With two extremely dry months behind us and the prospects of any break in the drought dismal, many farmers are feeling the pinch and are desperate. During the past two months only two inches of rainfall has occurred leaving a deficit in the norm of around five inches. Lawns are scorched and crops shriveled and from all appearances there will be only one cutting of hay this year. Already farmers and dairymen are feeding this winter's supplies to their livestock. This will be the third drought in as many summers.

And while on the subject of water, reports indicate a number of citizens are wasting this precious commodity and the heat is on in more ways than one. The Town Council asked for co-operation in conserving water last week but still there are reported misuses. The Mayor explains that at the present time there are ample supplies but steps must be taken to safeguard these reserves and a ban on sprinkling has been imposed by the town council.

Light sprinkling will be permitted for two hours a day and these hours have been designated as 7 to 9 p.m. Violators will be faced with the problem of having their water service discontinued and a possible fine imposed. Really folks, there isn't much use wasting water on already dead lawns so why not cooperate before some unpleasanties arise?

We saw where New Windsor is going to get a new Postoffice and that just about lets Emmitsburg about the only town around who hasn't received one in the past decade and from my information there isn't anything on the horizon as yet. Naturally private interests were involved as that is the only way in which small towns get post-offices these days. The Government has long since abandoned building offices in small towns and even cities but the way is wide open for anyone with the money to do the job, so if there's anyone around you know of that might be interested in building us a new Postoffice, better let him know that there is a grand opportunity right here in Emmitsburg.

Interested parties in improving our local Public School are at work and this will be the final turn at bat for the fate of our senior high school. Should this trial be lost there will be no more. To operate this maneuver money is needed and if there are individuals or groups who haven't as yet contributed to the drive for a new and modern consolidated public school for this area, we ask that they send in their contribution immediately, either to this newspaper or to the Emmitsburg Jaycees. As I said before, this will be the last time at bat for our school and there will be no more drives or trials, so the fate of this project rests in YOUR hands.

Going Away Party

A "Bon Voyage" party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henke, on Sunday, in honor of their daughter, Yvonne. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Joy and daughter, Sandra, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Joy and children, Karen and Kathy, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. William Martin and Bruce; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joy and children, Gloria Rose, Donna, Lee, Sherry, David and Daniel; Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Joy; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Joy and children, Julie and Pamela; John Joy and daughter, Debbie; Kenneth and Pat Joy; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Joy and children, Denise, Perry, Barry and Laurie; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henke, Robert, Jr., and Yvonne.

Miss Henke left for Canada on Wednesday where she will be attending Laval University in Quebec for seven weeks.

SOFTBALL GAME

A softball game between all stars picked from the Emmitsburg Softball League and a local girls' team will be played on Community Field on Sunday, July 12. Watch next week's paper for the time and details of the game.

Some of us expect the impossible and when we get it, grumble about the taxes.

Scout Parade Scheduled Saturday Morning

The Fifth Annual July Fourth Parade will be held by the Scouts of Emmitsburg on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. In observance of this special year, some of the troops will be represented by floats. Rev. James Delaney will be the speaker at the ceremonies in the ball park immediately following the parade.

The schedule for the day is as follows: The participants in the parade will form at 10 a.m. at the Doughboy and up Frailey Road. The parade will march, led by the Municipal Band, at 10:30 down West Main Street to the Square, down Route 15 to the ball park. Here the flag ceremony will be held. Rev. John Chatlos, pastor of Incarnation United Church of Christ, will have the invocation. Mayor Irelan will give a word of greeting. The band will play a selection or two and Rev. James Delaney will have the address of the morning. Rev. Chatlos will close the ceremony with the benediction. The band will play immediately following the ceremonies, while the girls are preparing themselves for the softball game with the Boy Scouts at the Little League Field. The loud speaker system of the Vigilant Hose Co. will again be used at the park so all may hear.

The speaker has become very popular with the young people of the community since he has been directing the activities at the Emmitsburg Youth Center. He is an instructor of psychology at Mt. St. Mary's College. He has worked with youth in Washington, D. C. and was psychologist and guidance counselor for the state of Delaware, working with juvenile delinquents there. He has had much experience with a variety of youth groups.

Emmitsburg is very fortunate to have so many Scout troops. There will be three Cub Scouts represented in the parade and the Boy Scout Troop. Two Brownie Girl Scout Troops, two Junior Troops, on Cadette Troop and one Senior Troop will represent the girls of the community. Much time is volunteered by the leaders of these children and youth. Offer your help and encouragement. Fly your flag.

Motorist, En Route Here, Fatally Injured In Wreck

Anthony E. Parot, 49, Buffalo, N. Y., suffered a possible fracture of the neck and abrasions of the shoulder Monday morning about 1:10 o'clock when his station wagon went off the Gettysburg Rd., crashed into the corner of the Codori barn, and dropped into a space between the barn and a shed adjoining it.

The vehicle was not discovered until about five hours later, when a passing motorist saw the vehicle jammed into an area partially hidden from the highway.

Parot is said to be an employee of the Sisters of Charity at Buffalo and was enroute to St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, from where he was to drive five nuns back to Buffalo.

Pennsylvania State Police said the southbound station wagon went off the east side of the road, thru a government-owned fence, then over the barn bridge and into the side of the barn, knocking loose some of the stone of the foundation and breaking off some siding of the barn. The vehicle came to rest on its wheels.

The Gettysburg firemen's ambulance was summoned when Parot was found in the vehicle. He was removed to the Warner Hospital where he was admitted as a patient. State police estimated damage to the station wagon at $3,200 and to the government property at the Codori farm at $600.

Parot died Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg.

County Judge Appointment Due

The State Bar Association has recommended Robert E. Clapp, Jr., James McSherry and Charles U. Price to fill a Sixth Judicial Circuit Court judgeship created this year by the State Legislature.

These are the same three attorneys recommended for the vacancy some time ago by the Frederick County Bar Association. The appointment is expected to be made soon by Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

BROWN—CHRISMER

Saint Joseph's Catholic Church was the pretty scene of the wedding of Miss Rebecca Ann Chrismer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Chrismer, Emmitsburg, to Robert Lee Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brown, Blue Ridge Summit, Pa.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. James Staube, assistant pastor. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a long white gown of pure silk organza fashioned with a sabrina neckline, elbow sleeves and princess waistline. The skirt featured a very full back ending in a chapel train. The gown was adorned with applique of hand-clipped imported chantilly lace. Her bouffant veil of pure silk illusion fell from a small silk organza crown featuring a small floral rosette. Her bouquet was a cascade of white carnations and babybreath.

The maid of honor was Miss Jeanne Chrismer, sister of the bride, who was attired in a short gown of organza in sky blue. It was fashioned with a sabrina neckline, short sleeves and controlled full skirt. The skirt featured a band of eyelet embroidery and she wore a matching headpiece. She carried a colonial nosegay of blue and white pompons.

The best man was Lloyd Hickbottom of Lockbourne Air Force Base, Columbus, O. The altar was decorated with white gladioli and pink roses.

Traditional music was played by Mrs. Louis Rosensteel, church organist and several vocal selections were sung by a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Marie Rosensteel. Ushers were Vernon E. MacCumber of Hagerstown and James Bowser, Cherry Point, N. C.

The bride's mother wore a lace gown with a floral pattern on beige and carried a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore silk organza and carried a corsage of yellow roses. Following the ceremony a reception for friends was given in the Knights of Columbus Social Hall, following which the couple left for an unknown destination. For her honeymoon dress, the bride chose a pink and white baby cord suit. Following the honeymoon, the couple will reside at Lockbourne Air Force Base, Columbus, O., where the bridegroom is stationed with the armed forces.

