My attention has been called to the number of automobiles leaving the Pennsylvania Turnpike and entering the Gettysburg by-pass. It seems as though a number of them continue on the by-pass as though it were the Turnpike. Apparently the second lane of the by-pass which is not completed confuses the drivers and they continue on the two-lane highway just as they did on the Turnpike thereby causing head-on collisions. Provisions for the second lane of the by-pass have been provided for, rights-of-way obtained and bridges constructed with the second lane in mind. One Emmitsburgian claims he has been almost hit several times in the area by cars traveling in the wrong lane of the by-pass and advises those driving in the area to turn on their lights, even in the daytime. Just thought I'd pass this information along to you in the interest of public safety.

It was a real pleasure to hear the local Band as it played its first concert on the Square Monday night. Quite a few turned out to listen to the music and the selections and renditions were well received. It brought back pleasant memories of 25 or 30 years ago when the Band, under the direction of the late Walt Simpson, used to favor the public with concerts such as these, on the public Square. It was good news indeed, when Director Harbaugh announced that it was planned to hold another such musical presentation possibly sometime next month. We are looking forward to the date. Other good news concerning the Band is the fact that almost enough money has been raised to purchase uniforms and come next summer I believe you will see the unit thoroughly equipped. Those of you who haven't as yet, and still care to donate, please mail your contributions to the Emmitsburg Municipal Band.

The automobile industry strike for higher wages and the fact that steel companies and producers already have announced intended price hikes makes one wonder just where this inflationary spiral is leading us. There's no question about it, we're all in for a whole of a good hike and people living on fixed incomes and small salaries are beginning to worry. The automobile industry without question will grant some pay raises along with other benefits and the effect higher steel prices will have on just about everything we buy makes one shudder. There is absolutely no escape from this vicious spiral unless the Government "freezes" prices, which it is not likely to do in the face of a coming election year. Small businesses are at the breaking point while the big businesses get bigger and bigger and richer and richer. It appears that the day of the small town business is fast approaching its demise and the Government apparently doesn't give a "hang" about it. After all, the taxes from the fruitful big business is far more lucrative than from small merchants such as we have here and in thousands of other small towns and villages.

Parents are urged to see that their children have their bicycles inspected Saturday. The inspection is being held solely in the interest of the welfare of your children. The small charge of a quarter is to pay for the inspection tag, nothing else. Don't you want to see your son or daughter ride a "safe" vehicle?

Pfc. Terry Hoffman, U. S. Army, spent two days recently with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Greta Keilholtz, Hagerstown, after spending a leave with his parents in Lakeland, Fla. He was formerly stationed at Fort Knox. Mrs. Keilholtz and daughter, Bonnie, and Miss Frances Gingell, Emmitsburg, drove to Fort Dix, N. J., with him where he reported for assignment in Germany.

Mrs. Valerie Kraemer has returned home after spending one week in Fort Lauderdale and Pompano Beach, Florida.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seidel and family were Mr. and Mrs. William Stitt and family, Altoona, Pa.

Police Dept. To Inspect Bicycles Saturday

All bicycle owners within the corporate limits of Emmitsburg will be required to have their bicycles inspected and will be issued a metal plate designating that the vehicle has been inspected, Chief W. E. Law announced this week.

The inspection will be held Saturday, Sept. 9 from 9 to 12 noon and from 1 to 3 p.m. in the rear of the Town Office. Chief Law and several assistants will be on hand to personally inspect the vehicles.

A nominal fee of 25c will be charged to defray the cost of the metal license tag. Reflector tape will be placed on all bicycles and the license fee will be refunded provided the vehicle is sold, transferred or taken out of service.

Chief Law said the inspection is being held with the welfare of local youngsters in mind and will answer any questions concerning bicycles or the inspection that any parents may have in mind. All bicycles are to be operated under the same code as those used for automobiles and the cooperation of parents of youngsters living outside the corporation limits is sought by the local Police Dept. If the vehicle is to be used after daylight it must be equipped with a working headlight and rear reflector.

It is planned to issue a written list of defects found with the bikes and Chief Law invites inquiries by all parents as to the inspection. It is hoped to make the inspection a permanent setup and the Police Dept. plans to make it self regulatory by appointing two of the older boys from the three local schools as a governing board.

Mother Seton School Enrolment Over 600

Mother Seton School opened classes on Wednesday morning for Grades 2-8 and on Thursday morning for Grade 1. Enrolment has surpassed the 600 mark. Teachers were able to start instruction the first day of school because routine and business matters were settled on August 29.

Sister Mary Xavier, who has been on the Mother Seton faculty since 1959, replaces Sister Agatha as Principal. The faculty welcomes three new members: Sister Virginia Ann (Gr. 6), Sister Vincent Louise (Gr. 4), and Sister Mary Leonard (Gr. 2).

Goals for the academic year, 1967-1968, were discussed at the first faculty meeting on August 31. Students will see a step-up in the Science and Math programs. Among other plans in collaboration with civic efforts was a reminder of the Bicycle Safety Program, currently inaugurated in Emmitsburg.

Any excuse may justify delay but it does not get work accomplished.

Public Well Peased With Local Band Concert Monday

Director Thomas Harbaugh is seen above directing the Emmitsburg Municipal Band in its first public concert held on the Square Monday evening. The concert drew a large crowd and the efforts of the band were warmly received. The concert was taped for a rebroadcast over Radio Station WTHU, Thurmont, Wednesday evening.

Emmitsburgians enjoyed an old-fashioned outdoor band concert Monday evening in the Square as a finale to summer and the last holiday of the season.

Council Orders Street Repairs; Contract Let

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Council was held Thursday, Aug. 31 in the Town Office, President of the Board Quinn F. Topper presiding. Commissioner Ralph McDonnell was absent.

