One of the many things that Emmitsburg is blessed with is good drinking water. Most of our populace is totally unaware or oblivious to the origin of our water supply and its quality. Since its acquisition two years ago by the Town, the water system has undergone a multitude of improvements, costly ones, but nevertheless in the best interests of this community. Today no other community in Maryland enjoys better drinking water than we do here. Our predecessors used good judgment when they formed the local water company and chose the place of origin and confinement of supplies. However, as the community grew larger it was necessary that the system also grow . . . and that it has.

Emmitsburg has quite an investment in its water system, one that will pay off in high quality water at reasonable cost. Naturally some think the present rate is a trifle high, but when one inspects the system and examines the complex mechanisms that are being installed this very day, he is appreciative of the fact that the money is being spent prudently and that over a period of time will pay off. Four reservoirs form the source of our water supply. Three of these are quite small but the largest of the four, Rainbow Lake, holds an estimated 30,000,000 gallons of fresh mountain water. The system intertwines through a vast 700 acres of mountain timberland and is fed, normally, by springs as well as captivated rain water. However, due to the abnormal drought we are now experiencing, these springs have ceased to function. Citizens have been implored to conserve on water during the past two months and many have complied but unless rainfall comes, and comes soon, additional restrictions may be imposed. Currently a calculated 50,000 gallons of water are being consumed daily. If no rain comes within a month the reserve supplies will be completely gone, officials advise. Presently there is only one small spring augmenting our reserves. An additional quantity is being pumped from a well but there is no way of knowing the capacity of this well and it could cease functioning at any time.

While some other neighboring towns have eased the ban on sprinkling, car washing, etc., it is becoming apparent here that more stringent restrictions must be imposed in the near future. Officials estimate that there remains possibly just a month's supply in our reservoirs and an urgent appeal is made at this time for water consumers to tighten up on its use. It has been said that if we do not receive any rainfall by the end of November, the strictest restrictions will be placed into use. As I said before, we have the best water in the state but the supply at this time is inadequate. The reason for this is partly due to the delay in the completion of the half million gallon steel reservoir that is currently being built on the mountainside near one of the reservoirs. Low water pressure also is due to the incompletion of this part of the new system. Pipeline has been laid from the mountain to and through the town but it is impossible at this time to fill the new mains due to the steel reservoir and its connecting mains being incomplete. Town officials ask your indulgence in this matter until such time as things are straightened out.

To Hold Halloween Party

The Sodality of St. Joseph's Church will hold its annual Halloween party on Monday, October 26 at 8 o'clock in St. Euphemia's Hall. Sodality members are asked to bring costumes, old material, or something from which a costume can be made and place it in a paper bag. During the course of the evening the paper bags will be exchanged among the members. (Costumes are optional). Games will be played and a good time is promised to all who choose to attend the Halloween party.

Commentary

By Gilbert L. Oddo

It is possible that when the history of our time is written, it will be recognized that a major turning point in the Cold War, in the ideological struggle between the Soviet Union and the Western powers, took place during the Cuban missile crisis in the fall of 1962. It is possible that when the Soviets agreed to dismantle their missiles, when they backed down from a fullscale showdown with the United States Navy in the Atlantic, that the world had turned a corner, perhaps without even knowing it.

At any rate, in the two years since the Cuban missile confrontation, there has been a noticeable thaw in the cold war. Not that there still aren't pressure-laden areas in the world which continue to cloud East-West Relations. There are of course. The almost perpetual crisis in Berlin and in South Asia attest to this. Not that basic Soviet objectives have changed. They haven't. Khrushchev still would like to bury the West. But perhaps since being faced down in Cuba he now realizes that burying us by the stout of Soviet Military power is no longer possible. And is certainly possible that the apparent thaw in U. S.-Soviet relations is a temporary thing which could change at any time. It might be that the Kremlin now realizes that it cannot face two major adversaries at the same time, that it cannot afford to have enemies in the West and the East, simultaneously. Maybe Peking has given Nikita reason to pause and re-assess his position vis-a-vis the Western powers.

Whatever the reason for the apparent thaw, its existence is a fact. Many problems remain and will continue to remain. Castro is still in Havana, Red Terrorists still roam the streets of Caracas. The situation in the Congo or in Laos or in Vietnam may blow up at any moment. But nevertheless, despite all this, U. S.-Soviet relations have been noticeably better. While it is certainly no time to relax our guard or to do anything BUT keep our powder dry, it is also time to explore the possibilities of accord with the Soviets in areas mutually beneficial to both countries. In other words during the thaw it is a time for diplomacy. It is a time to try and hammer out agreements which MIGHT lift some of the burdens and hazards of the cold war off the backs of mankind. It is a time for sincere attempts to reduce the areas of tension and conflict.