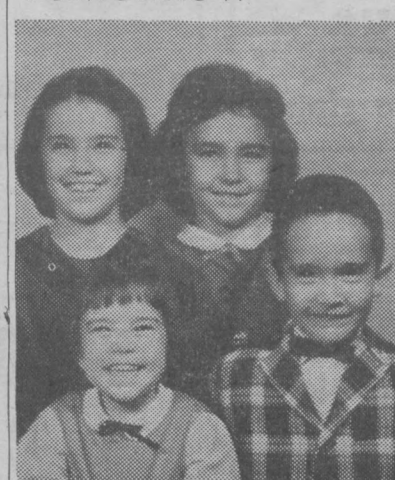

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School and attended Hagerstown Junior College. She presently is employed with the First National Bank of New York City. The bridegroom is a graduate of Thurmont High School and also attended the Hagerstown Junior College.

FARM SOLD

Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Jones have sold their 146-acre farm located along Rt. 76 near Motter's Station, to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Gregg of Gaithersburg. The farm is improved with a modern brick dwelling house overlooking a private lake, large cattle barn, loafing sheds, silo, and a number of other farm outbuildings.

It is one of the few remaining farms in the county which has been deeded only twice previously since 1900 and is better known as the Wetzel farm. Prior to its acquisition by Mr. and Mrs. Jones some twenty years ago it was owned by Mrs. Jones' parents and prior to that for many years by Mrs. Jones' grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Gregg plan to turn the farm into a beef operation. The sale of the farm was handled by R. L. Zentz, Real Estate Broker of Taneytown.

CITIZENS OF TOMORROW

Fractures Shoulder

James A. Pryor, 17, Emmitsburg, was treated last week at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, for a fracture of the left shoulder suffered while wrestling.

Msgr. Culhane Of Mount Faculty Dies After Illness

Right Reverend William F. Culhane, treasurer of Mt. St. Mary's College, died Thursday afternoon in York General Hospital after several weeks' illness. Funeral arrangements are incomplete but interment will be made from the college with burial in the college cemetery.

A native of Newton, Conn., Monsignor Culhane was educated in St. Peter's Parochial School, Danbury, Conn., St. Thomas Prep Seminary, Hartford, Conn., and entered Mount St. Mary's Prep School in 1914 and the college in 1915, receiving his A.B. degree from the college in 1919. He continued his studies in the Mount Seminary, receiving his M.A. degree in 1921 and was ordained in the college chapel in 1923 by Archbishop Michael J. Curley for the diocese of Mobile, Alabama.

Following his ordination he served at St. Rose Church, Belmar, N. Y., St. Andrew's Church, Montgomery, Ala., and The Cathedral in Mobile. He was appointed chancellor of the diocese and secretary to Bishop Allen of Mobile in 1924.

In 1925, at the invitation of Msgr. Bernard J. Bradley and the College Council, he returned to Mount St. Mary's where he taught classical and modern languages in the prep school and college. He attended Johns Hopkins University from 1931-1933, majoring in French. He continued to teach languages and philosophy in the college and served as moderator of the campus newspaper, director of dramatics and held almost all of the important elective offices of the college.

From 1926-1949 he served as secretary of the National Alumni Assn. From 1936 until 1937 he acted as dean of discipline. In 1939 he was elected vice president, a position which he held until 1961. Between 1941-1948 and 1952-1953 he served as treasurer, negotiating the important contracts under which the college trained Naval V-12 and V-5 officers. In 1958-1959 he acted as rector of the Mount Seminary.

In 1963 Monsignor Culhane was again elected treasurer of the college, continuing in that capacity until the present.

Until recently Msgr. Culhane carried a full teaching schedule and headed important administrative committees in connection with the $3,000,000 Development Program at the college.

Monsignor Culhane was honored by Pope Pius XII in 1954 by being named a domestic prelate with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor.

Two years ago the students from Connecticut in the Nutmeg Club at the college, presented him with the Distinguished Connecticut Alumnus Award for his nearly 50 years of service to Mt. St. Mary's College, her students, faculty, alumni and friends. The Connecticut Chapter of the National Alumni Assn. also held a testimonial dinner for him two years ago at which a host of distinguished guests and friends gathered to honor him.

PAY FINES

Two Taneytown men were arrested Monday night by Cumberland Twp. Policeman Bernard V. Miller Sr., on charges of throwing and breaking bottles in Marsh Creek. The two, Robert Franklin Shaffer, and James LeRoy Koons, paid fines of $50 each and costs before Justice of the Peace George Lambert.

Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stultz, Gettysburg, announce the birth of a daughter at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, on Saturday. Mrs. Stultz is the former Miss Betty Jean Topper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Topper, Emmitsburg.

Scouts Day Camp Scheduled For Kump's Dam Park

There will be a Girl Scout Day Camp held this summer at Kump's Dam July 27 to 30 and August 3 to 6 from 9:30 to 3:30. Registrations may be sent to the Frederick Girl Scout Field Station, Frederick Shopping Center, Frederick, until Friday, July 10. The total cost is $8.00 per girl, which includes bus transportation and the daily milk for lunch. Each camper takes her own bag lunch with her.

This is a new site for Day Camp and a different program from other years is planned for the Scouts. All are urged to attend.

Since camping in the Girl Scout Council of Central Maryland is partly financed by the annual Cookie Sale, the Scouts of Emmitsburg would like to take this opportunity to express their thanks to all who bought cookies during their recent sale, and to all those who helped in the sale itself.

Three troops participated in the sale. Junior Troop 405, with Mrs. Dorothy Culbreath as leader and Mrs. Patrick Stoner as the cookie chairman, sold 702 boxes of cookies. There were 22 girls from this troop who helped sell. Nineteen girls of Junior Troop 1487 sold 414 boxes. Mrs. Richard Dickson is their leader and Mrs. Katie Warthen served as their cookie chairman. Cadette Troop 1316, 12 girls participating, sold 372 boxes. Mrs. John Chatlos is the leader and Mrs. Oldrich Tokar was the cookie chairman. Mrs. Howard Turner served as the community cookie chairman and Mrs. Chatlos was the cupboard manager, where extra cartons of troops were available for the troops should they need them. Each troop received a profit of five cents per box sold for its own treasury and this helped all three troops immensely. Again, thank you for helping the Scouts in this annual endeavor.

Cards Lead Little League

The Red Sox stopped the Yanks, 8-4 Tuesday night in Emmitsburg Little League play. Dave Swomley was the winner, as the Sox rallied four four runs in the bottom of the fourth to nail down the verdict. M. McKenna homered for the losers. Mike Smith was the losing pitcher.

Monday night the first place Cardinals swamped the Giants, 33-3 as Hess and Wivell homered for the winners. The Cards, after failing to win a game in 1963, are now on top by two full games.

Wednesday evening the Cards nipped the Red Sox 10-9 to increase their first place lead.

Red Sox	3 5

Ellis Wachter Public Servant For 37 Years

Clerk of the Circuit Court Ellis C. Wachter Tuesday completed 37 years of public service. It was on July 1, 1927 that Mr. Wachter first reported to work at the Court House. He has been on the job there ever since.

He started as a deputy clerk performing such duties as recording deeds, mortgages, issuing marriage, angler and hunting licenses.

