BY ABIGAIL

Since the closing of our local theater elements have been working overtime to arrive at a solution as to how to provide entertainment for the local youth. Preliminary reports indicate good progress is being made and it is anticipated that an announcement will be forthcoming in the next few weeks, perhaps even sooner. The information making the rounds has it that the experiment will be a united one, made by all local churches, with one goal as its aim . . . recreation for all youth of the community regardless of race, color or creed. My informant advises that at least half a dozen of our local churches will participate in this vast project and that each will share the financial necessities, the supervision and the know-how in general. It is understood that already a meeting of all the pastors has been held and all are unanimous in their opinion that something must and will be done in the near future to see to it that our youth is provided with recreational facilities. Sounds like a real good undertaking folks, and I feel certain that if and when you are called upon to do your little bit, you will respond in an enthusiastic and favorable manner. You can expect more announcements following the holy Easter season. Keep "tuned" to this column, please.

Apparently the economic picture here is the best in many years. My conclusion is drawn from the fact that not a single property has been advertised this year for delinquent taxes. Prior to this year there were several and sometimes half a dozen or more properties listed in the papers to be sold for taxes. This is the first year in my recollection that exactly none was advertised and brother that is good news to hear even though it means loss of advertising revenue to this paper. We hope we never have to publish any more properties for sale.

Natural gas has come to Emmitsburg! Yes it actually here now and the new installation was put into action Tuesday by Mayor Ralph Irelan who opened the first valve, releasing the product for use at Saint Joseph College. The gas company reports a good response from potential patrons and says that installing the gas into their homes will continue without delay.

An irate resident of the West End calls to complain about unsanitary conditions and noise nuisances in Lincoln Ave., West End. Barking dogs, bawling hogs and cattle are the basis of complaint from the property-owner who claims all are in violation of a town ordinance. The complainant maintains that cattle and livestock are kept overnight, and sometimes for days, in a barn nearby. Both the complainant's house and the livestock barn are in the corporate limits of the Town and therefore are believed to be in violation of the local ordinance. The complainant goes on to say that she has contacted the proper authorities but that her pleas have gone unheeded.

Mount Training 54 Teachers

Professor Gerald C. Orosz, Chairman of the Education Department at Mount Saint Mary's College, stated that 54 seniors have received their practice teaching externship assignments which began this week.

Richard E. Swomley, Emmitsburg, a senior at the Mount, has been assigned to the Waynesboro High School for his practice teaching externship in biology. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Swomley, Jr., R2, and a graduate of Emmitsburg High School.

While attending college, he has been a member of the varsity soccer team and was voted to an all-conference position in the Mason-Dixon Conference. He lists sports and rifle marksmanship as his favorite recreational pastimes. He hopes to find a career in science teaching with an opportunity for coaching assignments in a small secondary school system.

Mrs. James E. Sullivan, West Main Street, who has been recuperating in Florida this month, has been admitted to Doctor's Hospital, Hollywood, Florida.

Ground For New Thurmont School Bought

The Frederick County Board of Education has consummated the purchase of a 41 acre tract of land at Thurmont to be used for a consolidated Emmitsburg-Thurmont High School.

The deed for the land, purchased from Albert L. Staub and wife for $31,348.50, was recorded at the Court House Monday.

Now that the Board of Education has the land desired for the proposed high school, the next step will be appointing an architect to design a building, said Dr. James A. Sensenbaugh, Superintendent of Schools.

The staff of the board is currently writing the program requirements which will be given to the architect. The architect will then design a school that will encompass the educational program requirements.

Dr. Sensenbaugh said all members of the School Board would be advised thoroughly as to just what is being included in the program for the new school.

Surveys and tests which have been carried on at the site during the past several weeks have been completed. It was reported the State Roads Commission has indicated it will allow an entrance to the school from U. S. 15, however, the main entrance will be from Route 81 (Sabillasville road).

Actual acreage transferred to the School Board was 41.798 acres, however, the education staff is allowing a small amount of land for roads changes by the SRC. Dr. Sensenbaugh said it is desirable to have 40 acres on which to locate the school and its related grounds.

The entrance from Route 15 can help ease traffic to the building from Route 81 and also serve the ball field, it was reported.

Bible Authority To Address College Faculty

The Reverend David M. Stanley, S.J., S.S.D., internationally recognized authority in Biblical exegesis, will address the faculty and students at St. Joseph College, on the afternoon and evening of April 20. "New Testament Concept of Sacred History" and "The Gospels: Myth or History?" will be the topics of the two lectures to be given at 3:10 and 8:15 p.m. Faculty and students of area colleges, as well as the general public, are also invited to hear the lectures according to Sister Mary Agnes Barry, Ph.D., professor of Theology.

A native of Chatham, Ontario, Father Stanley entered the Society of Jesus in 1933 at Guelph, Ontario, and has attended universities in the United States, Canada and Europe. Three years after receiving his licentiate in Sacred Scripture at the Pontificio Instituto Biblico in Rome, he earned the highest degree in Scripture studies, the doctorate of Sacred Scripture.

Father Stanley has been professor of New Testament exegesis at Jesuit Seminary, Toronto, since 1952. During the first semester he teaches theology of the New Testament at the State University of Iowa, School of Religion, and during the second semester, Sacred Scripture at Regis College, Ontario. He has taught at St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto, and conducted summer sessions at Boston College and Catholic University in Washington, D. C. This summer he will teach "Theology of the New Testament" at the University of San Francisco.

In addition to his contributions to learned journals here and abroad, Father Stanley is author of the commentary on the Gospel of St. Matthew in the New Testament Reading Guide series. He is a member of the New Testament Translation Board of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, and on the Program Committee of the North American Liturgical Conference.

He is also a member of the Oriental Club of the University of Toronto, the Catholic Biblical Association of America, Canadian Society of Biblical Studies, Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis and the Studiorum Novi Testamenti Societas (International and Interdenominational).

Issue Warning On Brush Burning

Fire Chief Sterling H. White of the Vigilant Hose Co. asked the cooperation of the public in keeping brush fires to a minimum.

Chief White reminds that with the coming of nice spring weather many residents are about their premises cleaning and raking and burning old leaves, paper and tree limbs. He urges extreme caution and advises the following safety measures to be taken: 1) use only an improved incinerator; 2) choose a spot as far as possible from any building; 3) clear a strip of earth around the incinerator; 4) have water available, use water-soaked broom; 5) keep the fire as small as possible; 6) soak and stir embers well before leaving . . . make sure the fire is out.

Zoning Board Approves Shopping Center

The Board of County Commissioners Friday announced approval of one application for rezoning land and rejected a second request.

The application by Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Leisner of Thurmont, for rezoning 6.7 acres of land north of Thurmont for a bowling and shopping center was approved. The application of Mr. and Mrs. John Glass of R2, Emmitsburg, for rezoning a tract of land near Emmitsburg as a manufacturing plant for making prefabricated houses was rejected.

