Weekend

Weather Forecast

Warm Friday and Saturday, turning a little cooler Sunday. Some rain expected during the period.

Most Anything At A Glance

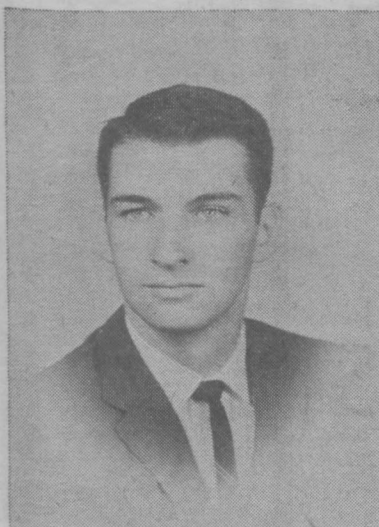

BY ABIGAIL

While it is far too early to say with any degree of finality, indications are that we may be facing another dry summer. The month of May was almost normal as far as rainfall went, but June appears to be the kick-off of another dry spell. Two rains this month haven't given us half the precipitation normally associated with the month and it is well over two-thirds gone.

At long last it appears almost certain now that construction will commence on the new consolidated school for the northern section of Frederick County. Law-suits and delays have been a bugaboo for several years but this week it appeared almost certain that the County Commissioners and the School Board would concur with their ideas and that contracts would be let soon and the work begun. The Thurmont school is presently overcrowded and the Emmitsburg school, one of the oldest in the County, has been overtaxing its capacity for many years. The new school will alleviate this over-capacity situation and will offer students from this end of the County a broader curriculum and many other advantages that otherwise never would have been received. There is only one undesirable aspect of the situation and that is the location of the new school. It was hoped to locate it midway between Emmitsburg and Thurmont but that idea was thwarted by the powers that be and the school now will be located northwest of Thurmont. Mileage-wise though there should not be much inconvenience as it should take but 10 short minutes to reach the school from Emmitsburg. The badgering is over and the contract is about to be let and this should end all opposition for many years to come.

There is never a housing boom in Emmitsburg but there is a slow but steady number of houses going up around here annually. Presently no less than half a dozen are under construction with most of them out of the Corporate limits of the Town. This has to be this way because there are few, if any building lots right in Emmitsburg anymore. Much of the area on the corporate limits has been bought up by speculators and appears "frozen" for years to come. Most of the houses being built today appear to be on the Keysville Road, Toms Creek Church Road, the Old Frederick Road and the Tract Road. Considerable growth in these areas has been registered the past five years.

'Woody' Stoner Receives Degree

A former Emmitsburg resident, now residing in Waynesboro, Thomas J. Stoner, received his master's degree in special education last week from the George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Stoner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Donald Stoner, Emmitsburg, and is a graduate of Mt. St. Mary's College, where he received his bachelor of science degree.

He is married to the former Miss Barbara Bowers, and they live at Mt. Vernon Terrace in Waynesboro. Mr. Stoner has accepted a position with the Washington County (Md.) School System for the coming year.

Julie Ann Meier Becomes Bride

Miss Julie Ann Meier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willy Meier, Oxon Hill, Maryland, became the bride of Mr. Allan Austin Beale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Latimer Beale, Emmitsburg, in a double ring ceremony at Faith Lutheran Church, Oxon Hill, Md., on June 17. The Reverend Richard E. Manning officiated. Special music was sung by Mr. Robert Sisson with Mrs. Edward Palikas organist.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Bolling Air Force Base Officer's Club.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a long cape gown of net with appliques of lace, and her matching chapel train was bordered in satin. Her veil was of silk illusion flowing from a rose of net petals. The bride carried a prayer book with white carnations, and her only jewelry was her maternal grandmother's lavaliere.

Miss Carolyn Meier, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a long mint green linen dress with gathered back panel, and her headpiece was of mint organza petals. She carried a cascade of turquoise carnations. Similarly gowned in turquoise were her bridesmaids, Misses Deborah Meier, Dolly Finch, Mary Virginia Lerman, and Mrs. Paul L. Beale. Each carried a cascade of mint green carnations. Little Cheryl Anne Spain, in a long turquoise dress trimmed with velvet mint green ribbon, was her flower girl.

Mr. Carl Espeland acted as best man. Ushers were Mr. Joseph Beale, Mr. Paul Beale, Jr., Mr. Horace Beale and Mr. Michael Heck.

Mrs. Meier chose for her daughter's wedding an apricot silk dress with matching lace coat. Her corsage was of green cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Beale wore a royal blue satin and nylon tulle dress with matching accessories, and a corsage of yellow cymbidium orchids.

