The State Roads Commission's decision this week to eliminate plans for the dualization of the Route 15 by-pass at the present time is regrettable and one hard to understand. Lack of money is the excuse offered by the Commission. However, there seems to be enough money left to do just about all the rest of Frederick County, except the six miles from Emmitsburg to Thurmont. A quick glance at the statistics will show you that the Emmitsburg by-pass in the two short years of its existence has compiled an appalling death total of around 28 and so many accidents that were non-fatal, that we've lost count. These death figures probably far exceed the number of deaths on Rt. 15 to Frederick for the past 30 years. Apparently the Commission wants this local death trap to remain in existence while it modernizes from Thurmont to Frederick, a stretch which seldom has any fatalities or wrecks. Logical thinking would call for dualization from the Pennsylvania State line north to the south of Thurmont. With the pitiful safety record this two-mile stretch of highway has, and the fact that more and more school buses will travel it in the next year when the new Thurmont High School opens for the students of Emmitsburg, it is high time the State Roads Commission did some sound thinking on the matter. Emmitsburg should let itself be heard on this subject immediately because once the new plan is adopted Emmitsburg's dualization will be many years in the future. Think it over, folks, and let your County Commissioners, State Senators, U. S. Senators, Congressmen and House of Delegates members know your feelings. The situation calls for immediate action so don't tarry too long.

Major strikes never seem to bother our town much and we are usually apathetic about them. However, the railroad strike early this week made us take quick notice. Almost immediately Postoffices served notice that only first class mail would be handled and there was some question as to how much of this could be taken care of. Freight ceased abruptly and supplies needed here by merchants did not arrive. We all were fortunate however, as President Johnson set the wheels in motion immediately and in short order things were back to normal, for a while at least, until the outcome is finally settled.

Finally someone has taken interest in obtaining some sort of recreational facilities for our town. This week the Chamber of Commerce kicked off a survey to ascertain just how much interest could be generated and try and determine just how far we want to go to get something here. It is hoped that federal funds might be had for most of the plan which would include a swimming pool, tennis courts, playground and other facilities. In plain words, it is hoped to establish a Recreation Center for the public. The plan is in its infancy and much work is to be done ferreting out the complexities of dealing with the Federal Government, but at least we have made a start. Elsewhere in this paper you will find a coupon advertisement which you are asked to fill in and mail to the Chamber of Commerce. Now is your opportunity to advance the cause.

VFW AMBULANCE

Betty Clark, Fairfield R1, was transported this week to the Warner Hospital via the VFW ambulance. The driver was Michael L. Boyle.

Benefit Food

Sale Saturday

A benefit Food Sale will be held in the Fire Hall Saturday morning, July 22, starting at 10 a.m. The sale is sponsored by the Emmitsburg Little League and the public is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wisotzky and family, Gettysburg, and Miss Josephine Haley, Emmitsburg, have returned home after spending several weeks in Florida.

St. Joseph's To Award Founder's Medal

St. Joseph College will hold its premier convocation commemorating the arrival of Blessed Elizabeth Ann Seton in Emmitsburg in 1809.

The ceremony will be held on the anniversary date, July 31, which the college marks as its founding date.

Sister Rosemary Pfaff, president of St. Joseph College, has announced the first recipients of the medal, Ferdinand T. R. Jevons, Helen Lee Peabody and Sister Isabel Toohey, D.C., have been chosen because of their familial ties with Mother Seton and their continued interest in the work she inaugurated.

In succeeding years the medal will be awarded to one who exemplifies the ideals and spirit manifested by Mother Seton. Rev. Joseph I. Dirvin, C.M., author of Mrs. Seton, Foundress of the American Sisters of Charity and currently assistant to the president of St. John's University, will present the address.

Ferdinand T. R. Jevons, great grandson of Mother Seton, is the only living direct descendant of the pioneer of American educational and social agencies. A resident of Huntington, Long Island, Mr. Jevons has maintained a lifelong interest in Mother Seton and has offered valuable assistance to biographers and historians of the Seton family. Although unable to attend the ceremonies of Mother Seton's beatification in Rome in 1963, Mr. Jevons was awarded two commemorative medals issued by Pope John XXIII.

Helen Lee Peabody of New York City, is being honored because of other personal accomplishments and her sympathetic advancement of Mother Seton's cause. Related to the Setons through marriage, Mrs. Peabody has preserved family treasures and correspondence belonging to William Seton IV, grandson of Mrs. Seton. During her long life, Mrs. Peabody has exemplified the philanthropic and charitable interests of Blessed Elizabeth Ann Seton.

Sister Isabel Toohey, a former provincial superior of the Emmitsburg province of the Daughters of Charity and religious successor to Mother Seton, has directed the apostolate initiated by Mother Seton. While superior of the province, Sister Isabel authorized the establishment of many works, among them elementary and secondary schools, foreign missions in Bolivia, a residential treatment center for the emotionally disturbed, a research center for the study of mental retardation, a retreat house for the laity and an expanded educational program for the Sisters. Sister also was extremely influential in organizing in 1947, the Mother Seton Conference which united the 10,000 Sisters in the six communities that trace their foundation to the original community at Emmitsburg.

The convocation will be held in DePaul Auditorium on campus followed by a reception in honor of the distinguished guests.

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew R. Eyster of Emmitsburg, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nancy Shriver Eyster, to Mr. Richard Joseph Graham, son of Lt. Commander and Mrs. O. C. Graham of Rockville, Md.

Miss Eyster is an art student at Maryland University, and member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority.

Mr. Graham is presently attending Maryland University, majoring in Industrial Engineering, and a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

County To Handle Food Stamps

The Frederick County Welfare Board Tuesday approved a food stamp program for needy families in the county.

The decision to adopt the proposed plan was announced at the monthly meeting of the board.

The six-month program proposed last October will cost the county about $3,000, according to Welfare officials.

The food stamp program, operated through the U. S. Department of Agriculture, enables families with incomes in certain brackets to purchase coupons which may be exchanged for food in local markets.

The All-Stars of Emmitsburg's Little League will enter into regional competition Monday, July 24 when they take on the first opponent, Sykesville, in the eliminations. The game will be held in Emmitsburg, and will start on the local field at 6:00 p.m., Thomas C. Harbaugh, local club president announces.