I believe the limited Nuclear Test Ban Treaty which the United States signed with the Soviet Union should be understood in this light. It was the first major result of the thaw in East-West relations. I believe it has been a useful first step. A treaty limiting the testing of nuclear devices to underground simply has GOT to be a step forward for mankind. A treaty which stops the pollution of the air and the seas should be applauded by everyone concerned with the future. Significantly only France and Red China, both of which seek to become nuclear powers, have not signed the Treaty. But upwards of 110 Nations HAVE signed the agreement. It has been in effect for a year and while the United States, and presumably the Soviets also, has continued to test weapons underground and thus keep abreast of new developments in atomic technology, there have been no explosions in the atmosphere, in outer space and in the oceans.

For this, hopefully, our children and their children, will be grateful. For if testing had continued in the atmosphere and in the oceans, radioactivity could have reached alarming and dangerous proportions. Who will forget the genuine fear caused a few years ago by the spectacle of first the Soviets testing huge hydrogen bombs in the atmosphere, then the United States doing its own testing and then the Soviets once more with their fifty and hundred megaton explosions. Since the Treaty there has been no more of this. In this sense the Treaty HAS been a victory for mankind.

Understood in this manner, that is as an indication of a thaw in East-West relations, which MIGHT be a harbinger of other mutually beneficial steps, and an agreement which at least temporarily removed the threat of a polluted atmosphere, the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty must be regarded as one of the key achievements of the Kennedy years. It seems certain that both President Kennedy and more than eighty per cent of the United States Senate looked upon the treaty in this way: as a useful first step away from the cold war, as the first real measure of hope mankind has had since the end of World War II.

Senator Everett Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, announced that he favored the Treaty so that it could not be written on his tombstone that he had refused to take this step in the direction of hope for a better future.

As we have noted previously, the Senator from Arizona, the 1964 Republican nominee for President was not so moved. He voted against the Test Ban Treaty, stating his belief that it did not serve the best interests of the United States.

But, if as we have suggested, the Treaty does become one of the important factors in reducing cold war tensions and in furthering the course of genuine peace, then the supporters of the agreement will merit the praise of history. And those who opposed it . . . their narrow myopia will also be remembered.

Watch out for fire hazards when using aerosol type sprays. The liquid in pressurized hair sprays, insecticides or paint is usually highly flammable and should not be used near open flames. If they "caught" you'd be holding a torch.

TOPPER—SHORB

Gladioli and candelabra were the setting for the ceremony which united in matrimony Miss Gwendolyn Margaret Shorb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence I. Shorb, and Pfc. Anthony David Topper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis D. Topper, on Saturday, August 29, at a 10 o'clock Nuptial Mass in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg.

The Rev. Louis Storms officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of alencon taffeta with poie d' soie applique, sabrina neckline with sleeves ending in points over the wrists, and a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and aurora borealis, and three pearl teardrops. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, roses, stephanatis, and ivy.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Doris Cornett, Thurmont, who wore a street-length dress of pink chiffon with a lace bolero and headpiece to match. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white mums.

Best man was Charles J. Nizolek, Baltimore, friend of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Patrick Topper, brother of the bridegroom, and Donald Shorb, brother of the bride.

Altar boys were Joseph Topper, brother of the bridegroom, and Gregory Zurgable, cousin of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shorb chose a green print dress of silk and cotton, with white accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow roses.

The bridegroom's mother wore a blue sheath dress of arnel jersey with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

After the reception, the couple left for a two-week honeymoon to St. Augustine, Florida. For traveling, the bride chose a navy and white suit, with navy accessories. She wore the white rosebud corsage lifted from her bouquet, which she presented to the Blessed Mother during the ceremony.

Upon returning, the bride was tendered a shower by Mrs. Doris Cornett. Guests present at the shower were: Mrs. Margaret Shorb, Mrs. Anna Topper, Miss Susan Topper, Mrs. Rose Jordan, Mrs. Hazel Topper, Miss Barbara Topper, Miss Patsy Topper, Miss Joan Topper, Miss Lois Hartdagen, Mrs. Ada Myers, Mrs. Thelma Michael, Miss Barbara Michael, Miss Connie Michael, Mrs. Adele Topper, Miss Mary Topper, Mrs. Danelle White, Miss Jeanne Chrismer, Miss Alice Sherwin, and Miss Martha Jane Sherwin. Refreshments were served and many lovely gifts were received.

Mrs. Topper is a 1962 graduate of St. Joseph's High School, and was formerly employed with the FBI in Washington, D. C., and is now living with her parents.

Pfc. Topper is also a graduate of St. Joseph's High School in 1962 and is now with the U. S. Army serving a tour duty in Viet Nam.

Mount Names Science Building After Father Coad

The cornerstone for the new Coad Science Building at Mount Saint Mary's College, will be laid Saturday afternoon at the Homecoming ceremonies. The structure, which was made possible by contributions from the alumni groups, will be open for public inspection during the weekend.

