Since it hasn't rained much lately and one county town has instituted a ban on wasting water, a number of inquiries have reached me concerning the status of our own resources. Officials here report conditions in fine shape with all small reservoirs full and the main source, Rainbow Lake, down about two feet. No conservation measures are planned for the near future, I am told. It has been a bountiful year locally with rainfall about normal, for a change, after a five-year drought. Farmers are reporting bumper crops and gardeners excellent results.

For you local motorists who drive leisurely and nonchalantly about, better watch those speed zone signs. Just recently that stretch of road from the helicopter port into Gettysburg has been posted at 40 miles per hour and it is being patrolled. Just last year the speed limit there was raised to 55. Quite a difference, so beware or you'll be sorry.

Not many of us have had an opportunity to travel on a big ship, or for that matter, actually see one, but we couldn't help but feel sad as we watched the gigantic luxury liner Queen Mary depart from its New York berth this week on its final journey. Just 30 years ago this was the "thing." The latest, most modern thing afloat. Alas, in just three decades she has been relegated into ignominy. She will cross the Atlantic to England, return in about a month to the East Coast, cross the Panama Canal and head up the West Coast to California where she will be parked offshore a large city and will be used for a floating motel. Sad indeed it is to see such a beauty and prideful mighty ship relegated to practical obscurity, but transportation means have changed so fast in the past 25 years, due mainly to the airplane, that boat travel is fast becoming obsolete. 'Tis a fast world we are living in folks.

Some interesting statistics, religiously speaking, were brought to light recently, when a census of the members of local churches was taken by the Committee on Evangelism, sponsored by the Emmitsburg Council of Churches. The figures, broken down by denominations, showed, 56% Catholic; 15% Lutheran; 8% Methodist; 6% United Church of Christ; 2% Presbyterian; 2% others; 8% Mixed (Protestant and Catholic), and 3% Mixed (more than one Protestant denomination listed). One hundred and seventy-seven households were visited and interviews made.

Local Angler Lands Big One

An Emmitsburg angler, beaming with pride, stopped in at the Chronicle Office last Thursday morning to show off a magnificent fish he had just caught, Bernard Cool was the proud fisherman and he had with him a big Northern Pike fish that weighed 8 3/4 pounds and measured 34 inches in length. Cool said he caught the pike in the Monocacy on an artificial plug.

C. Of C. Proposes Recreational Spot For Town

A meeting of the Recreation Committee of the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce with the Town Burgess and Commissioners was held Tuesday night, Sept. 26 at 7:30 o'clock in the Board Room of St. Joseph's Provincial House. Present at the meeting were Mr. Guy A. Baker, Jr., Quinn Topper, Clarence Wachter, Samuel Hays, Ralph McDonnell, Mrs. Jane Bollinger, Mr. Ledbetter, Fr. Storms, Floyd Lewis, Harold Birely, Sister Margaret, and J. Norman Flax.

The meeting was requested by the Chamber of Commerce in order to acquaint the Town Fathers with the development of the Recreation Project, which includes a swimming pool and tennis courts for the town. The Chamber of Commerce explained that there is available Federal Government grants on a 50-50 basis for such a project. It was also explained that the Town Council would have to make the application for the grant.

The Chamber of Commerce therefore proposed that the Council Fathers consider allocating the land south of the Ball Park, measuring 90'x280' for the Recreation Center. Then, if the Mayor and his Council would see fit to request the 50% grant from the Federal Government, the Chamber of Commerce would agree to raise the other 50%. In this way, these much needed facilities could be provided for the town, without any burden on the taxpayers.

The Mayor and Commissioners agreed to hold a special meeting to consider this proposal.

Lions Hold Regular Meeting

President Ralph Tabler presided at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening at Mt. Manor Restaurant.

The president announced attending a zone meeting in Frederick on Sept. 25. A communication from the Montevue Home in Frederick was received asking for donations to paint several rooms and also sponsorship of monthly birthday parties for residents of the home. Lion Milton Sewell of the Sight Conservation Committee, reported the purchase of a pair of eyeglasses for a local youth. Much of the meeting was devoted to discussion of the Civic Grounds, how to put it to good community use and to seek legal advice as to whether or not it was subject to County and State taxation being owned by a non-profit organization. Lion Norman J. Shriver was asked to obtain legal advice of the matter.