Following a nine-year period during which he served in every possible capacity in the Clerk's Office, Mr. Wachter was named Chief Deputy Clerk on February 17, 1936. On November 27 of 1936 he was appointed Clerk of the Court by the Judges of the Sixth Judicial Circuit to succeed the late Eli G. Haugh who died while in office.

Mr. Wachter, who will mark his 56th birthday on July 5, has been reelected to office in seven successive county elections.

Driver Charged

James W. Joy, 23, of Emmitsburg, was charged with failing to keep to right of center Saturday afternoon, Maryland State Police reported, after he ran off the roadway on Md. 97 while attempting to light a cigarette, then swerved to the left, hitting another car.

IMPORTANT LIBRARY MEETING SET

Wednesday, July 8, at 8:00 p.m. has been set as the date and time for the annual public meeting for all those who are interested in the work and activities of the Emmitsburg Public Library. Are you proud of Emmitsburg? Are you proud of your Library? Do you know that the Emmitsburg Public Library was the first public library in Frederick County? Do you know how the Library is financed? Do you know how the books are purchased? Do you know that there is such cooperation with C. Burr Artz Library and Enoch Pratt Library that you are able to get almost any book which you may desire just by requesting it at your own library? Do you know that the library is open every day except Sunday for your convenience? A library card is free, just for the asking.

Have you visited the library in its new location and seen the children's department, the youth section, the section for mystery stories, the non-fiction books? Much is waiting for you within the reach of your fingers. Hours of pleasure, enjoyment, travel, education, mystery and many other things lie between the covers of the books. Are you cheating yourself of these things?

The meeting on Wednesday will be held in the Library. Four members of the Board of Trustees are to be elected at this time. A report from the Chairman of the Board and from the Librarian will be given. Other matters may be discussed. You are welcome.

County Finances Are Discussed

When the Frederick County Commissioners conferred with local State Delegates and with State Senator John A. Derr on a state roads priority list Monday afternoon, they used the opportunity to also discuss the county's financial situation in regard to the construction of any more new schools here.

The Commissioners presented a complete statement on the present financial condition of the county to the State Legislators and concluded that Frederick County was essentially "in very good financial condition."

Then they presented a complete statement on the county's present bonded indebtedness, noting that the general obligation bonds of the county now outstanding are "considerably less than ten per cent of the total assessable tax base."

No requests were made by the Commissioners at this conference for the State Legislators to endorse or support any future bonded indebtedness at this time, the Commissioners said after the meeting.

However, one of the State Legislators said that the Commissioners apparently do intend to ask eventually for authorization of a relatively small bond issue of $2,000,000 purely for funds to complete the equipment of the high schools and elementary schools already under construction in this county.

The "First Phase" of the Frederick County school construction program will be completed with the construction and equipment of the Thomas Johnson High School in Frederick, the new Brunswick High School, the Sabillasville School and the Carroll Manor School at Adamstown, it was pointed out.

The new consolidated north county high school for which the County Board has already approved land located just north of Thurmont and any new redistricted consolidated elementary school to eventually replace the Burkittsville School and the Jefferson School and to relieve overcrowding at the Middletown Elementary School are both included as parts of the "Second Phase" of the school construction program here, which does not come under the current bonding program.

The new Superintendent of Schools, Dr. John L. Carnochan, has indicated that he would like to put this "Second Phase" on a "pay-as-you-go" basis each year if possible instead of depending on more bond issues and increased indebtedness.

A State Delegate indicated on leaving the joint meeting that this would require an entire revamping of the school construction program, particularly in the field of architectural planning costs, not just eliminating the frills but cutting down the basic costs of school planning and construction.

It's impossible to dislike some people, and I wish I were one of them.

Youth Center Appeals To Many Local Youngsters

The Emmitsburg Youth Center has completed its second week of operation and the program has been well received by the teenagers of the community. From forty to fifty members take part in the program nightly and on occasion, there have been nearly seventy members participating in the organization's nightly program.

A new system of elimination tournaments has been inaugurated in pool, badminton, and table tennis. Thirty-two entries will compete in a single elimination tournament in each of the three sports over a two-week period. The winner of the tournament will receive a trophy, and points toward becoming the high point winner for the summer season. The member with the highest cumulative points will be honored at the end of the present season.

Leagues in softball are played nightly on the playing field behind St. Joseph's High School, which is being restored by the members of the group. The boys' league competes on Monday and Wednesday evenings, and the girls' league on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Teams in volleyball are being organized and the league will begin soon.

This evening, a movie will be shown in the clubhouse at 7:30 o'clock. Tomorrow evening, a dance will be held in the clubhouse, open to all.

Several adults are needed for the organization and supervision of this worthwhile program. Any adult who is interested in helping the teenagers of the community are asked to contact their pastor.

Asst. Assessor To Be Named

Results of examinations administered to local men interested in being appointed assessor's aide for the county were announced Tuesday in a letter from Albert W. Ward, director of the State Department of Assessment and Taxation to the Frederick County Commissioners.

The names of the men were listed in order by the grade on their examination, however, the Commissioners are not required by law to follow the order in naming the new aide. The appointee will be named within the next few days, the Commissioners said.

Listed are the applicants for the job in the order in which they finished on the examination: Burton M. Creager, Frederick; Grover Shaff, Jefferson; J. Allen Bouey, Emmitsburg; Clyde W. Beard, Woodboro; Stanley V. Gaver, Grove Hill; Harry Finneyfrock, R6, Frederick; John I. Ramsburg, Frederick; Maurice Lee Dade, Jefferson and Arthur Lee Crum, Walkersville.

MRS. BURT L. HALL

Mrs. Juliana Rhein Hall, 79, wife of Burt L. Hall, R1, Emmitsburg, died at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Monday at 2:20 p.m. She was born in Waterford, N. Y., a daughter of the late Charles and Mary Mayer Rhein. She was a retired school teacher, member of St. Anthony's Shrine Catholic Church, Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and was formerly a member of Cathedral Parish, Raleigh, N. C.

In addition to her husband, surviving are one son and one daughter, Burt J. Hall, Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Ann Hall Marshall, R1, Emmitsburg; fifteen grandchildren and three sisters, Miss M. C. Rhein, Albany, N. Y.; Miss Cecile A. Rhein and Mrs. Frank Reisinger, both of Schenectady, N. Y.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning with a requiem mass at 10 o'clock in St. Anthony's Shrine Catholic Church, Rev. Fr. Vincent Tomalski, officiating. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Waterford, N. Y.

GUIDANCE OFFICE OPEN

The guidance office at Emmitsburg High School will be open from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. today thru July 15th. Parents, students, and former students are invited to drop in at the school during the hours mentioned if they wish to discuss educational plans, course selection, or school progress. College catalogs, guidance pamphlets, and other educational materials may be borrowed from the guidance office.

Most of us get what is coming to us, but often what we get isn't just what we expect.

NOW: LP BULK SERVICE

We are Proud to Have Been Able to Bring This Modern Gas Service to This Area! We Have Faith and Confidence in the Economic Future of this Area!

OBSERVING OUR 53RD YEAR;

31 YEARS IN THE BOTTLED GAS BUSINESS

Francis S. K. Matthews, dean of Emmitsburg businessmen is currently observing his 53rd anniversary of being in business here.

The well-known local businessman was named after the famous Francis Scott Key, composer of our National Anthem. Born on Sept. 25, 1888, at nearby Deerfield, Md., now called Lantz, he first entered business here on February 11, 1911. He has remained at the original location ever since—over half a century. He married the former Jesse Rouzer of Thurmont in 1917 and of this union one daughter, Mary Jean, now Mrs. Earl Rice, was born.

