More and more each day we are evidencing the influence of the metropolitan spread of the Baltimore and Washington areas into suburbia. Just a few years ago strikes were a thing for the big cities to handle and we could care less. The teachers' action in this county this week awoke us from our lethargy and shocked us into reality that it really could and did happen here. Hundreds of students motored to Frederick to mill around the Courthouse in an effort to persuade the County Commissioners to grant a raise to their teachers. The County Commissioners fortunately were not hasty to make a rash decision and are mulling over the situation at this writing. Most of us weren't aware that machinations were going on concerning any teacher pay raise as we go through this thing quietly every year or so. The action broke swiftly though and now we fully realize and are cognizant that demonstrative and even militant action can and is happening in Frederick County. We feel certain though after the first embers of heat have subsided that cooler heads will be able to amicably arbitrate the matter and bring things to a satisfactory conclusion to all parties concerned.

It looks very apparent that we are in for another increase in our cost of living. All predictions and forecasts indicate that things will go much higher this year to eat more heavily into our wallet. One major car manufacturer already announces that the safety features on the new model cars will cost around $100 more; income taxes in our State will jump in the near future and the Secretary of Agriculture predicts higher food costs. It is not a bright picture by any means and it makes one shudder what it will do to people with fixed incomes.

Dear Abigail:

This is in rebuttal to your column of May 19. Your observations do not go far enough. You say "There is no respect for law and order; no respect for public officials; no respect for our President; and just about no respect for anything. There is considerable truth in what you say and it is deplorable. But you should have added that there is a growing disrespect for local legislative bodies which shirk their duty to secure equal rights to all citizens; an equal disrespect for the Federal Congress which thus far refuses to provide equal housing opportunities for minority groups, including Negro servicemen re-assigned to the States from Vietnam. Instead this Congress contents itself to lynch Adam Clayton Powell, the only substantial voice Negro soldiers had in the Congress, all after a 25-year campaign to "get" him, simply because he was a Negro leader, and a substantial threat to the established segregated system of things. Who do they fool?"

As for those citizens who freely and openly discuss our presence in Vietnam, would you have it otherwise? If we have cause for war... and this is what we are fighting, we can cut off domestic debate by a declaration of war by the Congress... as is contemplated in our Constitution. Certainly until this happens, a right to open discussion continues. As for myself, I do not wish to return to that system of 400 years ago when it was considered the sacred duty of a vessel to lay down his master's hoe and to pick up his master's sword, instantly, at the command of the lord. That poor vessel did not reason why, it was only for him to do and die. Today, we find ourselves to be citizens and duty-bound to "reason why". In a republic, such as ours, not only is sovereignty ours, but also accountability!

T. W. PANGBORN MT. BENEFACTOR, DIES SUDDENLY

Thomas W. Pangborn, 86, a prominent industrialist and Catholic lay leader, died Saturday at Washington County Hospital in Hagerstown after a heart attack.

Mr. Pangborn and his brother founded the Pangborn Corp. in 1904 in New York City and moved it to Hagerstown in 1912. It became one of the biggest manufacturers of equipment for blast cleaning, dust control and vibratory finishing.

In 1944 he and his brother, John, created the $10 million Pangborn Foundation to provide grants for charitable, religious, educational and scientific purposes.

Among the edifices identified with Pangborn are Pangborn Hall at Emmitsburg, a dormitory and chapel known as Pangborn Hall at the University of Notre Dame, the Washington County Hospital in Hagerstown, and a dormitory and chapel at Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg.

In recognition of his services to the Catholic Church, Mr. Pangborn was made a Knight of Malta in 1949 by Pope Pius XII, and raised to Knight of the Holy Sepulcher in 1951. He became Knight Grand Cross of the Holy Sepulcher in 1955, Knight of St. Gregory in 1959, and was appointed private chamberlain of the Cape and Sword in 1960 by Pope John XXIII. In 1964, Pope Paul VI raised him to the rank of count, with the title of excellency.

Mr. Pangborn was chairman of the Nicodemus National Bank of Hagerstown, director of the Equitable Trust Co. of Baltimore, and a member of the board of directors of Liberty Mutual Insurance Co.

He was a member of the advisory council for science and engineering at Notre Dame University, the advisory board of Mt. St. Mary's College and a regent of the University of Maryland.

He also was a trustee of Notre Dame and Catholic University of America, and the recipient of numerous honorary degrees.

A requiem Mass was said by Lawrence Cardinal Shehan of Baltimore at 11 a.m. Wednesday at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Hagerstown. Interment was in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Lions Club Hears Game Warden Toms

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club was held Monday night at Mt. Manor Motel with President-elect Ralph Tabler presiding.

Two guests from Fort Ritchie were present as well as Father John Sewell, recently ordained priest and son of Lion Milton Sewell and wife. Lion Sewell estimated that approximately $250 would be netted from the recent public auction. As chairman of the Sight Conservation Committee Lion Sewell announced that applications for three pairs of eyeglasses had been received.

The club agreed to sponsor a float in the Firemen's Parade in Emmitsburg on June 8 and a committee was named to prepare the float. A lengthy discussion was held on the possibility of promoting a fishing rodeo for local children and it was thought that possibly later this summer the affair could be held.

An interesting film, Heritage's Splendor, was shown by Ray Toms, State game warden. Toms also gave a short talk on the duties and responsibilities of the wardens, hunters and the general public. The group ordered a thank-you letter written to Auctioneer Guss Shank, Taneytown, for his valuable assistance at the recent auction.

In the course of current events never forget that you can get so close to the trees you can't visualize the forest.

Town Water Enters Area Competition

The Town of Emmitsburg Water System this week became one of a dozen entrants in the annual Advancement Award Contest of the Chesapeake Section, Md.-Del.-District of Columbia Area, American Water Works Association.

The competition is held each year to select water utilities that have shown outstanding progress in development of their community relations and plant improvement programs to better serve their customers.

Judging will take place this coming summer, and award recipients in three categories will be selected. "Willing Water" statuettes will be presented by the Section to winners in Class A—Up to 5,000 customer services, Class B—5,000 to 25,000 customer services, and Class C—More than 25,000 services.

The overall winner in the Chesapeake Section will be eligible to compete with representatives of Sections from throughout the U. S. and Canada for the National Advancement (gold) Trophy.

The Emmitsburg Water System is competing in the Class A contest.

