THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Luke 18:9-14. In the parable of the Pharisee and the publican, Jesus declared that because of his attitude, the publican "went down to his house justified." Then Jesus set forth a very important law of life in these words: "Every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." The publican realized his sinfulness. He felt the need for God's mercy and had the faith to ask for it. He had the faith to put himself at the complete mercy of God, the Father.

What takes place when we pray? Prayer is an experience of fellowship that takes place between a person with all his sin and God the Father with all His goodness and mercy for man. In all meaningful prayer, as man comes to God asking for help in meeting his needs, he also offers himself to God as a servant to help others to know His will. The blessings of prayer are a feeling of oneness with God, a renewed faith, and a sense of security growing out of an abiding hope.

Prayer
Dear Father, cleanse our hearts of all sin and unworthiness that we may come in Thy presence, worthy to receive such blessings as we need. In Jesus' name we ask. Amen.
Thought For The Day
I take my sins to God in prayer.

Accompanied by Miss Mary Carroll Ebaugh, Baltimore, a member of their sister class at St. Joseph College, the Mountaineers left the United States in August, 1965, and virtually have been travelling ever since.

According to their reports, the low cost of living in Europe provides them with as much inexpensive sightseeing as their tight academic schedule allows.

Their first tour took them to the cities of Venice and Florence. Then they carried the banner of the "Alma Mater" to the Munich Oktoberfest and spent their Thanksgiving holiday in the German Republic.

Following their examinations at Christmas, they were given ample free time for side trips. Rosensteel ventured south to Africa and the land of the Nile, Egypt, or at least to an Egyptian boat which was stuck on a sand bar for several days.

Hahn and Koch departed for a tour of London, Scotland, and what they described as "every collegian's utopia," the Scandinavian countries.

Despite all their travel, the students wrote that they have been unable to escape the Mount's environment. In London on New Year's Eve, they met a friend of a classmate and in Padua, Italy, they met Michael Moro, a recent graduate of the college who is studying medicine there. And during the Vatican Council, they were privileged with a private audience with Lawrence Cardinal Shehan of Baltimore who not only is the Archbishop of Hahn and Koch, but also president ex officio of the Mount.

Although they have enjoyed their travel, their studies take from ten to twelve hours a day which entails mostly research. The classroom sessions vary from those in this country where the emphasis is on student research, reporting, and discussion rather than examination grades.

Prof. Bernard S. Kaliss, who is liaison officer of the program at the Mount, said that the program is designed to give American students opportunities of study that could not be afforded to him in this country. The cost of $2,500 per academic year includes tuition, board, transatlantic and overland travel both ways, and a two week tour of Europe. The Rome Center is part of the new and modern International Student Center where students from all over the world can meet and exchange ideas and gain insights.

Hanover Shoe Farms, the giant Hanover, Pa., nursery, was again the leading money-winning breeder of harness horses in 1965, according to figures released this week by United States Trotting Association. Hanover-bred trotters and pacers earned $2,968,804 and retained the top honors first time the breeder's list compilation was made.

It sent out 543 starters, five more than in the preceding year, and 375 were winners, taking first place in 1,237 races. Lawrence B. Sheppard presides over the Pennsylvania establishment.

Castleton Farms, Lexington, Ky., nursery owned by Mr. and Mrs.

Frederick L. VanLennep, was the only other breeder to exceed the two-million mark, with $2,079,079, and it was the runner-up for the second time. Of its 418 starters 288 were winners, taking 996 races. Walnut Hall Farm of Donerail, Ky., again followed in third position, its products amassing $1,195,704, and was the only one of the top three to show an increase over 1964.

Mount Students Studying Abroad

Collegians from Mount Saint Mary's College who are studying in Europe in the Loyola University of Chicago's Rome Center for the Humanistic Studies, have been included in a feature article in the current issue of the student newspaper, The Mountain Echo.

