There's activity a plenty going on in and around the old town these days. Currently under way are such projects as the expansions and improvement at both the Mount and St. Joe's, water and gas line installations and the Route 15 bypass of the town. Almost everywhere you look there is action. This action most certainly will result in the future expansion and growth of the village. Also under construction is the new Mother Seton School and the $150,000 bell tower at the Mount Grotto. I would venture to say that the present activity is the most intense in the history of the 200-year-old burg and I might add it represents a healthy condition and expresses the confidence people have in our future here.

Currently there are two financial drives under way here that merit your consideration and contribution. They are the Firemen's Drive and the Little League Drive. If you want to get a moral uplift just drop in at the Little League diamond some evening when the youngsters are gathered there and just observe how they put their heart and soul into their activities. Their interest in the game is intense and the amount of good sportsmanship derived from the venture is immeasurable. I am sure you will be more than willing to give a few dollars to their cause when you see them in action. As to the Fire Co., there isn't much to be said. Everyone knows of the importance a fire company is to a growing community and right now our Fire Co. must expand to keep pace with the times. I'm sure you'll give generously when you receive your letter in the mail this week asking for a little financial assistance.

I would be remiss in my duty if I were to fail saying a few words in eulogy of the late Msgr. Sheridan, president emeritus of Mt. St. Mary's College. Here was a man who loved Emmitsburg and its people. So great was his love for the community and college that he spent almost his entire life among us. Coming to the Mount as a mere lad, he entered the high school there, finished in the tender teenage, completed college and was ordained from the Seminary. For over half a century Msgr. Sheridan has resided in our midst. For several decades he headed the institution as its president and it was during his regime that the tremendous expansion and improvement program actually became a reality. His sudden demise at the age of 71 represents an irreparable loss to the Mount and the people of Emmitsburg share deeply in this loss of a man who loved his community and its people so deeply.

St. Joseph's Capping Ceremony June 1

The periods of education which prepare a nursing student for her professional career are highlighted by "Capping" ceremonies. The presentation of her first nurse's cap proclaims her acceptance as a nursing student, and in succeeding years, the addition of distinguishing stripes indicates her promotions to advanced work. An appropriate program of recognition marks each step toward her ultimate goal of the graduate's cap with its distinctive bands in her school's colors.

Departing from the past practice of marking these milestones at separate ceremonies during the year, Sister Aloysia, head of the Division of Nursing at St. Joseph College, announces that the presentations will be made this year at a combined ceremony.

The convocation, which will become an annual event, will be held June 1st. Graduate caps and the school pin will be given to members of the class of 1964, senior caps to the class of 1965, and junior caps to the class of 1966. Following the exercises, nursing majors of the three classes will make their "Pledge of Fidelity to Duty."

The program for the day will begin with a dialogue Mass at 11 a.m., offered by Father Martin J. Sleasman, C.M., college chaplain, in the college chapel. The convocation is set for 2:30 p.m., the Most Reverend Joseph Daly, Auxiliary Bishop of Harrisburg, presiding. The greeting will be given by Linda Ann Bowman, '64, of Washington, D. C. After the capping ceremonies, Mrs. Lucile Pezery Leone, Assistant Surgeon General and Chief Nurse Officer of the Public Health Service, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will address the group.

Mrs. Leone is a graduate of the Johns Hopkins School of Nursing and recipient of a master's degree from Teachers College, Columbia University. Among the many honors bestowed on her are honorary doctoral degrees from eight universities. In 1957, she received the Leshar Award, and in 1959, the Florence Nightingale Medal of the International Committee of the Red Cross.

Before entering the Public Health Service in 1943 to direct the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps Program, Mrs. Leone was Associate Professor at the University of Minnesota School of Nursing. She also served as Technical advisor to the U. S. Delegation at the First and Ninth World Health Assemblies in Geneva, and is a Continuing Member of the Panel of Experts on Nursing of the World Health Organization. In April, 1961, Mrs. Leone was reelected President of the National League for Nursing for a term of two years. In May, 1963 on the completion of her second term as president, she became a member of the Board of Directors.

Following the convocation, a reception will be held in the Green Room on campus.

Children Of Mary Elect Officers

Under the guidance of Rev. Louis B. Storms, C.M., Director; Sister Louise, Moderator; and Rose Mary Lewis, President, the Children of Mary of St. Joseph's High School have completed their activities for the current school year. Featured at their meetings during the year was a series of talks, question and answer periods, and discussions conducted by Rev. James T. Delaney and Rev. James F. Kelly of Mount Saint Mary's College. Practical problems facing the teenage girl in the modern world were considered.

At the May meeting, election of officers took place. Newly appointed leaders of the association are: Lynn Shorb, president; Jean Myers, vice president; Linda Kelz, treasurer; and Diane Shields, secretary. Chosen to represent their respective homerooms, the following Councilors were elected: Joan Wivell, senior; Dorothy Humerick, junior, and Jane Knox, sophomore. Installation of officers and reception of new members will take place in the near future.