Should the locals be victorious in Monday evening's contest they will be pitted against the winner of the East Frederick-Westminster game, on Wednesday. If Westminster wins, the game will be played here. Rain dates are scheduled the day following the regularly scheduled games. The local All-Stars are managed by Thomas Harbaugh Jr., and coached by Clarence (Corney) Wivell.

Carroll County Seeks Use Of Monocacy Water

The mayor of Westminster has demanded that water rights for Carroll County from the proposed Sixes Bridge project be included in legislation now under consideration in the U. S. Senate.

Mayor Joseph H. Hahn, Jr., in telegrams to Sens. Joseph D. Tydings and Daniel B. Brewster (D-Md.) said, "It is imperative that Senate Bill 2059 be amended to allow the Sixes Bridge project to provide municipal water supply for Carroll County and its municipalities."

Sens. Tydings and Brewster had jointly sponsored the bill authorizing construction of the Sixes Bridge dam on the Monocacy River, downstream from Sixes Bridge along the Frederick-Carroll County line near Emmitsburg.

The main reason for construction of the estimated $15.5 million dam, according to the Senators, is the need for an increase in the dependable flow of the Monocacy River to avert a possible water shortage in the next decade.

The dam, originally recommended by the Army Corps of Engineers in 1963 and endorsed by the State of Maryland in 1964, would flood low land in both Frederick and Carroll counties.

Mayor Hahn, in his telegram, said that to deny Carroll County's towns the use of the Sixes Bridge dam and reservoir would be, "totally illogical."

Hahn also said that the proposed construction of the dam is important to Carroll County as well as to Frederick County.

Unemployment Gains In County

Unemployment in Frederick County jumped more than 19 per cent in June as compared with the same period in 1966.

A total of 918 people in the county were reported unemployed last month compared with 738 in June, 1966.

In addition the June total climbed 64 above the May total, an increase of almost seven per cent.

A spokesman for the office of the Maryland Department of Employment Security blamed the jump on a general slackening of commercial activity in the area and said that it reflects the nationwide climb which saw unemployment reach its highest point in 18 months in June with four per cent of the nation's labor force out of work.

The local report was based on the number of people applying for unemployment compensation.

Dog Vaccinations Are Scheduled

The Frederick County Humane Society urges all dog owners, whose dogs are six months old and have not been vaccinated for rabies, to take them to the rabies vaccination clinics to be conducted in Frederick County two Sundays, July 23 and July 30. This safety precaution is very necessary for the protection of humans as well as dogs.

Emmitsburg Cited In Travel Story

Maryland has sufficient attractions to support the title of "America in Miniature", James Rowland, feature writer, agrees in a recent travel story in the Washington Star.

The tomb of Mother Seton at St. Joseph College and the Grotto of Lourdes at Mt. St. Mary's College are mentioned as special places of interest for tourists.

Frederick City, the writer says, is a central place from which to set out to visit battlefields of the Civil War and Fort Frederick, which was constructed during the French and Indian War.

He points out that museums are scattered throughout the state and historic landmarks link almost every crossroad with a major chapter in American history.

Maryland, he adds, is dotted with 31 state parks covering more than 125,000 acres, and six additional parks are being developed.

After telling of Fort McHenry and the U.S.S. Constellation, the pride of the fledgling U. S. Navy, the writer visits these attractions: "An appetite for early American farming can be whetted at the Carroll County Farm Museum near Westminster, reached by taking Rt. 140 northwest from Baltimore."

"The first national Roman Catholic shrine built in America is to be seen near Emmitsburg. It is called the Grotto of Lourdes, and is not far from the tomb of Blessed Mother Seton, at St. Joseph's College."

"Moving south from Emmitsburg on Rt. 15, there is the Catocin Furnace, characteristic of the iron works that helped start the nation on the way to its present industrial strength. Washington was a shareholder in the company, whose cottages for workmen can still be seen."

"Frederick, anchored in history, is considered a jumping off place for major Maryland battlefields of the Civil War."

"Just outside the city off Rt. 40 is Fort Frederick, built during the French and Indian War and used during the American Revolution and the Civil War."

"Weekend drills are conducted at the fort during the summer by buffs of the American Revolution. Starting at 1 p.m. the drills are scheduled for July 22, 23, Aug. 5, 6, Aug. 26, 27 and Sept. 30-Oct. 1."

"Antietam battlefield, site of the bloodiest single-day battle of the Civil War, is reached by going west on Rt. 40, then turning right on Rt. 34."

"A few miles to the south in Gathland State Park is the War Correspondent's Arch, designed and erected by reporters covering the Civil War."

"Farther west on Rt. 40 the motorist will find some of the most scenic mountain highways in the country. Travelers will pass through the Cumberland Narrows, as did many of the settlers moving west."

Nebraska was the first State in the Union to mobilize and have its troops ready for Federal service in the Spanish American War.

Federal Grant For Study Of County

Frederick County has received a $68,400 grant from the Federal Housing and Urban Development Department for a comprehensive planning study for the county.

Richard Crombie, director of planning for the County Planning and Zoning Commission, said the county had applied for the grant a year ago.

He said the grant would pay two-thirds of the cost of conducting the study; Frederick County will pay the other third.

Crombie said the proposed study would update and supplement the comprehensive plan prepared by the county in 1959.

The study will include a population study of the county; a study of the economic situation; a recreation plan, a road development plan for the area surrounding Frederick City and a land use and housing study for the county.

He said the study also would include the development of a policy and goals outline for the county. Crombie said the Planning and Zoning Commission completed a similar study with federal funds for the town of Myersville about six months ago. Emmitsburg considered such a plan several months ago but abandoned the idea.

A study for Brunswick is now in progress and a study for Middletown will begin as soon as the application to the Dept. of Housing and Urban Development is approved.

Robert Wirgeau, director of the Frederick County Planning and Zoning Commission since 1963, has submitted his resignation to the County Commissioners. He said he was leaving the $11,000 a year post because of "a better opportunity."

Charnita Entertains French Group

Seventy-four residents of Arles, France, who are on a summer tour of the United States, were guests of Charnita at a dinner Monday evening. Charles M. Rist, owner, acted as host.

The men and women are guests in this country of the York members of the International Club, similar to a people-to-people group. The group make their headquarters in York during their stay in this country since Arles is a sister city of York. Some of the French tourists are parents of young French students who have been exchange students in York, and some have acted as hosts for York students who have studied in France.