Little League Seeking Donations

President Thomas C. Harbaugh of the Emmitsburg Little League stressed the need for additional funds to maintain the local Little League this year. Harbaugh expressed appreciation to those who had donated so far but intimated that much more was needed to keep the teams in operation.

Driver Injured In Mishap North Of Town

Maurice James Robertson, 25, Westminster, Md., was admitted to the Warner Hospital at 4 o'clock Sunday morning following an automobile accident on Business Rt. 15, approximately a half-mile north of Emmitsburg. Robertson was taken to the hospital in the Emmitsburg VFW ambulance. He was treated for lacerations of the chin and forehead and contusions of the chest. He was discharged from the hospital Sunday afternoon.

Maryland State Police listed the time of the accident as 3:40 o'clock Sunday morning when Robertson, traveling north, apparently lost control of his car and ran off the left side of the highway where he struck a concrete abutment and dropped his car into a ditch.

Damage to his 1966 Mercury sedan was listed by police at a total loss of $200.

Local Youth Hurt In Accident

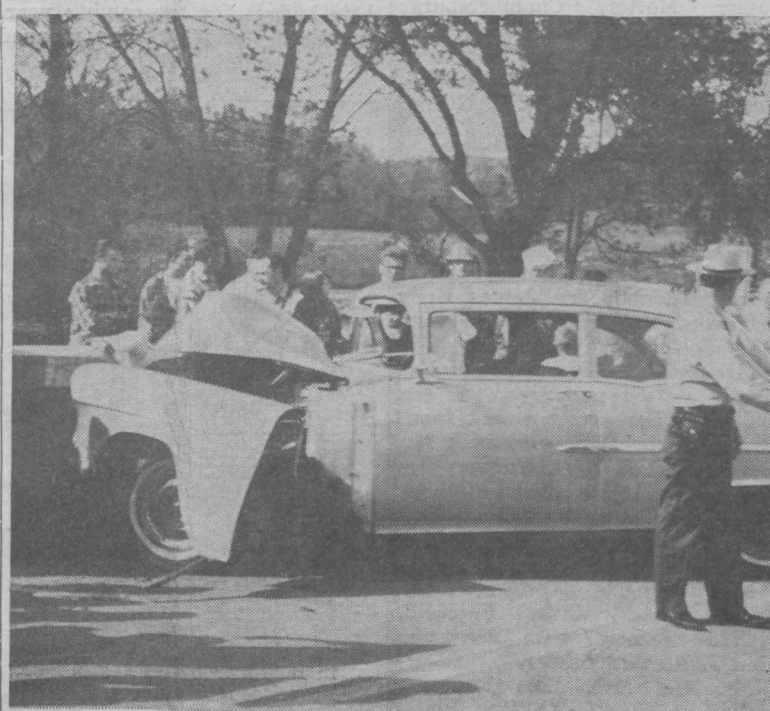

Photo shows Chevrolet sedan operated by Arthur Bankard, R2, after it crashed into the northwest approach to Flat Run Bridge at the north end of Emmitsburg at approximately 4:45 p.m. Wednesday. Police Chief W. E. Law is shown directing traffic through the bridge. Young Bankard, a student at Emmitsburg High School, was taken to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg in the VFW ambulance. State Police are investigating the accident.

K Of C-Masons Enjoy Social

Members of the local Masonic Lodge were guests of the Knights of Columbus Tuesday evening at an open house held in the Knights of Columbus building.

Past Grand Knight Lumen F. Norris acted as toastmaster and Grand Knight Arthur Elder welcomed the group. Members of the Masonic Order were introduced by Worshipful Master Alfred Hahn of the Masonic Lodge. District Deputy Paul A. Keepers gave a brief resume of the history of the K. of C. and explained different paraphernalia used in degree work.

Following a movie provided by the Coca-Cola Co., showing the 1966 World Series, the group was served a delicious buffet lunch. All agreed that it was a perfect evening of fellowship for the two Councils.

Seminary Rector Aids College Evaluation Team

Rt. Rev. George D. Mulcahy, rector of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, recently served on the Middle States Assn. evaluation team assigned to check the academic credentials of Our Lady of the Angels Seminary, Albany, N. Y., a branch of Niagara University, New York.

Msgr. Mulcahy's appointment was made by Dr. F. Taylor Jones, executive secretary of the Middle States Association's Commission on Institutions of Higher Education.

In addition to Msgr. Mulcahy, Rev. Terence J. Toland, S. J., executive vice president of St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, and Dean Weimlick of Moravian Seminary and College, Bethlehem, Pa., were also appointed to the team by Dr. Taylor.

Msgr. Mulcahy, who has been rector at the Mount Seminary since 1958, was formerly chancellor of the Diocese of Harrisburg. He is a member of the American Catholic Historical Society, the Catholic Homiletic Society, and has written several articles for the periodical "Emmanuel" and the "New Catholic Encyclopedia."

He is also the author of the historical booklet entitled, "The Story of Our Lady's Grotto," which gives the background of the National Shrine Grotto of Lourdes located on the Mount campus.

Garden Club Holds Card Party

The Silver Fancy Garden Club holds its annual Card Party last Thursday at the Taney Inn in Taneytown with a large crowd attending. Mrs. John D. White was chairman of the event with Mrs. A. A. Koswick and Mrs. Frank Butler acting as co-hostesses. Potted plants were given as table prizes. There were also many lovely door prizes drawn.

School Board Hikes Teachers' Pay To $6,000

The Frederick County School Board approved Sunday a new $6,000 base pay scale for teachers requested by the Frederick County Teachers Association. The present base salary is $5,400.

The decision followed a four hour executive session of the school board with representatives of the FCTA and the County Commissioners representative to the school board, President Charles E. Collins.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. John L. Carnochan said the total school board budget request with the new pay scale will be $8,000 less than the previous budget request which included a $5,600 base pay scale coupled to a 12-month pay program.

Carnochan said the base pay under the scale approved Sunday will range from $6,000 to $9,000 in 13 steps for a teacher with a bachelor's degree.

He said the scale will begin at $6,400 for a teacher with a master's degree.

The FCTA set the new pay scale last Thursday night after being told the county commissioners would reject the 12-month plan.

Carnochan said the school board discussed some other cuts proposed by the County Commissioners but did not take any formal action on anything but the pay scale.

Scouts' Paper Drive Next Saturday

Emmitsburg Boy Scout Troop 284 will conduct a scrap paper drive on Saturday, June 3, it has been announced.