The building is a tribute to Rev. Fr. Peter A. Coad, 94, dean of the faculties of both the college and seminary, whose parents died in the Johnstown Flood. He celebrated the 70th anniversary of his ordination into the priesthood last June 23, and teaches a class in Patristic Latin at the seminary three days a week. With the exception of three years at the turn of the century when he studied in Athens, Greece, Fr. Coad has spent his entire adult life on the Mount Saint Mary's campus. He is now a patient in the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, having recently broken his hip.

Other highlights of the Homecoming events will include the presentation of the Dubois medal to Brig. Gen. George P. Sampson, deputy director of the Defense Communications Agency, Washington. General Sampson was responsible for the installation of the "Hot Line" linking Washington and Moscow.

CITIZENS OF TOMORROW

This week's Citizens of Tomorrow are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartdagen, Toll Gate Hill and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wivell, R2, Emmitsburg. They are pictured, l-r, Mike Hartdagen, 3, and Kathy Hartdagen, 5, and Linda Marie Wivell, 5 months.

Sampson, U.S.A., Deputy Director, Defense Communications System, and technical negotiator of the "hot-line" between Washington and Moscow.

This year will also be marked by the dedication of the new million dollar science hall which was opened for classes for the first time this month. The new facility has been named for the Dean of the Mount Faculty, Rev. Peter A. Coad, M.A., who celebrated the 70th anniversary of his ordination to the holy priesthood in June.

Golden Jubiliarians celebrating their 50th year of ordination in 1964 are: Rt. Rev. Frank P. McHugh, Williamsport, Pa.; Rev. Charles J. Brown, Mobile, Ala.; and Rev. Thomas A. Lenehan, Darby, Pa.

The anniversary classes were chaired by: 1939, Harold F. X. Schwartz, Chevy Chase; 1954, Maurice W. Gable, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and 1959, Thomas C. Whalen, Harrisburg, Pa.

Firemen To Seek Bids On Annex Around First of Year

Fire Chief Sterling H. White reported two fires handled since the last regular meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. The fires were reported at the Harry Mazingo property where a field fire was in progress and the John Baumgardner farm where someone had set fire to some corn shocks.

President John S. Hollinger presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall. A final report on this year's fund drive was given by Guy R. McGlaughlin, chairman. The report showed a total of $4,099.35 collected. Chief White reported that new connections had been ordered to fit recently installed new-type fire hydrants at several locations. Donald Byard, Jr., was proposed for the active membership list and will be voted on at the next regular meeting. It was announced that the quarterly meeting of the Frederick County Volunteer Firemen's Association would be held at Walkersville.

Chief White has ordered the two street warning sirens which have been out of commission, repaired in the near future. It was reported that the local Fire Co. won a third prize at the recent Fire Prevention Parade held in Frederick.

President Hollinger announced the building committee will seek bids around the first of next year on the new annex to the present building. The following nominating committee was appointed by the president: Thomas Hoke, chairman, Arthur Damuth and Terry Byard. The committee will present a list of recommendations for approval at the next meeting and the annual election of officers will take place at the December meeting. George L. Danner was named as local chairman for the Muscular Dystrophy Campaign and Robert Rosensteel will act as assistant chairman.

Lions Plan Charter Night

The Emmitsburg and Thurmont Lions Clubs will meet jointly for their 35th annual Charter and Ladies' Night to be held at the Peter Pan Inn, Urbana, Wednesday evening, October 21, President William Kelz announced at the regular meeting of the local Lions Club held Monday evening in Mt. Manor Restaurant.

For several years now the two clubs have been combining their Charter Nights and the affair this year will get under way at 6:30 p.m.

The president announced that District Governor Harry Filmer will be a guest of the local club at its next regular meeting on November 9. It was announced by Arthur Elder, acting secretary, that four pairs of glasses had been purchased for local indigent individuals during the past month. The Lions made a $25 donation to the benefit Go-Cart races held last Sunday afternoon for Donald Flohr, Thurmont racer, who was injured recently at the track during the races. The total benefit netted the injured man in the neighborhood of $200. The club discussed the annual Christmas Party for local kiddies but no action was taken.

Beginning October 19, classes will be conducted every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 7:00 until 9:00 p.m. All applicants who have already registered will be contacted and will receive notices of their class schedules. Registration is now closed as the classes are filled to capacity.

Sister Antonia, Sister Louise, and Mrs. Kay Nubel are the instructors for the typing course, which is for beginning typists. The course is being sponsored by the Frederick County Board of Education as part of its Adult Education Program.

Jim Deegan's Soccerites Have Good Potential

Completing the forward line is Stan Ziolkowski, a Junior from Calvert Hall, Baltimore, at inside left. Ziolkowski has finally rubbed off the rust from an Army stint.

