Weather Forecast

Warm Friday, becoming cooler over the weekend. Scattered showers and thunderstorms possible.

Tuesday's rain, while welcome, did little to relieve severe drought conditions in the Emmitsburg district. A Town employee said the rain had little effect on local reservoirs and that no gain was noticeable. An interesting word from Mrs. Paul Beale, local weather observer, shows that last Friday the area received .28 of an inch and Tuesday's downpour brought only .45, making a total of .73 of an inch. This sum represented four times the amount that fell during June and July, two of the driest months on record. Other areas report anywhere from one to two inches but as usual Emmitsburg remains just about the driest spot in the state.

It's getting so a person is almost afraid to read the papers because every so often there's an article telling you that what you are doing is injurious to your health. Remember the lung cancer program that went on for years and caused quite a number of smokers to get off the stuff? Well this week a famous physician claims that drinking coffee will lead to heart trouble. Here we go again folks. The Government will probably come up with a mandate that the good old coffee pot will have to bear the label, Poison, something similar to the edict that all cigarette packages must bear the warning that smoking them may be injurious to your health. What next?

Town Commissioner Norman Flax is definitely out as a Town representative. His resignation which was tendered recently following a regular meeting of the Town Council has been accepted. Mayor Baker notified Mr. Flax of the Council's acceptance this week. We are indeed sorry that things turned out this way but apparently it couldn't be avoided. Mr. Flax's status seems sort of clouded at the moment, that is in reference to his job as Public Works Director. Flax is sort of non-committal about the whole deal and states he will serve as Director on a "temporary" basis. Just what this means is conjectural and only time will tell whether or not he will remain on the Town's payroll. It will be interesting to see who the Council will name to serve out the unexpired term of Mr. Flax.

Information has it that the local Chamber of Commerce is planning to reorganize and an effort to get the ball rolling will be made in the near future. Present officers of the organization are pondering whether or not to hold some sort of social affair, such as a dinner, and invite interested citizens to attend in an effort to interest them in community work. This is indeed good news as the lack of an active Chamber here has had its effects on the community.

Rocky Ridge Carnival Set For Next Week

The Rocky Ridge Fire Co. is making plans for the Frederick County Firemen's Convention Parade to be held at Rocky Ridge, Thursday evening, August 18. The parade will start, forming on Route 76, which is the road leading from Creagerstown to Rocky Ridge at 6:30 p.m. It will then start at 7:00 p.m., disbanding at the carnival grounds in Mt. Tabor Park.

The parade will consist of State and County Firemen Officials, State and County Ladies Auxiliary Officials, County Commissioners and distinguished guests. There will be senior and junior bands, drum corps, fire apparatus, marching units, floats, kiddies and comedy attractions.

Anyone interested in participating in the parade may contact Jim Sixx no later than Saturday, August 13.

The carnival will be held in Mt. Tabor Park the entire week, Aug. 15 through 20. Advanced sale of ride tickets are available, eight tickets to a strip for $1.00. These may be obtained from Rocky Ridge Warehouse, Comptons Grocery or Jim Sixx.

Scandal Rumored Among County Officials

By Jim Bryan
Editor Brunswick Blade-Times

For several weeks—even months—the political arena of Frederick County has been awaiting the "breaking" of what is supposed to be a "big tax scandal." Supposedly it was to break before the municipal election in Frederick a few weeks ago, now rumor has it breaking before the primary election in September.

Undoubtedly it is the "hottest" story that has hit Frederick County for some time, but until this article it has never made any of the newspapers. It is no secret! The trouble is: "Is it true?"

Ever since representatives from the Internal Revenue Service began an investigation several months ago, the rumors have been flying thick and fast. Not too many weeks ago, various individuals were subpoenaed as witnesses. Shortly thereafter it was rumored indictments would be issued.

The story has spread wide and far that last week a reporter from the Baltimore Sun was in Frederick County trying to run down some rumors that had been "leaked" to him.

As is generally the rule, the Internal Revenue Service has remained completely "mum" on what is happening. However, because of its investigation which has seen dozens of persons questioned, if there is nothing to these ase, then the Internal Revenue Service will have been a party to incurring the biggest character assassination against certain individuals this county has ever seen. If the scandal is not true, there will have been numerous persons who are going to be "suspect" by the public regardless.

If there has been a fraud and so-called tax scandal involving County funds, does it necessarily follow that it will ever break out into the open? If the individuals involved settle with the IRS, will there be other proceedings and investigations by Frederick County officials or will the case be marked "closed"?

If there ever was a "hot potato" in Frederick County, this is it!

No Public Statements
Those reportedly involved aren't talking; various politicians are talking only behind doors and persons who could be on the spot if the rumors prove true, are sitting tight.

While the rumors have piled high no one has been brave enough as yet to publicly demand local authorities do some investigation on their own. If it develops there is truth to some of the rumors it would appear several will have some explaining to do to the public as to why no local investigation has been initiated.

No Accusations Yet
Actually, insofar as is known, there have been no formal accusations. Perhaps it would be better if there were some because the rumor-mongers have been "living it up".

One well-known County individual who is not involved, but close to the scene, told the Blade-Times the quicker the matter broke out into the open, the happier he would be.

"Persons are being accused that I know that are not involved. This is not right."

Little League Seeks Donations

Donations are being accepted to help defray the costs of transporting members of the Emmitsburg Little League's trip to the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa., on August 27.

The officials of the local league have arranged for busses to haul the youngsters to the Little League World Series and each player desiring to make the trip is asked to contact his manager immediately.

VFW AMBULANCE

Mrs. Charles Koontz was transferred this week from the Gettysburg Hospital to the U. S. Public Health Hospital, Baltimore, and Mrs. Milburn Glass was transferred from the Gettysburg Hospital to the York Hospital via the VFW ambulance. Drivers were Paul E. Humerick and Donald Byard.

Mount Offices Closed Monday

The offices at Mount St. Mary's College will be closed on Monday, August 15 in observance of the Feast of the Assumption.

Senior Citizens To Meet Tuesday

Senior Citizens of Emmitsburg will hold their August meeting at Saint Joseph College, August 16, at 6:30 p.m. It will be a picnic on the lawn behind the Home Economics Department on the southeast side of campus. The area is beautiful, cool, and there are no stairs to climb. In case we should get the much-prayed-for rain, don't stay home. We'll move the fun into the home economics building.

The July 19th picnic at Eyster's was a huge success. This will be too if everyone comes. All members are invited as well as those who are eligible and interested in joining the group of Senior Citizens organized last March. As at the Eysters, the beverage and dessert will be furnished. Picnicers will bring a "covered dish" for the main dish or accompaniment.

Transportation should be no problem. If you need a ride, call Mr. Clarence Frailey. He's the able chairman of transportation and also one of the leaders of fun.

