BY ABIGAIL

Dear old Abigail has been bit by the bug. The water bug, the school bug, the road bug, and now the flu bug . . . that's progress someone said.

We hope the "old gal" makes a rapid recovery. As rapid as the State Roads Commission did with the lights on the Emmitsburg by-pass.

Coming from Baltimore the other evening and witnessing the lights of the Burg in the distance, we stopped to wonder what another decade will bring to this scene.

Beginning with Mount Saint Mary's and the welcome light of the Blessed Mother's beacon to St. Joseph's, the town's new street lights, the lighted by-pass, etc., one can see the possibility of a growing metropolis right here and soon!

Take the test yourself some evening. Visualize all the space between all the lights filled with homes, stores, schools, churches, industries and what is most important—people!

Sounds fantastic or does it? As a cousin from the city we that some of dear old Aunt Abigail's dreams come true.

As we all wish her well with her battle with the bug maybe it would be wise if we took up some of her other battles for the betterment of the Burg.

It sure is easy to sit back and complain about the water, the road, the schools, and whatever else comes to mind. But where are these civic spirited individuals when it comes time to run for public office, serve on committees, etc.

Town elections are in the winds. Where are the declared candidates? Maybe this is your cue.

Let's hope it's a cure for Abigail and the Burg she's always fighting for . . . Ye Editor, substituting for Abigail.

Speaking of candidates—Pat McGucken has filed to run in the Congressional race. This is quite an undertaking, both personal and financially, and I don't believe we have ever had a local citizen file for such high office. While Pat is not a native Emmitsburgian, he and his family have lived here for some time and have made many friends locally. We wish Pat every success in his campaign and would be delighted to have a United States Congressman living in our midst.

Last week's article on the promotion of a "business procurement agency" has caused some repercussions and created interest. I fail to see why some small industry could not be attracted to town. Many of the faculty families of the colleges locate here because of the educational opportunities, close proximity to metropolitan areas, natural resources, etc. Might it not be true that some industries would want to locate a plant and their personnel here for the very same interests? Perhaps an Economic Development Committee could serve a very useful purpose along these lines.

MISS REGINA M. CHRISMER

Miss Regina M. Chrismer, 94, a Gettysburg native and for many years a chiropractor in Baltimore, died Saturday in the Park Hill Nursing Home in Baltimore where she had been a guest for the last four years.

164 Pints Of Blood Donated By Collegians

The Bloodmobile visit to Mount Saint Mary's College last Monday collected 164 pints of blood, according to Postmaster James A. Grove, Chairman of the Frederick County Blood Program. There were 175 persons who appeared at the Bloodmobile and 11 of them were deferred for medical reasons.

A breakdown of statistics show that there were 107 students donating, 54 of them had donated to the program in previous years and 53 were new donors. 65 seminarians were donors on Monday, 40 of them had previously donated to the Blood Program and 25 were new donors. Also donating were two civilian employees of the college and one donor from the Emmitsburg area who was affiliated with St. Joseph College.

The only person receiving a gallon pin was Rocco Verrengio, a Seminarian.

Mr. Grove stated that in past years the Bloodmobile had made only one visit to the Emmitsburg area. However, a second visit has been scheduled and this will be made to St. Joseph College on Wednesday, April 27, and the hours of registration will be from 1:00 until 5:30 p.m. Once again the residents of the Emmitsburg area are invited to participate in the Blood Program by stopping at the Bloodmobile operation on the 27th of April. Also, any person of Mount Saint Mary's who did not have the opportunity to donate blood on Monday are invited to do so on that date.

Miss Blatt Receives Louise DeMarillac Medal

The Honorable Genevieve Blatt, Secretary of Internal Affairs for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Saturday urged Catholic college women, and Saint Joseph College, in particular, to "bring something extra" to the work they do, a "plus value" that will give their work special significance. At the annual Louise DeMarillac Convocation on the Emmitsburg campus, Miss Blatt told a capacity audience of students, faculty, and friends in DePaul auditorium, that, "This 'something extra' is their belief not only in the brotherhood of man, but expressly in the fatherhood of God." Referring to the 17th century French foundress of the American community of the Daughters of Charity who conduct Saint Joseph College, Miss Blatt said, "This is the 'something extra' that so distinguished the work of Louise DeMarillac when she was not only beloved in her own day in France for her great works of charity, but she is still revered as the patron saint of all social workers of the Catholic world. This is the 'plus value', too, that makes Elizabeth Seton's work memorable to-day, just as it was when she founded Saint Joseph's 150 years ago."

The Most Reverend George L. Leech, D.D., Bishop of Harrisburg, presented Miss Blatt with the Louise DeMarillac Medal, which is awarded annually by the college to a Catholic laywoman in recognition of her self-sacrificing personal service to her neighbor.

Cited for her extraordinary contribution to the welfare of the citizens of her state and her country, Miss Blatt is the ninth Catholic laywoman to receive the Mirallic medal award which was initiated in 1959 by the college.

Senior Citizens Of Area Plan Program

Senior Citizens of the Emmitsburg area turned out in amazing numbers on Tuesday evening. The first meeting of the group was a bigger success than the committee dared hope for. It just shows what can be done when interested people work together and share time and talents.

The meeting began promptly at 8 p.m. in the Lutheran Parish Hall put at the group's disposal by the generosity and interest of Pastor Fearer. Sister Madeleine, of the Saint Joseph College faculty, began with a brief explanation of the development of the Commission on the Aging in Frederick County. She congratulated the Emmitsburg citizens for their outstanding support in the initial effort of securing data by means of a questionnaire in early November. This proved important in obtaining the establishment of the County Commission on Aging. The questionnaire also furnished much information which stimulated the formation of a Senior Citizens group here in Emmitsburg.

