BABSON

Writes . . .

Babson's Point Of View On: Modernizing State Governments
 BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 21—Mounting social unrest in our cities admittedly stems from various causes. But a growing number of public officials, educators, sociologists, and businessmen feel that the cities are stymied—in their efforts to improve conditions—by outmoded state constitutions and laws.
 Overshadowed By Washington
 Our founding fathers established a federal system comprising (1) a strong central government with specific powers limited by the Constitution and (2) effective state governments to act as a checkrein on this central authority. Their concept of the proper division of power is spelled out in Article X of the Bill of Rights: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

 For the first 125 years of our history as a nation, this division of power was adhered to. But beginning early in the present century the federal government has been growing stronger and more authoritarian, casting an ever-lengthening shadow over the states. Climbing local costs for education, public welfare, and other services—now threatening to expand beyond the ability of the states to pay—are causing real concern. At last, the urgency of the need to strengthen our system by modernizing state governments is being widely recognized.

Weak Executive Departments
 CED, the Chamber, and other groups have made several further recommendations . . . with basic agreement on one point: That Governors of states should be given more authority and responsibility and be provided with adequate staffs and budgets to permit the proper exercise of such authority and responsibility.
 The Massachusetts Experiment
 Considerable interest is now being focused on Massachusetts, one of the original 13 states—which is about to move toward the first major reorganization of state government since colonial days. Last month, the federal government approved a $722,000 comprehensive study to determine how best to update the Bay State's executive department.

 Uncle Sam, through the Department of Housing and Urban Development, will contribute about $480,000 toward the project and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will pay the remainder. Savings of up to $50 million annually are estimated once the reorganization is accomplished.
 Project For Foundations
 In due course, Washington will probably finance, through grants or otherwise, projects to streamline government operations of other states. As the need for such updating becomes more urgent, the way may be opened for businessmen to sponsor, finance, or at least participate in such reorganization projects.
 Often our large foundations are criticized for making so many and such large grants for projects in foreign lands. It seems to us that the buttressing of our whole federal system through the revamping of state governments would be a domestic work of a scope and importance worthy of the attention of some of these foundations.

'68s Top Secrets are here
1968 Chevrolets

The 1968 Chevrolets are the very essence of modern design. Every line, every curve is in close harmony. It's a smooth, uncluttered look with roof lines compatible with body lines, grilles and bumpers that blend gracefully into long, rounded fenders. Clean, flowing, beautiful in their simplicity, these '68 Chevrolets are rich and advanced in styling beyond any you've ever seen.

A MORE SILENT RIDE

And for 1968, we've gone to every length to give you more peace and quiet inside. The most sophisticated computers have been used to strategically place body mounts and successfully isolate noise and vibration. Shock absorbers have been improved. The wheel stance on many models is wider for greater smoothness. Exhaust systems have been redesigned to make them whisper-quiet. Even the clocks tick more softly. A sound car is a silent car. The '68 Chevrolets are the most silent, highest quality cars we've ever built.

BETTER PERFORMANCE

There are new engines, a bigger standard Six and V8. There's a new 250-hp V8 you can order that runs on regular fuel. Many new engine components increase dependability and keep your new Chevrolet running stronger. There's a new rear axle ratio you can add for greater economy. On most engines equipped with automatic transmissions, there's a special heater for the carburetor which gives you more efficient performance in cold weather. And with every engine, you get the new GM exhaust emission control.

UNIQUE ASTRO VENTILATION

There's a whole new idea in ventilation, called Astro Ventilation, for Camaro, Corvette and the elegant Caprice Coupe. It's also available on many other models. By opening two new vent-ports on the instrument panel, you bring in outside air that can be directed where you want it. This way, you can leave your windows rolled up and add still more to your peace and quiet.

PROVED SAFETY FEATURES

You get the proved GM-developed energy absorbing steering column, folding front seat back latches, dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, plus many more new features. Among them: energy absorbing front seat backs, and safety armrests that shield the door handles.

