With the rainfall almost normal for this time of the year prospects for excellent crop yields appear brighter and brighter and the neighbors are beginning to brag that they grew such and such a vegetable to such and such a size. It's been quite a spell since we have heard gardeners and farmers proudly proclaiming their green thumb touch but we're sort of glad about the whole situation. The heat and humidity have been rather uncomfortable lately but almost nightly showers seem to come in the nick of time to cool things down for comfortable sleeping. One thing from the usual summer scene though is that to date I haven't seen a single lightning bug or firefly. Usually this time of the year on hot summer nights one can see literally millions of these little creatures twinkling in the fields. Perhaps it is a trifle early yet for them to make their appearance or perhaps it's been too wet.

The race riots are in full swing and people are beginning to get up their dander. For several years the minority group was making rapid progress with civil rights. However all these accomplishments may prove in vain unless a new leadership is provided by the Negro race in this country. The whole situation has gotten out of hand through the leadership of irresponsible persons, many of whom are not really fit to lead and should be incarcerated in some hoosegow. The burning of homes, schools, looting of stores and homes and even killings will not be tolerated and I feel certain this is not the kind of thing the right-thinking Negroes want or condone. Many of these irresponsible leaders deliberately incite their clan to riot and this is definitely against the law. We don't know whether or not they are Communists or not inspired but the situation definitely merits an investigation by the FBI. The actions of these riot inspired individuals is a disgrace to both the white and black races and should be curbed as soon as possible. I feel that their actions recently have set back the cause of the Negro race possibly many years.

The local Band will kick-off a fund drive this week and most Emmitsburgians will be contacted to help along the cause. The Band is desirous of purchasing uniforms and this we would very much like to see. The group has organized, elected new leaders and the quality of its music is definitely on the upgrade. Numerous appearances have been scheduled and the group is really active. So, if you are contacted, or if you are not, why not volunteer a little financial assistance to our local band? How many of you would be in favor of one of those oldtime concerts by the band on the Square, one of these warm evenings?

Softball Team To Play Benefit

The Emmitsburg softball team will play a benefit game at Thurmont on July 30 for the family of Dick Clabaugh.

Dick was killed in an auto accident last Friday. The Thurmont Bombers, from whom he played, have resigned this regularly-scheduled game for a benefit. As Dick had many friends and acquaintances in the Emmitsburg area, it is hoped that they will take this opportunity to help his family.

This game will be played Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at Thurmont. The field is located at the intersection of Rt. 15 and 81, next to Bolinger's Restaurant.

Judge To Hear Land Suit Near Charnita

Judge Dale F. Shugart, Gettysburg, has set Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the law library of the courthouse in Gettysburg, as the time for argument on a request for findings of fact and conclusions of law in the equity action brought by Maude K. Averback, Fairfield, R. D., against Mrs. Olive Wolford, also of Fairfield R. D.

A request for "findings of fact and conclusion of law" was made last week by Attorneys Charles W. Wolf and Donald G. Oyer representing Mrs. Wolford. Attorneys Donald M. Swope and Murray B. Frazee Jr. represent Miss Averback.

The suit pertains to a transfer of the Averback property in the Charnita area to Mrs. Wolford on February 14, 1966. In her equity action Miss Averback alleges she was under sedatives and medication while a guest at the Wolford Convalescent Home in Fountaindale at the time and was not aware of what she was signing.

In the request for findings of fact, Mrs. Wolford states that on February 14, 1966, Miss Averback was ill with a severe chest cold at the Wolford Convalescent Home but that she had not had any medication or sedatives on that date. She further alleged that on April 6, 1965, Miss Averback had granted a 50-foot right-of-way through her property to Charnita, Inc., and that Charnita wished to purchase the entire Averback property. The request alleged that "the plaintiff (Maude K. Averback) feared Charnita would influence her" to sell the property and "the plaintiff desired to preserve her real estate as a place she could go and visit from time to time, and therefore conceived the idea of transferring the property to the defendant (Mrs. Wolford) after asking her what she would do with it. The defendant said she would clean and fix it up, maintain it, and permit the plaintiff to visit it from time to time as weather permitted."

