The unseasonably mild weather seems to have inspired thoughts of spring. Setting warmth records all week, the weather has brought us temperatures in the 70's several days this week. The gals are running around in shorts and the laddies have the tops down on their convertibles while Pop looks whimsically at the old mower in the cellar and wonders if he'll need it again this summer. Mom has clothes strung out in the yard for the first time in several months and we wonder just how long this sort of crazy thing can keep up. We all know that the change will come fast though and that we still have two more months of winter still ahead of us and we'll give you a better picture of the situation after February 2, next week, because the situation is too unstable at this writing.

There's a $100 Savings Bond waiting for some clever Emmitsburgian who can come up with a winning slogan on the Town. The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the slogan contest but time is running short and the contest closes Tuesday so you'd better hurry if you're interested in winning this bond. Such slogans as "Maryland In Miniature"; "Gateway to the West"; "Home of America's First Saint"; etc. give you somewhat of an idea for the slogan which will be used to publicize Emmitsburg for many years to come. Got any ideas? Let's have 'em because Tuesday is the deadline. Entry forms are available in most stores, or you can clip the coupon from the Chronicle and mail it to the Chamber of Commerce but hurry please!

For those of you who missed the Open House viewing of the model home recently erected in Emmitt Gardens, another opportunity will be afforded you this Saturday and Sunday. Several hundred took time out last weekend to see the new home and it was decided to give the public another opportunity. It's well worth your time and costs you nothing so why not see it? You may even win a new home for yourself at no cost. Just drop in.

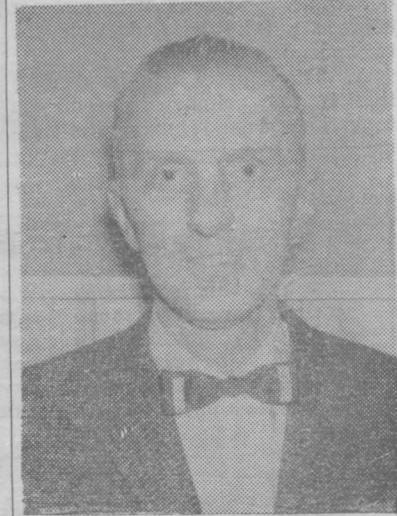

Was sorry to hear of the cancellation of the Mount's remaining basketball games at the Baltimore Civic Center. Just when the Mount was getting a real sizzling schedule built up with top-notch big college competition, whom, the whole thing collapses. Not enough patronage, claim the Civic Center managers, so the program has to be discarded. Oh well, there's some consolation though, and that is perhaps we'll be able to see more of those inspiring games right here at home in Emmitsburg.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Mumma of Rocky Ridge, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca Ann, to Gilbert Eiker, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Eiker, Sr., of Emmitsburg. Miss Mumma is a graduate of Thurmont High School and Maryland Medical Secretarial School in Hagerstown. She is presently employed at Fort Detrick. Mr. Eiker is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School and is employed at Moore Business Forms. No date has been set for the wedding.

GOP Names Ralph Irelan For Magistrate

Ralph F. Irelan, Sr., was nominated for the position of Trial Magistrate Wednesday night at the public meeting of the Emmitsburg Republican Central Committee held in the Fire Hall. Irelan is a local businessman and former Mayor of Emmitsburg.

Chairman William Strickhouser said the appointment was unanimous. Irelan's recommendation has been forwarded to the Frederick County Republican Central Committee for approval. If approved, the nomination will be sent to Governor Agnew for final approval. Guy A. Baker, Sr., is the present Trial Magistrate.

During the meeting an election of local committee officers was held with the following being elected: Chairman, J. William Strickhouser; vice chairman, Robert R. Saylor; secretary, John C. Umbel, and treasurer, Ralph F. Irelan, Jr.

Others named to the Central Committee were: Ralph F. Irelan, Jr., John C. Umbel, Mrs. John L. Warthen, Mrs. Patricia Fisher, Mrs. Wilmer E. Law, Bernard Welty, Harry Swomley, Jr., and Mrs. Frank Webb.

The next meeting of the committee will be held on March 14 at 7:30 p.m., the place to be announced.

Postoffice Stresses Patron Courtesy

Postmaster G. Eugene Rosensteel today called attention of Emmitsburg mailers to the new "Postal Customer's Bill of Rights" to help meet President Johnson's government-wide goal of improving the quality of federal services to the public.

Directed at post office window services, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien has ordered the Customer's Bill of Rights, a poster, which tells the public they are entitled to:

1. A neat, clean counter on which to transact business.
2. Service by a well-groomed, neat window employee.
3. A friendly greeting that expresses a desire to assist.
4. Knowledgeable, well-informed, interested window personnel to help with postal needs.
5. Prompt, alert and efficient service.
6. Competent and correct information on inquiries.
7. An attitude that reflects helpfulness, patience and congeniality.
8. The courtesy and tact that would be expected from a friend.
9. Polite referral to another window or individual, when necessary, to give the appropriate service.
10. A feeling, upon leaving, that the post office is glad to serve and help at all times.

Garden Club Meets

The January meeting of the Silver Fancy Garden Club was held on January 19 at the home of Mrs. John White, Emmitsburg. Ten members and one guest were present. Miss Liza Carpenter, president, conducted the business meeting. Miss Wanda McFeaters of Gettysburg, showed slides and gave a most interesting talk of her stay in Hawaii. Mrs. Alexander Koswick gave a reading on "things to do in the garden during the month of February." Mrs. Andrew Eyster and Mrs. Thomas J. Frailley were co-hostesses. The tea table was beautifully decorated with spring flowers.

Mrs. J. Carroll Elder, Pittsburg, Pa., and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Mahan, Toledo, Ohio, were visitors Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Elder and family.

Chamber Commerce Slogan Contest Nears Deadline

After much discussion the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce decided Wednesday night that future meetings would be held on the third Tuesday of the month. It was generally felt that since most local business places are open on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights, that perhaps more business people could attend the meetings if they were held Tuesday nights. The meeting was held at Mt. Manor Restaurant, President Eugene Myers presiding.

The next regular meeting of the Chamber will be held Tuesday, Feb. 21, at the Green Parrot Tea Room.

Floyd L. Lewis, George Sanders and Sidney Sappington, chairmen of the Slogan Contest, reported a sizeable number of entries received and called the public's attention to the closing date of the contest, January 31. The judging will be held Tuesday, Feb. 7, and the results will be published in the Emmitsburg Chronicle on Friday, Feb. 10. Nine representatives from local service organizations and clubs will act as judges of the contest. The winner will receive a $100 Savings Bond.

The group discussed the proposed Sixes Bridge Dam project but did not take any action. It was felt that more knowledge of the project should be obtained before a stand could be taken. Action either for or against the project is probable at the next meeting of the group.

President Myers announced that the public would be invited to the next meeting and anyone interested in becoming a member of the Chamber, is asked to be present at this meeting.

Newest additions to the membership roster were announced as follows: Arthur Richardson, insurance and real estate; Mrs. Maas for the New Colony Realty Co., and the Roger Liquor Store.

Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Leo R. Seiss of R2, Taneytown, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Louise, to Wayne Morris Wastler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris W. Wastler of Thurmont.

Miss Seiss is a 1964 graduate at Emmitsburg High School and is employed at Moore Business Forms in Thurmont.

Mr. Wastler served two years in the U. S. Army, part of which was spent in Germany. He is also employed at Moore Business Forms.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Lions Hear District Governor

District Governor William Lauterback, Manchester-Lineboro club, was the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in Mt. Manor Restaurant, President Norman J. Shriver presiding. The governor was accompanied here by his cabinet secretary and treasurer, Harry Lippy.