The land involved in the Glass case is located on the west side of Tom's Creek road north of the Keysville Road. The Glasses hoped to have the land rezoned to B-3 Commercial. It is zoned A-1 agriculture.

The Frederick County Planning Commission had recommended refusal for the zoning change and the Commissioners agreed with the planners.

Six acres of land just north of Thurmont, adjacent to the site for the proposed Emmitsburg-Thurmont Consolidated School, and recreation center planned by the Leisners. The land lies between Routes 806 (old 15) and new Route 15.

Please give your generous support to a worthwhile cause. If you need help—you need the help of experts!

Library Lists Interesting Books

Because good books are among the wisest of teachers, the Emmitsburg Library encourages reading. "Genuine interest in reading" is one of the qualifications for a Senior Girl Scout Library Aide. The stated purpose of the Cadette Girl Scout Reader badge is "To stretch your own life and imagination through the writing of other men and to learn about the history of books, how they are made, and how to take care of yours." One of the Books badge requirements for Junior Girl Scouts is to read three different kinds of books: travel, mystery biography, adventure, or history. The Brownie Girl Scout Handbook introduces the youngest of Girl Scouts to the world of books through "playing a story."

Fortunately, the library has available handbooks for Brownies, Girl Scouts, and Cadettes. Books that may be read to earn badges include such titles as for older girls are Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice," Stephen Crane's "The Red Badge of Courage," George Orwell's "Animal Farm," and many of Shakespeare's comedies and tragedies, with helpful introductions, notes, and discussions. Good fiction for younger girls include Mark Twain's "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," Charlotte Bronte's "Jane Eyre," R. L. Stevenson's "Kidnapper," Lewis Carroll's "Alice Adventures in Wonderland" and "Through the Looking Glass," and Rudyard Kipling's "Jungle Books."

Numerous Entries Exhibited At Local Science Fair

There were 108 displays by individual students in the Fourth Annual Science Fair at the Emmitsburg High School on March 24. The interest shown by students in preparing exhibits was very commendable and some who did not receive a winning ribbon no doubt gained as much benefit by their experience as did any winner.

The students and science teachers are to be congratulated on the very quiet and businesslike manner in which preparation and display arrangements were conducted.

We regret that there was not more materials and apparatus to be made available to students but it is evident that the improvisations developed many important concepts in science.

Winner of the Grand Prize was David Naill, an eleventh grade student, for his entry "Effects of Temperature on the Circulatory and Respiratory Systems of a Frog."

Winners in the five categories are as follows:

Physical Science, Junior High—1st prize, Edith Martin, Reaction of the Hydrogen Bomb; 2nd prize, Betty Tokar, Magnetism and the compass; 3rd prize, Sharon Sharner, Balance.

Biology, Junior High—1st prize, Wanda Meadows, A Biome; 2nd prize, Timothy Keilholtz, Centrifugal Force Machine and the Effects on the Time it Takes a Mouse to Run a Maze; 3rd prize, Tina Saylor, The Flower; honorable mention, Frances Wagerman, The Eye, and Shirley Hatcher, Importance of Light on Plants.

College Language Dept. To Present Jean Anouilh

Under the auspices of the Modern Language Department and the Omega Chapter of Pi Delta Phi, the national French Honor Society, St. Joseph College will sponsor Le Treteau de Paris' presentation of Jean Anouilh's "L'Alouette" on Monday, April 13, at 7:45 p.m. in DePaul Auditorium on campus. During its 1964 American Universities tour, the troupe has scheduled 85 performances at 65 campuses throughout the United States.

The Department of Cultural Relations of the French Embassy and L'Association Francaise d'Action Artistique give their moral and financial support to Le Treteau de Paris. "L'Alouette" has the distinction of having the author himself, Jean Anouilh, as stage director, as well as being under the direction of Jean de Rigault. Luce Vincent, Parisian actress, who was auditioned and selected by Anouilh for the role, is cast as Joan of Arc. Other major roles include Claude Richard as Beaudricot, Richard Clarke as Warwick, Monique Derrioux as Agnes Sorel, Monique Sainieux as the Queen, Pierre Le Rumeur as the Inquisitor, and Jean-Claude Barbier as LaHire.

According to Sister Margaret Flint, D.U., coordinator of the program at St. Joseph's, response for reservations from faculty and students of area colleges and high schools has been excellent, and early reservations from Maryland, Washington, and North Virginia alumnae have been very high. Reservations for the April 13 performance may be made through the Modern Language Department by mail or phone (447-3111, ext. 18). General admission is $3, student tickets $2. A stamped, self-addressed envelope with check payable to Saint Joseph College is requested on mail orders.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stoner, Waynesboro, visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stoner, on Sunday.

Egg Hunt To Draw Hundreds Here

An estimated 500 children from the Emmitsburg community will converge on Community Field Sunday afternoon to participate in the annual Easter Egg hunt.

The event is sponsored by the Emmitsburg Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6658 and will get underway promptly at 2:30 p.m. Commander Raymond Baker and members of the post colored the eggs late this week and all is in readiness for the affair Sunday.

Bernard J. Ott Jr., chairman of the hunt, announced that 100 dozens of eggs have been prepared for the egg hunt and all the children from this community are cordially invited to attend and participate. Quite a number of eggs will have separate markings on them and when surrendered by the finders to the proper officials, will be redeemed for small amounts of money. In addition to the eggs it is planned to distribute candy to the little ones.

In case of inclement weather, the hunt will be held on Monday afternoon at the same time.

This is another of the many community projects sponsored by the local VFW Post.

County To Host

Fashion Expert

Frederick County will be host April 2 to a New York fashion expert who will help Cooperative Extension Service home economists and leaders prepare 4-H girls for local dress revues as they encourage sewing skills.

Miss Eleanor Echo, 4-H Club stylist for Simplicity Pattern Co., will consult Thursday at Calvary Methodist Church, Frederick, about wardrobe planning, grooming and modeling.

Her audience, including Holly A. Akre, Frederick County Extension 4-H agent, and youth workers from four nearby counties will then work with local ladies to create chic wardrobes, coordinate accessories and model them stylishly.

Miss Echo, who guides teenagers across the nation about clothing will stress "fashion dividends"—that an interest in sewing plus a little money invested wisely pays off exorbitantly.

"Good grooming is trading on current assets," she says, "and available accessories are collateral."

She'll advise on "investing in jumpers, endorsing Americana casuals, banking on playclothes and date dividends."

Modeling tips will include "carrying a tote bag slightly back of your side so it won't hide your dress" and "calling attention to a collar by gently lifting or touching it with one hand."

Girls, 10 to 19, who would like to enroll in 4-H clothing projects, should contact the Cooperative Extension Service in Frederick.

Scientists Seek

Identical Twins

Several pairs of identical twin calves are needed by U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists for use in nutrition and breeding studies at the Agricultural Research Center, Beltsville, Md.