Mrs. William C. Smith, Timonium, Mrs. Dora Paidakovich and daughters, Silver Spring, were weekend guests of their mother, Mrs. Genevieve R. Elder.

CO. DELEGATES SCOFF AT S.R.C. ROAD PLANS

State Roads Comomission officials last weke promised to come up with a new proposal for improving Md. 550 between Woodsbor and Creagerstown.

The SRC will change its concept of the job from construction of an entirely new road to one of rehabilitation of the existing road, to eliminate local objections, according to Jerome B. Wolff, head of the SRC.

The roads comomission still has funds and authority to go ahead with the project, Wolff said, as the road is oprooved by local officials.

When the SRC formulated its current six-year program of construction in 1964, local officials objected to the SRC's proposal of building an entirely new road to replace the existing highway, so work on the project was deferred. However, a new bridge to carry the road over the Monocacy River was left in the program, and is now under construction with a $567,395 price tag.

Del. William M. Houck (D-Frederick) blamed the delay on "ridiculous specifications" for a secondary road. He said at last week's meeting that the SRC's engineers hadn't done anything on the project "because you didn't want to change your plans."

Houck said the original design of the road was for "a superhighway that you could go 60 miles an hour on, when all it is a farm-to-market road. It is not one of the main thoroughfares of the county."

"It's ridiculous," Houck said, "when we're short of money and costs are increasing, to insist on specifications which are so damnably ridiculous for secondary roads. That way you'll never get anything done."

"Maryland 550 is virtually a straight line from Woodsboro to Creagerstown," Houck continued, addressing David Fisher, the SRC's top engineer, "but you didn't want to go on that line. Pou wanted to build another right along side the existing road."

Houck said he was sure, "even though I'm not an engineer" that the existing road could be rehabilitated—widened and resurfaced, and some of the curves and hills straightened and levelled—for less than even the $712,000 allocated in the six-year program. Current estimates set the price for the four-mile job, using the original SRC plans, at $1,408,000.

Wolff said if the job on Md. 550 cost less than is allocated in the program, the balance of funds would be applied to other roads projects in the county, either other secondary road projects or the dualization of U. S. 15 between Harmony Grove and the Pennsylvania State Line.

Houch and Del. C. Clifton Vrts, the county's senior legislator, accused the SRC of cutting short Frederick County's share of secondary road construction. Vrts said less than four miles of secondary roads have been built in the county "in the last 20 years."

"Take Maryland 75," Houck said, "a road that was our first priority eight years ago. It still isn't finished. Why do you want to spend a million dollars a mile on a secondary road, just to have engineering perfection? For that amount of money, we could have several secondary roads rehabilitated. As it is, the secondary road construction program in Frederick County is nonexistent."

Houck questioned the state officials on how funds for secondary road construction are apportioned to the counties—"is it on a political basis, or on a basis of actual need?"

"As long as you let political considerations interfere with road construction, you're going to have a mess. How about that dual highway going to Crisfield,"—home of former governor J. Millard Tawes—"and how about that beautiful crisscross of secondary roads in Washington County, where two former governors reside?"

Several times during the meeting, Houck needed Fisher about the Crisfield highway. He said the state would have been better off to build the fourlane highway at Emmitsburg, "and maybe then we wouldn't have had those 23 people dead." He was referring to the stretch of U. S. 15 around Emmitsburg, where 23 people have lost their lives in auto accidents in the last three years.

Virts also asked Wolff about the possibility of making some improvements to a bridge on Md. 153 at Ellerton. Wolff said the project is not included in the six-year rprogram, but may be included in a special study of all state-maintained bridges made recently.

Henry J. Knott, General Chairman, announced that pledge payments for The Cardinal's Campaign passed the halfway mark at the conclusion of 40% of the pledge payment phase. He also stated that the pledged total had also increased further.