Officers and committee chairmen were selected at a meeting of the Big "M" Go-Kart Club held Sunday afternoon at the VFW. Thirty-three members attended.

Officers for the coming year are as follows: president, William Boyd; vice president, Lewis Hahn; secretary, Robert Boyd; and treasurer, Roscoe Harbaugh.

Committee chairmen who were appointed are as follows: Track, Robert Koontz; Safety, Marlin Deardorff; Technical, Russell Brown; and Awards, Roger Adams.

The group set May 1 as the opening date for the coming season, weather permitting. Robert Koontz, chairman of the Track Committee, requests that as many members as possible be present at the Lions Club Civic Field on Sunday afternoon, March 27, to check the track and discuss improvements needed before opening day.

President Boyd requested that anyone interested in purchasing a kart or motor for the purpose of participating in club events contact him or any member to determine the various engine sizes, their condition, and the class in which the participant would be entered.

A new class has been added this year for motors with a 4.9 cubic inch displacement and under. This is a comparatively small engine that would be excellent for lightweight beginners, particularly young teen-agers, who are encouraged to enter.

Any member will be glad to assist interested individuals concerning membership, engines, karts, cost, insurance, and any other questions. Information may also be obtained by calling 447-5352.

Mount Graduate Named Auxiliary To Archbishop O'Boyle

In naming the Very Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Herrmann to the ecclesiastical rank of Auxiliary Bishop to Archbishop O'Boyle, Archdiocese of Washington, D. C., His Holiness Pope Paul VI has named the 40th alumnus of Mount Saint Mary's College and Seminary, to the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

Monsignor Herrmann was designated Bishop-elect in an announcement made by Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, Apostolic Delegate to the United States, on Wednesday, March 9. His appointment is that of Auxiliary Bishop of Washington and titular Bishop of Lamzella, an ancient see.

Bishop-elect Herrman, a native of Baltimore, has served as vice chancellor of the archdiocese since 1962. He previously was assistant chancellor from 1951. The 52-year-old Baltimorean is the son of Mrs. Jennie Doyle Herrmann and the late Walter E. Herrman. Reared in the Lutheran Church, Bishop Herrmann, his mother, and sister were received into the Roman Catholic Church in 1919 following the death of the father.

He attended parochial schools in Baltimore, graduating from Loyola High School in 1931. To assist in the support of his family he did not enter college until 1940.

He then resumed his studies at Mount Saint Mary's College in Emmitsburg, where he continued through the Mount Seminary. Ordained to the holy priesthood in June, 1947, he was assigned to the parish of Our Lady of Victory, Washington, D. C. He also served at St. Ann's parish and was named pastor of St. Mary's in 1960.

In 1958, the late Pope John named him a papal chamberlain with the title of Very Reverend Monsignor. Bishop-elect Herrmann is also a member of the Knights of Columbus, Fourth Degree.

Bishop-elect Herrmann is the second Mountaineer priest named to the hierarchy within a year. In the Spring of 1965, Bishop Antonio Parrilla-Bonilla of Puerto Rico was elevated. He is one of four living Mountaineer bishops; the others are The Most Rev. Bishop Richard O. Gerow, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese of Natchez-Jackson, Miss., who recently celebrated his fortieth anniversary and The Most Reverend James E. Walsh, M.M., D.D., who is a prisoner in Communist China.

Traditionally referred to as "the Cradle of Bishops," Mount Saint Mary's College and Seminary, which was founded in 1808 and is the second oldest Catholic college in the U. S., boasts of the first American Cardinal, John Cardinal McCloskey, six Archbishops, and many Bishops, including her founder, The Most Reverend John Dubois, among her distinguished alumni. More than 30 institutions of Catholic higher education can trace their antecedents to illustrious sons of Mount St. Mary's.

Medicare Applications Available Here

Clerk-in-Charge Larrp A. Pennington of Emmitsburg announced today that application blanks for Supplemental Medicare benefits are available at the General Delivery window of the Emmitsburg Post Office.

The application blanks are being made available as the Social Security Administration seeks to contact 3.1 million senior citizens before a March 31 deadline imposed by the Medicare law.

President Johnson has proclaimed March as "National Medicare Enrollment Month." He urged all federal agencies and all citizens to cooperate in enrolling senior citizens in the program.

Initially, some two and one-half million application blanks were distributed to nearly 34,000 main post offices throughout the 50 states. Additional forms are available as needed.

Through direct mailings and other means, the Social Security Administration has had contact with 16 of the 19.1 million citizens who will be 65 or over on July 1. Of the 16 million who replied, less than one million said they did not want to sign up for the Supplemental program.

The Supplemental program costs $3 a month and provides doctor bill and other benefits. Everyone 65 and over is eligible for the basic hospital benefits under Medicare.

A copy of the application blank is displayed on the lobby bulletin board of the Emmitsburg Post Office.

Senior citizens who reached 65 before 1966 face a two-year delay if they do not sign up by March 31. The application forms are pre-addressed to the Social Security Administration.