Emmitsburg's Senior Citizens group is one of the most active in Frederick County. There is promise of considerable development in the near future. Therefore, it is important for each member to participate and encourage new members to join. Like so many things in life, "the more the merrier". We are already a merry group on our way up.

Candidates' Night Well Attended

Candidates' Night, sponsored by the New Frontier Democratic Women's Club Monday night proved to be a resounding success.

The affair was held in the VFW Annex and approximately 25 candidates appeared and spoke briefly. An estimated 125 persons were in attendance. Candidates and friends were greeted by officials and members of the club and Clarence E. Hahn, chairman of the local Democratic Central Committee and Mrs. Jane Bollinger, vice chairman. Mrs. Bollinger acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the candidates whose talks were limited to three minutes.

Wallace Hutton, candidate for County Commissioner, in making his brief talk, said he favors a well-paid, full-time elected official, to be held responsible to the people, instead of an appointed county manager. J. Norman Flax, candidate for County Commissioner, stated he favored a state-wide lottery to aid education and pay teachers salaries.

Chairman of the social hour was Mrs. Frances Rosensteel, who was assisted by Mrs. Vada Waterfield, Mrs. Ada McKissick, Mrs. Kathryn Kugler and Mrs. Sue Moorehead. Mrs. Jane Nolan, president of the club, greeted the candidates and the public upon their arrival.

Oddo's Move

Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert L. Oddo, now residing in Mexico, announce their moving to California. Effective August 15, friends may write the Oddos at 4202 Arguello St., San Diego, Calif. 92103.

Farmers Urged Not To Cut Corn Now

If you are tempted to cut drought-stunted corn right now, don't do it.

This is the suggestion of University of Maryland agronomists. Dr. Wally Moline, forage specialist, says corn crops have been hurt, but there is very little to gain by making silage now.

"Chances are," he says, "that rains will come to the rest of the state and even if grain does not from, most of the feed value will be in the fodder."

With much to the state's corn crop damaged by dry weather, Dr. Moline says, farmers may see some corn turn a little purplish because of the high sugar content of leaves and stalks. If the corn is left to grow it will continue to pile up dry matter (feed value) as long as the corn stays green. This is valuable feed that you can put in the silo late in the fall.

Dr. Moline believes it might even pay you to buy drought-damaged corn fields from neighbors if you think your feed supply will be low this winter.

But, don't cut it now. The stunted corn is not worth much for silage now, but it could still make a great deal of growth before frost.

Dr. Moline has one further note of caution. When corn that has been fertilized with nitrogen is damaged by drought and then put in the silo, oxides of nitrogen often escape. These brownish-yellow gasses are extremely poisonous to man and animals. Avoid breathing the gasses. Do not go into the silo unless the silo filler blower has been running for 15 minutes or so.

The situation usually clears up in about 10 days or two weeks after the silage has been put into the silo. After that it is safe to feed the silage in a normal manner.

For further information on drought emergency forage programs, contact the county Extension Service office listed in the telephone book under County Government.

Reading Club Has Party

At a watermelon party on July 30, held in the back yard at the home of Mrs. Charles Dillon, ten children of the Summer Reading Club, sponsored by the Emmitsburg Public Library, received their certificates. Requirements for the club included reports on eight books completed during the eight weeks of this summer. The reports could be written, given orally, or in some cases the child could draw an illustration of their favorite character. Those receiving certificates were: Cynthia Sanders, Gregg Sanders, Robert Sanders, Patrick Dillon, Kathy Dillon, Cynthia Dillon, Diane Cool, Denise Cool, Cheryl Topper, Jessica Mick, Anne Dammann, Debbie Sprinkle and Sharon Danner. Congratulations to all children who participated in the club.

Most donors to CARE are average Americans of moderate means.

Fire Company Has Busy Month

Thirteen fires were attended to in addition to one service call handled since the last regular meeting, Fire Chief Guy R. McGlaughlin reported at the regular meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. held Tuesday night in the Fire Hall, 32 members in attendance with the president, James E. Fitzgerald presiding.

The fund drive committee reported contributions were exceeding those of last year. Frank V. Reilly was voted into the group as an active member. A thank-you note was ordered sent to Robert A. Seidel for his preparation of assessments report.

The annual summer feast will be held Sunday, Aug. 21 and servings will be from 2 to 4 p.m. Admission for members will be $1.00. President Fitzgerald urged all members to attend the County Firemen's Convention to be held next Wednesday evening at Rocky Ridge, Md.

The firemen expressed appreciation to Sterling H. White, former Fire Chief, for his devotion to duty and service to the community and the company. White was presented with a Past Chief's Badge. Honored also in the same manner was John S. Hollinger, immediate past president. Roland Sanders was voted as a regular active member after serving the customary probationary period. The president appointed the following fund raising committee: Ronald Stouter, chairman, assisted by Gene Myers and John Balm.

Fairfield's Fire Chief expressed his company's appreciation to the local firemen for the time they stood by at Fairfield while that group assisted the Gettysburg Fire Co. with a major fire recently. Thirteen Emmitsburg firemen aided in the stand-by operation. Chief Harry O. Miller also expressed his company's deep appreciation of the local group for their assistance with the recent Camp Airy fire in Thurmont. Patrick Boyle and Mike Orndorff were named to the refreshment committee for September.

Next Tuesday evening at 7 p.m. the regular monthly practice will be held and all members are urged to attend. Also at the same time, Capt. Paul A. Keepers of the Fire Police, will call a short meeting and all Fire Police are asked to be present.

Blaze Causes $4,000 Damage

The back of a frame house owned by John Hahn in Rocky Ridge was severely damaged by fire Monday before firemen from three companies could extinguish the flames.

Damage to the home was estimated at between $3,000 and $4,000. Firemen said the blaze, which started on the back porch, was probably caused by faulty wiring.

Firemen from Rocky Ridge, Thurmont and Emmitsburg responded to the alarm at 12:30 p.m. and remained until about 2:30.

Mathias Seeks Aid For Area Farmers

An on-the-scene inspection of drought conditions here was made last Saturday afternoon by Congressman Charles McC. Mathias of the Sixth Congressional District.

Congressman Mathias came to the Emmitsburg area accompanied by two other Government representatives, Harold Free, chairman of the Frederick County Disaster Committee, Rocky Spring, Md., and Bryce Hopkins, FHA co-ordinator for Frederick and Washington Counties. Meeting at the farm of Charles Brauer, Rocky Ridge farmer, the Congressman and his party personally inspected Brauer's farm and its drought conditions after previously touring Frederick County. Mathias termed the situation critical and that night asked Governor Tawes to take action to designate Frederick County as a disaster area.

The Congressman and his party were met by approximately 100 other farmers, business people and other interested parties and joined in the tour of the Brauer farm. Hopkins is in charge of processing loans to farmers in drought areas. The party found much evidence of damage caused by the prolonged drought and saw corn that was planted in the middle of May stunted at the height of a foot and a half. Sudax which was planted in early May reached a height of only one foot. Normally it should have been four feet at this time of the year.