Present also at the meeting were three visiting Lions from the Rouzerville club. William Schlemmer introduced Miss Betty Tokar as the winner in the recent Lions Club's Peace Essay Contest. Miss Tokar was awarded a Savings Bond as first prize and read her essay to the group.

Zone Chairman George Campbell, Thurmont, introduced the District Governor. A resolution from the Hagerstown Club was received and read endorsing the candidacy of J. Frank Shank, for District Governor. Chairman Campbell announced a zone meeting would be held in Emmitsburg on March 14.

Miss Stouter Becomes Bride Of Wm. Babylon

Miss Maureen Ann Stouter and William D. Babylon were united in marriage Jan. 14 at 11 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic Church. The Rev. Francis Stauble performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Stouter, Emmitsburg, and granddaughter of Mrs. Leslie W. Fox and the late Mr. Fox, former deputy sheriff of Frederick County. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Clayton Haines, Phoenix, Md.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length lace over taffeta gown with lace bodice and empire waist line, detachable train, long sleeves of lace which came to points over her hands. A pearl satin crown held her bouffant shoulder-length veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Miss Beverly Dean Harner, cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor. Her floor-length strawberry red and deep pink gown with satin, crepe and empire waist line was matched with a floor-length strawberry red satin coat which was held at the shoulders with a bow. She wore matching pink shoes. Her headpiece was a satin and pearl crown with finger-tip veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of peppermint carnations accented with green velvet streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Ronald Stouter, sister-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Ray Downs, sister of the bridegroom. They wore floor-length gowns of olive green and beige, satin over crepe with empire waist-lines and live green satin floor-length coat which was fashioned to match the matron of honor's. Their headpieces featured a pearl crown with finger-tip veils and carried yellow pom poms accented with green velvet streamers.

The flower girl was Miss Tina Rice of Thurmont, niece of the bridegroom. She wore a red dress trimmed in white and a headband of red and white carnations and carried a basket of red carnations with white streamers. All of the attendants wore drop pearl necklaces, a gift of the bride.

Best man was Ray Downs of Thurmont, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Serving as ushers were Jerry Haley, Saveria Park, Md., cousin of the bride, and Kermit Downs, Thurmont, cousin of the bridegroom.

Serving as ring-bearers were Bert and Brett Stouter, twin brothers of the bride. They carried matching satin pillows shaped like a heart. Mrs. Louis Rosensteel accompanied the soloist, Charles Ronald Stouter, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the VFW social room which was catered by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Master Gary Stouter registered the guests. Mrs. Brooke Damuth and Mrs. Fern Baker, opened the gifts and Mrs. Wade Harner, Jr., sister of the mother of the bride, served the wedding cake.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stouter wore a red velvet dress with white beaver hat, matching accessories with white rosebud corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dark green dress with matching accessories and yellow rosebud corsage.

The bride chose a white metallic dress, gift of the grandmother, for her going-away attire and wore a white rosebud corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride was formerly employed at St. Joseph College. The bridegroom was recently discharged from the Navy and is presently employed at Moore Business Forms in Thurmont. The couple left on a wedding trip to the South and are now residing at 13 W. Third St., Frederick, Md.

Mount Paper Receives Rating

The Mountain Echo, student publication at Mount St. Mary's College, has been awarded a rating of All-American, according to an announcement just received from the Associated College Press.

Newspapers are judged on a point scale based on a variety of factors, such as balance, treatment of copy, creativeness, style, makeup, editorials, sports coverage, features, photography, typography and others.

The Associated Collegiate Press is composed of member college and university newspapers, which are rated each semester according to comparable groupings of daily newspapers, weeklies, and monthly publications. The Mountain Echo was rated in the group of monthly newspapers of colleges having an enrollment of more than 500.

The All-American award to the student newspaper at Mount St. Mary's College is one of several awards the publication has received. Recently the paper was rated All Catholic by the Catholic School Press Association, and it also received the first annual award presented to a scholastic publication by the Delmarva Press Association, composed of newspapers in the Delaware, Maryland, Virginia area.

Stephen G. Margeton, Kenilworth, N. J., is the editor of the publication. Professor Bernard S. Kaliss of the English Department, serves as faculty advisor. The newspaper is in its 43rd year of publication.

Mount Basketball Games Cancelled At Civic Center

After three seasons of bringing high caliber college basketball to the Baltimore Civic Center, Championship Sports, Inc., finds it financially impossible to continue the project the remainder of this season and is therefore cancelling its remaining two double-headers planned for Feb. 2 and 16.

On Feb. 2, Mt. St. Mary's was scheduled to face Loyola of the South in the first game, with Loyola of Baltimore meeting Georgetown University in the second contest. On Feb. 16, Mt. St. Mary's was to meet Morgan State, with Loyola hosting Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The Mount-Morgan contest has been rescheduled and will be played at Mt. St. Mary's on Feb. 16.

Since 1964, Championship Sports under the chairmanship of Ben Roth, has made a valiant effort to put Baltimore on the college basketball map by bringing many of the country's top collegiate quints to the Civic Center.

However, it became obvious almost immediately that the general public, student body and alumni were not going to support college ball locally. Roth and company refused to quit, holding a second double-header season last year, and had high expectations for a third campaign this winter. Unfortunately, the crowds have continued to stay away, forcing cancellation of the remaining contests.

Couple Honored At Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. G. Raymond Roop of Emmitsburg were honored recently at an open house hosted by their son and daughter-in-law in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The couple was married Dec. 12, 1916 at the Methodist Parsonage, Thurmont, by the late Rev. Rose, and they have one son, Murray R. Roop. Both the matron of honor, Mrs. Helen McNair of Emmitsburg and best man, Lloyd Dern of Taneytown, attended the anniversary celebration.

Presiding at the guest book was Mrs. Theodore Wolfe, Jr., Emmitsburg. Mrs. Harry Weber, of Taneytown and Mrs. Paul Shafer, Shookstown, nieces of Mrs. Roop, were at the gift table. Mrs. Ray D. Riley, Westminster, served the anniversary cake. Mrs. Grover Stansbury, Ladiesburg, served at the punch table. Miss Beulah Roop, Frederick, sister of Mr. Roop, was in charge of refreshments with the assistance of Mrs. Howard Stansbury, Woodsboro, and Mrs. Charles Grimes, and Miss Debra Ann Wolfe, both of Emmitsburg.

The couple received many gifts. Approximately 225 guests attended the celebration.

Thurmont School Decision Delayed

The Frederick County Board of Commissioners reserved a decision as to whether or not they would appropriate funds for a new consolidated school at Thurmont after hearing testimony from residents of Emmitsburg and Thurmont at a public hearing in Frederick Wednesday afternoon.

The Commissioners must make their decision within a week. Over 200 residents of the two communities involved were present at the hearing and demanded that the appropriation be made so construction could be started immediately. The Commissioners are adamant in their position that the cost of the new proposed school is abnormally high and may or may not authorize the appropriation.

Charles E. Collins, president of the board, said later that a decision on the school "will probably be made next week. We don't plan on holding any more hearings, although we (the commissioners) will discuss it more this week."

Speaking at a public hearing called by the commissioners to determine voter reaction on the proposed high school, estimated to cost $3,013,890, the citizens virtually unanimously voiced approval of the plans.

The hearing marked the de facto end of Emmitsburg's opposition to the project. Emmitsburg citizens had fought the project since its inception in the fall of 1963 because they thought the school should be built halfway between the two towns and not in Thurmont.

Emmitsburg residents had carried their campaign to the state board of education and to the Circuit Court.

All attending the hearing admitted a need for the project, but some called for a cut in costs and one Frederick doctor asked the county commissioners to eliminate the "frills" that he claimed marked school construction projects.