PTA TO MEET

The Emmitsburg School PTA will have a Covered Dish Social at its next meeting on Wednesday, May 27, at 7 p.m. Following the business meeting and installation of new officers, there will be a Talent Show with parents, teachers, and students participating.

Salary Boost Attracts Teachers

A glowing report of the teacher situation in Frederick County was presented to members of the Board of Education last week by Dr. John L. Carnochan, Jr., Assistant Superintendent for Instruction.

The county is getting more applications for jobs than ever before, Dr. Carnochan reported, and the teacher situation is getting to a point where applicants can be screened and selected.

There is actually an over-supply of teachers in some areas, it was reported. Good art teachers are about the most difficult teachers to find, Dr. Carnochan said, and there is always a demand for elementary teachers. The new $5,000 starting salary here is credited with attracting many of the applicants.

At the present time there are only 32 positions remaining to be filled for the opening of school next September. Already this year there have been 56 vacancies filled. Positions remaining open include: 13 elementary teachers, nine special, eight high school, one visiting teacher and one supervisor. Frederick County has a teaching staff well in excess of 700.

Youth Program Seeks Volunteers

More volunteer help is needed to push along the remodeling program of the Emmitsburg Youth Program. At the present time members of the program are painting, cleaning and doing minor repair work to St. Euphemia's Social Hall where the group will make its headquarters.

Those desiring to assist with the work are asked to contact Father James Delaney immediately.

Laymen Service Scheduled

Laymen Services will be conducted in the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning at 11:00 a.m. This marks the first Lay Service in the history of the Emmitsburg Presbyterian Church. The Handbell Choir will have a part in the service. The public is invited to attend this service.

Mrs. Mae Lowe, Miss Lorraine Lowe and Mrs. Irvin Tokar, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harmon. Keymar, Saturday evening.

Msgr. J. L. Sheridan Is Laid To Rest

MSGR. JOHN L. SHERIDAN, P.A.

The Rt. Rev. John L. Sheridan, F.A., President Emeritus of Mount Saint Mary's College, died of a heart attack Monday evening. Monsignor Sheridan, who was 71, was fatally stricken while attending a meeting of the College Council.

His death brought to a close an association of over fifty years with Mount Saint Mary's, the second oldest Catholic college in the United States.

He first came to Emmitsburg in 1911 as a student in the Mount preparatory school, continuing on into the college and seminary. He was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in 1917 and a master's degree in 1919.

In 1921, he was ordained to the holy priesthood for the Diocese of Albany, N. Y. Shortly following his ordination he returned to the faculty of Mount Saint Mary's as an instructor in philosophy and as prefect of discipline. He also taught in the fields of history and English.

Monsignor Sheridan served in various administrative posts at the college and in 1936 upon the death of Rt. Rev. Bernard Bradley, he was appointed as acting president. In 1937, he was elected as the 17th president of the college; a post he filled until ill health forced his retirement in June, 1961.

In 1939 he received an honorary doctor of laws degree from Georgetown University and in 1959, a similar degree from Loyola College of Baltimore. He was elevated to the rank of Domestic Prelate with the title Rt. Reverend in 1939 and in 1957, the late Pope Pius XII bestowed on him the rank of Prothonotary Apostolic.

During his twenty-five-year tenure, the enrollment of the college tripled, the faculty and academic programs were expanded, and an extensive building program was undertaken. The Memorial Gymnasium, the new Library, the Pangborn Dormitory, and the

K Of C Plans Summer Crab Feast

Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, will nominate and elect officers for the coming year at its June 1 meeting it was decided at the regular meeting of the group held Monday night in the Council Home, Grand Knight Lumen F. Norris, presiding.

The Grand Knight appointed the following nominating committee: Ray Lauer, chairman, Curtis D. Topper and Carl A. Wetzel.

The membership was invited to attend a testimonial dinner and dance in honor of the State Supreme Director, Dr. John Griffin to be held in Baltimore on May 30.

A donation was authorized for the annual Catholic Charity Drive and the Little League. A number of the group is planning to attend the John F. Kennedy Memorial Mass to be celebrated in the Immaculate Conception Cathedral, Washington, on Friday, May 29.

Carl A. Wetzel, program chairman, announced that 15 had signed to attend the annual retreat at Manresa to be held in early June. District Deputy Paul A. Keepers reviewed new amendments to the bylaws and explained them to the membership.

Grand Knight Norris appointed the following committee to make plans for the annual crab feast to be held at Kump's Dam Park this summer: Clyde W. Eyer, chairman, William E. Sanders, Richard Weedon, Gerald F. Ryder, and Lumen F. Norris. Laurence F. Orndorff, chairman of the annual Communion Breakfast, reported the affair will be held in St. Joseph's High School following the 8:30 Mass on Sunday, May 31.