MUCH MORE THAT'S NEW

There are new roof lines, some formal and graceful, others sporty and quick. There are new instrument panels, richly designed and all controls within easy reach. There are new interiors, new vinyls, new fabrics, new colors. There are models with Hide-A-Way windshield wipers and headlights that disappear behind grilles. There are new side marker lamps, new recessed taillights. There's even a new ignition alarm buzzer that reminds you not to walk away and leave your keys in the car.

These are the newest, the most different, the most dramatically changed Chevrolets ever. And they're at your Chevrolet dealer's now. You'll thoroughly enjoy slipping behind the wheel, experiencing the smooth new handling and library-quiet ride and, more than anything, seeing and feeling the even greater quality built into every new Chevrolet for 1968.

Be smart! Be sure! Buy now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

There's more quality and value built into Chevrolets than ever before, making every new 1968 model an even better buy!

SUSPECT CHOLERA FIRST!

An outbreak of hog cholera caused by improper use of modified live virus vaccine has resulted in the destruction of a herd of over 20 pigs in Somerset County, and a threat to Maryland's "Phase IV" hog cholera status.

Dr. T. A. Ladson, Director, Livestock Sanitary Service, Maryland State Board of Agriculture (MSBA), issued an urgent warning against use of any modified live virus vaccine without proper safeguards and supervision by a licensed veterinarian.

The use of such vaccines without the written consent of the State Board of Agriculture is a violation subject to a fine of up to $500.

The "selling, giving away or distribution" of such vaccines, except by authorized persons meeting certain conditions, is also a violation of the law.

Quick detection and immediate destruction, under MSBA supervision, of the infected herd confined the latest outbreak to the farm on which it was discovered.

This tight control of the infection also makes it possible for the State to keep its "Phase IV" hog cholera status, permitting the continuation of joint Federal-State indemnity payments for swine destroyed to prevent spread of the disease.

However, Dr. Ladson points out that improper use of modified live virus vaccine, in violation of Maryland law, may prevent vent indemnity payments for herds which must be destroyed, resulting in heavy financial loss for owners.

"It is very important," Dr. Ladson warns, "that modified live virus vaccine be used only under careful supervision of experts in veterinary medicine."

Dr. Ladson also urges all swine owners in the state to watch their animals closely and report immediately any suspicious illness, as "quick detection is the only way to prevent spread of this highly infectious swine virus disease."

"It is better to make a hundred examinations and find in cholera, than to let one case slip by," Dr. Ladson says.

He urges all swine owners to "suspect hog cholera first" when a sick pig is noticed and take immediate steps for veterinary examination of the animal.

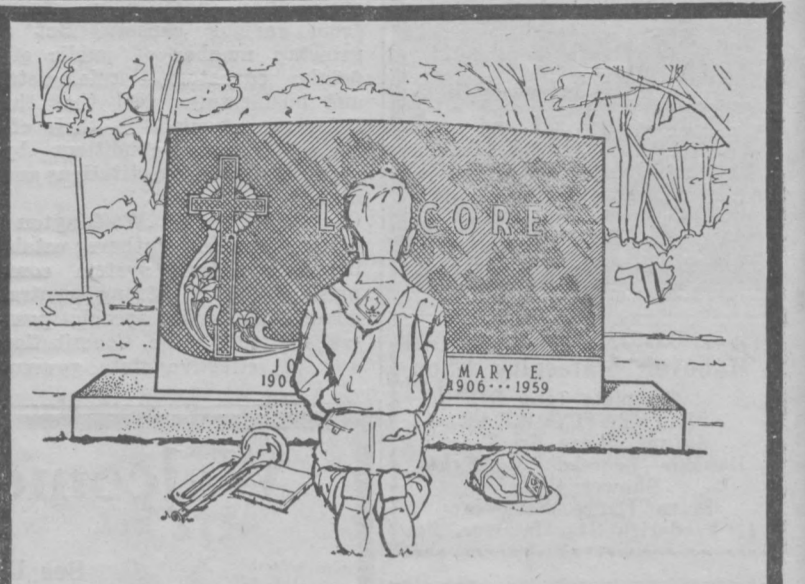

High School Class Size Declines

A sustained decline in the size of classes in Maryland public high schools is evident in a new study just released by the Maryland State Department of Education.