The Scouts will take to the streets Saturday morning to gather the paper at various homes. Donors are asked to bundle the paper if at all possible and if they desire assistance in doing this they are asked to contact either Roger Zurgable or Joseph Boyle.

County Towns Receive Aid For Recreation

Residents of Frederick County will be able to use facilities in four new recreation centers this summer in Middletown, Brunswick, Thurmont, and Walkersville.

Under the auspices of the Frederick County Parks and Recreation Commission, these recreation centers will be staffed by Gale Quick at Thurmont, William Talley at Walkersville, James Frazier at Middletown, and Paul Gaither at Brunswick.

On June 19, the directors of each center will meet with Frederick city officials for a leadership training course. On June 26, the centers will begin operation on a five-day week schedule, Monday through Friday. The session will run until Aug. 11. Programs have been established for young children and elementary school students, junior and senior high school students, and young adults and senior citizens.

Each center will be staffed with aides to assist the instructors, who will be conducting specialized activities.

The locations for the centers are in the high schools in each of the four communities. Physical education equipment, which normally would be locked up and unused during the summer months, will be put to use, supplementing recreation commission equipment. Thus far, only $12,500 has been appropriated by the County Commissioners.

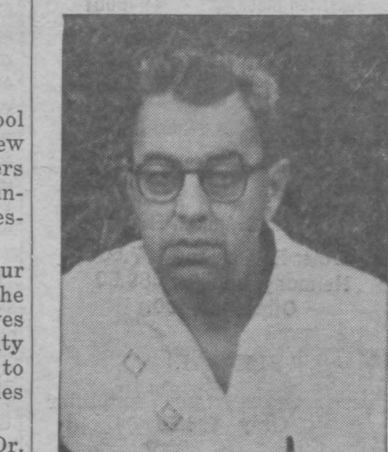

The centers are headed by Charles F. Bowers, and directed by Roy Comer, a physical education teacher at Frederick High School.

Veterans To Observe Memorial Day

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and the Francis X. Elder Post of the American Legion will participate in Memorial Day services Sunday, May 28.

The services, held alternately each year in local churches, will be held Sunday in the Reformed Church. All members are urged to attend and to form at the Legion Post at 10:00 a.m. Sunday morning.

Prominent Local Businessman Dies After Illness

J. Laurence Orendorff, prominent local grocery store operator, died Friday afternoon at 3:10 o'clock in the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, after an illness of eight weeks. He was aged 62 years.

The deceased operated a grocery business on the Square for the past 13 years and was a life-long resident of Emmitsburg. He was a son of the late Joseph F. and Ann (Topper) Orendorff.

He is survived by his widow, the former Anne Eckenrode; a son, Laurence F., Baltimore; a sister, Mrs. Paul W. Topper, McSherrystown, and a brother, Francis S. Orendorff, York.

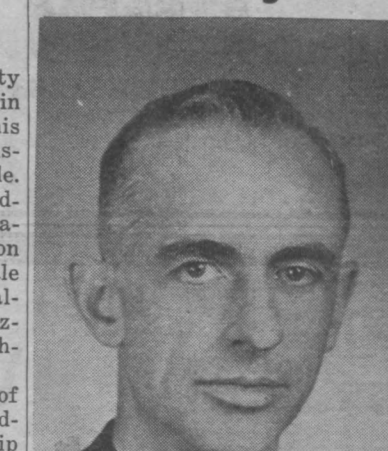

He was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, the Holy Name Society, past grand knight of Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, and the Vigilant Hose Company.

The Knights of Columbus recited the Rosary Sunday evening and the Rosary Society on Monday evening.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock with a requiem high Mass celebrated in St. Joseph's Catholic Church by the pastor, Rev. Louis B. Storms. Interment was made in the new St. Joseph's Church Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Walter F. Crouse, Aaron Adams, William L. Topper, Carl A. Wetzel, Guy A. Baker, Jr., and J. Everett Chrismer. Wilson Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

Father Smith To Receive Doctorate Degree

Rev. Thomas G. Smith, spiritual director of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, will be awarded the Doctor of Sacred Theology degree at the June 4 Commencement Exercises to be held at The Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

Father Smith, a native of Hoboken, N. J., and a priest of the Archdiocese of Newark, has been a member of the Mount faculty since 1959. He is a professor of liturgy and ascetical theology in addition to his duties as spiritual director. In the fall of 1965, he was elected to the College Council which is the corporate governing body.

In his doctoral studies he presented the thesis entitled, "The Role of Creatures in St. Francis de Sales". He received his bachelor's degree from Seton Hall U. and his licentiate from The Catholic University.

Prior to coming to the Mount, Father Smith taught at St. Michael's Hospital School of Nursing in Newark and is noted for his work with the Boy Scouts. During recent summers he has worked with Mount seminarians in the Yucatan area of Mexico, aiding the poor.

About the only time some of the menfolk of this community go to church is at their own funeral. This is, perhaps, a bit late.

Carroll School Consolidation Plans Aired

The Carroll County Board of Education and the county commissioners are considering an appeal by Taneytown citizens to eventually transfer their high school students to Westminster instead of Francis Scott Key.

Present plans call for the consolidation of Taneytown High School with Francis Scott Key High School in September, 1968.

In a petition signed by leading officials of the Taneytown area, George E. Thomas, superintendent of Carroll County Schools, was asked to consider the value of increasing the capacity of the proposed new Westminster High

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS GREAT CRIPPLER

Strikes at Young Adults

Multiple sclerosis is "the great crippler of young adults." An estimated 500,000 Americans, young adults, mothers and fathers, in the active years of community and family service between 20 and 40, have been stricken by MS and related diseases. Cause, prevention and cure remain unknown. The National Multiple Sclerosis Society fights MS through programs of national and international research, community patient services, and public and professional education.

BABSON

Writes . . .

Babson's Point Of View On: Sharing Federal Tax Revenues
BABSON PARK, Mass., May 25—A number of states are already struggling to cope with annual budgets in excess of $1 billion . . . and the trend of state government expenditures continues sharply up. Even the mighty flow of federal grants to states—estimated at $15 billion in the current fiscal year—does not suffice to meet growing needs which are in most cases considerably beyond normal state revenues. Plight Of The States

The need of the states for new sources of revenue to help maintain traditional government services and to keep abreast of the expanding need for educational and health facilities is serious. In certain instances, it is acute. There is some evidence that the states themselves have failed to answer the new demands placed upon them because of inept administration and/or recklessness in the use of public funds. Yet the lion's share of the blame rests not with state governments as such but with the widespread trend toward paternalism in government which has spawned a vast and costly Washington bureaucracy. To support all this, Uncle Sam now grabs for his own needs a large part of the total tax dollar, leaving states and local governments the short end of the stick.