Local Women Report On Tour

On May 2nd, forty-one members and friends of Tom's Creek Church made their annual bus trip. This year the first stop was Dulles International Airport. One of the highlights for visitors is to take a ride out and back in a Lounge Car, but arrangements must be made in advance. As they didn't know of this, they got only to walk in and sit in one while an officer spoke and told about the airport, which was very interesting. These lounge cars carry passengers out to the jets and also brings them in from the planes. The group then proceeded on to Arlington National Cemetery, where they were permitted to honor our late President, John F. Kennedy, by placing a wreath on his grave and having a moment of silent prayer. This privilege was granted through the kind helpfulness of Senator Daniel Brewster. They then moved on to Washington, D. C. where they visited the Museum of History and Technology, illustrating the Culture and Technological development of our nation from Colonial times to our modern day. One thing of special interest was the Fouclvet Pendulum. Also very interesting were the old printing presses, one of which was used by Benjamin Franklin, and they can not forget the inaugural gowns worn by the wives of our presidents from Washington down to Mrs. Kennedy. There were many more items of historical interest.

The group then moved on to Wheaton, Md., where they had dinner at the Hot Shoppe and a short shopping tour of the Wheaton Shopping Center. They then started for home, arriving about 9:30 p.m. The trip was made via Rosensteel's Bus Service with Eugene Rosensteel driving.

Those making the trip were: Mrs. Elizabeth Amoss, Maude Baumgardner, Ethel Baumgardner, Lois Baumgardner, Marian Baumgardner, Audrey Baumgardner, Miss Martha Baumgardner, Pauline Seabrooks, Elizabeth Fuss, Ruth Naylor, Margaret Springer, Nancy Glass, Carolyn Siltson, Mae Grushon, Gladys Keilholtz, Carrie Keilholtz, Anna Grimes, Evelyn Linn, Carrie Long, Betty Muma, Anna M. Martin, Cora Moser, Emily Moser, Edith Ohler, Iva Ohler, Frances Rosensteel, Nancy Toms, Lenora Stonesifer, Janice Valentine, Dorothy Valentine, Lucille Valentine, Virginia Wantz, Polly Watkins, Esther Warren, Betty Weber, Ruth Copenhaver, Ruth Naylor, Margaret Sprnger, Julia Roop, Helen Swomley and Linda Myers.

This list of donors will be published for the next several weeks and will include all new donors.

TYDINGS SWEEPS STATE IN PRIMARY ELECTION TUESDAY

Joseph D. Tydings, former Harford County member of the House of Delegates scored an outstanding victory in his first bid for a major office when he defeated decisively Louis L. Goldstein, State Comptroller, for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate in Tuesday's primary election.

In his state-wide sweep, Tydings also carried Frederick County by over 3,000 votes.

Senator Daniel Brewster outdistanced Alabama's Governor Wallace in the state Presidential runoff by capturing 52% of the vote to Wallace's 42.7%. The count: Brewster 265,713; Wallace 214,029.

Congressman Charles McC. Mathias Jr. breezed past two opponents to capture the Republican nomination for the Sixth Congressional District.

Mr. Mathias, Frederick's "favorite son" candidate, piled up an impressive vote total in Frederick County and throughout the Sixth Congressional District. He outscored his opponents in each of the 74 precincts in the county and racked up a better vote than in his previous two primary campaigns.

Unofficial returns for Frederick County showed Mathias tallied 3,485 votes to 528 for Brent Bozell and 156 for Harry Simms. Sixth District totals showed Mathias with 29,585 votes to 10,943 for Bozell and 1,670 for Simms.

Frederick attorneys Samuel W. Barrick and Edward D. Storm were running neck-and-neck for the top spot in the Democratic tabulations for delegates to the state convention.

The contest is more a popularity poll than anything else since seven Democrats will go to the convention and only seven names appeared on the ballot. Republicans, however, had a spirited contest for their seven convention seats with 15 candidates in the running.

Unofficial reports of 66 of the 74 precincts in the county showed Barrick out in front in the Democratic race, 4,279 to 4,222 for Storm. Austin C. Powell, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, was running third with 3,882 votes. Other totals were: M. Austin Young, 3,801; George F. Abrecht, 3,696; James P. Mause, 3,582; Maurice J. Schroyer, 3,573.

Final unofficial Republican figures showed Barbara B. Crum garnered the most votes, 2,029. Glenn A. Main Jr. received the second highest total, 1,911. The other five apparently elected as Republican delegates were Harry F. Rhoderick, 1,834; Lois Hill Remsburg, 1,549; Sally B. Hedstrom, 1,538; Grace R. Stickel, 1,498 and Miriam Y. Kelly, 1,480. Others who also ran were: J. Richard Hudson, 1,410; William A. Rollins Jr., and Royd R. Smith, both 1,284; Paul K. Shafer, 1,214; Barbara J. Kolb, 1,213; Marianne G. Huges, 1,180; Harriet E. Schindel, 1,035 and Ellen C. Winzer, 532.