TOO WEAK TO STAND; TOO YOUNG TO KNOW. This pitifully weak and malnourished little Vietnamese lies on a "mattress" made from a gunny sack on the floor of a refugee shelter operated by Catholic Relief Services, the overseas aid agency of American Catholics. After a torturous flight from Viet Cong terror and tyranny, the little one's family arrived at the refugee center. There they received food and clothing, and the child was given medical attention. Catholic Relief Services, supported by the Bishops' Overseas Relief Fund, conducts the largest private voluntary aid program in Vietnam, and operates welfare and relief programs in areas of need in 79 other countries throughout the world. Make a donation to the Bishops' Overseas Relief Fund Appeal, March 13-20, and help continue the works of mercy in behalf of the many thousands of refugees and other war victims in Vietnam, as well as for the thousands of hungry, homeless and destitute all over the world.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

The Emmitsburg Chronicle, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws. Clip and save for future reference.

Tax Refunds Are Not Automatic
You will not receive an automatic refund of tax withheld from your wages unless you file a tax return, said Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue for Maryland and District of Columbia.

Many taxpayers believe that when the tax is more than the tax liability, the overpayment automatically will be refunded to them by the government.

Although no tax return is required when the gross income received during the year is less than $600, Mr. Machiz said that a return must be filed to obtain a refund of the tax withheld.

This advice is particularly applicable to students and other taxpayers who worked only a part of the year.

Forms 1040 and 1040A must be filed by everyone over 65 years of age whose gross income for 1965 is $600 or more. If the taxpayer is 65 years or older, a return is required only if total income amounts to $1,200 or more.

What To Do If You Do Not Receive Your Form W-2
Many Maryland and District of Columbia taxpayers may have to file their 1965 Federal income tax return without having received from their employer a wage and tax statement, Form W-2.

Some advice to these taxpayers was offered this week by District Director Machiz. He suggests:

Try to get a Form W-2 from your employer. If the employer has gone out of business, contact him or the present owner of the business, and request your Form W-2.

Shenandoah Track Opens Tonight

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — Shenandoah Downs will stage its earliest opening in its eight-year history tonight (Friday) as a 76-program meeting gets under way.

Shenandoah, which introduced night thoroughbred racing here in 1959, will race at 7:15 each evening through June 4 for a total of 67 nights.

The $4 million plant has been painted and refurbished for the 1966 season, with complete redecorating of the Starlight Terrace dining room topping the improvements. The spectacular restaurant has been carpeted in red and shales of gold and tangerine are used throughout.

Albert J. Lacoste is back with a public stable of 25 runners to try for his third straight training championship. Lacoste has topped the Shenandoah list in 1964 and '65 and shifting his string almost exclusively to the two tracks here. Jesse Davidson, leading rider in America in 1965 and leader at Shenandoah in all but one meeting in which he has campaigned here, also will be on hand to defend his crown and start after his second national title. Davidson heads a jockey colony of 50 riders expected.

Among the standout horses on the grounds is Sidney Culver's Al-bergo, winner of 13 races in 17 starts last year and holder of the longest string in the country for 1965 at 11 straight.

Shenandoah Downs, which paid a record twin double of $39,916 last June 19, will offer the only post betting in the area.

Read Ephesians 1:3-14. Do you not know that God's kindness is meant to lead you to repentance? (Romans 2:4, RSV)

A mother was living in dire poverty, although she had a wealthy son in a foreign land. Finally, the neighbors asked if her son never sent her any money. "No," she said, "never. The only things he has ever sent are some green slips of paper which I cannot read. These I have kept in my Bible." On investigating, the neighbor found money orders totaling a huge sum.

God has sent us His great gift of salvation, but we cannot avail ourselves of the gift unless we repent of our sins. John the Baptist and Jesus both emphasized the necessity of repentance.

Man has a part to play in his salvation. It is to ponder the good-

PLEASE, HELP CURE ME. Infected with a virulent disease of the glands and tissues caused by starvation diet, this child of India is one of the millions that the Bishops' Overseas Relief Fund agency, Catholic Relief Services, is trying to help with its worldwide aid programs of food, clothing and medicine distribution. Malnourished and undernourished, these poverty-stricken children become deathly ill when afflicted with childhood diseases considered normal and easily cured in our own country. Over two-thirds of the world's population lives in abject poverty. The struggle to combat the age-old enemies of mankind—poverty, hunger, disease and ignorance—is an enormous one. But you can help to wage this battle on to victory by contributing generously to the 1966 Bishops' Overseas Relief Fund Appeal, March 13 through March 20.

Prayer
Our Father, confronted with Thy great goodness, we see the ugliness of our sins, and are truly sorry for them. Wilt Thou wash us thoroughly and cleanse us thru Christ Jesus our Lord. In His name we pray as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

OUTDOOR SPORTING TIPS

Chum
Want to catch more fish? It's easy. Get a grinder. Now, after cleaning fish, what you'd normally throw away, grind up . . . and freeze. Use for chum next time.

Ice Box Top
Fasten a piece of 1/4-inch plywood to the top of your aluminum ice box with sheet metal screws. Top then becomes a bait board.

Paraffin
Blocks of paraffin are clean and easy to store. They make fine fire starters.

Instant Fish Fry
A trick some cooks use is to clean and fillet fish. Then, before freezing roll filets in favorite cracker-crumbs (or what have you) mixture and freeze. Individual wrapping keeps pieces from sticking together. No mess to prepare next time. Just thaw and set a fire under it.

Wading Minnow Bucket
When wading streams and fishing with live minnows, you'll find one of your wife's discarded silk stockings makes a good live car. Mesh allows free passage of fresh water but holds minnows securely.

Sticky Paint
Paint doesn't hold well on lead heads of fishing jigs. But it will last twice as long if you roughen lead with coarse file or sandpaper before painting.

Shears
You can't keep a skinning knife razor sharp and still use it to cut through tough gristle and bone. Save your blade and use pruning shears for the heavy jobs.