The experiences of Anthony M. Hahn and Donald J. Koch, Baltimore, and Daniel M. Rosensteel, Gettysburg, are described in an article entitled, "Happiness Is a Year in Europe". The young men, classmates, are pursuing their junior year of study abroad and will join their class in Emmits-

Ford's quiet quality is the result of advanced engineering features like a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" road vibrations... the strongest body ever on a Ford. But the quiet ride is just one of many reasons why you're ahead in a Ford all the way. Only Ford in its class offers a Stereo-Sonic Tape Player option that brings you over an hour of uninterrupted music of your choice, on each self-threading, snap-in tape cartridge. ■ Magic Doorgate for wagons (standard equipment) that opens out like a door and down like a tailgate, depending on whether you are loading kids or cargo. ■ Silent-Flo Ventilation (on 4-door hardtops) that brings in fresh air and gets rid of smoke and stale air with the windows closed. ■ Even Ford's keys are special—they're double-edged so they fit in locks either side up. Spending And Power

If Congress is determined to follow the leader, who continues to insist that the optimum state of the union requires continued domestic spending on a deficit basis, there must surely be an increasing dialog around the nation on the merits of all federal spending and certainly on each fresh project that is presented. It now appears that many citizens had maintained false hopes, prior to Mr. Johnson's message to Congress, that perhaps the poverty program and other pump primers would be cut back, favoring both fiscal sanity and a better effort in South Vietnam.

But despite this kind of sentiment that has been building up for months toward re-examination of domestic spending, the Administration has indicated that it will resist and oppose deliberate consideration and debate on its spending proposals just as it did in the earlier session, during which much unnecessary dispersal of federal money borrowed by the federal government was hastily approved by Congress. It seems that the American people this year will have to expect unusual effort from their Senators and Representatives if the spending siren is resisted.

Beating The Bushes

At the same time, a continual barrage of propaganda to prepare Congress for more spending has been undertaken. Vice President Humphrey, for example, has been telling the people that more bills for the Great Society must be approved by Congress lest massive violence erupt throughout the urban areas of the nation. Is this the kind of "party line" to be expected from an Administration that cherishes the support of massive blocks of votes in the large cities of the nation?

One wonders whether this is a threat pointed toward Congress or an invitation to activists among the violent elements to demonstrate their newfound political power. City after city, Mr. Humphrey said, will explode with violence that will make Watts "look like an afternoon picnic" unless the demands of the poor are met. Well, this is actually an effort to club Congress into continued submission, and it is exactly the "go ahead" that professional agitators want. Even the Communist fronts and their splinter groups can get in on the ride and take credit for this maneuvering of the U. S. Congress.

A Whole, Not Parts

Our national leadership, it seems clear, must very soon find ways to minimize the effect of such emotional outbursts upon the conduct of the national government. We cannot allow violence and agitation to determine our course. We cannot continue to urge upon Congress the passage of bills for fear of blood running in the streets. Congress can hardly conduct its business for the whole people, when some groups are threatening to kill and destroy unless action favoring their group is forthcoming. This puts the professional agitators in charge of the nation.

The further pity is that these divisive tactics contribute to the building of conflicts and tension that separate our people into uncooperative, opposing camps. This can destroy America. We have had enough of these latter-day efforts to create class hatreds and distinctions. But this sort of thing is greatly to the liking of Communism, for it provides the Reds a toe-hold they could never maintain if Americans were united and devoted to constructive, sound thinking about what is good for the whole of America, not its parts.

The Last Bastions

Compulsion and coercion and threats cannot become the pattern of public conduct as we attempt to resolve public issues. Labor organizations very well could provide more positive leadership in this area, but unfortunately they have not yet distinguished themselves in this regard. Unions can, whenever they please and however flimsy the excuse, shut down whole industries.

The uses of power in this complex society, and the abuses thereof, must concern all of us.

The application of force here brings reaction there. The government, if it has not already initiated the action, takes notice and applies remedies that further complicate matters. Soon we are a nation of squabbling groups being refereed by a spending government that thinks it has everybody's answer and yet is possessed by its own itch for power and control. We are approaching the last bastions, the freedom of individuals and the existence of our traditional institutions. We must proceed with utmost caution.

Mount Radio Station Gets New Equipment

The installation of new transmitters at radio station WSM, Mount Saint Mary's College, has given the on-campus project sufficient power to reach all campus facilities, according to Rev. James F. Kelly, science instructor and project moderator.

The former transmitters, acquired from government surplus, have been scrapped and the new power units, purchased with aid from the college's Student Union Board, have necessitated the changing of program transmission from 1600 kilocycles to 640.

The station, started under the auspices of the New York Metropolitan Parents Guild, provides experience to the collegians in all phases of radio communications. The collegians, themselves, were responsible for the recent installation of equipment and handle all engineering and programming. Broad area interest was generated in the student body and the local area residents when the station carried the Mount basketball games during the recent Mason-Dixon tournament.