A letter from the Health Dept. was received and read and it suggested that heat be maintained in the sewerage and water system buildings during the winter months. A temperature of 50 degrees was advocated. Construction of a water line to the Charles Smith property on the Mountain Road was discussed and it was decided that a legal agreement should be prepared before any work on the line would begin and that if and when it was decided to lay the line it must be according to Town specifications. Another letter from the Health Dept. was received advocating the training of personnel on Sanitary Technology. Action on this communication was tabled. Congressman Mathias wrote the Mayor and Commissioners regarding progress on the Sixes Bridge Dam project.

Council instructed the town clerk, Yonnie Baker, to provide the State of Maryland information on the local Police Dept. Street repairs were discussed and it was decided to delay any repairs to School Lane this year due to school now being in session and also to explore the possibility of obtaining Federal funds for future street repairs. Bids on street repaving were received from two companies and the low bidder, H. H. Jeeter Co., Hagerstown, was awarded the contract at the bid of $6,211. Council voted to seek additional information on a right-of-way for B. H. Boyle.

It was reported that the Town Attorney, Fred Bower, was checking information on condemnation procedures pertinent to acquiring more land in the watershed area. No action was taken on the request by the Municipal Band for the Town to sponsor the unit, unit additional information concerning liability was received from the Town's attorney. A request for a donation by the Senior Citizens was tabled for the time being. Council reported three peddlers were still operating in the corporation limits without a Town license and ordered Chief W. E. Law to collect the fee for the license.

Mayor Guy A. Baker, Jr., announced unpaid bills owed by local property-owners for sewer and water line work done by Town workmen, in the amount of $272.49, would be turned over to the County Treasurer and entered as tax liens unless paid immediately.

Council ordered the outside of the Town Office painted and the contract was awarded Emmet Eyer. Due to the regular meeting date falling on Labor Day, Sept. 4, the Council held its regular meeting on Thursday night, however, members of the Council were present at the office on Labor Day evening to accommodate the public.

Commissioner Clarence P. Wachter was authorized to purchase an air compressor not to exceed $3,000. The Town maintenance crew, under supervision of Public Works Director Norman Flax, is presently engaged in installing water taps on DePaul Street prior to resurfacing that street in the near future.

Police Chief W. E. Law's monthly report showed: Motor vehicle arrests, 9; warnings issued, 21; Trips, Thurmont court 2, Gettysburg court, one; accidents investigated (in town) three; assisting State Police in accidents, 2; day complaints answered, 3, and assisting Fire Co., 1.

State Fatal List Steadily Climbing

Thirteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Eight of those killed were drivers and five were passengers. Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths; speed in six; and "driver error" was present in all but one.

In commenting on the accidents last week, Lt. Col. George Davidson, Chief of Operations of the State Police, said: "The pattern of fatalities on Maryland highways was not much different last week than it has been all during the summer months or, in fact, for a much longer time than we care to contemplate. Failure of drivers to obey the basic rules of the road, and also the rules of common sense, continues to add to the unnecessary loss of life on the roads of the State.

"Alcohol was a prominent contributing factor, and in all but one instance the car was also being operated at an excessive speed; speed alone took its toll; the driver's ignoring a traffic signal was responsible for the loss of two lives; a driver crossed the center line and struck an oncoming car, adding one more to the list; a passenger attempted to adjust a trailer while in motion; a motorcyclist lost control and overturned; and a tractor-trailer ran off the road and down an embankment.

"The list of errors was, as usual, quite varied. However, they all had the same fatal end result. "All of these accidents could have been avoided," concluded Col. Davidson. "This, in itself, is very tragic; it is even more tragic when we realize that with the apparent unconcern of many motorists there isn't much hope for an improvement in the situation."

VFW AMBULANCE

Mrs. Ruth Moser, Mt. Manor Motel; Ed Weishaar, Tract Rd.; Walter Ridge, Emmitsburg; Rafael D. Palacios, San Juan, Puerto Rico, and Inge Sholz, Washington, D. C., were transported this week to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, via the VFW ambulance.

Mildred Shankle, Thurmont, was taken to the Frederick Memorial Hospital in the vehicle. Drivers were Paul E. Humerick, Leo M. Boyle and Donald Byard.

CASTING PROBLEMS

In many cases, fishermen have become overly dependent on the use of snap connectors and swivels. While they simplify and speed plug-changing chores, they may hamper action on certain lures.

Effectiveness of many surface plugs and jigs depends on action imparted by the angler. A dangling swivel can dampen the effect of a sharp rod twitch, and even a short wire leader can cause the same lackadaisical response.

The fishing experts at Mercury outboards recommend tying leaders directly to eyes of surface plugs or splicing in a length of extra heavy monofilament when dealing with toothy fish. For trolling or casting diving plugs that rely on continuous pull for action, swivels and snaps are always advisable.

When selecting a plug or spoon for the day's first cast, carefully check the water and sky. If the water's clear, pick a dull color and finish; for murky conditions, choose bright finishes and vivid colors. The same applies when considering which way to go when the sky is blue or overcast. Just remember: go the opposite way . . . most of the time.

Many plug casting problems encountered with modern fiberglass fishing rods involve sticking ferrules. Never twist rod sections to free balky ferrules; instead, heat slightly with a match or cigarette lighter and pull apart. Never lubricate with oil; rub against nose or through hair. If sticking persists say the Mercury lads, smooth gently with fine emery cloth but use sparingly because loose joints are as troublesome as sticky ones.

BABSON

Babson's Point Of View On:
Inventories And Economic Change

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 7—Total inventories dropped to lower levels in June for the first time in six years. Some economists feel that this downturn has removed one of the last obstacles to a strong business upturn that could get under way during the final months of this

Long Uptrend

The June dip in total inventories to $137.0 billion from a May level of $137.4 billion—seasonally adjusted—brought an end to a 72-month climb. However, since the beginning of 1967, the rate of rise had been losing steam.

At the end of January, total business inventories amounted to $136.6 billion. When they made their peak four months later, they had edged up only 0.6%. So, in effect, the inventory adjustment has been in process during five of the six months of the first half of this year.