Local Airman Gets Citation

BELLEVEILLE, Ill.—Chief Warrant Officer Glenn R. Glass, son of Paul C. Glass of R2, Emmitsburg, Md., has received the Bronze PRIDE (Professional Results in Daily Efforts) Certificate at Scott AFB, Ill.

Mr. Glass, a maintenance officer, was recognized for his outstanding efforts in the PRIDE program designed to reduce U. S. Air Force operational costs and increase unit efficiency and combat readiness.

He is member of the Air Weather Service which provides combat and peacetime weather service for U. S. flight activities.

Mr. Glass served during the Korean War.

He is a 1945 graduate of Emmitsburg High School. His wife, Mary, is the daughter of Arthur N. Starnes, Sr., R2, Emmitsburg.

Graceham Carnival Scheduled

The eighth annual carnival of the Graceham Volunteer Fire Co., Inc., will be held at Mt. Tabor Park, Rocky Ridge, Friday and Saturday nights, July 21 and 22.

Entertainment will feature on Friday evening the Poolesville Community Band and the Blue Grass Travelers on Saturday night, July 22.

Plate lunches featuring the ham platter with all the trimmings will be served.

There also will be all kinds of sandwiches, games and usual carnival attractions.

The Graceham Volunteer Fire Company appreciates the support the community and surrounding areas have given in helping to purchase the new 750 G. P. M. pumper last year, and the firemen ask that people continue their support and come out and help make the carnival a huge success this year.

May Curtail Dualization Of Rt. 15 Here

New construction on the northern and southern ends of U. S. 15 in Frederick County may be eliminated from the Maryland State Roads Commission's construction plans.

Jerome B. Wolf, chairman of the commission and director of Maryland highways, has informed the Frederick County Commissioners that funds allocated for work in Frederick County in the SRC's current six-year program will fall more than $5 million short of paying for all projects scheduled.

Wolf asked the commissioners to review his suggested curtailments of the local program, and to either approve the proposals or make substitutions by the end of August.

Work scheduled for the last two years of the six-year roads program—July 1, 1968, to June 30, 1970—in Frederick County which may be deferred is, according to Wolf:

Construction of a second lane of U. S. 15 from Emmitsburg to the Pennsylvania state line to make a dual highway, and part of the construction of a second lane of the same road from Thurmont to Emmitsburg.

Other projects in the final phase of the six-year program, projects which can be completed with available funds, include:

Dualization of U. S. 15 from Catocin Furnace to Thurmont, 4.40 miles, estimated cost $2,596,000, construction to start in early 1970.

Wolf also said that available funds might permit some work on the dualization from Thurmont to Emmitsburg, possibly engineering the right-of-way acquisition, but not the entire 5.29-mile stretch.

Charles E. Collins, president of the county commissioners, said he would call a meeting of the commissioners, local members of the House of Delegates, and the county's two state senators to discuss the roads situation July 28. He said he would be in touch with Wolf after that meeting to advise the SRC which projects the local officials feel should be started first.

Knights Of Columbus Activities Listed

The July meeting of Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, was held in the Council Home Monday evening, Grand Knight Ray R. Lauer presiding. Prior to the meeting Mass was celebrated by the assistant chaplain, Rev. Robert S. Grace.

Semi-annual reports from the trustees and the Home Assn. were read and approved. The Council confirmed the following activities dates: Aug. 27, annual family picnic at Kump's Dam Park; Sept. 5, installation of officers with guests being invited; Sept. 10 or 24, annual crab feast; also in September, a readmissions night and an open house; Oct. 23, first degree exemplification; October 7, Knight of the Year banquet and dance.

Deputy Grand Knight Eugene R. Rosensteel gave a brief report on a Grand Knights' seminar he attended last Sunday at the Alcazar in Baltimore. District Deputy Paul A. Keepers announced a district meeting to be held in Hagerstown Thursday night.

Marsh Creek

Clean-Up Urged

Property owners at Marsh Creek Heights are seeking assistance from the state of Pennsylvania to correct the condition of the stream there which has been spoiled by an overgrowth of seaweed and algae. Instead of being able to boat and swim in the creek which has been a popular summer recreational area for many years, the condition of the water is now depriving families of one of the few natural swimming sites in the area.

Sr. Citizens Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Senior Citizens Club was held Tuesday evening in the center, with 29 members in attendance.

The evening was spent playing the game everyone loves. Many useful and beautiful prizes were won by the lucky persons. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Virginia Sanders.

Outdoor furniture now made with frames of strong, lightweight nickel stainless steel requires practically no care and lasts for decades.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by
Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Keeping Track Of The Economy

One of the quiet but titanic struggles being waged in Washington today is the battle of the Congress to achieve some effective forms of oversight over the myriad operations of the executive branch. This campaign, which has been going on for many years, is becoming ever more difficult, as the 12,000 members and employees of the Congress find it more and more challenging to keep up with all the activities and programs of about 2.9 million civil servants.

There are two basic Congressional responsibilities involved here. One is maintaining the ability to monitor executive operations, to spot problems, ferret out their causes, and instill the continuing reforms required to keep the massive Federal establishment efficient, coordinated, and responsive to national needs and citizens' concerns. For two years, I have advocated creating a new Hoover-type Commission to help Congress by conducting an overall review of executive-branch operations. Last week, on the 20th anniversary of the creation of the first Hoover Commission in 1947, 29 of my colleagues joined me in calling for action on this legislation.

The second Congressional responsibility is an equally important and difficult one—measuring the national impact of Federal programs and policies, especially in economic terms. The Federal Government is by far the single greatest economic force in our country today, and the volume and timing of Federal taxation and spending can, as we have seen recently, determine how our economy as a whole will move ahead, and whether certain segments of the private sector—such as housing, construction or banking—will face particular benefits or strains.

Measuring the economic impact of Federal policies quickly and accurately of course requires prompt, adequate information. In the past, the Congress' ability to respond to shifts of increases in Federal spending has been hampered by a lack of such information. The Administration has oc-asionally compounded the problem by failing to provide sensible predictions when previous estimates of Federal spending have become obviously irrelevant or obsolete.

Last month a significant step forward was taken by the Defense Department. At the urging of the Joint Economic Committee, the Department has agreed to issue a new monthly report measuring the current impact of defense spending on the nation's economy. This new report will bring together data now scattered through a number of documents, and will provide us with a far better and more current indication of changes in military spending, the single greatest segment of the Federal budget.