Another stick-out performer is Dave Landis, Senior co-captain from Short Hills, N. J., who has locked up the right halfback spot. Landis also won the MVP award on last year's undefeated championship track team.

The other halfback spot is up for grabs with Junior Jim Brolley from Queens Village, N. Y., the top chucker on the baseball team, hard pressed by Frosh John Murray from Neptune, N. J.

Although the offense looks capable, the defense was hard hit by the graduation of Dick Swomley, the first team All-South center half the past three years, and Lew Brooks, first team All-Conference at right fullback. Filling the center half job is Senior co-captain Bill Elek, Bethlehem, Pa.

Returning after a year's absence is Senior Pat Zimmerman from Emmitsburg, a first team All-Conference fullback as a Sophomore. Top candidates for the other two fullback spots are lettermen Andy Fouchet, Senior, Lancaster; Juniors Tim Moriarity, Norwalk, Conn., and a Freshman novice, Kevin Curnyn, Merrick, N. Y.

Senior Al Rufe, Doylestown, a letterman last season has won the starting job in the nets over Frosh Greg Collins from Wasse-naar, Netherlands, and Dick Heretick, Hopewell, Va. All three have looked very good and should give Deegan depth.

Other stickouts are John Murray at left half and Bill Garbarino, a fine Frosh prospect.

Deegan's second unit has Zimmerman and Fouchet at fullbacks, since they have less speed than Curnyn and Brolley; John Jermak, John Holbach, Jack Marut and Garbarino. Halfbacks are Bill Haifley and Joe Bremer. Top line prospects are Bill Mathers, Frosh Joe Cotroneo, Junior Walt Frazier and Soph Joe Espisito.

To date the defense has surprised Deegan turning in three shutouts as the Mounties faced the teachers of Shippensburg yesterday here.

The rest of the schedule: Oct. 20, Towson, H; 23, Loyola, A; 27, Baltimore, A; 31, Roanoke, H; November 2, Washington, A; 6, American, H.

Mount To Honor General Sampson

Maj. General George P. Sampson, U.S.A., Deputy Director, Defense Communications System, Defense Communications Agency, will be the recipient of the fourth annual Dubois Medal to be presented by the National Alumni Association of Mount Saint Mary's College, on Saturday, October 17.

The medal, named for the founder of the college, Rev. John Dubois, who later became the Third Bishop of New York, is given annually to one who has distinguished himself by outstanding public service.

General Sampson, who was the technical negotiator at the Geneva Conference resulting in the direct communication system or "hot line" between Washington and Moscow, was chosen this year's recipient for this contribution and for his interest in education and the devotion to duty in the interest of his country and church. Sampson was specifically cited by the late President Kennedy for his work and patience as an able negotiator with the Russians at Geneva.

He is a career soldier rising from the enlisted ranks to his present post. He is a graduate of the Army War College and the Command and General Staff College. Sampson is recognized as a leading communications expert, much of which is due to his long association with the Army Signal Corps.

He is a member of St. James Parish, Falls Church, Va., where he resides with his family.

The awards carry no monetary value.

Thurmont Man Suicide Victim

A 29-year-old Thurmont man died of asphyxiation Sunday morning in what State Police ruled as an apparent suicide.

Pronounced dead at the scene by County Medical Examiner, Dr. B. D. Thomas Sr., was Norman W. Tressler, Jr., of Meadow Road, Thurmont. Dr. Thomas said death was due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

State Police said Tressler had parked his car on Route 81 about one and one-half miles north of Thurmont. He attached a garden hose to the exhaust pipe and placed the other end through the rear window of the closed auto, police said.

Tfc. Neil F. Bechtol, who investigated, reported there was no evidence of foul play.

100 YEARS AGO

HOOD ENTERS ALABAMA; SHERMAN GIVES PURSUIT

By Lon K. Savage

Confederate Gen. John B. Hood, the man who had been forced to give up Atlanta to the invading Federal army of William Tecumseh Sherman, turned his back on Sherman 100 years ago this week and marched from Georgia into Alabama, bent on an invasion of his own.

For more than two weeks, Hood's army of 35,000 had been moving back and forth through northwest Georgia, striking again and again at the railroad that fed Sherman's army in Atlanta. Finally, in early October, Sherman had pulled out of Atlanta and headed northwest himself, pursuing his tormentor, and sharp fights broke out in a dozen towns—Dallas, Rome, Allatoona, Coosaville and Lafayette.

On October 13, Hood recaptured Dalton, Ga., just southwest of Chatanooga, directly across Sherman's supply line. From there, he turned southwest toward Alabama, hesitated two days while pondering his situation, and pushed on. His mind was made up.