Fish Scaler
Screw bottle caps to a piece of wood about 3-inches wide and 10-inches long. Smooth one end to make a handle. Voila! A fine fish scaler.

Looking Ahead

Retreat From Poverty
Since it seems clear that mopping up the Reds in Southeast Asia is going to be a long, expensive operation unless something quickly comes from Ho in the Johnson peace-feeler movement), the sensible answer for Congress appears now to be: put a sizeable batch of the poorly conceived, hastily planned domestic programs on the back burner. This is not in accord with the President's recommendation to the Congress, but a retreat from Great Society spending seems the only sensible way to approach fiscal policy during the Vietnam crisis.

We believe sincerely that President Johnson and the leaders in his party over-estimate the will of the people, in what he interprets as a constant clamor for the welfare state. The public was never insistent, except for certain pressure groups, upon government medical care. The war on poverty under various phases of the economic opportunity act, however, is rapidly developing into one of the most confused and unpopular federal forays into political spending ever conceived in the U. S. A. retreat on the poverty war front seems clearly to be called for.

Local Objections
It is not likely that federal officials are going to put out a summary of how much opposition they have encountered on the local level against these various programs. But the Congress could and should look into this aspect. Evidence seems to be accumulating that nobody on the local level can generate much enthusiasm about anti-poverty dollars, except the appointees to $15,000 and up administrative jobs who run the programs. A report by the Indianapolis News finds several counties that want no part of it, say no dire poverty exists there, that they can take care of any problems on their own, but that the bureaucrats "are trying to ram this down our throats."

In Shelby County, Indiana, and two adjoining counties where no dire poverty seems to exist and little, if any, unemployment experienced, a federal official threatens to have a few enthusiasts incorporate a program so as to bypass the local authorities who object to setting up the activities. This obviously is an example of having Washington put local problems on a federal basis, whether the people there want it or not. The mayor of Shelbyville insists that the community's own people are meeting any needs they have, and doing it proudly and well.

The Record Is Bad
It is said to cost $6,000 a year for the Job Corps to train and rehabilitate high school dropouts, and one-sixth of the recruits entering the corps repeat their dropout from the corps. Camp Kilmer, N. J., has been looked upon as the show-place of the Job Corps, yet after a year in which it was equipped to handle 2,500 boys it enrolls only half that many and finds only three ready to graduate. It has a phenomenal staff-student ratio of one for each 2.5 boys, yet class attendance is poor to none at all. Yet, its Rutgers University advisors are calling for more entertainment and social-leisure for enrollees.

Political Implications
Allegations of graft and corruption in the Boston Youth Corps program brought a freeze

there on $5.5 million in federal funds. According to a Boston newspaper, the evidence reveals quite a lot of political activity, even the selling of dinner tickets to a political affair for the mayor, particularly to business firms that do business with the corps. If this were not scandalous enough, it is reported that Communists are making strong and successful efforts to muscle in on various federal activities in the program, which in turn gives them and their social experimenters plenty of room to attack "middle class morality" and whip the proletariat into political action.

This latter kind of political activity is entirely legal and authorized by the Economic Opportunity Act, which calls for "participation" of the poor in the struggle against poverty. What the Communists want to do, of course, is to turn this nation's Great Society programs into a base for advancing the Communist Party—an entirely different kind of exploitation of the poor from that of the Boston politicians and the Washington spenders. There are too many reasons why the Congress ought to re-trench in the so-called Poverty War, now.

The word "admiral" comes from the Arabic phrase, Amir-al-Bahr, meaning "commander of the seas."

Students Visit TV Education Station

Under the supervision of Joseph E. Flaherty, acting chairman of the Education Department at Mt. St. Mary's College, over 40 students and faculty members from the department visited the educational television center in Hagerstown, Md., on March 3.

The purpose of the trip was to acquaint both the present faculty and the future high school teachers majoring at the college with the equipment and techniques utilized by closed-circuit television in many school systems across the country. Prof. Flaherty stated that this year's trip was of increasing importance to students studying for positions in the State of Maryland as the state legislature is presently considering a plan for a comprehensive educational television system within the state.

AIRCRAFT SIMULATOR: A technician adjusts electrical cables of a 7,000 pound Jet Star Simulator, which reproduces the severe and unusual wing dipping, nose pitching, rolling, extreme turbulence, and malfunctioning of fuel, electrical, hydraulic and radio systems.

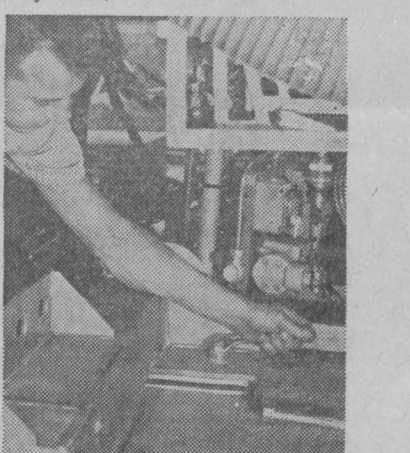

The Herculean gyrations of a 3 1/2-ton aircraft simulator at New York's Marine Air Terminal are in the firm grip of six-inch Dynabolt masonry anchors—fasteners that helped workers to install the huge simulator in only 20 minutes, less than a minute per bolt. Securing this 7,000-pound giant to the concrete floor used to take four days, providing no errors were made in placing the old-fashioned type of anchors. With Dynabolt anchors, not only are installation costs reduced, but even more important, it's easier to assure a dependable and accurate job—within one-thousandth of an inch. About 5,000 pounds of the machine's weight moves violently during the safety training program.

