Weekend

Weather Forecast

Temperatures will average below normal, moderating over the weekend. Precipitation expected Sunday.

Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

The present precipitation which we see all around us in the form of snow, will do little to change the water picture here, I am told. Melted, the snow will mean a little boost of probably an inch or so to the water table but many, many more days of rain are necessary to bring things to a normal state here. Actually the snow and freezing weather did more harm, as far as alleviating the shortage, than if it had not occurred. The nightly freezes have hampered the pumping operation, delaying it several hours almost daily. Also hampered and slowed down, is the installation of the new by-pass line which would enable the Town to stockpile reserve water in No. 3 and Rainbow reservoirs. The operation is a daily one and must be maintained until such time as ample rain has fallen or the line completed.

Our neighboring town of Brunswick has proven to us that perhaps we actually have been lucky. Adverse water conditions there has caused the closing of the public school, shutting down of several restaurants and suspension of operation of the town's laundry-mat. Things actually were desperate there during the past week. However, Civil Defense provided a new pump which is now in operation and which appears will be able to provide the town with sufficient water for the time being.

It appears certain now that this area will have a new drive-in theater. Following the announcement last year that such an enterprise would be built, things fell into a dormant state of inactivity and it was thought that perhaps the plans had fallen through. However, this week an application to the State Health Dept. was made asking permission to dump sewage into a local branch nearby and if there are no objections I imagine the project will get under way in the spring. The new theater will be a welcome addition to the entertainment and recreational facilities of this area.

The housing situation here is becoming more acute almost weekly. School teachers, State Police, military officers and servicemen comb the area weekly in search of housing but the effort is in vain. There just isn't a house to be had. As has been urged before in this column, if some enterprising individual undertook to build a dozen houses here he would have no trouble at all selling them. Really the lack of housing here is actually holding up the progress of the Town. The thought of it is really disturbing and it is having its effect on local business. The Town should make every endeavor to interest some contractor or real estate concern to explore the possibilities here. Right now there are two State Troopers seeking homes here. Should anyone be aware of accommodations that might be available to these gentlemen, get in touch with me immediately.

Father Delaney Gives Talk To Lions Club

Rev. James Delaney, Mt. St. Mary's College instructor, was the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday night in Mt. Manor Restaurant.

President William H. Kelz presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker. Also present were Eugene A. LaCroce and Floyd L. Lewis, both of Mt. St. Mary's. Guests present from the Thurmont club were Murray Miller, Robert Ogle and Francis Long.

Father Delaney chose as his topic, athletics and young people. A thank-you note was received and read from a local youngster for whom the club recently purchased eyeglasses. Lion Milton Sewell was reported still on the sick list.

Dr. and Mrs. Louis Gunn and children, Riverside, N. J., visited over the weekend with Mrs. Gunn's mother, Mrs. Stella Topper.

School Budget Shows Huge Increase

A record high school budget of $9,911,153 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, was presented this week to the Frederick County School Board.

The budget is up $1,558,364 over the $8,352,789 figure for current fiscal year. This is an increase of 18.6 per cent.

Dr. John L. Carnochan, school superintendent, explained to the board and some 30 citizens attending the first school budget hearing reasons for the increase.

He said that $330,000 is for 60 additional teachers needed this year and $441,500 for a proposed new salary scale for all county teachers.

Another $295,000 represents regular annual salary increases that would normally be made without the contemplated increase.

Another $65,000 is for 11 new school buses and seven replacement buses and $80,000 was the operating cost of the new Governor Thomas Johnson High School. Improvements to existing schools totalled only $15,000.

The proposed school budget will require $5,614,363 in county funds for current school expenses and another $153,351 from the county Commissioners in capital outlays, with $29,000 added for parochial school transportation.

In addition to this $5,808,814 in county revenues, the proposed school budget would require $3,580,526 in state funds and $515,841 from Federal programs and other funds from investments and rental of school facilities.

Dr. C. Edward Hamilton, assistant superintendent, outlined the instruction budget in detail, showing a salary increase of $1,041,445, an increase of supplies and materials for instruction of $32,529 and an increase of other charges of $8,802.