Governor Tawes went to work immediately on the problem and asked the Federal Government to give as much aid to county farmers as possible.

In asking Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman to declare Frederick County a disaster area, Tawes said that "pastures are presently producing extremely low yields because of the extended drought."

At the same time, the Governor asked Freeman to declare three other Maryland counties, Kent, Carroll, and Howard, disaster areas.

The governor, however, sought a livestock feed program for only Frederick and Carroll Counties.

Tawes' action came only one day after the State Drought Disaster Committee unanimously recommended Frederick County for the two drought disaster programs.

If approved by the Agriculture Department, the drought disaster area designation would make the county eligible for the following aid:

Purchase by dairy farmers and beef cattle raisers of federal surplus corn at government support prices—about 35 cents a bushel below the market rate.

By-Pass Damages

A board of viewers has set damages of $7,550 for Fred S. and Margretta T. Landsperger, Fairfield R2, in papers filed in the prothonotary's office in connection with a claim against the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the construction of a cloverleaf at the Blue and Gray Cabins on the new Rt. 15 bypass.

The Landspergers originally asked $17,818 in damages to property, loss of 1.23 acres of land and a decline in cabin rentals of approximately $1,000 in one year.

The board also set June 29, 1961, as the date of condemnation in a memorandum filed by the Landspergers' counsel for damages in delay in payment.

The Blue and Gray Cabins property, located in Freedom Twp., originally comprised 2.75 acres of land and included a picnic area. The state road relocation took a total of 1.23 acres, leaving 1.5249-acre of the original tract, for which the owners paid $23,500 in 1948.

The petition for delay in payment seeks $2,718 in damages.

PALEFACES AND GOOD PRESS

by Margie Blake, Carnation Teen Committee

A deep and golden suntan is always in style, and lucky the girl who slowly gets one. A boiled-lobster burn, on the other hand, is not. However, this year all the after-swim granny dresses and floppy straw hats that keep the sun off are so cute that all red-heads, strawberry blonds, and other non-tanning types are lucky too!

Margie's face was red the other day, but not from sun. It was a blush. The editor of our town's leading paper spoke to our Hi-Y group, and during the question period we asked him why the "bad" teenagers get all the publicity. He moved us down!

"I'm glad you asked," he said, holding up yesterday's paper. On the front page was a story about three of our peers who were going abroad for study. Inside were features about volunteers at the local hospital, young people with science projects, and a sign-up session of Jobs for Youth. There were, in all, forty-three inches on "good" teenagers—and four on "bad" ones! And that, as the editor pointed out, didn't even include sports and society. He concluded by inviting us to turn in more items about our "good" deeds, to bring the ratio even higher. So let's brag a little.

Summertime is picnic and cookout time, and what is an outdoor meal without potato salad? Here's Carnation's way to make it creamy and savery: In a large mixing bowl, mix 1½ cups mayonnaise, ½ cup (small can) undiluted Carnation evaporated milk, ½ cup lemon juice, and 1 tablespoon mustard. Add 9 cups (about 10 medium) cold cooked potato cubes, 1 tablespoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup minced onion, 1½ cups minced celery, and 4 sliced hard-cooked eggs. Toss lightly to mix; chill in serving bowl until serving time. Serves 12.

And at serving time, add a pretty garnish. Perhaps two more hard-cooked eggs, sliced ... or slim strips of red and green pepper ... or a sprinkling of chopped chives?

The Carnation Teen Committee, made up of teens in schools across the country, makes suggestions for this column. If you have an idea, or want a Teen Party Idea Booklet, write to CTC, 777 Third Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10017.

Unwanted Children May Fail To Grow Normally

Why should some babies who are normal physically at birth, who show no signs of any organic disease, who were not born prematurely, and who suffered no physical abuse or neglect, fail to grow and develop normally?

An important part of the answer may be that because these children are unwanted they are rejected emotionally by their parents. An unfavorable interaction between parents and baby develops, contributing to failure of the baby to thrive. This is one conclusion of a recent study of 13 infants and their families by a team of investigators from the Yale University Child Study Center and Department of Pediatrics.

Brought to the hospital with such symptoms as feeding difficulties, vomiting, excessive crying, distended abdomens, the babies, who ranged in age from 10 weeks to 27 months, were strikingly small, without any detectable physical abnormalities which could account for their significant growth failure. Observations of the infants and their families were carried out by a team that included Dr. Martha F. Leonard, a pediatrician, and a research nurse, a child psychiatrist and, occasionally, hospital social workers.

Many Family Problems

All the babies came from families with multiple problems. Some lived in substandard, overcrowded homes where life was disorganized and chaotic, and financial problems were severe. Fathers were often unemployed, and in some families the mothers had serious health problems. Illegitimacy and disturbed marital relationships were common.

"A particularly serious hardship in nearly every family," the investigators noted, "was the number of children in quick succession. The interval between the birth of the patient and the previous or subsequent siblings was 18 months or less in more than half the families."

One mother said she had wanted one child but had six children in six years. Another had six children in 12 years, several had two in two-and-one-half years. One family had 10 children in 15 years.

"The parents of all the babies . . . openly declared that their baby was unwanted during pregnancy," the team reported.

Sad Family Histories

Failure to thrive would seem, from this study, to run in families. Not a single mother reported that she had received sustained support and nurturing in her own childhood. They recalled that their mothers had been too busy or overwhelmed to give them much attention; or that they were raised by rigid foster parents; or by a number of different people because of the illness or death of their own mothers.

Six of the mothers had physical health problems, and many said that they felt inadequate to cope with their problems and to mother their children. All were lonely, with little satisfying adult companionship. Six had babies while they were teenagers, and were unmarried at the time of conception.

The fathers were often absent, uninvolved in family life, and unsupportive of their wives and children. Only one appeared to be stable and confident and a source of strength to his family. But he worked long hours and was away from home much of the time.

"For the most part," the investigators observed, "the fathers were passive and ineffectual . . . or were irresponsible and childlike."

In spite of the multiple family problems most of the other children born to these couples had grown and developed satisfactorily. Why had one particular child been unable to thrive?, the researchers wondered.

One possible answer, they felt, was that "the added demands if a new baby every year or two seemed to deplete the mothers and overtax their abilities to cope with the responsibilities of motherhood. They were simply worn out, and this baby suffered the consequences of their having little left to give." Possibly, too, this particular infant might have seemed to the mother to present a threat to her life during pregnancy or delivery; or this baby's personal characteristics gave the mother little pleasure or satisfaction.

The full report on these eight white and five Negro families appeared in the "American Journal of Diseases of Children," June, 1966.

Seek Revisions In Litter Law

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced this week that he had mailed a letter to Dr. Carl N. Everstine, Director of the Department of Legislative Reference regarding two revisions to the Annotated Code of Maryland.