Statewide median figure is 29.4 students per class in public high schools in 1966. This latest figure represents the third straight year of reduced class size and compares with a 1962 class size of 30.2 students.

State Superintendent of Schools James A. Sensenbath described the trend as "particularly gratifying in light of the encouragement and financial inducement that the State offers local school systems to reduce class size." He said smaller classes are fundamental to improved education.

"Ideally," the State official said, "students should attend some classes in groups of only five or six to get maximum benefit from their educational experience." He added that lecture-type high school classes may number up to a hundred or more students without diluting

"I'll put Flameless Electric Heat in your present home for just a few dollars down!"

It costs so little for heavenly electric warmth in every room.

complete safety
No other heating system can offer the safety features of flameless electricity. Since electric heat requires no combustion, there is no danger from leaking fuel systems, fumes, explosions or combustible fuel storage. When you're away from home you'll never need worry about the safety of your property.

luxurious comfort
Only flameless electric heating offers you controlled, even warmth in each room of your home. A proper balance between heat and relative humidity assures you of superb comfort no matter how severe the weather outside may be. Flameless electric heating... truly the most comfortable heating system ever developed.

long-term economy
While other costs increase, the price trend of electricity and electric heating has been consistently decreasing. With electricity, you'll also save on maintenance, cleaning and depreciation. An electric heating system will last the life of your home.

individual room thermostats
With flameless electric heating you can choose just the temperature you want for each room in your home. No more hard to heat areas or hot spots to make you uncomfortable. Just set the thermostats and enjoy controlled comfort in each and every room.

carefree convenience
With electricity heating your home you'll be free of maintenance problems. No fuel delivery worries, no furnace or flues to clean, no ashes to carry out. Setting your thermostats is about all the work you'll ever have with an electric heating system.

extra living space
Since electric heat requires no furnace or fuel storage area, and no pipes or ducts, this means that your home will have more usable living space. You can actually add a room to your home in the space normally occupied by a flame-type heating system.

LOW COST TO OPERATE!

If you've always thought electric heat was too expensive, then think again. Today an average five-room home can be heated electrically for less than $125 a year. An average six-room home can be heated electrically for less than $160 a year. But even that's not the full story because there's a special low electric heating rate that also lowers the cost of all electricity used in your home. And there's no yearly service contract cost and no cost for filters. Electric heat... truly the best friend your budget ever had.

Air Force Seeking Young Women

Young women who enjoy and do crossword puzzles may well be missing an excellent opportunity in the Air Force said Sgt. Don Ritchie of the Frederick Air Force Recruiting Office. "You see", explains the sergeant, "The ability to do crossword and other puzzles well is a good indication that a young woman would also do well in the Field of Cryptography — and that is one of the many Air Force career fields open to Women in the Air Force who enlist now."

Other fields open to women between the ages of 18 and 27, include finance, communications, weather and public information. The Air Force conducts thorough and complete training in these and many other interesting jobs. WAF students attending training courses also receive full pay and benefits, an offer which Sgt. Ritchie describes as "hard to match anywhere else."

Young women with a high school diploma, who are unmarried, U. S. citizens and interested in learning more about their opportunities in "Air Force Blue", may contact Sgt. Ritchie at 1 East Church St., Frederick, or by calling 662-8313.

President Kennedy, on October 22, 1962, told the nation in a dramatic telecast that Soviet Russia had installed offensive H bomb missiles in Cuba which constituted a threat to the security of the USA, he had said that reports from Cuban refugees and alarms sounded by several Senators on the missile buildup in Cuba constituted "rash talk" and that Cuba posed no danger to the U. S. The President, though he did not admit it, had been dead wrong.

In his TV speech to the nation, Mr. Kennedy acknowledged that on September 11 (1962) he had been reassured by an official Soviet Government statement that "The armaments and military equipment sent to Cuba are designed exclusively for defensive purposes." But the President said on October 22: "That statement was false." Yet, on September 11, he had accepted it, had trusted the Soviets. In his October "crisis" address, Mr. Kennedy said further: "Only last Thursday, as evidence of this rapid offensive buildup was already in my hand, Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko told me in my office" that the Soviet buildup in Cuba was solely for "defensive capabilities." That statement, said the President, "was false." Thus Mr. Kennedy was a personal witness to a monstrous act of Soviet Communist deceit. Lives of 175 million Americans were jeopardized by the deceit and the American President's vulnerability to it, even momentarily.