Hood's Plan

Hood knew he could not beat Sherman's army of 60,000, but he could out-manuever it. By marching into Alabama and thence to Tennessee, he could turn from the defensive to the offensive. If Sherman followed, the effect would be to maneuver Sherman out of Georgia. If Sherman remained behind, Hood would go north to wreak havoc in Tennessee.

By October 17, Hood had passed through the mountains to the Alabama line, and by the next day he was in Alabama on the road to Gadsden.

Sherman, meanwhile, was troubled. His pursuit of Hood was half-hearted. His large army could not move as fast as Hood's, and if he gave chase, he would lose the ground he had won in the Atlanta campaign. To make matters worse, Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest was coming east into Alabama and Tennessee and was tearing up the Federally-held railroads leading to Atlanta. Hood's cavalry chief, Joe Wheeler, also was operating behind Sherman in northwest Georgia.

On October 9, Sherman telegraphed Ulysses S. Grant in Virginia: "It will be a physical impossibility to protect the roads, now that Hood, Forrest, Wheeler and the whole batch of devils are turned loose . . ."

"Make Georgia Howl!" Instead of pursuit, Sherman suggested, "I propose . . . that we strike out with our wagons for Milledgeville, Millen and Savannah . . . By attempting to hold the roads, we will lose a thousand men each month, and will gain no results. I can make this march, and make Georgia howl!"

In the days that followed, he planned the details of this march to the sea. Gen. George Thomas, the "Rock of Chickamauga," could be left to defend Tennessee. Sherman had 8,000 head of cattle and three million rations of bread. Forage for his animals, he said, promised to be plentiful in the Georgia countryside.

Sherman's proposal, when it reached Grant and the officials in Washington, was greeted coolly.

Next week: Cedar Creek.

er. But this doesn't mean the manufacturers aren't looking to making your boating more enjoyable.

A year or so ago the engineers and designers took a hard look at quieting down the motors. This year the trend is continuing. Some motors are going to need lights that tell you when they're running.

Kiekhaefer has announced a 50% reduction in sound level! An entire engine cawling assembly suspension has been added. The whole thing is set on an aluminum supporting frame. The frame is linked to the engine by means of rubber mounts that isolate mechanical sounds and vibration. Down in the drive shaft housing, a wall, cast as part of the housing, forms a water jacket around the exhaust tube. When the motor's running, this tube fills with cooling water from the engine. This wall of water serves to isolate sound and vibration from the outside wall of the housing.

The new Mercury this year is a big brother to the Merc 850 of last year. The new Merc 900 has a rating 90hp. It's kisser's cousin to the other Merc six-in-line, Merc 1000.

From the Johnson camp comes two new ones in the fishing motor size—a 6-hp and a 5-hp—that are real lightweights. The Sea Horse 6 is a scant 51 lb—six pounds lighter than the old 5½ Johnson. The Sea Horse 5 tips the scales at a feathery 43 lb. The Sea Horse 6 has a built-in thermostat for better cooling control, full gear shift, twist grip throttle, and neat gold trimmed decor. Both these models have all the controls on one side of the motor so you can set it down in the trunk or on the dock without worrying about bending anything.

The other news from Johnson is a Sea Horse 33. Available with a selection of prop sizes, this 33-hp kicker can be tailored to just about any boating task from high speed skiing to pushing a small cruiser along comfortably.

The Evinrude line up also numbers three new powerboats for 1965—a 40.5 cu in., 33-hp Ski Twin with electric or manual starting, a 6-hp Fisherman, and a 5-hp Angler. This last should be ideal for fishing or as an auxiliary unit for sailboats. The whole Evinrude line includes 18 models running the power range from 90 hp down in ten steps.

An option on the electric-starting Speedifour, 75-hp Evinrude allows the buyer to order a streamlined lower unit with standard 20:23 gear ratios or a heavy duty lower unit with 17:29 gears.

Teh popular, low-profile 9.5 Sportwin (which the manufacturer had trouble keeping in stock because of the heavy demand) is still in the line as are the trio of 3-hp models—the Lightwin, Ducktwin, and right-angle-drive Yachtwin.

McCulloch Corp. has dropped its 50-hp and added a new 45-hp motor. The 45 has the same displacement and spins the same stock prop, but it weighs in at a few pounds lighter than the 50-horse model.

McCulloch—who went through a name change a short while back, switching from Scott to McCulloch—has also discontinued its 3½-hp motor and its 9½-hp "restriction beater", concentrating on its 7½-hp models of which it has two—a standard and a weedless.

Still in the McCulloch roster are those two very hot competition engines that have been collecting silver and ribbons across the country. The 590 and the 630 are three-cylinder engines that that really wind up—rated at 6200 rpm! No horsepower figures have ever been published on this speedy duo, but they're up there with the top runners in boat

Read Psalms 8; Acts 16: 25-34.
At midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sang praises unto God; and the prisoners heard them. (Acts 16:25).