To illustrate the usefulness of the new report, the Joint Economic Committee pointed out that in 1966 defense expenditures for Vietnam first began to outrun predictions in the second quarter (March to June). If the extent of increased spending had been known then, more effective steps could have been taken to head off developing inflationary pressures and avoid the excessively restrictive fiscal policies which became necessary later in that year.

Such a report will be of immense value not only to the Congress, but also to businessmen and private analysts. Especially right now, when important decisions about Federal spending and taxation are imminent, such information will enable us to legislate more soundly and make the choices required to keep the dollar sound and the economy in proper balance.

rites with advanced fly-rod anglers. Although they are generally regarded as sea fish, recent research seems to show that many snook spend practically their whole lives in fresh water. They're subtropical fish, so they must have quite warm water. Fish your popper for snook as you would for bass, except that a faster retrieve is usually (not always) better for snook.

Speckled Trout
This name is commonly given to the spotted weakfish, which, through the use of quite a bit of imagination, might be thought to bear a slight resemblance to a real trout, to which he's no more related than a snook is to a wall-eye. Many expert anglers consider the spotted weakfish at best only fair sport and eating. Some think him better than that—some worse. You may catch spotted weakfish in strictly fresh water, while casting for other species, but this occurs very rarely.

Ladyfish
You'll find these in fresh water more often than the last species mentioned. Ladyfish generally run quite small, rarely over two pounds, but they take surface fly-rod stuff very readily. Where you get one you can usually catch more, and when you hook one he does aerial acrobatics in a way to make the most active rainbow trout seem lethargic. So they're grand little game fish no a fly rod.

YOUR PERSONAL HEALTH

You can't really beat the heat. Whether it's the heat or the humidity or both, it's hot in almost all of the United States in July. After weeks of sweating and steam, it's not uncommon to find the heat is beginning to wear you down.

You can't do anything about the outside temperature. You can avoid it if you're fortunate enough to work and live in air-conditioned comfort, but it still will be hot outside.

The American Medical Association points out that there are some things you can do to be more comfortable—things that can help you beat the heat.

Stay out of the sun as much as possible, especially during the middle of the day when rays are hottest. Wear light, loose clothing. The ladies have an edge over the men in this respect. Drink more liquids than usual, but take extra salt only on your physician's advice, particularly if you have liver or kidney trouble or a heart condition.

Take a shower or dip in the pool once or twice a day to cool off. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eat your regular diet and don't go overboard on cold cuts and salads, unless you like them anyway.

Get up early in the morning to do your heavy work on the lawn or garden. Or work at dusk in the evening, but try to avoid heavy exertion during the hottest hours of the day. There is a sound physical reason behind the siesta custom of the tropics.

You need exercise in the summer as well as in the winter, but don't overdo it, especially on extra hot days. Don't overdo physical exertion, whether at work or at play.

The more relaxed outdoor life of the summer months has many advantages to compensate for the heat. Stay relaxed and use common sense and you can beat the heat—at least somewhat.

Community Colleges Eventually Will Handle 52,000

Maryland's $80 million building program for public community colleges will accommodate upwards of 25,000 full-time students by 1973, State Superintendent of Schools James A. Sensenbaugh said this week.

The building program, about half of which is being funded by State bond authorizations and half by local subdivisions, has seen $26 million in State funds already encumbered for construction at eleven community college sites, the State Superintendent said.

Of $30 million in bond issues authorized by the legislature between 1961 and 1966, all but $4 million has been used up, but the $10 million bond measure authorized by the legislature this year has not yet been tapped, the State Superintendent said. Sensenbaugh reported plans by several counties, however, to submit applications for funds to the State Board of Education.

Full-time community college enrollments this fall, Sensenbaugh said, will be about 12,000 students, with many using rented or borrowed facilities. New facilities that will probably be ready to open this fall will be at Anne Arundel and Prince George's Community Colleges. Facilities at Hagerstown were dedicated earlier this year and a technical center at Harford County opened in the spring.

The State's only regional community college, Chesapeake College in Queen Anne's County, will open this fall in borrowed quarters, although a building site has been purchased and bids are being sought on science and humanities buildings, a library-administration building, a student union building, and a gym. State funds encumbered for the college total $2.7 million. State funds encumbered for other community college construction since the program started include: Frederick Community College, $63,000.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kestner

Certain species of Florida fish lend themselves to sport with a fly rod. Here are six noted down by Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

Bass

Florida bass differ from northern bass in that they're likely to average considerably larger. They also seem to take topwaters far more often—making them, of course, more suitable for poppers. Some anglers use a fly rod that is far too long, heavy, clumsy and tiring—with the so-called bass action. "I use an eight-foot rod with medium trout action and sufficient bend down near my hand for pleasant all-day fishing," reports Lucas.

Crappies

You'll get some of these, but you'd catch still more with even smaller poppers, and usually most with underwater fly-rod lures—wretched things to cast with any fly rod. Usually, you can do much better on crappies with an open spinning reel and small sinking lures than with any fly-rod stick. Bluegills

You'll get an occasional one of these on the size poppers you use for bass. By changing to a tiny bluegill popper, you can often get oodles of them—but it's too small to do well with those other species. Snook

In some parts of Florida, these fish easily replace bass as top fav-

Strawberry Spectaculars

by Betty Crocker

Berry pickers, be choosy. Look for clean strawberries, uniformly bright red in color. Buy only the amount you'll use in a day or two. Then treat them gently and vary the strawberry surprises. Of course, you'll serve the world's easiest dessert, fresh strawberries with cream. And strawberry sundaes and parfaits. And the good old-time American dessert, strawberry shortcake. For a twist, add a little lemon or orange rind to the whipped cream. Or try almond flavoring instead of vanilla. Then for an extravaganza at party time, try my elegant recipe below for Baked Alaska Shortcake. It's positively guaranteed to dazzle your audience.

Baked Alaska Shortcake
2 cups Bisquick
¾ cup light cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1 pint strawberry ice cream
2 cups sliced fresh strawberries
Meringue (below)

Heat oven to 450°. Mix Bisquick, cream and sugar with fork to a soft dough. Beat vigorously 20 strokes. Knead 8 to 10 times on cloth-covered board lightly dusted with flour to prevent sticking. Roll dough into an 11-inch circle. Ease into layer pan, 8x1½ inches. Bake 10 minutes. Remove from pan; cool thoroughly. Place shortcake on baking sheet; spoon ice cream on shortcake. Place in freezer. Just before serving, heat oven to 500°. Spoon strawberries over ice cream. Place in freezer while preparing Meringue. Pile Meringue over strawberries, being sure to seal Meringue to edge of shortcake. Bake 3 to 5 minutes or until Meringue is lightly browned. Serve immediately. 12 servings.