The couple will make their home in Gaithersburg, Maryland, after a short honeymoon in New York.

Earl Tracey Heads Police In Thurmont

Thurmont officials this week announced the appointment of a new police chief, and at the same time, the resignation of one of its two police officers.

Earl F. Tracey, 33, a former security guard at Mt. St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, and Maryland State Trooper, began his duties immediately. Tracey will be taking over the reins from former chief Richard E. Howard, a veteran law enforcement officer who had been the town's chief since last August.

Howard is to remain on the Thurmont force, filling the vacancy created by the resignation last month of George R. Culler, a former turnkey at the Frederick County Jail and Brunswick policeman.

Most people fail to understand other people's problems because they never take time to consider them.

Senior Citizens

Presented Award

Forty-odd Senior Citizens met at the Center Tuesday evening for the regular monthly meeting. The program was in charge of Corrie V. Douglass of the Frederick County Heart Assn., and Dr. Morningstar of Emmitsburg. Mrs. Douglass showed a film entitled "Odds for a Longer Life," which proved both interesting and instructive. Dr. Morningstar then followed with a discussion and question and answer period on Care of the Heart. He placed emphasis on what the individual himself can do to prevent and help heart troubles. Proper diet, less cigarette smoking (or none at all), reasonable amount of exercise, and regular physical examinations by a doctor. His advice was to live as long as you can in the best way possible, stay alive and enjoy life longer.

After the program, Mrs. Douglass presented the Senior Citizens Club with a Certificate of Appreciation from the Frederick County Heart Assn., "For outstanding service in advancing the program of the Frederick County Heart Assn. in its fight against diseases of the heart and circulation and strokes." She particularly extended thanks to Mr. Louis Stoner for his part in covering this section of the county.

Warner Hospital

Raises Salaries; Rates

Directors of the Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, at their regular monthly meeting last week, adopted a new schedule of pay rates at the hospital and, at the same time made appropriate increases in the hospital room rates.

The new pay schedule which becomes effective in the first pay period of July, brings the level of all personnel to that prevailing in hospitals in the area. Adjustments in hospital room rates, to meet the cost of the new pay scale, become effective July 1.

In presenting the new pay schedule, which was adopted unanimously, by the directors, Richard W. Livingston, New Oxford, chairman of the personnel committee, stated: "The pay rates of professional personnel and those highly trained in technical procedures have increased sharply in hospitals all over the country."

"This matter has been given many days of study by the personnel, the finance and the executive committee of the Warner Hospital. The schedule we recommend for adoption expresses our confidence in all our personnel, our belief that their professional training and achievement entitle them to prevailing rates of the area, and that the best interests of the Warner Hospital are served by establishing pay levels that will enable it to continue to attract trained personnel who are dedicated to the profession of hospital service."

It was announced that the new room rate schedule is also comparable to that of other hospitals in the area.

New Bid Is Okayed For High School

The new consolidated Thurmont High School took another step towards reality this week when the Frederick County School Board okayed the second bid on the school this year. The first bid submitted was considered too high and the bids were resubmitted.

The Board approved the project by a 4-1 vote this week at a joint meeting held with the County Commissioners.

Charles Collins, president of the county commissioners said, "I'd vote for it and I think the commissioners will approve it."

The total bid amount approved Monday is $2,483,514.

The two boards met and almost immediately called an executive session on the request of superintendent of schools, Dr. John L. Carnochan. The meeting lasted over an hour.

When it was opened the school board voted its approval, with only Chris T. Matthews casting a negative vote.

Matthews said he was against the school because it would have no windows. He believes this would cause a fire hazard.

According to a spokesman, difficulty arose over a fifth of nine alternates, a sprinkler system.

In a letter at the last school board meeting, Thurmont officials said they could supply 250 gallons of water per minute for the system.

But the state fire marshal, J. C. Robertson had told the board earlier that he does not believe this is possible. He also said that 500 gallons of water per minute would be required.

This means, a spokesman said, some type of water storage or pressure tank would be needed to get the extra supply.

One possibility is a combination outdoor storage tank - swimming pool, but no action was taken.

Collins has said earlier that he would not be in favor of a pool.

Because of legal technicalities on the order and consideration of alternates, the board could not approve the last four alternates.

The alternates approved were vinyl tile, carpet, a quarter-mile track and landscaping.

The bid was the second one approved this year by the school board. An earlier one had been rejected by the commissioners.