A Gentleman visiting a hospital for lepers praised the nurse who was accompanying him for her humanitarian sentiments in resigning herself to care for the patients there.

"I don't know how far my sentiments go," she replied. "I can assure you that before I knew Christ, my humanitarian sentiments could not have kept me here a week. It is the love of Christ which constrains me. He found me and made of me what I am today. I could not do anything else after I realized how much He loved me."

Paul and Silas in prison, with their feet in chains, sang hymns of praise to God at midnight; and God blessed them and those with them.

In the work we do, are we expressing our gratitude to the Lord for His marvelous saving grace?

Prayer

Blessed Lord, we praise Thee for the immense joy we feel when our lives are touched by sweet communion with Thee. We give Thee our thanks, because through Thy mercy we are saved from evil and constrained to do good. In Thy name. Amen.

racings. Both of them weigh 150 lb and have electric starting. They displace 59.85 and 63.27 cu in. respectively.

From West Ben, the news is a 50:1 gas/oil ratio and a new lightweight, 9-hp fishing motor. The new West Bend 90 offers plenty of punch in a 55-lb package. A low-level rewind starter and full gearshift should be welcome features, too.

Reliable, quick starting of all types of marine engines is aided by a liquid called Spark marine fuel additive. By absorbing water in fuel it solves one of the major problems that vex pleasure boat skippers.

In addition to removing water, caused mainly by condensation due to temperature changes, the additive reduces formation of gum in fuel tanks, lines, and carburetors. A smoothly running engine with full pep and power results from water-free fuel and a clean fuel system.

Spark is one of the boating aids in Du Pont's "7" SEAS line of marine specialties. It can be used in either inboard or outboard engines on both diesel and gasoline-powered craft. It is poured into the tank at a ratio of about one ounce to each gallon of fuel.

What does "social security" mean to you?

To most workers these words bring pleasant thoughts of retirement in the future—an income in their golden years when it is time to take it easier.

To others, "social security" means peace of mind because they know that, in the event of an untimely death, their families will have a monthly income without the slightest connotation of "charity."

But few seem to know, or remember, that social security offers another type of protection—for those who become disabled before reaching the age of 65.

A worker may qualify for disability benefits if he meets the following requirements:

If he has an illness or injury which is expected to continue for a long and indefinite time;

If his condition keeps him from doing any substantial work; and if he has worked under social security for at least 5 years during the 10-year period ending at the time he became disabled.

"Every day we learn of people with serious illnesses or injuries who have not filed an application for disability benefits," stated W. S. King, District Manager in Hagerstown. He urged that a person make an application as soon as he knows that he will not be able to return to work. A delay in filing an application for social security disability insurance benefits could mean a loss in benefits.

Free pamphlets about disability insurance benefits are available in your social security office located at 59 North Cannon Avenue.

What's With The Outboards?

In a couple of weeks your dealers will have the full story on the new 1965 outboard motors. The industry gathers this month in Chicago to see what's new in the pleasure boat business. And as usual there's plenty that's new.

It seems that the horsepower race among outboard makers has hit a plateau for a while. The top muscle in the outboard line is still the Merc 1000—the 100-hp six-in-line motor from Kiekhaefer.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

The deer season is upon us, and with it the prospect of some mighty fine venison meals. Now is a good time, therefore, to think about preparing that deer for the table.

Here are several 100-year-old recipes that were used back when men were men and the electric range a far-distant contraption. They are compiled (and updated where necessary) by Pete Byrnes in the October issue of Sports Afield.

To roast a haunch of venison: Cut off the knuckle, trim the flap, remove the thick skin on the flank and nick the joint at the cramp-bone (knee). Spit it, rub it over with butter, sprinkle well with salt, cover it with a sheet of flour and water, and again with paper; tie it up well with a stout string laced across it; baste it all the time it is roasting. Let it cook four or five hours. A quarter of an hour before serving it, remove the paste, throw a handful of salt on it, dredge it with flour and baste with a little fresh butter.

The gravy should be made as follows: Cut two or three pounds of the scrag (the nape of the neck or any lean meat remnants), or the lean of a loin of old mutton, brown it on a grid-iron, and put it into a saucepan with a quart of water; cover it closely, and simmer it for an hour. Then uncover it and stew the gravy to a pint. Season only with salt, and strain.

Another gravy is made with a pint of Port wine, a pint of strong mutton gravy, as above, and a tablespoon of currant jelly. Let these merely boil up. Or much less wine and more jelly may be used. Seasoned beef gravy is sometimes preferred to mutton gravy.

Venison soup: Take four lbs. of freshly killed venison and cut off from the bones and one pound of ham in small slices. Place on pot, add an onion minced, and black pepper to your taste. Put in only as much water as will cover it, and stew gently for an hour, keeping the pot closely covered. Skim it well, and pour a quart of boiling water. Add a head of celery cut small and three blades of mace. Boil it gently for 2½ hours; then put in ¼ pound of butter, cut small and rolled in flour, and ½ pint of Port or Madeira. Let it boil ¼ of an hour longer and send it to the table with the meat in it.