Meringue: Beat 2 egg whites with ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar until frothy. Beat in ¼ cup sugar gradually; continue beating until stiff and glossy. Do not underbeat. Beat in ¼ teaspoon vanilla.

Remember, speed's the thing at serving time. Have your fancy dessert plates lined up. Cut the Baked Alaska Shortcake into pie-shaped slices. Beautiful! Now rush them in. Pour the coffee. And bask in the compliments. You're something of a spectacular yourself, you know, as a hostess.

New Three-in-One Kitchen

The family that fears a major remodeling project to have an ultra modern kitchen should take heed of a three-in-one kitchen plan. It enables you to install an under-counter automatic dishwasher, add a food waste disposer and an Instant-Hot water dispenser at the same time... all in an area of 48" and without the mess and cost of complete remodeling. Or you can install an electric combination dishwasher-sink with cabinet and work surface plus the two added time-saving appliances.

Introduced by The Hobart Manufacturing Company of Troy, Ohio, the system features the newest automatic dishwasher, an Instant-Hot water dispenser (shown at right edge of sink) which provides "teakettle" hot water, up to 190 degrees, at the turn of a knob for preparing instant foods and beverages.

The food waste disposer features a "drop in place" starting control and an electronic direction control which makes the unit virtually jam-proof. The disposer grinds away all unsightly food waste quickly and quietly to keep food preparation area neat and clean all day long.

The color variety of the kitchen plan is endless, with a wide variety of under-counter dishwasher fronts available to blend with any kitchen decor.

The entire "no remodeling" three-in-one plan is merchandised by the company's KitchenAid Dishwasher Division.

Red Hot Ball

The center of the earth, scientists believe, is an extremely hot molten ball 4,000 miles in diameter. Its composition, similar to that of meteorites, is primarily iron and nickel.

Among the most prominent new landmarks in Florida is a 20-story-high nickel stainless steel cross at the Mission of Nombre de Dios, St. Augustine. Known

WOMEN'S HEALTH

Women's Medical News Service
Abortion Deemed Preventable Ill
BOSTON, Mass.—"An estimated 10,000 women who died last year as a consequence of illegal abortion need not have died had we used in time the tools available to us in their behalf." This is what Dr. John Wagner Grover, of the Harvard Medical School, Boston Hospital for Women, and Vincent Memorial Hospital told colleagues attending a recent medical meeting here.

The tools with which to fight the scourge of illegal abortion, which the obstetrician-gynecologist called one of the "major preventable diseases" in the United States, are modern contraceptive technology and family life education.

The birth control pill, he pointed out, is virtually 100 per cent effective when used properly and the intrauterine device, too, is also highly effective in preventing conception. Were these to be made readily available to all fertile women, unwanted pregnancy and therefore criminal abortion would virtually disappear, Dr. Grover maintained.

"It is the duty of physicians to recognize these facts," he said, "and to act upon them personally so that all women within their professional acquaintance are aware that unwanted pregnancy can be prevented effectively and safely."

Studies conducted in this country and abroad, Dr. Grover pointed out, have shown that poor, uneducated women are fully capable of utilizing the pill and the IUD and that they are eager for birth control. Given the brilliance with which the mass media can sell products and ideas of all kinds, he observed, there is every reason to believe birth control information could be as speedily and effectively disseminated if the need were understood.

Second Tool

Equally urgent, and equally possible, is the need to provide every boy and girl in the land with family life education, he noted. Families, the school, youth groups, the medical profession, and the church should join in the effort to teach youngsters not that sex is bad but that it is a fundamental part of their makeup as human beings and should be fully understood.

Elaborating on the subject of sex education, a panel of physicians, including psychiatrists, a pediatrician, and an obstetrician-gynecologist, agreed that a dialogue on sex between adults and young people should be ongoing. The latter should be encouraged to discuss any aspect of the subject that interests them. They should be helped to see that sexual relations, while primarily involving two people, also have social consequences of some magnitude.

Revising Laws

Given a thorough family life education, Dr. Grover said, young people will reach adulthood armed with the information they need to make them responsible insofar as their sexuality is concerned.

Dr. Grover urged that the abortion laws of the states be re-examined and revised so that they uniformly permit abortions if the health of the mother is threatened. He does not, however, believe that complete liberalization of the abortion laws is the answer to criminal abortion. The practical answer, is the rational application of conception control — which will make the vast majority of abortions unnecessary.

Jim Harrison, whose 1:59 mile in the inaugural local $10,000 leg of the Atlantic Seaboard Circuit racing series was only two-fifths of a second from matching the all-time track, state and stake record, looms as one of the leading candidates for the second leg of this traveling series at Laurel Raceway Friday night.

Scheduled to be contested Friday night with the ASC pace is an early closing event for 2-year-old pacers carrying $5,000 added money, while on Saturday night comes the first leg of an early closing event for 3-year-old pacers with $7,500 added money. The first division of the 2-year-old pace, contested on July 4, was won by Knight Reward with Frank Safford in the sulky.

Not only did the first ASC mile distinguish Jim Harrison as the fastest starter in this racing series which embraces four tracks in addition to Laurel Raceway, but his share of the purse, $5,000, vaulted his ASC earnings to $9,350 to make him the leading money-winner.

The talented son of Bullet Hanover is now tied with Gerry Mir, who is campaigned by Marcel Dostie, and Out To Win from the powerful Vernon Dancer Stable for the dash-winning leadership in the ASC competition which spans the Atlantic Coast season from March to November. These three have now won two starts in series competition. The best win percentage belongs to Out To Win who has two wins in three ASC starts compared to two wins in four starts for both Jim Harrison and Gerry Mir.

Second in money — earnings in this competition is Gerry Mir who has banked $8,400 on two wins and third place finish while Out To Win is third in this category with $7,500.

New Electric Loop
Put Into Service

Three investor-owned electric utility systems this week announced the closing of an extra high voltage transmission loop covering a five-state area of Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

The 540 mile loop of 500 kv and 345 kv lines was closed when the newest section of the loop was put into service—a 74 mile 500 kv line running between the Fort Martin power station near Morgantown, W. Va., and the Mount Storm power station in Grant County, W. Va.