The calves can be either purebred, grade, or crossbred beef animals less than five months old. Bull or heifer calves are preferred, but steer calves also are needed.

The scientists hope to find and purchase calves this spring within a 250-mile radius of Washington, D. C., to hold shipping costs to a minimum. This area includes Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and southeastern Pennsylvania.

Owners or producers willing to sell identical-twin calves that meet USDA specifications are requested to write Dr. Everett J. Warwick, Chief, Beef Cattle Research Branch, Animal Husbandry Research Division, Beltsville, Md. An inspector will be sent to check the calves before purchase.

Identical-twin calves are rare, and are developed from a single cell. They are always the same sex, look remarkable alike, and react in much the same manner. Frequently their markings may be repeated on the same or opposite sides.

Scientists in USDA's Agricultural Research Service have been using identical-twin calves in research for several years. Experiments with a single pair gave results as reliable as results from tests made with several less closely related animals.

Producers within a 250-mile radius of Washington, D. C. who find identical-twin calves in their herd this spring, may be able to make a substantial contribution to research that benefits the livestock industry.

Freezing Social

Security Explained

"I would like to freeze my social security account" is a request often made at the local social security office, according to W. S. King, district manager. The request is usually made by someone who has recently become unemployed or who has had a sizeable reduction in earnings. The freeze is requested because the individual desires to maintain the highest possible average earnings in his social security account.

King reports that all of these requests must be denied since there is no possible way to freeze the account of anyone unless he is disabled. There is a provision, however, which permits the exclusion of five low years of earnings in figuring the average earnings under social security, at the time a claim is filed. This provision is especially advantageous to workers whose earnings stop or are reduced in the last few years before retirement. Additional information may be secured by contacting the Hagerstown Social Security District Office, 59 North Cannon Avenue.

Meditation

The Upper Room

© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read Luke 5:17-26.

Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you. (Ephesians 4:32.)

After a man told a lie about his friend, the false news spread all around. Soon the liar was ashamed of what he had said and went to his friend to ask for forgiveness.

In reply, his friend took him to a high mountain and opened a pillow filled with feathers. A strong wind came and blew the feathers all around the countryside. Then he said, "I'll forgive you if you gather together these feathers." But his friend was not able to collect them.

God's forgiveness is not dependent upon our undoing all the harm and damage our sins have caused. Therefore, should we not all the more gladly give thanks unto God for His forgiveness? It is for Christ's sake that He forgives us.

It is when we are repentant that God forgives us our sins and blots them out. However, if we expect God's forgiveness, we must be willing to forgive one another, as Christ has commanded.

Prayer Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Christ, who gave His life for us as a ransom. Teach us Thy loving kindness so that Thy kingdom may enter our hearts. Through love make our earth a paradise for Thy honor and glory. For Jesus' sake. Amen. Thought For The Day I give thanks unto God for His forgiveness. Lawrence Nya Taylor (Liberia)

You can get something out of going to church, if you stay awake, even if you don't try.

YOUR PERSONAL

Are you allergic to something? If so, you have a lot of company. About half of us are allergic to something.

Pollen in the air can start hay fever, certain foods may start hives. Possible allergens are countless—house dust, animal fur, feathers, cosmetics, bleaches, medicines, foods, pollen. Some people even are allergic to heat, cold or sunlight. And wasn't there a case some years ago of a wife who was allergic to her husband?

Most common result of allergy are four illnesses—hay fever, asthma, skin ailments and digestive disturbances. Hay fever is an inflammation of the eyes and nasal passages. Asthma is a disease of the bronchial tubes of the lungs. Food allergies, a sensitivity to one or more foods, can affect the skin, the digestive tract or the respiratory system. Skin allergies cause itching, sometimes rash.

Reaction to an allergen varies with individuals. One person may be only slightly upset by eating an egg. Another could become violently ill from the small trace of egg in salad dressing.

There still are many unknown factors about the reason why someone suddenly becomes allergic to something. Allergic diseases are not usually fatal, but they cause untold discomfort and suffering. Although worry and stress might be a contributing factor, allergy is not an imaginary illness. It is very real to the sufferer.

Sometimes the allergen is known and can be avoided. Sometimes many tests by a physician are required to arrive at the true cause. Medical care is necessary in all cases for relief of discomfort and for protection against future attacks.

If you suspect you are allergic to something, see your doctor. Self-diagnosis and treatment is not only futile, it might even be dangerous.

Diaper Rash Fallacies

C. Robert Gruver Editor, All About Babies

Does diaper rash occur more often in tiny infants than in babies a year or more old? Is it more common during the hot summer months than during the winter?

Most mothers will answer that diaper rash occurs more often in infants and that it is more common in the summertime.

Both these answers are not so, according to studies reported in the American Medical Association Journal of Diseases of Children.

The studies show that not only is there a greater incidence of diaper rash in older babies but the most distressing cases occur in babies a year or more old. More cases also occur in the winter months. There are several reasons for this.

During baby's early months, a mother fusses more with her baby. She's fastidious and prompt in changing baby's diapers, almost the very moment they're wet or soiled. She's alert for diaper rash and the slightest skin blemish is a cause for alarm and prompt attention. She uses a diaper service, aware that professional diaper processing is done under strict laboratory control, thus providing protection against diaper rash.

As baby gets older, mother fusses less. Yet, in the older baby, the conditions that contribute to diaper rash are more acute. Baby's diet now, with its solid food and its protein, effects the composition of the urine increasing the Contact Lenses Practical for Everyone??

Why do you want to wear contact lenses? Just how deep is your desire?

These two questions must be answered to the complete satisfaction of your family optometrist before contact lenses can be prescribed for you, says Vision Conservation Institute, a non-profit educational organization with chapters in New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

The Institute points to optometric research, which emphasizes that a person's eyes may be adaptable to the wearing of contact lenses, while the person himself might find it difficult to adjust to the change from standard lenses to contacts.

Since the psychological makeup of a potential contact lens wearer is a prime factor, it is imperative that a patient place himself in the hands of a competent practitioner who understands this critical factor, emphasizes VCI.

Research findings are summed up by saying that the person, who, through sound reasoning, explores the use of contact lenses, will certainly adjust more quickly than anyone who simply feels that "wearing contact lenses would make a good conversational piece." And finally, a person who wants to wear contact lenses must have an abundance of patience and be strongly motivated.

Your answers to these two questions may be the difference between success and failure.

amounts of diaper rash causing ammonia. The quantity of urine that is now passed at one time is enough to soak a diaper instead of merely making it damp. The danger of bacterial infection thru skin damaged by diaper rash increases as baby wins freedom of the floor and the lawn.

As for the higher incidence of diaper rash in the winter, it's due to mother relaxing her standards because of the erroneous belief that the distressing skin irritation occurs only during the summer. Yet, during the winter, baby wets more. In the summer most of the fluids that leave baby's body, leave as perspiration. In the winter, baby is also banded hp more, thus encouraging a tendency not to change the diaper as often.