Simulates Flight Difficulties
At the Marine Terminal, in La Guardia Airport, a leading business-aviation training organization, Flight Safety, Inc., is using Dynabolt anchors to secure a Jet Star Simulator. This scientifically engineered machine reproduces severe flight characteristics of jet aircraft in unusual circumstances: wing dipping, nose pitching, rolling, violent turbulence, and malfunctioning of fuel, electrical, hydraulic and radio systems.

Safety Is Chief Concern
Flight Safety deals in "pilot-proficiency" for major corporations who subscribe to its Flight Safety Service. The company trains airline, military, FAA and NASA pilots, plus hundreds of private individuals. The safety-oriented company also is installing a "Crash Barrier," a precautionary measure to protect passers-by. The barrier is a series of steel panels, also secured with Dynabolt anchors and help to fence off the machinery.

Withstand Vibrating Loads
At the recommendation of Stat-Set Industrial Tool and Supply, Inc., an authority in New York for the fastening industry, Flight Safety is using Dynabolt anchors measuring 3/8-inch by six inches. Each can provide as much as 10,000 pounds of holding power, and has an unusual capability to withstand vibratory loads.

INSTALLING AN AIRCRAFT SIMULATOR 288 TIMES FASTER: A worker for Flight Safety, Inc., tightens a Dynabolt anchor.

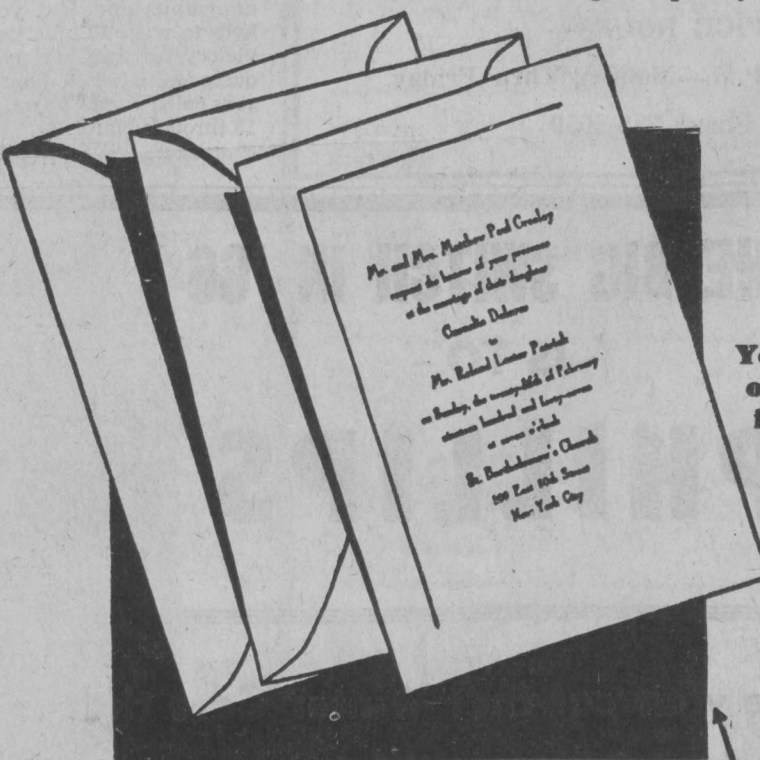

The Ramset Operations of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation are the exclusive marketing organization for Dynabolt masonry anchors. Unlike other types, Dynabolt drop-in anchors come as completely assembled units with expansion shield, bolt and nut or screw head. The length of the hole is not critical. Other older types of anchors require a hole precisely the same depth as the anchor to be used.

Pediatric Surgery Saves Defective Infants
By Louise Chase
NEWARK, N. J. (WMNS)—A baby girl weighing only two pounds, six ounces was born in Midland, Tex., not long ago. On examination she was found to have an incomplete esophagus (food pipe), a defect that is estimated to occur about once in every 2,000 live births. Despite her incredible fragility, surgeons operated on her, and today that baby is a normal two year old. Such miracles of pediatric surgery are saving thousands of infants a year, Dr. Anita Falla, assistant director of the Birth Defects Center and director of pediatric surgical education of Babies' Hospital, Newark, told Women's Medical News Service.

About 25 years ago, babies born with esophageal atresia, as the condition is called, were doomed. Since the baby's food ran into a dead end, instead of passing into the stomach as it normally does, the infant starved to death or choked. Today, though, Dr. Falla noted, as many as three out of four infants with this defect can be restored to normal life through surgery.

In the little girl's case, the surgeon, using about 12 inches of the infant's intestine, was able to extend her esophagus to her stomach to form a normal passage for food. Because of her small size, the correction was done in two stages. She was fed through a tube in her stomach so that she could gain weight and strength until the surgeons could complete the procedure.

Not all defects can or need be corrected immediately after birth, Dr. Falla noted. But when they must be, teamwork is of the greatest importance. It may require as many as 12 medical and surgical specialists, synchronizing all their complicated and refined techniques, to mend a damaged infant.

Parents of defective babies can be encouraged by such great medical strides, Dr. Falla commented. Today almost 80 per cent of the 250,000 defective children born each year can be treated successfully.

In another example, Dr. Falla told about a newborn who at birth appeared to be a well-formed eight-pound boy. As soon as he started to breathe for himself, however, he turned blue. Examination showed that the baby had a big hole in the diaphragm, the partition that normally separates the chest from the abdomen. The abdominal organs, usually kept in place by the diaphragm, had pushed up into his chest and were crowding his heart and lungs. Only a small part of the right upper lung was able to function.

