In just a few short days the mud-slinging, name calling campaign will come to a halt and I think to the relief of us all. I have never witnessed a similar campaign, degrading in nature, as the present one. Issues were just a sideline with the main dish being in the nature of personal attacks. Regardless of what ballyhoo we have been forced to endure it behooves all of us to take time out next Tuesday and cast our vote. I never attempt to influence anyone's vote in this column and I don't intend starting now. What I wish to stress mainly is to get out the vote. Make sure you go to the polls . . . and how about taking along a friend? We fought for democracy, we have democracy, let's keep democracy. See you at the polls.

Just a few words on the water situation. It hasn't improved a bit. In fact it has worsened somewhat as another week rolls by and no rain is in sight. I have been forewarned that there will be a slight change in the appearance of our water for a few days. The Water Dept. is currently putting into use the new water mains and the new reserve 500,000-gallon steel tank on the mountainside. Naturally this pipeline and tank has to be purified before it is put into public use. Commissioner Flax reported this week that the public should not become alarmed, and no phone calls please, should the water appear a bit on the milky side for several days as harmless chemicals were being used in the purification of the system. Extra doses of chlorine and another chemical substance, unknown to me, are being inserted into the water. The Commissioner says the water may taste a bit "funny" but is positively not harmful.

Quite a number of citizens are wondering when the new Route 15 bypass will be completed. The latest word I have is that the contractor, Campbell Construction, is anticipatory that the job will be completed before the end of this year. With fit weather the new road should be open in time for Christmas traffic. As a matter of fact, you can see cars on it daily, but of course these are just anxious sightseers just looking around.

Many wonder where our local American Legion received its name. It was just 46 years ago this month that a young Emmitsburgian, Francis Xavier Elder was killed in action in France during World War I. Just a month before the Armistice was signed, in fact exactly a month, October 11, 1918, young Elder was fatally wounded on the battlefield. The young soldier had a premonition that his days were numbered and the night before he went into the big battle he penned a letter to his mother here. I have come across a reprint of this letter in the Nov. 20, 1918 issue of the Frederick Post and herewith pass it along to you:

Dearest Mama: As I am about to enter the big fight for democracy it is my desire now whilst I have the opportunity, to pencil you a few lines briefly and bid you, Papa and all, a sincere farewell and may our dear and most precious God always protect you in this life. Knowing this, I will die cheerfully for a good cause, if it be His holy will, otherwise it will be the happiest moment of my life when I can once more kiss those motherly lips. If the worst happens to me, take the news courageously; be brave, as I am going to try and be. Rest assured I am going into it cheerfully and resigned to whatever my fate may be. If I come through OK I will write at once and let you know. Hoping for the best and trusting I will see you all on earth, or that we will meet in Heaven, I am your most affectionate and loving son. Farewell. Pvt. Francis X. Elder.

Emmitsburg honored Private Elder by naming the local Legion Post after him.

Commentary

By Gilbert L. Oddo

The existence of poverty in this great land of plenty is one of the great and troubling paradoxes of our time. We live in an affluent society, one in which every economic indicator (except one), tells us we have never been better off. More people are working than ever before. Wages are higher. Corporate profits are at record levels. Inflation is not now a factor. All of this is true. And yet if one travels the length and breadth of Appalachia, through the hills of Kentucky and West Virginia, in Southern Indiana and Ohio, in parts of Western Pennsylvania or in virtually every major industrial city, one could see families living in poverty. And this poverty is not merely a statistical thing. It does not exist because some government statistician has decided arbitrarily that everyone who earns less than say $3000 per year is to be classified as "poor." No, the poverty is not a statistical trick. It exists objectively. There are people and families living in squalor, in crowded slum tenements. There are people, who try though they might, have not been able to find work at decent wages. There are families who simply do not have enough food, enough adequate clothing, enough shelter to live decent lives. They are poor by any standard of measurement.

And in many cases the poor are the victims of our constantly expanding and growing economic system. They are victims who have been left behind by technology, who have been replaced by a machine or who are jobless because the industry they once worked in is no longer important or because of changing population patterns the job they once had has been moved to Texas or California.

It is of little solace to the family in such straits to tell them that this is the price one must pay for progress, that in the long run the machine which has replaced them will some day provide the economy with three times the number of new jobs. The displaced worker is not interested in such explanations, true though they may be. His problems are more immediate. He is without a job now. If he is a former coal miner somewhere in Appalachia he has been out of a job for years. And what is worse, he has precious little chance of getting one. A coal miner doesn't suddenly become a carpenter or a machine tool operator when the coal mine closes down. It is just not that simple.