As long as diapers are worn, medical authorities warn that the possibility of diaper rash remains. The best preventive still remains good diaper hygiene. Even when baby reaches that stage when training pants are worn by day and diapers only for naps and at night, the diapers should be processed just as correctly as when baby was a tiny infant and a fastidious diapering routine should be followed just as carefully.

SPORT TIPS

Roll Your Own . . . Boat!

Here's an ingenious idea. Can you make use of it? A light car-top boat can be transported long distances without much strain with a wheeled dolly that slips over transom. Just fit wheels on a motor pad, turn boat over and lift at bow. Bow is light. Heavier weight of stern is carried by the wheels. Indirect Ice-Fishing Light

Dig a hole in the ice 18 inches deep and sit your lantern in it. You'll have a glowing indirect light that lights area for 10 feet around.

Tap Ducks In

It's a fact. Ducks are curious. If they light out of range, stay motionless but rap with a stick on the edge of blind or gun stock. Sometimes they'll swim in and investigate.

Hook Holder

An empty paper match cover makes a fine small hook holder.

How To Measure Water Distances

As a woodsman, you can probably make fair distance estimates over land. But estimating water distances are deceiving. Here's how to do it. Stand straight and pull your hat brim down until it touches far shore of lake or river you want to measure. Then turn very slowly and steadily on your heel. Now, "read" land distance that corresponds to the same place under your hat brim.

Baggy Camp Cook

Lazy camp cooks use the bag method. Works like this: They pack small bags such as the kind salt came in. In camp they boil water. Eggs go in one sack; potatoes in another. Last sack is filled with coffee. Lift 'em in and out with a corner of the bag hanging over the edge.

Anti-Porcupine

In bad porcupine country the quill pigs will chew through door and window sills to enter a cabin. Inside they raise havoc. Stop them by painting sills with creosote . . . in generous quantities. They hate it.

Tape Off Tricks

Ticks that haven't dug their way into your hide (or your dog's), can be removed by plastering them with adhesive or cellophane tape. It binds the little buggers and holds 'em while you throw away.

Free Spool Tangle

This works . . . sometimes. If the run of a large fish tangles other lines before they can be taken up, allowing the fish to run some more with the reel on free spool may pull it through other lines, help unsnarl.

Advise Horse

Inoculation

Vaccination of horses "well in advance of the mosquito season" may help prevent a possible serious outbreak of equine encephalomyelitis, or "sleeping sickness," in the State during the summer months, according to the Maryland State Veterinary Medical Association.

In an article prepared for its veterinary journal, the professional group said that mosquitoes are believed to be the principal carriers of the disease and that the best preventive measure is vaccination.

The mosquitoes are infected from a common source, probably wild birds, and in turn transmit the disease to horses and man. The disease is not spread by horse to man.

The veterinary association also said horse breeders and owners should, in addition to early vaccination of their stock, participate in mosquito control efforts to prevent spread of the disease.

RED RIVER CAMPAIGN BEGINS IN LOUISIANA

By Lon K. Savage

During the busy month of March, 1864, while big changes were in the making in Washington, Gen. Nathaniel Banks undertook a new Federal campaign that was destined to become a historical flop.

It was the famous "Red River Campaign," designed to reduce the state of Louisiana, restore the Union flag over Texas and recommence the flow of cotton from Texas to the North. Authorities in Washington had promoted the plan, and Banks dutifully set out to execute it.

On March 10, therefore, the campaign opened when a fleet of 13 ironclads and seven gunboats, followed by 30 transports carrying 10,000 troops, dropped down the Mississippi River from Vicksburg and turned westward into the Red River.

So far so good. The fleet—under the veteran Admiral David D. Porter—was the strongest ever assembled on a river, and more men were coming. Up from New Orleans, Banks was to lead another 20,000 troops to meet Porter's fleet at Alexandria, deep in Confederate-held territory of central Louisiana.

Good Start

Porter did his job well. His fleet moved up the Red River and landed the 10,000 troops at Simsport on the 13th. The soldiers, under Gen. A. J. Smith, attacked Fort De Russy near Alexandria and drove out or captured the Confederate defenders there.

Porter slowly brought his fleet on upstream, clearing the river of obstructions, while Smith's men marched smartly 10 more miles to Alexandria. Everyone arrived on the 14th, as Confederates fell back hastily.

Then trouble began developing. Banks' cavalry didn't appear at the rendezvous point until the 18th, and Banks and the rest of his men were not on hand for another week. Finally, on the 26th, Banks, Porter, Smith, the fleet and 30,000 men were ready to march on.

Confederates

Confederates in the state had mobilized in the meantime. As the first Federals marched into Alexandria, Confederate Gen. Richard Taylor was not far away, leading his 11,000 men in a hasty 70-mile retreat through pine woods toward Shreveport. Gen. E. Kirby Smith, commander of the Confederacy's department of the Mississippi, was firing off messages calling for support. Gen. Sterling Price in Arkansas was to send 5,000 troops; more were called in from Shreveport and surrounding territory.

As March ended, Banks began pushing farther up the river, where a long line of well-prepared Confederates awaited.

Next week: Blockade runners.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses The Information Revolution

BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 26—Many investment advisers complain because the portfolios of investors, especially women, have so much telephone stock. At the present time there are only two large telephone companies,—American Telephone & Telegraph Co. with its manufacturing subsidiary Western Electric, and General Telephone & Electronics Corp. with its progressive electronics manufacturing subsidiary Sylvania Electric. But readers must not think these two control the entire telephone industry of the United States. There are seventeen different telephone companies in Florida alone, and several thousand "independents" in the entire United States.

New Telephone Developments

Many things are being developed for ease and convenience in using the telephone. For instance, there is the newly introduced Rapidialer. This works somewhat as follows: The Rapidialer enables a telephone user to record on a revolving magnetic tape over two hundred and fifty phone numbers (including long-distance numbers frequently called). I understand this represents the different stations the average person calls. Telephone numbers can be added or erased in a matter of seconds. This is a time saver, making references to the directory less necessary.

I have already referred to my friend "Jay" Freke - Hayes of Babson Park, Florida—father of the telephone answering service. This device enables a doctor, lawyer, salesman, etc., to receive calls when he is away from the office through a small machine which he can carry in his pocket. Many other developments are on the drawing boards and in the laboratories. This leads me to believe that women who are buying telephone stock may be showing more sense than the investment advisers who claim they have too much. As long as the Federal Government does not take over such companies, their efficiency and earnings should continue to improve.

More About Computers

The telephone industry will gradually profit from the use of computers. When I am asked what will be the next big industry, I suggest that the computer industry should lead the list. Among companies now in the forefront of this field are International Business Machines, Minneapolis - Honeywell, R.C.A., Sperry-Rand, and Control Data Corp. Do not write me asking which of the five is the best. Nobody knows. You might put an equal amount of money into each of these five.