To Share Or Not To Share
The idea of Washington's sharing its tax take with the states is attractive. It is looked upon as an easy way out, even by many who are not connected with state governments. The specific proposal of Rep. William E. Brock of Tennessee which would direct the Federal Government to share up to 5% of its tax revenues with the states, with the provision that the funds be earmarked for education, has wide appeal and has received strong support.

But there are those who see in outright tax sharing new opportunities for the federal bureaucracy to extend its influence in the states. Some of these opponents advocate, instead, a type of indirect federal subsidy by permitting individual income taxpayers to use 40% of their state income tax payments as an offset against their federal income tax liabilities. This would permit the states to spend more and to tax more without increasing—at least initially—the individual's total tax liability.

Helping The Cities
Officials of some of the nation's larger cities are among the most articulate opponents of the idea of federal tax sharing. Mayor John F. Collins of Boston described the plan as the most dangerous idea in America today, the implication being that the states will not play fair with their large cities when they get a tax-sharing windfall from Uncle Sam.

This points up a serious inequity which has handicapped larger cities for some time. Until the recent Supreme Court decision decreeing reapportionment of state legislatures, city populations had not had adequate representation. This inequity has been a big factor in the deterioration of central cities and in the resulting outgrowth of social problems.

Impact On Peoples' Rights And States' Rights
There can, of course, be no program of tax sharing until the Vietnam drain on federal resources is stopped . . . we simply can't afford it before then. It is claimed, however, that outright tax sharing would cut red tape, prune federal government payrolls, and curb Uncle Sam's participation in local affairs . . . and that it would help restore the prestige and power of the states. But chances are that it would also lead to a higher total tax bite in a nation where families are already paying a greater percentage of income for taxes than they are for food.

Soroptimist Club Holds Meeting

The Soroptimist Club met at the Francis Scott Key Hotel, in Frederick, for a dinner meeting, recently. The treasurer reported $586.00 has been collected toward the Frederick Memorial Hospital project. Donations were made to the Cancer Research, Heart Fund, and Easter Seal Center. A rummage sale netted $25.50.

Favors were taken to the Odd Fellows Home and Monocacy Nursing Home. A letter was read from a sister club in Wales, England. Letters of invitation will be mailed several prospective members.

Virginia Stevens of Middletown was formally installed as a new member. Ruth Fischer of Braddock Heights, served as auctioneer for a white elephant sale.

AIRMAN PROMOTED

BURNS FLAT, Okla. — Robert J. Ulrich, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carroll E. Frock, Sr. of R.F.D. 1, Emmitsburg, Md., has been promoted to airman first class in the U. S. Air Force.

Airman Ulrich is an administrative specialist at Clinton-Sherman AFB, Okla. He is a member of the Strategic Air Command, America's long-range nuclear bomber and missile force.

The airman, a graduate of Emmitsburg High School, attended Southwestern State College extension branch at Clinton-Sherman.

FORT BELVOIR, Va.—Sergeant Clyde A. Knipple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde V. Knipple of Emmitsburg, Md., has successfully completed the Offset Pressman Course at the U. S. Army Engineer School here. He was designated honor graduate of his class.

Sgt. Knipple, one of a class of 28 students, was awarded his diploma at graduation exercises held April 28.

This course is one of the many technical subjects taught at the Engineer School to military personnel of the United States and Allied Nations.

Grow Food on a Parking Lot?

Not exactly; with a new process, however, a thin, unbroken layer of asphalt can be spread two feet below the surface of sandy farm soil. This "asphalt barrier" prevents moisture and fertilizers from filtering deep underground, holding them where they can best be used by crop roots.

Crops planted over an asphalt barrier grow faster and more verdantly than those in the same soil without a barrier. Inset shows how an individual asphalt barrier plant (right) compares in quality and quantity of yield with one grown in untreated soil. Besides producing more and better food crops, asphalt barriers could reclaim acres of land presently unfit for farming. The process was developed by American Oil Company and Michigan State University soil scientists.

The Pill And Mental Health

By Louise Chase
WMNS

What effect does the pill have on the emotional state of women taking it over a considerable period of time? A team of researchers reported at a recent medical meeting in Washington, D. C., that after careful testing of 72 women on the pill for 15 months "there was no depression correlated with the use of the drugs." As a matter of fact, some women on the borderline of depression seemed to improve as they took the pill. The researchers cautioned, however, that women who have conflicts over whether they do or don't want additional children, and women who have troubling sexual problems, discuss these matters with their physician before beginning use of the highly effective contraceptive.

These findings were reported by Somers H. Sturgis, M.D., obstetrician-gynecologist of the Harvard Medical School and Boston's Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. Dr. Sturgis headed a team of researchers that included a psychiatrist, a psychologist, and an obstetrician. Psychiatrists have pointed out that any voluntary act taken to inhibit procreation may be attested by personality changes, guilt, and depression, Dr. Sturgis noted. On the other hand, alleviation of a fear of unwanted pregnancy is a force that might counterbalance such negative reactions, the physician observed. Dr. Sturgis and his colleagues undertook their study "to evaluate the over-all effect, if any, of these conflicting factors on the emotional life of women taking contraceptive pills."

Tests Given
A group of married women, all under 35 years of age, were placed on the pill. The psychiatrist obtained background information on each woman and completed a Depression Rating Scale including the patient's attitudes and feelings, physiologic functions, motor activity, personal appearance, and tension among others. The patient then was scored on a scale ranging from minimum to maximum depression.

Two other tests were then given by the psychologist, one of the tests being used widely to evaluate mood changes and behavior produced by drugs, Dr. Sturgis explained. The women returned for repeat testing after three months on the pill, after nine months and after 15 months. Twenty-nine Catholic women were among the 72 who completed the program.

Contrary to expectation, the researchers found that the Catholic women "did not experience conflict evolving into depression . . . Many were observed to derive maximal benefit in the freedom from the realistic fear of further pregnancy."

"For some Catholic women," the report pointed out, "marital relations had been undertaken as a wifely duty without pleasure. The use of pills . . . permitted more normal satisfaction from sexual activity."

Four women did show a "marked depressive reaction," according to the report, but this was not due to the pharmacological action of the pill but rather to magical fantasies these women had about it.