According to Carnochan the only difference between the two proposed buildings is that the new building doesn't have a 15,000-square foot wing. The wing would have included an indoor swimming pool and room for up to eight classrooms.

Before the contract is awarded, the bid must be approved by the commissioners and the plans by the state board of public works. The state will supply the county with $183,000 for vocational funds.

Collins said that at the meeting the two boards reached, "a closeness we've never reached before."

Those voting for the bids were Mrs. Mary Hodgson, Ross V. Smith, Richard R. Kline and Galen C. Smith. Dr. Harold E. Schaden was not at the meeting.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Michael, R2, Emmitsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Jean, to Stephen F. Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Little, Emmitsburg.

Miss Michael is a 1966 graduate of St. Joseph High School and is presently employed by Moore Business Forms, Thurmont.

Mr. Little is also a graduate of St. Joseph High School and is presently employed by State Farm Insurance, Frederick.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Firemen's Parade Pictures

Emmitsburg's early June parade sponsored by the Vigilant Hose Co. in conjunction with the Indian Lookout Conservation Club's annual carnival, gets under way with the Town officials' car in the lead. Shown at top is the lead car with Mayor Guy A. Baker, Jr., and Commissioner Quinn F. Topper. The other Town Commissioners, Samuel C. Hays, Clarence P. Wachter and J. Ralph McDonnell, followed.

One of the outstanding twirling units in the parade was the Golden Lancer troop from Hagerstown which was among the prize winners.

"Our very own" gave us proud moments as the Emmitsburg Municipal Band strutted proudly in the line of march playing spirited marches. They really looked good.

This unit caused great applause as it rounded the Square on its way to parade formation. This drum and bugle corps came all the way from Winchester, Virginia.

The parade was not without its antiques. The Rocky Ridge Fire Co. proudly drove by in its first pumping outfit which it purchased from Emmitsburg many years ago. Model T Ford was driven by Mr. Stine of Taneytown, R2.

Ashes Cause Fire In Thurmont Bank

Smouldering ashes led to a fire in the basement of the Thurmont Bank Sunday morning which drove out several families living overhead.

Both the Thurmont and Emmitsburg Fire Companies responded to the call.

The fire started when ashes, which were piled up in a corner, dropped down a partition between the coal and ash bin, Robert Wilhide, a lieutenant at Thurmont said.

Some of the ashes began to smoulder as early as Saturday night starting the fire, which spread to the ceiling, Wilhide added.

But there was no major damage to the bank itself, said Ernest P. Hammaker, president. It was more smoke than fire and any damage that was done was minor, he continued.

Residents were evacuated from apartments over the bank, but no one was injured.

Identifying The Aggressor

Hitler rose to power through the practice of the Big Lie, to win appeasement gifts and to weaken, fracture and ultimately destroy opposition. When the thoroughly fooled world woke up to his colossal deceit it was too late then to escape World War II; his position of great military strength, built on appeasement victories won by the Big Lie and cunning propaganda, nearly spelled doom for the rest of the world. The Communists today are advancing across the map of the world, using the Big Lie and overcoming opposition by winning appeasement victories just as Hitler did.

How long can so many of our people—some extremely influential—be fooled? Long enough to fatally weaken our nation? This question drives directly to the heart of today's "Great Debate" on the war in Vietnam. With their advances in southeast Asia so important to their world-wide ambitions (as was Danzig in Poland, the Studententland in Czechoslovakia, and Austria to Hitler's) the international Red conspirators have thrown all their resources and cunning into efforts to divide and fracture America in our attitude toward the war in Vietnam.

Winning Through Fraud

If they could amass sufficient public support for overruling our present determined stand against Communist aggression into South Vietnam, and then wedge their way deeper into southeast Asia, World Communism would have a victory almost as great as the victory in China in 1949, made possible by a similar Big Lie campaign in America; and equal to the victory in Cuba in 1959, which was due largely to their masterpiece of propaganda—gaining acceptance in America of the fraudulent Castro, thus making it possible for the Reds to capture Cuba.

Their Big Lie about Vietnam has gone a long way towards creating policy turmoil in the highest echelons of war management in Washington. It has created in many "friendly" nations bothersome opposition to American policy. The Communists' Big Lie about Vietnam says that it is a "civil war" which arose internally and not through the instigation of Communist North Vietnam, or Red China, or Soviet Russia (all of which now are visibly engaged against us there). They are helped in spreading the Big Lie by the fact that in the beginning there was no military invasion from North to South as had occurred in Korea in 1950.