Contracted services for instruction were shown as reduced by $1,992 but Dr. Hamilton pointed out this was because a $2,655 item for consultants had not been added.

Jack Tritt, school purchasing supervisor, presented the school administration budget, showing a salary increase of $45,316, a service increase of $18,730, a $1,950 increase in other charges but a $1,076 reduction in supplies and materials.

Mount Active In National Education Program

Eugene A. LaCroce, financial aid officer at Mt. St. Mary's College, recently stated the college currently is participating in the National Defense Education Act's student loan program in the amount of approximately $50,000 per year with nearly 200 students benefiting.

The annual turnover of students is approximately 50 per year.

The NDEA, which originally was passed in 1958, has been extended with several amendments added which provide for new programs benefiting students interested in college teaching careers and providing funds for graduate studies.

Loans, amounting to a maximum of $1,000 a year and based on the need of qualified students, repayable at a low rate of interest after the completion of study, are through the participating institutions.

To be eligible for a loan, a person must be a full or part-time student demonstrating financial need and maintaining good standing in his college work. Eligibility is judged by the institution where enrolled.

Special consideration is given to students interested in the teaching profession, both in selection and in repayment of the loan. A full-time teacher may remit his loan repayment by one-half.

For information on the program and other scholarship aid a person should contact the financial aid officer of the college.

Mrs. Bernard H. Boyle had the misfortune to slip and fall Tuesday. She was transported to the Warner Hospital via the VFW ambulance where she was admitted and underwent x-ray and observation. She is reported to have injured her back and twisted leg muscles. The ambulance driver was Leo M. Boyle.

Many men owe the grandeur of their lives to their tremendous difficulties.—Spurgeon.

Hospital Urgently In Need Of Nurses

The Annie Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, this week made an urgent appeal to the "nurse-housewives" of the area to consider returning to the profession by working at the hospital.

Mrs. Pauline Mowery, director of nursing service, said there is an "urgent need" for both registered nurses and licensed practical nurses at the hospital.

The shortage of nurses locally is due to "many opportunities for employment by nurses in other hospitals, in convalescent homes, state hospitals, doctors' offices, schools, etc."

So far the shortage has not affected the quality of nursing care given at the hospital "due to the devoted efforts of many of the nurses who have worked additional hours as needed but, as with anyone else, they would like to avoid too much overtime work because they have homes to care for, and would like time for recreation and other activities," an official said.

Mrs. Mowery said a census of nurses in the area shows a number of women who are nurses but who have not been active for some time, for various reasons, mostly to raise their families.

In an effort to encourage those whose children may now have grown old enough to permit the mother to work, Mrs. Mowery said nurses will be offered the opportunity for part-time work if they cannot work a full day, and that the part-time work "could be at hours convenient to them."

She added that a refresher course will be offered for those inactive nurses who wish to enroll before returning to active duty.

Mrs. William R. Slemmer, Emmitsburg, was the guest speaker. She gave a delightful talk on the book "Legends of the Madonna," by Mrs. Anna Jameson. Mrs. Slemmer showed the club members her collection of Madonna pictures, explaining each one. Her talk was very interesting and informative.

Mr. Houck spoke about the Cooper-Hughes Commission study of taxation in Maryland. The commission's report will be submitted to the legislature for passage in the present session. The purpose of the study has been to make a more equitable tax structure for the state.

It was reported that a profit was made from the sale of fruit cakes and that the Ways and Means Committee would try to hold a Dutch Maid Party in conjunction with a spring meeting.

A new member, Mrs. Mary Jane Miller, was introduced to the club.

Ellis Wachter Is Candidate

Ellis C. Wachter, incumbent clerk of Circuit Court, has announced his candidacy for an 8th term this week.

Wachter, 57, has been employed in the Clerk of the Court's office for nearly 39 years and has been clerk of the court for almost 30 years.