On one point there can be little doubt. If the head of a family is a displaced coal miner, if he has had little or no formal education, if he has no usable skills, or if his health is poor, or if he lives in a slum, or if he is a Negro who does not have the educational and job opportunities nearly everyone else enjoys, if these things are so, then he and his family are poor. He and his family are the poverty stricken, who are the paradox in this, the wealthiest nation the world has yet to see.

The question thus becomes what can be done about it and equally important by whom. And of course, this involves government and politics. If one believes with Lincoln that government exists to help people do the necessary things of life they can not do for themselves, then it follows that government at all levels has an obligation to help alleviate poverty because certainly the poor cannot do it by themselves.

If the states could handle the matter, that would be the ideal solution. But if, on the other hand, state governments cannot, if the states do not have the resources, then it follows that the Federal government has an obligation to help. This is fundamental. For what is needed to attack the roots of poverty are such things as urban renewal, vocational training to teach skills to the unskilled, public housing to provide decent housing, educational and job guarantees for minority groups. In other words it is necessary to attack the causes of poverty.

While it is true that in the long run a constant growing economy provides the best solution to poverty, nevertheless, there are short run problems for the poverty stricken which can only be met by government action, that is with an intelligent program of local, state and federal cooperation to erase the root causes of poverty. The anti-poverty Law passed this year by Congress is a case in point. And although some people objected to it because of its election year timing, I am afraid that the very same people would oppose the same program no matter when it was being considered.

They would do so because of a fundamental inability to acknowledge that the federal government HAS a legitimate role to play in such important social and economic problems. This is the heart of the matter.

In the context of the current political campaign this is but another aspect of the choice voters will have four days hence. The Republican nominee voted against the Anti-Poverty Law because he believes this is NOT the sort of thing Government should do. But, on the other hand, if citizens believe that government HAS an obligation, in fact a duty, to help people who, for one important reason or another, are not able to help themselves, they can express that belief very clearly on November 3rd.

St. Joseph College To Cooperate With Federal Loans To Students

Cooperating with the federal government in providing financial aid to college students, Sister Rosemary Pfaff, D.C., president of Saint Joseph College, announces that beginning with the 1964-65 academic year, the college will participate in the National Defense Student Loan Program.

Under the plan, a student may borrow federal funds up to $1,000 for each academic year through the facilities of the college. Repayment of the loan is postponed until one year after the completion of full-time study. The student has ten years to complete payment of the principal plus 3% interest. Students who enter the teaching profession on a full-time basis after graduation will have the advantage of the "forgiveness" provision of the loan which allows cancellation of 50% of the loan at the rate of 10% for each year of service.

The plan is administered by the college from combined federal and college funds; the college contributing one-ninth of the total amount of the Federal loan. Variable factors permit the college administration to determine the amount which may be allotted each student.

Saint Joseph College is one of 1,500 colleges and universities throughout the country participating in the loan program.

Spook Parade Saturday

An estimated 500 local children will participate in the annual Halloween Parade sponsored by the Francis X. Elder Post, No. 121, American Legion, to be held here Saturday evening.

William L. Topper, general chairman of the event, announces march-off time at 7:00 p.m. sharp. The chairman asks all local participants to gather at the Doughboy in West End around six o'clock so all can be assigned numbers to be used in identifying the prize winners.

The parade will march off from the Doughboy, proceed down Main Street and continue through the Square and on down East Main Street to Federal Avenue where it will turn on DePaul Street and terminate in St. Joseph's Church Grove. Heading the parade will be police vehicles, fire engines and the Emmitsburg Municipal Band.

The committee announces that monetary prizes will be offered for many different classes of costumes. Following termination of the parade, refreshments of cider and cookies will be served by members of the Legion.

Prizes to be awarded this year are: Funniest costume, $5, $2, $1; best looking costume, $5, $2, $1; most original costume, $5, $2, $1; best-decorated bicycle, wagon or tricycle, $5, $2, $1. Two mystery prizes of $5 will be given.

Trick Or Treaters Operate Tonight

Tonight, Friday, October 30, at 7:00 p.m. the children of the community will begin their annual "Trick or Treat for UNICEF." Those who are planning to take part will meet at the Parish House of Elias Lutheran Church at 7:00 p.m. when they will be given their identifying armbands and collection containers and assigned to some certain area of town for soliciting.