Open And Disguised Aggression
When Communist North Korea, using Russian tanks, planes and other armament, suddenly invaded South Korea on June 25, 1950, it was like a thunder-clap rolling across America and the free world. President Truman, the Congress, and the American people, recognizing our commitment to South Korea and the danger to the whole world of letting aggression go unchallenged, were unified in the decision to go to South Korea's aid.

(World Communism later won a "stalemate" victory in Korea by brandishing the propaganda threat of "World War III" if America attacked the troop and weapons sanctuaries which permitted the Korean Reds to stay in the war.)

The war in Vietnam, on the other hand, started with the Communists conducting a surreptitious guerrilla strategy, which had worked so successfully for Castro's Communists in Cuba. The Reds had organized the Vietcong (disguised as a native revolt against a "bad" government) as their spearhead of takeover. Pulling the strings behind the scenes were the planners, the managers, the tacticians of guerrilla warfare sent into South Vietnam from Communist North Korea and Red China. North Vietnamese armies came in—armed by the Chinese and Soviet arsenals—as had been planned, in event the Vietnamese faltered.

The True Facts
America is no more the aggressor in the Vietnam war than she was in the Korean war. Yet the Communists and their fellow travelers and dupes in America and throughout the world have persuaded a lot of people that we are the aggressors, that we should not be challenging the Red advance in Vietnam, that it is after all nothing but internal struggle among South Vietnamese—the same Big Lie they told about Castro's advance to take over Cuba for World Communism.

Are the voices in influential places in America who are peddling this proposition really fooled—or do they understand the facts and want to camouflage them to fool the American people? This question, and the identity of the actual aggressor ought to be explored by every citizen for himself; every citizen needs to go back into the history of the last 25 years and examine the many techniques of conquest employed by the Communists (and how they and their helpers have fooled so many people) to gain control of nearly half the world's population and to become the second most powerful military power on earth. A recent book, The Politics of Surrender, by M. Stanton Evans (Devin-Adair, N. Y.) carries a full documented report of this period.

Southern States Meeting Planned

The local Southern States Cooperative annual membership meeting for the Emmitsburg area will be held August 9.

This decision was made by local farmer-members at a recent annual meeting planning conference held by Emmitsburg Feed and Farm Supply, a cooperative service agency of Southern States Cooperative.

Special features of this year's session will be the reports on Southern States Cooperative and the local Agency operations for the fiscal year which ends June 30.

In addition there will be elections and other business matters. Members will elect two new board members and two new farm home advisory committee members.

Helen Keller Celebrates 87th Birthday

Helen Keller, one of the most admired and honored women of all time, will celebrate her 87th birthday on June 27. Miss Keller, world-famous for her triumph over blindness and deafness, will mark the day quietly with close friends and family at her home in Connecticut.

The graduation of a deaf-blind person from a university was considered a miracle in 1904 when Helen Keller received her degree from Radcliffe. Since that time she has devoted the major part of her life to helping other blind and deaf-blind persons in this country and throughout the world.

Although she is unable to participate so actively today, she maintains her interest in the work of the American Foundation for the Blind and the Helen Keller World Crusade for the Blind. These two organizations, headquartered in New York City, continue the programs which Miss Keller pioneered in providing blind and deaf-blind people with the opportunities for education and a full, independent life.

Through her travels for these organizations over six continents she met most of the leaders of our time, all of whom have felt the wonder and warmth that she inspires. Countless others have learned of her attainments through her books, which have been translated into more than 50 languages, and school children in all corners of the globe study her life story.

Mayors, governors, presidents and prime ministers are expected to send congratulations to Miss Keller on June 27. Others will honor her by supporting the programs for blind people which she led for many years.

VACATION DRIVING SAFETY

Each vacation season, Americans begin checking tires, batteries, windshield wipers and brakes, preparing to hit the road. Thorough checkup of car and trailer is vital before extended mileage on highways and back country roads. Sentry Insurance suggests a checklist. Some items to start your list are:

- TIRES—Look for slow leaks. Carry a spare.
- FLARES—Keep several moisture-proof wrapped. A strong beam lantern is best on hard shoulders.
- BRAKES—Have standard and emergency system checked by qualified mechanic.
- WIPERS—Insect splatter, dust, mud or tree resin can blot out effective visibility on short notice. Worn blades can be deadly. Make sure you have wiper fluid.
- EMERGENCY FLASHERS—Your double-duty friend in distress: An SOS and a warning to traffic.