I am told that one of the newer models now being offered works 30% faster than the one presently in use. The computer manufacturers claim that in one second their new machines can do 357,000 additions and subtractions, 173,500 multiplications, or 102,000 divisions.

What About Lasers?

One of my M.I.T. friends, Professor Charles Townes, is a pioneer in this field. Laser technology endeavors to harness light and sound waves and concentrate these into "coherent" beams. The greatest immediate probable application lies in communications. A laser beam can be the carrier of millions of telephone messages all at once. Or, it can transmit simultaneously many different TV programs, instead of requiring a single carrier for each program.

Laser technology may become very valuable for space communications and distance measuring. These powerful beams can also be used for cutting, such as in surgery, industrial cutting, welding, etc. Laser technology is definitely forging ahead.

Information Revolution

Let me close by summarizing a recent talk at Tampa, Florida, by Dr. George L. Haller, Vice President of General Electric. "The primary human need for the next 20 years will be for machines to help us organize and handle great quantities of information without being swamped by it. We will need machines and systems to help us think, to solve problems, to store information in small space . . ."

Dr. Haller also added that the machines will help retrieve any particular information. "Home computers" would keep track of everything—grocery lists, appointments, anniversaries, etc. They would take care of your finances, bank balances, even pay household bills!

the Department of Employment Security announced that it is participating in a state-wide drive aimed at promoting more job opportunities for unemployed older workers. March has been proclaimed by Gov. Tawes as "40-Plus Employment Month," and according to J. Donn Aiken, Director of the Maryland State Employment Service, a division of the Department of Employment Security, jobs for the middle-aged and older person are hard to come by.

He said, "For the past six years persons of middle age and older have consistently represented 30 per cent of our active file of job-seekers."

He added that of the 30,247 older people registered with the Employment Service offices for job referral last year, 17,324 got either permanent or seasonal jobs.

Stephen C. Cromwell, Executive Director of the Department of Employment Security, said that a sample taken of 87,500 individuals claiming unemployment insurance benefits during the week of January 19, showed that 38 per cent of these claimants were 45 and older.

Mr. Cromwell said that one of the employment problems of the older worker has been a reluctance on the part of employers to hire persons over 40 years of age. Mr. Cromwell said, "If an employer would hire an older worker selectively, as he does anyone else giving such a person an open chance at the job, he would probably gain a productive and loyal worker whose maturity could be a stabilizing influence on other employees."

NINE KILLED ON MARYLAND HIGHWAYS LAST WEEK

Nine persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police.

Five of those killed were drivers; one was a passenger; and three were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in three of the deaths, speed in two; and "driver error" was present in seven of the fatalities.

"Last week's fatality picture," commented Tfc. Neil Bechtol of the Maryland State Police, "was highlighted by two types of accidents. The first type, involving too much speed, resulted in failure to keep on the roadway and striking a fixed object.

"The second type involved cars that crossed the center line when it was unsafe to do so, resulting in head-on collisions with on-coming vehicles.

"Both of these two types," continued Trooper Bechtol, "represent 'driver error' in the extreme. The lesson is clear. Unfortunately, the six victims will be unable to profit by their experience. They lost their lives."

Must Make Applications For Easter Seal Camps Now

Crippled youngsters and their parents should now be making plans for camping at one of the Easter Seal camps for crippled children here, in Maryland, this summer. Two beautiful camps are available. One is Camp Greentop, located in the Catoctin Mountains west of Thurmont and operated by the Easter Seal Society for ambulatory crippled youngsters, of both sexes, between the ages of six and sixteen. The other is Camp Fairlee Manor, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, which accepts severely disabled youngsters in the same age group.

Easter Seal funds for camperships will be available to help finance crippled youngsters during their camping session. In addition, funds have been made available in the Washington metropolitan area, by bowling alleys and bowlers to sponsor local youngsters at an Easter Seal camp.

Run like regular summer camps, the only difference in Easter Seal campus is the additional number of counsellors and therapists available to help the youngsters, and additional craft activities that help strengthen crippled muscles.

Parents interested in more information regarding summer camping for their crippled children should contact the Easter Seal Treatment Center at 1730 North Market St., Frederick, Md.

Sports Afield

A lure of only 1/8 ounce will catch most bass in most places. But there's a catch in that statement.

It will get most only if you count all the little stinkers that any experienced bass angler considers it a nuisance to release. There will be but few quite large ones, and none too many of only a good medium size.

A really large bass is much more likely to take a lure of, say 5/8 ounce. And it is that—not old-fashioned notions, as some Northerners think—that explains why much larger lures are used in parts of the South than in the North. It's just that bass run much bigger there, and can't be bothered to take baby-size mouthfuls.

A fly rod and poppers offer by far the most sporty and interesting way to catch bass, according to Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine—and this method is especially effective in the Deep South, where bass do much more surface feeding than in the North, perhaps because more big bugs and such hit the water, to get them into the habit.

For nearly all bass fishing in the North, and much of it in the South, use plugs of about 3/8-ounce to 1/2-ounce—of around average sizes for their weight. Most of the rare big fellows will pass these lures up as too small to suit them, but most little stinkers also pass them up as too large, so you won't have the trouble of releasing them. These plugs will get most bass of a good size to have sport with.

Even in the North, if there are some very big lunkers around, and you're deliberately hunting for them—ready to settle for fewer bass in hope of getting a lunker or two—switch to 5/8-ounce plugs; it's not necessary to use larger except for pike and muskellunge. And 5/8-ounce is the standard, everyday plug in those parts of the South where bass often come in the Giant Economy Size—to be more specific, where you can expect to get a good many from about four pounds on up.

In short, there isn't any best size lure for bass—except for you, depending on where you're going to fish at the time and on the size bass you hope to catch.

Capitol Handicap

Saturday At Laurel

The $20,000 added Capitol Handicap, its value raised $5,000 since last year, has attracted 31 top nominees as the headline attraction on Laurel Race Course's first Saturday program of its 29-day spring meeting.

Jaclyn Stable's Ahoy, winner of five stakes races last year; R. S. Reynolds' Bonny Johnny, already victorious in two stakes this year; and F. W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, winner of more than $390,000, all have been named to the six-furlong event for three-year-olds and up.

Bull Story, six-year-old horse by Mighty Story, could become the first horse in 20 years to win the Capitol twice if he comes home in front in this renewal. Bull Story won the Capitol in 1962. He is owned by Resseguet and Weiner.

Another top nominee for the Capitol is the English-bred Merry Ruler, who has won stakes at three, four and five. The six-year-old grey gelding has earned more than $275,000 during his career. H. O. H. Frelinghuysen owns Merry Ruler.

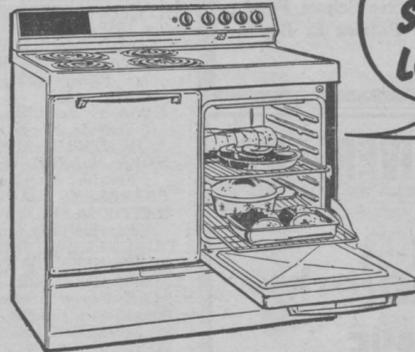

Space Skates, winner of the Burch Handicap earlier this year, has been named to the Capitol along with his stable-mate War Council. Montell Stewart owns both horses.