Inventory-Sales Ratio
 It should be noted that June's drop in inventories coincided with a boost in sales, thus bringing the inventory-sales ratio down to 1.55,—the lowest level this year. But one swallow does not make a summer, nor do single dips in total inventories and/or inventory-sales ratios indicate that a turnaround in the economy is assured. The hard, cold facts are that both inventories and inventory-sales ratios are still well above their year-ago levels.

Of course, it may very well turn out that the inventory adjustment—slight and brief though it has been—is just about over. Or it may be that it has only begun and that a further shaking out will take place over the next two or three months until businessmen feel they have reduced stocks to a more realistic balance with sales. Most likely, inventories and inventory-sales ratios will hold fairly close to current levels over the next month or two, following which there will probably be a gradual—not sharp—buildup in stocks.

Plant And Equipment
Expenditures

Right now, it is hard to imagine where a sufficient stimulus to business could come from that would warrant a sharp rise in stocks carried. Those who anticipate an early upsurge in business are placing a good deal of faith in a further broad rise in government expenditures and in a new wave of capital spending. If both government and capital spending do spurt smartly, inventories will respond on the upside.

But government spending alone at an accelerated rate will not turn the trick. Indeed, too great a rise in government spending (and borrowing) will tend to slow down the rate of capital expenditure by draining off funds that could be used for that purpose. As the money supply tightens further—and as interest costs are locked in a high range—businessmen whose profits are already being squeezed by higher labor and materials costs and who face the prospect of higher taxes are more likely than not to trim their capital expansion programs.

Don't Be Carried Away

A sizeable percentage of business failures are directly traceable to poor inventory control. Indeed one of the tests of a successful business is the ability to correlate inventory with sales. If you have a business—whether manufacturing, wholesaling, or retailing—you should bear in mind that inventory holdings which you as an individual can decide to build up or cut back constitute both a danger and a source of flexibility in our economic system.

In the matter of inventories, the best policy is not to be carried away by what others are doing, or by what you surmise they may be doing. Instead, study actual trends, especially in your own and related businesses, and make your decision on the basis of facts and the needs—current and prospective—of your business. Do not be afraid to boost stocks if conditions warrant it, but do not rush into large-scale forward commitments without thinking through what they entail. Above all, avoid going too deeply into debt. If you get in a tight spot later, it's cash you'll need, not goods.

Support Price
Set For Corn

The price support loan rate for the 1967 corn crop will be $1.24 per bushel in all Maryland counties, James M. Voss, Chairman, Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, has announced. This loan rate, plus a 30-cents-per-bushel special price support payment, gives a total price support rate of $1.54 per bushel for 1967-crop corn in Maryland.

A revision of the loan rate basis, effective with the 1967 crop, makes No. 2 grade corn the basic reference quality upon which loan and settlement values will be based. No. 3 grade was previously used. The change to higher grade basis, together with a 5 cent increase in the national average loan rate means all basic county loan rates for 1967 will be 7 cents per bushel above the 1966 rates.

The Chairman reminded growers that price support on the 1967 crop of corn will be available only to farmers participating in the 1967 feed grain program.

Mr. Voss also pointed out that this year's program is similar to last year's in that all the 1967 production of corn from participating farms can be put under the price support loan.

Farm storage loans and purchases for 1967-crop corn will be available from harvest time thru April 1, 1968. Loans will mature on May 1, 1968.

Fishing the jig-head worm is not difficult: it consists in merely dragging it ever so slowly across the bottom. The important thing is that you hold the rod properly—at an angle to the water of somewhere between 80 and 90 degrees. The butt of the rod should be held close to your body. As the worm is reeled in with the rod in this position, try always to be aware of "feel." Try to understand what the jig-head is doing and where it is going.—Sports Afield.

Any Day is Fish Day

If you like fish then any day is a good fish day. Who knows, maybe it will become the smart thing to serve fish on Monday, or Thursday. Any day of the week, take a package of frozen fillets from the freezer and surprise the family with this delightfully creamy fish dish.

Fish Fillets with Egg Sauce

2 tablespoons margarine
 1/4 teaspoon dried basil
 1/4 teaspoon dried parsley
 1 pound fillets of flounder
 1/2 lemon, cut in thin wedges
 1 tablespoon margarine
 1 tablespoon corn starch
 3/4 cup milk
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/8 teaspoon pepper
 1 hard cooked egg white, coarsely chopped
 1 hard cooked egg yolk, sieved

Blend 2 tablespoons margarine with basil and parsley. Spread on fillets. Place a lemon wedge on widest end of each fillet. Roll up and fasten with wooden pick. Place in shallow 2-quart baking dish. Bake in 375 degrees F. (moderate) oven 30 minutes. Remove from oven. Drain, reserving liquid. Keep fillets warm.

Melt 1 tablespoon margarine in small saucepan over medium heat. Blend in corn starch. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Stir in salt, pepper, coarsely chopped egg white and reserved liquid from baked fillets. Blend thoroughly. Serve over fillets. Sprinkle with sieved egg yolk. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Communist Guerrilla Fortress

Here is sworn testimony of a former Cuban newspaperman, Antonio Apud, who worked until, recently in Castro's Ministry of Industries: "I visited a Russian camp with 4,000 Russian officers in the Province of Havana. They were teaching the Cubans (in guerrilla warfare) and after the Cubans, there came people from all Latin American countries... We had a camp in 1966, some time in February, in a place about 9 kilometers from Havana, where they had 1,000 Congolese." (Approximately 10,000 Latin American guerrillas are being trained each year by Russians, Czechs, Vietnamese, and Spanish Communists, he said.)

Why doesn't our nation do something about this Russian-controlled Cuban fountainhead of world-wide guerrilla warfare with which World Communism expects to conquer the U.S.A. and the world? In our next column we will present some testimony on this question — from Emilio Nunez-Portuondo, twice President of the United Nations Security Council, former Cuban Ambassador to the U.N., to Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Peru, Columbia; and from other sources.

Spreading Warfare
Apud (and other witnesses heard recently by the U. S. Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security) described the mammoth flow of arms into Cuba from Russia, Belgium and Czechoslovakia, and how they are trans-shipped to nations all over the world by a Cuban-built fake "fishing fleet", vessels ranging from 50 tons to 13,000 tons and commanded, usually, by Russians.