Republican James P. Gleason of Montgomery County, who carried the entire Sixth District and Frederick County in the Senate primary two years ago, was conceded to have a better chance than Tydings of winning his party's nomination to the U. S. Senate.

Gleason lost miserably statewide and lost Frederick County by a vote of 711 to 3,067 for incumbent Republican Senator J. Glenn Beall.

In the Congress-At-Large contest, David Scull, who owned the Republican Party machinery as State Chairman for two years up until two months ago, was favored to win over Montgomery County lady Delegate Miss Louise Gore and college professor Roland Perusse.

Miss Gore, the daughter of former Republican Senate candidate Grady Gore, won Frederick County by 202 votes in the final unofficial results, receiving 1,420 local votes to 1,218 for Scull and 421 for Perusse, a leader in the equal representation dedistricting fight.

Carlton R. Sickles, the incumbent Democratic Congressman-At-Large, easily won over token opposition from Wilsie H. Adams of Baltimore County by a Frederick County vote of 4,481 to 507 and also took the state-wide nomination.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wivell visited Sunday with Sister M. Cyril at Mt. Washington, Md.

The Arizona Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit has recorded the calls of female bobwhite and scaled Gambel's and Mearns' (or Massena) quail. The recordings lure in the bachelor birds. This system of locating males has good potential in census work.—Sports Afield.

Commissioner Reviews Finances

I stated recently I was reviewing our County's fiscal position. My purpose in doing this has been twofold. First of all, as a County Commissioner it is my responsibility and desire to see that our tax dollars provide maximum benefits for our County. Secondly, I want to share with our citizens some facts which might be of interest to them, and keep them abreast of the many problems we have coming before us.

Naturally, education claims the largest share of our tax dollars. We want to provide the most serviceable classrooms in our schools, and staff them with the best obtainable teachers. But, I have sensed considerable concern on the part of many of our citizens about the continuing increase in the cost of the operation of our County government. This concern applies particularly to the cost of our school buildings. I believe we need to make doubly sure that buildings do not cost more than is absolutely necessary to have them provide the facility we need. Here probably, a closer operation between the Board of Education, the County Commissioners and the community would help.

A review of our financial position indicates that our bonded indebtedness is increasing at a faster pace than our assessable base. It is imperative that we preserve the good credit rating of our County, but this cannot be done unless the trend is slowed. For comparative purposes, looking back a bit, we find that in 1954, just ten years ago, our assessable base was $123,150,705. For this year it is $248,803,965. On the other hand in 1954, our bonded indebtedness was $1,929,404, whereas today it is $23,419,458. Putting it another way, this means that out of our tax rate of $2.14, 79c goes for debt service. This is quite high.

With the anticipated continued rapid growth in our County, calling for more and more classrooms, with more and more teachers, it is imperative that every effort be made to keep the cost of our buildings to a minimum, consistent with their providing the services required of them. It is reported that our cost on a per pupil basis is more than those in neighboring Montgomery County. We should closely check on this. I am convinced that we must receive a larger share of revenues from the State for the increased burden cannot be continued to be borne by real estate.

I want Frederick County to be progressive, to be a leader, but I also believe we must be sure our course is properly and soundly charted. This calls for the best combined thinking of all of us, for it is my sincere desire to serve our County in a manner that I deem to represent a majority will of our citizens.

100 YEARS AGO

SHERMAN, IN GEORGIA, DRIVES JOHNSTON BACK

By Lon K. Savage

While Grant and Lee slugged it out on the Civil War's center stage of Virginia 100 years ago this week, Federal Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman and Confederate Gen. Joseph E. Johnston swung away at each other in a bloody campaign in northwest Georgia.

And although their campaign didn't cause the casualties that mounted in Virginia, it appeared to be going much faster. After three weeks, Sherman had battled his way more than half the distance from Chattanooga to Atlanta, while Grant had covered only a few of the miles separating him from Richmond.

Johnston Outnumbered

Sherman, like Grant, outnumbered his enemy by about two to one when he moved out from Chattanooga in early May, but he found Johnston behind impregnable defenses at Dalton, 20 miles across the border. There, he achieved his first victory.

As the two armies skirmished near Dalton, Sherman sent a corps under Gen. James B. McPherson looping southward behind the mountains toward Resaca, 12 miles away. On May 9, McPherson pushed through Snake Creek Gap to Resaca's outskirts where he could have cut Johnston's supply line with ease.

But McPherson delayed, and while he did, Johnston sent men down to meet him. In the next three days, Johnston moved his whole army of 50,000 down from Dalton to Desaca, and Sherman's army followed. By the 11th, the two armies again faced each other, but Johnston no longer had his Dalton defense.

On May 13, the battle erupted. Gen. John B. Hood of Johnston's army attacked Sherman's center. Sherman retaliated by sending Joe Hooper's corps into Hood's flank, and Hood's attack withered and died. Next day, Sherman knocked two holes in Johnston's line and rained artillery onto the town of Resaca. Johnston pulled out, and on the 15th, Sherman occupied Resaca.