The business, in its infancy, originally was dedicated to making home-made ice cream. Two years later, an allied line was added, necessitating expansion of the plant. This line was the manufacture of soda pop. Restless and eager to continue improving and expanding the business, Mr. Matthews entered the wholesale candy business in 1920. A few years later he added furniture and appliances.

Keeping abreast of the times and the community's needs, the industrious owner added television. Mr. Matthews likes to recall that the first TV set he sold here was to a member of the Grace family, of steamship fame, who was then a student at Mt. St. Mary's College.

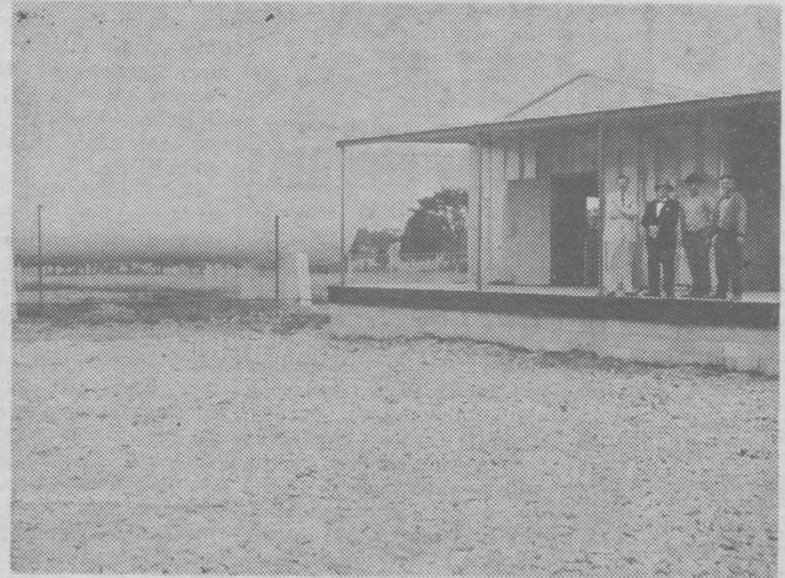

Not content to rest on his laurels and eager to keep branching out he entered the Happy Cooking Bottled Gas to his list of services and products. This was 30 years ago. Today his concern serves at least six counties in several states with this modern bottled gas and is proud to announce the recent construction of a modern bulk plant about a mile north of town on old Rt. 15. The company operates a fleet of four modern trucks.

As is true with most growing and progressive concerns, the owner had a secret desire which he nurtured for a number of years. This desire was to grow, and as a result, a new and modern branch of the business was opened in Thurmont in 1954 and continues to flourish there. A shrewd merchandiser and businessman, Mr. Matthews saw the need for remodeling his Emmitsburg store and in 1959 the present establishment underwent extensive remodeling, as was the adjacent storeroom now occupied by Zurgable Brothers.

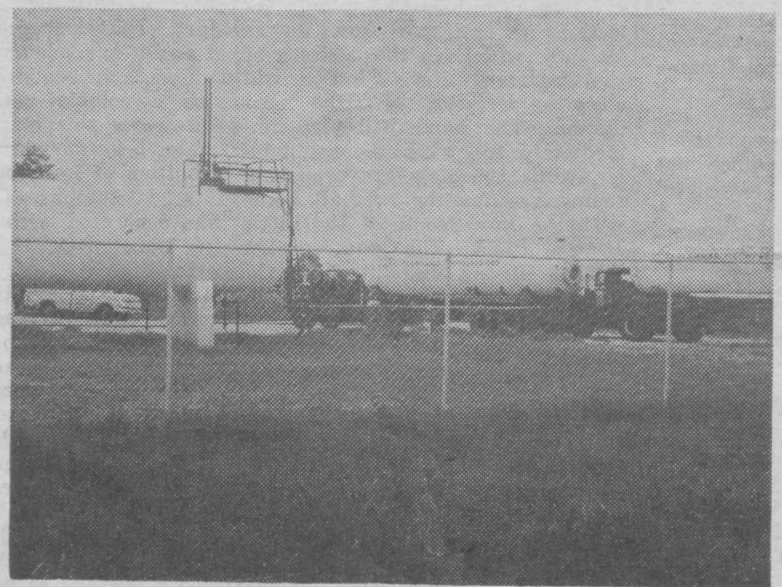

A stickler for name brands and nationally advertised products, Mr. Matthews handles these famous brands of appliances: RCA and GE television sets and radios; a complete line of RCA ranges, stoves, gas heaters; Caloric ranges; General Electric sweepers, International Furniture and Westinghouse, General Electric and Fedders air-conditioners.

In spite of his confining business duties, Mr. Matthews finds time to attend the Methodist Church regularly, attends Lions Club, of which he is a charter member, and for a number of years was a Town Councilman. In addition he is a member of the Masonic Lodge and is an honorary member of the Vigilant Hose Co.

Enjoying excellent health for his age, Mr. Matthews manages the Thurmont Store by himself and continues to operate his expanded business efficiently and intelligently, besides taking an active part in community affairs.

100 YEARS AGO

SHERMAN LOSES BATTLE
BUT TAKES MARIETTA

By Lon K. Savage

Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman stood on a cleared mountain top in Georgia 100 years ago this week, looking southeastward toward Kenesaw Mountain and, beyond that, the city of Marietta.

There had been three weeks of rain and three weeks of fighting in that area with little important effect, but now Sherman was determined to break through the line of Joseph E. Johnston's Confederate army which was defending Atlanta.

At 9 a.m. that day, June 27, Sherman's army of 100,000 moved out into an assault, as artillery and musket fire boomed along a 10-mile front.

Johnston had taken a strong position, with trenches running from Kenesaw Mountain southwestward to Nose's Creek and Olley Creek, and there appeared no way to crack the line except by hitting it directly.

Attack Fails

Gen. James B. McPherson's men led the attack on Johnston's position at Little Kenesaw Mountain, and they were turned back. After fighting their way up the face of the mountain, they were halted before reaching the summit.

A mile farther along the line, George H. Thomas, the "Rock of Chickamauga," led another assault up the mountain but was turned back under heavy fire at the parapet. By 11:30 a.m., Sherman wrote later, "the assault was in fact over, and had failed."

Sherman's army had lost 2,500 men, including two generals (one of them Daniel McCook, Sherman's old law partner), while Johnston had lost only 800. But the battle proved to be no serious setback for the Federals.

For while it was being fought, Gen. George W. Schofield of Sherman's army had crossed Olley Creek to the south and had established a bridgehead. Capitalizing on this, Sherman ordered a general movement through Schofield's position to flank Johnston's line.

Johnston Withdraws

But Johnston detected the movement before it got started and ordered his troops to withdraw. On July 3, Sherman watched through a spyglass as his men crept cautiously up Kenesaw Mountain, then stood at the summit, then ran along the abandoned Confederate lines.

Next day, Independence Day for the United States of America, Sherman entered Marietta, only 15 miles from Atlanta. Johnston waited in new lines along the Chattahooche River, half way between the two cities. Atlanta was in danger, but it was not lost.

Next week: Jubal Early invades the North.

would hardly insist that either of these visions has become reality.