"From Belgium," Apud said, "they get the FAL, one of their best rifles. Now they are scratching out the name FAL and they call them now 'Lenin', and they are sending this Lenin for the last two years to Peru (where the Communists established headquarters for arms distribution to adjacent countries). There are more machine guns called Metralleta... They are sending a better rifle from Russia and a machine gun, in large quantities."

"In what quantities?" asked Committee Counsel J. G. Sourwine.

"Cuba can have an army (and arm it) right now of one million," said Apud.

World Is Target
Another witness, Paul Bethel, who has worked for the U. S. State Department in Cuba and served as a Cuban "expert" on the White House staff of President Kennedy: The guerrillas that go into Central and South America are trained "by a combination of Vietcon, Red Chinese, Russians and Spanish Communists." The Russians are in control.

Mr. Bethel was asked this question: "From the intelligence that you have gathered, and you seem to have gathered a great deal of it, what is Soviet Russia's purpose in being (in Cuba)?"

His reply: "The United States is the ultimate target, the final target. But let's not forget that they not only set up an organization there to carry out subversion of Latin America, but Africa and Asia as well... They have three continents that they are dedicated openly, officially, and volubly to subvert. This is why they call (their guerrilla headquarters organization) the tri-continental organization. In Latin America, this is carried out through what is called the LASO, Latin American Solidarity Organization. This in turn, has a secretariat. It is very well planned and set up, headed by Pedro Medina Silva, who is President. They have five nations, Communists from five nations, including Puerto Rico, included on this body. Through this body flows all the equipment and so forth that the Russians are sending to Cuba and from there trans-shipped into Latin America.

Russians In Control
"The Soviets provide the propaganda line for radio broadcasts. The Soviets provide... well, they just provide everything. Of course, they stay behind the screen and operate with the Latins in front of what they call the wars of national libera-

Fall fashions are aglow with mellowed metallics, with the look of muted elegance coming into a more subtle lime-light. Silver and gold mix with new colors to glitter through everything from formal evening wear to fanciful stockings.

Betsy Johnson uses a new fabric from Novelty Textiles to create a late-day-into-evening fashion. The unusual color combination of bronze and pewter are brought to a sparkling glow with silver Lurex from Dow Badische. Surprisingly, the dress is feather-light in weight.

The dress is high and round at the neckline, falling into a slight A-line at the new midi length. The over-size triangle scarf can be worn as shown or dropped to form a wrap around the shoulders.

The shiny patent leather boots complete the costume for a total fashion look.

tion... What we have, really is a base for subversion of the entire world to expand Vietnam-type wars throughout the world, located right in Havana.

"How is that possible? (It is because of an exchange of letters between the late President Kennedy and Khrushchev, dat-

put on a pretty face

BY

Aubrey McDonald

Every woman's eyes possess natural beauty and expression. Indeed, the eyes are capable of as much vivaciousness as voice and gesture. As the focal point of your face, eyes are your most important feature.

Try these Fashion Two Twenty tips to make your eyes seem even larger, brighter and more expressive.

EYEBROW PENCIL

Eyebrows frame the eyes and affect the character of your face. So, proper eyebrow pencil application is vital. Choose a pencil shade one tone darker than your natural eyebrow color. The brow should begin above the inner corner of the eye, taper to a peak directly above the outer edge of the colored portion of the eye, and extend down to a point at a 45-degree angle with the nose.

Next, brush brows with an upward stroke. Working from the top of the brow, feather in the outline of your natural brow, accentuating the arch. Fill in any sparse areas with short, feather strokes.

Never draw a line. All eyebrow pencil strokes should be made with an upward motion, especially at the outer end of the brow to prevent a droopy look.

After gently patting on translucent powder, brush your brows again.

Eyeshadow is available in many matte or iridescent shades. Choose shadow to match or complement your eye or costume color.

Apply eyeshadow over the entire eyelid. Now, blend the color up and away from the eye in the shape of a fan toward the outer half of the brow. The eyeshadow should be just a "shadow," not a smear.

Shading pencil applied just above the upper eyelashes adds depth. Using pencil in the same shade as the shadow, shade from the lashes to the first fold of the lid and blend the color with your finger.

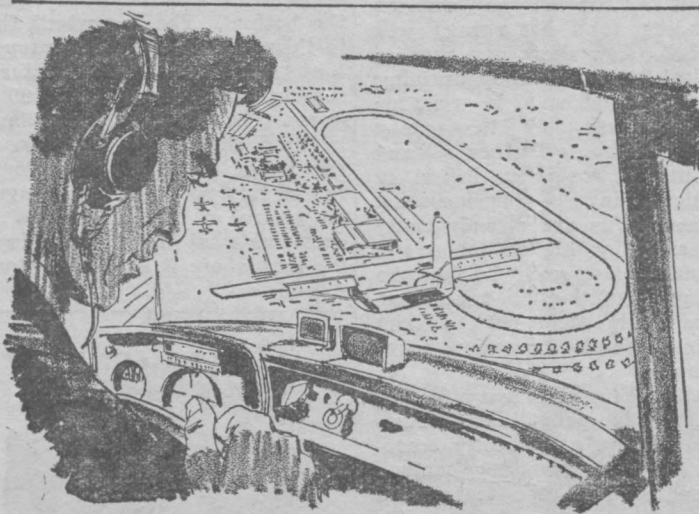

MASCARA

Your lashes can look longer and lovelier just by darkening the tips with Fashion Two Twenty's mascara wand. Apply mascara to the upper lashes with a sweeping motion. Notice how the wand separates and curls each lash.

Your completely natural and beautiful eyes are achieved with softly arched brows, gently shaded eyelids and long, silky lashes.

Now, you are truly a "vision of loveliness."

