved from the basement of the Court House to a fireproof room at Winchester Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Fuss, Sr., were honored on their 35th wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon, March 1, at their home on the Harney Road. The surprise was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. John Fuss Jr., and Edward Meade Fuss.

Do You Know Your Blood Type?

It is very important that everyone should know his or her blood type. The easiest way to find out (without cost) is to be a blood donor. Every donor's blood is typed when it reaches the laboratory at the Washington Regional Red Cross Blood Center. This information is then forwarded to the office of the Frederick County Blood Program where it is recorded and the donor sent a card (listing his blood type) that can be carried in the wallet.

100 YEARS AGO

GRANT IS PROMOTED TO HIGHEST COMMAND

By Lon K. Savage

President Lincoln had never met Ulysses S. Grant, and few in Congress had ever seen him. Despite that fact, 100 years ago this week, Lincoln named Grant to the highest office in the United States army, and the Senate confirmed the nomination within 24 hours.

And at long last, the Union army had its general—the man who would lead the Federals into a final, relentless assault on that formidable Southern opponent who had proved the undoing of all Grant's predecessors—Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Congress, in late February, had had to pass a special act to revive the rank of Lieutenant General for Grant, but it did so quickly, and Lincoln immediately signed the act into law. On March 1, Lincoln sent Grant's name to the Senate for appointment to the job so created, and the Senate confirmed it the next day. Thereby, Grant became the third American to hold that rank, following George Washington and Winfield Scott. And he became the fourth man to lead the Federal armies in the Civil War—after Scott, George B. McClellan and Henry W. Halleck had all failed to destroy the Confederates in Virginia.

Grant Gets Order

Grant received orders in Nashville on March 3 to report to Washington, and he immediately realized what was about to happen. Before departing, he got off a quick letter March 4 to Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman, praising Sherman and Gen. James B. McPherson for their help in his ascent. The help these two men had given him, Grant wrote Sherman, "entitles you to the reward I am receiving."

And as the humble little man boarded a train for Washington, the Civil War went into its final phase, a phase of simple and brute force applied constantly against a dwindling Confederate force. There was only one way such warfare could end.

Grant's War

The new phase had been expressed best by Grant, himself, earlier in the war when asked by his staff physician, Dr. John H. Brinton, about his philosophy of waging war. Waging war, Grant had replied, was really quite simple: you just "find out where your enemy is, get at him as soon as you can and strike him as hard as you can, and keep moving on."

That was the philosophy of war Grant was bringing to Washington as his train moved toward the Northeast. It was this type of war that had won the Mississippi and at Chattanooga. Amazingly enough, it was a type of war that had never been tried in the East.

Something of Grant's ability in war was expressed a few days later by Sherman in his reply to Grant's March 4 letter. Grant's great asset, Sherman wrote, "is the simple faith you have always manifested . . . This faith gave you victory at Shiloh and Vicksburg . . . When you have completed your last preparations, you go into battle without hesitation, as at Chattanooga; no doubts, no reserves; and I tell you it was this that made us act with confidence. I knew, wherever I was, that you thought of me, and if I got in a tight place, you would come, if alive."

Next week: Grant and Lincoln meet.

there and did not know the way. Several offered to take him. Of one he asked, "Have you been there?"

"No," he replied, "but I can take you."

The traveler said, "You won't do."

Another volunteer said he had been to the top of the mountain but no further, and the man said, "You won't do."

The person who was selected to guide him was chosen because he said, "That village is my home."

Jesus Christ, sent of God, is man's Savior, guide, and friend. He is God's way to man and man's way to God. In Him God fully revealed Himself. In the love of Jesus we see God's love. In the words of Jesus we hear God's words. In Him we have God's standard for man, as well as the way to come up to that standard.

Prayer
O God, we thank Thee for Thy Son Jesus Christ, our Redeemer, whom Thou didst send to live with us and to uphold us in the battles we fight and in the work we do. We commit ourselves into Thy hands with utter faith in Thy Son, in whose blessed name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day
In Christ we have God's standard for man, and He gives us power to come up to that standard.
James S. Mather (Ceylon)

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Consumer Spending Habits
BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 5—Soon many millions of Americans will be receiving sizeable amounts of 'extra' cash as federal withholding taxes are cut. Some of my friends who own retail stores figure they are sure to get the lion's share of this money. But I think these people may be counting their chickens before they are hatched. Here are my reasons.