Among those voicing approval of the plans were the mayors of both Emmitsburg and Thurmont, the president of the county Council of PTA's, a spokesman for Thurmont industry, a teacher at Thurmont High, a representative of the Thurmont Ministerial Association, a spokesman for the Thurmont Jaycees and a Thurmont contractor.

Opponents of the project who attended the hearing included two members of the Board of Education who voted against the project, a member of the Sabillasville PTA and an Adamstown Grange member.

Burgess Baker lashed out at the lack of a broad academic program offered the students at Emmitsburg.

"... I am confident," declared Baker, that if you visit Emmitsburg High "you most certainly will agree that the new school is a vital necessity... if all residents of the county are to be treated equally by our governing boards and if the educational standards already established are to be maintained."

Thurmont Mayor C. Ray Weddle also called for immediate construction of the school. He was critical of the opponents of the project, and, alluding to the commissioners, said, "Do not make us the scapegoats for those who seek to chastize the school board."

Carroll Kinsey, president of the Thurmont Construction Company, also called for immediate construction. He said, "It is not abnormal for a bid to be over the estimates, especially in the light of rapidly increasing construction costs."

Opponents, including Dr. Rex Martin, a Frederick physician, did not dispute the overcrowding at either Thurmont or Emmitsburg, but they called for cheaper construction costs.

Two school board members, Richard Kline and Chris Matthews, both expressed opposition to the school as presently designed.

Both said, however, that the school was urgently needed.

Matthews, the last witness at the hearing, called for a study to see if the school should be enlarged.

Only two comments were heard at the two-hour session about costs.

Mrs. Randolph Putman, president of the County Council of PTA's, called for immediate construction of the school, then added, "We feel costs could be cut somewhat, but students in the northern county should have the benefits of a school like Governor Thomas Johnson."

Asked how costs could be cut by Commissioner Wallace E. Hutton, Mrs. Putman admitted she did not know how.

"I'm not an expert," she said, "I wouldn't know where or how."

The public hearing was called by the commissioners because of concern over the project voiced by various citizens and also by the commissioners themselves at the cost of the school, which was originally estimated by the school board to cost $2.5 million.

The bids came in last month for $3.4 million, but were reduced $300,000 after negotiations by the school board, the low bidder, the Frederick Construction Company, and the architect.

WAC Recruiter To Visit Local College Campus

Saint Joseph College coeds interested in opportunities for leadership and responsibility offered by the Women's Army Corps may obtain first hand information from WAC 2nd Lieutenant Edna M. Kain when she visits the Student Center on Thursday, Feb. 9, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Invited by Miss Conlon, Placement Officer, Lt. Kain has the full story on how either college juniors and seniors can receive commissions as 2nd lieutenants in the U. S. Army.

"Of the thousands of women who will graduate from college this year, only 400 will be accepted by the Department of the Army as commissioned officers in the Women's Army Corps," Lt. Kain said.

"College seniors can be processed immediately in order to receive their commission right after graduation," she said.

College juniors have special Army program that gives them $317 a month during their senior year, plus such military benefits as free medical care and exchange privileges, if they attend a four-week orientation course at Ft. McClellan, Ala., and agree to become a WAC officer after graduation.

Seeks Beer License

An application for a Class B on sale beer license has been made to the Frederick County Liquor Commissioner by Francis G. Gebhart, Emmitsburg. If granted Gebhart will receive the license as a transfer from Guy F. Gebhart, present operator of the Emmitsburg Tavern, just north of the town limits. A public hearing on the application will be held Monday, February 13.

Miss Tokar Wins Essay Contest

Miss Betty L. Tokar, Emmitsburg High School senior, was the recipient of a $25 Savings Bond award presented to her Monday by the Emmitsburg Lions Club. Miss Tokar's essay was judged the best of a number of entries in the recent Lions Club Peace Essay Contest. Her paper will be entered in state and perhaps national competition.

Miss Tokar is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oldrich A. Tokar, S. Seton Ave.

VFW AMBULANCE

Mrs. Kenneth Carbaugh, Hagerstown, was transported to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, via the VFW ambulance this week after being injured in an automobile accident east of Emmitsburg. The ambulance driver was L. Michael Boyle.

CHIPPER FRANKS AND BEANS CASSEROLE

2 tablespoons margarine; 1 small onion, chopped; 3 tablespoons sugar; 1 tablespoon vinegar; 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce; 2 tablespoons dry mustard; 1-pound can great northern beans or chick peas, drained; 1 teaspoon paprika; ½ teaspoon black pepper; 2 cups catsup; 1 cup water; 1½ cups finely chopped potato chips; and 1 pound beef franks.

Melt margarine. Add onion, cover and simmer until tender. Add all ingredients except franks, beans and potato chips. Simmer covered over a low flame until well blended — about 5 minutes. Place beans in bottom of casserole dish and sprinkle ½ cup of potato chips over top. Cut franks in half lengthwise and arrange over top. Pour hot sauce over franks, sprinkle remaining cup of potato chips over top of sauce. Bake 20 minutes in 400-degree oven. Serve piping hot.

Rocky Ridge 4-H Club Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Rocky Ridge Progressive 4-H Club was held January 16 in the Rocky Ridge Fire Hall. The meeting was called to order by the club's newly elected president, Becky Keilholtz.

The secretary, Carolyn Keilholtz, read the minutes of the previous meeting in December. Roll call was answered by 53 members. Ten parents also attended the meeting. Three new members joined at this meeting. Reports were given on flower arranging, dairy, and basketball, by a member carrying these projects or activities. The club leader went over with the club the new program books for 1967. Project literature was given out for the coming year.

Miss Sally Miller, Extension Agent for 4-H and Youth, gave a two-part talk to the club. She first explained "How to Assemble a Record Book," and concluded her talk by telling the club of a new project in 4-H, one which each member is going to undertake this year and this happens to be "Good Grooming."

The meeting was then adjourned with refreshments served by the parents of the hosts, Tim and Fred Keilholtz.

Questions and Answers
Q. Is it true that IRS will figure out your tax for you when you file the short form?
A. Yes, if your income is less than $5,000 and Form 1040A is filed then IRS will compute your tax if you wish. We will refund any overpayment or bill you for any additional tax due.

Q. I married a widow with two young children last summer. Can I claim the children as dependents?
A. If you provided more than half the children's support for the year then you may claim them as dependents. If your wife provided over half their support, she may claim them as dependents. If your wife provided over half their support, she can claim the children as dependents on her separate return or they may be claimed on a joint return.

Q. Can I claim two exemptions for a dependent over 65?
A. No. You may claim one exemption regardless of the dependent's age. The additional exemption for being 65 or over may only be taken by a taxpayer filing his own return.

Q. Will it ever pay a couple to file separate returns?
A. There are a few cases where separate returns will result in a lower total tax liability than would a joint return. This might occur if one spouse had large medical expenses or if each had large capital losses. If you want to check which would be to your best advantage, compute your tax on a joint and separate return basis then use the method that produces the lowest tax.

Q. Why do I have to put a Social Security number on my tax return?
A. The law requires persons filing returns to furnish a tax account number. Since the majority of taxpayers already have Social Security numbers, these numbers are also used for tax identification purposes. Taxpayers who forget to list their number will have refunds delayed until the number is supplied.

Q. I teach in high school. Under what conditions will summer courses I take be deductible for tax purposes?
A. The courses will be deductible if the primary reason you took them was: (1) for the purpose of maintaining or improving your present teaching skills, or (2) expressly required by your employer to maintain your salary, status or job.