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day Racing at Highest Level

Much has been made of the late Gertrude Stein's observation that "A rose is a rose," etc. and to many, perhaps, a race track is a race track. Little La Mesa Park, however, is unique in a great many respects. First of all, it's probably the highest track in North America, being situated 6,666 feet above sea level, in a section of New Mexico famed for its scenic beauty. La Mesa Park is a community-owned corporation with some 300 stockholders at Raton, New Mexico, which has a population of 9,400, and the track had an attendance of over 6,000 on July 4. Seventy-five percent of La Mesa's patrons drive from 400 to 800 miles from points in Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma and Kansas, and some fly their own planes and park at La Mesa's private airport adjoining the track.

Not the least among La Mesa's features are its pretty publicity and public relations directors! Respectively they are Mrs. Eric (Bobbie Jo) Culver, wife of La Mesa's president, and Miss Ann Moffitt. Together they cooked up another feature for La Mesa in the "Land of Enchantment Stakes," a "double feature" which will give La Mesa a $100,000 Futurity in 1968 and a $100,000 Derby in '69. "They told us it couldn't be done, but we did it," Mrs. Culver says, and adds with pardonable pride, "We drew 369 yearling nominations from 21 states and Canada."

It Is Christ Himself Living In His Church!

The real significance of Christian feasts and Church liturgy is often misunderstood.

To some, the Church's year-round calendar of worship is primarily a memorial... a reenactment... a series of pious ceremonies. And these devotions, these Feasts of the Lord, would indeed be mere symbolism but for one all-important truth.

That is the true presence of Christ Himself in the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, which has been the central act of the Church's liturgy since the time of the Apostles.

In our own time, the late Pope Pius XII said the Liturgical Year "is no cold and lifeless representation of past events, no mere historical record. It is Christ Himself, living in His church and still pursuing His path of boundless mercy..."

And the Second Vatican Council defined the Liturgical Year as "an ever-present fountain of sanctification, of prayerful worship and of religious instruction." By recalling the mysteries of redemption in her Eucharistic celebrations, the Council said, "The Church opens to the faithful the riches of the Lord's powers and merits, so that these are in some ways made present for all time, and the faithful are enabled to lay hold upon them and become filled with saving grace."

The original and basic feast day of the Liturgical Year is Sunday—the "day of the Lord." Also of apostolic origin is the celebration of the Christian Pasch—Holy Week and Easter. The early Church instituted such commemorations as Pentecost, the Epiphany and the Ascension, and later centuries saw the development of such feasts as the Nativity, the Holy Trinity, Corpus Christi, the Sacred Heart and Christ the King.

If you would like to know more about these and other feasts and commemorations... including those devoted to the Blessed Virgin, the Apostles, martyrs and other saints... write today for our new pocket-size pamphlet entitled "The Feasts of the Lord." It will give you an interesting and exciting flashback to the earlier Christian times in which today's Feasts of the Lord had their origin... and why these events are commemorated year after year in the life of Christ's Church.

State Population Shows Large Increase

The population of Maryland was estimated at 3,615,750 as of July 1, 1966, according to the Maryland State Department of Health. This represents an increase of about 515,000 since the census of April 1, 1960, of which some 296,000 is due to the natural increase (excess of births over deaths). The remaining 219,000 increase represents the difference between those who have moved into the State and those who have left (net migration gain).

Maryland's average annual natural increase since the 1960 census has been 47,000 and the average annual net in-migration 35,000. These figures compare with an average annual increase of 44,000 for the natural growth and of 32,000 for the migration growth during the 1950-1960 decade.

According to Dr. Bettie F. Rogerson, Chief of the Division of Bio-statistics, the estimate for July 1, 1966 includes 1,965,960 living in the Baltimore Metropolitan Area—composed of Baltimore City and the nearby counties of Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Harford, and Howard. The counties of Montgomery and Prince George's in the Washington Metropolitan Area showed a population of 990,580.

The three non-metropolitan regions of the State—Northwestern Maryland, Southern Maryland, and the Eastern Shore—also have participated in the post-census growth. The Health Department's July 1, 1966 estimate for Northwestern Maryland—the four counties of Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick—was 301,560. An estimated 99,530 persons resided in the three counties of Southern Maryland—Calvert, Charles, and St. Mary's. The estimated population for the Eastern Shore—which includes the nine counties lying east of the Chesapeake Bay and the Susquehanna River—was 258,120.

The Health Department also has made available a series of projections of the population of the State and its subdivisions for 1967 through 1971. Assuming continuations in the present trends of natural and migratory growth, a total state population of 4,000,000 may be expected by mid-1971. In the half-decade between July 1, 1966 and July 1, 1971, the Baltimore Metropolitan Area is projected to gain about 123,000 persons, reaching a total of 2,088,600. The two Maryland counties in the Washington Metropolitan Area are expected to increase by about 230,000 in this period to attain a total population of 1,220,200.

Copies of these population estimates in more detail may be obtained from the Division of Bio-statistics, Maryland State Department of Health, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Md. 21201.

Pansy Time

August is pansy seed-sowing time in Northern United States and Southern Canada. Seeds of Show Mixture, shown above, will produce flowers earlier than most other mixtures and plants continue blooming longer in summer, even in hot, sunny places.

There are really two pansy times each year—spring, when the flowers bloom (and children exclaim over their resemblance to human faces) and late summer when seeds are sown for those spring blossoms.

August is the month to sow pansy seeds in Northern United States and Southern Canada. September and October are better months for sowing in California and the Southern States.

It's best to sow seeds in a raised bed or cold frame placed in a partly shaded spot. A raised bed is easy to make by setting 4 pieces of 2 x 4 on edge to form a rectangle, then pegging them in place.

Inside such a rectangle you can control soil and watering and, obviously, drainage will be excellent. Fill the bed with a mixture of 1/2 each good garden soil, sand and granulated peat moss. Firm the surface, then water with a fine spray to settle the soil.