Sentry procedure for breakdowns in evening and dusk:

- (1) Get your auto off the road quickly.
- (2) Turn on flashers, set up lamps or flares about 75 feet behind your car.
- (3) Raise the hood. Tie a white cloth to the aerial.
- (4) Phone or send for help via a passing motorist.
- (5) Get in the car, lock doors and wait for help.

Don't change a tire on the side nearest traffic, without wide margin between the road and your car.

BABSON

Writes . . .

Babson's Point Of View On:

Farm Land Values

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 22—Prices for farm land are still trending up. The question is: Will they continue to rise—and, if so, how fast? At this writing, the odds favor higher quotes on average, but no sharp boosts from current levels.

Bullish Factors

For the nation as a whole, demand for farm land continues fairly strong, buttressed by rising food needs here and abroad as well as by the trend toward larger, highly mechanized farms. Although the national birth rate has declined considerably in very recent years, the number of people reaching marriageable age is rising rapidly. Hence, although the current tendency is toward small families, there will be a greater number of families and our population will continue to grow.

Perhaps the most important bullish factor in the farm land picture is the limited availability of such land. During the past 20 years, there has been a tremendous outpouring of our people from urban areas to the outer suburbs. Industry, too, has moved from the inner cities and their immediate environs to establish itself in what were once rural areas devoted chiefly to farming. Farm land has also been encroached upon by expanding highways, and the end of this is not yet in sight. As farm acreage becomes further compressed—other things being equal—the line of least price resistance ought to be up.

Bearish Factors

However, in business as in life, "other things" are not always equal and so it is necessary to examine the other side of the coin. Most observers agree that farm land values—though seemingly well supported at present—would give ground in time of general economic recession. We also believe that, in the next year or two, the uptrend in prices of and demand for agricultural real estate will be slowed appreciably because of rising taxes and other costs, the likelihood of smaller capital gains, and the probability that crop yields may not continue to increase at recent rates.

Of course, you can expect sporadic weakening of farm land values in selected areas, either because of local economic conditions or because the land itself is of poor quality. And from time to time there will still be distress sales of farm property, occasioned by the effect of sharp competition or by uncontrollable circumstances.

Gentle Price Upswing

Time was when prices of farm land moved up or down pretty much in sympathy with changing trends in farm income,—the land price movements usually lagging a bit behind changes in income. But the steady whittling away of farm acreage and the move toward larger, more efficient production units has changed all that so that today farm land prices are not tied so closely to farm income.

No matter what happens to farmers' income in the next couple of years, agricultural land prices should be at least well maintained. And the probability is that we shall see a gentle upswing, reflecting the steadily dwindling supply of such land and the continuing trend toward larger farms.

What To Do

This does not mean that all who are now farming will profit if they hold their land. It does mean, however, that in the long run you should sit tight . . . if you now have a going farm operation, sufficiently large to permit you to make profitable use of modern mechanized equipment, and if you are in good health and happy on the land.

Those who no longer feel equal to the still harsh demands of farm management and large-scale soil tilling might consider leasing the bulk of their land. Demand for long-term farm leases on a cash basis is expanding rapidly. Such cash leases can provide the landlord a steady income that will not vary with the management ability of the renter or with the vagaries of the weather.

Unwed Fathers Assume Responsibilities

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A majority of young men who get girls pregnant out of wedlock are neither irresponsible nor casual about their obligations to the girls and their babies. Almost two-thirds of them, a recent study shows, contributed voluntarily to the support of both at some time during the 18 months after the baby's birth. More than half the men also kept in touch with the mothers during that period.

These conclusions, which cast such a different light on the nature of men involved in out-of-wedlock births, are the result of a study of 262 unwed mothers made by Mignon Sauber, research director of the Community Council of Greater New York. The unwed father, Miss Sauber notes, "is certainly not a phantom in the lives of these new mothers. For the majority he is still a personal associate; is frequently sharing a home with them and even more frequently is helping financially . . ."

Miss Sauber interviewed the unwed mothers from the time of their hospital confinement through the baby's fifth, twelfth, and eighteenth month birthdays. The young women, about 20 years old on the average, are considered typical of those who plan to keep and rear their out-of-wedlock children, a group accounting for about 35 per cent of all New York City illegitimate births each year.

Not Casual Encounters

These pregnancies were not, for the most part, a result of casual encounters. Most of the mothers (62 per cent) had met the fathers through friends or relatives, with a sizeable minority meeting at school or at work. Only a small number—about eight percent—were pickups. These were more common among girls under 17 and women over 25 years of age.