Some scattered results in desegregation, although rather meager statistically, have been recorded. Forced by court orders, backed by bayonets in a few instances, some 32 of the South's 292 public colleges and universities are reported to have admitted Negro students. However, 9 out of 10 Negro elementary and high school students in the South attend schools that are segregated. Meanwhile, in the North many communities have experienced patterns of change leading more toward segregation than away from it. Whether we have advanced the nation's total well-being is a difficult question.

Gains And Losses

State laws already on the books against discrimination have probably not changed the views of many people nor have resulted in uniform treatment in human relations. Laws against disturbing the peace and riots have certainly not prevented that kind of lawlessness. It would therefore seem a vain hope for any of us to suppose that passage of civil rights legislation would bring in the utopia of peace and harmony that we seek.

That the Supreme Court decision of 1954 has failed to bring a uniform paradise of educational opportunity may have disillusioned some people. We wonder if any law can really ever settle issues so emotionally charged as those related to race. It has been time, those ten years, for reflection upon the moral issues involved and upon whether we are mature enough to seek judicial remedy. These factors of legality and morality could have been tested more adequately if so much tragic violence had not been brought into play.

The Mobs Not The Way

What now of the "civil rights" legislation pending? At this writing leaders in Congress are saying, perhaps more to reassure voters than themselves, that some form of bill will be passed. Even if the bill is only advance payment of political tribute in an election year, no one should expect this kind of legislation to do more than remind us that America does have a philosophy on public and civil rights that is made formal by access to the courts. If, with this bill or without it, all Americans could put away strife and disorder (both violent and non-violent) the prospects for the next decade could be very bright indeed.

Agitations, demonstrations, inflammatory speeches, and street disturbances will lead inevitably to destruction of life and property. Bombings and murders are not in the true American spirit of peaceful, orderly observance of law. Mobs on the streets that cannot wait for orderly legal processes are not the answer. Violating local laws to achieve notoriety or dramatic news play is wrong. While these practices intensify feelings and emotions, they do very little for men's minds. As much as possible, we ought to learn to act through reason, after discussion, or because of persuasion.

False Hopes Raised

After all, conformity achieved through use of force and coercive attack is unsound. Men respect law and obey it through reason and understanding, not superior propaganda or political dealing. That men have the right to freedom of association on the basis of individual qualities, likes and dislikes, must be recognized. Whether these matters involve race, religion, or whatnot, they are determined to a great extent by those directly concerned. The preferences, habits, and feelings of men are not easily changed. Those who expect miracles from a "civil rights" bill may be doomed to disappointment.

Besides containing provisions that may prove to be unconstitutional, the bill is a patch-work of conflicts with existing state and federal law. Its provisions for vast federal control over almost everyone (not just restaurant and hotel owners) are not generally known by the public. It would take a decade of court testing to find out how to interpret the law. It is a bill that is not calculated to make the next decade any more peaceful than the violent decade we have just completed.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

Traveling By Air

By Molly Bosman

Chief Stewardess

KLM Royal Dutch Airlines

With the summer travel season approaching, many young mothers soon will be taking baby on his first vacation trip—by air.

Most major airlines maintain extensive facilities for baby's travel comfort and mothers will find that a trip by air with baby can be both simple and pleasant. Babies travel very well by air and since the trips are quick, many of the stresses and problems of long journeys are eliminated.

To take full advantage of an airline's baby facilities, let the reservation clerk know, when you buy your tickets, that you will have your baby with you. An infant under two years of age travels for ten per cent of the adult fare, unless you want to reserve a seat just for him, at 50 per cent of the regular fare.

Baby's traveling basket, diapers, blankets and other necessary items are carried free of charge and are not included in the weight of your baggage. On many flights the airline will supply, without charge, a hanging basket which can be suspended above your seat. These should be reserved when you purchase your tickets.

Food for baby aboard an aircraft also is provided by the airline, although not every brand is stocked. Most aircraft carry, aluminous and whole milk, supplies of strained vegetables, fruits and cereals and baby crackers. The stewardess will be glad to have food ready for your baby if you will inform her of baby's feeding schedule.

TIPS FROM THE TACKLE
BOXby
B. F. GLADDINGSecret Weapon
For Fly Fishermen

THERE ARE TIMES when fish aren't interested in flies, yet you can still stir up action if you tote along a few of the tiny metal lures now made for ultra light spinning. These miniature lures are deadly fish getters, yet so light that they handle easily on a fly rod. You can cast and retrieve them as you would a streamer or wet fly, but it's even better to let the current do the job for you. Here's how.

Wade to mid stream at the head of any long, bouncing run, and start working your lure against the current directly below you. Give it a series of short twitches, then pay out a few feet of line and repeat. Continue the process for as far as the current will carry your lure. This may be the full length of your fly line, plus considerable backing. Let the lure down the run very slowly, twitching it at least a dozen times in each spot before feeding the next bit of slack.

This presentation achieves the ultimate in temptation for unique reasons. Normally you must provoke fish into chasing after a lure, but note that here the reverse is true. Since fish face upstream, they see your struggling lure gradually swept closer by the current, and this seemingly happy circumstance promptly arouses their predatory instinct. They wait expectantly until your lure is carried practically into their maw—and then wham! It's a very neat gambit, and you'll find that plenty of sophisticated fish will fall for it when you add it to your bag of tricks.

These midge lures are great for fly rod trolling, early season fishing and other needs. They're better insurance than the traditional can of worms, so tuck a few in your fishing vest the next time you go fishing.

Any fishing questions? Send them to me, in care of this newspaper.

Airliners also carry a special "baby box" for your convenience. It contains oil, ointment, powder, baby soap and other essentials. Sterilized water is available on most flights and the galley is equipped to store formulas under refrigeration and to heat them when needed. It is advisable to prepare your own formula at home and give it to the stewardess on boarding the plane.

When an aircraft takes off or descends, it is quite normal to feel slight pressure in your ears, even on pressurized planes. Your baby may react quite naturally and start to cry. By giving him something to drink, he will swallow automatically and relieve the pressure. It is not advisable to put cotton in baby's ears on a flight.

Airline stewardesses will do everything possible to make your baby's first trip by air comfortable and pleasant.

Read Galatians 3:19-29. If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed. (John 8:36.)

When the traffic light fails at busy intersection, one sees vehicles lined up in all directions. Cars inch forward, no driver sure of what others are going to do. There are near collisions. Brakes screech. After watching something like this, or being in the midst of this kind of a traffic jam, we complain less about traffic lights.

Freedom in everyday life means adjustment and harmony with rational laws and regulations. It is quite as true in our relationship with God. Living apart from Him may give the illusion of liberty, but such independence really curtails our freedom and self-fulfillment. To come to the best in life, we need the direction and guidance that God gives us through Christ.

We have the greatest liberty in our lives when we walk with God, responding to Him as He speaks to us through His Word and in the urgings of our conscience.

Prayer

Father, forgive us rebelling against Thee. Teach us that harmony in our spiritual life and poise in dealing with others comes when we are in close relationship with Thee. May we walk with Thee today. In Christ's name. Amen.

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH

Tetanus

Tetanus is one of the most dangerous diseases that can strike a human being.

No antibiotic or other drug can halt a full-blown case, and about 60 per cent of those afflicted by the disease die.

Yet by means of immunization, tetanus is almost completely preventable.

The seeds, or spores, of tetanus can be found in the cultivated soils of most areas of the United States. They can be picked up by plants or animals, and introduced into the victim's body by something as seemingly inconsequential as the scratch of a thorn or insect bite.