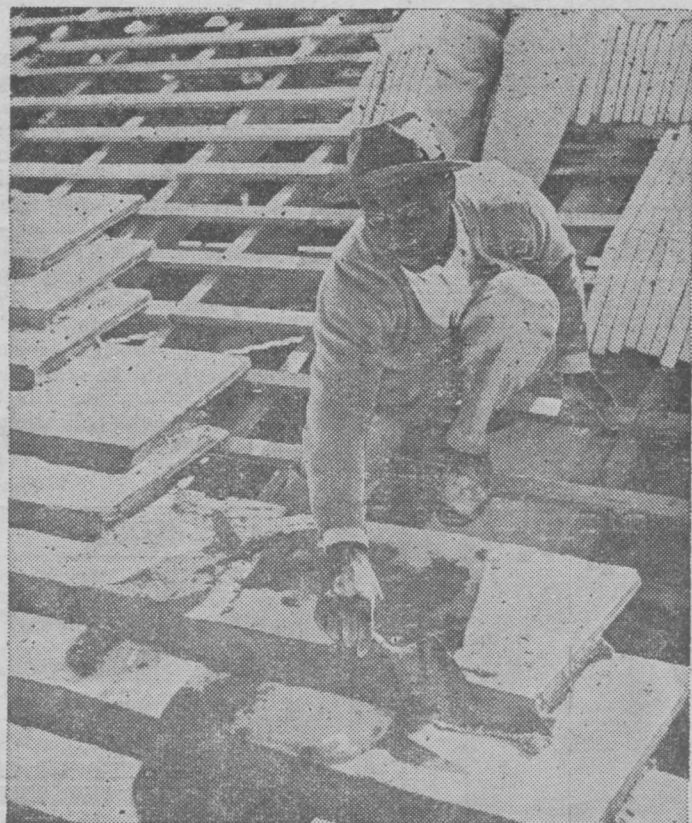

Sow the seeds by broadcasting thinly and evenly over the top of the soil or by sprinkling them in 1/2 inch-deep furrows made with the tip of a pencil 4 inches apart. Seeds may be covered very lightly with sifted sand, soil or, better yet, sifted sphagnum moss because this reduces chances of disease.

Cover the bed with burlap and water through it so seeds won't wash away. Keep the soil evenly moist but not soaking for 8 to 14 days, by which time seeds will have sprouted. Remove burlap when the first plants show.

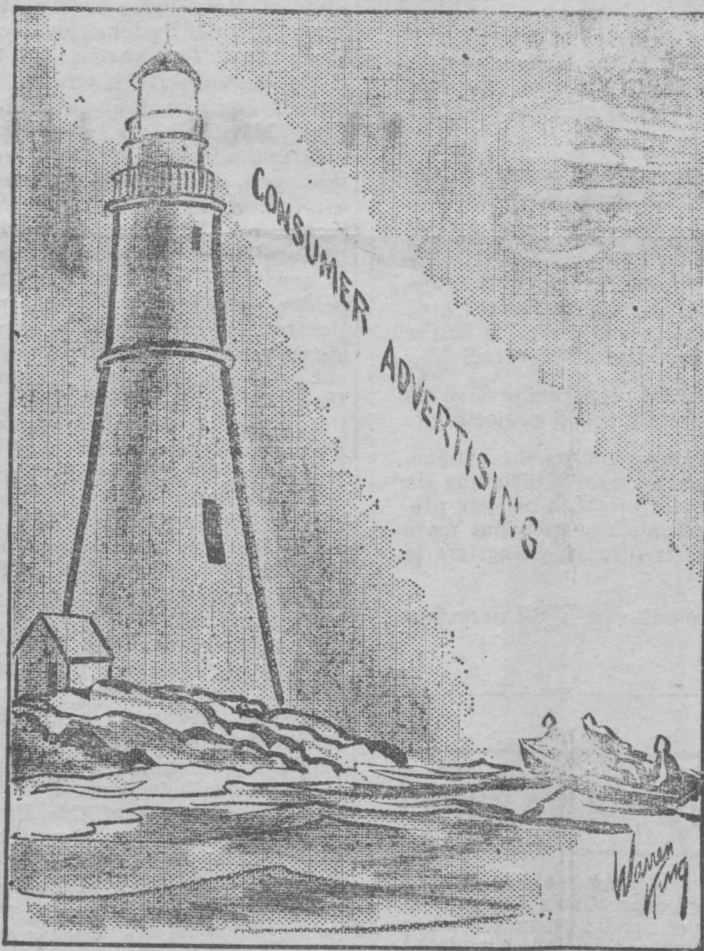

Keep seedlings watered, weeded and shade them if necessary. When they have 6 to 8 leaves, transplant to set 6 to 9 inches apart. In the North, transplant to a place where you can protect them with a covering of straw over winter. In the South, set them where they are to bloom in the garden.

Plants produce most blooms when growing in fairly rich soil and when seed production is prevented by frequent picking of the flowers.

BUILDING A BERMUDA ROOF—A workman cements into place one of the finely-cut slices of Bermuda limestone which compose Bermuda's distinctive roofs. When completed the roof will be whitewashed and fitted with a drain which will funnel rain-water into a storage tank, providing the owner with his supply of fresh water. All Bermuda houses are required, by law, to have a sloping white roof to catch drinking water. This gives the Bermuda landscape a quaint, harmonious charm almost unique. F.N.S.

GUIDING LIGHT

Mountain Snow

The green and white foliage of Snow-on-the-mountain forms a pretty contrast to bright blooms.

In many gardens this summer you'll see a plant whose white-margined bracts and upper leaves form a welcome contrast to the bright colors of annual flowers. Called Mountain Snow or Snow-on-the-mountain, its variegated leaves are just as pretty used with flowers in arrangements for the house as they are in the garden.

Snow-on-the-mountain is easy to grow from seeds. In fact it is native to the great plains from the Dakotas to Texas. Plants thrive in sunny places, grow about 2 feet high with leaves that may be light green, green with white edges or, occasionally, all white.

The flowers are small and hardly noticeable in the centers of the white bracts that surround them, but if you look closely you'll discover them.

Stems exude a white juice when cut. This milky substance can cause pain if it gets into an open sore so cut stems should be handled with care.