By the time of confinement, more than half the girls had known the fathers for at least two years (or a year prior to conception). A third of the girls knew the men at least a year but less than two years. Only one out of 10 girls had known the fathers less than one year, or just a short time before conception.

Whether or not a man contributed to the support of his child depended in large part on whether or not he was working, the study showed. Three-fourths of the employed fathers were contributing when the child was a year and a half old, even though the majority of them earned only between $50 and $99 a week. Fewer than half the unemployed men, on the other hand, gave the mothers financial help. The study concludes, "If more of these fathers had jobs, more of them might help."

Age Important Factor

How much responsibility a man assumes for the girl and his baby depends somewhat upon how old he is. And interestingly enough the older the man the less the responsibility assumed. About 25 per cent of men aged 30 or over "took off" during the pregnancy period and were not seen again in a year and a half, while only 14 per cent of men under 20 did so.

This study supports previous findings that unwed fathers are more emotionally involved with the women they impregnate than is popularly believed.

To Eliminate

Thurmont 'Eyesores'

Town officials of Thurmont are taking action to eliminate "eyesores" in the community under newly acquired condemnation powers.

C. Ray Weddle, Jr., mayor of Thurmont, said three properties are safety hazards and nothing but eyesores to the community.

The properties involved are the old canning factory owned by Jenkins Brothers in the northern section of town; the old ice plant located off East Main Street and owned by Hillside Farms, and a house on North Church Street, owned by Gilmore R. Flautt.

meeting, Commissioner William H. Benjamin had prepared letters informing the three property owners of the town's decision.

The letters call for demolition or substantial improvements to the old ice plant and house, and order destruction of the old canning factory.

According to the ordinance passed in April, the property owners have ten days to comply with the town's notice. If the notice is not complied with in that period of time, a $50 fine is levied against the owner.

The two other major sources of income will be $64,250 from local taxes and $44,450 from state shared taxes.

Major expenditures for the coming year will be $48,099 for general government expenses, including $29,359 for the debt service and $13,140 for office operation.

Other large expenditures include $76,025 for the operation of streets and highways; $1,850 for public safety; and $30,500 for other expenditures, such as donations and retirement benefits and insurance for town employees.

Brunswick Budget Sets Record

Brunswick Town officials Tuesday night adopted a $241,884 budget for the coming fiscal year.

The largest budget in the town's history, it was nearly $18,000 more than last year's budget.

Main revenue for the community is from service charges, which include water and sewer, totalling $94,300.

PROMOTES TRAFFIC SAFETY

The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission is charged by law to "promote traffic safety," and it is the duty of each member to have serious traffic violations brought to the attention of police authorities for proper action, Attorney General Francis B. Burch has ruled.

"The efforts of the Commission to bring home to errant drivers their mistakes and the dangers involved," he declared, "are a valuable contribution to the cause of traffic safety."

"We have no doubt that it is proper for members of the Commission to take notice of traffic violations and to cause these violations to be brought to the attention of the offenders."

The ruling was made in response to a request from Aldrie R. Bird, Chairman of the Commission, after some doubt was raised by police officials as to the legality of notifying drivers of violations noted and liability of the Commission members in doing so.

Chairman Bird said that in one instance, a driver observed making a serious violation, had threatened to sue the member for reporting him.

Subsequently, another driver charged with reckless driving, was summoned to Traffic Court and found guilty.

The Attorney General ruled: "The question is almost academic, arising only in the extraordinary event of the swearing out of a warrant of arrest by a Commission member."

Small boats by the hundreds of thousands are back in the water this month, freshly scraped and painted after a winter of storage.

In the deep South many boating fans are on the water most of the winter, but in most of the nation June is the season to get back on the lakes and streams.

Boating accidents are becoming more prevalent each season, as more comparative amateurs acquire boats and take to the water. Pamphlets on boating safety are available in many sporting goods stores and at boat and motor dealers. If you have a boat, and even if you think you know how to handle it, play it safe; get a safety booklet and study it.

Common sense and good manners are cardinal safety principles in boating. Show respect for other boats, swimmers and fishermen. It doesn't take much knowledge of boating to know that a big lake on a windy day can be dangerous for small craft.

Know the capacity of your boat and don't overload it. Don't stand up or change seats in a small craft while it is under way. Make certain your boat contains life preservers for each passenger. Life jackets are an excellent idea for small children and non-swimmers.

Only an irresponsible skipper will buzz a dock, wharf or anchored craft. You may miss. Reduce speed through anchorages. Your wake can damage other property. Avoid boating too close to water skiers, fishermen and other boats. Don't jump or dive from a moving boat. You may have the breath knocked out of you, or hit floating debris.