EHS Hockey

Team Plays Tie

The Emmitsburg Linettes opened their 1967 field hockey season Tuesday by travelling to Thurmont to play to a 1-1 tie.

Emmitsburg opened the scoring in the first half when Becky Hoke scored during a scramble near Thurmont's goal. Thurmont's Donna Hurley then tied the game with only three minutes left in the first period.

Both teams played better defensively in the second half with neither team scoring.

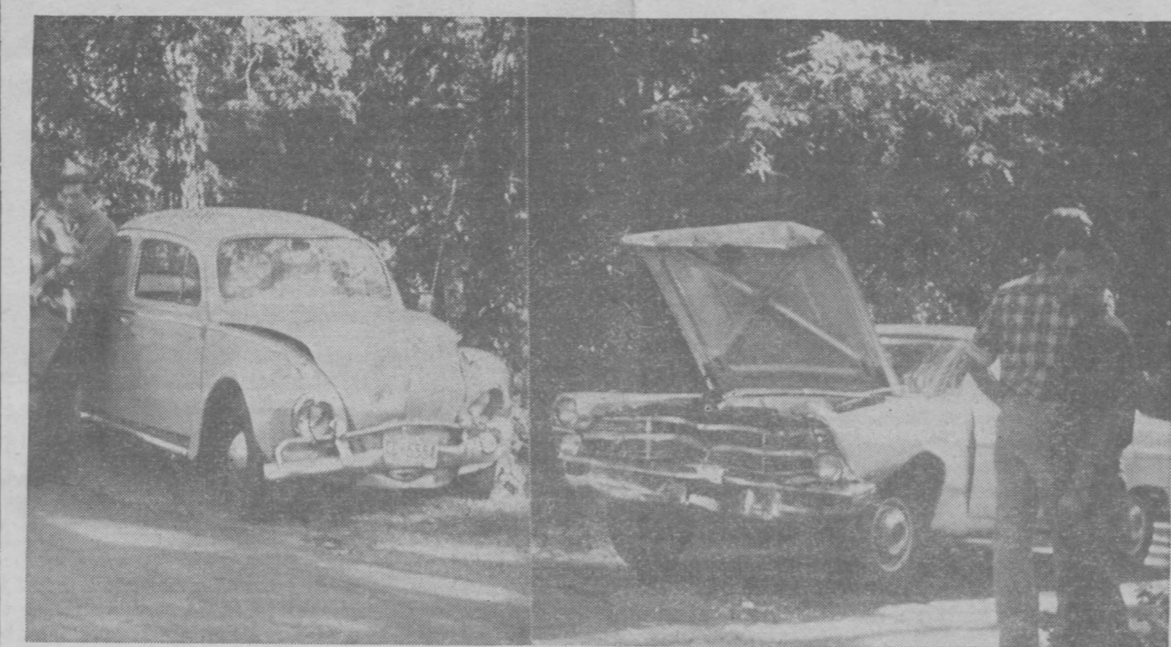

The Linettes will play host to Lingonore October 2. Game time will be 12:45 p.m.

Choice Beef On Sale Today

The public is invited to attend the Frederick County 4-H Beef Club Sale, and purchase quality beef from the youngest professional growers in the county. The sale will be held today, Friday, at 5 p.m., at the Frederick County Fairgrounds beef barn. Fourteen from this immediate area will be sold. Mr. Norman Shriver, local meat processor, has volunteered to process any beef bought by local purchasers at the sale, for a small charge.

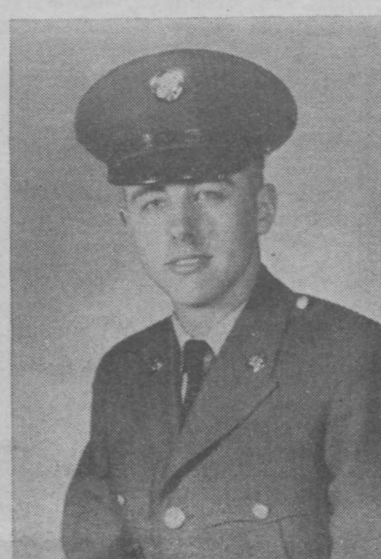

Take part and encourage these young boys and girls by supporting this sale. Remember, "Youth is our most important product!" Be proud to be named as a supporter of the sale—You will be rewarded with top beef throughout the year and the pleasant feeling of having helped youth reach higher goals in life. Their success depends on your support. They like their steers—you will too!