Others nominated are Private World, Thanks Doc, Rejected Son, Second Breakfast, Cosdave, Kings Song, Jet Traffic, Near Man, Charabanc, Uppercut, Red Gar, Third Martini, One Coat, President Jim, Knocklofty, Astounded, Devout, Tilmor, Wild Oat, Crackpot, Rare Pet, One Gallus, Hallatman, and Varda.

The day preceding the Capitol, Good Friday, will be dark at Laurel.

Marsh rabbits and their closely related cousins, the swamp rabbits, live through our southern states and into Indiana and Illinois. They are coarse-haired and are able to swim or dive with great ability.—Sports Afield.

LOOKING AHEAD
by GEORGE S. BENSON
President—Hardy College
Society, Arkansas

The business and economic outlook for 1964. Every indicator on their board, except two, showed prospects upward: more spending, more prosperity, more gains. The two negative factors were decreasing farm income and a higher rate of unemployment, despite creation of 1/2 million new jobs. Everything else, mostly the result of business optimism and buoyancy, was on the upswing. Europe, too, the periodical said, and Canada and Japan are expecting more boom, with more jobs than people in some countries, particularly West Germany.

In Communist areas of the world, however, the outlook is bleak, with hunger and scarcity rampant. This, it is obvious, is in glaring contrast to the West. The outlook is for the Communist empire to remain the world's poorest and for these countries to fall farther behind the West. This is not without its irony. Today, the world's chief government-run tyrannies are in famine. At the same time, the chronic problem areas in the U. S. that are not keeping up—labor (unemployment) and agriculture—are the very areas where government has done the bulk of its tinkering and adjustment.

Fighting Our Poverty
It was also ironic that the magazine, almost coincidental with the President's announced drive on poverty, should feature this story in headlines suggesting that 1964 may well be the Affluent Year. The "affluent society," you know, is the phrase of John K. Galbraith of Harvard, formerly on the Kennedy staff and later Ambassador to India. His view is that too large a portion of the wealth of America is in private hands, that too little belongs to the government. Just where Mr. Galbraith stands with regard to the "war on poverty" amid such prosperity, we do not know. Perhaps he too would have the federal government eliminate poverty by bringing every family up to $3,000 in yearly income. But that would hardly do, for this would increase the wealth in private hands. Several more billions (borrowed) would thus be required for socialized subsidization of the poor. The nation presently spends about $44 billion ($31 billion of it federal money) each year to help the needy, but it has not, so far, eliminated poverty.

What's Good For You
Expanding the private economy would be bad, in Mr. Galbraith's view. All of this private affluence predicted for 1964 would serve to degrade our citizens and undermine the society. More government spending apparently will be fine, but the government would have to forgo the tax cut. Yet, any good New Frontiersman knows that without a tax cut and deficit spending, the nation is heading straight for a recession.

Well, we begin to see the ambiguity of the position that everything must be done by the federal government. These Liberal G-men like to insist that they know exactly just how everything should be done. They would be completely at ease in the all-powerful State as long as they control it, just like the Communists. Big Sam could easily solve the unemployment by hiring the 4,000,000 or more who are out of work. Everyone is entitled to a job, you know, even if it's a government job. It takes away your breath, what the government can do for you!

Whose Welfare?
The trouble with all this is that it is morally wrong in a free society for the State to seek control over the lives of its citizens. It is moral weakness for the citizen to submit himself to the mercy of the government's breadlines in time of prosperity. Charity and help for the unfortunate have a place in our society already,

VS
MARY KATHERINE BALTZLEY
4 East Middle Street
Gettysburg, Penna.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The Bill of Complaint is a suit to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Mary Katherine Baltzley. The Bill recites that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where he has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, whose last known address was 4 East Middle Street, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania; that the parties to this cause were married on the 14th day of April, 1938, at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, by Rev. Davies, a regularly ordained minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage three children were born, namely, Terrence Eugene Baltzley, 24 years of age, Donald Lee Baltzley, 22 years of age, and Phyllis Jean Baltzley, 19 years of age; and that the parties to this cause have voluntarily lived separate and apart without any cohabitation for more than eighteen months prior to the filing of this Bill of Complaint, and that the separation between the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation.

The Bill then prays that the Complainant, John J. Baltzley, may be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Mary Katherine Baltzley, and that he may have such other and further relief as the nature of his case may require.

COURT ORDER
It is thereupon this 12th day of March, 1964, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, by causing a copy of this Bill to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks prior to the 18th day of April, 1964, commanding her to be and appear in this Court, in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 19th day of May, 1964, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

President Johnson notwithstanding. But not this! When this nation comes to the place where the government has to guarantee everyone a job or so much income, two chickens in the pot, and two cars in the garage (one a Volkswagon), we are finished! Medicare, at the top of the list as one of the big guns in fighting poverty, would cost about $1 billion annually to begin with and nobody knows how much later. This medical care for the aged, under Social Security financing like most of the programs of compulsion, is not needed. With the Kerr-Mills plan providing help now to those who can't afford it, private health insurance programs already cover most everyone. At the end of 1963, 60 per cent of Americans over 65 had private plans, and the total coverage is more than 145 million persons of all ages. One might ask, Whose welfare, yours or the State's?

in Maryland, according to George B. Reeves, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee. Mr. Reeves urges Maryland farmers, who may still wish to put corn under price support, to make application for corn loans at their local county ASCS office no later than the April 1 deadline.

To be eligible for price support the corn must, except for moisture content, grade No. 3 or better, or No. 4 on factor of test weight only, with moisture content not exceeding 19.5 per cent for ear corn tested during March and 14.0 for shelled corn. The producer must also be in compliance with the applicable provisions of the 1963 Feed Corn Grain Program. Complete details are available at county ASCS offices.

Electric Usage Higher Here

The average residential customer of the Potomac Edison System continues to use more electricity in his home than most of his counterparts throughout the country. The utility system, which includes the local area, reported this week that its average residential customer now uses 4,784 kilowatt hours per year, a new record for Potomac Edison. This 12-month figure is a gain of 257 kilowatt hours over 1962.

Usage by area residents is higher than the national rate. Latest figures from the Edison Electric Institute show that the national average is 4,512 kilowatt hours or 266 less than the average PE customer.

While the use of electricity in the home continues to go up, PE reports that the price continues to go down. The average cost per kilowatt hour in 1963 was 2.43 cents. This compares with 2.47 cents per kilowatt hour in 1962.

A FINE MEMORIAL FOR A LOVED DOG

By Bob Bartos, Manager Friskies Pet Food Research Center

All over the world there are memorials dedicated to loved, departed dogs. In England, for example, there's a monument to Byron's old friend, Boatswain, at Newstead Abbey. In Edinburgh there's one erected by the citizens to Greyfriars' Bobby.