Laurel Race Track
Opens Today

The Back Again Purse will be the appropriate feature of Laurel

Race Course's opening day of the fall meeting today, Friday, Oct. 16, followed by Saturday's $25,000 Laurel Turf Cup inaugurating a stakes program climaxing with the $150,000 Washington D. C. International on November 11.

While coincidentally marking the return of major racing for Maryland's fall season, the Back Again Purse name refers to the two-year-old Maryland-breds who are eligible for the race only if they were exhibited in the 1963 Maryland Horse Breeders' Association's yearling show.

Saturday's Turf Cup has attracted the nominations of such stalwart grass specialists as Monggo, winner of last year's International and grass champion of 1963. Although Kelso and Gun Bow have been selected to represent the U. S. in the International, an impressive victory by Monggo or Parka in the Turf Cup could win either an invitation to the classic race since both are among the 10 horses under consideration for the honor.

Other top grass stakes winners named for the Turf Cup are Turbo Jet II, Third Martini, Knightly Manner, Jalico, Rocky Thumb, Mr. Steu and Lucky Turn. In 1957 Hasty House's Farms' Mahan went on to win the International after his victory in the mile and one-eighth Turf Cup.

On Sunday, Oct. 18, Laurel will present an open house family day at the track, free to the public. Following the tremendous success of a similar program last spring, Laurel officials have arranged a program that includes parading of horses of all ages, starting gate demonstration, feature race between a man and a woman jockey, parade of old-time jockeys, exhibits in the clubhouse, and free refreshments. Gates open at 1 p.m. and the planned program starts at 2.

Thursdays will again be Ladies Day, when staff fans are admitted on payment of small tax only. A "Lucky Lady Seminar" featuring expert racing speakers, will

TODAY AND TOMORROW

BY RALF HARDESTER

Feature Editor—TV GUIDE MAGAZINE

DOROTHY LAMOUR GUEST-STARS in a Burke's Law episode coming up next season. It is titled "Who Killed the Surf Broad?" and deals with the farther-out fringes of Southern California beach life. Also appearing: Sharon Farrell, Dewey Martin, and—as a one-armed bartender—folk-singer Theodore Bikel. . . . CBS is planning a new production of "Cinderella," the highly-rated 1957 special that was written especially for television by Richard Rodgers and the late Oscar Hammerstein II. It will be taped here in November for airing early next year. Julie Andrews starred in the original version. Shirley Jones and Robert Goulet are being mentioned for the new production. . . . Graphic artist Saul Bass will create the opening titles for the Profiles in Courage series. Bass's credits include title designs for "Around the World in 80 Days," "The Man with the Golden Arm," "Exodus" and "The Cardinal."

JASON ROBARDS JR. AND LAUREN BACALL (Mrs. Robards) join Danny Kaye in some comedy skits on one of his shows this fall. . . . David Frost will appear on the first three, and possibly four, editions of That Was the Week That Was next season. His transatlantic trips to and from commitments in England will put him in the category of an "irregular regular" on the satire program. . . . "Leonardo da Vinci," the first fall hour-long special in the ABC Saga series of specials, will feature models made from Da Vinci's invention drawings. Included are a flying machine, an automatic drum, and several types of repeating firearms. . . . Herschel Bernardi (Peter Gunn) is set for a lead role opposite Chita Rivera in a new Broadway musical titled "Bajour," about gypsies in New York. Writer of the play is Ernest Kinoy, who received an Emmy Award this year for his "Blacklist" script for the Defenders.

Jane Wyatt
... dons wig for TV role

JANE WYATT (IN A BLOND WIG) WILL TURN UP in "The Widow-Makers," one of NBC's two-hour telefilms. . . . Comstock Productions, a new company with Art Linkletter as one of its main backers, is developing three projects for CBS: a game show and a panel show—possible replacements for any of the network's new series that fall to live through the winter—and a 30-minute situation comedy about family life in ancient Rome. . . . David Wayne guests on a Bing Crosby Show segment in the fall. Wayne, in one of his rare TV appearances, plays a kookie composer of electronic music. . . . Another electronic device, a computer, chooses David Hedison as the ideal mate for Inger Stevens in an episode of "The Farmer's Daughter" next season. Unfortunately for the cause of romance, Hedison shows more interest in the computer than in Inger.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Religious Revival Meetings

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 15—The "revival," which has had an important place in the religious life of many in the United States, is largely a Protestant phenomenon. It has been conducted in some cases by local ministers, but in most cases by a specialist who came at the request of the local churches. In the olden days, some of these preachers would describe the horrors of perpetual torment in an effort to scare — if they couldn't persuade — members of their audience into improving their religious lives.