The utilities involved are Allegheny Power System, American Electric Power System, and Virginia Electric and Power Company. The three systems serve a population of 12 million in a 110,000 square mile area of ten states including in addition to those already mentioned, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, North Carolina and Tennessee.

J. Lee Rice, Jr., President of the Allegheny Power System, Inc., in speaking for the group, said the loop's closing will "augment reliability of bulk power supply, provide for economies of operation and improve mutual assistance in emergencies" for the three systems.

He cited the program as another example of the way these systems have coordinated their planning to serve the ever-increasing needs of their customers.

Mr. Rice pointed out that the closing of the extra high voltage loop was an important step because it provides for a two-way flow of power to any major substation on the loop. In other words, if an emergency occurs at one point on the line, that section can be isolated and power dispatched around the loop to maintain service via other substations on the loop.

Mr. Rice said that planning for the 500 kv inter-connection provided in the loop concept began in 1963. These lines and related terminal facilities were completed at a cost of $31 million. The inter-ties are between Allegheny Power's Fort Martin and Virginia Electric and Power's Mount Storm station; between American Electric Power's Cloverdale substation near Roanoke, Va., and Virginia Electric and Power's Doores substation near Waynesboro, Va.; between Virginia Electric and Power's 500 kv loop line and Allegheny Power's Doores substation northwest of Washington, D. C.; and between Fort Martin Station and American Power's Kammer Power Station on the Ohio River.

A shorter loop east of the one described here was completed in 1965 when Virginia Electric and Power's 500 kv line from Mount Storm station was extended to the Doores substation. Potomac Edison, an Allegheny Power subsidiary is planning an additional 500 kv line west from Doores to Allegheny's Hatfield Ferry generating station, now under construction near Masontown, Pa. When complete, this line will further augment the bulk power supply reliability of the utilities associated in the EMV transmission loop.

Allegheny Power has also recently completed construction of the 38 mile 500 kv line from its Yukon substation near West Newton, Pa., to the Keystone Power Station for a major inter-tie with Pennsylvania Electric Company and other eastern utilities associated with it.

LIGHT OF ALL NATIONS

"A Constant Work of A LIVING GOD"

Outwardly, Christ's Church has all the appearance of a purely human organization.

Flesh-and-blood people administer its affairs, promulgate its teachings, dispense its Sacraments. Its places of worship are built of brick and stone and steel. Even in the holiest of its Sacraments, the Eucharist, use is made of such visible objects as bread and wine; and in baptism, the most abundant and commonly used substance, water.

But along with its visible nature is the profound and awesome truth that the Church is the Mystical Body of Christ... the invisible but nonetheless certain presence of the Holy Spirit in the world of men... the divinely-instituted means through which we may find unity with God.

In its Dogmatic Constitution on the Church, the Second Vatican Council explains both the human aspects and the divine mystery of the Church. "This," the document says, "is the measure of the love of God, the Holy Spirit—that He continues to extend the work of Christ in mankind among men taken from mankind; that He continually renews the Church as Christ's extension; that He will bring her perfected into final union with the Blessed Trinity."

Councils held in earlier centuries addressed themselves primarily to members of the Church. The Second Vatican Council... emphasized the Church as "The Light of All Nations" and described its teaching and application of the Gospel as "worthy of the thought of any man of good-will."

It is in this spirit of Ecumenical good-will that we offer you a free pocket-size pamphlet entitled "Light of All Nations." It will give you a clear and comforting picture of the Church as God's own instrument for the enlightenment of your spiritual life and the very salvation of your immortal soul.

It includes such topics as the Mystery of the Church, the People of God, the Hierarchical Structure of the Church, the Laity, the Call to Holiness, Pilgrim Church and Heavenly Church, and the Role of the Blessed Virgin.

Write today... ask for Pamphlet No. KC-1. It will be sent promptly and without obligation. And nobody will call on you.

Instant Antiques

If you love old things but have no hankering to hang around country auctions or pawnshops, you can create your own antiques.

All you need is a little imagination, a few pieces of unfinished furniture from your local paint, discount or department store, and one of the new antiquing kits. You might start with something easy, like a bench or small table with good, authentic lines. Once you've conquered these, however, you're ready for more complicated pieces—chests, credenzas, breakfronts.

You'll be amazed at how simple and how much fun it is—and how much money you can save. With one of Acme's "Fine Antiquing" kits, for example, the whole procedure is reduced to a speedy two-step process.

Once the piece has been cleaned and lightly sanded to make the paint adhere more smoothly, brush on the base coat. Then, following a 24-hour drying period, apply the glaze coat and wipe while it's still tacky. That's all there is to it.

Of course, if you want to make the piece look really old, you can "distress" the wood surface by making random scratches with the point of a nail, dents by pounding it with pieces of broken walnut shell or crushed rock; do this after putting on the base coat but before you add the glaze and the result will be a fine "heirloom" appearance.

Fine Antiquing kits are now available in 12 vibrant continental colors, including Grecian Gold, Moroccan Red, Minoan Bronze and Sicilian Green, to give just the proper accent to the Mediterranean-style furniture so popular today.

The kits come complete with all the necessary equipment—brush, sandpaper, wiping cloth, stirring sticks and instructions—as well as sufficient base coat and color glaze to finish two chairs or an average-sized chest or table.

And once you get started, furniture isn't the only thing you're likely to antique; doors, shutters and panel wainscoting all gain new character when undercoated and glazed.

Everybody's doing it and anybody can, so why not get into the swim?

Amaze your friends with your virtuosity by beautifying your home with instant antiques created by your own hands!

Nuclear Danger Growing

Red China's apparently successful test with the horrendous H-bomb, and the reported estimates in the U. S. that belligerent Mao Tse-tung should develop missile capable of delivering warheads in about 6 months, ought to put new urgency into demands that Defense Secretary Robert McNamara withdraw his opposition to deploying our anti-ballistic-missile systems throughout the United States. Communist Russia now has in orbit, circling the globe and passing over the United States, mysterious space vehicles which could be carriers of H-bomb clusters awaiting to be triggered; and for four years Russia has been deploying an ABM defense system.

In 1961, again in 1966 and 1967, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, whose primary responsibility is to recommend to the President and Defense Secretary military measures for the security of our nation, unanimously urged the deployment of an anti-ballistic missile network. Defense Secretary McNamara, overriding his military advisors, has adamantly refused; and just recently McNamara's Under-secretary said the ABM system would "never" be needed.