Q. We lost a child in a traffic accident last year. Can we claim him as dependent for the entire year or only part of it?
A. If the child was your dependent you may take the full $600 exemption for the year of his death.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT FROM Annapolis
By GOODLOE E. BYRON
STATE SENATOR
Carroll-Frederick District

Constitutional Convention

The most important task facing the Legislature in this 1967 Session will be the calling of a Constitutional Convention in September of this year. The Constitutional Convention Commission has submitted its report to the Legislature which proposes that a special election for delegates to the Convention be held on June 6, 1967 and that each County and Baltimore City District elect the same number of delegates as such County and District now has representing it in the House of Delegates. This would entitle Carroll County to two delegates and Frederick County to three. Further, the proposed bill would impose no major qualification restrictions on delegates except that they be over twenty-one years of age and citizens of the State for at least three years. Persons seeking the office of delegate to the Convention would pay a filing fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and the Convention itself would open on September 12, 1967.

A separate bill facing the Legislature would be the authorization of a per diem payment of fifty dollars ($50.00) daily to cover compensation and reimbursement of expenses for the delegates who attend the Sessions of the Convention. This proposal will undoubtedly receive much debate because it is central to the problem of insuring delegates to the Convention of outstanding qualifications. Some members have suggested that a per diem payment will encourage a "politics-as-usual" approach to this crucial election and that persons of outstanding ability may be discouraged from entering the political arena to seek election because of such competition.

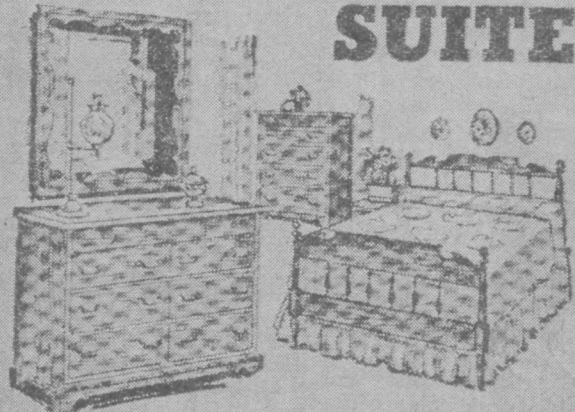

While more spectacular legislative proposals may receive greater public attention during this Session than the two bills proposed by the Constitutional Convention Commission, no other legislation will be of greater significance to the future of our State.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Babson's Point Of View On:
The Role Of The Working Wife
BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 26—A recent study by the National Industrial Conference

Board takes a realistic look at the role of the working wife in America today. The survey brings to light many questions that should be of interest to families at all social levels . . . and suggests many answers that may not jibe with those of women contemplating taking jobs to "double" the income their husbands are making.
The Working Mother With Children

With prices so high and still climbing, many young or middle-aged housewives with children are already holding down regular jobs outside the home for economic reasons. But their experience has not always been as helpful as they expected it would be, for reasons that may not have occurred to mothers currently thinking of going out to work. Scanning some statistics on this situation, we find that often the salary a mother had thought she would add to her husband's "take" has somehow evaporated to an alarming degree before it got into her market basket.

For instance, a woman who takes a job paying $15,000 a year to add to her husband's $20,000 may well find that she ends up contributing only about $3,300 to the family till. Where does this sizeable difference disappear to? Well, if she has two children and is not blessed with a mother or mother-in-law willing to do indefinite stand-in duty, she will probably have to lay out as much as $6,000 a year for a full-time housekeeper or nurse. Then there are such items as carfare or the upkeep of another auto, extra clothing, lunches, and taxes. And usually not considered in advance, the mother will have no time to hunt for retail bargains and ferret out short cuts that will hold housekeeping costs down. Conditions, Of Course, Vary Widely

While this means that many a working mother will be surprised by how slight her addition is to the household "kitty", there are many situations in which it is eminently worthwhile for a wife to hold a job, whether full-time or part-time.

When children are older and at school or college, there are more incentives for a woman to go outside the home and make use of her talents. In the first place, the cost of household help at this particular time can be greatly reduced and perhaps entirely eliminated. Hence more of the extra salary can be directed toward the education of the children, time-saving appliances, and boosting the family's standard of living generally.

Despite the fact that many young women believe their place is in the home, taking care of the children and of the house, there are a surprising number of women who want to take economic advantage of their education and training as soon as reasonably possible. Such girls consider their college experience wasted unless they use it to help the family economically. They feel also that they are healthier and in better spirits if they can find stimulating work.

How Many Wives Are Now Actually Working?
The gradual extinction of prejudice against females in various segments of the social and economic order has now become so complete that women are accepted in almost any role. Out of the country's total labor force of about 78,000,000 approximately 25,000,000 are women working today. Of this number, about 60% are married and many of them have children. The trend toward an ever-greater movement of women into the full-time labor force may be expected to intensify over the years immediately ahead, particularly in view of the manpower shortage in so many different significant fields.

Part of the upward pressure will stem from the higher education being attained by more and more American girls, suiting them for a wider diversity of jobs. Greatest concentration will probably continue to be in the higher-pay-bracket families. At present, of families with incomes of over $15,000 a year, some 40% have two incomes. You can expect working women to become more numerous, more sophisticated, more capable—and more highly paid—as educational opportunities are made more readily available to the economically deprived.

PTA To Hold Nominating Convention

The Frederick County Council of PTA's has initiated, helped plan and is supporting a nominating convention for school board members to be held April 15. This convention will be composed of PTA delegates and delegates from all organizations in Frederick County. This convention will convene with the purpose of selecting three nominees to be presented to the State Central Committee for their consideration for appointment to the Frederick County School Board.

The Executive Board for the Nominating Convention is composed of citizens from different organizations and from various sections of the county. They are as follows: Andrew Cowan, Mrs. Lois Rhoderick, Herman Conrad, Clayton Jacobson, William G. Offutt Jr., Charles Wilkes, Rodman Myers, Pascal Renn, Bert Thornton, Jack Doll, Donald Bowser, Mrs. Warren Smith, Mrs. Nancy Eigenbrode, Mrs. Mary Warskowsky, Mrs. Portia Hutton, Leonard Green, Mrs. Betty Putman, George Chapline, George Sanner, James Seymour. Mr. Andrew Cowan was chosen chairman of the group.

A mailing list of all PTA's and every organization in Frederick County with an interest in education, will receive information about the convention in the near future. They will also be asked to submit names of any candidate they wish to support for appointment to the Frederick County School Board. Organizations will be given two months to do this. Every candidate suggested will have his or her name presented to the delegates to the convention for a vote.

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH

Frostbite

Frostbite can be much more than just uncomfortable — it can be a painful and potentially serious injury.

True frostbite means that the tissues are frozen, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association. Crystals of ice form between the cells. Nerves, muscles and blood vessel tissues are most susceptible.

The wind plays an important part in frostbite. The chilling effect of air at 20 degrees moving at 45 miles an hour is the same as 40-below-zero air on a still day.

One of the dangers of frostbite is that you often don't feel it. First thing you know is that someone else notices that your nose or ear is turning white. The frozen part becomes hard to touch and loses feeling. Many sports leaders advocate a buddy system for outdoor winter sports: two persons are paired off, each watching the other for signs of frostbite. To prevent frostbite, first be certain that you are properly dressed for the temperature. Avoid overexertion and excessive perspiration. Avoid contact of bare flesh with cold metal. Don't smoke or drink alcohol.

In first aid for frostbite, forget the old saw about rubbing the affected part with snow, and also, forget the completely invalid caution against rapid thawing. Also, don't massage or rub the frozen part. Don't touch it at all. Begin rapid rewarming as soon as possible. A hot bath is excellent, but avoid scalding. Hot wet towels will help, changed frequently and applied gently. If no fire or hot water is at hand, place the patient in a sleeping bag, or cover with coats and blankets. Hot liquids will help raise body temperature.