Father Kelly stated that next year with the cooperation from campus organizations it is hoped that all away games will be carried for the benefit of the students unable to make the trips.

A formal dedication and inspection of the improved facilities will be held during Parents' Weekend at the college on April 30 and May 1.

State Eligible For Federal Funds

James J. O'Donnell, the State Planning Director, has announced that Maryland now is eligible to receive about $18 million in Federal funds over the next 10 years to be used for the planning, acquisition, and development of outdoor recreation facilities. The State Planning Department recently prepared a comprehensive outdoor recreation plan which has been approved by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, U. S. Department of the Interior, enabling the State to receive these funds. The program, with grants on a 50 percent matching basis, will be financed from the Land and Water Conservation Fund. This Fund will continue for 25 years, deriving its revenues from entrance and user fees at Federal recreation areas, sales of surplus Federal property, and the Federal motorboat fuels tax. Maryland's share from the Fund for fiscal years 1965 and 1966 is $1,593,743. County and municipal governments will be allocated 60 per cent of this money, and State agencies will expend 40 percent. The grants will be administered by the State Department of Forests and Parks. The State outdoor recreation plan evaluates supply, demand, and need for areas and facilities for significant outdoor recreation activities. The plan's action program gives priority attention to serving needs of metropolitan and other urban areas. Emphasized throughout the plan are steps to protect and enhance Maryland's natural beauty and quality of outdoor environment. Major objectives of Maryland's plan include: 1. To provide the people of Maryland with a guide for securing the fullest possible range of outdoor recreation opportunities. 2. To encourage acquisition and development by State and local agencies of all available shoreline along Chesapeake Bay capable of recreational use. The plan states, "This valuable natural resource should be held inviolate for all the people of the State." 3. To identify and protect the State's remaining unique and unusual natural areas and historic sites. 4. To identify and recommend a network of scenic parkways. 5. To facilitate Maryland's participation in the joint State-Federal program for pollution control, scenic beauty preservation, and provision of outdoor recreation facilities in the Potomac River Basin. The plan declares, "It is particularly critical to all Marylanders that the Potomac River flowing through the Nation's capital, be a watercourse about which America may be justifiably proud." 6. To "aid in broadening Maryland's economic base with respect to tourism." 7. To instill in all our citizens, especially our children, appreciation of and concern for conservation of Maryland's natural resources.

Claims of commercial cloud seeders that seeding can increase rainfall have been confirmed by a University of Chicago scientist. However, says Roscoe E. Brahm Jr., the local rainfall increases could possibly be at the expense of rain decreases in nearby areas. He bases his statements on the findings of a six-year study of cloud seeding over part of Missouri. Taking the "Grind" out of ink making is a line of "pre-dispersed" pigments marketed by the Holland-Suco Color Company, Holland, Mich. The unique pigments permit inks to be mixed in 15 to 30 minutes, eliminating hours of mixing and grinding. Animal fossils at least 720 million years old have been discovered by a Dartmouth College geological team in the Canadian Arctic. The fossils, older than any heretofore known to paleontologists, are expected to help clear up part of the mystery of how advanced forms of life evolved. In addition to finding the fossilized remains of small, clamlike creatures called brachiopods, the geologists discovered fossilized tracks and trails made by burrowing wormlike animals and small tubes and spines of an as-yet-unknown species. Systems Engineering, the space-age science that ties men and machines together to do high complex jobs, has been added to the curriculum of Georgia Tech. Ripeness of fresh fruit and vegetables can now be determined rapidly and accurately by a new meter, according to the Department of Agriculture. The instrument, called a difference meter, also reveals hidden internal defects. The meter measures the amount of light penetrating food items. Unlike the "pinch" test utilized by millions of shoppers, the meter does not damage samples.

Picking And Eating Wild Mushrooms Is 'Garden Roulette'
 People who pick and eat wild mushrooms are playing a deadly "garden variety" of "Russian Roulette," warns the American Medical Association. Only a true expert can determine whether a wild mushroom is safe or poisonous, and even experts are sometimes fooled by varieties that look alike. The AMA says people who enjoy eating mushrooms should stick to commercially grown varieties.

 RONALD L. FRITZ
 Chambersburg, Pennsylvania
 Defendant

NO. 21,234 EQUITY IN THE
 CIRCUIT COURT FOR
 FREDERICK COUNTY,
 IN EQUITY.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
 The object of this proceeding is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATROMINII from the Defendant, Roland L. Fritz, and for such other and further relief as the nature of the case may require.