Consumers Today Have More Freedom Of Choice
During the 1950's and the early 1960's, fairly steady increases in personal income brought a great many of the nation's households up to an adequate standard of living. Hence, the substantial additions to spending power which many families will get from the tax cut will represent discretionary income.

This means people will have more freedom of choice as to what they will buy than they have usually had. Their attitudes and their buying patterns may determine to what extent retail stores will benefit from the tax cut—and from the economic growth that lies ahead.

Service Business Will Prosper
Retail stores should certainly do better in 1964 because of the tax cut. But it is not going to be the bonanza some storekeepers are expecting. Living standards are high and rising. This means people are going to spend an increasing percentage of their incomes for such things as insurance, household and personal services, and recreation and travel. The old-line merchant who expects customers will continue to fill their shopping baskets with the same types of goods they bought when they were not so well off may be in for an awakening.

I forecast further growth in service businesses in 1964. Best gains will be in private education and research, foreign travel, and money-lending. I predict that private spending for educational purposes in 1964 will top 1963's figures.

What Consumers Will Buy

Today food, shelter, and clothing take about one-third of all family income; but the ratio is declining every month. In another ten years, these items may use a much smaller share. From now on people will be able to spend more for wants, instead of needs. Consumers will become better educated, more choosy, and more spoiled.

They will still purchase food, shelter and clothing items in good volume, but they will also buy a great many other things besides. These will mostly be comforts and semi-luxuries. The average work week in America has not shortened very much in the past twenty years, but emphasis on leisure time and making the most of it has increased. The desire to travel and to enjoy to the full holidays and vacations is a powerful force influencing buyers' attitudes and behavior. I predict a good increase in dollars spent for travel in 1964 versus 1963. In addition, I look for big boosts in spending for sports clothes, boats, fishing tackle, and many other recreational wants.

Markets Of Tomorrow

The amount of installment debt contracted to help finance expensive vacations and other services, and to pay debts accumulated as people have sought a higher standard of living, is not yet large in relation to total income. But I forecast it will grow fast and that it will be important in shaping the markets of tomorrow.

More liberal unemployment and social security payments—along with more generous pensions from private employers—will encourage people to spend more. Their spending habits will be based increasingly on aspirations and expectations, instead of on current income. You can expect consumers to be more selective from now on; for they are going to have more and more money to spend as they please, and they know what they want. On the other hand, those who do succeed in selling them will be very well rewarded.

Social Security News

Most of us have long since reconciled ourselves to the unpleasant fact that "we can't have our cake and eat it too." Occasionally, however, people come into the social security office with a plan in mind which they think will permit them to accomplish that rare gastronomic feat.

They would like to draw their social security benefits, but they are not quite ready to retire. They have a business or work in a corporation controlled by them and other members of their families. What they would like to do is fix things up so their wife (or some other member of their household) can receive part of the income that used to come in their name. The object is to limit their earnings to $1200 a year so they will be considered retired and eligible to receive their benefits.

In cases like this we have to take the position that they have not retired and that their true earnings are those they receive and those that the other person receives for them.

In those cases where there actually is a substantial change in the work a person does in the business and this other member of the family (or somebody else) actually takes over a large part of the duties the person formerly performed, then we have a different picture. Then there is a measure of actual retirement and the person can receive benefits.

In short, the question to be decided is a simple one. Has the person actually retired. This is decided by the facts, not by a surface compliance with the law.

Chevelle means performance aplenty—standard 120-hp Six or 195-hp V8—and optional at extra cost, a 155-hp Six, a 220-hp V8, a new 327-cu.-in. V8! But Chevelle's performance means more. Chevelle's a foot shorter than the big cars. And the space Chevelle saves in size comes off the ends, not the middle. So it rides like you want a car to ride.

Chevelle lets you choose Powerglide*, 4-speed manual* or 3-speed manual transmission. Knowing how people like the custom touch, we wrote out a long list of extra-cost options.

NATIONAL ALERT SYSTEM KEEPS UNSAFE DRIVERS OFF ROADS, AAA SAYS

A nationwide net, now operating in Maryland and 45 other states, is keeping more irresponsible drivers off the roads, the AAA Club of Maryland reports.