These revisions in the law, which would go far toward relieving the problem of littering in Maryland, were not approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee during the last session of the Maryland Legislature.

Comptroller Goldstein requested in his letter that Dr. Everstine place these proposed revisions on the agenda for study by the Legislative Council and stated that he would be glad to appear before the Council at a mutually convenient time.

During 1965 Comptroller Goldstein called several meetings with representatives of various brewers, soft drink bottling companies, glass manufacturing companies and members of the news media to discuss the problem of litter on Maryland highways and waterways.

During these meetings Mr. Goldstein pointed out to those persons in attendance that it costs the state of Maryland an average of $403,000 a year to remove highway litter.

It was also cited at the August 18, 1965 meeting that the stiffness of the fines imposed pertaining to the Litter Law is an obstacle in enforcing the law. The present fine of $250 for littering the highway is so strict that some magistrates are reluctant to enforce it.

It was also brought out at the

LEGAL

NO. 21,182 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR FREDERICK COUNTY, MARYLAND
ANNIE C. MARTIN, an infant, by NELLIE V. SHANK, her mother and next friend

VS.
ROBERT W. MARTIN, SR.
ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The Bill of Complaint is a suit procedure to a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONIUM from the Defendant, Robert W. Martin, Sr.

The Bill recites that the Complainant, Annie C. Martin, an infant, is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where she has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant, Robert W. Martin, Sr., is presently residing c/o Vivian Wetzel, 102 South Market Street, Frederick (Frederick County), Maryland; that the parties to this cause were married on 14th day of May, 1963, at Middletown, Maryland, by Rev. Klinefelter, a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage two children were born, namely, Sharon Ann Martin, aged two years, and Robert W. Martin, Jr., aged one year, both of whom are in the care and custody of the Complainant and whose care and custody the Complainant seeks; that the parties to this cause have voluntarily lived separate and apart without cohabitation for more than eighteen months prior to the filing of this Bill of Complaint, and that the separation between the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation.

The Bill then prays that the Complainant, Annie C. Martin, be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONIUM from the Defendant, Robert W. Martin, Sr., that said Complainant may be awarded the care and custody of the said infant children, and for such other and further relief as the nature of her case may require.

ORDER OF COURT
It is thereupon this 15th day of July, 1966, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks prior to the 20th day of August, 1966, commanding him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 20th day of September, 1966, and show cause, if any he may have, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

meeting that in West Virginia after the fine was changed from $250 to a figure of $20, convictions rose from none to 2,626. In 1964 the figure showed that convictions dropped to 825 because motorists got the idea that they would be prosecuted and this helped alleviate the litter condition in West Virginia to a great extent.

Another factor related to the litter problem was brought out at the October 8, 1965 meeting. This factor was that in the year 1964 the Maryland State Police made ten arrests and issued 548 warnings on litter. Maryland State Police Captain W. W. Corbin indicated the ratio of arrests to warnings suggested a problem in getting the police to take some positive action. Captain Corbin agreed with Comptroller Goldstein during the meeting that it would be helpful to codify Section 468 of Article 27 of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 Edition) and Section 253, paragraphs (a) and (e) of Article 66½ of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 Edition). This would permit the police to make an arrest under the Motor Vehicle Act instead of an arrest under the Criminal Statute as it now stands.

Comptroller Goldstein feels that this change in the Maryland law would lead to more effective enforcement and encourage drivers and passengers to refrain from throwing litter on our beautiful Maryland highways.

A Fine Pan Of Fish!

Few foods are as satisfying as freshly caught fish, hooked on your own line and pan-fried over your own fire. Small fish, or fillets and steaks cut from larger game, make succulent eating dipped in egg and rolled in cornmeal or cracker crumbs. They fry quickly and need only a simple sauce of melted butter, Tabasco liquid red pepper spice, lemon juice and parsley, to enhance their delicate flavor. Tabasco is an excellent seasoning to use in cooking fish, so pack the handy little two-ounce bottle with your other culinary essentials.

A booklet titled "Space-Saving, Time-Saving Cooking for Men-on-the-Move" offers new ideas and recipes for outdoor cooking. For a copy, write to: "Men-on-the-Move," Suite 1100, 551 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y. 10017.

Skillet-Fried Fish

6 small pan-dressed fish or 2 pounds fillets or steaks	4 tablespoons butter or margarine
Salt	¼ teaspoon Tabasco
Paprika, optional	4½ teaspoons lemon or lime juice
1 egg	1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
2 tablespoons water
1 cup flour, cornmeal or cracker crumbs

Sprinkle fish with salt and paprika. Beat together egg and water; dip fish in egg mixture; roll in desired dry mixture. Heat a small amount shortening or butter, salad oil or bacon drippings in skillet. (Do not allow to smoke.) Add fish. Cook quickly over moderate heat until browned on one side, about 4 minutes. Turn and cook 3 to 4 minutes longer or until easily flaked with a fork, but still moist. Remove from skillet; keep warm. Wipe out skillet with absorbent paper; add butter and melt. Stir in Tabasco, lemon juice and parsley. Serve with fish.

YIELD: 4 to 6 servings.

Football Heat Deaths Preventable, Says AMA

CHICAGO—Heat deaths among high school and college football players could be a thing of the past if coaches and players follow recommendations made at a meeting here recently.

When football practice opens in a few weeks, the first hot days could be dangerous for players unless precautions to avoid heat illness are taken now, a panel of medical and sports authorities agreed.

Heat illness last year caused the deaths of one college football player and four, possibly five, high school players. It contributed to "close calls" and injuries of many more.

The five-man panel, appearing at a meeting sponsored by the American Medical Association's Committee on the Medical Aspects of Sports, agreed that:

1. Prospective football players should get out of air-conditioned surroundings now and start getting accustomed to vigorous exercise in hot weather.

2. Coaches should abandon the old practice of withholding water from athletes during practice. Failure to replenish water and salt lost through perspiration increases the chances for heat exhaustion or heat stroke.

3. Athletes should be acclimated to hot weather by carefully graduated practice schedules. At least the first five days of practice should be devoted to non-contact workouts.

4. Both coaches and players should be alert for signs of heat illness, such as lethargy, stupor, awkwardness, or unusual fatigue.

University of Kentucky football coach Charles Bradshaw said his squad's practice sessions were improved by regular breaks for water and rest. Overworking players in hot weather only decreases their efficiency, he said.

Said Purdue University's team physician, L. W. Combs, M.D.: "Coaches used to think that if a player lost a lot of weight on the first day or so of practice, it was a good workout. Actually, all the player lost was body liquid—which is dangerous."

Allan J. Ryan, M.D., team physician at the University of Wisconsin, agreed with Dr. Combs. "Any player who loses more than three per cent of his body weight in a practice session is not getting enough salt and water," he said.