Pushes On

But he didn't stop. As fast as Johnston's army retreated southward, Sherman's swept along behind it, repairing railroads as it moved to keep connection with the North. Johnston pulled up at Cassville, 40 miles north of Atlanta, to make a stand, and Sherman called his army together to attack. Next morning, May 20, Sherman was surprised to find Johnston had retreated again.

Sherman halted there to rest a bit, and he caught up on the news from Virginia—of the bloody battles of the Wilderness and Spotsylvania. As he rested, there also came news of two Union defeats in Virginia.

Both had happened May 15, one in the Shenandoah Valley and the other on the James River just east of Richmond. In the valley, a hastily assembled army of 5,000 Confederates—including the cadet corps of Virginia Military Institute—had soundly trounced the Federal army of Gen. Franz Siegel at New Market. East of Richmond, Gen. Benjamin "Beast" Butler, with an army of 35,000, marched on Richmond with grand hopes to end the war. Instead, he was hit from behind by Gen. P. G. T. Beauregard who had moved up from the South, and Butler retreated down the river with heavy losses.

Next week: A Chess Game.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Government And Business BABSON PARK, Mass., May 21—There have been a number of periods in our country's history when public distrust of business was strong and bitter. There was such an explosion of popular feeling against business interests during William Jennings Bryan's day in the 1890's. The next surge of indignation—probably the most violent of all—came during and immediately after the depression of the 1930's, fanned into flame by Franklin Roosevelt's accusing implications.

Reversal Of Anti-Business Tide I now feel that the tide is turning. It is no longer fashionable for educated men and women to lambaste business and discredit its social value. Rapidly losing ground is the old belief that business does not care about people as individuals, that business contributes little or nothing to human welfare in our present social order. The public is becoming increasingly aware of the fact that business has founded all kinds of research institutions and has heavily endowed them; that it has operated more and more for the purpose of developing better products,—and better living conditions.

It was interesting to note how our late President Kennedy grew steadily more pro-business as he came better acquainted with the attitudes of most of today's businessmen. Naturally, he realized that business, like any other human institution, was far from perfect. But it was clear that he also began to see that business was no longer heavily infected by opportunists who would exploit the many for the special benefit of the few. There were numerous indications that President Kennedy recognized that business management was further advanced than the political management that tried to regulate it.

Johnson Continuing The Trend While President Johnson strives to build his image as a man of the people, he too obviously realizes the essential need for government to work amicably with business. It is evident that he feels business in general is a responsible force having high regard for the welfare of the individual. The next administration, which the voters will decide upon in November, will have to stay with this approach, and I believe that both the Republicans and the Democrats know this.

The marriage of business to the physical sciences brought our nation to its present high pinnacle of technological achievement. From now on, emphasis must be upon a similar union between business and the social sciences. The depression crisis of the thirties brought about a reluctant engagement between these two forces, but it was accomplished by crucial pressures rather than by mutual desire. There was still distrust, and even hostility, between the common man and the big industrial powers.

Unions Have Helped

Some of the largest and most responsible labor unions have helped bring about a closer tie between the worker and the employer,—and also between government (representing the people) and industry. Since I do not believe that our nation should be high-handedly dominated by either management or labor, I am always encouraged when I see men in high government places who want equality and justice for both sides. It is my honest opinion that whoever wins the election next November will work wholeheartedly to apply this principle.

As for business itself, it must not only keep up its vigorous interest in technological improvements, but also stress the dignity of the individual and the meaningfulness of life. Probably the most destructive influence of our industrial civilization has been its focus on materialism and the pitiful lack of religious fervor. To change this situation, the social scientists, government authorities, advertising writers, and businessmen must all work together. The party that is carried into power by the voters next November will have a real challenge to develop the type of philosophy and the course of action that will carry us to ever-better human relations,—both within our own country and among the other nations of the world.

Sports Afield

Only a handful of years ago, some fishermen figured the time had come to give the small outboard motor a permanent funeral, points out Willard Crandall, Boats Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. The new, larger motors were improved, they said, to the point where they would troll as well as the small ones. The extra power was needed to fit the new, larger, safer boats. More water traffic and wakes, more travel farther afield in more doubtful weather demanded the use of these boats. And trailer travel had done away with motor lifting, anyhow.

But small motors still cost less to buy and to operate. The fisherman alone (or with one pal) needs no big boat, so far as load is concerned. In the widening search for the elusive fish, anglers are taking to a greater number of smaller as well as larger waters. Not only do previously neglected ponds and creeks hold fish; they don't hold hordes of swimmers, oversize cabin cruisers with big wakes or skin divers with their watch-out-for-me flags. As one angler put it: "I still find fighting fish in backwoods ponds. But even if I shouldn't, I can't think of a better place not to find them!"