Duties of the Clerk of the Court have increased over the years, most recently including the authority to perform civil marriage ceremonies, but the personnel in this office has increased by only two persons in 30 years, said Wachter.

Mr. Wachter says "this office operates on its own funds received from legal fees for services performed and costs the county nothing to operate except for the maintenance of office space."

"All salaries, equipment, supplies and records of this office are paid for out of these legal fees and costs the local taxpayers nothing," he continued.

Ellis was appointed deputy clerk of the Circuit Court on July 1, 1927, and was made chief deputy in February, 1936. He was appointed Clerk of the Court on Nov. 25, 1936 after the death of Eli G. Haugh.

Mr. Wachter was elected Clerk of the Court in the general elections of 1938 and has been re-elected every four years since.

Ellis received the Republican nomination without opposition in all of the primaries and has been an active Republican campaign worker for other GOP candidates.

He is a member of the Columbia Lodge of the Masons, Frederick Perfection Scottish Rite Lodge, the Frederick Chapter of the Eastern Star, the Loyal Order of Moose, the Frederick Breakfast Optimist Club and the Frederick Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Wachter is a former member and secretary of the church council and is secretary of the Maryland State Assn. of Clerks of the Court.

The veteran clerk attended the Hansonville and Bloomfield elementary schools and was graduated from the Frederick High School. He was born in Hansonville on July 5, 1908, the son of the late Allen Thomas Wachter and Elizabeth V. (Green) Wachter.

Brunswick Editor Is Candidate

James L. Bryan, a newspaper publisher, this week threw his hat into the ring in a Feb. 15 special election for Mayor of Brunswick.

Bryan claimed strong public support in a poll by mail on his proposal for a city manager form of government.

Only other announced candidate is Acting Mayor Jess B. Orndorff, who took over after the death of Mayor James B. Cummings Jan. 3.

In his announcement, Bryan said: "When such a large group of individuals who have been so kind to me over the years speak as they have, I have no choice but to become a candidate."

Snow Blankets Area; Schools Lose 2 Days

The Emmitsburg District was covered with a mantle of snow which accumulated to an estimated seven inches Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning.

The precipitation represented the first measurable snow in this area so far this winter. The snow was of the wet type and caused little or no trouble with the highways. However Sunday's winds dried out the snow and considerable drifting was reported in Frederick County. Frederick County schools declared a holiday Monday to make an extended weekend for the kiddies. A number of automobile mishaps was reported by State Police.

The new by-pass of Emmitsburg was the scene of two mishaps, both involving trucks. On Saturday night at approximately 10 p.m., a GMC truck, driven by Jacob John Poulson, R2, Emmitsburg, was traveling west on Rt. 97 near the Rt. 15 intersection when it suddenly reversed its direction on the slippery road, headed back towards Taneytown and flopped over on its side. Police Chief W. E. Law said Poulson was uninjured and no charges were preferred. Little or no damage occurred to the vehicle.

On Sunday night around 10:30 o'clock, a Virginia tractor-trailer slipped off the Route 15 by-pass about a quarter of a mile north of the intersection of Rts. 15 and 97 east of Emmitsburg, ran off the highway on the left side and came to a halt. A New York car slammed into the trailer which remained partly on the highway. The 1960 Chevrolet had minor damage while the truck was reported undamaged in the mishap. State Trooper 1/c Richard C. Konkin, investigating, reported the road slippery at the scene and no charges were preferred. No passengers or drivers were injured in the mishap.

Snow returned to this area again Wednesday morning about 10 o'clock and again State and County snowplows were pressed into service. Parking remained dangerous in Emmitsburg as Saturday's snow had not yet been removed when the new covering descended adding to the woes of local motorists. Wednesday and Thursday's total amounted to six inches, bringing the total snowfall so far in 1966 to approximately 13 inches.

Temperatures remained on the frigid side all week and little if any melting of the snow has occurred. Charnita resort played host to record numbers of skiing enthusiasts as they converged from several states on the popular resort near here.

All local schools were dismissed at noon Wednesday in order to return the children to their homes before the snow accumulated enough to make travelling dangerous. On Thursday they again were granted a day off.