After the children return to the church, they will be served some light refreshments by the women of Incarnation United Church of Christ who are in charge of the event this year. This is a non-denominational enterprise conducted each year under the guidance of the women of the Protestant churches.

UNICEF means United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund and it is just that. The pennies and nickels which are collected by the children are used to help children in other areas of our world through the United Nations. Tonight is your opportunity to help the children of our community to help other children who do not have the blessings we enjoy.

Man And Wife Injured Here

A Washington woman was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign after her car ran into a dirt embankment along U. S. 15 early Saturday.

Zeitha M. Wooten was charged by Trooper R. E. Cook following the one-car accident about 5:30 a.m. on U. S. 15 at the Old Frederick Road intersection south of Emmitsburg.

Trooper Cook said Mrs. Wooten was driving north on U. S. 15 when she failed to stop for a stop sign and ran through a road barricade into an embankment.

Mrs. Wooten and her husband, Joseph, were treated at the Frederick Memorial Hospital for minor lacerations.

Damage to Mrs. Wooten's 1959 car was $200. The Emmitsburg VFW ambulance took the Wootens to the hospital.

Demos To Rally Saturday

The Emmitsburg Democratic Central Committee has been extremely busy during the past week holding meetings at its headquarters on the Square readying for next Tuesday's election.

Meeting three times in a single week's time, the committee welcomed candidates and representatives and made final plans for a rally to be held Saturday night. All interested individuals are invited to the public rally to be held Saturday night at the headquarters on the Square and cookies and refreshments will be served. Interested citizens are invited to drop in and browse around and learn facts about the candidates.

Committee chairmen met last Friday evening and also Wednesday evening to make final plans to get out the vote for Tuesday. Judges of election have been named and transportation to the polls for voters desiring this convenience has been arranged. Each of the three precincts will have transportation available. On Monday night a special meeting of the group was called by Chairman Clarence E. Hahn to welcome Robert Sweeney of the attorney-general's office to town. While here Mr. Sweeney also addressed the Young Democratic Club and Seminars at Mt. St. Mary's College.

During the meeting Mr. Sweeney presented the committee a Maryland flag with the compliments of Attorney-General Thomas B. Finan.

Local headquarters will be open every night, except Sunday, from now until Tuesday's election. Individuals seeking information about the election or the candidates can be obtained by calling Democratic Headquarters, 447-2627.

Open House For Prospective Students At St. Joseph's

Admission to the college of your choice is no longer a last-minute matter of filing a registration form, paying entrance fees, and planning your freshman wardrobe. The student seriously considering college knows his high school record will be thoroughly scrutinized by the Committee on Admissions. The Committee will want to know his high school average and rank in class, the results of any college board and other objective tests, his principal's recommendation, extra-curricular interests, and not the least, motivation. By the same token, the college knows the prospective student and his parents have a barrage of questions too.

To provide a cordial meeting ground, Saint Joseph College plans two Open House days during the academic year—October 31, 1964 and May 8, 1965. Sister Marie Therese, Director of Admissions, announces that high school girls interested in attending Saint Joseph's are invited to spend the day on campus on either day. The Open House program includes a get-acquainted gathering in the college auditorium, interview with the Director of Admissions if necessary, consultations with the faculty representative of the student's major department, lunch in the college cafeteria, and a chat with students in the Student Center.

Interested students and their parents are asked to write the Director of Admissions for a reservation form which must be mailed back to the college at least a week prior to the preferred Open House date.

If either Open House date is inconvenient, visiting days are slated for November 21 and December 12 in 1964, and February 20, March 27, and April 10 in 1965. Interviews with the Director of Admissions will be scheduled between one and two o'clock in the afternoon, followed by a student-conducted tour of the campus. It is not necessary to write for an appointment on visiting days.

Members of the Trinity Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service held their meeting on Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Kelly, Taneytown. The president, Mrs. Eugene Hardman, presided. The secretary of spiritual life, Mrs. C. C. Combs, conducted the worship. Mrs. Ted Elliott had charge of the program. The theme for the evening was "The Life Within," from the study book "Summan To A New Age."

At the conclusion of the program and business session, refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 10 at the home of Mrs. A. L. Leary.

An Open Letter

A Time To Unite

Nothing would please us more than to sit down with each of you and discuss the important issues of the coming election. This is impossible because you number more than a thousand. To reach you all we take the liberty of sending you this letter containing our sentiments on these matters.