Known officially as the National Driver Register Service, its nerve center is an electronic search file set up in 1961 by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads in Washington.

To date, 46 states have furnished information on 385,000 persons who have lost their licenses after convictions for drunken driving or involvement in a traffic death.

If they apply for a license in another state, and that state checks with the register service, computers will reveal this damaging information in a matter of seconds.

Participating states are making increasing use of the center the AAA club noted. So far, three million driver permit applications have gone through the search center, and the rate is growing monthly.

The AAA club reported that Congress currently is considering legislation to permit states to furnish information on permit revocations for causes other than drunken driving or involvement in a traffic fatality.

OUTDOOR SPORT TIPS

Stow Those Oars

What do you do with oars when you're fishing? Do you chance losing them by letting both drag in their row locks. Unshipping and laying across seats again and again is a bore. Solve the problem with this tip: Fasten two inexpensive broom holders on the side of your boat. Locate in the right spots to receive the narrow necks of each oar. A push and the oar is securely stowed out of the way. A pull releases it.

Macaroni Grubs

Early fishing bait that can't be beat is a garden grub. But if you can't find a grub, substitute a small piece of macaroni. It will sometimes work as well.

Native Hone

This tip comes from Africa where natives keep knives razor sharp without hones. They use soil, preferably sandy soil, on a flat piece of wood. Soil acts like pumice or rotten stone. Work is slow but edge is keen.

Minnow Bucket Anti-Freeze

Here's one way to keep a minnow bucket from freezing. Put your hand warmer in a box and set the bucket on top of the box.

Shade Fish

This tip is somewhat crude . . . but it could be effective too. In small ponds that cook up in the sun of mid-summer, you'll do the fish favors by scattering old boards on the surface. Fish will lie in boards' shade, stay healthier.

Station Wagon Curtains

The quick way to have beauty and privacy in a station wagon is to sew small but powerful magnets into the lining of your favorite curtain material. Curtains go up or down quickly, magnets hold tight, don't mar up wagon's interior.

Steady Shooting

This is a basic tip, but one plenty of hunters don't heed.

There is nothing unsporting in attempting to shoot straighter by resting your rifle (or handgun) on a tree, rock or ground to steady it. Offhand shot is the hardest of all. Why miss or wound game when a handy tree could stop the shake and hit the mark?

Sliver Of Liver

Surely in these days of hatchery trout, everyone knows that a sliver of liver is a potent fish getter.

Moss Prevention

How about fishing when traces of moss or grass saturates the water. Every cast fouls your lure. You can stop it by tying a wooden matchstick on your line with a clove hitch. Positioned several feet above lure, it rakes the grass.

Lure stays clear.

Tee Off On Trout

The top of a red fluorescent plastic golf tee makes a good trout bait. Underwater looks just like a salmon egg. To a trout, that is.

Sack Minnow Bucket

If you're caught without a minnow bucket, don't overlook a coarse sack. You'll be surprised how long minnows will stay lively in a sack draped over the side. Not as good as a real bucket, but okay in a pinch.

Safety Ax Guard

A smart woodsman never leaves an ax around with a naked blade. In the first place his ax blades are sharp; second place, he won't take any chances in the woods, not even little ones. Cut a piece of old garden hose the width of the blade. Slit to fit over edge. Tie in two heavy rubber bands and place 'em so they pull the guard on tight and hold it that way.

What in the WORLD! by TED

Lunar Power Station

The moon can be harnessed to produce "dozens of trillions of kilowatts" of electricity for mankind, says a Nobel Prize-winner.

Soviet chemist Nikolai N. Semenov's suggestion is one of many proposals made amid increasing East-West cooperation in space research under the aegis of the United Nations.

Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the U.N., notes that the United States, Russia and some 60 other countries are working together in the field and that the U.N. and its agencies "are deeply involved in the exciting potentials of outer space."

Semenov's theory, reported by the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

By covering the lunar surface with conductors and photoelements to collect energy from the sun, he says, the moon could be transformed into "a gigantic power station for the whole earth." Radio waves might then be used to transmit the power from the moon to our planet, he adds.

Although the moon is 16 times smaller than the earth, it receives as much solar energy as that which falls on the earth's continents. That's because the moon has no atmosphere to cut down the sun's rays.