Perhaps one of the greatest memorials of all is right here in our own country. It's the Peter Chapin Collection of Books on Dogs established in 1938 by the owners of Peter Chapin, a black cocker spaniel of Providence, Rhode Island.

Housed in the library of Williamsburg College in Williamsburg, Virginia, the collection contains 1,993 titles and 2,300 volumes, many of them extremely rare and generally found only in the great museums of England and Europe. It covers just about every thing ever written on dogs, history, prose, verse, academic works, even pamphlets issued by dog food and dog remedy companies. So well known is this collection, and so well respected, that letters come in from all over the world requesting information on dogs.

Any dog lover visiting Williamsburg for its historic interest would do well to stop at the college library and spend an hour or two browsing among its dog books.

Feeding tip: New Friskies Puppy Food contains 15 added minerals and vitamins, including Vitamin A for good vision and healthy, shiny coats, B-1 for body tone and appetite, B-2 for healthy skin and tissue and Vitamin D for strong bones and teeth.

in your case, you would receive a bond worth $50 on maturity, plus a check for $5.50 representing the difference between the cost of the bond ($37.50) and your total refund.

Q. I married recently and want to know if I can add my wife's name to my Savings Bonds.

A. Yes, either as a co-owner or a beneficiary. Use Form PD 1787 which can be obtained at many banks or by writing the Bureau of the Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, 536 South Clark Street, Chicago, Ill. 60605.

Q. I need to borrow several hundred dollars and don't want to cash in my Savings Bonds. Can I use them as collateral for a loan.

A. No; and this is because of one of the safety features built into Savings Bonds for your own protection. No one can redeem Savings Bonds except the person to whom the bonds were issued or the legally authorized guardian or custodian for that person.

Goldstein For Senate

United States Senator Daniel B. Brewster has urged Maryland Democrats to choose State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein to join him in the Senate.

Senator Brewster, now a favorite son candidate for the Presidential nomination, left no doubt as to whom he was supporting in the Party's primary election May 19 as he addressed a packed Pikesville Armory and a television audience.

"I ask the Democratic Party of Maryland to support Louis L. Goldstein for the United States Senate," Senator Brewster said. Comptroller Goldstein, being honored at the testimonial dinner attended by some 3,200 party stalwarts, promised a high level campaign on the issues.

He rejected a campaign of "frash statements that serve no purpose other than to damage the reputations of public officials and impair their ability to perform their public duties."

"The tragic events of last November clearly indicate that every candidate for public office has an obligation to bring an end to the bitterness and hatred that has infected so many."

Mr. Goldstein this week was completing his first campaign swing over the Eastern Shore.

As he toured last Friday he told an audience at Salisbury that the Shore was headed into an era of unprecedented prosperity.

The opening of the new bridgetunnel crossing of the Bay will effect tremendous changes thruout the entire Eastern Shore, he said.

"We are going to see more jobs created—more industry and more tourism," Mr. Goldstein said.

Goldstein In County

Delbert Null, former president of the Frederick County Board of Commissioners, and Mrs. Edna P. Cook, member of the House of Delegates of Montgomery County, will serve as Western Maryland co-chairmen of the Goldstein for Senator campaign.

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, in announcing the appointments described Mr. Null and Mrs. Cook as "dedicated public servants with whom I look forward to working during the months ahead."

"They will lend a great deal of force to our drive to give Maryland another Democrat in the United States Senate to support the programs of President Lyndon B. Johnson," Mr. Goldstein added.

Mr. Null, president of the Frederick County Commissioners from 1954 to 1962, is presently a member of the State Real Estate Commission. A local insurance and real estate executive, he also has served as president of the State Association of County Commissioners.

Mrs. Cook, a member of the House of Delegates since 1955, has long been active in state educational circles. For many years she was legislative chairman of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers.

On The Lawn

With Larry Lawrence

Have you ever noticed that it takes longer to get ready to do something than it does to do it? It's the same whether you're going to paint the cellar stairs, make out your income tax or feed the lawn.

Come the first nice Spring day and you decide to give the grass its first meal since last year. You've got the fertilizer. You've got the spreader. You're all set. Then you suddenly realize that the whole lawn is full of old leaves and twigs and junk of all kinds. So you go back and get a hard rake and set to work.

At least, you do if you're wise. And you bear down. You won't hurt the good grass, but you'll yank out a lot of debris. Pretty soon you've got a pile of debris big enough to make a bonfire.

Putting on fertilizer is a cinch compared to currying. There are plenty of brands on the market but Turf Builder is probably the most popular. It's the only one that's Trionized, which is Scott's patented process that enables it to feed out nutrients slowly and as needed.

I figure that you can feed a 5000 sq ft lawn with Turf Builder in thirty minutes. That's pretty good when you consider what a satisfaction it is to have the greenest, sturdiest lawn in the neighborhood.

Easter Driving Safety Stressed

"Are you planning a motor trip for the Easter holiday weekend? If you are, be sure you make it a pleasant experience for yourself and everyone you meet," this advice was given to motorists and pedestrians today by Paul E. Burke, Executive Director of The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

"It is a terrible indictment of our American civilization that every time we have a weekend holiday, we pay for it with hundreds of human lives," he said. "The Easter holiday will afford a three-day holiday. To many people this means a long weekend of travel and fun. If history repeats itself, there will be a staggering traffic toll for the entire Nation, unless extra dangers are met with extra caution. Maryland experienced 3 deaths due to traffic fatalities over the Easter holiday weekend last year. There were 548 accidents, in which 317 people were injured. These traffic deaths and injuries were a needless waste of human life when we realize these tragedies could have and should have been avoided, had the people involved given a second thought to the concepts of safety.

Evidently these people failed to develop appreciations necessary to accident-free driving on our highways. They failed to appreciate that driving is a privilege, not a right; that the golden rule cannot be left behind when they get behind the wheel; that courtesy is as important on the highway as at the club or in the home.

We can have the safest car it is possible to make, drive over the safest roadways it is possible to build, but until we have drivers with correct traffic attitudes, appreciations, understandings, habits and skills, we are sure to have more and more accidents and fatalities on our streets and highways.

So, however you and your family celebrate the Easter holiday—wherever you go—and whatever you do—heed these tips from The

Maryland Traffic Safety Commission:

1. Limit the number of miles you try to cover.
2. Be prepared for heavy holiday traffic.
3. Get an early start, and pause for rest occasionally.
4. Keep your speed down — "Slow Down and Live."
5. Don't drink and drive.
6. Be courteous on the road.

News Analyst To Address College Group

Stephen Rosenfield, editor and news analyst for the Washington Post, will address the faculty and students of St. Joseph College and neighboring colleges, on World Affairs Day, April 4, which is sponsored by the Campus International Relations Club.