Because this great country of ours has never before been faced with so great a moral decision in the selection of its chief executive as well as the members of its Congress, we address you as fellow Democrats. We ask you to review the magnificent history of the Democratic Party with its untiring efforts to proceed along progressive paths to improve the health and welfare of the social fabric of the Nation, to secure really capable and inspiring leaders in the national political field as well as in the more complex arena of international affairs.

Next week you face the civic obligation to select the President of the United States and Representatives to the Congress. You cannot shirk this duty for which our ancestors spilled so much precious blood to establish an enlightened democracy in place of an oppressive tyranny.

In the national level between the two candidates of the two major political parties a thinking and loyal Democrat is bound to vote for President Johnson. This is no blind dog follow dog business. For very compelling reasons of national interest you have no other choice—unless you have sold out to the opposition party for one reason or another. Has not President Johnson carried forward the very legislation, domestic and foreign, of the former President Kennedy during the crisis following his assassination? Has he not exhibited high statesmanship in handling of the Cuban and Vietnam incidents? Greatest of all on the home front the enactment of the Civil Rights Act is a landmark of the greatest social significance. Moreover, the tax reduction measure has already affected most favorably the economic growth of the Nation.

Senator Goldwater, on the other hand represents a stand that is neither tolerant of responsibility nor dedicated to the idea of progress. He has aligned the Republican Party with some of the most reactionary elements in our society dedicated to a retreat to conditions of a third of a century ago. His program is a negative and hazardous course, as loyal standard bearers of the great Democratic Party, to remain loyal to your inheritance which has made this country great. The great need on the domestic level is tranquility and on the international plane, peace. Elect Mr. Johnson, Mr. Humphrey, Mr. Tydings, Mr. Sikes and Mr. Hanson. Vote the Straight Democratic ticket! Give your party a chance to redress our local, Emmitsburg problems!

Emmitsburg Democratic Central Committee.

JOHN M. RODDY
John M. Roddy, 90, husband of Mary Agnes (Bahr) Roddy, died Tuesday night at his home at St. Anthony's, near Emmitsburg.

He was born near Thurmont, the son of the late Simon and Susan Jackson Roddy, and was a lifelong member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church and the Holy Name Society.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Julia O'Leary, Bighampton, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary Anna Wetzel, Thurmont; Mrs. Dorothy Lynch, Dumont, N. J.; Mrs. Alice Shorb, Emmitsburg; Sister Ruth Roddy, Norfolk, Va.; John Jr., Falls Church, Va.; Mrs. Regina Seltzer, Baltimore, and Mrs. Eileen Groover, Lakewood, Calif.; 17 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Creager Funeral Home in Thurmont. The Rosary will be recited this evening (Friday) at 8 o'clock. Services will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Anthony's Church with Rev. Vincent Tomalski as celebrant. Burial will be made in the church cemetery.

WCSA Meets

Members of the Trinity Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service held their meeting on Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Kelly, Taneytown. The president, Mrs. Eugene Hardman, presided.

The secretary of spiritual life, Mrs. C. C. Combs, conducted the worship. Mrs. Ted Elliott had charge of the program. The theme for the evening was "The Life Within," from the study book "Summan To A New Age."

At the conclusion of the program and business session, refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 10 at the home of Mrs. A. L. Leary.

If I were seventeen, I'd probably be aglow as today's kids are, and just as positive that love would lead me on the path to eternal bliss.

the execution of which would create a national catastrophe, and, without question, international crisis and confusion.

Yet let us speak a few words, my friends, about the local scene right here in Emmitsburg. You are well aware that your party is the majority party of this area. You are also well aware that the Democratic Party in this area has failed to vote for Democratic candidates for the Congress. For years everyone and his brother have complained bitterly over the present postal facilities in Emmitsburg, and more recently the high school situation—over the indifference of some party officials to the improvement of conditions generally in this constituency. Let us be quite frank with you. You violated the basic facts of political life. You have permitted your own party members to sabotage the local Democratic party's integrity to rob you of the very rewards the party promises your community.

So long as you remain the majority party in this area and continue to vote into the House of Representatives and the Senate, candidates of the minority party, so long will the Democratic Party be divided against itself in this community and so long will local grievances remain unsatisfied.