Excessive salt and water loss can result in heat stroke, an extremely dangerous condition, Dr. Ryan pointed out. Anyone can suffer heat stroke if he is active in hot weather and neglects to replace salt and water lost by perspiration. The result is a breakdown in the sweating mechanism and collapse.

If prompt measures aren't taken to get the heat stroke victim cooled immediately, the result can be death—sometimes within 15 minutes.

Approximately 850,000 boys in 14,500 U.S. high schools now play football, said Clifford B. Fagan, executive secretary of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations.

"The few deaths that occur in football can probably never be completely eliminated," Fagan said,

"but we can eliminate deaths due to heat illness—they are preventable."

Coaches can avoid trouble by keeping a close watch on their players for the first signs of heat illness, said William E. Newell, athletic trainer at Purdue University and executive secretary of the National Athletic Trainers' Association.

Parents can help protect their athlete-sons by watching for signs of fatigue and emotional strain, such as loss of appetite and poor sleep habits, Newell said.

Fred Hein, Ph.D., director of the AMA Department of Health Education and secretary of the AMA's Committee on the Medical Aspects of Sports, was panel moderator. Dr. Ryan is a member of the AMA Committee on Exercise and Physical Fitness, and is a past president of the American College of Sports Medicine.

Ensor Files For State Senate

James S. Ensor, well-known young area dairy farmer, has announced his candidacy for the State Senate, subject to the Republican primary.

In announcing his first bid for public office, Ensor said: "When elected to the Maryland Senate, I will oppose reckless fiscal policies such as the Cooper-Hughes tax; to give people the right to vote on who runs our schools; to require loyalty to our Republic from all officials by oath as provided in the Ober law; to fight for the right to keep and bear arms; to acknowledge God as the author of liberty and reverse the decision against prayer and Bible reading in schools; to support every effort for victory over world Communist conspiracy; to preserve individual freedom and oppose additional encroachments on individual liberty; and to work to help the people keep money paid in taxes which is now squandered on over 700 business-type activities which are not authorized by the Constitution."

Born in New Windsor, Ensor is a graduate of Frederick High School, class of 1953. He served four years in the Marine Corps, and was stationed at Panama, Cuba and Miami with the Third Marine Air Wing. He has served three years as state Farm Bureau Young Peoples' vice president. He also served on the American Farm Bureau Young Peoples' Advisory Committee representing the Northeastern Region. He is district director of the Frederick Young Republican Club. Jim has served as president of the Libertytown PTA. Married to the former Patricia Hanley, he is the father of four children. The family are members of the Warfieldsburg Bible Church, where Jim is a member of the Board of Trustees. He is a member of the executive committee of the Carroll County Farm Bureau Board of Directors. Jim represents the Farm Bureau Young Peoples' Committee of Carroll County, on the Agricultural Center Board.

WHEREAS, at its regular session of 1966, the General Assembly enacted Chapter 501 to submit the question of calling a Convention to frame a new Constitution for Maryland, and

WHEREAS, it is the duty of the Governor under the provisions of Article 33, Section 170 of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 Edition) to order publication of the text of said measure,

NOW, THEREFORE, the full text of said Chapter 501 is set forth below:

CHAPTER 501

(House Bill #44)

AN ACT to provide for taking at a special election to be held at the same time as the primary election in the year Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-Six, the sense of the voters of this State on the call of a Convention to frame a new Constitution of Maryland, which Convention would be convened within twelve months of that election.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That at a special election to be held on the second Tuesday after the first Monday in September, in the year Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-Six, at the same time as the primary election and at the same places where elections are by law held for the election of delegates to the General Assembly, there shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters of this State the question of whether there shall be called a Convention NOT EARLIER THAN SEPTEMBER 1, 1967 AND NOT LATER THAN SEPTEMBER 1, 1968 to frame a new Constitution for Maryland. There shall be placed upon the ballots or upon the voting machine labels to be used at that election in the manner prescribed by the general election laws of this State the words "For a Constitutional Convention" and "Against a Constitutional Convention" so that the voter may clearly indicate in the manner prescribed in the general election laws whether he is for or against the calling of a Convention to frame a new Constitution; and the vote on this question shall be received, counted, and canvassed in the manner prescribed by the general election laws. The Canvassing Boards of the several counties and for the City of Baltimore shall certify the vote on this question to the Governor, the Secretary of State, and the State Treasurer; and the Board of State Canvassers shall, at the time of their meeting to make a statement of the vote cast for the candidates voted upon at the primary election, also make a statement of the vote cast on the question of calling a Constitutional Convention, and shall transmit the same to the Governor; and the Governor shall, after receiving this statement, issue a proclamation reporting the sense of the people of this State on the call of a Convention to frame a new Constitution and shall transmit a copy of the proclamation to the General Assembly.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That notice that the question of calling a Constitutional Convention will be submitted to the voters shall be given in the same manner and for the same time as required by Section 12 of Article 33 of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 Edition, as amended). All other State and local officials shall do all those things which are appropriate in regard to the holding of this special election and that are required under the general election laws.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That this Act is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and necessary for the immediate preservation of public health and safety and, having been passed by a ye and nay vote supported by three-fifths of all the members elected to each of the two Houses of the General Assembly, this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

I, J. MILLARD TAWES, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND, by virtue of the power and authority conferred upon me by the Constitution of Maryland, do by this my proclamation, order that the foregoing bill be published by at least one insertion in two or more newspapers within the several counties of the State and in all of the daily newspapers published in the City of Baltimore, not later than thirty days prior to the primary election to be held on September 13, 1966, at which election the proposed question shall be submitted, in the form prescribed by the General Assembly, to the qualified voters of the State for adoption or rejection.

Revolutionary Unit To Perform At Fort Frederick

The Maryland Departments of Economic Development and Forests and Parks announced this week that they are again jointly sponsoring a series of Revolutionary War Military exhibitions at Fort Frederick State Park near Hagerstown, off Interstate 70, on Saturday and Sunday, August 13 and 14.

The "First Maryland Regiment," a crack Revolutionary War Unit, which is presently compounded of civilian history buffs and students, will perform over the two-day period, and demonstrate various crafts of the times. Commenting on the Fort, a spokesman for the Department of Economic Development pointed out that it was built in the 1750's, is the only one of its era remaining, and could, with significant interpretation, become a major tourist attraction bringing important economic benefits to the area.

The State official said, "if Maryland's historic sites are to become highly popular as tourist attractions, interpretation and activities must be provided. Evidence of this, he continued, occurred at Fort Frederick State Park over the July 4th weekend. With the "First Maryland Regiment" performing there, Park attendance was up over 150%—more than 7000 persons visited the Park—as compared with the same weekend last year. The Fort Frederick presentation, and military performances at Fort Mifflin, which has increased its attendance, he said, gives us an indication as to what the public wants and has come to expect."