Payments of $6,456,599 were recorded at Campaign Headquarters from June 30 reports from committees and parishes. This represented slightly more than 50% of the present pledged total of $12,905,233. During the first twelve months of the pledge payment program, 4,019 additional gifts were reported in eleven of the twelve months. This resulted in $689,959 more in pledges since the July 1, 1966 campaign conclusion. Payments during the twelve months amounted to $3,763,240. Mr. Knott attributed the ahead of schedule payment picture to the fact that 29.4% of the donors had already redeemed their pledges in full. The special committees led the way with $1,639,550 in payments representing 55% of their $3,046,301 pledged. By committee, pledged and payment amounts the June 30 reports showed:

Advance Gift Committee: $2,112,144 pledged, $998,935 paid; Industry Committee: $339,250 and $273,110; Business: $220,330 and $141,524; and Special Gifts: $202,295 and $92,730. Also, Professional and General Business: $154,455 and $115,724; and Miscellaneous: $17,827 and $17,527.

Bishop T. Austin Murphy, Archdiocesan Coordinator, said that the Parochial Committee pledge total had reached $9,858,932 with payments of $4,817,049. He also stated the 159 parishes and missions in the Archdiocese of Baltimore were responsible for 83% ($607,672) of the additional amount pledged since the campaign's conclusion.

Bishop Murphy added that he was greatly encouraged by Mr. Knott's report especially since the pledge payment phase provides for eighteen more payments, thru December, 1968. He also reported that two parishes, Saint Alphonsus, Baltimore and Saint Lawrence, Jessup, have paid their pledges in full.

"His Eminence, Lawrence Cardinal Shehan," Bishop Murphy added, "is well pleased with the campaign's progress, and the fact that gifts in arrears amount to only seven per cent (7%) of the total pledged. This in itself is most encouraging and extremely small for a campaign of this magnitude."

His Eminence has expressed his thanks to those donors who have been maintaining their payments on a regular schedule. He also reminded those who have fallen in arrears that their pledges are important. Cardinal Shehan added that he depended on those donors to honor their pledges in order that the archdiocese could meet the construction costs for the campaign projects.

Executive Campaign Director, Robert L. Banente, said that the architects expect the House of the Good Shepherd plans to be ready for bid around October 1, 1967. It is hoped contracts can be awarded and ground broken at the Halethorpe site in mid-November. He also said that the Little Sisters of the Poor Home for the Aged, architects reported construction there was on schedule.

The site on Maiden Choice Lane has been completely graded and reinforced concrete foundation work in the core area is near completion. Masonry work in Residence Unit No. 1 has been completed and it is starting in Residence Unit No. 3.

BABSONWrites . . .

Babson's Point Of View On:
Borrowing From Tomorrow
BABSON PARK Mass., July
27—Last month Congress voted to increase the federal debt limit to the staggering total of $365 billion. This gives Uncle Sam a green light to borrow even more and could well lead to additional hefty expansion of non-federal public debt and of private debt.

Ballooning Federal Debt

It may be assumed that avoidance of fiscal crisis was the big motivating factor in the Administration's request for authority to create additional debt; but the size of the increase and the relative ease with which it passed Congress points up the fact that deficit financing is certainly in no immediate danger of losing favor in Washington. Time was when no federal debt could be created without a specific enabling act of Congress, identifying and limiting the purpose or program which the debt was to finance. Now—and for many years past—the Secretary of the Treasury has blanket authority to borrow, subject only to an over-all limitation by Congress which we call the "federal debt limit."

Deficit financing has been an easy road for Washington to follow. As a result, our federal debt—which amounted to $54 billion in 1940—is now seven times that amount. On a per-capita basis it has expanded from $400 to $1,880, despite the fact that since 1940 our population has increased by about 65 million.