For any frostbite, even a mild case, prompt medical attention is important. The depth and degree of the frozen tissue cannot be readily ascertained, and the treatment will vary with the severity of the injury.

Dress properly and use common sense about exposure in severe cold and most cases of frostbite can be avoided.

quid extractions of soil samples into an automatic analyzer to find out their exact mineral contents. This service—free to all

Hospital Receives Federal Funds

Expansion of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland, Maryland, will be financed with the help of a $363,720 grant announced by the Economic Development Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce.

The project was recommended by the Appalachian Regional Commission.

The State of Maryland has given the Garrett expansion top priority in its State Hospital Plan. The existing facilities serve not only Garrett and Allegany Counties in Maryland, but four counties in West Virginia and two in Pennsylvania. The project will involve construction of an annex and renovation of vacated space in the existing building.

Total cost of the project will be $779,400. The Commerce funds supplement a basic grant of $259,800 from the U. S. Department

Traffic Stopper

A neglected triangle at the intersection of two busy streets in Duluth, Minnesota was transformed into a garden spot by members of the Garden Flower Society and cooperating garden clubs.

There's nothing like a group of people working together to attract the attention of all the "sidewalk superintendents" and "highway straw bosses." When the project on which they are working is one of beautifying an area in a city, naturally it's a traffic stopper.

Such a project was carried out last summer by the Duluth, Minnesota Garden Flower Society. The area beautified was a triangle on London Road and Superior Street, a busy thoroughfare with continuous traffic.

Because the triangle had been unused for years the soil resembled a rock pile but tilling it over and over gradually brought it to plantable condition.

During a 4-day period 25 members of the Garden Flower Society, working 8 to 10 hours a day, planted 170 rose bushes, a "tree" rose, 600 petunias, 1200 lavender and white sweet alyssum plants and 1000 pansies to make the once-dingy triangle a blooming island in a sea of traffic.

Because motorists were so engrossed in the work being done, traffic signals went unheeded and traffic moved at a snail's pace. Ninety-five per cent of motorists complimented the busy workers. An estimate of the cost of their labor and materials (most donated) exceeded $600!

Garden clubs cooperating with the Garden Flower Society continued maintenance of the plants throughout the growing season so that the triangle continued to be an attractive spot. And every participant was gratified at helping transform a little plot of bare ground into one of beauty.

WOMEN'S HEALTH

By Elizabeth Stewart
Women's Medical News Service
Svelte Sylph Superfluous
CLEVELAND, O.—Are you trying to diet your pleasingly plump, rounded figure into an audreyhep-burn-type board? Desist, advise professors C. Wesley Dupertuis and Helen S. Dupertuis, clinical anthropologists of Western Reserve University Medical Centers here. The professors concur in the Bard's injunction, "To thine own self be true."

Some people are born to be plump, the professors conclude after a five-year study of 1,000 freshman coeds. Noting that a majority of the girls diet to attain a mythical "ideal" figure, while their individual body types may be something quite different, Prof. Helen Dupertuis observed, "We don't agree that slenderness is necessarily good. There is no reason why people should all look alike—they're not made alike." And, added her husband, "A man like Falstaff would probably have been ruined, both psychologically and physically, if you tried to trim him down."

Females in general are endomorphs, say the professors, which means they are naturally rounded, soft-looking, less muscular than men. Inclined to put on weight more easily, they should keep the weight their bodies were designed to carry.

Reducing is good for certain people—those whose fat burdens a basically slender, small-boned frame, say the anthropologists.

Marriage Timing Part Of Family Planning

NEW YORK—"If we consider family planning as simply dissemination of information, services and supplies to limit the number of children in a family, we are really only doing part of the job required," Dr. James Z. Appel, immediate past president of the American Medical Association, told a recent meeting here.

The Lancaster, Pa., physician maintained that "Family planning must include timing of marriage, timing of the first child, child spacing, sexual and marital adjustment of the parents, as well as the total number of children."

According to Dr. Appel family planning information and services should be available to all fertile women who already have children, and who don't desire pregnancy, regardless of marital status. It should also be available, he maintained, on a selective basis to fertile women who have not had children.

Bleeding Breast May Signal Benign Tumor

NEW YORK—Women are likely to jump to the conclusion that they have cancer if they notice a bloody discharge from their breasts. This conclusion may be unwarranted, according to Drs. Joseph H. Farrow and Arthur I. Holleb of Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases. They point out that such discharge most likely is caused by a benign or non-cancerous papilloma, a kind of tumor, or by a crop of such tumors. They urge that a biopsy, microscopic examination of tissue removed from the growth, be performed as soon as possible to determine the exact nature of the tumor. Mastectomy, removal of the breast, is not indicated if the biopsy confirms that the tumor is benign.

Nail Hardeners Risky

CHICAGO, Ill.—Sometimes the cure is worse than the disease. The woman who uses a nail hardener to prevent her fingernails from chipping, fragmenting, and peeling may find that they are becoming discolored, loose, dry, painful. This is generally due to sensitivity to formaldehyde, the American Medical Association Committee on Cutaneous Health and Cosmetics warns. Be aware of the risk when using hardeners.

Fifteen registered nurses will be accepted for the courses at the Randallstown institution and is many as 22 at Hopkins. They will run through March 3, Mrs. Retzer added.

Meanwhile, the first course under the program—jointly sponsored by the Hospital Council, the Maryland Nurses Association and the Maryland League for Nursing—began Monday at Anne Arundel General Hospital, Annapolis.

One acre of healthy forest requires 20 years to grow enough lumber to build a 5-room house the Agriculture Department reports.

SKI TIPS

#5 STRAIGHT SNOWPLOW

By Ace Manley
Director, Big Bromley Ski School

The straight snowplow is the skier's first exercise for controlling speed. But it is also the exercise used by most expert skiers for regaining control after attaining too much speed.

It is a good idea to practice the straight snowplow in conjunction with the straight downhill running position.

As the skier moves down the fall line in a running position, he pushes the skis into a "V" or snowplow position; the tips are together and the tails are apart (displaced at equal angles from the body).

The knees and ankles are flexed forward and the weight is equally distributed on both skis. This enables the inside edges of the skis to grip the snow equally as the surface of the skis form right angles to the lower legs.

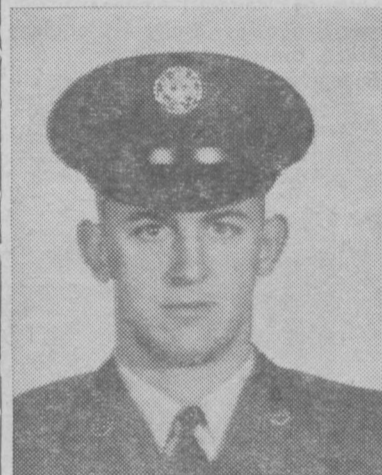

As the skier moves, his hands are held by the sides and the skis are allowed to slide forward. By pressing the tails of the skis a little further apart and letting the knees come together very slightly, even more control over speed is achieved.

The final movement is allowing the skis to run back together into the straight downhill running position.

Like other exercises, the straight snowplow should be practiced repeatedly before the skier advances to anything more difficult.

Refresher Course

Available For Nurses

Two new courses of instruction under the Statewide refresher program for inactive nurses will be held at Baltimore area hospitals beginning February 13, it was announced this week.

Mrs. Gertrude P. Retzer, R.N., coordinator of the program at the Hospital Council of Maryland, said the free courses would be given at Baltimore County General and Johns Hopkins Hospitals. She urged prospective applicants to contact Miss Kathryn Seler, R.N., director of nurses at Baltimore County, and Miss Doris Froebe, director of inservice education at Hopkins.