Outboard-motor manufacturers are recognizing this definite trend toward increased use of small, calm waters. This year, particularly, there are new, thoroughly modernized small outboard-motor models—such as the first single to have remote control as well as gearshift. This lets the driver's weight move toward the bow to hold it down, as is often necessary in slow boats. The small-motor angler should be chiefly concerned that the speed is neither too little nor too much for his boat. When more speed is wanted, larger motors move in.

Because of their high melting point, nickel coins are difficult to counterfeit but not difficult to mint into attractive design.

Merry Tiller SCOTSMAN model—shown with 26" shaft and 26" propeller—is the thrifty power package for small garden plots. Combines 2 1/2 or 3 hp with chain-drive transmission to deliver the equivalent of a 4 1/2 or 5 hp worm-gear unit. Adjustable detachable 8" rear wheels.

ORIOLE PERSONALITIES

BROOKS ROBINSON

Those who have been closely associated with the Orioles since the club regained major league status 10 years ago will tell you honestly that Brooks C. Robinson, Jr. is the same Brooks Robinson now that he was back in 1955 when he first joined the team as a gangling, 18-year-old youth just out of high school in Little Rock, Arkansas.

Even though he has become one of the premier third basemen in the majors, he is the same unpretentious, down-to-earth type person he was 9 years ago when he was signed by the Orioles and sent to play with the York White Roses in the Class B Piedmont League. He even retains his Arkansas drawl, although he has made Baltimore his year-round home for the past five years.

Robby, well-liked and highly respected by his teammates and club officials, always seems to have the time to do a favor for somebody if at all possible, despite the inconvenience it might cause himself. This was clearly demonstrated in his immediate response to a request made of him the day he left for spring training this past February when he was asked to visit a very ill youngster in a Baltimore hospital. Brooks could have begged off or fabricated some excuse for not wanting to go, but he didn't. Instead, he took a few hours to visit the boy and tried to cheer him up.

A man named Lindsay Deal, now a deputy county sheriff in Little Rock, is credited with tipping off the Orioles about Robinson. Deal had played ball with Paul Richards in the Southern Association and, in early 1955, wrote a letter to Richards, then Oriole manager, extolling the ball-playing ability of Robinson.

Richards quickly dispatched scouts Paul Dietrich and Fred Hofman to Little Rock, where they joined with representatives of at least eight other major league clubs in bidding for Brooks' services.

"There were 10 or 12 teams that scouted me," Brooks recalls, "but I really talked to only eight or nine of them." As the moment of decision neared, according to Robby, he narrowed his choice to clubs—the Orioles and Cincinnati Reds. "I decided to sign with the Orioles because they were a new team in the American League and I felt I would have a better chance of playing with them than with the Reds," he explained.

Within three years after graduating from high school, Brooks was firmly entrenched as the Orioles' regular third baseman. In the years since then, he has built for himself the reputation as one of the best third basemen in the game today. His fielding ability, which has awed fans everywhere around the American League, has won him the Sporting News' "Gold Glove" award the past four years.

To be a good third baseman requires equally good reflexes and Robinson's reflexes are exceptional. On many ground balls that most third basemen would not touch with a fishing net, Robby scoops them up and throws out the batter in an effortless manner.

Robby believes that good reflexes must be inborn and are something that cannot be acquired through practice. "If an infielder does not have good reflexes, he can practice and practice fielding grounders, but he won't be able to improve to any great degree," Brooks noted. "His reflexes must be natural."

In 1957, when Robby was with the Orioles for most of the season, there was much talk about George Kell grooming Brooks as the heir to the third base job. Kell, an American League third baseman for 14 seasons, was then in the twilight of his career, and much was written and said about him teaching Robby all there was to know about playing the hot corner.

"Actually, there was very little George showed me about playing third, but he did help me with my hitting," said Brooks, who has been stroking the ball at better than a .300 pace during the early weeks of this season.

Robby has a brother, Gary, who is attending the University of Arkansas on a football scholarship and played in the Sugar Bowl with the Razorbacks two years ago. He has "redshirted" (withheld from playing) for a season because of injuries but is expected to see plenty of action this fall as a wingback in the Arkansas' split-T offense.

Brooks, who met his vivacious wife, Connie, while she was a stewardess on a plane carrying the Orioles from Chicago to Boston during the 1959 season, has a part-interest in a restaurant and sporting goods store in Baltimore.

In late June, Brooks and Connie—along with the three little Robinsons—Brooks, Chris and Michael—will move into a new home in Timonium, a Baltimore suburb.

OUTDOOR SPORT TIPS

Red Skin

Indians at large know the red skin of an onion slipped in your minnow pail will color the bait-fish pink. Scalp plenty bass this way.

Dry Lines

Some fishermen like to dry their lines at the end of a day's fishing. This tip makes it easy. Buy a regular rubber heel for a shoe. Nail it to board or side of your boat. Now split it part way with a razor. Cast out, fit line in slit and reel in. Dry as toast.

Deer Hunt

Experienced deer hunters don't sit behind blind. They sit in front! Sounds crazy but here's the reason. If behind the blind they know peering around will be irresistible. Motion scares deer. In front they can see all while remaining absolutely still.