Medicare Will Be Explained At Local School

Medicare for people over 65 will be discussed at a series of meetings to be held throughout Frederick County.

The public is invited and representatives of the Social Security office will be on hand to answer questions about the new health insurance program.

Meetings are scheduled for Emmitsburg at the public school on Monday, Feb. 14 at 7 p.m.; Thurmont High School, Tuesday, Feb. 1, 7 p.m.; Brunswick High, Monday, Jan. 31 at 7 p.m. and Walkersville High, Monday, Feb. 7 at 7 o'clock.

All persons 65 or older who have not signed up for Medicare are urged to attend one of these meetings. It is necessary to sign during the first enrollment period in order to be covered under the health insurance program when it starts in July, 1966. The first enrollment period ends March 31. Those not enrolling before April 1966 will not have another opportunity to enroll until the last three months of 1967.

Nearly every American 65 or over may enroll in the health insurance program, even if he has never had a Social Security number.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babsin's Point of View On:
How To Go About Buying
A Home

BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 27—These bits of advice are aimed chiefly at young couples, those earning enough to consider buying their first home. There are many positive things to look for, as well as some dangers to be avoided. Buying a home will probably be the newlyweds' first great necessity and their first important investment.

Choosing A Location
Before looking for your "dream house", decide on the most sensible and convenient general location in terms of where your job is (or jobs, if your wife also works). If you want to go suburban, be sure that your enthusiasm for one special locale does not lure you so far away from your work that commuting time and expenses become a serious burden.

In many instances, a husband and wife will want to agree on how close they would like to be to where they were brought up, to their families, their friends. It is better to talk these things out together in advance rather than have them become a bone of contention later on.

After you have chosen the general area, then you can give attention to selecting a house that you both like, and that you can afford to maintain without undue financial strain. Young husbands frequently are able to learn much about the problems of buying real estate by talking with people who have had experience: Their parents, business associates, officials of their bank, and responsible real estate agents. There is a tendency for youthful enthusiasm to push "green" couples in over their heads.

What House Can You Afford?

It is better for you to buy a less expensive house at the beginning and enjoy it than to reach beyond your means and be constantly strapped—or even lose the house. The down payment may vary widely, but that is something you must work out to fit your particular circumstances. Of greater long-term consideration is the amount of your expected income that should be allotted for monthly payments on your home, including all realty taxes, mortgage, upkeep, and regular utilities. A guideline often set is about one-quarter of your spend-able income. To go much beyond that at the start is asking for trouble, even though young workers may have reason to expect their family income to rise as time goes on.

There are many older homes appearing on the market; and they could offer the best starting point. The equity that you build up in any substantial well-constructed house is one type of hedge against inflation, since home values generally move up at least as much as prices overall. An older home, kept in excellent condition or improved where possible, can usually be sold later on at a profit as long as our "creeping" inflation continues. This should assure you a safe backlog, in case increasing need for family space and improving income prompt you to sell and buy a more ambitious place.

Look For Lasting Values

Before buying, take a good look at the lasting virtues of a house in terms of its community appeal. Avoid sections that are declining, whatever the reason. See how much land you can get with the house; extra lots are a good longer-term investment almost anywhere. Investigate schools, stores, community services, highway prospects, churches, public transportation, local taxes, and community government. If such aspects of the area satisfy you, they will doubtless satisfy other prospective buyers in the event you decide to sell for any reason in the future.

We have long recommended the purchase of water-site property, on oceans, rivers, lakes, or ponds. There is only so much of that kind of land, and there will never be any more. So, if you find something within your range that borders water, that may well be an important added factor in making your first choice of a home. One last word: The best values for later resale are the lowest-priced houses in a good area.

Freezing Ulcers Fails As A Cure

Treating duodenal ulcers by gastric freezing fails nine times out of ten, reports the American Medical Association. Although gastric freezing does not often cure the ulcer, the AMA says it does have one remarkable effect on patients: It improves their emotional state. In some cases, painful symptoms disappeared even though ulcer-causing secretions of hydrochloric acid remained high.