Once they enter the body, these spores "hatch" into tiny, microscopic bacteria, which begin to multiply. In the process, they liberate one of the deadliest of all poisons which attacks the nerve centers causing convulsions and muscle spasms—some so severe that victims have been known to fracture a vertebra.

Usually the first nerves affected are those of the head and neck which control the chewing muscles. These turn rigid with spasm, giving the disease its familiar name—lockjaw.

In a clean, free-bleeding cut any tetanus spores which might contaminate the wound are usually washed out. Or if they do sprout into bacteria, the micro-organisms may be destroyed by oxygen in the blood.

But when blood flow is slight, as in deep puncture or crushing wounds, or when the spores are insulated by imbedded dirt and debris, the tetanus bacteria, may gain a deadly foothold within the body. This is because tetanus bacteria thrive in the absence of air.

While millions of babies and members of the armed forces have been inoculated against tetanus, the fact remains that about three-fourths of the adult population is lacking in immunity. The reason is that the protection offered by immunization wears off after several years, and must be re-established by "booster" shots, which most people fail to get.

Protection should start early—one and a half to two months after birth—for the scrapes and falls of childhood offer tetanus many opportunities. In children, as well as adults, immunity is initiated by a series of three shots, spaced out over eight weeks, and followed by a booster dose within six to twelve months. Thereafter, immunity is maintained by booster shots every five years.

With the new emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase and with the spores of tetanus in the dust and dirt all about us, we can only look forward to an increase in this deadly disease unless we make the effort to get immunized and keep immunized.

Horse Show Scheduled Sunday In Frederick

The Frederick Junior Chamber of Commerce will co-sponsor with the New Market Hounds Hunt Club a one-day all-class horse show to be held at the Frederick Shopping Center on July 5. The show is registered with the Maryland Horse Show Association.

Utilizing two rings and an outside course, the event will feature 56 classes. In the Pony category, divisions include Small, Medium, Large and Novice. A special Junior division will be held for horses ridden by those who have not reached their eighteenth birthday. The aforementioned divisions will include Hack, Hunter, Handy Hunter, Open Jumper, and Knock Down and Out classes. Twenty Hunter and various Jumper and Equitation classes will be shown during the meet.

Prizes will be awarded in each class. The first four winners will receive monetary awards and ribbons. In the Equitation, Children's, and Novice Pony classes, trophies will be presented to the first place winner.

Participants are expected from many parts of Maryland as well as Pennsylvania, Virginia, New Jersey, Delaware, Washington, D. C., and West Virginia. The show will start promptly at 9:00 a.m., after registrations for classes. Food and refreshments will be served by the Frederick Jaycee Wives throughout the day on the show grounds.

Colleges Receive Loans

Congressman Carlton R. Sickles, (D-Md), announced this week two important federal loan awards to Maryland Colleges, the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, and the Hood College in Frederick. Congressman Sickles revealed that a federal loan of $850,000 to John Hopkins will enable the University to purchase and renovate the Greenway Apartments at 3401 N. Charles Street, Baltimore, for student housing.

At the same time, Hood College has received a federal loan of $585,000 to build a new Women's Residence Hall, with completion expected in about 15 months.

Both awards were made under the College Housing Loan Program of the Housing and Home Finance Agency Community Facilities Administration, Congressman Sickles said.

AN EYE TO SURVIVAL

Survival of the fittest was the law of Stone Age man. And the fittest to survive was often the one with the sharpest eyes. It was just too bad for the cave man with poor eyesight—he died of starvation or was killed by a scavenging animal.

Then, nothing could be done to correct vision. Today, however, optometric eye care is an art and a science. It has come a long way in its short history. The old "ten minute eye test" is already a thing of the past—replaced by a complete visual analysis requiring some 45 minutes.

The American Optometric Association suggests that when you need your eyes tested you choose a licensed, ethical optometrist. He'll use various instruments and techniques to determine the condition of your eyes and their proper visual function. The caveman may be gone, but many times survival still depends on your ability to see clearly.

You And Your Child

MEALTIME

Many youngsters go through a period of picky eating habits. Threatening or punishing your child for his lack of appetite, however, can make everything seem tasteless to him.

To tempt a wandering appetite, serve the foods your child likes best . . . slowly adding new foods to his diet. But never serve more than he will eat.

To help "picky" eaters get necessary vitamins, try new supplements, such as Viterra Tastitabs, which have been specially developed for children. They are chewable and taste like candy. Children love them.

ORIOLE PERSONALITIES

There's not one investor anywhere in the capitalistic United States who would not love to see the value of his stocks rise as much in three weeks as Jerry Adair's batting average did recently — 95 points.

The first two months of the season for the Baltimore Oriole second baseman have resembled a climb to the heights of prosperity, a drop to the depths of despair and then a climb up again. This pace has been somewhat different from Adair's established pattern of past seasons, which was to start slowly and not pick up momentum until mid-season.

For the time being, the blonde Oklahoman has been hovering around the .275-.300 level, which marks a surprisingly good start for him at this time of the season.
"This is the best start I've had in six years as a pro", Adair pointed out. "Even when I was playing in the minors, at Ardmore (Texas League) and Miami (International League), it was that way. Shucks, I don't know what the answer is or why I'm hitting the ball so well as this time of the season, but I hope it keeps

JERRY ADAIR

up." The first few weeks Jerry hit the ball solidly, but then the base-hits suddenly stopped falling and his average began to shrink. By the third week in May, his average was down to .195 and he lost the starting job to Bob Johnson, who was returning to action after missing two weeks because of a broken nose.

For 10 games he was relegated to the bench, not even making a single appearance. Meanwhile, Johnson encountered some difficulty in regaining his batting eye and his average likewise suffered.
When the club headed westward near the end of the month on a long road trip, Manager Hank Bauer yanked Johnson and reinstalled Adair in the line up.

What happened over the next three weeks was Adair's hottest hitting streak in two years as he lashed out 35 hits in 37 appearances . . . a .402 gait . . . to lift his average to .295, before dropping off slightly.

To look at Adair, 6'1 and 185 pounds, it's easy to get the idea he is not too durable because of his slight build. But during the past several weeks, when his bat was white hot, he played with a couple of injuries which might have forced other players to the sidelines.

In a game at Boston, Adair hit a ball off the calf of his left leg which raised a silver-dollar sized hickory and an ugly black, blue and yellow discoloration. He claimed the injury did not bother him, but it's impossible to conceive it did not cause some discomfort. A few days later, in the early moments of the first game in a twilight-night doubleheader, a throw from the catcher skipped off the infield grass and caught him flush on the lower lip.

Following a quick trip to a nearby hospital, where 11 stitches were needed to sew up the gash, Jerry returned to Memorial Stadium in time to be in the starting line-up of the second game . . . much to the amazement of 24,000 fans.

Adair was signed by the Orioles just a few days before he was to start his senior year at Oklahoma State University, where he was a starter on the basketball team and a second-team All American baseball player his junior year.

"Dick Howser (now with the Indians) beat me out for the first team shortstop," Jerry recalls. "I still can't figure that out because I outthit and outfielded him," he said with a trace of smile which indicated he was harboring no ill feelings about the selection.

He was originally signed as a shortstop, but Manager Paul Richards switched him to second base in the Spring of 1961 and Jerry feels it's the best thing that ever happened to his career.

"Richards moved me to second after Ron Hansen had his great season in 1960," Jerry noted. "I'm glad I made the move because second base is easier to play than shortstop. The only difficult part about playing second is making the pivot on the doubleplay, but I never had much trouble with that."