D. L. Moody Changed My Life
More recently, revivalists have placed less emphasis on the horrors of hell, but have stressed the departure into sin of many from the "strait and narrow way." They have called on listeners to "repent of their sins" and "be born again." The latter occurs (1) as a result of an awakening by people to their need of a change in heart and life and (2) as a result of their making a personal and total commitment to God. A true experience of this sort changes them from persons averse to all things religious into devoted religious individuals, willing and anxious to help others achieve the same new relationship with God.

Dr. Billy Graham has recently completed a series of revival meetings in Boston preaching to some 200,000 persons in 10 days. In his first sermon he insisted that we must "be born again." This brings to my mind my youth in Gloucester, Mass. where I first heard the Reverend Dwight L. Moody, the most famous of the nineteenth century evangelists, preach on the same subject. He was assisted by Dr. Munhall. I was won over by his appeal, and walked up the aisle and signed a pledge which was turned over to the church that my family attended. In truth, I was born again that day. I left my old careless way of life and became interested in religion, especially in Christian Endeavor, a youth group founded by Dr. Frances E. Clark in 1881. The central purpose of Christian Endeavor was to tie young people to the life of the church through a pledge to support the church and by regular attendance at meetings they conducted themselves. I became so sincere in my devotion to Christian Endeavor that when I was to lead the grand march of the High School Cadets, I first attended the Christian Endeavor meeting while my partner waited for me. That early interest has stayed with me through many later years. I have endeavored to carry out those principles, and have participated in the life of my local churches. Moreover, I was at one time Moderator of the National Conference of the Congregational Christian Churches.

Importance Of Spiritual Commitment

Readers will recall that I have pointed out many times that every major depression in this country has been followed by a great spiritual awakening — with one exception. My reason for discussing this subject right now is that Dr.

Graham is here in my New England area, pointing the way to a spiritual rebirth for thousands who nightly crowd the auditorium and overflow to the grounds outside. From my observation, I feel strongly that this may well be a big step toward that spiritual revival for our nation which it has failed to experience during the many years since the big depression of the 1930's.

Dr. Graham's message is essentially the same one I have tried to hammer home to readers in the past. He points out that the situation in the U. S. today bears the same marks as those which preceded the fall of the Roman Empire: Rising divorce rate . . . with 12 million children who no longer live with both parents; a nation insanely bent on pleasure; a nation building huge armaments against an outside foe, when the real danger lies within the hearts of its citizens; rising church attendance, but with religion largely decaying into mere form; high and rising taxes. One of my men tells me that he has been to every one of the Boston meetings. Over all, 7% of those attending have signed "decision cards" such as I signed when I went up the aisle in the D. L. Moody meetings. The tenth night of the crusade saw the largest response ever recorded at a regular Billy Graham Crusade meeting in the U. S.—12.5% of the audience.

OUTDOOR SPORTING TIPS

Waterproof Match Box

It's an old tip but a good one. Make a handy waterproof match container by slipping an empty 16 gauge shotgun shell inside an empty twelve gauge shell.

Nylon Scouring Pad

For cleaning delicate objects (like high gloss paint on your boat) make a scouring pad out of your wife's nylon stockings. Remove wife first, of course. Multiply pockets of light hose to give slight cutting power without the danger of scratching.

Anise Ice Fishing

If you crush anise leaves and feed them to your worms, strikes will increase. Don't ask us why fish like the flavor of anise. Ask the fish.

White Front Sight

What's the background of the area you hunt? White (snow)? Darken front sight. Dark (leaves or rocks)? Lighten.

Flavorful Fish

Your fish will have more flavor — summer or winter — if you clean them as you catch them, instead of waiting several hours.

I cannot stress too strongly the importance of such a spiritual commitment. I agree wholeheartedly with Dr. Graham that the only way we can remain free and can continue to prosper as a nation is through a great spiritual and moral re-awakening.

Longer Light

If you use a five cell flashlight, toss a four, three and two cell bulb in your duffle. As batteries start to weaken, reduce the bulb size. You'll get more light longer.

Mice Harness

Live mice are great baits for BIG fall bass. In case you didn't get that it referred to BIG fall bass. How to hold 'em on the hook? Cut the fingers out of old gloves, slip small round circles of gloves over mouse's head.

Sandy Worm Fishermen

For wives that don't like wig-gly worm, try this tip. Fill a can with dry sand. Toss worms on sand before putting on hook. Sand makes them easy to hold, washes off instantly when worm hits the water.

Anxiety, hate, anger, fear or other emotions can and do cause actual physical changes in the body.

Four long years have passed since we were forced to part. Yet time and space cannot erase, your memory from our hearts. We think of you in silence, so few have seen us weep, Many silent tears are shed While others are asleep. Mother and Sandy 1t