Natural hot water isn't rare. There are about 5,500 thermal springs (naturally heated spring waters) located around the world, reports the U. S. Geological Survey. About 1,350 are in North America, 500 in South America, 700 in Europe, 1,300 in Asia and 400 in Africa. Iceland itself has more than 500; the West Indies about 65; Java, 150; Philippines, 90; and New Zealand, 70.

Oil from Crambe, a new crop developed in U. S. Department of Agriculture research, shows promise as a lubricant in continuous casting of steel. It keeps the hot metal from sticking to molds and cracking them. Oil and meal obtained from crambe seeds were marketed for the first time last year. Unknown in the U. S. six years ago, crambe will be grown in many Western and Midwestern wheat areas. Crambe oil shows promise as a source of chemicals for use in nylon, plastics and waxes.

Dry ice does its job, then disappears. Unlike most solids, which must become liquids before they can become gases, dry ice, which is solid carbon dioxide, changes directly from a solid to a gas. It's this unique property of sublimation that makes dry ice so useful and versatile, says Cardox, Chicago.

The Department of Defense has awarded the University of Michigan a $1.3-million contract to develop a computer language so that man can better use the newest generation of computers. The university has also received a $100,000 grant from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to develop a gigantic, web-like six-mile radio antenna that would orbit the earth.

Recent earthquakes are mere

When we go skiing, we go in style...in our '66 Ford. I choose the speed I want with the automatic speed control...select the music I want with the stereo tape player...and relax with one of the world's quietest rides.

(I should have stayed in the car.)

Ford sales are booming! One reason—engineering magic like this:

New stereo tape player option with easy-loading cartridges. ■ New station wagon Magic Door-gate—swings out like a door for people and down like a tailgate for cargo. ■ New automatic speed control option. ■ A ride so quiet that owners of European luxury cars—from a handcrafted Jaguar to a $14,000 Mercedes—have said, after a demonstration ride in a Ford XL or LTD, that it was even quieter than their custom-built cars. ■ Quiet-test a '66 Ford for yourself.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Fish should be strung through the lower jaw only.

What's wrong with stringing through both lips?

A fish's nostrils are only shallow pits not opening back, and his lips are stiff, hard. If your lips were taped together in the middle, you could breathe through your nose, or open your lips at just one side to do so; but a fish obviously can do neither. Therefore, if his lips are practically fastened together in the middle, so little water can get through that he immediately begins to weaken and slowly die.

Also, when a bass is strung through both lips, his flopping around tears the thin parts of his upper jaw very badly and it soon becomes suffused and discolored with blood—so when you bring him in to show him off to your friends, he presents a disgusting rather than an admirable appearance. A walleye is much like a bass in this respect. "A pike has a still more extensive area of very thin tissue on his upper jaw, so he'll look terribly mangled and nasty if strung through his tips," warns Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

Remember not to leave that stringer of fish out when running full out—it will pull your boat sideways and slow you down. At slow speeds, there is little problem of drag, as the fish's mouths are not held open.

There's another important angle to the question of how to string your fish: You may have on your stringer as many as you want to take in—which, if you're a sportsman rather than a fish hog, will often be fewer than the law allows. But you keep on fishing for sport—with artificial, so as not to hook the fish deeply and injure them badly—and releasing them. And you happen to land one much larger than any you already have.

If each is strung with a wire snap through the extreme forward part of the lower jaw, behind his hard lip, there will be only a tiny hole there (which will soon heal), and he'll look as fresh as when you first caught him—so you can feel justified in liberating your smallest to put that big one on instead. Of course nobody with the most rudimentary notions of sportsmanship, or even decency, would turn a fish loose with his upper jaw badly mutilated by two-lip stringing.

The oldest living thing in the world today is believed to be the sequoia tree. Certain specimens are known to be 2,000 years old.

When your clothesline needs washing, coil it around a washboard or a piece of wood about that size, stand it in a tub of hot soapy water, and scrub it thoroughly with a brush. To avoid twisting or tangling, let it dry right on the board, and put it up again when it's completely dry.