LAKE,
SEA &
RIVER

BY GEORGE ROUNDS

Bet you didn't know sand was magnetic. It's a fact. And not only sand but certain dirt, pebbles, gravel, and rocks, in addition to the normally magnetic lodestone. As a matter of fact, beaches everywhere exert their own curiously magnetic force, and not just on people with a yen to bronze their dermal layers.

This astounding discovery was made by the United States Coast Guard not long ago in tests off the coast of New Jersey. Here's what they did, in essence. They steamed out some 15 miles offshore armed with considerable rubbish, then dumped the junk over the side. They watched it sail away on the wind and waves, tracked it to find out where, if anywhere, it went, and made the discovery known for years by shorefront property owners. Yup, that rubbish, as if drawn magnetically, made its way toward land and was washed up on the beaches.

Why did the Coast Guard do this? To prove that the garbage the lonely lifeguards rake up each morning by the bushel is not all from sloppy picnickers and bathers. A lot of it comes from thoughtless boatmen. The State of New Jersey wanted to be sure of this before they began their crack-down on litter-boats. As soon as the facts were in, they cracked down hard—seven arrests and five convictions last summer for violation of the state code prohibiting the discharge in any way of any refuse that might tend to pollute the water or the beaches. The fines ran up to $150 per, which made for pretty expensive days on the water for those boaters.

The culprits were nabbed by flying marine police who spotted the violations from a helicopter and radioed a patrol boat to get to the spot on the double. They went to a lot of trouble to stop boaters from tossing a few paper cups over, but they'd had their crawl full of complaints from landlubbers and couldn't seem to stop the littering any other way. Imagine what the fines would run if the state decided to recover the cost of operating the chopper and patrol boats from the guilty parties!

The point is, each and every boatman should take it upon himself or herself to assure a continuing supply of clean, boatable water. I admit, the temptation is great to just toss that empty sandwich bag or used up pack of smokes over the fantail into the biny deep. Somehow when you're out on all the beautiful water (that you wouldn't drink without boiling it first) it just doesn't seem possible that one scrap of paper or one spent booze bottle will bother anybody except Davey Jones. "It'll sink sooner or later," you think as you flick it over the side. But find out sometime if it really did sink. Ask the lifeguards who rake it up, or the shorefront property owners who spend Sunday afternoon picking it off their beach, or the bather who's nursing six stitches in his foot from the jagged hunk of bottle he stepped on last week. That stuff didn't sink. Truckloads of "unsinkables" are carted to the town dumps every summer.

Like the signs along the high-way say—"Every litter bit hurts," and they don't mean it hurts just the scenery. When you're talking about the trash trail left on the water by some fleets, the ones that get hurt are the boatmen themselves. Slovenly boatmen not only face a possible fine in some communities—federal codes also call for fines, ranging up to $2,500 for dumping refuse into federally controlled waters—but also run the risk of losing their playground. This very nearly happened in the Raritan Bay area of New Jersey and the ugly prospect might rear its mangy head elsewhere if boatmen don't shape up and mend their ways. How would you feel if you'd just plunked down 4,500 clams for a real jewel of a rig only to have the city, town, county, or state where you want to use it tell you you can't because the public is sick of lying on a mound of garbage when they sun-bathe?

Laws won't stop the abuse of the waterways, but they can stop the use of them. Littering is a simple habit to break, if you just think twice. If you own a boat, chances are you have the habit. Which would you rather give up?

This blood bait won't come off but will still catch catfish and other rough fish. Trick is to cut small squares of foam rubber. Let them sit overnight in chicken blood until the blood congeals in the rubber. Works great!

Lightweight rain suits made of plastic-coated nylon are ideal for use on packtrips into the wilderness. They are tough and serviceable and weigh only 1½ pounds. —Sports Afield.

"Yes, Christ Gave Us
The CATHOLIC MASS"

Perhaps you don't think so, or perhaps you never gave it a thought. And possibly you regard this age-old Catholic worship as mere pomp and ceremony.

But if Our Lord did institute the Mass, is it not vitally important to you to find out? If He did intend it to be a continuing sacrifice... expressing Christian adoration, praise, contrition and petition... is it not too great a truth to be ignored?