One woman, who had had four children in five years of marriage, was a compulsive housewife. After two months on the pill she no longer cared about her appearance or the fingerprints on the walls. She had lost her energy.

Her tests showed that she really felt inadequate as a woman, that she believed pregnancy to be the key to maturity, that compulsive activity was her substitute for pregnancy. In her case, the researchers believe, the pill appeared to interfere with a life-long defense in physical action, the only alternative to the pregnant state when she felt herself to be a complete woman.

Another woman became depressed when she realized that the pill would really be effective in preventing conception. Despite here avowed wish to have no more children it was clear that life without a small child was empty and intolerable to her.

A third woman hoped the pill would cure her frigidity, which she ascribed to fear of pregnancy. When the pill removed her fear of pregnancy and she remained frigid she had to face the fact that her problem was due to other causes.

The fourth woman had had psychiatric treatment before going on the pill. A year later she became severely depressed. She was referred to her psychiatrist for psychotherapy but was continued on the pill. At the end of the 15 months she was much less depressed. The researchers observed, "The response to psychotherapy while on the (pill) makes a strong case against a pharmacologic basis."

The report concluded, "a prior history of depression or mental illness requiring psychotherapy may constitute a contraindication to this type of effective contraception unless it is established that previous problems were unrelated to childbearing, sexual conflicts, and so forth. In others, however, a variety of tests and scales failed to reveal an increase in depression."

Our nation needs nearly 150,000 additional teachers of handicapped children to meet the needs of approximately five million such children of school age, says the Easter Seal Society.

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH

Snoring
About one out of eight Americans snore.

This means something like 25 million snorers, women as often as men.

The comic literature about snoring is endless. Plays, movies, vaudeville skits and comics in general have poked fun at snoring down through the years.

There's a good chance that there's a snorer in your family. If so, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, you are well aware that it's not very funny.

The assorted hisses, gurgles, buzzes, snorts and raspings of the snoring nuisance hold the seeds for the ruination of an astensibly happy marriage. Many married couples find it necessary to set up a schedule wherein one spouse tries to precede the other in sleep. Other couples proceed to separate rooms and possibly even the divorce courts.

For the most part snoring is generated while breathing either in or out during sleep by several structures in the nose and throat. The sounds are due to vibrations in the soft palate and other soft structures of the throat in response to inflowing and outflowing air.

The frequency of the vibrations depends on the size, density and elasticity of the affected tissues and on the force of the air flow.

A number of causes of snoring can be helped and even cured. Most cases of snoring in children are cured by removal of enlarged adenoids and tonsils. A blocked nose may lead to mouth breathing and snoring. Sometimes this can be corrected by minor surgery. If snoring is caused by nasal congestion due to the common cold, sinus trouble or hay fever, nose drops or antihistamines sometimes can bring relief to the sufferer, and may stop snoring. Many people snore only when sleeping on the back. Any method that keeps the sleeper on his side or face can help.

There are factors that may affect the tone of the tissues of the throat and result in snoring. These include too much smoking, overwork, fatigue, obesity and general poor health. The largest group of offenders are the elderly, presumably because they lack tissue tone.

If there is a snorer in your family who is disrupting the sleep of others, send him to the family physician. If there is a definite cause-and-effect relationship, possibly something can be done about it. If your doctor cannot help, the listener can wear earplugs, when everything else fails.

third in a large field of seasoned racing teams from the United States and Canada. The Irish setter team took fifth-place honors. This was the only other sporting-dog team in the race.

Sled-dog racing is truly a rugged sport. But then sporting dogs are rugged, too. It is extremely doubtful that sporting dogs will ever supplant the sled-dog breeds in the sport, but they will very likely continue to make impressive showings.

TERRY CLOTH TAKES A BEACHHEAD

There's a new wave of beachwear: wildly wonderful clothes with an almost oceanic variety of color and design. Some have drifted in from foreign shores. Many are adaptations of favorite city fashions.

The flowing Egyptian djellaba is seen as a beach robe in the spring-summer issue of McCall's Patterns & Home Decorating magazine, and jumpsuits are also pictured as coverups for swimwear. Beach dresses shape up as decidedly "mini."

The raw material for many of these styles is terry cloth, practical as ever but lots prettier. In sunstruck shades of orange, yellow and turquoise, terry is so much a part of the '67 seascape that you'll even notice it in the newest-looking swimsuits.

Swimsuits and djellabas, a bright new team in terry cloth or other water-loving fabrics, share star billing in McCall's Pattern #8736 for misses sizes. The two-piece bathing suit has boy shorts and a square-necked top. The raglan-sleeved robe, marvelous in a matching fabric, is sparked by contrast binding and a button-trimmed inset. Make it ankle-length, in the Egyptian tradition, or short and swingy, American style.

Dare to wear a bikini? You'll find the makings of one, plus matching jumpsuit coverup, in Pattern #8738 for misses and juniors. The jumpsuit comes in short-short or long-flowing versions (the bikini, of course, is short-short).

In terry cloth, the sleeveless, tab-collared jumpsuit is sporty, salty, the belle of the beach. In slinky crepe or jersey, with wide ankle-length trousers, it could double as an elegant hostess costume.

The London-born minidress is swarming over American shores. One "mini" that could establish a beachhead all by itself is McCall's simple A-shape, featured in Pattern #8744 for misses, and #8776 for girls sizes 7-14. The basic design can become six different dresses when you add or subtract collars, pockets and trim.

It's all so easy that the patterns are recommended for beginners! Also a cinch is the fabric choice: bright terry, bold striped or flowered cottons and synthetics would all go "swimmingly."

And you too will be in the swim—now that you've mapped out the new shore lines.

Do you know the seven warning signals of cancer?

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Hoarseness or change in voice.
6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Change in a wart or mole.

Just in case you don't: 1. Unusual bleeding or discharge. 2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere. 3. A sore that does not heal. 4. Change in bowel or bladder habits. 5. Hoarseness or cough. 6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. 7. Change in a wart or mole. If a signal lasts longer than two weeks see your doctor.

Guard those you love.

New 4-H Program Sponsor

A new 4-H Field Crops Science program sponsor is welcomed to the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago. Norman C. Mindrum, director, (left) shows M. B. Turner, vice president of Amchem Products, Inc. the 1967 4-H award programs' Handbook which includes Field Crops Science.

The national 4-H Field Crops Science program has a new phase of the program is put to sponsor this year. It is Amchem Products, Inc., of Ambler, Pa. Weed and insect control are two factors which determine both quantity and quality. Conservation, marketing and land judging also are studied.