Your Personal Health

Mouth Breathing

Mouth breathing can affect your child's dental and physical health. Parents generally realize that some oral habits, such as thumb-sucking, when carried on too far in the child's age, affect the teeth in such a way as to push them into abnormal positions. Thumb-sucking is only one of the so-called "bad" oral habits. Mouth breathing can also be detrimental to the child's health. It is often overlooked and undetected.

The importance of proper attention for mouth breathers is stressed this winter during the 18th National Children's Dental Health Week, sponsored Feb. 6-12 by the American Dental Association.

Mouth breathing means that the individual has a habit of breathing through the mouth. When this occurs continuously, the gum tissues are irritated through the drying effects of the air. The tissues become inflamed, sometimes swollen and even painful.

Mouth breathing can contribute to a different kind of tooth decay pattern than usually seen. The typical mouth breather shows large whitish soft spots around the gum line of the front teeth, the result of drying of the foreign material that collects about the necks of the teeth. A continual mouth breather often develops a change in the position of the teeth, or in other terms, may also develop a malocclusion.

When the child continually holds his mouth open, the muscular support of the tongue and lower lip are lost to the upper teeth. The teeth collapse toward the inside of the mouth, thereby narrowing the dental arch. Often the front teeth will begin to protrude.

When a child continually breathes through his mouth, the air does not pass through the nose, missing the important function that the nose plays in preparing the air for the lungs. As dry, dirty, cold air from the outside passes through the nose, the air is filtered by the hairs in the nose; it is warmed by the large mass of blood vessels that are inside the nose, and is humidified by the moisture that the nose contains. Mouth breathing usually will result in an increase in upper respiratory infections. The child will have more colds, or even suffer a more serious lung problem.

Not every child who breathes through his mouth should be considered a mouth breather, for many children have short upper lips and will keep their mouths open while breathing through their nose. Who then, becomes a mouth breather?

Children with narrow faces have a tendency to have narrow airways or noses, easily closed off because of a minor cold. Some children will have enlarged adenoid or tonsil tissue, which normally grows in excess up to about 10 years of age and then diminishes in size. During this period, the airway may be obstructed by the tonsils. The child is forced to breathe through his mouth until he outgrows his enlarged tonsils. He develops a breathing habit not easily corrected.

Mouth breathing is very common between the ages of 4-12 and is easily diagnosed by your physician or dentist. It should be corrected to prevent harmful dental and physical effects.

To remove grease spots from wallpaper, try holding a clean white blotter over the spot with a warm iron for several minutes. The heat should melt the oil or grease so it can be absorbed by the blotter.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

The Emmitsburg Chronicle, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws. Clip and save for future reference. Questions And Answers

Q. My refund was held up last year because you said you could-not read the name on my return. Why was this a problem if your ADP works on numbers?

A. Correct social security numbers are essential to the ADP system but we also use names in the ADP system. Your experience points up the necessity to print or type your name at the top of the tax form.

When we have the right number on a tax return but the name is wrong or illegible they won't match up in the system. This insures that only your returns, payments, etc. will be recorded in your account. When either the name or account number fails to match our records we have to ask the taxpayer whether the spelling is correct, the name has been changed, or the number is correct. As a result, there is a delay in the processing of the return and any refund due.

Q. When a husband and wife file separately can the husband ever claim his wife as a dependent?

A. No. Under the law husbands and wives are not considered each other's dependents. On a separate return you may claim the exemption for your wife, however, if she had no gross income and was not the dependent of another taxpayer.

Q. My son went to work last fall after his graduation. Can we still claim him as a dependent? He is unmarried and lives at home.

A. If you have provided more than one half his support for the year, you may be able to claim him as a dependent. In addition to this support test, if he earned $600 or more during the year, then he had to be under 19 at the end of the year, or else have been a full time student for some part of each of 5 months during the year.