Intelligence And Conclusions Wrong
The New York Times, not famed as an alarmist newspaper, said of the Soviet missiles in Cuba (October 28, 1962): "The accuracy and added firepower of intermediate - range missiles in Cuba could in the view of military analysts give Russia 'first strike' power possibly capable of neutralizing U. S. power to retaliate."

But in early September the Times had accepted the Administration's repeated scoffings at those who had warned of the missiles. On September 17, when Cuban refugees were reporting medium - range (1500 mile) missiles being installed by the Russians in Cuba, Senator Stuart Symington asked Secretary of State Rusk: "How do you know that this is essentially a defense buildup (as the Soviets were claiming)". Mr. Rusk replied that this Administration conclusion was based "upon what we consider to be very accurate information." The information proved to be wrong.

Secretary Rusk's lieutenant, Wm. P. Bundy, Chief, Office of Security Affairs, described the missile in Cuba which Senator Symington felt was the Russian 1500-mile H-bomb carrier, as follows: "The missile is firmly identified, with first-rate eyewitness evidence, as the SA-2 (anti-aircraft, defensive) . . . the range . . . about 25 miles." This was a colossal error.

The President of the United States, the U. S. Secretary of State, the Defense Department, and the Office of Security Affairs all were proved to be wrong in their conclusions concerning the establishment of a Soviet missile base in Cuba which could have possibly knocked out entirely (according to the New York Times) our nation's capability to retaliate against Russian aggression. This is a very grave and disturbing bit of recent history—all the more so when we consider frightening reports now coming out of Cuba, (see our recent columns) and the apparent refusal of our policy makers even to thoroughly investigate the reports or face the facts.

Security At Stake Again
Conclusions that must be drawn are these: U. S. secret commitments to Soviet Russia make of Cuba, now a great Soviet fortress waging guerrilla warfare throughout the Western Hemisphere, a sanctuary, safe from invasion; and our policy makers, not accepting Soviet Communism's historic declaration of world conquest, do accept the Soviet's propaganda declaration of "peaceful co-existence." In his early dealings with Khrushchev in the 1962 "crisis", President Kennedy, the New York Times, and the American press generally let it be known that the U. S. must have on-site eye - witness confirmation that Russia was withdrawing the missiles, and that a U. S. pledge to prevent an invasion of Cuba was unthinkable.

Yet, President Kennedy backed down. No on-site inspection occurred (the missiles may or may not have been withdrawn); and the U. S. President did commit this nation to safeguarding Communist Cuba from invasion! And Khrushchev, on NBC-TV, July 11, 1967 said President Johnson had pledged to carry out this commitment.

Now our foreign policy makers are scoffing again as reports from Cuba tell of mighty Soviet missiles, a gigantic military buildup, the headquartering in Cuba of guerrilla warfare training for three continents, the arming of guerrilla forces thru-out Latin America. Are our policy makers wrong again about Soviet Russia and Cuba? Our lives are in their hands!

1968 Ford Mustang On Display Today

The Ford Mustang, America's favorite fun car, arrives on the 1968 scene with new power, improved performance, all-new interior trim schemes, numerous styling refinements and new comfort and convenience features.

"Since its introduction in April, 1964, the Mustang has won the hearts of more than 1.6 million car buyers," said Gordon B. MacKenzie, Ford Division general sales manager.

"Mustang continues its phenomenal sales leadership in the face of new competition in the specialty car market this year. Its popularity is still growing and we fully expect 1968 sales to reflect this fact," he said.

"Mustang continues its phenomhighly successful long hood, short rear deck, sports-car styling that has proved so appealing to the American car buyer. The deeply inset grille, outboard mounted single headlamps and full-width bumper combine with the wide front tread to give the Mustang a low, road-hugging appearance.