Two Cars Damaged In Wreck Near Here

Two cars were badly damaged and two men treated at the Gettysburg Hospital Tuesday afternoon at approximately 3:30 p.m. when the cars they were driving collided head-on about a mile west on Kelbaugh Road near here. The Volkswagen, on the left, was being driven by William E. Sanders, Jr., 20, R2, Thurmont, and the Ford sedan, right, was operated by George Wilson, 46, York, Pa. Wilson suffered lacerations of the upper lip and contusions of the right chest while Sanders was treated for multiple minor lacerations of the forehead and nose. State Police, assisted by Police Chief W. E. Law, investigated.

Central Fire Alarm Working

The Frederick County Commissioners this week replaced the present seven-man Fire Control Board with a Frederick County Safety Board composed of representatives of all participants in the central alarm system.

The commissioners voted unanimously to create the board which will act as an advisory board for the central alarm system.

The proposal for the new board was discussed by the commissioners at a meeting with the president of the Frederick County Firemen's Association, Harry Miller, last week.

At that time, Miller said that the Emmitsburg, Thurmont and Rocky Ridge volunteer fire companies had agreed in writing to rejoin the central alarm system if the commissioners adopted the revamped fire board.

According to the resolution adopted, every non-profit volunteer organization offering 24-hour emergency service and participating in the central alarm system will be allowed to name a voting member to the safety board.

In addition, an alderman and county commissioner will sit as non-voting members of the board. Frederick City appointed William Bartgis to represent the city at last Thursday's meeting of the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of Frederick. No Frederick City companies, however, are part of the system.

The president of the County Commissioners, Charles E. Collins, said Tuesday that he had not yet appointed a commissioner to the board.

Fire and ambulance companies not participating in the alarm system will also be allowed to appoint a non-voting member of the safety board.

This will give the companies not belonging to the alarm system a chance to voice their opinions and keep up with the progress of the safety board, Collins said.

The safety board will present the budget requests for the central alarm system and work with James Ridgely, director of the alarm system, Collins said.

However, Collins said, Ridgely and the other employees of the alarm system will work directly under the commissioners rather than under the safety board.

The safety board will serve in an advisory capacity to the county commissioners and central alarm system staff, Collins said.

Describing the board as "a place to discuss criticism of the fire alarm system," Collins said the companies will be able to submit suggestions for changes in the system to the safety board which will in return submit them to the director of the alarm system.

Californian Against McGucken Candidacy

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

Due to the death of our Congressman, J. Arthur Younger, we are having a special election in November. There are 12 announced candidates which gives us a wide choice.

The enclosed newspaper clipping appeared in our paper Sept. 20. Your Mr. Patrick F. X. McGucken will be arriving Sept. 28 to campaign in our county for the position. He states that he has more than a casual interest in our affairs since he trained in Santa Ana (Southern California), during World War II and that he was a Government lawyer in Englewood (Southern California), until 1963.

We Northern Californians live more than 400 miles from the localities he mentions. We wonder if he is aware of where San Mateo County lies geographically?

Mr. McGucken states he will be acting as a "stand-in" for President Johnson. His particular objection is to Mrs. Shirley Temple Black. It might interest your readers to know that she has lived in our county for many years, owns a home and pays local taxes, is an outstanding community leader and highly respected personally.

On the other hand none of us ever heard of Mr. McGucken. Certainly, if he is as well qualified, Emmitsburg will really miss him. Can't you find a spot for him there? We can do without him!

County Tax Grant To Elderly Sizeable Sum

Frederick County residents have received more than $184,000 in property tax credits and discounts so far this year, according to the county's top fiscal officer.

Mrs. Charlotte W. Yarroll, the county treasurer, said this week that $97,714 in tax credits to elderly property owners and $96,552 in prompt-payment discounts have been taken by taxpayers so far. An additional $10,000 in tax credits for senior citizens has been approved by the county but has not yet been taken, so the final total will be somewhat higher.