Sober Warnings

An authoritative source in Washington, who wishes to remain anonymous, made the following disturbing observations on the grave danger of the "defenselessness" of the United States confronted with an aggressor who has deployed an ABM system:

"Time factors are particularly crucial in the deployment of a major weapons system of this kind. The deployment of an American ABM system is estimated to require five years at a minimum, starting with the moment of the decision to deploy."

"The effect of the Soviet ABM deployment on America's capacity to deter nuclear war—in the absence of any such defensive system in this country—is dramatic and profound. Such a development raises doubts, at the very least, as to whether U. S. retaliatory strikes can destroy the Soviet Union, assuming the Soviets strike first. Therefore, if the Soviets have confidence in the capability of their ABM system, the completed deployment of the system (our intelligence apparently is incapable of determining how extensive thus far the deployment is) could be the factor that tips the balance in favor of a Soviet decision to risk a nuclear strike."

Inviting Attack?

Our Washington source continues: "The odds favoring such a decision would, of course, be affected by the nature of the man or group that holds power in Moscow at the moment: while any Soviet leadership must be assumed to be willing to make the strike if the odds are right, the enemy estimate as to whether the odds are right will necessarily reflect human and political factors not strictly connected with the military equation."

"A further consideration must be kept in mind. Even should the USSR's confidence in the capacity of its ABM system prove unfounded—i.e., should the Soviets attack, and then discover that their ABM system has failed—it remains that the U. S. objective of deterrence would also have failed. The effectiveness of a deterrent depends not on whether retaliation will inflict unsupportable damage on a potential attacker, but on whether the attacker thinks he will incur such damage."

Danger: Nuclear Blackmail

"This is an important part of the reason why proponents of immediate deployment of the Nike-X system are approaching the problem with such urgency. They believe that nothing less than actual deployment by the U. S. will offset the all-too-subjective factors in the equation of deterrence."

Once Again Inflation?

The U.S. economy's growth rate may have slowed down for the time, but inflation could once again become a problem later this year. I suspect we'll see a recurrence of last year's cycle, with the result that the President's request for a 6% surcharge on income taxes may be enacted, after all. We may also see another reversal of monetary policy, with a return to tight money and higher interest rates.

First quarter results would indicate that those economists who have been predicting a recession this year are wrong. The increase in Government spending in the first three months of the year, the minimal decline in capital spending, and the rise in consumer outlays all give evidence of this.

Retail sales provided the "real evidence" of a turnaround in consumer spending and retail sales in March set a record, despite depressed new car sales.

Those who have been predicting a recession have either underestimated or disregarded two important facts: The tremendous built-in demand factor which can have a dramatic effect on the stock market and the political situation. With the election coming up next year, the Administration will do whatever appears necessary (in terms of manipulating monetary and fiscal policies) to make sure that the economy is on an "upkick"—at least by the end of this year.

The enormous potential of demand was the principal moving force behind the record rate at which inventories were worked off in the first quarter. In the three-month period, inventories dropped to an annual rate of $5.5 billion from $16.4 billion in the final quarter of 1966, a record breaking swing of nearly $11 billion.

Veterans Hospitals Seeking Nurses

Maryland's three Veterans Administration Hospitals have several vacancies on their nursing staffs for both registered and licensed practical nurses.

Individual schedules can be arranged for a few nurses if they wish to work only part-time. For those who have dropped out of nursing for some reason or another, and have not practiced for a few years, special refresher courses will be given at each hospital, the VA said.

The starting salary for registered nurses is $6857 or higher, if their experience or education warrant an increase. The starting salary for licensed practical nurses is $4,269.

For further details contact the Personnel Officer at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Fort Howard, Perry Point, or Baltimore.

Babson's Point Of View On:
Coming Tax Battle

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 20—Will Uncle Sam be taking a bigger tax bite out of your paycheck before the end of 1967? By January 1968? In his State of the Union message last January, President Johnson recommended a tax surcharge of 6%. Since then, neither LBJ nor the Congress has shown any insistence on upping the federal tax take. But the truce is about over. The tax-hike battle will soon be joined amid sounds of rising fury. Year Of Great Deficit Our government's New Year has just begun. It will end June 30, 1968. Economists, legislators, accountants, financiers — and just plain citizens who have been watching the U. S. spending spree shift into high gear — are shocked by the prospect of a federal deficit that may hit the $30-billion mark for this fiscal year.

Despite this towering evidence of budget mismanagement, our Administration and our Congress continue to amble along a path of business-as-usual. Here and there you hear of the upcoming deficit as the "greatest in peacetime." Unfortunately, the nation is engaged in one of the biggest, though undeclared, wars in our history.

Highway To Inflation Remember the days of President Franklin Roosevelt? He took office at the depth of our most severe depression. His "brain trust" (that was before the time of the Council of Economic Advisers) recommended that he spend a great deal more than would be taken in through taxes. This was called "priming the pump." The idea was that the additional dollars spent by Uncle Sam would find their way into consumers' pockets, and hence "prime" the business "pump." Hopefully, prosperity would be restored.

Both President Roosevelt and his advisers were sorely disappointed. Business and employment did pick up slowly for some years; but there followed the severe depression of 1937-1938. Unemployment climbed back to a staggering 9 million. It did not subside substantially until World War II vastly stimulated demands both abroad and at home. Despite controls, higher taxes, and price ceilings, wartime deficits created huge additions to U. S. money supplies. At the end of hostilities, our tremendous monetary expansion provided a broad highway to inflation. Wages and prices truly exploded.

Repeat Performance Right now it looks as if we are going to have a repeat performance. The Federal Reserve is upping the money supplies of the nation at an 8% yearly clip. This at a moment when the government is heading toward a $30-billion deficit. The combination of an easy-money policy and a huge "pump priming" makes a renewed surge in prices almost a certainty.

This is what all the "hollering" will be about in the weeks just ahead. The "kickoff" was done the last week in June by Mr. Martin, head of the Federal Reserve Board, calling loudly for an income tax increase. Then Mr. Ackley, top man in the President's Economic Council, got into the bigger-tax lineup.

Heavy Opposition To Bigger Taxes Despite the formidable support and prestigious names plumping for increased income taxes, there is no guarantee yet that Congress will vote them . . . at least not soon. Many legislators are not convinced that rising money supplies will produce an automatic pickup in total business. They do not agree with the Council of Economic Advisers that the coming fourth quarter will bring a sizeable upsweep in sales and profits.