Three models again are offered in the Mustang line-up—the hard-top, convertible and 2+2 fastback. The 1968 interiors feature newly designed bucket seats for safety, new trim patterns and a wider selection of colors. The instrument panel is designed for safety and convenience, with instruments and controls positioned directly in front of the driver.

A modification to the front suspension system gives the car improved riding and handling characteristics.

Greater performance is offered with a new 390 horsepower 427-cubic-inch four-barrel V-8 engine option. It provides outstanding performance and durability, plus such features as stronger crankshaft material, new lightweight pistons and more rigid connecting rods.

A unique tapered stripe that follows the character line on the side of the car is offered as part of the 1968 GT Equipment Group option. The stripe accents Mustang's performance-oriented, sports-car styling.

Ford Motor Company's Improved Combustion System (IMCO) is standard on all models equipped with the Select Shift Cruise-O-Matic transmission. Ford's Thermactor Emission Control System is standard on all models with manual transmission. Both systems are designed to reduce the emission of hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide in the engine exhaust.

Since its introduction, Mustang has offered an extensive list of optional equipment, allowing the buyer to tailor this car to his personal preference for luxury, comfort, convenience, performance, economy and sports appeal.

The 1968 Mustang offers an even greater selection of high quality options including AM/FM stereo radio, rear window defogger and a collapsible spare tire which provides additional trunk space.

For 1968, Mustang offers the widest selection of engine-transmission combinations in its history. Buyers may select from six different engines starting with the 115-horsepower 200 cubic-inch six. This engine, which provides outstanding economy with good performance, is standard in all Mustangs.

Optional Mustang engines are the 195-horsepower 289-cubic-inch V-8; the new 230-horsepower 302-cubic-inch four-barrel GT V-8; the 390-cubic-inch GT engine, and the new 390-horsepower 427-cubic-inch four-barrel high performance V-8.

Expect Increase In Flu Cases

Dr. John H. Janney, Chief, Division of Communicable Diseases, Maryland State Department of Health, warned today that a substantial number of cases of A-type influenza may be expected in the 1967-68 season.

He strongly recommended influenza vaccination for persons over 45 and especially those over 65 and for those individuals with chronic illnesses. He also stressed the need for immunizing patients in nursing homes, chronic disease hospitals and similar institutions where living arrangements may facilitate the spread of the disease.

Dr. Janney's prediction is based on the fact that A-type influenza usually occurs in two year cycles, B-type every three years. Since there has been no major outbreak of influenza in Maryland in the past five years, a large portion of the population is probably susceptible to both types. A new bivalent vaccine is available to protect against both A and B strains, Dr. Janney said.

"Immunization should begin as soon as practicable after October 1 and ideally should be completed by early December," he advised. Persons who require immunization and have not been vaccinated since 1963 should receive a primary immunization series, consisting of an initial shot followed by a second two months later. Individuals who have been immunized subsequent to July, 1963 need have only a single booster dose which may be given anytime, but preferably in November, Dr. Janney said.

Vaccination is not advised for children or pregnant women unless they are chronically ill.

The Maryland State Department of Health has, for a number of years, encouraged the annual influenza immunization of personnel responsible for maintaining community services. Each year an increasing number of industries are offering free vaccination to employees to lessen absenteeism.

Surplus Bins Available

Surplus grain storage bins are being moved out of storage sites in the mid-West for sale in storage-short areas of the East and Southeast, according to James M. Voss, Chairman, Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee. Maryland is receiving about 160 of these bins Mr. Voss advised. Bins are the property of the Commodity Credit Corporation which are no longer needed now that government disposal policies and adjustment programs have brought grain supplies into better balance.

All storage structures being offered for sale are galvanized steel, in excellent condition with a storage capacity of 3,250 bushels. Each unit is complete even down

MAN'S BEST FRIEND IN NEED INDEED

Man's best friend is his dog. But, is dog's best friend his master? "Yes, if he merits it," answer the sponsors of National Dog Week (September 24-30) which has as its slogan, "Deserve to be Your Dog's Best Friend."