Stay within easy range of the shore on large bodies of water. Sudden squalls can play havoc with the unwary boatsman. If your boat overturns, stay with it. The chances are that sooner or later someone will pick you up.

Open House At Naval Air Station

If you want to get in on the action of one of the biggest events of the year, mark Saturday, July 15, on your calendar.

That's the date set for the annual Open House and Air Show at the Patuxent River Naval Air Station.

The Navy's famed "Blue Angels" and the Flying Professor with his mad-hatter aerobatic act are back to headline this year's show.

The Blue Angels, who thrilled some 90,000 visitors from the Maryland-Virginia-Washington, D. C. area at last year's extravaganza, will put on a spectacular eyelevel show of their world famous diamond formation with a 14-foot wing overlap at speeds of 170-500 miles per hour.

The Blues also will feature two solo pilots who demonstrate the maximum performance flight characteristics of the group's F-11A "Tigers" while the main formation reverses course. During their maneuvers the two solos demonstrate their first-in-the-world super-sonic "back to back" formation with the top man inverted and the other one underneath.

As a thrilling contrast to the Blues, the Flying Professor begins his hilarious act by asking very kindly to borrow a small stock Piper Cub to prove his theory that anyone can learn to fly by reading his "How To Fly" book. He is refused permission but manages to steal the plane anyway, losing his book in the process.

All aerodynamic reason is cast aside, when on one wheel and dragging a wing, the Professor somehow gets the plane up. He then executes a series of stalls, dives, and his own special barrel roll with a snap loop at the bottom, while dangling his arms and legs over the side and calling for help.

As if these maneuvers aren't enough, the fantastic "aero-wit" manages to recover from a spin, bounce on one wheel, and scrape a wingtip while making a parachute-braked landing in front of the spectator area.

In addition, the Paratuxents, the station's own skydiving club, will demonstrate breathtaking, freefall leaps from 12,500 feet, execute several loops and crisscrosses, pop their chutes at 2500 feet, and maneuver themselves to pre-determined landing zones right in front of the spectators. It is not unusual for a member to land directly upon a six inch disc placed in the center of the regular competition target.

A major portion of the down-to-earth action will be supplied and admission is free.

The air station is located southeast of Waldorf, Md., in St. Mary's County on Highway 235.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

Jeered, Now Cheered

The color and excitement of Thoroughbred racing make it a natural for live coverage by TV. But televised racing would be impossible were it not for the automatic starting gate which insures that a race gets off before the show has to go off the air. Such was not always the case. In days well within the memory of many, delays of 10 or 15 minutes were common, and on one occasion the field for the American Derby milled about for an hour and a half before they were off.

While "starting stalls" were mentioned in Showman's description of chariot races in "Rome and the Romans", it remained for a Canadian trainer named Mark Cowell to come up with a workable starting gate for Thoroughbreds. The first use of the gate on this continental was at Whittier Park at St. Boniface, Manitoba on June 2, 1939, according to Bruce Boreham, publicity director at Winnipeg's Assiniboia Downs, who is working on a history of racing in Manitoba.

Horsemen and track officials, with one exception, took a dim view of Cowell's idea. The exception was the late R. James Speers, who fortunately happened to be General Manager of Western Canada racing. Speers financed the installation of the gate at Whittier Park and used it throughout the Western Canadian circuit that year. Once demonstrated as practicable the gate caught on, and today, with many electronic and structural refinements, what was once jokingly called the "saloon-door starter" is taken for granted in the U. S. and Canada, and this year will be put into general use in England.

"I Believe in God... ISN'T THAT ENOUGH?"

Some people seem to think so. They'll tell you they believe in a Supreme Being. But they have no religion . . . belong to no church . . . feel no need for religious worship.

They are convinced by their own logic and reason that there must be a supernatural power. For what else could explain the marvels of the universe . . . the origin of life . . . the unique nature of man? This sort of belief, however, represents a minimum recognition of our Creator . . . a minimum understanding of divine truths . . . a minimum effort to learn the most important thing in our lives.

The wonders of the universe undoubtedly show forth the existence of God. But, they do not establish it to everyone's satisfaction. The unique nature of man suggests our possession of an immortal soul. But such proof is not immediately evident to everyone.

The clearest proofs we have concerning God are those He reveals to us. And the channel of His revelation is religion. Through the prophets, through the Bible, through the Church — He manifests Himself to us in ways we can understand.