"Russia in the Contemporary World" will be the theme of this year's program with an analysis of the Soviet position in today's world. Mr. Rosenfield will discuss "Russia — How Much Change?" His lecture will concentrate on changes in Soviet life and outlook since Stalin's death in 1953 and their consequence on the United States.

Mr. Rosenfield is a graduate of Harvard University and received his master's degree in Russian history from Columbia University. He traveled in the Soviet Union in 1949 as assistant manager of the New York Philharmonic, and in 1962 as correspondent for the Washington Post. As an editorial writer and news analyst for the Post, Mr. Rosenfield writes about Communist-bloc affairs.

Carol Hammond, president of the IRC, will introduce the speaker and lead the discussion period following the talk. Co-chairmen of the day's program are Kathy Meyer '64 and Rose Serio '66. Other committee chairmen are Dolores Vasquez, publicity; Carol Rabonese, invitations; Betty Ann McNeil and Carol Lazauskas, refreshments; Pat Marra and Jane McCullough, arrangements.

Gettysburgians Smoke As Usual

Contrary to what is happening in other communities because of the government report on cigarette smoking, smokers in Gettysburg are a hard-headed bunch of men and women who refuse to go along with the crowd, said the Gettysburg Times in a feature story this week.

A spot survey of dispensers of tobacco products has revealed that not only have Gettysburgians not cut down their consumption of cigarettes, but they are smoking twice as much pipe tobacco in the bargain.

Most of the tobacco and cigarette counters report that, for a few days after the government report was made public, cigarette sales were down slightly. But smokers in this town, whose scares over the past 100 years have included everything from bursting shellfire to fiery crosses, have refused to be sufficiently frightened to change their habits—even if they are promised longer life.

Said the Times: As one fellow is reported to have said, "Before the report was made public I was smoking a pack a day. Now I'm so nervous I smoke three packs a day."

One store said that the drop-off in cigarette sales never reached the anticipated point and, while the decrease was noticeable for several days, total sales at the end of the month showed no appreciable decline. Sales for February are reported to be equal to sales of the same period last year.

Some cigarette smokers' apparently had a few good intentions. Many rushed right out and bought pipes and smoking tobacco, but many of them also took along a carton of cigarettes—just in case they didn't like the pipe.

The Times went on to say: Only one tobacco store in town reports a sizeable increase in the sale of pipes and smoking tobacco, but it also reports cigarette sales in line with last year. Pipe sales at this particular store are up 30 per cent and smoking tobacco has doubled in local stores. Cigar sales have remained about steady.

Rocky Ridge Cloverettes Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Northern Cloverettes 4-H Club of Rocky Ridge, was held on March 18, at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mildred Orndorff. Nine members, three leaders, one parent and Miss Holly Ann Akre, Extension Agent for 4-H and Youth, were present. Vicki Valentine and Gail Eyer joined the club. Section reports were given. Mrs. James Hill reported on Leader Recognition Night held on March 17, at Calvary Methodist Church in Frederick, sponsored by the Frederick County 4-H Older Youth.

Reports were also given on Older Youth, the new girls 4-H camp to be held at Camp Penile, Thurmont, the week of July 20 to 24, and the club's style revue. Sylvia Brauer, chairman of the style revue committee, announced that the Thurmont Girls 4-H Club will join the Northern Cloverettes 4-H Club in the style revue to be held Friday, May 22, at 8 p.m.

Becky Keilholtz and Sylvia Brauer plan to enter the Public Speaking contest to be held on March 31, at Winchester Hall, in Frederick. Miss Akre answered questions asked by the girls about their projects. Three demonstrations were given. Mary Ann Keilholtz made "Chocolate Dreams," a no-bake cookie. Norma Wiley told "How to Make a Headband;" Mildred Orndorff showed the club "How to Straighten Material" and Jeanne Sharrer gave a talk on the new spring fashions. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held on April 22, at 7:30, at the home of Norma Wiley. Mrs. Weller will be present to show the girls how to make hats.

GOP Club Formed At Mount

In preparation for the forthcoming national elections a Young Republicans Club has been organized on the campus of Mount St. Mary's College. Charles E. Schonder, III, junior accounting major from Purcellville, Va., has been selected as president of the group. Vice president is Jeffrey R. Ellis, sophomore economics major from Kensington, Md.; Thomas E. Stevens, III, junior accounting major from Danbury, Conn., has been selected treasurer; Secretary is Kenneth R. Granata, junior biology major from Washington, D. C. Representatives chosen from the four college classes are: Richard P. McArthur, senior history major from Rosedale, N. Y.; Richard D. Klemm, junior biology major from Maple Glen, Pa.; William G. Liekweg, sophomore biology major from Alexandria, Va.; and Timothy L. Donohoe, freshman history major from Kensington, Maryland.

Stale Ensilage Responsible For Milk Drop

Maryland farmers may find their cows "going off their feed and dropping in production" as late March and April roll around and this may be due to indigestion caused by poor quality hay or ensilage, according to the Maryland State Veterinary Medical Association.

About this time of year, the veterinary group declared, silos are nearing empty and the ensilage is strong smelling and sometimes wet at the bottom. This is seldom good feed and is often toxic to cows, particularly when the hay ration is short.

Veterinarians also frequently encounter another indigestion problem caused by sudden relative increases of the grain ration. In such cases, because roughages are scarce, hay rations are cut to a minimum and grain portions are increased to make up the difference. If these changes are made too abruptly, the high-producing cow will become upset with resultant milk production loss.

The veterinary association recommends that these feeding adjustments be made gradually and cautiously until the dairy herdsmen see that his herd is accepting them without problems.

No Democratic Contest For Seats

There will be no contest among Democrats for the state party convention seats in the primary election, but the Republicans have 16 persons seeking the seven party posts.

The Democratic contest was reduced to a mere formality when Alton Y. Bennett and Earl W. Bartgis withdrew from the race. One Republican, E. Quentin Grossnickle, has withdrawn.

There are now just seven persons seeking the seven Democratic convention posts. They are M. Austin Young, Maurice J. Schroyer, James P. Mause, Samuel W. Barrick, Austin C. Powell, Edward D. Storm and George F. Abrecht.

Seeking the Republican convention vacancies will be: Mrs. Helen S. Musso, Mrs. Grace R. Stichel, Mrs. Harriet E. Schindel, Harry F. Rhoderick, Mrs. Ellen C. Winger, Glenn A. Main, Jr., Richard J. Hudson, Mrs. Lois Hill Remsberg, Mrs. Marianne G. Hughes, Royd R. Smith, William A. Rollins, Jr., Mrs. Sally B. Hedstrom, Mrs. Barbara B. Crum, Mrs. Barbara J. Kolb, Mrs. Mariam Y. Kelly and Paul K. Shafer.

COVERED DISH SOCIAL
The Sodality of St. Joseph's Church will have a covered dish social on Monday evening, March 30, after church services. Meat and rolls will be provided, and each member is to bring a covered dish. They may also invite a guest.