The State official concluded his remarks by announcing that William Brown and Burton Kummerow, who head up the First Maryland Regiment, and who are both working towards post-graduate degrees in history, at the University of Maryland, are now doing historical research on Fort Frederick for the State.

The Danger Of "Easy" Federal Money

A statewide businessmen's organization in a midwestern state recently held a symposium in its capital city for local Chambers of Commerce staff executives and city and county government officials. The keynote speaker stated the topic of discussion: "So many Federal handout programs are being created in the 'War on Poverty' that the typical city and county have only a hazy idea of what they can get and how to get it. We have brought together for this symposium Federal and State experts to enumerate and explain the new Federal aid projects and what each community and county must do to get its share."

One of the members of Congress who appeared on the symposium program said: "I voted against all these programs, but they passed Congress and now we'd be foolish not to get every penny of this money we can. Our taxes are helping pay for the programs." He was not one of the "experts" but had come out from Washington to assure his constituents his office was prepared to help out the red tape. The experts explained the programs and the "paper work" necessary by each community and county to "qualify" for the easy money.

"Bread And Circuses" Out of this symposium (and they are being held in many areas of the nation) came some significant facts: 1. The statewide businessmen's organization and the Chambers of Commerce which sent executives to the symposium had historically voiced opposition to "Federal Aid" programs of the type being discussed. 2. The keynote did not talk about any local "needs" but emphasized the bonanza-for-all nature of the Federal out-pouring of money. 3. The Congressman's "practical" attitude shows how the idea of "something for nothing" ultimately infects a whole society once it takes root. Great societies are not created through paternalism. They are destroyed by it. History records a long list of nations which rose to the pinnacle of world leadership and then fell victim of the deterioration of individual responsibility. The fall of the Roman Empire is but one dramatic example of the deadly effect of Government - provided "bread and circuses" for the population.

Cultivating Dependency

The swiftly expanding array of "War on Poverty" programs conceived by the "Social Security" planners in Washington are designed, they say, to improve the lot of individual persons. The net results of many "projects" is to provide easy income for persons classified as "poor" or "disadvantaged." But instead of stimulating and motivating a will toward self-improvement and self-reliance in the individual, too often the "aid" programs are based on paternalism—care and control. And this poses a grave danger to the American way of life and the great general prosperity which it has brought.

"Give a man a fish," an old proverb says, "and you feed him a day. Teach him to catch a fish and you feed him for life." Some few of the programs coming out of Washington are directed at improving the level of competence of individuals but on the broad front they are handing out fish rather than teaching people to catch their own. No more dramatic proof of the destructive nature of such paternalism can be found than in the story of the sea gulls of Conch Island, Florida, just off the waterfront at St. Augustine. A few years ago, their pitiful plight made news in papers all over the nation.

Too Many "Free Lunches"

The Conch Island gulls were the pride of the Atlantic, powerful of wing, keen of eye, flashing, slashing, diving fishermen. For years they would fly each morning far out to sea, search out their small fish prey schools, and dive among them to eat their fill. Then the shrimp fleet moved into St. Augustine port. In the late evening each day the fleet would come in, beside clean thousands of pounds of shrimp. The water was littered with bits of culled shrimp. The Conch Island gulls saw the bonanza. They quit flying out over the ocean hundreds of miles for food. Often the tide even brought the shrimp meat right up to their Conch Island beaches—supper served in bed!

For three years the shrimp fleet stayed at St. Augustine. Then it moved far around the coast. The Conch Island gulls waited in vain for their food to be served up. After a few days they began screaming. They were starving. The shrimp "handout" had ended. The St. Augustine residents heard the mounting screams and noticed the gulls dying. They investigated. They found that the gulls had lost the ability to hunt and fish for themselves.

In the animal kingdom or in human society, the "hand out" program is the most dangerous aspect of the "Welfare State."

When U. S. Schools close for the summer, the school year just begins in many countries overseas.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson's Point Of View On:
Prosperity In The Small Towns

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 11—Since World War II the whole face of America has tory. These have been accompanied by a 38% increase in population and by a mighty cross-migration from farms to urban areas and from the large core cities to the outer suburbs. In the process, many of the nation's smaller towns have grown and prospered. But nearly as many more towns just haven't kept pace.

Growth Factors

Small-town growth has not been confined to any one section of the nation, but it has been most vigorous in the South and in the Far West reflecting the heavy movement of industry and people into those areas. Perhaps the biggest growth factor is need. Towns grow and expand to meet needs. If the needs don't materialize, there is no cause for growth. And if the needs are there, but not fully perceived or exploited, the opportunity is lost. Towns which are bound to grow are county seats, sites of colleges, or headquarters of government agencies or of sizable service businesses or industries.

Growth begets growth. Many of the small county seats and college towns of yesteryear are today thriving cities, some of them fairly large ones. They have expanded primarily because their development of retail and other services, and of cultural opportunities, has attracted new economic activity.

Location Is Important

Geographic location also plays an important part in the economic growth potential. If a region has abundant natural resources and is marching forward by making maximum use of its advantages, such get-up-and-go will almost automatically bring growth to many of its small towns too. Of course, small towns within 20 to 30 miles of larger cities usually have better prospects for growth than do places more off the beaten track. This is true largely because even small industries need to locate where they will be assured of the required labor, good transportation, and nearness to suppliers of raw materials and other necessary equipment.

But the more isolated towns need not always be so isolated. New high-speed highways continue to open up vast tracts of land far out in the country for development. Some of the most prosperous towns of the 1970s will be entirely new communities built on sites that today are still completely rural, and in some cases actually wilderness.

Fiscal Limitations

As our smaller towns grow larger, they suffer all kinds of growing pains. Chief among these are the need all at once for enlargement of educational and recreational facilities, expansion of fire and police departments, procurement of ample water supplies, and provisions of adequate plant and equipment to assure prompt and effective disposal of waste.

All these services and improvements cost money. And the cost is rising year by year. Hence it behooves those towns which must meet new demands for capital improvements to step warily. The temptation to go full steam ahead is great as needs mushroom. But, for towns as well as for people, the foundation for lasting prosperity is fiscal sanity. Do not allow debt to become unmanageable!

Town Mergers

More and more we hear proposals that smaller towns merge with their neighbors in order to modernize their governmental structure and cut the overhead cost of essential services. The consolidation approach to these problems has recently been the subject of a national policy report prepared by the Committee for Economics Development. This idea is not without merit, but outright mergers certainly ought not to be hastily effected.

Nowhere is the small town so much a symbol of freedom and of self-government as it is in the U. S. Loss of that identity and image — synonymous with the initiative and self-reliance that has helped make our nation great—would be irreparable. It would often be far better for towns to team up to operate certain services jointly than to merge outright.