"Bosh!" some will say. "Christ offered Himself on the cross once and for all. Nothing more is necessary." But wait! Jesus clearly indicated at the Last Supper that more is necessary. For after separately changing bread and wine into His Own body and blood... signifying the coming surrender of His life on the cross... Christ commanded the Apostles: "Do this in remembrance of me."

successors to the Apostles, the bishops and priests at the Mass recite the very words Christ used at the Last Supper. And when this is done, Christ is present on the altar—offering Himself as He had promised, "for the remission of sins." If this were not true, "Do this in remembrance of me" would be empty and meaningless words, which is inconceivable.

If you would like to know more about the Mass... why it attracts thousands upon thousands of people into Catholic churches everywhere on earth, every day... write today for an interesting, easy-to-understand pamphlet. We will gladly send it free and without obligation upon your request. And nobody will call on you. Write today and ask for Pamphlet KC-6.

Ye Olde Comedy Of Errors—Today's Tragedy

This picture of the Keystone Cops, Vintage of 1912-1915, depicts the humorous antics of a group of funny men in the Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World Movie who amused children and parents alike. At that time the American people little thought of following those days of make-believe which the scenes portray. No seat belts were used then—apparently at that time it was considered comical for the movie "Cops" to fly out of their automobile. We don't know how they somehow survived and emerged from this hilarious comedy unscathed.

This, of course, was all before today when accident wards and hospitals are filled to capacity with motorists who practiced the same antics pictured above, but who were not playing for the Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World movie, which will shortly be shown in Baltimore. These injuries and deaths should serve as a warning to all—the Keystone Cops in the silent film era were considered uproariously funny then, but today it is tragic and pathetic when similar scenes strike daily at the heart of millions of Americans causing hardship, pain, misery and economic problems, leaving permanent crippling and the injuring of over 2,000,000

Americans, and the killing of 43,400 last year.

In the United States there are more victims from its mad, mad, mad, mad automobile drivers who have killed more people on our streets and highways than have been killed serving in the Armed Forces in all the wars in which this country has been engaged since 1776. Since the advent of the automobile it is estimated that 30,000,000 Americans have been killed and injured, and if they were laid in one straight line they would reach a distance of 29,500 miles, greater than the circumference of this earth, and would extend from Baltimore to Hollywood and back six times.

So, when you are zooming up mileage in your hurry-up pace in this mad, mad, mad, mad world, you are rushing toward tragedy—unlimited in its penalties, with Death a willing ally, who welcomes your "comedy of errors". "See this Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World movie," its story conveys to all the ever-present need for the exercise of sane and safe driving which is today's answer to our goal for a reduction of highway accidents", advises Paul E. Burke, Executive Director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

OUR LIBRARY . . .

One of our favorite new borrowers who came into the library recently noted with surprise that we had on display in our window a new book that he had been considering purchasing for himself.

We registered a little surprise ourselves. Why wouldn't one expect to find a copy of James B. Conant's "The Education of American Teachers" in a public library, at any rate, our new borrower went away happily with the volume tucked under his arm, and we can only suppose that now he is busily pondering this fascinating study by the President Emeritus of Harvard. A sweeping critique of teachers' training in the United States, this latest of Dr. Conant's books calls for abolition of the existing teacher certification system and a greater role for informed laymen in determining standards.

Other books, both new and not so new, that might interest 'old', new, and potential borrowers are: "Terrible Swift Sword" by Bruce Catton. The second volume of the Centennial History of the Civil War. The period covered includes such momentous events as the Union rout at Bull Run, the Monitor-Merrimac battle, the Union victory at Antietam. "The Guns of August" by Barbara W. Tuchman. An absorbing account of the first thirty days of the first World War—August, 1914 and the events which immediately preceded them. "The Shoes of the Fishermen" by D. L. West. A new novel of a 20th century Pope. These and other volumes acquired by the Emmitsburg Public Library over the past few years are part of the service given by the C. Burr Artz Library.

Lutherans Study World Needs

Members of the Lutheran Church in Emmitsburg will focus special attention on world needs and the remedial steps churches are taking to meet them during observances Sunday, March 8.

That day has been designated as "One Great Hour of Sharing Sunday," the annual emphasis of American Protestantism on overseas relief, rehabilitation, and interchurch aid programs throughout the world.