Many American League observers feel the 27-year-old Adair, whose fielding has been superb all year, makes the doubleplay as well as any second baseman in the league.

Jerry did not return to school after signing with the Orioles and still needs to complete 32 hours to get his degree. He majored in physical education and has given thought to eventually resuming his studies, picking up his degree and then getting into coaching, but it depends upon what happens with his baseball career.

"Something else might turn up when I'm finished with baseball," he said, "but if it doesn't, then I'd like to get my degree and coach basketball."

Basketball? Instead of baseball?

Adair's explanation is simple:
He enjoys basketball as much as baseball, and basketball is a better scholastic sport than baseball.

Adair and his high school sweetheart, Kay, were married in the summer of 1957. They are the parents of three daughters, Kathy (6), Judy (4), and Tammy Lee
(1), and live year-round in Baltimore, a short distance from Memorial Stadium.

you stow them for the long wait
'til next season. They'll keep sharp without rusting.

Bullheaded

Time comes when bullheads can be caught over weed beds. But bait gets lost in weeds! Solve that problem with this rig. Tie sinker to end of line. Three feet up, tie hook on a two-foot leader line.
Split a cork half way and attach near hook. Line goes to bottom but cork keeps bait in the clear.
Bullheads bite.

Blaze A Trail

Christmas tree "snow" spray makes an easy trail blaze. Carry it in pressurized can. A finger push marks the way home.

Brick Fire

Don't forget some cold spring day, a brick soaked in kerosene will burn for several hours.

Night Sight

If you have to use a gun at night and don't have time (or don't want) to paint your front sight, wrap the tin foil from a cigarette pack around it.

Rotisserie Wire

Fix a wire from a tree or roof

Quick Macaroni Dish

Macaroni can be cooked "in its own sauce" with this simple recipe for one of America's favorite dishes. Serve it with green beans and sliced beets, or with a mixed green salad.

QUICK MACARONI

2 cups (7 or 8 oz.) uncooked elbow macaroni
1/2 cup corn oil
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 1/2 cups tomato juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons Lea & Perrins'
Worcestershire Sauce

Put macaroni in a sauce pan with corn oil. Add onion, green pepper and garlic. Stir and cook over low heat until macaroni turns slightly yellow.
Add tomato juice, salt, pepper and Worcestershire Sauce. Bring to a boil over high heat. Cover. Reduce heat to low. Cook 20 minutes without stirring.

projection directly over your barbecue pit or camp fire. Now suspend roasts, chops, etc. on wire.
They'll naturally twist around and around in heat and you don't have to stand there and turn them.

Great Balls Of Cheese

Carry balls of dried cheese wrapped in creese cloth. Next time fishing gets slow, bait up and fish the bottom deep. You might be surprised.

Crow Decoys

You can make fair crow decoys from old black socks. In blind area, stuff socks with leaves or grass and shape roughly to resemble crow's silhouette.

Red Flag For Pike

One of the best lures for pickerel or pike is the old standby: A strip of red flannel underwear on a bare hook. If you don't want to cut up your drawers, a strip out of your pocket bandana will do.

Fireworks Banned; Fines Increased

Penalties for violation of State fireworks statutes are increased as of July 1, 1964, according to the State Fire Marshal's Office. Possible penalties for possession or discharge of fireworks without permit is increased from $50 to $250 for each offense. Penalties for illegal sales are increased from $200 to $1000. These changes were made in an effort to reduce the illegal sale and use of these items.

The State Fire Marshal's Office feels that violations of fireworks laws are causing injury rates to rise. Maryland law, which prohibits the use, possession or sale of fireworks with the exception of licensed displays, is being violated in many instances by the importing of fireworks from out of State.

Persons who cross the State line into Maryland with fireworks for illegal sale or use are also in violation of Federal Statutes.

Records reveal that injuries increased on the Fourth of July in 1963 in comparison with 1962. The State Fire Marshal's Office hopes this trend will be reversed. Generally, National injury figures have decreased since the 1930s when many states passed laws prohibiting public sale and use of fireworks. Prior to that time the annual toll was approximately 200 deaths and 5,000 injuries.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses True Purpose Of The Sabbath BABSON PARK, Mass., July 2, 1964—Nothing demonstrates more clearly the materialistic world which America is becoming than our misuse of the Sabbath. Instead of using this day for spiritual regeneration, we all too often try to cram into the hours between sun-up and bedtime all the worldly activities followed on a holiday or a day of vacation. Sunday Commerce Riding High In a great many areas of the country, supermarkets and department stores, realty offices and nurseries, nearly all types of retail outlets, are open and doing a big business on Sunday. This is especially true in the Mountain and Pacific Coast states, where the almighty dollar is pursued even more avidly than it is in my own New England. Here, Blue Laws still put some curbs on Sunday selling.

I have talked with many merchants and service workers in various sections of the country who support the idea of Sunday business. For the most part, they speak of today's intense competition and claim that staying open on Sunday means the difference between profit and loss. They say that selling on the Sabbath has resulted from changing times and attitudes. In essence, the consequens among such operators is that Sunday selling is a matter of survival.

How It Came About Many readers can probably remember the days during the war when the old 5-to-9 business pattern began to change. Defense workers on round-the-clock schedules flocked to stores that first started to stay open evenings. Next came the exodus out of the cities and into Suburbia, bringing with it a post-war transformation in consumer buying habits. People preferred to stay at home and shop in the suburbs, especially where retailers kept open evenings.

The rat-race for the consumer dollar then developed such rivalry, both in cities and in rural communities, that the next move from evening openings to Sunday openings seemed almost natural to buyers still following with the emergency conditions that prevailed during the war. Even Sunday Blue Laws, where they existed, were woefully weak or got only token enforcement. To me this mistreatment of the Lord's Day seems deplorable, and I will try to explain why I feel this way.

Why I Think It Should Be Stopped If any proof is needed to reveal how worldly our culture has become, it is the very fact that so many of our good citizens favor Sunday business. Just recall how many cultures throughout history were destroyed because spiritual development was neglected,—then ignored. Some people were shocked a few years ago when I expressed my feeling against the matter of Sabbath selling, but if shocking them will make them think about it some more, I am willing—and proud—to repeat what I said: The place for us and for our families on the Sabbath is in the Lord's House, not in a Discount House.

Our labor leaders and many progressive employers have helped us shorten our working hours radically in recent years; so our time for leisure is greater than ever. Should we not then be able to find time on the Biblical Day of Rest to reflect upon matters of the spirit, upon morality, upon simple right and wrong? I say we should. Parents, educators, and law enforcement authorities—all of whom work with young people—are concerned with maladjustment symptoms like juvenile delinquency, divorce, dishonesty, even disregard for human life. I say that many of these problems would be prevented if Sunday were used by the family for renewing spiritual standards and deepening basic values. Let The Church Orient Your Home

We all need a philosophy of life that brings a sharper focus on the needs of others, and less on our own wants. Your church will help you and your family develop working standards of right and wrong. It may be cruel to say, but I'm afraid that most of our youth are what their homes have made them. Right here is where the church must come in strong. In the church of your choice and in the church-inspired home are the places where the average young man or woman is going to build sound moral and spiritual fiber. In conclusion, let me say that I fear Sunday businessmen may be creating more spiritual losses than material gains.

To Hold July 4th Program In Baltimore

Memorial Stadium in Baltimore has been the scene of various types of entertainment over the past ten years, but the program on the Fourth of July—ranging from baseball to music to the reenactment of a Civil War raid and finishing up with fireworks—figures to surpass any show ever presented there.