Corked Off

There may be times when you want to seal shotgun barrels from dirt. An empty shell goes in one end. A cork in the other. Dirt can't enter.

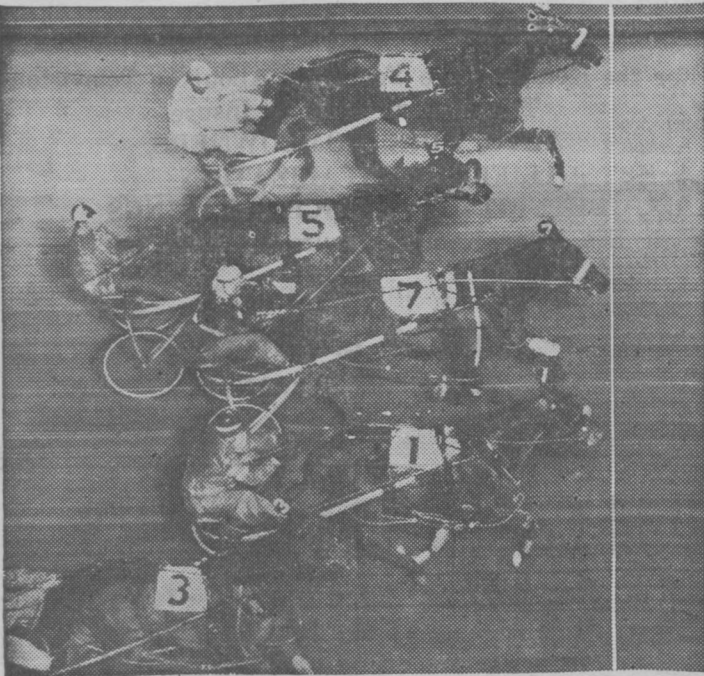

Waterproof Matches

Quick way to make a waterproof match case is to fill a spent shell of the 30-30 size with matches and push through a plug of paraffin.

lakes if you arm yourself with a can of blue dye. Dye water and pour on ice. Ducks will decoy to what looks (to them) like an open pot hole.

Hot Seat

Early season fishing goes a lot more comfortable if you sit on a box in your boat with a lantern stowed underneath rather than a drafty thwart.

Doc Disgorger

Got a doctor pal? (You should have, most doctors hunt or fish). Ask him for a hemostat whose jaws are a little loose. (He can't use it, you can.) Makes one of the best hook disgorgers going.

Plastic Spools

Confucius say: He who throws away plastic line spools in spring, will have tangled lines ice fishing in winter.

Blackfish

That crochet needle you see in your buddy's tackle box is not a fish he has flipped. He uses it to dig really bad backlashes loose. Nothing works better.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

Protecting Baby's Hearing
By Malte J. Carlson, President
Acousticon International
There are many children who have some degree of hearing impairment. About 80 per cent of this "early deafness" occurs before the child's fifth year; and much of it can be prevented.

Most hearing impairments are the result of childhood diseases such as meningitis, measles, scarlet fever and influenza. Since these ailments, in their early stages, often resemble the common cold, the baby should be put to bed at the first sign of a cold symptom and the doctor called.

A hearing loss also can develop if care is not taken in cleaning baby's ears. Ear wax is a normal secretion from the glands in the ear canal and it helps to keep the skin healthy. It will, in most cases, fall out by itself as it accumulates. When sticky, it should be carefully wiped out.

It is suggested you consult your physician before you attempt to clean baby's ears. He will show you how to do this correctly so you don't injure baby's ears, pave the way for an ear infection or push the wax deeper.

Particular care should be taken to prevent water from entering the ear. Too much water can cause the delicate nose and throat tissue to swell. This will interfere with the ventilation to the middle ear and can result in impaired hearing.

Allergies of the nose, throat, and ears also can cause swelling which will obstruct proper ventilation of the middle ear and thereby interfere with the baby's hearing mechanism.

Infected tonsils and large or infected adenoids can endanger the ears. Obstruction from adenoids will tend to disappear in adolescence. But in young children the adenoids may grow large enough to fill the ear passage leading from the throat to the ear. Your doctor can advise you whether or not they should be removed.

Regular ear checks and hearing tests for the baby are the best safeguards against impaired hearing. Hearing societies, clinics and hearing aid manufacturers throughout the country urge periodic ear examinations and have assisted in establishing community hearing-conservation programs.

At the slightest indication of an ear infection or injury, baby should be taken to the doctor. Prompt and adequate medical treatment of infections and injuries is the best way to maintain good hearing and prevent a hearing loss.

ing with such things as these. (Galatians 5:22-23. NEB.)

One needs only to read the newspaper or listen to a broadcast to see how desperately the human family must continually apply civil and military law. Still the harvest of evil spreads throughout the world.

But the living of life by the individual who is fully yielded to God's Holy Spirit will produce all the things which the civil and military law can only strive to maintain. The Holy Spirit dwelling in the human heart can effect this. How wonderful to know the way of life that requires no law enforcement!