As part of its 4-H sponsorship, Amchem provides awards for the most outstanding projects. Four top members in the county receive honor medals. One 4-H'er will be chosen from competing field crops members in the state as winner of an all-expense paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress held in Chicago the week following Thanksgiving.

The big awards are six $500 educational scholarships. These go to six national winners chosen from the state group. All award recipients are selected by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Carrying out field crops projects over a period of years has determined future careers, both on and off the farm, for many farm youths. Scholarships and profits from 4-H projects help defer college expenses.

SPORTS AFIELD

The versatility of sporting dogs has been well established for a long time. Members of practically every sporting breed have been trained to perform work that is foreign to their normal sphere of activity. Examples are a coonhound that was a better-than-fair duck retriever; beagles and basset hounds that were quite proficient in hunting pheasants and even grouse; a springer spaniel in Maine that doubled as a coon dog and a deer trailer; an English setter that was an excellent squirrel dog and a Labrador retriever that was the mainstay of a dairyman in handling livestock.

None of these dogs was as able in his extracurricular work as the general run of specialist breeds. While they performed these tasks with efficiency, their capability in this direction was remarkable mainly because it was unusual. But when it comes to sporting dogs competing against other breeds that are specialists in completely different fields, we encounter something more than the unusual—and this makes their success somewhat sensational.

In the World's Championship Sled Dog Races at Laconia, New Hampshire, in February 1966, two of the top five sled-dog teams were made up from sporting breeds. One was a team of Walker foxhounds, the other a team of Irish setters. When you consider that Siberian huskies, malamutes, samoyeds and Ekimo dogs are commonly associated with this growing sport, you can understand why this caused quite a stir.

It might be expected that Irish setters, properly trained, could develop into formidable competitors in the sport, observes Henry P. Davis, Sporting Dogs Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. They certainly have the coat to withstand the rigors of sled-dog racing weather. And one would expect short-haired dogs like pointers and foxhounds to be under a weather handicap. Yet it was the team of foxhounds, one of the fastest in the East, that placed

We Don't Have To Guess!
God Himself Tells Us
What To Believe

Reason alone is enough to compel most people to believe in God.

But our limited intelligence does not tell us what to believe. It doesn't explain God's relationship to us, or our relationship to God. Although logic alone may lead us to a positive conviction, it takes more than that to give us a positive knowledge and a clear understanding of the purpose of our lives.

Fortunately for us, God does not leave us to guess or theorize. He doesn't ask us to figure out for ourselves whence we have come, why we are here, what is the purpose of our lives. On the contrary, He gives us a clear and certain basis for our faith through His own divine revelation. By words and deeds, He reveals Himself to us—making sure that we can understand.

It is through revelation that we have divine assurance of our own eternal destiny. It is through revelation that we learn why we are here, how we must live, what we must believe. It is through revelation...and not our own imagination... that we learn of the divine and omnipotent nature of God, the Creator of all things.

It is in the Bible, of course, that we read the history of revelation, which is also appropriately called the history of salvation. In the Book of Genesis of the Old Testament, we are told of the beginnings of revelation in God's dealings with the people of Israel. In the New Testament we find God again revealing Himself in the person of Jesus Christ.

God has revealed to us that we have an immortal soul—an eternal destiny. As St. Paul wrote: "Eye has not seen nor ear heard, nor has it entered the heart of man, what things God has prepared for those who love him" (1 Cor. 2:9). In revelation we find what God means by "those who love him."

We have just published a new pocket-size pamphlet discussing the history of revealed religion. It takes only a few minutes to read and will give you a new and fresh viewpoint on the God of revelation...and new help in formulating your own spiritual life.

We'll be happy to send you a copy of this pamphlet free upon request. There's no obligation and nobody will call on you. Write today...ask for Pamphlet No. KC-21 entitled "Lessons of Genesis."

WOMEN'S HEALTH

By Elizabeth Stewart
Women's Medical News Service
Prenatal Education
Cuts Birth Blues

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The more familiar a woman is with what's happening to her during pregnancy, labor, and delivery, the more apt she is to perform well when her time comes to give birth. This is what Dr. Harry S. Jonas, practicing obstetrician-gynecologist and associated with the University of Kansas Medical Center told Women's Medical News Service at a recent medical meeting here.

Perhaps the most important consequence of prenatal education, observed Dr. Jonas, is the enormous psychological boost it gives the prospective mother. As the mysteries and misconceptions of pregnancy are cleared up the realities of pregnancy and deliveries are faced with more equanimity. Too many women still believe they will lose a tooth with every child, or become depressed, or that the labor room is a torture chamber. In Dr. Jonas' experience, post-birth blues virtually disappear for the prenatally educated woman.

In the course of four sessions held during pregnancy, couples are taught the anatomy and physiology of conception and pregnancy, the importance of proper nutrition and exercise, the procedures of labor and delivery, anesthesics, infant care. All are taken on a tour of the actual labor and delivery rooms.

Prepared in this way the husband can be a great support to his wife, and she becomes less frightened, more cooperative. Dr. Jonas brings up the matter of family planning soon after the woman has given birth, and prescribes the pill on the first postpartum day. He does this because he is convinced that family planning is an integral part of first-class maternal health care.

How Children Affect Marriage
SAN JUAN, P. R. — Children affect their parents' relationship at least as much as parents affect their children. This was the consensus among sociologists and family life educators at a recent meeting here on the subject of how children affect marriage.

One Cornell University sociologist pointed out that studies show that an aggressive child can cause conflict between parents as they try to cope with the aggressiveness and to delve into its causes. Children even affect the amount of time their parents spend talking to each other, he said. And the subjects they discuss are also affected by the children. Parents talk less about sex, about personal feelings, about world events, more about discipline, about child care. The pre-schooler, one study showed, had a depressive effect upon marriage. Why? The experts speculated that at this age a child needs so much attention and emotional involvement with his parents that they had little left for each other. Courage. This seems to change when junior goes off to school. And begins to live his own life.

Menstruation Needs Hamper Sports
TURIN, Italy — With summer and the outdoors beckoning, and more opportunity for sports, comes a heartening report that neither menstruation nor having children need interfere with sports participation. A recent study of 66 women who took part in the Tokyo Olympics showed that they were not adversely affected either by menstruation or by having had children. Thirteen even reported feeling stronger and having greater stamina after childbirth. Most took part in training and meets during their periods.