Q. I paid my tax and now I get a bill for it. Why is that?

A. Your payment could have become separated from your return or the payment might have arrived after the day it was due.

To clear this up, write the office which sent you the bill and give them full details on your payment (date, amount, purpose, etc.). Be sure to give your social security number and to print your name when you write.

It's a good practice when making a tax payment to write your social security number, as well as your name, legibly on the check or money order.

Q. Our medical expenses should be well over 3 per cent of our income. Can you tell me if we can deduct the full amount of our expense that we have been billed for or just what we have paid so far on these bills?

A. Only the amount you actually paid last year should be used as the basis for figuring your medical expense deduction. Remember to deduct from that total whatever reimbursement insurance, etc. you received for these expenses.

Medical expenses which exceed 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income will be deductible. However, only medicine and drugs over 1 per cent of your adjusted gross income can be included as a part of those medical expenses. If you or your wife are 65 or over, these limitations do not apply to either of you.

Q. What can be deducted by salesmen for the cost of operating a car?

A. You may be entitled to deduct 10¢ a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use and 7¢ a mile thereafter if you qualify, or you may deduct the actual cost of operation including depreciation. Of course your car travel must be an ordinary and necessary business expense. These rules are explained in more detail in the 1040 instructions.

Q. I received unemployment benefits from the state last year. Are they taxable?

A. No. State unemployment benefits are not taxable and do not have to be reported.

For further information contact your local Internal Revenue Service office.

DON'T FORGET—If you are due a refund, mail your return directly to Internal Revenue Service, Philadelphia, Pa. 19154.

Average per capita income in Haiti is $65 a year.

Higher Accident Rate For Drivers Operating Alone

If you want to avoid involvement in a single-car traffic accident, take along a passenger.

This advice from Executive Vice President Harry E. Uhler of the AAA Automobile Club of Maryland is based on a recent study of 5,200 single-car accidents by a California highway patrol research analyst.

Your chances of being involved in a single-car highway mishap are about 2½ times greater if you are driving alone, the study showed. Other findings, according to Mr. Uhler:

One half of fatal accidents of all types involved just one automobile.

Faulty driving, including lack of manipulative skill and mistake in judgment, accounted for 25 per cent of the accidents. Excessive speed was responsible for another 24 per cent; the influence of drinking or drugs, 14 per cent, and mechanical failure such as brakes, lights, exhaust system, 10 per cent.

Men are more often involved in accidents caused by speed, drinking and drowsiness, the AAA official noted. Women fall victim to faulty driving, emergency situations and distractions within the car.

The 15-24 age group is the most dangerous category for single-car accidents, while middle age is the least dangerous. Such accidents are more frequent during the 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. nighttime period, with the 3 to 6 a.m. period the most dangerous.

$15,000 Race

At Bowie Saturday

BOWIE, Md.—Raymond E. Vogelmann Jr.'s Mr. Judex, a winner in his only start of the year, is expected to head the field for the fourth running of the $16,500 added Annapolis Stake at Bowie Race Course Saturday.

The Annapolis, won last year by Steve Leo Jr., is for three-year-old Maryland foals at seven furlongs. It is the first Maryland-bred stake of the year and drew 27 nominations.

Mr. Judex established himself as the one to beat in the Annapolis with a win in the $11,000 E. Palmer Heagerty Purse the second day of this meeting. Mr. Judex and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver C. Goldsmith's Bay Hawk waged a hectic duel before Mr. Judex earned the neck decision.

Mr. Judex had three wins to his credit last year before his success in the Heagerty Purse. He had to settle for third in the Maryland Futurity after having led for half the distance. He has been unplaced only once in his nine starts.

Alder Branch Farm's Exceedingly and Elm Tree Stable's Pyramidal, third place scorers in their respective divisions of the Pimlico Breeders' Stakes, have proven their ability of coping with Mr. Judex in prior competition.

J. C. Ferris' Sport Casey, defeated in two starts, has been made eligible for the Annapolis on the merit of his successes. This will be the first stakes start for Sport Casey.