"In these cases," Dr. Falla said, "time is of the essence, and I mean time in minutes and hours, not days." The baby was moved to Babies' Hospital, placed under oxygen, and operated on immediately. "Fortunately, the defect could be repaired," the doctor said, "and as soon as the abdominal organs were put in their proper place, he began to breathe for himself without difficulty."

Not many years ago, according to the physician, about three of every four children with this defect died before they were a month old. Today at least nine out of 10 can be saved. Much of this kind of surgery is performed in the 69 birth defects centers located throughout the United States and supported by the National Foundation-March of Dimes.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

The name "sea gull" is a misnomer; there is no such thing. The gull is a long-winged bird of ocean, lake or river, ranging in size from 12 inches to over three feet, a member of the order Charadriiformes and the Laridae family. Twenty-nine of the 44 species of gulls breed in the Northern Hemisphere, many carrying names as romantic as their flight: Magellanic, Patagonian, Indian and Chinese back-headed, Aden, mew, silver, Bonaparte, swallow-tailed, Sibley. The one known to us all almost as familiar as the neighbor's cat, is the herring gull, a big white bird with black wing tips and a pearl-gray mantle when adult, a dusky brown when immature. He is seen throughout North America; near the sea, but also on lakes, rivers, even ponds — physically refuting the belief that the gull is found only near the sea. The gull always seems to be hungry. This appetite and drive for food makes gulls valuable as scavengers, helping us keep harbors and beaches clean. It is also their armor: all gulls are protected by Federal law.

People who have tried to keep gulls as pets—picking them up on beaches with broken wings, or trying to raise abandoned young—claim that they respond viciously to rescue and care. "They pick at the hand that feeds them, and they leave as soon as possible," warns Jack Denton Scott, Roving Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. Experts who trained many birds for the Alfred Hitchcock film "The Birds" claimed that gulls were the least cooperative.

The communications system of gulls is surely one of the best in existence. And how it works has been puzzling sailors and science for some time. Run a test yourself. The next time you go bay or ocean fishing, watch the sky. There are no gulls in sight. Start cleaning fish, or throwing the remains of lunch overboard, and time how long it takes for gulls to appear.

Some observers claim that as with buzzards, vultures and crows, this marvelous ability of gulls to locate a free meal miles at sea is due to amazing eyesight.

Complainant

RONALD L. FRITZ
Chambersburg, Pennsylvania
Defendant
NO. 21,234 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR
FREDERICK COUNTY,
IN EQUITY.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The object of this proceeding is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONI from the Defendant, Roland L. Fritz, and for such other and further relief as the nature of the case may require.

The Bill states in substance, that the Plaintiff is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, and has been so for more than one year last past; while the Defendant is believed to be a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and that his last known whereabouts was in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania; that your Complainant was married to the Defendant at Frederick, Maryland, on August 23, 1952, by a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage, no child or children were born nor any expected; the Bill further alleges that ever since the said marriage the Complainant has always conducted herself as a kind, chaste, dutiful and affectionate wife towards the said Defendant; and that the Defendant, Roland L. Fritz, between the time of the said marriage and the filing of the Bill of Complaint, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the Complainant and that such abandonment and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for at least eighteen months prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties to this cause is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation, to all of which the Affidavit is made.

It is thereupon this 25th day of February, 1966, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, in Equity, ORDERED that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this Order of Publication to be published for at least four (4) successive weeks prior to the 2nd day of April, 1966, in the "Emmitsburg Chronicle," Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Maryland, giving notice to the Defendant, Roland L. Grange Opposes Govt. Milk Subsidy Strong opposition to President Johnson's proposal to slash the federal school milk subsidy program has been voiced by the Frederick County Pomona Grange No. 11.

A resolution favoring retention of the program was confirmed at the quarterly meeting of the organization in Emmitsburg.

The benefits of the milk program are invaluable to the health of the nation's children, the resolution points out, and the program is not a farmer subsidy as some persons seem to think.

The resolution was passed by the Grange in view of the government's proposal to slash the subsidy by 79 per cent or from $192 million to $21 million.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson's Point Of View On: Banking

BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 17—Everybody knows that bankers deal in money. The price they get for their money is called interest. When demand for money is high and its availability is low, interest rates go up. As money gets scarcer, bankers offer higher and higher rates to attract more money which they, in turn, can loan to borrowers. What is news now is that money has been getting scarcer and scarcer and its cost to both banks and their borrowers has been soaring. On Collision Course

The demand for money and its ever-mounting scarcity are now on a collision course. The last time our country felt a crisis in money it was the direct result of the great depression of the 1930's. Then, fear-stricken people rushed to the banks to convert their deposits into hard cash. The panic of liquidity followed. Banks closed in droves and the President of the United States had to close all banks in the nation for a few days . . . to restore sanity.

Today's lack of money is quite different from that of the early 1930's. The U. S. economy has been stimulated and nurtured by massive increases in the money supply, administered by government plan and by generous outpourings by the Federal Reserve and by the whole banking system. The developing money crisis now is the result not of depression, but of too much prosperity. The collision between zooming demand and skimpy supplies of money is more like what happened way back in 1907. Then, too, things were booming. But the boom got out of hand and the "rich man's" collapse and panic followed. Squeeze On Bank Profits have not grown rapidly enough in recent years to provide bankers with funds sufficient to meet the insatiable loan requirements. So the managers of our lending institutions, together with the agreement of the money managers of the country, raised repeatedly the rate of interest paid on savings deposits and on certificates of deposit. Some of the biggest banks even sold notes to the public . . . so great was the scramble.