You have heard much of party loyalty during the past few weeks. You have observed the machinations of our own Emmitsburg party members in concert with the minority party in their attempt to thwart our democratic process of voter registration in the Emmitsburg area. Because of these very things Mr. Hanson, the Democratic Candidate for the Sixth Congressional District in this election at his recent luncheon at Mount Manor, urged again and again the positive necessity of party solidarity. It is the same today as it was for Benjamin Franklin when he coined the expression "United we stand, Divided we fall."

We, too, urge you, our friends, as loyal standard bearers of the great Democratic Party, to remain loyal to your inheritance which has made this country great. The great need on the domestic level is tranquility and on the international plane, peace. Elect Mr. Johnson, Mr. Humphrey, Mr. Tydings, Mr. Sikes and Mr. Hanson. Vote the Straight Democratic ticket! Give your party a chance to redress our local, Emmitsburg problems!

New Appointments Are Made

At St. Joseph's

The Board of Trustees at Saint Joseph College has confirmed the appointment of Sister Serena Branson, former administrator of the Kennedy Child Center in New York City, as Dean of Students to fill the vacancy created by the death of Sister Mary Ellen Kelley last October.

A native of Washington, D. C., Sister Serena brings to the office a wealth of professional experience garnered from over a quarter of a century's work in teaching, administration, and social work. Over the years, faced with the challenges of new and varied assignments, Sister Serena devised a formula to assure a successful program. She stated, "When I moved to a new post my main concern was to establish a 'climate' wherein an interdisciplinary staff could achieve their potentiality. Successful work is proportionate to the caliber and quality of the staff."

Recent recognition of the success of her efforts was accorded her in July when Cardinal Spellman in the name of Pope Paul presented her with the papal award, "Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice" in recognition of her outstanding contributions in the field of child welfare as administrative director respectively of the Kennedy Center and the Astor Home, residential treatment home for emotionally disturbed children in Rhinebeck, N. Y. She was also honored in 1964 when she was cited for the Humanitarian Award by the N. Y. State Association for Help of Retarded Children.

Sister Serena is a graduate of Saint Joseph's Academy and Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg, from which she received her A.B. in 1938. She was granted her master's degree in social work from the Catholic University in 1948, and attended Fordham University for additional graduate work.

Prior to entering the area of social work, Sister Serena was secondary school teacher at the Utica Catholic Academy, N. Y., for seven years. Entering the field of social service, she was appointed administrator of St. Rose School for Adolescent Girls in Washington, D. C., where she effected its merger with St. Vincent's Home and School. She headed the merged institutions for six years. Her success with this project led to a request for her services by the Archdiocese of New York. She was appointed to inaugurate and administer a program at the Astor Home in Rhinebeck, N. Y. The Astor Home was one of the State's three pilot projects to study methods of

TENNESSEE PREPARES FOR HOOD'S INVASION

By Lon K. Savage

The state of Tennessee became a beehive of military activity 100 years ago this week as the Federal army prepared for a new campaign—an invasion of the state by Confederate Gen. John B. Hood.

For on October 26, Hood and his 35,000 veterans—who just days before had been in Georgia—suddenly appeared at Decatur in north-central Alabama. Five days later, they were at Tusculum, in northwest Alabama, busily crossing the Tennessee River to Florence, Ala., whence they could turn northward into Tennessee.

At the same time, Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, perhaps the Confederacy's greatest cavalry leader, was swooping in from the West toward Florence, ready to join Hood in his invasion of Tennessee. On the way, Forrest paused long enough to capture two Federal gunboats and five transports—a feat that brought admiration from North and South alike.

It was becoming clear that Hood and Forrest meant business on this new campaign.

Sherman's Position

Back in northwest Georgia, Federal Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman still refused to give chase to Hood. Sherman believed—and time would prove him right—that Hood and Forrest could be handled by George H. Thomas, the "Rock of Chickamauga," who had been in Tennessee since early October.

Sherman's heart was set on a "March to the Sea" across Georgia, to leave the state in ruin and to wipe out its ability to produce food or manufactured goods for the Confederacy.

Thomas Reinforced

But just in case, Sherman decided to send Thomas reinforcements. A corps under Gen. David S. Stanley was sent into Tennessee. After it came 12,000 crack troops under Gen. J. M. Schofield. Gen. A. J. Smith, who had been operating in Missouri with two divisions, was sent into Tennessee to help.

Beyond that, Thomas had about 20,000 men at Nashville plus garrisons at Chattanooga, Bridgeport, Stevenson, Decatur, Murfreesboro and Florence. All told, there soon would be about 70,000 Federals in Tennessee to fight off Hood's 35,000 and Forrest's 6,000—and still more Federals were being drafted from the Midwest.