Looking Ahead

by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT-NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

Call For Victory In Vietnam
The human sacrifices and material losses our nation is suffering in Vietnam, with scarcely any visible gain or advancement toward victory, must become in 1967 certainly one of the transcending problems drawing the attention of the people of America. Amidst the confusion of spreading and mounting debate—by the politicians—over what to do about the Vietnam war, there comes a clear challenge to our U. S. Commander-in-Chief (President Johnson), the Joint Chiefs-of-State, the Secretary of Defense, our Congress, and the President's National Security Council.

"the U. S. react" (which military history has shown to be disastrous). General Waters calls for a victory offensive. He urges the immediate activating of a three-pronged war plan (as reported by U. S. News & World Report) which he contends "will make it a different war—and a winning one in Vietnam." The plan:

1. Set up a blockade by U. S. ground forces across the mid-section of Vietnam and Laos, cutting the Ho Chi Minn Trail. Later, clean out Communist forces in Laos, down to the Cambodian border.
2. Assign to South Vietnamese the job of aggressively going after Communist forces now in South Vietnam, with U. S. providing supplies and air support.
3. Warn Red China to stay out of North Vietnam. If Chinese or North Vietnamese armies mass against the U. S. blockade to attack the South, smash them with U. S. air and ground weapons.

The challenge comes from a source that must be recognized and respected—Four-star General John K. Waters, who recently returned from Vietnam and his post as Commanding General, U. S. Army, Pacific. He retired upon his return from the war front. A statement containing his challenge has just been published as a copyrighted article, complete with illustrated war map, by the U. S. News & World Report. It should be ranked with the prophetic warnings sounded so clearly 20 years ago by General Douglas MacArthur.

Blueprinting An Offensive
Declaring that the present U. S. war policy in Vietnam is to let the "enemy act" and then retirement.

The most quoted reasons given heretofore for not instituting a victory offensive in Vietnam is that the "danger is too great" that Red China will move into the conflict. As regards this eventuality, General Waters says: "It is a reasonable assumption that the Chinese will not enter the war in a combat role. For them to do so would mean, I trust, immediate destruction by the U. S. of their atomic potential and limited air power, a setback they are not willing to face as they look into the future."

Acknowledge War Is War
General Waters recommends, in addition to the adoption of a winning strategy for the prosecution of the shooting war, that the civilian population of the U.S.A. be geared into the war effort—with these actions: 1) Call-up of the necessary Reserve elements; 2) Extension of enlistments; 3) Declaration of emergency; 4) Suspension of such civil programs that are not in direct support of the war.

The United States of America, he says, "must choose the harder right rather than the easier compromise . . . The U. S. can do anything in this world that she wants to do—so let's get on with this task and get it cleared up."
The American people, I believe, are ready to accept the spirit of this challenge and the logic of General Waters' military recommendations. If our leaders are not, we must demand a convincing explanation and a clarification of what is planned. The cost of stalemate in Vietnam is far too dear, each day, each week, each month!

Youngful, active Americans in a youthful, active sport are represented here by these members of the Long Beach, California, Surf Club. All winners in different divisions of U. S. Surfing Association competition, the foursome are setting their sights on international laurels. Typical of the hundreds of thousands of surfers on American beaches during the year, they find that a Carnation instant breakfast break gives them an energy edge in conditioning for participation in their favorite pastime. HOG PROFIT GUIDE
Six Tips For Better Feeder Pig Business

The feeder pig business can be profitable. Much of the profit depends on market prices. Whether prices are high or low, it is still necessary to keep costs down, put on the fastest, most economical gains . . . and get more pigs to market earlier.
Research at the Cyanamid Agricultural Center and on-farm experiments across the country with leading hog producers, have resulted in a hog profit guide for feeder pig production.
1. When you buy pigs, select only those that are thrifty and vigorous. Weak animals indicate poor breeding, disease, worms or possibly poor nutrition.
2. See that each pig has received a minimum dose of a recognized hog cholera serum and a good modified live virus vaccine that gives lasting immunity. It prevents hog cholera outbreaks.
3. Check pigs for lice and mange. If either is present, spray with malathion the first day to control these external parasites. This job is best done before pigs are unloaded.
4. Keep newly purchased pigs away from the rest of your herd for at least two weeks if possible. Isolate any visibly sick animals.
5. Newly purchased feeder pigs have been under a good deal of stress. Their disease resistance is usually lower after shipment and handling. It will pay to put them on feeds containing a combination antibiotic like Aureo SP 250. This broad-range feed additive helps fight disease problems. Research has shown that pigs should be put on a feed with Aureo SP 250 for at least 30 days. The first weeks after feeder pigs arrive can be the most critical in terms of disease problems and stress.
6. After 30 days, pigs should be put on a feed with Aureomycin at a level of 20 grams per ton. Feed manufacturers have developed complete starting, feeding and finishing programs that incorporate the latest advances in nutrition and disease prevention.
The result of attention to these research findings on hog management, health protection and nutrition will be more profitable, better doing pigs.

Even the ash tray rides smoother in Chevrolets
When you're down at your dealer's trying out a new Chevrolet, be sure you pull out the ash tray. Notice how nice and easy it glides, never hanging up or even scraping. The reason is, it rides on ball bearings. Four shiny little ball bearings. (Take the tray all the way out and you'll see them.) You say you don't even smoke? Then look at it this way. That ash tray is a symbol of the way we make cars: Paying extra attention to the little things as well as the big ones, as a way of making extra sure your '67 Chevrolet gives you that sure feeling

ANNAPOLIS REPORT

By Charles H. Smelser
State Senator
Frederick-Carroll District
The Maryland General Assembly convened in Annapolis on Wednesday, January 18, in the oldest (1772) State House in continuous use in America today.

The newly apportioned Legislature (one man—one vote) took on a new look as the voting majority shifted from the rural to the urban counties. The membership of the House remained at 142, but the Senate was increased from 29 to 43 members. To show the extremes of representation, Baltimore County has 22 Delegates and 7 Senators, while Garrett County has but one Delegate and shares a Senator with part of Allegany County.

The first bills introduced, and many of these will be the first considered, resulted from studies made by the Legislative Council during the time between the last Session of the General Assembly and the opening of this Session. The first day saw the introduction of 33 Senate Bills and 26 House Bills. Among the more important matters to be considered are the State Budget, Conflict of Interest, Highway Safety, Credit, Tax Reform, Election Laws, Education, Scholarships, Constitutional Convention and Home Rule for Code Counties.

It will be impossible to discuss all matters that will be considered during the 70 day Session, but we will attempt to discuss those Bills which we feel will be of particular interest to the readers of this paper.

If any of our readers desire copies of specific bills, either of your Senators or members of the House of Delegates will be happy to furnish copies upon request.

OUR LIBRARY

Some new books that were added to the collection at the Emmitsburg Library recently are as follows:

"The Twelve Dancing Princesses," by the Brothers Grimm.
"Sam, Bangs and Moonshine," by Evaline Ness.

"Pierino and the Bell," by Sylvia Cassedy.

"Horse Farm," by Pat Johnson. This is a grand new book by the popular young author of Horse Show and Horse Fever. Pat has been riding since she was three and what she writes about she knows. A book every horse-lover will love.

"Dinosaurs," by Herbert S. Zim. Every page is illustrated with Gordon Irving's superb drawings, and twelve large spreads picturing the most famous kinds of dinosaurs add greatly to the interest and value of this fascinating book. Ages 8-12.

"The Strange World of Dinosaurs," by Dr. John H. Ostrom. Among the scores of popular books on dinosaurs, this volume will undoubtedly stand out as the most comprehensive and most authoritative.