While a patient in the hospital, I became friends with the orderly. One day he gave me his personal concept of Christian living. He said, "If I can't bring peace, I will not bring confusion. To have a good world, we have to let God's love dwell in us and share it daily with others."

Prayer
Our Father, we give unto Thee our whole being—mind, heart, and spirit. So possess us we pray, that the fruit of the Holy Spirit will be the harvest of our lives. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Thought For The Day
The Holy Spirit can so fill us that we are blessed with an overflow of love for others.

'Adventure whispered in the wind and Glenn Robert, age five, heard its call. "Of course," his mother said, "you can go up to Marky's to play. Be home around lunchtime," she called after him.

But lunchtime passed. Glenn's mother went out and looked up toward Mark's house. There was no sign of Glenn. She called Mark's mother, "I thought they went back to your house." Two more phone calls—no one had seen him. Could some stranger...

She pushed the thought from her mind and quickly dialed another of Glenn's kindergarten friends, this one on Hollow Road, many streets away. "Yes, he's here. Hold on, I'll get him."

Problems have a way of disappearing when you lift your phone.

Glenn's mother hung up the phone and smiled; the adventurer was on his way home.

For emergencies of any size—pleasure any day—phones are friends.

Children Of Mary Congress In Rome

The Association of the Children of Mary will hold an international Congress in Rome in September, 1965. The announcement of this Congress came from Very Reverend William M. Slattery, C.M., Director General of the Association. Father Slattery is Superior General of the Vincentian Fathers and the Daughters of Charity. In his letter announcing the International Congress, Father Slattery indicated its purpose. He hopes that the world-wide Association may, in imitation of the Second Vatican Council, bring about its own "aggiornamento" and its adaptation to the world of today. The Congress will discuss Marian dogmas and the privileges of Mary in relation to the Church, in order to appreciate the reorientation of Marian piety which should be practiced in closer relationship with Christ and with the revelations of the Bible. The debates of the Second Session of the Council on the role of the laity in the Church today will also furnish material for the study and discussion of the Children of Mary. With the renewal of the spiritual life, sustained more intensely by liturgical prayer, the place of the laity in the Church must be recognized and their special responsibilities defined. Lay people must understand their responsibility for the salvation of the world. This should lead to a conviction of the members of the Association that they are more and more responsible for the promotion of Christian living and for its spiritual and apostolic influence on society.

To prepare for the International Congress, an International Commission of twenty-five members has been appointed from various countries in which the Children of Mary are located. The American representatives on this Commission are Reverend William W. Sheldon, C.M. and Sister Genevieve Ryan of the Daughters of Charity. Father Sheldon and Sister Genevieve are Spiritual Director and Directress of the Emmitsburg Province of the Children of Mary in the United States.

The international Commission will meet in Rome in September of this year to prepare the theme and outline the program and work of the Congress. The Commission will meet on September 7 and work for four or five days.

The Children of Mary is an international Association of young people similar to the Sodality conducted by the Jesuit Fathers. The Association was founded as the result of a request made by our Lady in the famous Miraculous Medal apparitions to St. Catherine Laboure'. Reverend Jean Marie Aladel, C.M., St. Catherine's spiritual director, was entrusted with the mission of founding the Association. Its purpose is to encourage and assist members desirous of honoring Mary by the imitation of her virtues and by striving for their personal sanctification and that of others.

Pope Pius IX approved the establishment of the Association and enriched it with the same privileges and indulgences as that founded by the Jesuit Fathers in Rome. The Association was spread by the Daughters of Charity and the Vincentian Fathers, and is frequently established where they have houses. It was introduced into the United States in 1851, and the units of the Association are widespread throughout the Emmitsburg and St. Louis Provinces of the Daughters of Charity in the United States.

Since 1950 a biennial National Congress of the Children of Mary has been held at Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg. In the Marian Year, 1954, the Emmitsburg Province was represented by thirty delegates at the First International Marian Congress of the Children of Mary in Rome.

Are you planning to retire soon? W. S. King, District Manager of Social Security in Hagerstown, says an early inquiry can speed delivery of the first social security check.

Claims for benefits may be filed as much as three months before payments are due. In order to support your claim, certain proofs will be required.

You should bring proof of age for yourself and for any dependents who are eligible for benefits. While a birth certificate or baptismal certificate made at or near the time of birth is preferable, other types of evidence may be accepted.

If you are a self-employed person, you should bring along a copy of your 1963 Federal Income Tax Return. If you are an employee, your should bring your withholding tax statement, Form W-2, showing your 1963 wages.

Do not delay filing because you do not have some of these papers available. Your social security office can suggest other proofs.

Last, but not least—bring your social security card with you! Mr. King stressed that for prompt payment of your first social security check, you should inquire before you retire.

Your social security representative at 59 North Cannon Avenue, Hagerstown, will be glad to help you.