Up near Richmond, Va., Gen. Ulysses S. Grant—the man who commanded all the Union armies—was in close touch with the situation in Tennessee. After all arrangements had been made, he added up the Federal strength and was satisfied.

On November 2, Grant telegraphed Sherman in Georgia, saying he believed Thomas now could handle Forrest and Hood. Sherman, Grant said, could pursue his own plan to devastate Georgia. Sherman could march through Georgia while Hood marched through Tennessee.

Next week: Lincoln re-elected.

Babson Experiments

With Weather Forecasting

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 29—All of my readers are familiar with the weather forecasts that are given on radio and TV several times a day.

These cover not only the territory which your station serves, but the TV forecasts also show a map indicating what is occurring in all other sections of the country.

The Old Farmer's Almanac This is a booklet that has been issued for 172 years and is published by Yankee, Incorporated, Dublin, New Hampshire. As to how their predictions are made, I do not know. But the book contains forecasts about the coming winter, whether it will be mild, cold, wet, dry—and gives predictions also for the full year ahead. I am not guaranteeing the forecasts of the Old Farmer's Almanac, but the editors have been at it for a long time and should be able to make a good estimate.

So far as I know, all sections of the United States get the same Almanac and the same forecast, wherever they live. However, suggestions are given readers for making adjustments to fit the various areas. In my opinion, the Old Farmer's Almanac is a valuable book and I recommend it.

The Inevitable Curve of Action and Reaction Those who have followed this column for many years will remember that I often refer to Sir Isaac Newton's "Law of Action and Reaction." In fact, it was on the basis of this Law that Babson's Reports was originally founded. Readers who have been to my conferences will remember that the large (Richard Knight) auditorium at Babson Park carries a reference to the Law of Action and Reaction, which law I am using today to help forecast what the coming winter will develop. I am breaking away from professional meteorological forecasting methods and basing my experiments on the up and down curvature which applies to almost everything on earth—from the waves of the ocean to the temperatures of the land.

My interpretation is that—considering the whole country—if one traces this curve over periods of years the ups and downs will come close to balancing. In other words, there will be a period of years with temperatures running a little colder until they reach a curve trough where they will start up again and be a little warmer. Only time will tell whether my experiment is right or wrong. The professional meteorologists may not agree with my forecasts; but then, they often do not agree with one another. My Forecast For The Next Two Years

After tracing the temperatures thus far this year, I find that most of the country has experienced a cool summer. Based on these curves I will forecast that the cool weather is not over. My curves do not take into consideration snow, by which many readers judge winter. I plot the regular temperature figures, in winter just as in summer.

My forecast is that those sections of the country which have had a cool summer will continue to have lower temperatures until the curve reaches its nadir. Then it will gradually turn and start upward until it reaches an apex and heads back down again. To complete one of these curves requires four to eight years. Hence I forecast that both winter and summer will be cooler than normal for at least a couple years more. Then the temperature will begin to move upward.

Weather Forecasts Helpful To Businesses

With my readers living in different sections of the country, I do not like to give too definite advice. However, I do feel that any reader who is handling perishable foods would do well to have a talk with his TV meteorologist. I think television is wonderful, and I especially appreciate the studies given by the TV meteorologists. I often think, however, that nothing will take the place of good old-fashioned commonsense such as our grandfathers showed when they anticipated the cold of winter and stored their vegetables in their cellars accordingly. Along this line, I understand that one of my "Babson Clients" uses a system somewhat similar to mine . . . basing his forecasts on cycles of weather. From these he judges crop yields, hence is better able to plan his canning operations months ahead.

MEDITATION

Read Acts 5:29-42.

I am reminded of your sincere faith, a faith that dwelt first in your grandmother Lois and your mother Eunice and now, I am sure, dwells in you. (II Timothy 1:5 RSV.)

It is most difficult but necessary that we should guide our loved ones—husband, or wife, or child—into the Christian faith.

My grandmother was the wife of a government officer in Hokkaido over fifty years ago. She heard one day a sermon delivered by the founder of Doshisha University. She bought a Bible and learned to read it by the help of two friends. Her husband persecuted her severely by beatings, but she did not give up reading the Bible every day. Her earnest faith won her three daughters to Christ. The eldest girl and the next one were married to evangelists for Christ, and from the eldest I was born.