All Public Obligations
State and local governments, too, have been finding it convenient to borrow from tomorrow in financing a wide variety of projects and programs. As a result, total public debt in the U. S. has been rising at a fairly rapid pace during the past quarter century. In the decade from 1956 to 1966, these debts of all governments in our nation rose from $348.5 billion to $475.8 billion, — an advance of 37%.

However, those who defend this rapid rise remind us that in the same 10-year period the Gross National Product jumped 76.4%. Because of this unprecedented economic upthrust, public debt relative to GNP stood at 64% last year, compared with 83% in 1956.

What Corporations And Individuals Owe

But private debt—consisting of the unpaid financial obligations of both corporations and individuals—has taken the biggest jump of all. In 1956, private debt stood at $482.6 billion. By last year, it had climbed ed 120% to $1,063.4 billion.

When we add all the debt—public and private—it comes to the back-breaking total of $1.5 trillion,—up 85% from 10 years ago. This is about double our entire Gross National Product. How Serious Is The Burden?

Are our debts approaching a dangerous level? Unquestionably they are. The increase alone in the amount of these debts should give cause for concern; in addition, the ratio of the debts to assets is itself unfavorable. But probably we are still some distance from a breaking point because the real burden of any debt depends on the productivity behind it, and several times in the past our total debt relative to the GNP measure has been higher than it is today.

However, unless the rise in debt is curbed we will be in peril if we should have a serious economic downturn. It is difficult and costly, but we are still able—on balance—to make repayments on our debts, whether they be long-term federal borrowings, state bond issues, corporate obligations, or installment obligations. It all boils down to this: "Borrowing from tomorrow" is popular and can be justified . . . up to a point.

But it is always foolhardy to borrow without carefully considering one's ability to repay and without allowing a good margin for contingencies that may arise to gravely reduce one's capacity to repay. Debt itself should not frighten us, but over-indebtedness should be avoided like the plague.

Private enterprise annually contributes several million dollars to the 4-H program for educational trips, training aids, awards and recognition.

One of the fastest growing 4-H activities in the U. S. today is the horse program. Nearly 170,000 young equestrians are enrolled.

Kosygin's Important Answer
At the end of his nationally televised press conference in the United Nations headquarters in New York on June 25, Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, who had shown himself to be a shrewd and coldly arrogant replacement for the flamboyant Khrushchev, stepped down from the dais and walked through the crowd with his interpreter. One last question was flung at him as he passed a reporter—and I have yet to see this question and its revealing answer published anywhere in America.

Reporter (a paraphrase of the question): Do you think, Mr. Premier, that class conflict now has a chance to succeed in the United States, and do you still believe that the proletarian dictatorship will be established over the world? The Russian Premier paused in his movement toward the door. His eyes leveled on the reporter. With an icy smile he uttered a clipped response: "Of course!"

Conquest The Goal
This was seen on television but scarcely any of the news reporters heard the exchange. It was the most important utterance made by Kosygin during his American visit. Our Government's policy—diplomatic and military; our national defense planning—is today based on a belief that Kosygin and his Kremlin cohorts do not mean "of course" but really mean "No!" to the question of whether their goal still is the conquest of the world.

The belief in policy-shaping circles of our Government is that the Soviet Communists have forsaken their determination to take over the world, that they want a genuine peace, and that we must "build bridges" with the Kremlin bosses. A national news weekly magazine recently quoted a "congressional source" as follows: "LBJ thinks the way to get the Russians to do something is to kill 'em with kindness. Ninety per cent of the people into the State and Defense Department support the notion of peace, trade, and friendship with the Soviets."

Helpful Build-up
Kosygin, throughout his American visit, was "walking on top of the world." He arrived just after Soviet Communism had suffered a humiliating defeat before the world, in its backing of the Arab confrontation with Israel. But he was allowed to rise above this defeat, to recover prestige. He was permitted to stride across the world stage here virtually unchallenged, a towering figure pampered by the international press, followed step-by-step by the TV networks, sought after repeatedly by the President of the United States (a second invitation had to be blazoned in the press before he granted a "summit" with the U. S. President).