Also because of the milky juice and its speedy loss after picking or cutting, the cut ends of the stems should be singed or plunged into boiling water immediately after they leave the plant. Either treatment seals the cells and makes it possible to keep stems in water in good condition for several days.

Why Use Aglime?

This is a question frequently asked by farmers throughout the country. They theorize that if it isn't put on this year—next year will be o.k. Why do they arrive at this conclusion?

By any set of standards it is very low priced as agricultural liming materials range from $2.50 to $14.00 per ton spread on the field.

It reacts slowly in the soil and agronomists agree that, for optimum benefit, it should be applied several months in advance of seeding or planting. As evidence of slow reaction, the farmer points to the area where a high nitrogenous fertilizer was applied. The crop response is quick—but repeated applications lower the pH and decrease the response of successive applications of "N".

The soil has become "sour" or "acid". An application of liming material is needed to correct this condition to restore the effectiveness of subsequent applications of fertilizer. This will increase production.

Single Plant For Color

Just look at the color a single plant of an annual flower gives to each of these plantings. Above, a small grouping of one holly, one juniper, one rock and some stones is set off and brightened by one lone plant of dwarf marigold.

While here, a darker rock, plus a ground cover of stones (which eliminates weeding), is made gay and interesting to see by the addition of a single petunia plant. Just one plant in each case changed a dull landscape to something special.

4-H Auto Clubs help put the Lid on Accidents!

Half the population, 102 million persons, drive cars, trucks, motorcycles, buses, taxis. Deaths and injuries involving 24.3 million drivers cost $10 billion, according to the National Safety Council. Four of every 10 drivers under 20 years of age were involved in accidents last year, nearly twice as many as all other age groups.

These overwhelming figures have spurred the Cooperative Extension Service to activate the national 4-H Automotive program for boys and girls 14 to 19 years old. An estimated 65,000 youngsters are enrolled this year.

The 4-H program is not a driver training program. It is designed to supplement school driver training courses by teaching driver responsibility, traffic laws, safety and desirable driver attitudes. Simple mechanics and car care also are covered.

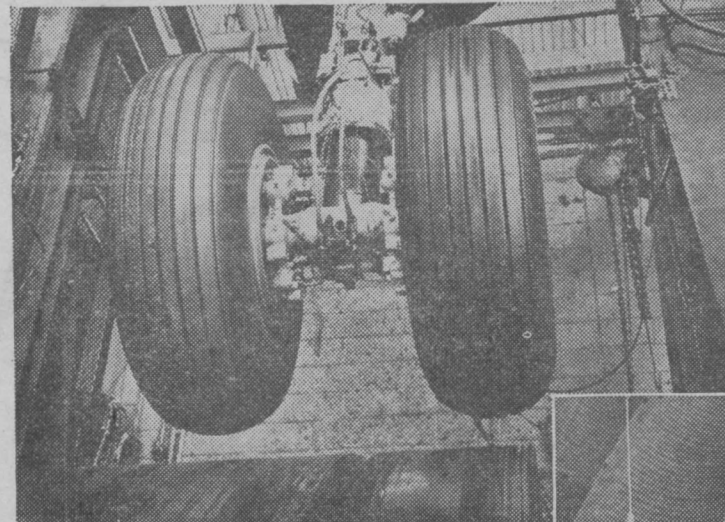

The 4-H program has been recognized for preparing pre-drivers for learners' permits and for its community action projects.

The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company sponsors the automotive program and provides annual incentive awards including six $750 scholarships. Carl R. Miller, director of youth activity programs for Firestone, suggests that parents can help put more safe drivers on the road by urging their teenage youngsters to join a 4-H Automotive club.

A call to the County Extension office will supply the necessary 4-H enrollment information.

The ZIP Column

In addition to Postal Services Day and the distribution of the ZIP-A-LIST Kits, on September 20, which I announced last week, rural routes will be inspected during the same week.

The week of September 18-23, 1967, is the official designated time for the annual inspection of rural routes. Mail receptacles will be inspected, as to proper height, stability, and general appearance. Patrons will be notified, if discrepancies are found. Our local office route inspection, conducted last April, was very successful, and I am hopeful that this P. O. Regional designated inspection, will be likewise.

The Treasury Department is preparing to launch its school savings program for U. S. Savings Stamps, for the 1967-68 school year. In keeping with this drive, a new poster shall be placed on our bulletin board in the near future, and I herewith remind our school children, that savings stamps are available at this office.

We have a small supply of Zip Code seals (to be used the same as Easter Seals, on the flaps of your envelopes) available at our office. It would be greatly appreciated if you would ask for, and use these seals, as an additional measure in promoting the Zip Code System.

It is no longer permissible to glue or otherwise fasten, clippings (such as crossword puzzle entries), to a postal card. Additions of this nature must be placed within an envelope.

An average of 900 first class letters were dispatched from our office, per day, during the month of August.

Serenading is heard constantly, by our friendly crickets, "Pete", who seems to have found a home at our office.

15 Seminaries Represented At Mount Workshop

Spiritual directors from fifteen major Roman Catholic seminaries met for a three-day workshop, August 27-31, at Mount St. Mary's Seminary, to discuss and compare the program for spirituality in major seminaries.

The nature of the diocesan priesthood and its proper spirituality; the role of the community in the formation of diocesan priests; and the use of professional psychological assistance in seminaries with its relationship between spiritual direction and counseling were the major topics.

Rev. Alfred Hughes, St. John's Seminary, Brighton, Mass., delivered a paper on the "Contemporary Theology of the Diocesan Priesthood." Father Hughes traced the historical development of the Catholic Church's understanding of the priesthood and the notion of the priesthood of the laity as distinguished from the ministerial priesthood.

Practical means for the preparing of young men for the priestly role were discussed by Rev. Thomas G. Smith of the Mount, who was also director of the workshop.

Rev. Peter A. Chiara, Immaculate Conception Seminary, Huntington, N. Y., presented a paper outlining the principles governing the spiritual director's formation of the community life. He explored four areas: 1) the director's responsibility for the seminary community; 2) the deepening of the Christian spirit in the community; 3) the extension of the community's influence beyond the confines of the seminary; and 4) the unity of the community with the Pope, Bishops, faculty, and local parishes.