The campaign is undertaken by Church World Service, a central department of the National Council of Churches which serves as the overseas relief agency of major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations.

Highlighted by the campaign will be its 1964 goal of nearly $18,000,000, the total of goals established by participating denominations for a wide variety of assistance and service programs around the globe.

Approximately one-fourth of the total represent the objective of the 11,500 congregations of the Lutheran Church in America and The American Lutheran Church, the participating church bodies of the National Lutheran Council.

Their $4,413,950 objective is sought by Lutheran World Action, the NLC's fund-raising arm, thru the two church bodies' benevolence budgets and through specially-designed gifts.

Man Sentenced In Tavern Stabbing Incident

A sentence of not more than five years in the men's reformatory was handed down this week by Chief Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer in Circuit Court in Frederick to a Pennsylvania man who pleaded guilty to assault and battery.

Virl Hughes, 25, R1, Fairfield, Pa., was sentenced for his part in the knifing of two brothers outside Ohler's Tavern, east of Emmitsburg last November 3. A two-year sentence on a second assault and battery charge is to run concurrently with the sentence of not more than five years.

State's Attorney Robert S. Rothhoefer received permission from the court to abandon charges of assault with intent to murder and assault with intent to maim or disfigure. Edwin F. Nikirk was court-appointed attorney for Hughes.

Victims of the cuttings were John Arthur Dillon and Kenneth Dillon, both of R1, Orrtanna, Pa. John Dillon received cuts about the face, side and arm. Kenneth Dillon was stabbed in the left chest. The pen knife used by Hughes was introduced into evidence.

The Dillon brothers offered contradictory testimony of the happenings on the night of the incident. Hughes claimed that the brothers came to his car, pulled him out and began beating him. Hughes was having an argument in his car with his girl friend and some other girls. John Dillon said he went out of the tavern and saw Hughes "cuffing" a girl around in his car. He went to the car to get Hughes to stop and the fight ensued.

Hughes said he was hit above the left eye and his shirt was torn from his back in the fight. He said he was afraid the crowd that gathered around was going to "string him up." Hughes said the crowd "busted out the windows (sic) and beat up the fenders" of his car.

Hughes' wife, who was his girl friend at the time of the stabbings, testified that she was knocked down by one of the Dillons in the fight. State's Attorney Rothhoefer said she never before had told authorities about the incident even though she had been asked.

Judge Schnauffer told Hughes the only thing that saved him from a heavier sentence was the conflicting testimony by the Dillons. He noted that Hughes has been convicted in Missouri of larceny and of assault and battery in Baltimore County.

Scouts To Attend Church Services

This Sunday, March 8, marks the beginning of Girl Scout Week. In observance of this occasion the Scouts of Emmitsburg will attend the church services in a body. The Catholic girls will attend the 8:30 a.m. Mass at St. Joseph's Church. They will meet with Mrs. Jane Orndorff and Mrs. Nancy Danner at 8:15 in front of the church. The Protestant girls will meet at the social hall of Elias Lutheran Church at 10:15 a.m. and attend the service of worship there at 10:30. All of the Brownie, Junior, Cadette, and Senior Scouts with their leaders are urged to attend.

The annual Scout Night will be held in the high school auditorium on Monday night, March 16, at 7:30 p.m. A program will be presented by the members of all the troops of Emmitsburg. The gift for the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund will be given at this program. All parents and friends of girls are invited to attend this evening with the Scouts.

Princeton Sems Down St. Joe's

St. Joseph's High School completed its basketball season at Princeton, N. J., Sunday, losing to St. Joseph's Minor Seminary, 49-45.

Strong shooting by Jerry Orosz gave Emmitsburg an eight point lead in the first quarter. By half time Princeton had a two point margin over St. Joe's.

Stahley and Orosz pumping 10 and eight points respectively, in the second half, were matched point for point by the strong seminary squad.

Jerry Orosz was high scorer for St. Joe's with 16 markers.

The Jayvee game also was a thriller with the Emmitsburg outfit dropping a 27-19 decision despite a fourth quarter comeback sparked by promising freshman, Joe Welty.

High for Emmitsburg was Joe Gelwicks with 12 points.

The Emmitsburg team spent an enjoyable weekend as guests of the seminarians, and were treated to a visit to nearby Princeton University.