My mother, who brought me up in earnest prayer, is not here on earth now. Whenever I think of her, I feel her heartfelt faith is a source of my power to live and work for Christian evangelism in Japan.

Prayer

O heavenly Father, I thank Thee for nurturing mankind from generation to generation. I beseech Thee, O Lord, make me as a man who does not only receive the abundant gifts of Jesus, but shares them with his friends and descendants as well. In the name of Jesus, I pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day

God more than repays us for the price we pay for following Christ.

The 1965 Ford rides quieter than a Rolls-Royce!

Prior to the introduction of the 1965 Fords, the country's leading automotive writers drove the new models at Dearborn. Most of these experts remarked about the extraordinary quietness and smoothness of the Ford ride. An automotive writer, in Mechanix Illustrated, said, "If there is a quieter car made in this country, I haven't driven it."

Quiet Means Quality . . . Since quiet is a traditional measure of car quality, Ford engineers designed the '65 Ford for maximum quietness. To illustrate this quality achievement, Ford chose to make a documented test against the world's finest luxury car—Rolls-Royce.

Bolt, Beranek and Newman, Inc., world's leading acoustic consultants to government and industry, conducted the tests under supervision of the authoritative United States Auto Club. All cars were tuned to factory specifications.

The Result... The Fords proved to be slightly quieter at all speeds.

The official test report reads, in part: "At all moving speeds, on both courses, the Fords were quieter than the Rolls-Royces."

The Difference . . . The sound level difference, to be sure, is small—but it is there. At 60 miles an hour, Ford was actually 2.8 decibels* quieter than Rolls-Royce. At 40, Ford was 5.5 decibels* quieter. At 20, Ford was 4.9 decibels* quieter. However small these advantages over Rolls-Royce may be, they are significant evidence of quality—important to anyone buying a car in Ford's class.

Take A Test Drive . . . A key—and a warm welcome—await you at your Ford Dealer's. The key, incidentally, fits in the lock no matter which side is up—symbolic of the hundreds of advances you'll find in any Ford you road-test. Come in and see for yourself.

20 mph	67.4	72.3	4.9
40 mph	75.9	81.4	5.5
60 mph	82.6	85.4	2.8

7 B REPUBLICAN Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. Frederick County

A FEW WORDS OF EXPLANATION — No votes are registered until you open the curtains. You can therefore make as many changes in your ballot as you wish while the curtains are closed. There is no danger of anyone knowing how you vote, as the movement of the red handle to the left returns the voted levers to their unvoted position before the curtains begin to open. So leave voting levers down before opening the curtain.

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

Measles And Chicken Pox
C. Robert Gruver
Editor, All About Babies

The communicable diseases of childhood become the concern of many young parents when they realize, for the first time, that their baby has a rash.

Common as the communicable may be, they are not to be toyed with and parents should seek the advice of their physician. This is no time for home diagnosis or home remedies.

Physicians point out it would be wise for parents to have an intelligent idea about these diseases. First, so that they will know what to expect and what to look for. Second, so that they will be able to seek medical advice when it becomes necessary.

With this in mind, here are some basic facts about two of the more common communicable diseases of childhood—measles and chicken pox.

Measles — Highly contagious. Caused by a virus present in the discharges from the mouth and nose. It is spread by direct and indirect contact. The incubation period, the time from exposure to the first signs, is about 10 days. Fever is the first sign. Three to five days later a rash will appear. A characteristic barking cough may develop accompanied by a discharge from the nose, reddening of the eyes and sensitivity to light.

The contagious period lasts about nine days, from about four days before the rash appears to about five days afterward. There is no specific treatment for measles. Sometimes, a properly timed injection of immune serum gamma globulin may make for a mild case. A vaccine against the disease is now being tested. Permanent immunity is developed by having the disease.

Chicken Pox — Highly contagious. Caused by a virus present in the discharges from the mouth and nose. It's relatively mild and is spread by direct and indirect contact. The incubation period is from 12 to 21 days. For about 24 hours before the rash appears, the baby usually will be irritable and feverish. The rash starts as a small pimple that changes to small fragile blisters.

The contagious period lasts for about a week, beginning 24 hours before the first appearance of the rash. The rash appears in groups and new groups may continue to appear during the first few days. There is no specific treatment for chicken pox and no effective preventive measures.