Orioles Home For Weekend Games

The sound of booming bats and cheering crowds will be coming from Memorial Stadium this weekend in what should be a big holiday weekend of baseball.

The weather is finally spring-like. The Orioles are at home for a weekend series for the first time in a month. And, a big doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians is the Memorial Day attraction at the stadium.

The weekend series is a three-game series against the Boston Red Sox. The series opens with a Friday night game at 8 p.m., continues with a Saturday night game at 8 p.m., and a Sunday afternoon game at 2 p.m.

Bats should be booming because when last seen, Red Sox pitchers were peppered in Boston by the Orioles for 20 runs in two games. In the second game, Baltimore's belters slammed out a club record seven home runs including a record four in one inning.

Added attractions over the weekend include Westinghouse's annual Family Night on Saturday. This is an enjoyable family evening for Westinghouse employees, their friends, families, and guests.

Saturday night is also the third

Junior Oriole night of the season.

The Memorial Day doubleheader features the Birds and the Cleveland Indians in the first Baltimore appearance of the season for the Indians. The Indians feature a new manager in Joe Adcock; sluggers Rocky Colavito, Leon Wagner, and Chuck Hinton, and some of the hardest throwing pitchers in the American League led by the super-lefty Sam McDowell, Luis Tiant, and Steve Hargan.

Game time for the doubleheader is 2 p.m.

Promoted To Staff Sergeant

WESTHAMPTON BEACH, N.Y. — Michael J. Kelz, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kelz, of R.F.D. 2, Emmitsburg, Md., has been promoted to staff sergeant in the U. S. Air Force.

Sergeant Kelz is an air police supervisor at Suffolk County AFB, N. Y. He is a member of the Air Defense Command which protects the U. S. against enemy air attack.

The sergeant is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School.

His wife, Florence, is the daughter of retired Lt. Col. and Mrs. Paul Tepe of 30 Scarsdale Drive, Camp Hill, Pa.

Two generations ago a boy was lucky to have a goat to ride; nowadays it must be the latest sports automobile.

The outdoor life. Any indoor man will tell you how great it is. But only an outdoor man can tell you what it does to human skin. Constant sun dries skin out. Leathers it. Burns it over and over again. And that can be dangerous. If you are out in the sun a lot (or even if you're not), check into any sore that does not heal. Promptly. It could be a warning signal of cancer. And cancer is easier to cure when it's detected early. Lorne Greene knows the seven warning signals of cancer. So should you: 1. Unusual bleeding or discharge. 2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere. 3. A sore that does not heal. 4. Change in bowel or bladder habits. 5. Hoarseness or cough. 6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. 7. Change in a wart or mole. If a signal lasts longer than two weeks, see your doctor without delay. It makes sense to know the seven warning signals of cancer. It makes sense to give to the American Cancer Society up, King Omaha was a $44,494 winner last year and is trained by Jim Michael of Westbury, N. Y. Among the favored horses in this year's race will be Romulus Hanover, fresh from a 1:59.1 in the $178,064 Messenger Stakes, and Best of All, top two-year-old pacer here with John Chapman

Water Quality Has Wide Interest In State

Maryland's proposed program for the establishment and enforcement of water quality standards has been the subject of widespread interest and of occasional misconception. One such misconception is a belief that the enforcement of water quality standards as now proposed will require farmers to "fence in" all of the streams crossing pasture land so as to avoid any possibility of fecal matter from farm animals getting into the water. The fact is that the water quality standards program for Maryland will not impose such a requirement.

"It is NOT the intention of the State of Maryland to impose general restrictions on water use simply because a pollution problem might result." So spoke Mr. Paul W. McKee, Director of the Department of Water Resources, during a recent meeting with Senator Charles H. Smelser, who has expressed the concern of the farmers about the broad implications of the State's developing water quality effort.

They will reflect on the terrible waste of human life which is a direct result of the numerous wars fought over the years, and the Executive Director grieves with all Americans for the young men of this county who have given their lives for a purpose and a principle on the battlefields of Vietnam.

However, the fact that more Americans were killed in senseless slaughter on our Nation's highways during the first three months of this year than have been killed since the undertaking of the defense of Vietnam (1961) seems to impress very few. It is a terrible indictment of our American civilization that every time we have a weekend holiday, we pay for it with hundreds of human lives, he said.

Driving is a dangerous business, but certain simple safeguards can raise the chances of survival. Always wear seatbelts—don't drink and drive—don't drive after dark if you can avoid it—don't drive when sleepy or tired—practice courtesy and always keep the golden rule in mind—don't speed and constantly change lanes—drive with the flow of traffic and keep a safe distance behind the car in front—forget about your rights and take nothing for granted. In short, try not to drive under any adverse conditions, do not rely upon the cooperation of other drivers and be prepared for anything—drive defensively.

We can have the safest car it is possible to make, drive over the safest roadways it is possible to build, but until we have drivers with correct traffic attitudes, appreciations, understandings, habits and skills, we are sure to have more and more accidents and fatalities on our streets and highways.

REMEMBER ME?

HELLO, REMEMBER ME? Some people call me OLD GLORY, others call me the Stars and Stripes; also I have been referred to as the Star-Spangled Banner. But whatever they call me, I am your flag, or as I proudly state, the flag of the United States of America. There is something that has been bothering me, so I thought that I might talk it over with you. Because it is about you and me.

I remember sometime ago—I think it was Memorial Day—people were lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade. The town's high school band was behind me and naturally I was leading the parade. When your daddy saw me coming along waving in the breeze, he immediately removed his hat and placed it against his left shoulder so that his hand was directly over his heart. Remember?

And you—I remember you. Standing there as straight as a soldier, you didn't have any hat but you were giving the right salute. They taught you in school to place your hand over your heart. Remember little sister—not to be outdone, she was saluting the same as you. I was very proud as I came down your street. There were some soldiers home on leave and they were standing at attention giving the military salute. Ladies as well as men all paying me the reverence that I deserve.

Now I may sound as if I am a little conceited . . . Well, I am. I have a right to be. Because I represent the finest country in the world, the United States of America. More than one aggressive nation has tried to haul me down but they all felt the fury of this freedom-loving country. You know. You had to go overseas and defend me.

What happened. I'm still the same old flag. Oh, I have a couple more stars added since you were a boy. A lot more blood has been shed since the Memorial Day so long ago. Dad is gone now. The old home town has a new look. The last time I came down your street I saw that some of the old landmarks were gone, but in their place, shining majestically in the sun, were a number of new buildings and homes. Yes sir, the old town sure has changed.