There are many ways to earn the title of dog's best friend. For one thing, a dog owner can see to it that the pet is free of fleas. Although the flea menace is more prevalent in the summertime, a dog can pick up a few fleas anytime and anywhere. Sergeant's, a leading maker of dog care products, has developed an effective and unique weapon to do battle against the dog's biggest nuisance.

Called Sentry Collar, it is a clear plastic collar impregnated with a special insecticide that kills fleas for at least three months. The formula permits a slow and continued release of an odorless vapor from the insecticide embedded in the plastic. The collar is adjustable to fit most dogs and its transparent composition blends with the dog's natural coloring.

On the market for around two years, Sentry Collar is reported to be the most popular dog care product ever to make the scene. The product has received the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval and is registered with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

to a small electrically powered fan to provide necessary air circulation to keep stored grain in condition. Farmers desiring to dry grain in these bins will have to provide a dryer unit and necessary drying accessories, Mr. Voss pointed out.

Sales will be handled by the local offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and will be by sealed bid.

Farmers were advised that with a 40 million bushel estimated corn crop coming from Maryland farms this fall, additional storage space will be sorely needed.

Further information can be secured at the local ASCS office, Mr. Voss advised.

College Schedules Concert Sept. 28

The public is cordially invited to attend a concert production of the Duquesne University Tamburitans at St. Joseph College on Thursday, Sept. 28, at 8:15 p.m. in DePaul Auditorium. The concert, under the joint sponsorship of St. Joseph's and Mount Saint Mary's, is the first of three cultural programs co-scheduled for the year by the two Emmitsburg colleges.

Jorge Morel, guitarist, will perform on March 7, 1968, and the National Players will present "Much Ado About Nothing" on April 22.

The Tamburitans, under the direction of Walter W. Kolar, are a collegiate group of 30 talented folk artists, dedicated to the preservation of Slavic Folk Art in the United States. They take their name from the instrument they play — the tamburitza. Every Tamburitza is a full time student at Duquesne University who receives a full-tuition scholarship in exchange for participation in the group. As members finish their four years of college work, their places are taken by incoming freshmen.

Candidates, who are chosen on the basis of academic achievement, and proficiency as a singer, dancer or instrumentalist, will be auditioned following the performance on Sept. 28.

Road Fatalities High Last Week

Again this past week, Maryland's highway fatality toll was exceedingly high, with nineteen deaths being recorded.

Commenting on the high loss of life, Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Chief of Operations of the Maryland State Police, said, "It is certainly disheartening to receive week after week the list of persons killed on Maryland roads and the causes of their deaths, and realize that any words of warning are apparently falling on unheeding ears. Those who disobey the motor vehicle laws not only kill themselves, but in many cases, kill the innocent motorist who is going his or her way in a lawful manner.

Twelve of those killed were drivers, four were passengers, and three were pedestrians.

"Driver error" was present in eighteen of the nineteen deaths, speed in nine, and alcohol was present in six instances.

Couple Observes 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Houck, Sr., R3, were honored Sunday at a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party at the Fairfield Fire Hall by their children. They were married Sept. 12, 1942 at the Woodsboro Lutheran Parsonage, Woodsboro, Md., by the Rev. Herbert H. Schmitt.

The affair was given by their five children, James A., Jr., Mrs. Connie McGlaughlin, Robert D., Thomas G. and Marc E. Houck, and also by David E. Cool who is residing at the Houck residence. Although Robert is stationed in Germany with the U. S. Army, and could not attend, he made a surprise telephone call to wish them a happy anniversary.

A New Day Is Dawning!

The scandal of Christian division is gradually being remedied in our time. For 450 years the Christian Church in the Western World has been torn by hatred and strife, bitterness and suspicion. Holy wars have been waged in the name of "pure religion." Men, women and children have been slaughtered in the name of Christ. If indeed the passage of Scripture is correct that "when ye have done it unto the least of these ye have done it unto Me," then surely Christian division and hatred have crucified our Lord millions of times over.

A new day is dawning, however—a day when men of differing backgrounds and differing understandings of the faith are beginning to view each other with love and respect. The battle is over, the fighting is done. Christ has once more conquered. Christ has indeed redeemed His Church!