The Bill states in substance, that the Plaintiff is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, and has been so for more than one year last past; while the Defendant is believed to be a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and that his last known whereabouts was in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania; that your Complainant was married to the Defendant at Frederick, Maryland, on August 23, 1952, by a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage, no child or children were born nor any expected; the Bill further alleges that ever since the said marriage the Complainant has always conducted herself as a kind, chaste, dutiful and affectionate wife towards the said Defendant; and that the Defendant, Roland L. Fritz, between the time of the said marriage and the filing of the Bill of Complaint, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the Complainant and that such abandonment and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for at least eight months prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties to this cause is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation, to all of which the Affidavit is made.

It is thereupon this 25th day of February, 1966, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, in Equity, ORDERED that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this Order of Publication to be published for at least four (4) successive weeks prior to the 2nd day of April, 1966, in the "Emmitsburg Chronicle," Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Maryland, giving notice to the Defendant, Roland L. SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

When buying a sporting dog, deal with one who has a reputation for fair dealing and who can furnish references from satisfied customers. Have it thoroughly understood just what sort of dog you are looking for. Then pay as much as you can afford and take the dog on trial.

Don't be in too big a hurry to give that prospective purchase a tryout in the field. Get acquainted with him, allow him to become familiar with his new surroundings. Then give him every chance to make good.

Remember, each dog is a different individual and the dog you may consider unsuitable might well please the next fellow. "If at all possible, the dog should be tried out on his home territory—here he will show at his best," asserts Henry P. Davis, Sporting Dogs Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. Many dogs do not "ship well" and take considerable time to adapt themselves to a new environment.

If a dog is shipped on trial, the dealer or seller is really at the mercy of the buyer. If, because of some whim of fancy or inexperienced handling, the dog does not measure up to expectations, the buyer is at liberty to ship it back, even though the dog is exactly as represented. There have been instances in which dogs were returned without having been given any chance to prove their worth in the field—simply because the buyer did not like their markings, color or size.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson's Point Of View On:
British Elections And The Pound

BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 24—Prime Minister Wilson of England has been staggering

from vote to vote in parliament on the thinnest of margins. Success by Labor in recent by-elections has encouraged him to call for general voting on March 31. Contacts say there is an excellent chance that Mr. Wilson's Labor party will be returned to power by a fairly comfortable edge. He will then not have to fear being thrown out of office every time he asks for support from the House of Commons.

Heart And Core

However, there is grave doubt in financial London that—even with a strong majority—Mr. Wilson will be able to pull England out of the economic swamp into which it has fallen. The whole Free World is chattering after the rainbow of inflation. Among the front runners in Europe is England. We fear that her people have been enjoying a standard of living far beyond their financial means. With smaller resources than some other nations, and heavily dependent on foreign raw materials, the "tight little isle" may find that the piper's bill may be presented early.

Signs of defeatism are seen in recent political developments. The Labor government has moved to pull back from once-vaunted naval bases in the East. The decision to buy military superplanes from the U. S.—rather than to expand Her Majesty's air arm—is the clearest signal of all that John Bull is willing to become more and more a protectorate of Uncle Sam. No appeals to glory can persuade a tightening of belts. This seems to be the heart and core of the drift in England . . . both economic and political.

On Borrowed Time
Last year the pound was saved from devaluation by massive financial help from the Free World, especially the U. S. Foreign money speculators—then called the "Gnomes of Zurich"—were beaten back. But the feeling is now growing in responsible money circles, both here and abroad, that the pound will be in deep trouble again during the months ahead. It is openly said that the present $2.80 parity of the pound with the dollar is now on borrowed time.

Fact is that Great Britain has been and still is enjoying a boom at home. Both prices and wages have been climbing. Mr. Wilson had to sit hard on labor recently to avoid a crippling rail strike. The government even had to invoke fines against both unions and management to dampen inflation trends. Such high good times might be all right . . . if it were not for the fact that England must export heavily to pay for needed raw materials. Anything that raises the prices of British goods makes it more difficult for England to sell in foreign markets and brings closer the day of reckoning.

Burden To Fall On U. S.
When the current wave of trouble for the pound started in 1964, the government moved to check imports by placing a 10% tariff on them. Surprisingly, this does seem to have caused any big slowdown in consumption. Evidently things have been too prosperous. Trade figures for January were disturbing, with imports running $110 million ahead of exports. Many more months like this and no amount of financial rescue operations could save the pound.