But now I don't feel as proud as I used to. When I come down your street, you just stand there with your hands in your pockets and give me a small glance and then look away. When I think of all places I have been, Anzio, Guadalcanal, Korea—and now, Vietnam. Then I see the children running around and shouting. They don't seem to know who I am. I saw one man take his hat off and then look around. He didn't see anybody else with theirs off so he quickly put his back on.

Is it a sin to be patriotic any more?.. Have you forgotten what I stand for? Have you forgotten all the battlefields where men fought and died to keep this nation free? When you salute me, you are actually saluting them.

Take a look at the Memorial Honor Rolls sometime. Look at the names of those that never came back. Some of them were friends or relatives of yours. Probably went to the same school with some of them. That's what you are saluting. Not me.

Well it won't be long until I'll be coming down your street again. So when you see me, stand straight, place your hand over your heart and you'll really see me waving back—my salute to you. And I'll know that you remembered.

Mount Alumnus Heads Museum Committee

Rev. Leo Conti, an alumnus of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, and pastor of the Old Cathedral in Vincennes, Ind., will head the library-museum committee which will revive the heroic story of the frontier under a special $150,000 grant from the Lilly Foundation, Inc., Indianapolis. The work is of special significance to Father Conti's Alma Mater and the early history of Maryland since the period and publications to be restored and catalogued are primarily from the library of Bishop Simon Brute, first bishop of Vincennes and the "Angel Guardian of Mt. St. Mary's" with which he was associated from its founding in the early 1800's. Bishop Brute was the spiritual advisor to Blessed Elizabeth Ann Seton, foundress of St. Joseph College, and the parochial school system in this country.

Brute came to Baltimore from his native France and accepted the chair of professor of philosophy at the Mount in 1812. During his tenure at the Mount, prior to his elevation to the hierarchy, he brought his library to this country from France, totaling some 5,000 volumes; many of these make up the nucleus of the collection found at the Old Cathedral in Vincennes.

Bishop Brute, whose early training was in medicine, was called "the most learned man of his day in America" by John Quincy Adams. At one time, every Roman Catholic Bishop in the U. S. had been a pupil of his.

Scholars and churchmen have recognized the significant contributions which he made to the frontier life of what we now refer to as the Midwest. The "village of Chicago" on the shores of Lake Michigan, were served by him via horseback.

Under the grant, the new library will provide space for students and scholars to continue research and the museum will give the many tourists visiting the area an opportunity to view documents and other artifacts dating from this period of early American history.

School Registration Not Completed

The 23 public elementary schools in Frederick County have held registrations for the September, 1967 class of first graders.

Over 1,500 children have been counted to date but it is believed there are more children in the county who have not yet been registered.

The Board of Education requests that if any family has a child that has not been enrolled for the next school year, the parent should contact the school in their attendance district during regular school hours.

Girl Scouts Plan Summer Camp

Registrations are now being accepted for the Girl Scout Summer Day Camp. The Day Camp will be located on the newly acquired campsite near Mt. Pleasant. Mrs. Herman Brust, Jr. will serve as Day Camp director, a post she has held the past two years. The business manager will be Mrs. W. Harry Moss.

The days for the camp will be July 31 through Aug. 10. Girl Scout Day Camp operates on a four-day week, Monday through Thursday, for a two-week period. Girls will be members of troop size units which will plan and carry out their own camp program under the direction of adult leadership. Emphasis is placed on appreciation and love of nature and enjoyment of outdoor living. Girls will learn skills that will enable them to live comfortably in the outdoors.

A special unit for Cadette Scouts will be offered. In this unit girls will spend the second week of the camp season sleeping out for three nights. This unit also is open to sixth grade girls who will enter the Cadette program in the fall. Cadette Girl Scouts are 7th, 8th and 9th graders. Regular units are planned for younger Scouts.

The Day Camp is open to Brownie Scouts who are entering the third grade and Junior Girl Scouts who are 4th, 5th and 6th grade girls. Registrations are being accepted at the Frederick Field Station, 106 Frederick Shopping Center, Frederick, Md.

Girls will be transported to the camps by bus. Space is limited therefore girls who wish to attend Day Camp should make every effort to complete an early registration.

EHS Students Enjoy May Day Program

May Day festivities were the order of hour last Friday at Emmitsburg High School.

The annual celebration, the only May Day remaining in county schools, was driven indoors by the inclement weather but still brought a holiday atmosphere to the school for the afternoon.

Highlighting the celebration was the procession of the May Queen and her court, followed by the crowning. Principal Paul Stroup placed the coronet on Queen Linda Keilholz.

Attending her majesty were courtiers Gloria Schill, escorted by Mike Smith; Joan McNair, escorted by Arthur Bankard; Carolyn Wierman, escorted by Dennis Bolin; Joyce Kline, escorted by John Maddox; Edith Martin, escorted by James Seiss; Betty Tokar, escorted by Phil Valentine; Rachel Watkins, escorted by Forrest Knipple; Darlyn Valentine, escorted by Stanley Andrew; Edna Misner, escorted by Robert Stone-sifer, and Diane Reaver, escorted

Flies Home

Lance Corporal Linda Lou Trent, who is stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif. with the United States Marines Corps for Women, flew home recently for a 15-day leave with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Green and family. Linda spent Mother's Day at the home of her brother, Leonard M. Trent, Orrtanna. She also visited several days with her sister, Marlene Springer of Emmitsburg Rl. Linda will leave Friday to fly back to California.

Treated For Injuries

William J. Rogers, 18, Emmitsburg, was treated at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, for a cut on his right thigh received Friday while he was working.

Also treated Saturday was Thomas 'Woody' Stoner, 28, of Waynesboro, for an injury to his left index finger sustained while he was playing baseball in Fairfield Saturday afternoon.

by Lewis Masser.

Following the coronation, grade school students presented a program ending with the winding of the traditional Maypole by sixth graders. The Band and Glee Club provided music for the occasion. Also included in the program was a fashion show, featuring styles constructed and modeled by junior and senior girls and men's wear from The Village Shop in Gettysburg.

May Day 1967 came to a close at 3:30 with a social hour and tea sponsored by the school's chapter of Future Homemakers of America.

In Appreciation

We wish to take this opportunity to express our heartfelt appreciation to the many friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness shown us during the recent bereavement of our beloved husband and father. Also those who expressed their sympathy, sent Mass cards and flowers.