More important, the opposition points to the Council's earlier belief that a business recovery would be under way by early July. Congressmen and Senators ask themselves: "What if business does not surge ahead in the fourth quarter? If a new boom fails to 'catch on,' we may be blamed later for having killed the goose that lays the golden business eggs." That is why we predict that an early tax boost will be hard to come by. The bigger-tax advocates may win in the end; but the battle will be drawn out. And the actual levy may not be effective before the turn of the year.

Traffic Fatalities
To Rise Despite
Safety Precautions

"Despite the new safety regulations, the traffic death toll may get worse before it gets better," warns Harry Porter, Jr., manager of the National Safety Council's Traffic Department.

Pointing out that it will take a number of years for the new vehicle standards and expanded highway safety programs to take effect, Porter listed the following "negative" factors that will tend to push death totals up in the years immediately ahead:

1. More young drivers
2. Higher speeds
3. Motorcycles
4. Increasing travel
5. Failure to use seat belts
6. Alcohol consumption

"In the face of these almost overwhelming pressures, it seems almost certain that the total number of fatalities will creep slowly upward for several years at least, barring any major economic or military reversals," said Porter. "By then we hope and believe that the positive pressures resulting from new legislation will begin to take effect, turning the accident curve downwards."

In the meantime, the safety authority cautioned drivers not to expect any overnight lessening of traffic hazards. "On the contrary," he warned, "the next few years will be an especially crucial time for drivers when it will be up to the individual to accept the responsibility for his own well-being as never before."

Sir Francis And His Ketch

A wool cargo arrived in England from Australia aboard a sailing vessel in May. But instead of filling the hold of a 19th century wool clipper ship, this cargo was in miniature bales aboard the 53-foot ketch Gipsy Moth IV. And instead of a full crew aboard, this ship was sailed alone around the world by Sir Francis Chichester.

Following the route of the old wool clipper ships sailing west to east from England to Australia and back to England past South America's perilous Cape Horn, Sir Francis took nine months for his rigorous voyage including a six week stopover in Australia.

Besides his cargo, Sir Francis was outfitted with pure virgin wool apparel, blankets and cabin carpeting which he tested for the International Wool Secretariat, one of his sponsors. Even though drenched with sea water and subjected to severe changes in climate, these wool items were restored to new looking appearance with normal washing and cleaning.

LIFE LINES

Nearly 200 years old, our Coast Guard was first established to enforce tariff laws and guard against smugglers. During the 1800's, the Coast Guard successfully mounted a campaign to wipe out piracy in the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean.

Serving on land as well as sea, a Coast Guard base in the Libyan desert helps ships fix their positions even on overcast days. Timed radio signals from a "master" station to a "slave" station enable navigators to determine exactly where they are.

Weather ships in the Atlantic and icebreakers, nicknamed "big ice picks," in Antarctica aid scientific research. Much more information about our fascinating Coast Guard can be found in Life magazine's two-part color series, in the July 7th and 14th issues.

FANCY THAT!..... by THOMPSON

THIS SPACE CONTRIBUTED BY THE PUBLISHER

The Voice. Anybody's voice. Your voice. It has a special quality and timbre all its own. But.

If it should become hoarse or if a cough should persist, find out what the reason is. Promptly. It could be a warning signal of cancer. And cancer is easier to cure when it's detected early.

Frank Sinatra knows the seven warning signals of cancer. Do you?

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge. 2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere. 3. A sore that does not heal. 4. Change in bowel or bladder habits. 5. Hoarseness or cough. 6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. 7. Change in a wart or mole.

If a signal lasts longer than two weeks, see your doctor without delay.

It makes sense to know the seven warning signals of cancer.

It's Peach Jam Time

Put a little of summer's golden sunshine in jars in the form of jam made from fresh peaches. You can add your own special touch of spices in making Spiced Peach Jam, an elegant one-for-later gift-giving. The recipe is made by the short-bottle method using Certo Fruit Pectin, and the jam is assured of a perfect set.

Spiced Peach Jam
Yield: about 11 medium glasses
4 cups prepared fruit (about 3 lb. fully ripe peaches)
1/2 cup lemon juice (2 lemons)
7/8 cups (4 1/2 lb.) sugar
1/4 to 1 teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, and allspice*
1/2 bottle liquid fruit pectin
*Or use any desired combination of spices.

First prepare the fruit. Peel and pit about 3 pounds peaches; chop very fine, or grind. Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan. Squeeze the juice from 2 lemons; add 1/2 cup to peaches.

Then make the jam. Thoroughly mix sugar and spices into fruit in saucepan. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in fruit pectin. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim for 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover at once with 1/2 inch hot paraffin. Note: Jam may set slowly—allow about 2 weeks.

Textile cord radial tires give "full control" when you need it most... in critical situations. Most American families head for the highways vacation time. Will your car have "an extra margin of safety"? Check your tires... check into the new breed of safety tires. Z

A Million Loaves

In just a week modern farm combines, such as this Massey-Ferguson unit, can harvest enough wheat to produce more than a million loaves of bread—an entire year's supply for 18,692 people. In the years ahead world leaders will be looking to farm machinery such as this to replace primitive farming practices in famine-threatened nations to help avert mass starvation.

21 Die On State

Roads In Week

Speed continues to claim a high toll of lives on Maryland highways. Last week it was a factor in fourteen of the fatalities.

"When will the motorist learn," asked Lt. Col. George Davidson, Chief of Operations of the Maryland State Police, "that the job of driving is a demanding one that requires full-time attention to all aspects of the complex traffic patterns in which he continually finds himself, and this includes the necessity of adjusting his driving speed to conform to these changing conditions."

"With deadly repetition we find that police officers have diagnosed the cause of a fatal accident as 'speeding vehicle out of control' and, too often, they also find that the speeding operator is also under the influence of alcohol."

Lt. Col. Davidson concluded: "Many motorists, I'm sure, are bored with hearing that alcohol and speed are a fatal combination in highway safety. The traffic situation which continues, however, indicates the importance of the operator to heed this warning which is given for his safety and for the safety of all users of the highway."

Twenty-one persons were killed on Maryland highways last week. Thirteen of those killed were drivers, four were passengers; and four were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in six of the deaths; speed in fourteen; and "driver error" was present in seventeen of the fatalities.