Demand deposits, the kind that back up our checking accounts,

As borrowing needs rose and rose, so did the interest rate which bankers were willing to pay to attract funds. Recent figures show that our biggest banks have been paying as much as 5 1/8% to get time deposits. But they have been charging, on average, only around 5.30% for their loans. This would indicate that the country's institutions will have to charge even higher rates for loans . . . or suffer a damaging squeeze on profit margins. Already, it is notable that prices of bank stocks have failed to keep up with the advance in the Dow Industrials during the past 18 months.

Trouble In Bonds Too
Business and speculative needs of the borrowing public have been so great in recent months that our banks have been unable to add to their holdings of tax-exempt, U. S. government or best-quality corporate bonds. Indeed, bankers have had to sell such bonds in order to make more loans. At the same time, the investing public has all but forgotten about buying bonds . . . so absorbed have they become in speculating in common stocks.

The net results has been that bonds have been neglected. Their prices have fallen and their yields have scaled historic heights. Some issues of U. S. government bonds—still regarded as the best long-term credit risk in the world—have fallen so low that they yield over 5%. Almost every week of late, we have seen top-grade corporate bonds issued to yield 5 1/8%, or more, and with no-call for five years. Of course, this has had a depressing effect on the bond holdings of banks; they have shrunk in value, facing management with potential losses.

Watch Savings And Loans

But the segment of our banking system that has most felt the searing wind from the heating up of money demand has been the Savings and Loan Institutions. For year, investors needing income could place their funds in the S&L's at highest rates . . . almost 5%. Now . . . the far more liquid commercial-bank certificate of deposit is yielding as much or more than funds in S&L's! Even U. S. governments return more than the ordinary 4.8% of the S&L's. No wonder their funds are getting harder to come by!

Mount Enrollment Shows Growth

Enrollment figures at Mount St. Mary's College remain at a high level for the second semester of the academic year with an influx of 24 additional students, according to Rev. Carl J. Fives, academic dean. The total enrollment for the semester is 820 collegians including 174 seniors; 156 juniors; 241 sophomores, and 239 freshmen.

At the present time over 700 students are full-time resident or boarding students; 64 are local area students or day hops; and 42 are non-resident off-campus students.

Applications for next year's freshman class are well ahead of last year's according to the Reverend Dean and at the present time all available space has been filled. Qualified applicants being accepted at this time are being placed on a waiting list.

Catholic Bishops Overseas Relief Fund
HELP US IN OUR UTMOST NEED! The official poster of the twentieth annual Catholic Bishops' Overseas Relief Fund is symbolic of the hands and hearts reaching out to us for help from the uncounted millions of hungry, homeless and destitute who inhabit the world's vast areas of misery and distress. Like the children portrayed in the poster, they are diverse in race, religion and nationality, but alike in their tragic condition of "utmost need" as they daily struggle against chronic hunger, grinding poverty, disease and oppression. The 1966 Catholic Bishops' Overseas Relief Fund Appeal is scheduled for the week of March 13-20, in all Catholic churches throughout the nation. Purpose of the annual appeal is to raise funds for the support of Catholic Relief Services, the overseas aid agency of American Catholics, which last year shipped and distributed food, clothing and medicine, and freely granted other forms of charitable aid, to over 40 million needy persons in 80 countries, entirely without reference to race, religion or color. Donations should be sent or brought to the nearest Catholic church or to Bishops' Overseas Relief Fund, Empire State Building, New York, New York 10001.

Easter Seal Center Offers Many Services

Physical, occupational, and speech therapy seems to be the theme of the services offered by our local Easter Seal Treatment Center in Frederick, and how true this is. If one were to visit the center and see first hand the people with various physical disabilities coming up the ramp with the aid of crutches, wheel chairs and even riding in litters, thanks to the Volunteer Fire Departments of Frederick, he would begin to see the true value of the Easter Seal Center in our community. Sufferers of arthritis, stroke, brain damaged children, fractures, amputees and many other crippling conditions and diseases, are sent to the center by their physicians for rehabilitation. The treatments that these people receive by professionally qualified therapists have given many of them new hope for the future and a second chance in life. The Easter Seal Center offers more than just therapy: It is a warm congenial place with a home-like atmosphere for those who receive therapy. It is, therefore, no wonder why those who have been treated in the center think so highly of the members of the staff. Crippled children and adults can hardly wait for summer to begin, because, to them, it means another season of camping at Camp Greentop or Camp Farlee Manor on the Eastern Shore.

There, they learn to live with their abilities, not disabilities, and they realize that they can take their place in society with their fellow man. This, alone would be worth all the support we could give this organization. An equipment loan closet is available for people with a doctor's order, to receive wheel chairs, crutches, canes, walkers, and other appliances for a three month period without charge, after which time, Rental is only $5 per month. High school and college students come to the center to hear and see first hand, what rehabilitation means. Several of them over the past years have borrowed books and have written articles relating to rehabilitation and crippling disabilities. Parents with handicapped children find at the center, a staff that is always ready and able to assist them with most of their problems or refer them to another agency who could help them.

Firemen Will Be Deputized

A measure to permit the sheriff of Frederick County to appoint firemen as deputy sheriffs needs only the signature of Gov. Tawes to become law.

The bill, sponsored by the Frederick County delegation and approved by the House of Delegates two weeks ago, was enacted by the Senate Tuesday.

The bill permits the county sheriff to appoint not more than six members of any volunteer fire company as deputy sheriffs, with full powers of the office.