LEGAL

NO. 21,390 EQUITY IN THE
CIRCUIT COURT FOR FREDERICK COUNTY, MARYLAND
LLOYD C. DERN

and
PAUL B. DERN, EXECUTORS OF THE ESTATE of CARRIE B. DERN, deceased

vs.
THE UNKNOWN HEIRS, DEVISEES, PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVES, DESCENDANTS OR SUCCESSORS IN INTEREST,
OF JOHN CLOSE, deceased

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this Bill is that the Court may take Jurisdiction in the premises and enter a Decree that the Last Will and Testament of Carrie B. Dern, deceased, meets the requirements contained in the Last Will and Testament of John Close, deceased, and properly devises the Real Estate referred to herein.

The Bill recites that Carrie B. Dern died on the 16th day of November, 1965, testate. That the Last Will and Testament of the said Carrie B. Dern is recorded in Liber T.M.E. 4, Folio 72, one of the Will Books kept in the Register of Wills for Frederick County, Maryland. That the Complainants were granted letters testamentary on the 29th day of November, 1965. That the Last Will and Testament of Carrie B. Dern directed her Executors, the Complainants herein, to sell, assign, and convey and convert into cash all of her Estate and Property, real, personal and mixed. That the Estate of Carrie B. Dern consists of three tracts or parcels of Real Estate lying and being in the Emmitsburg Election District, Frederick County, Maryland. That the aforesaid three tracts or parcels of Real Estate are all and the same parcels of Real Estate given and devised unto the said Carrie B. Dern, to hold the same during the term of her life for the full power to devise the same by her Last Will as she may seem fit, by the Last Will and Testament of John Close. The said John Close died during the month of July, 1893, survived only by his wife, Mary A. Close. The said Mary A. Close died during the month of September, 1963, testate, and by the terms of her Last Will and Testament, she gave, devised and bequeathed unto the said Carrie B. Dern, all of her Property and Estate, real, personal and mixed, of every kind and description whatsoever. That the said Carrie B. Dern did reside on a part of the aforesaid Real Estate, beginning in the year 1893 until 1925 and from 1925 until her death, on the 16th day of November, 1965, did rent the Real Estate to various individuals, with income paid to the said Carrie B. Dern.

It is thereupon this 27th day of July, 1966, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, and by the authority thereof, ORDERED that the Complainants, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Frederick County, once a week in each of four successive weeks, the last of such publication to be made not less than thirty (30) days before the 3rd day of September, 1966, give notice to the Unknown Heirs, Devisees, Personal Representatives, Descendants or Successors In Interest, of John Close, deceased, whether residents or non-residents, of the object and substance of this Bill, warning them to appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 4th day of October, 1966, next, to show cause, if any they have, why the Decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Many ways more isolated and primitive than it was 100 years ago. In season, during that era, steamboats busily plied those turbid waters. Scattered along the banks were woodyards, forts, trading posts and occasional Plains Indian encampments. Now the steamboats are gone, and the activity they spawned has disappeared. Much of the land has reverted to a neoprimitive state. There is (of course) some evidence of man. One bridge crosses the mighty Missouri within this general area, and there are several primitive cable ferries and a few (very few) remote ranches, according to John Jobson, Camping Editor of Spots Afeld Magazine.

The terrain is largely unchanged from the way it was in 1805, when Lewis and Clark passed through—the first white men to see it. Their undisturbed campsites are still there: easily found, and suitable for camping as of this writing. The tepee rings of many ancient Plains Indian Villages are still in evidence.

The land is high prairie, rolling plains, eroded cliffs, buttes, lovely river and creek bottoms with groves of shady cottonwood trees. The route is so rich in significance (concerning exploration and the settling of the West) and colorful frontier history it would be a never-ending hobby to read all the easily available works dealing with it. More important to campers, perhaps, is that it affords a unique, memorable and inexpensive vacation afield.

The mechanics are uncomplicated. It is best for the average fellow to choose the downstream route. There are several spots suitable for launching your chosen watercraft: Fort Benton, the ferry at Loma (near the mouth of the historic Marias River) or yet another ferry downstream from Fort Benton at Virgelle.

Downstream, you can either terminate your journey at the Ophir Ferry (between the towns of Big Sandy and Winifred) or continue a bith farther to the Robinson Bridge, about 115 miles from Birgelle. A water camping trip not too long or too short to be relished by all members of the family.

get big litters of
HUSKY PIGS

A sow is a pig factory. She has the big job of producing and nursing two litters of pigs every year. Like any other factory, she has to have raw ingredients to produce the product (pigs) and maintain the factory (her own body).

If she doesn't get proper nutrition she may actually resorb some pigs into her system, causing you to lose pigs you'll never even see; or she may farrow weak, unthrifty litters.

Purina Sow Chow has what it takes to help the sow keep up her own body, farrow big litters and have plenty of milk to start 'em right. Available as a supplement to your grain or as a complete sow ration. Ask for Purina Sow Chow at our store.

Are there really any sound reasons for buying a Chevrolet in August?

During August, it's as easy to own a Bel Air 4-Door Sedan as getting in the car.

Wait till you see how sporty you look sitting in your Impala Super Sport.

In a word: Six

1. Have you ever known the instant delight of selecting a new Impala Super Sport in the color you want, slipping into its Strato-bucket seats, and driving it home from the showroom the same day? Now's your chance. Your Chevrolet dealer has a big choice of models on hand with small August price tags.
2. More than likely, your present car will never be worth as much in trade as it is right now. Money—another good reason to buy a Chevrolet this month.
3. Read those articles about when to buy a new car and they'll tell you that August is one of the best months. And your Chevrolet dealer is ready to show you why... with buys that are better than ever.
4. If you think winter's tough on an old car, believe us, so is summer. There's added strain on the engine because of vacation driving. Greater tire wear. The cooling system has to work extra hard. A new Chevrolet can save you a lot of trouble.
5. You do a lot of driving for pleasure so why not ride on Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension. Let your feet feel that deep-twist Chevrolet carpeting. August is to enjoy.
6. Make your summer driving safer driving by taking advantage of the eight standard safety features built into every new Chevrolet. If your present car doesn't have seat belts, back-up lights, outside rearview mirror, padded instrument panel, look into a new Chevrolet.

The star-spangled street where you live

You can't always see the stars and stripes on the homes and apartments in your neighborhood, but they're there just the same.

A big percentage of American families own U.S. Savings Bonds. Many of these star-spangled families have been buying Bonds since they were first issued 25 years ago.

Altogether, Uncle Sam has sold $150 billion in E and H Bonds. About $100 billion of these have been cashed in for college, retirement, new furniture, emergencies, and down payments for those homes.

Americans still own a nest egg of nearly $50 billion in Bonds for tomorrow's needs. And as the nest egg grows, Uncle Sam uses the dollars to help support our fighting men in Vietnam—and help keep our economy strong.

You can help make Uncle Sam's future, and your own, more secure by joining this star-spangled savings plan. Why not start now? Sign up for Payroll Savings where you work, or buy Bonds regularly at your bank.