The questions, "What does community life in a seminary offer towards the student formation?" and "Why live in a community?" were discussed under the leadership of Rev. William Hill, S.S., St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, Maryland.

"Counseling the Seminarians" was the topic of Dr. Alan F. Greenwald, director of psychiatric services at Seton Psychiatric Institute, Baltimore. Rev. George Deas, Cathedral College, Douglass, N. Y., also presented a paper on pastoral counseling.

At the conclusion of the three-day session a permanent organization was formed to be known as the "Eastern Regional Conference of Spiritual Directors of Major Seminaries." Father Smith was elected as executive secretary.

Others in attendance included: Rev. John Conway, C.M., Our Lady of the Angels Seminary, Albany, N. Y.; Rev. Benedict Ballou, O.F.M., St. John Vianney Seminary, East Aurora, N. Y.; Rev. Charles O'Rourke and Rev. Eugene Sullivan, St. Charles Baroque Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa.; Rev. William Ward, St. Pius X Seminary, Dalton, Pa.; Rev. Denis J. Hanly, M.M., Maryknoll Seminary, Maryknoll, N. Y.; Very Rev. John J. Sullivan, St. Joseph's Seminary, Yonkers, N. Y.; Rev. Augustine Schuetz, O.S.B., St. Vincent's Seminary, Latrobe, Pa.; Rev. Paul Poeffler, C.M., St. Vincent de Paul, Boynton Beach, Fla.; Rev. Gerald J. Donovan, Pope John XXIII National Seminary, Weston, Mass.; Rev. Anthony Cappee, C.S., St. Charles Seminary, Staten Island, N. Y., and Rev. John D'Arcy, St. John's Seminary, Brighton, Mass.

Rt. Rev. George D. Mulcahy, rector of the Mount Seminary, was host to the group and an observer at the workshop session.

OUR LIBRARY

Your Emmitsburg Library has a fine collection of books to interest all ages. Catering to the young, the library features a story hour every Saturday morning at 10:00 a.m. Leave the tots in the library while you attend to short errands in town. The library is now operating on the winter hours. Daily, 2:30-5; evenings, Monday and Wednesday, 7-9 and Saturday, 9:00-12:30.

New books added to the collection this week include a replacement of an old favorite: "Kristin Lavransdatter" by Sigrid Undset. Winner of the Nobel prize in 1928.

"A Woman Named Anne," by Henry Cecil. This delightful and knowledgeable novel should entertain and inform a wide audience.

"Night of Clear Choice," by Doris Miles Disney. This is the author's 34th crime club novel. Reviewers are calling this the best performance yet.

"I Met a Boy I Used to Know," by Lenora Mattingly Weber. This book will interest high school students who have read other books about the delightful Belford family and of the popular Beany Malone stories.

"Fun with Skits, Stunts and Stories," by Helen and Larry Eisenberg. For any group or get-together. A funny, merry collection of skit and stunt ideas plus a generous measure of laugh-provoking stories.

"This Way to Happiness," by Gilbert Hay. A collection of poems to help you appreciate anew the beauty and wonder of living. Published by Simon and Schuster.

"Job Corps," by Christopher Weeks, Dollars and Dropouts. A very informative book about the beginning of the Job Corps. Christopher Weeks, as close associate to Sargent Shriver, has been in a position to see it all. He was there from the beginning, devoting two and a half years of personal dedication, strain, and hardship to the Job Corps. His detailed and lucid recounting of its checkered legislative history gives the reader a clear and intimate view of government in action.

Senator Smelser Lists Scholarships

A new program of awarding Senatorial Scholarships was adopted during the recent session of the Maryland Legislature. Senator Charles Smelser said this week.

Scholarships under the old program were either tuition or tuition plus room and board awarded to students to a specific school.

The new program is based on units with a minimum of one unit and a maximum of six units that can be awarded to any student. Each Senator is allowed 58 units yearly with a value of $14,500.

High School students must pass a state competitive examination before they can be considered for a senatorial scholarship, while students attending college may be considered if they are meeting the academic requirements of the school they are attending.

The new program makes it possible to help more students obtain their college education.

I have endeavored to base my awards primarily on the needs of the students, taking into account money earned during summer work, help from students' families, if possible, school grants, as well as student loans.

Interviewing students for scholarship awards has been one of the most rewarding parts of my work as a Senator. It was very gratifying to me to talk with these intelligent students and find that they face the future with confidence and with a determination to further their educations.

Four of 16 Senatorial Scholarships have been awarded to the following Frederick County students in the Thurmont area: Bruce M. Baltzell, Johns Hopkins U.; Dennis E. Black, Mt. St. Mary's; Darryl E. Burns, Western Maryland; Earl Draper, Western Maryland; and Katherine Corley of Frederick, St. Joseph College.

Research Study Aids Athletes' Conditioning

A giant step toward helping coaches and trainers solve the problem of feeding athletes prior to competition was taken recently when Carnation Company published results of its research studies on the care and feeding of athletes.

Recognizing that diet is an important aspect of conditioning and performance, coaches and trainers have long been searching for feeding systems which eliminate diet-induced distress, hunger and nervous stomach, yet provide essential nutrients while not interfering with performance.

The studies showed that a liquid meal, such as instant breakfast, when taken as close as 30 minutes to one hour prior to competition, provided all the necessary nutrients, could be readily ingested by the athletes, with no ill effects before, during or after their performance.

Although the studies were originally conducted with track men and swimmers at a major western university, some football players have now adopted it for their training table regimen.

Latest to regularly include the liquid meal in their conditioning program are crew members at Loyola University, Los Angeles. Before each daily workout, the crew members mix a glass of their favorite flavor right in the boat house. They feel it gives them an "energy edge" for the strenuous workout ahead. They also cite the ease of carrying and mixing the product wherever they happen to be.

Instant breakfast also won approval when it was sampled by coaches attending the recent American Football Coaches Clinic meeting in Santa Monica, California.