What he said at his press conference (following two dramatic "confidential" meetings with the President) was in character with but not as important as was, at the end of the conference, his off-hand reaffirmation of the Communist goal of world domination. At the conference, he said: (1) Soviet Communism would negotiate toward "peace" in the Middle East only after Israel had withdrawn its troops from conquered areas; (2) that rearming the Arab nations was a Soviet decision that need not concern other nations; (3) that the U. S. could expect nothing from the USSR until American troops were withdrawn unconditionally from South Vietnam; and (4) that President Johnson might be invited to visit Russia — if troops were withdrawn from Vietnam and other Soviet demands accommodated.

The Truth Unchallenged
Some segments of the American press reported that Kosygin's subsequent visit to Red Cuba was to persuade Castro not to interfere with Latin American nations (since, the reports said, Russia wanted good trade relationships with Latin America). The truth is that Soviet Communism in January 1966 (with Kosygin at the helm) set up Cuba as the world-wide training headquarters for Communist guerrilla warfare, with Latin America as a testing ground. The truth is that Castro, with his Communist beachhead in the Western hemisphere, is a key man in Soviet strategy to achieve "the proletarian dictatorship over the world." Soviet arms are in the hands of Castro-trained guerrillas operating in all Latin American nations. Kosygin is delighted with this situation.

It would be a historic development if the Soviets decided to discard their world ambitions and end their aggressive, subversive campaigns in every nation. But there is not one shred of evidence that they intend to do so. American citizens must not be deluded by wishful thinking and false propaganda about Kosygin and his "good" peace-loving comrades. They still intend to bury us.

Legion Contributes To Eye Bank

Christmas came last Thursday for the Medical Eye Bank of Maryland when Jack E. Dyke, commander of the American Legion, Department of Maryland, presented a check for more than $7,000 to the Eye Bank.

The contribution was money raised at a Christmas Tree Sale last December.

The non-profit Medical Eye Bank is one of a network of 70 organizations in the United States which coordinate the collection of eye tissue from deceased persons for use by surgeons in restoring the sight of people with certain kinds of blindness.

In accepting the contribution, Robert W. Catzen, chairman of the Eye Bank's Board of Advisors, praised the Legionnaires for their help in "removing the blindfolds" from persons whose sight can be restored by corneal surgery.

"What you are giving is more than money," he said. "You are giving the gift of sight."

Mt. Catzen said that eye tissue is donated—it may not be sold—and that the operations of the non-profit Eye Bank is financed entirely through contributions.

More than 300 eyes were received by the Maryland Bank last year. Most were used for operations at local hospitals, but many were flown for emergency use to other locations, including U. S. military hospitals in Japan for treatment of Vietnam casualties.

Among the projects especially suitable for city and suburban 4-H'ers are automotive, safety, health, home economics, dog care and training, community beautification and photography.

Route 1
Woodboro, Maryland

ELMER WILLIAM NEVIN
c/o National Hotel
Greenville, Pennsylvania
NO. 21,710 EQUITY
In The Circuit Court For Frederick County,
Maryland

The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Complainant, Mary Jane Nevin, from the Defendant, Elmer William Nevin.

The Bill states in substance that the parties were married on December 14, 1963, by Rev. Alt-house, a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel, in Frederick, Maryland; that the Complainant is a resident of the State of Maryland, having resided in Frederick County for more than one year last past; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, believed to be residing c/o National Hotel, Greenville, Pennsylvania; that one child was born as a result of the marriage and another child was adopted; that without any just cause or reason the Defendant abandoned and deserted your Complainant, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least eighteen (18) months, and is deliberate and final, and there is no reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation. The Bill prays that the Complainant be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, and for general relief.

It is hereupon this 24th day of July, 1967, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the said non-resident Defendant of the objects and substance of this Bill by causing a copy of the same to be published in some newspaper in Frederick County, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the 26th day of August, 1967, commanding him to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 26th day of September, 1967, to show cause, if any he has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.