County property collections to date total $5,386,171, Mrs. Yarroll said. The county budget anticipates property tax collections of $6,966,668, leaving more than $1.5 million in taxes outstanding.

The county had estimated that old-age tax credits, as set up in the state's new tax law this year would be $83,300, more than ten times the amount of credits allowed under the previous program. Tax credits totalling nearly $110,000 have been authorized by the commissioners so far for 1,870 senior citizens—an average credit of $57.31.

The amount of tax credits authorized so far is more than $26,000 over the budgeted figure, while the prompt-payment tax discounts ran slightly less than the budgeted $100,000. The discount period ended the last of August, except for taxpayers who received their bills late because of a mixup in the billing.

Taxpayers took $54,762 in discounts in July, when a two per cent discount was in force, and $40,351 in August under a one per cent discount. Another $1,438 in discounts was allowed in September for taxpayers who didn't get their bills on time.

Visitor Likes Town, Location

William Ritter Nusz of Michigan City, Ind., is visiting with his mother and step-father, William and Vivian Medford of Emmitsburg. Mr. Nusz was born and raised in Frederick, Md., and attended summer school at Western Maryland College before attending Northwestern University in Chicago. He has a Master's Degree in Hospital and Health Administration from the State University of Iowa.

He is presently serving as Administrator of the famed Walters Hospital and Clinic in Michigan City. He stated that the area of Emmitsburg would be the ideal location for a long term health facility rather than a short term hospital. The environment is ideally suited for such therapeutic care. He summed it up with "It's just great country here for any reason."

Hospital Plans Expansion

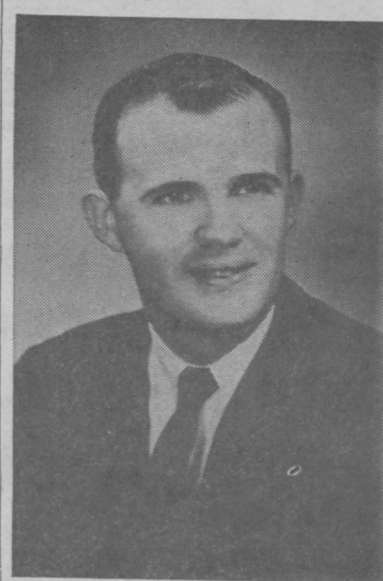

Directors of the Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, at their monthly meeting last week, adopted the recommendation of the New Building Committee and authorized plans and specifications for the new maternity unit.

The committee was given authority to award the contract following opening of bids which is expected to take place before December 1.

The new maternity unit will be built as the second floor to the south wing. The project includes changes in the Musselman Annex building, now being used for maternity, which will provide 20 additional hospital beds.

When the new unit is completed, the few remaining patients in the original hospital building will be transferred and that building will no longer be used as a patient facility.

Case, pastor of the Grace-Hampden Methodist Church in Baltimore, will be guest speaker for a 5-night series of evangelistic services at the Tom's Creek Methodist Church outside of Emmitsburg beginning Sunday, October 1. "Its chief purpose is to lend the moral and financial support of the Alumnae Assn. to the giant step in academic development taken by Alma Mater this coming year," Mrs. Walsh announced in her letter to 2,400 alumnae. "Such intellectually provocative and culturally stimulating programs are worthy of our philanthropy," she continued, "and as a result, the Alumnae Assn. has set its sights on a goal of $70,000, a third higher than last year's returns."

WHERE DOES REALISM END AND OBSCENITY BEGIN?

All of us are painfully aware of the new depths of taste or distaste reached by our public entertainment media. One hardly dares take a family to a motion picture theater anymore. Even if the main feature should approximate decency, one had best send the children out for popcorn during the previews. One even takes a risk permitting children to watch late evening television now. This boldness on the part of our entertainment media is exercised in the name of realism. It behooves one to ask, however, whether a continual display of the worst in human society is realism at all. It may be that rather than merely reflecting American society, our entertainment industry is indeed undermining and degenerating American society. If this indeed is the case, someone must do something before it is too late.