To Make Survey In This Area

Some families of this area are to be included in a special survey on household ownership of television sets to be conducted as a supplement to the August Current Population Survey of the Bureau of the Census, according to Director John G. Gibson of the Census Regional Office in Philadelphia.

Questions in the supplementary survey, supported by the Advertising Research Foundation, will be asked of only a part of all families questioned in the regular monthly survey aimed at obtaining employment figures for the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U. S.
Department of Labor. The information is taken from selected households in 357 sample areas of the nation.

The television section of the August survey will ask the number of sets in the household, whether color or black and white, and the capability of receiving ultra high frequency telecasts.

Highway Fatalities Continue To Rise

Fifteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police. Eight of those killed were drivers; three were passengers;
and four were pedestrians.

"Up to and including August 7, Maryland has experienced 430 highway fatalities this year—12% above that for the same period last year," reported Colonel Carey Jarman, Superintendent of the Maryland State Police.

"In 179 of these deaths," he continued, "we saw alcohol as a contributing factor; in 175 it was speed; and in 343 cases the operator violated one or more of the fundamental rules of driving."

Lucky
for you it's always the woman
next door.

This is the way many women think about cancer: it only strikes the woman next door... avoids you.
Yet in 1965, cervical cancer took the lives of 160 Maryland women next door. It can't always be the other woman.

In fact, it doesn't have to be any woman. If detected early and treated promptly, cervical cancer is practically 100% curable. And there's no luck involved — just an annual Pap smear as a part of your health checkup.

Women 30-45 have been sent a cervical cancer detection kit to test themselves at home. Either way, be sure to have a Pap test.
If every woman did, it wouldn't have to be the woman next door.
Or you. Or any woman.

Women 30 to 45 who did not receive a free detection kit may request one by writing the Cytologic Screening Center, 725

Mount To Play In Civic Center

Championship Sports, Inc., has expanded its Baltimore Civic Center basketball program to five doubleheaders for the 1966-67 season, featuring a generous blend of top local quintets and national major college teams.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Ben Roth, president of the organization which introduced collegiate basketball in the downtown arena in 1964.

In addition to renewing their own traditional rivalry, which has become a real highlight of the Civic Center schedule, Mount St. Mary's and Loyola College each will take on a pair of major college fives, giving local fans a chance to cheer on their favorites against outside opposition.

There are also two added starters among local fives. Appearing for the first time in the Civic Center will be Morgan State College and the University of Baltimore.

In for return performances will be Towson State, Western Maryland College and Washington College.

Major collegiate teams on the card include Virginia Polytechnic Institute, the University of Miami (Florida), Loyola University of New Orleans and Georgetown University.

B.P.I. posted a 19-4 record last year and appeared in the National Invitational Tournament in New York.

Mount St. Mary's and Loyola are old hands at providing Civic Center audiences with exciting down-to-the-wire contests, and both schools are eager to lock horns again. They meet this season on January 5.

It will be one of four Civic Center appearances by the Mounts and the Greyhounds.

Coach Jim Phelan's Mounts, who relish playing and beating big-time colleges, go against Miami and Loyola of New Orleans, in addition to meeting Morgan State for the first time in history.

Loyola also faces Morgan, for the first time since 1954, and ma-may be obtained from the Jermac Ticket Agency, at the Baltimore Civic Center, and the Athletic Office of the participating Maryland colleges.

Mount St. Mary's schedule at the Civic Center is as follows: Dec. 8, 9:15 p.m.—Miami; Jan. 5, 9:15 p.m.—Loyola; Feb. 2, 7:30 p.m.—Loyola of New Orleans; Feb. 16, 7:30 p.m.—Morgan State.

done to crops during the dry spell. It did say, however, that some late corn, soybeans and some vegetables benefited.

Reader Disagrees With Tax Set-Up

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

I paid my taxes on my property and when I sat down to look at the receipt I made an interesting discovery. My tax bill covered the year July 1, 1966 to July 1, 1967. I was actually paying it 12 months in advance of the actual due date.

For paying 12 months in advance I was allowed a 2 per cent discount on county taxes, none on state tax. All the banks are paying 4 per cent or more, so if I had kept my money until the bill was due I would save myself at least 2 per cent.

Next I noticed that if not paid by Oct. 1, 1966, I would be charged interest at the rate of 1/2 of 1 per cent for each month or fraction thereof during which taxes are in arrears.

How can a county or state or city charge interest on a tax bill nine months before it is due?

If a company or private citizen did this he would be charged with victimizing the public and jailed or made to pay a fine. Is it justified because it is government? I say no—and I want to know if others feel the same way about it. If you do let's fight it.

I feel this would be something for the new faces that are seeking to be county commissioners to work on.

On income tax it is true they take tax off your pay, but you have earned your wages. They also give you 3 1/2 months in the next year to pay any tax due from the year before.

This new assessment they made this past year no property is way out of line. You can have a hearing if you think it is too much, but that is a waste of time and money even to go. They tell you all their hard luck stories and when you come out, to hear them talk, you think you own a million dollar home.

I would like to see some other taxpayers feelings about this.

I don't think it is ethical and maybe not even legal and certainly not fair or just to the taxpayers to be charged interest on a bill that isn't due until July 1967.

THEY PERIL LIFE TO SAVE LIFE

A century ago, a ship trapped in the storm-tossed North Atlantic too often was lost with all hands. This apparent fate awaited the British vessel "Ayrshire" as she lay helpless off the New Jersey coast in 1850. Badly damaged and buffeted by heavy seas, she was obscured from shore by a blizzard. Her 201 passengers and crew seemed doomed.

Fortunately, a gallant band of rescuers from the Life Saving Benevolent Association of New York was on hand. Using a newly invented lifeboat, the "Francis Life Car," they soon carried all but one to safety.

A few months before the "Ayrshire" had foundered, the Association had been formed to guard seacoasts, save lives at sea, and honor rescuers. Prime mover behind the Association was the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company, cooperating with leading shipowners and merchants.

The dramatic "Ayrshire" rescue was the first of many acts of heroism at sea logged by the Life Savings Benevolent Association.

In the year following the Association's founding Wal-

Orioles Plan Family Night Saturday

The Orioles are home for only one game this weekend. It's with the Washington Senators on Saturday night, game time 8 p. m.

That night will be Family Night at Memorial Stadium. There are special price reductions on all price seats for family groups. The head of the family pays full price but his wife and children each receive 70 cents off their tickets.

It's the only Oriole game until Aug. 23, so Saturday night is a perfect night to bring out the family.

When the Orioles return home in late August, some outstanding events are scheduled for the eight games from Aug. 23-30.

once Orendorff, Guy Baker, Dominic Greco and Everett Chrismier. Interment was in the church cemetery.

One of the most outstanding is a Baltimore County Employees Recognition Night. All Baltimore County employees may purchase special tickets for the Aug. 29 game with the Detroit Tigers.