"Joy to the World," by Ruth Sawyer. Between the stories are carols, lovely in themselves, appropriate to each legend. Told with the magic that can be woven only by a fine story-teller, the stories and carols strengthen and broaden a read's understanding of Christmas in other lands.

"Looking at Holland," by Anna Loman. The author describes every aspect of Dutch life: the countryside and towns; the people, their homes, food and entertainment; traditional festivals and costumes; transport and industry. The book ends with a brief summary of Holland's history.

Mardi Gras Plans Announced

The Frederick Woman's Civic Club, Inc., of Frederick, has announced plans for its annual fund raising Mardi Gras Ball, to be held on Saturday, Feb. 4 at the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick. Proceeds from the benefit will be used to establish a fund to assist handicapped children in the Frederick area, and to further restore historic Steiner House, the club's headquarters.

General chairman of the Mardi Gras is Mrs. William Hobson, past president of the club and currently serving as president of the Western Maryland District of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs. Assisting Mrs. Hobson are: Mrs. Forrest White and Mrs. Earl Mercer; decorations, Mrs. Sperry Storm; music, Mrs. Robert Klein; princesses, Mrs. G. William Stultz; hostesses, Mrs. Maurice Guss; tickets, Mrs. Myron Randall; publicity, Mrs. Stephen Daduk; treasurer, Mrs. J. William Howard; masks, Mrs. Benjamin Rosenstock; patrons, Mrs. Joseph Groff; and program, Junior Woman's Club.

Each year three kings are selected from among the civic leaders of the community to serve at the Ball. These were announced at a Twelfth Night party, held Jan. 6 at Steiner House. Kings for 1967 are Mr. Donald B. Rice, city alderman and former Mayor; Mr. Garland Feaga, Lions Club president and head of the Frederick County Heart Association; and Mr. G. Bernard Callan, Jr. and active Jaycee presently serving as a local director and as an International Jaycee Senator.

Bowie To Offer $20,000 Race

Edmund J. Wallis' Recall, who tucked away her fourth consecutive win with five lengths to spare on Saturday, heads the list of ten possible starters in the first running of the $20,000-added Patricia A. at Bowie Race Course this weekend.

This will be the first major three-year-old filly stake of the young season. The Patricia A. is at six furlongs.

This will be the first stakes appearance for Recall, who has worked her way through the claiming ranks to allowance company as she has been brought along slowly by trainer Edward P. Jenks. The daughter of Reneged-Brookwood was a $6,500 yearling purchase.

Racing secretary Larry Abbundi's early checklist shows Recall's closest pursuers of last Saturday as likely starters in the Patricia A. They are Four Way Ranch's Lagoon Girl and Andrew J. Crevolin's Sweet Laura.

Additionally, Abbundi expects Guy H. Burt's Henrietta, Chalmar Farm's No Note, Thomas E. Gilman's Amherst, J.L.B. Farm's Cool Dance, D. E. Taylor's Dancing Beauty and Woodside Stud's Rocaille for the Patricia A. A decision will be made later on Mrs. Eugene E. Weymouth's Cottle.

Traffic accidents are the leading cause of death among persons from ages 5 to 31, the President's Committee for Traffic Safety reports.

A. T. DEATHERAGE

Alexander T. "Slim" Deatherage, 59, husband of Mrs. Rose Dalton Deatherage, 302 Baltimore St., Hanover, died at 3:45 p.m. last Friday at his home after an illness of several months, from a heart condition.

An employee of Coulson Heel Company, Inc., he was a son of the late William and Rebecca Pierce Deatherage, who formerly resided at Fairfield. Mr. Deatherage was a member of First Methodist Church in Hanover.

Deatherage resided for a number of years in Emmitsburg and managed the local baseball club for several seasons, winning the championship of the Penn-Maryland League in 1950.

Surviving besides his widow, are a daughter, Mrs. Jeanette McMahon, Blauvelt, N. Y.; five grandchildren, and five brothers and sisters, John Deatherage, Chuckey, Tenn., and Charles and Delmer Deatherage, Mrs. Rhea English and Mrs. Eva Lee Shelley, all of Kingsport, Tenn.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Wetzel Funeral Home, Hanover, with his pastor, Rev. Elwood L. Bair, officiating. Interment was in the Fairfield Union Cemetery, Fairfield, Pa.

Miss Susan Crouse, University of Maryland, is spending the mid-semester vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Crouse.

Ens. John W. Williams, Jr., has returned to Pensacola, Fla., after spending several weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Williams, Sr. He was accompanied to Florida by his mother who spent some time with her son before returning.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kelly, Dundalk, Md., visited Mrs. Kelly's mother, Mrs. Esther Gillelan, over the weekend.

Mr. Thomas Sanders, Phoenix, Ariz., is spending several weeks here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanders.

I will give you counsel and God be with you.—(Exod. 18-19)

God is everywhere. His light is shining on our path. His life is present with us as a healing power. Wherever we go we are inside the circle of God's love. He is with us to help meet our every need—to strengthen us when we need strength and to sustain us when we need to be sustained. He is in charge of our actions and reactions. He is in charge of our lives.

CATHOLIC BISHOPS' OVERSEAS AID FUND

Give Now

I was hungry and you gave me to eat...

The children on the official poster of the 21st annual CATHOLIC BISHOPS' OVERSEAS AID FUND depict the uncounted millions of homeless, hungry and destitute of every race, religion and color who depend on American generosity for aid. The 1967 CATHOLIC BISHOPS' OVERSEAS AID FUND APPEAL, conducted in behalf of the world's poverty-stricken, will be held February 26 through March 5 in all Catholic churches across the nation. Donations should be sent or brought to the nearest Catholic church or to BISHOPS' OVERSEAS FUND, Empire State Bldg., New York, N.Y. 10001.

A Viewpoint

By Thomas C. Callahan

Witnessing a man's death is a dulled, poignant experience. Those of us who have, shudder at recall and never even try to forget it. We know that "forgetting" is impossible. Even the televised murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, lessened in horror by the "unreality" of those few days in 1963, has left the indelible mark exclusive in its terror to the eyewitness. More stark was the televised killing of fighter Benny Paret five years ago, because there were other circumstances — a crowd cheering, a voice commenting, judges sitting with pencils etching on scoresheets a tally of each blow.

Emile Griffith has squashed the shortlived title of "killer" Griffith and seems to be making a run at a title coined for former middleweight Sugar Ray Robinson. "The best, pound-for-pound." After last Tuesday's bout, the flailer from the Virgin Islands has earned in this writer's viewpoint the less formal but very appealing title of "most spectator-entertaining." His fights are just plain interesting. Monday, Emile fought Joey Archer in a rematch with the middleweight title on the line. Archer lost his crown to Griffith last summer in an even better contest that had the referee casting his ballot as an even tie. Mr. Griffith is, by the way, also the best welterweight in the world, for he is one of three (Carmen Basilio and Robinson the others) who have stepped up a class from championship to championship. The Boxing Commission has rules about hoarding all the titles, however, so Griffith chose to keep the title carrying more weight while fighting in the courts to retain them both. Of course, he'll be giving away poundage from here on if he attempts to stay at a welterweight's size.

It's such a rarity of late that, when a prize fight is televised, it's like watching that first spring training game of the baseball season. You don't care who's playing. I don't know what it's doing to razor blade sales, but the virtual ban on boxing has had to hurt thousands of men across the country. I exclude women purposely, though maybe I shouldn't, because they lose also. Gone is that integral segment of American life—the dragging of the husband away from the set on fight night. Dagwood Bumstead hasn't been cajoled from that easy chair and the fights for ages.