GOVERNMENT AND INDUSTRY SAFETY EXPERTS COOPERATE ON NEW STANDARDS FOR HOME SAFETY

The National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare—in cooperation with a leading glass manufacturer—have developed a "model code" to promote household safety in the use of glass.

The new recommendations state that building codes should make installation of safety glass mandatory in sliding glass doors and other large glass areas in private homes and commercial structures that are subject to human impact.

Phil Dykstra, manager of the National Safety Council's home department, noted that the new standard, which was sponsored by the council and approved by the United States of America Standards Institute, specifies the test methods and performance criteria to be met by safety glazing materials.

Three forms of glass qualify for the "safety" label. These are laminated, wired and tempered glass.

Commonly used in automotive windshields, laminated safety glass consists of two pieces of ordinary glass with a core of plastic. The plastic interior sheet holds the broken pieces together and greatly reduces its im-paling potential.

Wired glass, commonly seen in fire doors, is ordinary glass in which imbedded wire serves the same holding function as does the plastic in laminated glass under normal usage.

Tempered glass is four to five times as strong as ordinary glass of the same thickness, according to PPG Industries (Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company), makers of Herculite K. What's more, should tempered glass break under an especially heavy impact, it "fails safe" by crumbling into small granular pieces resembling rock salt, rather than large sharp pieces.

Thanks to the cooperation of government and industry safety experts, new standards for home safety are fast becoming a reality throughout the country.

Babson's Point Of View On: Protecting Credit Cards

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 28—Proof of our speedy progress toward a "cashless" society may be found in the fact that an estimated 200 million credit cards are now outstanding in this country. But the thing a tremendous number of people fail to understand is that these small rectangular tokens, as they more and more take the place of cash, should be cared for as carefully as if they were actual money. No Longer Gadgets

When credit cards were in their infancy, most people considered them a "convenience" which had the flavor of a gadget. They had their first big surge in the service-station industry, and even today about half the cards outstanding have been issued by oil companies. Incredible numbers of such cards are misappropriated by relatives or acquaintances, or by strangers. That is why oil firms keep insisting that registration numbers be noted on all charge tabs.

Analysts of the credit scene expect that during 1967 a huge 10% of circulating cards will be lost or stolen, and that the resulting fraudulent usage may well go as high as $40 million. The sad part is that card holders who are very careful with their pocket cash are almost perversely careless about their credit identifications. This makes it easy for the dishonest . . . so freely are the cards accepted in return for cash, goods, and services.

Legislation Being Sought
Since, after all, the trend toward a cashless consumer economy is becoming stronger all the time, moves are being made to face the realities of this fact. Issuers of credit cards would like to see laws passed that would establish clear-cut punishment for those misusing these commercial instruments of trade. Also sought are measures that would hold down the liability of victims whose cards are stolen and used.

Card holders must realize that losing their cards can cost them a lot of money. The responsibility of stolen-card usage has been shunted through many courts, and some of the victimizing have been hard hit. To protect the innocent, a number of states have passed laws that place a ceiling on the amount of liability that can be charged against a person whose stolen card has been used to run up bills on his accounts. Illinois recently put a $75 top on such responsibility, with the proviso—as in most other instances—that the issuing firm be immediately notified if a card is lost, stolen, or even misplaced.

If A Credit Card Is Missing . . .
There are operating nowadays, especially in some of the larger cities, gangs specializing in the theft and counterfeiting of cards. These hoodlums—if not the general public—are fully aware of the fact that the plastic counters are to an increasing degree the equivalent of cash . . . and big cash, at that. Some of the issuing concerns are trying to fight these rings and other misappropriators in a variety of ways. Diners' Club, for example, has requested that any establishment asked to honor one of its cards for as much as $50 call its New York office for a check on the customer's credit rating and identification. If the establishment ignores this stipulation, it is held liable for any loss.

HOLDERS of credit cards will be wise to keep careful tab on them, and to notify the issuer immediately if one disappears.

Even though a credit-card holder may be entirely unaware of any misuse of his charge tab, and hence innocent, he can become involved in legal entanglements that are embarrassing in time and money. American Express predicts that some 46,000 of its 2 million cards will be lost this year alone, and that many victims will not find out about their loss until they are billed for merchandise or services they knew nothing about. Hence, once again, let consumers realize that their credit cards are exactly as valuable as cash, and they should be protected as cautiously.