W. C. Freeman's home-bred Crying Towel enjoyed a pair of Aqueduct wins before a fifth place finish in the Pimlico Breeders' Stakes.

One of Bay Hawk's most creditable performances came in the Heagerty Purse when he pursued Mr. Judex to the wire before having to settle for a tight second.

Gettysburg Offers Sales Days

The first semi-annual Sale Days of 1966, sponsored by the Gettysburg Retail Merchants Association, will be held Friday and Saturday. More than $500 in store prizes will be given away during the two-day affair.

In order to be eligible for the prizes, in the form of $5 and $10 gift certificates, patrons may secure a free ticket at any one of 44 participating stores which display the yellow sale days pennants. Fill it out and leave at the store. All stores will be open both days from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Drawings for all prizes will be held Saturday evening at 9 o'clock. Free parking will be offered to all shoppers during the two sale days. This was made possible through the cooperation of the Gettysburg Borough Council and the retail merchants.

Vets' Questionnaire Due In Mail

Veterans and dependents of veterans on Veterans Administration's compensation and pension rolls who have school age children, will receive a special questionnaire with their January checks, Rufus H. Wilson, Manager of the Baltimore Veterans Administration Regional Office, announced today.

Mr. Wilson said the checks and questionnaires would arrive in their mail box about February 1, 1966.

Need for the information asked by the questionnaire follows a recent law that provided higher rates of additional payments for school children, and at the same time, raised the maximum age limit from 21 to 23.

The questionnaire also asks for the payee's zip code number in keeping with current postal regulations in order to speed up the delivery of both checks and correspondence.

A space also is provided for the payee's social security number, if readily available, so that identification files may be kept up to date.

The questionnaire should not be mutilated nor folded and all questions should be answered before the card is signed. A special addressed envelope is provided for the return of the questionnaire.

Price Support

Applications Due

The Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service State Office has reminded farmers that the deadlines are drawing close for filing applications for price support on a number of 1965 crops. An approved application entitles a producer to receive price support through loans or purchases of the commodity by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC).

Chairman James M. Voss of the ASC State Committee said that January 31 is the final date on which an application may be filed, in a local county ASCS office, for price support on barley, oats, rye, and wheat. Corn applications may be made until April 1, and soybeans until June 30.

The ASC official said some producers have made applications, but have not yet paid the $3 application fee. Such applications will not be valid unless the fee is paid by the deadline.

Chairman Voss also reminded growers to keep close watch of the condition of commodities stored on the farm. Condition and quality of the crop will be the determining factor in the price producers get if they decide to deliver the crop under the support program at the end of the season.

OUTDOOR TIPS

Camp Cleaner

Washing handkerchiefs and shirts in fishing camp will be more successful if you add a teaspoon of vinegar to the wash water. Helps cut fishy smell, keeps clothes smelling sweet.

Nature's Stickum

Sap from the milkweed plant dries and hardens like glue. Use it if you need a quick repair.

Banded Reel

Wrap a rubber band around the base of your rod handle to keep it from turning. Hook can also go through elastic for safe keeping.

Big One

When a big fish hits and runs, don't try to stop him by thumbing the line. Your finger will blister. Thumb the smooth side of the reel.

Spare Mantle

You'll always have a mantle for gasoline lantern if you tape a spare (in its cellophane container) to the bottom of your lantern.

Old Timer's Trick

Old Timer's carry an aluminum seat when rabbit hunting. When a bunny jumps they know he will run in a big circle and pass near where he started. So the Old Timer's sit down and take it easy waiting for the shot. That's how they get to be Old Timer's.

Floating Seat

Stick an automobile inner tube in a burlap bag. Seal bag but leave the valve sticking out. When you want a comfortable seat, fill tube with air. When you want to store, remove valve core and squeeze air out. Good for boat too. (It floats!)

Be not therefore anxious—(Matt. 6:31).

Anxiety does not add anything to our well-being, it merely leads to frustration. We should follow Jesus' teaching, when He said "Be not anxious for you life, what you shall eat, or what you shall drink; nor what you shall put on. Live each moment in faith."