Speaks On Federal Aid

Joseph E. Flaherty, M.Ed., assistant professor of education at Mount Saint Mary's College, recently spoke to the Adult Group of Christ Lutheran Church in Gettysburg, Pa., on Federal Aid to Education.

Prof. Flaherty traced the historical background of such aid through the decisions of the United States Supreme Court and legislative action of the Congress.

A question and answer period followed the talk. The speaker stressed the need for aid to education but pointed out the dangers inherent in such aid.

Flaherty, a native of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., received his bachelor's degree from Stroudsburg State Teachers College and his master's from Penn State. He is currently pursuing his doctorate at the University of Maryland. Prior to joining the Mount faculty, he taught in the secondary school systems in Pennsylvania and Maryland for nine years.

Nominations for members of said charter board may be made not less than forty days prior to said election by the Mayor of Baltimore and City Council of Baltimore or said County, or not less than twenty days prior to said election by petition bearing the signatures of not less than 5% of the registered voters of said City of Baltimore or said County; provided, that in any case Two thousand signatures of registered voters shall be sufficient to complete any such nominating petition, and if not more than eleven registered voters of the City of Baltimore or not more than five registered voters in any such County are nominated, their names shall not be printed on the ballot, but said eleven registered voters in the City of Baltimore or five in such County shall constitute said charter board from and after the date of said election. Such charter shall be submitted to the voters of said City or County at the next general or congressional election after the report of said charter to said Mayor of Baltimore or President of the Board of County Commissioners; and if a majority of the votes cast for and against the adoption of said charter shall be in favor of such adoption, the said charter from and after the thirtieth day [is] from the date of said election shall become the law of said City or County, subject only to the Constitution and Public General Laws of this State, and any public local laws inconsistent with the provisions of said charter and any former charter of [said] the City of Baltimore or County shall be thereby [hereafter] repealed.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That the foregoing amendment to the Constitution of the State of Maryland shall, at the election to be held in November, 1964, be submitted to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article 14 of the Constitution of this State, and at the said general election, the vote on the said proposed amendment shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment" as now prescribed by law, and immediately after said election, due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said proposed amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Lutheran Women Meet Here

Approximately one hundred persons attended the second Fall Assembly of Lutheran Church Women of Frederick District at Elias Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg, Tuesday, Oct. 20. The Rev. W. Ronald Fearer is pastor of the host church. Theme of the Assembly was: "Neglect not the Gift That Is Within You"—I Timothy 4:14.

The Assembly convened at 3:00 p.m. Mrs. G. Thomas James, Jefferson, led a directed Prayer Meditation prepared for all of the seven Assemblies of Maryland by Dr. Hugo Schroeder, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Rockdale.

Greetings were brought by the Rev. David Blackwelder, Dean of Frederick District and Rev. W. Ronald Fearer, secretary of the Frederick District. Pastor Fearer gave an interesting history of Elias Church. It was founded in 1797 when George Washington was serving as first President of our country. The original walls are a part of the present church structure.

Mrs. Albert Fischer, Baltimore, president of Maryland LCW, addressed the group. Mrs. John Barnes, Burkittsville, chairman of the Assembly, presided, introducing the speakers and conducting the business. Mrs. Paul Dinterman, Walkersville, secretary of the District, was assisted by Mrs. Charles Brandenburg, Burkittsville, who read the minutes of the Spring Assembly and conducted the roll call. All of the organizations of the District were represented. A nominating committee to select a chairman of the District, was appointed with Mrs. Arthur Throne, Good Shepherd, Frederick, chairman; Mrs. Gail Cutshall, Woodboro and Mrs. Emma French of Point of Rocks. The election will be held at the Spring Assembly. Mrs. Throne presented literature with the suggestion that all leaders obtain the "Manual for Leadership-Membership Development."

Mrs. Earl Howard, Frederick, President of Frederick United Church Women, stressed World Community Day, announcing two meetings, one Nov. 2 at the United Church of Christ, Jefferson, and the other Nov. 6 at Evangelical United Brethren Church, in Frederick, at 7:30 p.m.

Two workshops were emphasized at the Assembly, one on Leadership - Membership Development and the second in Program Planning. The first workshop was conducted by Mrs. Fischer, Mrs. Clifford Miller, Manchester, and Mrs. Bryce Shoemaker, Cumberland.

The Unit Convention of Maryland Lutheran Church Women will be held at Gettysburg College, June 22-24, 1965. The Assembly closed with Devotions by Mrs. G. Thomas James and a prayer by Pastor Fearer.