Starting with baseball at 5:30 p.m., when the Orioles tangle with the colorful and explosive Kansas City Athletics, there will be a continuous program of entertainment expected to last nearly five hours. Master of ceremonies for the evening will be Al Stevens, a local radio personality.

Co-sponsoring the gala Independence Day spectacular, as in past years, are the Orioles and the Greater Northeast Baltimore Association.

Following the Oriole - Athletics game, the playing field will be taken over by the 123-member Mt. Carmel, Pa. High School Band—one of the foremost scholastic musical aggregations on the East Coast. The Mounties, under the direction of Paul P. Semicek, are no strangers to Baltimoreans. The band has performed in Baltimore twice within the past year—during a Colt football game at the Stadium last fall and then again several weeks ago at Pimlico Race Course prior to the running of the Preakness.

To give the audience a chance to participate in the festivities, an old-fashioned sing-a-long has been included in the program. With the Baltimore Concert Band supplying the music and Jim Mitchell serving as song leader, fans will be invited to join in on a number of familiar tunes.

After the group sing and introduction of Greater Northeast Baltimore Assoc. officials, the audience will be whisked 100 years back through history to July 9, 1864, and a re-enactment of Confederate raider Harry Gilmore's attempted assault on Baltimore on that date.

The re-creation, replete with cannon, horses and smoke bombs, will be staged by some 400 Civil War buffs from all over the Eastern part of the country. The mock attack will be organized and sponsored by Maryland Line, C.S.A., a Baltimore organization interested in perpetuating the Civil War era.

As a cover of darkness descends upon the stadium, fans will be treated to a gigantic fireworks display scheduled to begin promptly at 9:15 p.m. The one-half hour display, which has become a customary part of the Independence Day celebration in Baltimore, features an elaborate ground array visible only from within the stadium.

Those attending the Oriole-Athletics game are invited to remain for the entire program, while those coming for the post game program will be admitted after 7 p.m. Admission will be $.50 for adults and $.25 for children.

Proceeds from the program will be turned over by the Greater Northeast Baltimore Association to various Baltimore charities.

If the owners of the stock market advisory services were really smart, they would be rich and contented, instead of begging me to take a trial subscription at ten bucks for three months.

—BRING THE FAMILY—

Who Speaks The Truth About The Pope?

Shall we take the word of 20th-century critics who scoff at the Holy Father and deny that he is the Vicar of Christ?

Or shall we believe the New Testament and the clear testimony of scholars dating back to the first century of Christendom?

Catholics believe that the primacy of Peter is clearly established in the words of Jesus: "...thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church ...and I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven." It is a fact of history...also confirmed by the Bible...that the other Apostles accepted Peter as their head.

Some who reject this view say Peter was not the first Bishop of Rome, which is historically an office held only by the Pope. Others assert Peter was never in Rome. Yet Eusebius, faithful chronicler of many of the events of the second century, wrote: "Peter the Apostle, the first Pontiff of the Christians, when he had first founded the church at Antioch, proceeds to Rome, where, preaching the Gospel, he continues 25 years as Bishop of that city." Peter himself established his presence in Rome in his very first Epistle, which closed with the greeting: "The Church which is in Babylon (Rome) salutes you."

Those who would deny the apostolic origin of the Catholic Church, and the succession of the Popes, can find no support for their view in the writings of the early-century Christians. In contrast, St. Irenaeus, Bishop of Lyons, who died in the year 202, wrote: "We must obey those in the Church who have true succession from the Apostles, for with their episcopal succession, they have received the gift of certainty in the truth according to God's will." Third-century scholars Tertullian and St. Cyprian were equally firm in calling upon Christians to "hear the Church."

The Church, according to the New Testament, was to be a visible thing—an organized society. This is evidenced by Peter's instructions to the Christian presbyters of Asia Minor to "...tend the flock of God which is among you" (1 Pet. 5:12); also St. Paul's address to the presbyters of Ephesus: "Take heed to yourselves and to the whole flock in which the Holy Spirit has placed you as bishops..."

If you would like to know the truth about the Popes from Peter to John XXIII...how the Papacy has survived through nearly 2,000 years against powerful enemies who sought to destroy it...why an overwhelming majority of Christians throughout the world regard the Holy Father as the duly appointed Vicar of Christ on earth—write today for our pamphlet: "A Short Story of the Popes." It will be sent free upon your request. Nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet No. KC-11.

"NOW THEY SEE THE WAY"

BY DICK MANSFIELD

The Fourth of July holiday weekend is fast approaching and everyone will be anxious to celebrate the "Glorious Fourth". Although there will be many enjoyable moments, there will also be unhappiness if the motorists and pedestrians who will be out on the road en masse forget to drive and walk in a safe, sane manner. The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission requests all the citizens of Maryland to join in their safety campaign "Lights On For Safety" which begins Friday, July 3rd through Sunday, July 5th. All motorists are urged to drive with their low beam headlights on during daylight hours in order to help reduce the tragic highway deaths and injuries, which are familiar holiday occurrences. Will you join this life-saving campaign with a light to save a life? Your light will remind other motorists to see the light and drive with care.

"Safe And Sane"

Motoring Urged

An 8-point plan for "safe and sane" motoring over the July 4th weekend was issued this week by the AAA Automobile Club of Md. Anticipating a record volume of cars on the highways over the holiday weekend, the AAA Club offered these suggestions to motorists:

1. Allow plenty of time for the trip. Leave early and stop early for the night to avoid traffic and unnecessary fatigue.
2. In long expressway trips, stop at designated rest areas every 100 miles or so for a stretch and a coffee break.
3. Avoid drinking while driving.
4. Familiarize yourself with the traffic regulations of the area you plan to visit—and obey them.
5. Enjoy the scenery but do not neglect your driving. It is a full time job.
6. Treat your car to a mechanical check-up before you leave.
7. Drive at a speed consistent with road and weather conditions, regardless of the posted speed limit.
8. Treat other motorists with courtesy and consideration.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A party was held Sunday at Bell's Park, honoring the 17th birthday of Miss Judy Shorb.

World's Fair

Program Marks Army Birthday

FIFES AND DRUMS of the 1st Battalion (Reinforced), 3d Infantry (The Old Guard), Fort Myer, Va., drill and beat as they rehearse for their role in "A Salute to the Army" scheduled for the World's Fair June 14. The drum major directs the Old Guard Fife and Drum Corp with an "espoontoon"—symbol of rank during the Revolutionary period. Music and uniforms are authentic representations of that familiar to soldiers of the Colonial Army when established June 14, 1775, one hundred and eighty-nine years ago.

briefs

Delayed Disease?

Nobody knows what causes multiple sclerosis, but a virus is suspected. If it exists, one scientist suggests, it may require 10 years to show its first ill effects.

An Alternate Path

Substances which induce cancer of the lung may reach that organ through the bloodstream rather than through breathing, new animal tests suggest.

Primitive Invention

The eye of a tiny marine crustacean called Copilia works by "scanning" what it sees, like a television camera, three British scientists have found. It's apparently nature's only experiment with this visual system.

More Smoking Statistics

Babies born to cigarette-smoking mothers tend to be smaller than the babies of non-smokers, recent studies show — yet they also seem to survive birth better. Nobody knows why.

Look Out Below

Stones blasted from the surface of the Moon by meteor impacts may be falling on the Earth, one space scientist holds. He is organizing an amateur treasure hunt for such falls in rural Iowa.