Takes Radio Course

Pvt. James W. May, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. May, R1, Taneytown, and husband of the former Roxanna Sowers, Gettysburg, is taking an 18-week radio telegraph operator's course at MCRD, San Diego, Calif. May, a 1965 graduate of St. Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg, entered the Marine Corps in August, 1965. He received his basic training at Parris Island, S. C.

Comment from the Capital —

LESSONS FROM THE LAST QUILL AND TESTIMONY
by Vant Neff

The aftermaths of New York City's transportation strike still rankle. And from it a great many lessons of national importance can be learned. In New York, eight million people felt the transit sting somewhere... in their homes, offices, pocketbooks, or in their mistreated metatarsals. While other strikes, such as steel, maritime, trucking are destructive, they do not make the ordinary man feel the devastation nor render him a defenseless victim so quickly and sharply as when a transportation strike hits him. That really hurts.

Measured by public opinion, New York City's transportation shut-down did more damage to public morale than the drought, three newspaper strikes and the night of the great electrical blackout combined. Why? Perhaps, because the union leadership so flagrantly demonstrated their "to hell with everybody but ourselves" attitude (including other unionists whom they put out of work), in violating the rights of people who pay and pay and pay: the working, walking public. And although most average New Yorkers were unaware of it, the city was also on the brink of a Con Edison strike—a strike that might have made the blackout of November child's play.

When Michael Quill, the T.W.U.'s late labor leader, on a national TV interview said that, if the Londoners could take the Blitz, the New Yorkers could take the devastation of a transportation strike... what he was really saying was that his union had no care, concern nor responsibility towards anyone other than themselves. This was the same union leader who tore up an anti-strike court injunction on national television for the whole country to see. This was the same union leader who, in seeking benefits for his transport unionists, declared "war" with all its ugly attrition against New York's eight million people.

After the strike, again on national TV, the Transportation Union's leader assailed the President of the United States and accused him of having played "cheap politics with the lives and fortunes of the people of the city."

THE WAR WITHIN A WAR. The conflict raging in Vietnam has brought misery and suffering to thousands of innocent civilians. Hordes of frightened refugees clutter the roads and tax the facilities of refugee camps creating a problem that has been well termed "the war within a war". Catholic Relief Services, overseas aid agency of American Catholics, sponsors a network of refugee shelters, hospitals and orphanages where these driven people can find aid, comfort and security. Because of your support of the annual Bishops' Overseas Relief Fund, Catholic Relief Services was enabled to assist 1,000,000 refugees and other victims of war in Vietnam, entirely without reference to politics or religion. The old man pictured above is one of them. The 1966 Bishops' Overseas Relief Fund Appeal will be conducted March 13-20 on a nationwide scale. Help maintain its works of peace and mercy by contributing generously.

All permanent changes in hair take place in the cortex, the middle layer, which contains the pigments. Hair tint deposits color in the pigments while lighter removes color from them.

Children have less oil in their hair than adults. Oil secretion increases sharply in adolescence but decreases as a person ages. Each hair follicle has from one to six oil glands.

Green Thumb Tips

Do you know that sweet alyssum seeds may be sown in pots indoors and within a few weeks will open white flowers if set close to the glass of a sunny window?

If you live where soil is unfrozen at times during winter you should harvest parsnips every open spell. It doesn't pay to leave them until spring for their taste is going to be better when you eat them. Just as the starch in the roots changes to sugar when frost arrives in fall, so the sugar changes back to starch with a new season's growth.

The reason many people do not like the taste of parsnips is that they've eaten them after the sugar-starch change.

"Spy Who Came In From The Cold"

Green Thumb Tips

Do you know that sweet alyssum seeds may be sown in pots indoors and within a few weeks will open white flowers if set close to the glass of a sunny window?

If you live where soil is unfrozen at times during winter you should harvest parsnips every open spell. It doesn't pay to leave them until spring for their taste is going to be better when you eat them. Just as the starch in the roots changes to sugar when frost arrives in fall, so the sugar changes back to starch with a new season's growth.

The reason many people do not like the taste of parsnips is that they've eaten them after the sugar-starch change.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
The Bible
The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament proclaims His handiwork—(Psalm 18:2)

The glory of the universe—from the smallest blade of grass to the planets and stars millions of miles away—all testify to the wondrous design of a loving Creator. Sublime as it is, the beauty and order of the heavens cannot compare with His greatest handiwork—man, when he uses his liberty to make divine love the basis of all his actions.

MIGHTY RAINBOW—Emmitsburg's water supply at the Rainbow Lake reservoir looks more reassuring these days after the melting snows and the recent rains helped to bring it to near capacity. The photograph shows how the reservoir has been enlarged by the construction recently completed.

INNOCENT VICTIM OF TERROR AND HATRED. Cradled in a burlap bag slung on his mother's back, this tiny Vietnamese traveled over miles of rugged highland terrain and through fetid jungle to reach comparative safety. He may never remember the communist atrocities that drove his parents from their native village, but he will grow up to benefit from and come to know the help and comfort he received from Catholic Relief Services, the overseas aid agency of American Catholics at one of the agency's numerous refugee centers in war-torn Vietnam. Since 1954, Catholic Relief Services has operated the largest voluntary aid program in Vietnam, distributing precious food, clothing and medicines to the needy, to the increasing thousands of homeless and terrified refugees and other victims of war. Your support of the 1966 Bishops' Overseas Relief Fund Appeal, March 13 through March 20, will make it possible for Catholic Relief Services to continue aiding the needy and destitute, without regard to race, color or religion, in Vietnam and in 79 other countries throughout Asia, Africa and Latin America.