Archer had never been knocked out and wasn't the other night, but stopped more blows than he gave according to the judges and Griffith is of course champ. Archer is not the puncher that his opponent is, but tried to trade bows with the champion, no doubt remembering what straight excellent boxing got for him last summer. (New York is reputed to favor the aggressor rather than the boxer in decisions.) Aware at the end of the contest that he probably should have stuck to his style, Archer refused Griffith's congratulations and Joey's manager indulged in a speck of name-calling, the same sport that cost Paret his life. Griffith flared, but only momentarily. He was better, and he knew it.

It is said, and obvious to any who have seen, that Emile is at his best when he is hurt. When he takes a hard jolt he returns a blurred glove to usually find its mark. He's the sort of fighter that you can deduce what he's thinking, whether he's anxious or biding his time. He's a good favorite for people who enjoy the sport of boxing.

The reason I give this space to the middleweight champion is because I believe that perhaps this man can help greatly in reviving the sport. This same man involved, but not responsible for, in the chief anti-boxing incident. Maybe more of his fights will be "small time" enough to find their way past the closed circuit minds of promoters and onto prime-time television. The spectacle of boxing has been missed. Both the Archer-Griffith fights were models.

Youth Council

To See Film

One of the first new Community Youth Council's projects will be a trip to Gettysburg to see a film, "The Restless Ones," produced by the Billy Graham Evangelistic Assn.

The film will be shown at the Majestic Theater on Monday, January 30 and tickets will sell for $1 per person. Those desiring to see the film and make the trip are asked to assemble at the Lutheran Church at 5:30 p.m. on Monday, for the bus trip to Gettysburg. Reservations can be made with Rev. W. Ronald Fearer, Rev. John Chatlos or Rev. King Duncan before noon Monday.

Brunswick Paper To Change Hands

The Blade - Times, Frederick County's largest weekly newspaper, will have a new owner, Friday, February 24.

A contract for the sale of the Brunswick newspaper has been signed by Mr. and Mrs. James L. Bryan, present owners, and Arthur W. Arundel, president of Arundel Communications, Arlington, Va.

The change of ownership is being planned without any interruption of business or publication. Mrs. Bryan will assist during the 60-day transition period.

The editorial, advertising, circulation and business departments of the newspaper will continue to be operated from its present location. Actual printing of the paper will be done in the plant of the Loudon Times-Mirror in Leesburg, Va.

The commercial printing department of the Blade - Times and its related equipment, is not a part of the transaction. The Bryans will continue to operate this business at its present location and will be known as the Bryan Printing Co.

Arundel is publisher of the Loudon Times-Mirror, the Reston Times, Reston, Va., and operates several radio stations in Virginia and West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan purchased the Blade-Times in 1958 from the late J. H. "Cap" Rinker, who founded the paper 54 years ago.

Bryan has accepted a position as clerk to the Frederick County Commissioners which he said necessitated divorcing himself from the news field.

Dance Scheduled

As a welcome contrast to the previous week's exams, the Senior Class of St. Joseph's High School is sponsoring a "February Farago", on Friday, February 3. The dance will be held from 8-11 and admission is 50c stag and 80c drag. All are invited to attend, but please remember—coat and tie are required.

Cardinal's Campaign Shows Progress

The Cardinal's Campaign Headquarters has tabulated over $500,000 in pledge payments since publication of its Fifth Progress Report one month ago, on December 16, according to Bishop T. Austin Murphy, Archdiocesan Coordinator.

The actual tally was $511,691 raising the total payments to date to $4,819,202, marking the conclusion if the first six months of the pledge payment phase. The total is expected to rise even further as this tabulation includes reports from all five special committees and only 84% of the parishes.

Although the active or solicitation phase was concluded on July 1, General Chairman, Henry J. Knott, stated additional gift reports continue to come in. With this report the total pledged amount now stands at $12,871,787, a $42,436 increase over last month's report.

Saint Elizabeth parish, Msgr. Edward Baham pastor, reported its pledged total now is $123,686, up $36,036, while the Business Committee, Truman Semans chairman, reported $5,500 in additional gifts raising its total to $220,030. Also, the Professional - General Business Committee, Nicholas Mueller chairman, rose to $153,069. The Parochial Committee, consisting of all 155 parishes and missions has accounted for $9,829,361.

Bishop Murphy attributed this exceptional progress to a number of factors. He said that, apparently, many donors have maintained regular payments because they have been encouraged by the steady progress of planning and construction of the institutions to benefit from the campaign. He also noted that some donors have accelerated their payment schedules, some even to the extent of paying in full. The general pledge payment phase continues through December of 1968.

His Eminence Cardinal Shehan will officiate at a ground breaking ceremony for the new Little Sisters of the Poor Home for the Aged on January 31, 1967. Demolition of existing structures and site clearing are presently underway on the 13 acres located on Maiden Choice Lane adjacent to St. Charles College.

Last month, the Saint Elizabeth School for Special Education was opened. Prior to that the Bishop Walsh High School in Cumberland and the Martin Spalding High School near Glen Burnie were completed with funds from the campaign.

The campaign has also provided the 1966 operational funds for the Associated Catholic Charities. Plans for the new House of the Good Shepherd should be placed for bid around the end of April.

Defense Funds To Aid Maryland

More than $18 million in Defense Department funds have been released for military construction at Maryland bases, Rep. Clarence D. Long, (D., Md.) said this week.

Rep. Long, a member of the Military Construction Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee, said the money was voted by Congress in 1965 but spending of the funds had been held up by the Defense Department until this week.

Major projects at Maryland bases which may now go ahead are: $2.8 million headquarters building at Aberdeen Proving Ground; $9.2 million research laboratory at Fort Detrick; $550 thousand road improvement program at Fort Meade; $3.4 million central heating plant at the Naval Academy;

$800 thousand barracks at the Naval Medical Center in Bethesda. In addition, the Defense Department will proceed on construction of 340 housing units at Fort Meade and 250 units at Andrews Air Force Base.

PROMOTED

DA NANG, Vietnam — Marine Corporal Richard C. Oster, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Oster of Emmitt Gardens, Emmitsburg, Md., was promoted to his present rank while serving with Marine Fighter Attack Squadron-115 of Marine Aircraft Group-11 at Da Nang, Vietnam.

His promotion was based on time in service and rank, military appearance, and his knowledge of selected military subjects.

The squadron flies the F4 Phantom II jet aircraft on missions in support of U. S. Marines, Vietnam soldiers, and other units engaged in operations against the enemy.

Thurmont Park To Be Improved

The Thurmont Park Commission met recently to review plans for a Community Park.

The park, which was acquired from the Jaycees in 1965, has been cleared and work has begun on improvements including a softball field, rest room facilities and an access road.

The town commissioners have budgeted $7,400 for improvements this year.

The Frederick County Parks and Recreation Commission has told the commissioners that state funds will be available on a matching basis for improvements.

Road Fatalities

Continue To Increase

Sixteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Six of those killed were drivers; five were passengers; and five were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in seven of the deaths; speed in four; and "driver error" was present in twelve of the fatalities. "The unnecessary carnage continues on Maryland highways," commented Colonel Carey Jarman, Superintendent of the Maryland State Police, in reviewing the fatalities in the State last week. "There was certainly ample evidence to indicate that the use of alcohol when driving and careless habits when walking are excellent ways to end up as a fatality statistic. This deadly duo accounted for ten of the sixteen persons killed.

"The most attention-getting accident last week was the one in which three persons lost their lives on the Kennedy Highway. The car in which they were riding left the highway, struck a guard rail, and finally came to a stop against a concrete bridge abutment. There was no evidence that the brakes had been applied and it can be presumed that the operator had fallen asleep."

When removing gelatin from a mold, moisten the plate and top of mold with wet fingers. The moist surfaces make it possible to slide the gelatin to the center of the plate after taking it out of the mold.