New moves are starting in England to raise "user taxes" . . . to dampen the consumer boom. At the same time, spokesmen are warning the U. S. that if the British balance of payments does not improve by the end of 1966, England will have to cut back on her foreign aid and defense spending. Since chances of a large payments gain by the British are small, it is becoming apparent that the U. S. may have to bear the burden of defense and aid cuts.

Fading Hope
At the moment, the Labor party is saying very little about the pound. Every effort is directed at keeping inflation from bursting its bounds before the elections. Financial circles in London, however, know the problem will not be cured by wage and price restraints. Greater productive efficiency, not higher tariffs on imports, may be needed to do the job. Hope is fast fading that production can be expanded and exports increased in time to save the pound. But the winners on March 31 will find the conundrum right on their doorstep. And this time it will not be easy to brush it under the rug.

Your Personal Health

Asthma
Asthma is a chronic illness in which the victim has difficulty in breathing. It is not contagious and, fortunately, most attacks of asthma are relatively mild, but if neglected, it increases in severity, and endangers health as time goes on.

A majority of asthma attacks are triggered by an allergen. It could be almost anything—foods, furs, feathers, pollens—that starts the flare-up. Sometimes a bacterial infection of the throat, nose or sinuses can touch off an asthma attack. Nervous tension sometimes is a factor.

In a severe attack, the victim appears to be suffocating. He becomes pale and turns bluish, perspires heavily. He is using all of his strength to breathe. Fortunately, these attacks can be relieved by appropriate medical treatment.

Finding the allergen is the first step in dealing with chronic asthma. Occasionally, it is obvious, but most often a series of tests are required.

The important thing is to seek medical advice and counsel if you suspect that you have an asthmatic condition. Self-diagnosis is almost impossible. Only a physician can make an accurate diagnosis. If the allergen is something you can avoid, such as a dog or a cat, your problem can be solved with relative simplicity. If it should be pollen in the air or dust particles, the case is more difficult. But it still can be kept under control, with proper medical direction.

Occasionally, an asthma patient will be helped by a change of climate, but doctors advise that you proceed with caution in making a cross-country move. You may de-

Dog Show Set For April 9

More than 500 purebred dogs are expected to compete for points and honors at the annual show of the Associated Specialty Dog Clubs of Maryland on Saturday, April 9, at the Pikesville Armory, Pikesville, Maryland.

The seven clubs making up the Associated are the Maryland Cocker Spaniel Club, the Collie Club of Maryland, the German Shepherd Dog Club of Maryland, the Great Dane Club of Maryland, the Fox Terrier Club of Maryland and the Chihuahua Club of Maryland and the Boston Terrier Club of Maryland.

In addition to the specialty show each of these clubs will hold for points toward championships, the German Shepherd Club will hold an obedience trial for shepherds only.

The Cocker, Collie and Fox Terrier Clubs also will feature puppy sweepstakes for their breeds.

Judging will begin at 1 p.m. for all breeds except Cocker Spaniels and German Shepherds which will begin earlier. The show will be unbenched.

The Cockers expect major points to be awarded in all varieties under Judge Kenneth Miller, Toledo, Ohio. Betty Miller, of Toledo, will judge the Cocker puppy sweepstakes.

Mr. Arnold Woolf, Nanuet, N. Y., will be the Collie judge for the specialty show. Collie puppies will compete under Mrs. Ala McClure, Pittsburgh.

The German Shepherds will be judged out of doors, both regular classes and obedience trial, no matter what the weather. Mr. John Cosgrove, Wallingford, Conn., will be specialty judge, and Major L. Wilson Davis, Hyde, Md., will be in charge of the obedience work.

A long-time Great Dane breeder and exhibitor, Mr. Harvey H. Heming, New London, Ohio, will be judging in the East for the first time at this show. The Dane judging will be outside on the armory parade ground if weather permits.

Mr. T. H. Carruthers 3rd, of Glendale, Ohio, will judge the Fox Terrier entries in regular classes. Puppies will compete in a sweepstakes under Mrs. Nell B. Hudson, Vienna, Va.

The smallest dogs in the show, the Chihuahuas, will have their big winner determined by a judge from the Northeast. He is Mr. George W. Fowler, of Meriden, Conn.