He doesn't leave us to guess and theorize about Himself, or ourselves. He tells us what to believe — and why. Without religion we can only conjecture. As members of the family of God, we can be sure!

Belief in God is not enough to bring the true peace of mind that everyday living requires.

There must also be understanding of God's relation to us and our relation to God. Though we can see how our bodies function and our minds think, we can understand why only when we understand our God-given place in the order of creation. While we can hope for an eternal destiny of joy, we can be sure of it only through the sure knowledge that comes from God Himself.

"Religion Means God and Me" is the title of a newly-published pamphlet which we know will help you to achieve a better understanding of the divine and eternal "facts of life." It covers such topics as "God and Man — How Related?" . . . "Reason and Revelation" . . . "Christianity and Freedom" . . . "Morality and Religion." It is pocket size and can be read in a matter of minutes.

We'll be happy to send you a copy upon your request . . . and without cost or obligation. And nobody will call on you. Write today . . . ask for Pamphlet No. KC-18.

NEW FREEDOM SHARES

What are they? Who may buy them?

Americans have put their savings to work for freedom through U.S. Savings Bonds for many years. New Freedom Shares do the same job . . . plus. Read how.

Freedom Shares are U.S. Savings Notes. They pay a higher return than Savings Bonds, 4.74% when held to maturity. And they mature in just four-and-a-half years.

For regular Bond buyers only

These new Freedom Shares—which are not redeemable for the first year—are offered on a one-for-one basis with E Bonds, but only to people who belong to the Payroll Savings Plan where they work or the Bond-a-Month Plan where they bank.

There are four denominations of Freedom Shares, each of which may be paired with a Series E Bond of the same or larger denominations as a "package." For instance, for $39 total, you can purchase a Savings Bond that matures at $25 and a Freedom Share that matures at $25.

America needs your help

When you buy Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares you do an important job for freedom, backing our men in Vietnam and helping to keep the country economically strong. The need is urgent. What you do counts.

Sign up

Tell your supervisor or the Payroll Department where you work (or any officer where you bank) that you'd like to join a Bond purchase plan. Decide how much you'll save . . . whether you want Freedom Shares as well as Bonds . . . and just sign the authorization card.

You'll be helping your country as you help yourself. And the country needs your help.

Linda Tabler Becomes Bride Of Lerry Fogle

Miss Linda Sue Tabler and Lerry W. Fogle were united in marriage recently at the Church of the Brethren in Frederick.

The Rev. Merlin E. Garber performed the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Tabler of Emmitsburg, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Fogle of Frederick.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown with a lace bodice and long pointed sleeves with a bouffant skirt. The bride's fingertip veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Thomas Zimmerman of Frederick, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Carole Goff, Miss Heide Sell, Miss Martha Etzler, Mrs. Linda Marie Fogle, all of Frederick.

The attendants all wore floor length, sleeveless gowns of green and blue embossed lace fashioned similar to the matron of honor. They carried old fashioned bouquets of blue and green daisies and wore over the elbow length gloves, gifts of the bride.

Jerry Fogle, twin brother of the groom served as best man. Ushers were Charles Thompson, Jr., of Frederick, Kenneth Tabler, and Douglas Tabler, brothers of the bride of Baltimore and Gaithersburg, and Thomas Zimmerman, brother-in-law of the bride, of Mrs. Thomas Arthur Hinners of Washington, D. C., attended her sister. The groom's cousin, R. Dyke Benjamin of New York City, was best man.

Frederick.

Scottie Zimmerman, nephew of the bride was ring bearer. Beth Tabler and Debbie Tabler, nieces of the bride, served as flower girls. Each wore a white brocade gown with sashes and headpieces matching the color of the bridesmaids' gowns. Each carried a basket of daisies.

Mrs. Wayne Shober accompanied the soloist Miss Olive Engle. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Tabler wore a pink two-piece frosted linen dress with corded embroidery and tiny buttons with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. Dr. Robert J. Furie, pathologist, said cause of death was undetermined.

Shelton had appeared in court earlier before Magistrate Herbert Rollins and pleaded not guilty to failing to keep to right of center to avoid an accident. He was charged Jan. 26 with an accident on Keysville Road, east of Emmitsburg.

Adolph T. Brooks, 75, of Taneytown, testified that he was driving east on the roadway when Shelton came in the other direction, hit his front and skidded.

Tpr. Donald Higgins testified he had measured skid marks and matched them with Shelton's car.

Rollins said that since there were no eyewitnesses other than a six year old nephew of Shelton's who testified for his uncle, that the trooper's remarks were to be believed, and he found Shelton guilty.