VW Announces Many Changes

Volkswagen's list of improvements for its new vehicles includes the addition of a wraparound windshield and fuel injection, and those are only two of a package of refinements which add up to better performance, increased convenience and greater safety for the 1968 VW line.

Fans of the familiar "beetle" shape will be heartened to know that the "bug" retains its characteristic appearance, despite dozens of changes engineered into it. VW's trend-setting, box-shaped station wagons, though, are virtually all new, inside and out, and now come equipped with a wrap-around windshield. Fuel injection is the major technical improvement in VW's third and most recent line, the Fastback and Squareback Sedans.

Built-In Headrests

One of the quickest tip-offs to the 1968 model of the VW "beetle" is the addition of built-in headrests designed to give front seat occupants of all VW sedans and Karmann Ghia coupes added protection in the event of a rear-end collision. Other safety features in the sedan include higher and stronger bumpers, and safety rim wheels which help hold tires on their wheels in case of a blowout. The new bumpers also shorten the VW sedan's overall length by an inch and a half, making it easier than ever to park. The new "beetle" is now equipped with a fresh air ventilation system and a relocated gas tank filler so that passenger cars now can be refueled without opening the trunks.

Major Design Change

Although the box-shaped VW station wagons and trucks retain their practical, rectangular shape, their corners have been rounded, a one-piece wraparound windshield has replaced the original split-window type, small side windows have given way to "picture windows" and a 3½-foot-wide sliding side door replaces the double swinging doors used on previous models. Other major improvements include a 57-horsepower engine—up from a previous 53 horsepower—and a totally new rear suspension which includes double-jointed rear axles and a wider rear track.

Emission Control Systems

VW engineers have also controlled exhaust emissions in the 1968 "beetle" and station wagon and truck engines by teaming a number of distributor and carburetor modifications. Exhaust emission on the Fastback and Squareback Sedans is reduced by the new electronic fuel injection system which injects fuel directly into the cylinder head intake ports and eliminates the former dual carburetors. The new system employs electronics to sense actual engine requirements under constantly changing conditions and maintains a fully controlled and properly metered flow of fuel and air to the cylinders.

Cancelled Insurance Policies Will Be Investigated By State

Maryland Insurance Commissioner Newton I. Steers, Jr., announced this week the results of the first two months of operation of a new law requiring that the "real reason for cancellation" be furnished by insurance companies to auto policyholders being cancelled, or denied renewal.

1967, we have received approximately 225 reports from the companies. They are required to furnish a copy of the statement which they send to the insured. Incidentally, that notice is given by the companies only on written request from the policyholder whom they intend to cancel. The request must be received within the 30 days notice period required before cancellation or non-renewal.

with both parties. As of August 31, there were 25 cases pending; and in 168 cases our investigation indicated that cancellations were justified.

The main reason offered which appear to justify a company's action include: excessive use of alcohol, including conviction for drunken driving by the insured or a member of the family having access to the vehicle; excessive fault accidents; excessive moving violations, particularly by teenage drivers; and physical impairments which cannot be corrected by medical or mechanical means.

Tax Hike Or Budget Cut?
American citizens, at this grave moment in history, have the right and the responsibility to demand of their Federal officials (including the Congress and the President) the establishment of a policy of "frugality" in all non-military governmental activities. Unless this is done, heavier and heavier taxes will be levied on the people and the fiscal and monetary problems of the nation will worsen, threatening runaway inflation, bankruptcy and ruin. This isn't to say that a 10% surtax upon the already tightly squeezed family incomes, as now proposed by the President, would be immediately disastrous. It wouldn't. But it would be a big step in the direction of disaster. The approval by Congress of such a fiscal measure, under present circumstances, would in effect constitute an endorsement of utterly unsound governmental policies. And unsound governmental policies jerrybuilt upon previous unsound policies must inevitably lead to national ruin.

Rampant Waste
On the other hand, if the colossal waste were stopped and Federal programs shelved that are not absolutely necessary in today's crisis situation, the present awesome gap between government income and government spending could be closed, our fiscal house put in order, inflation halted, and the families of America spared another whacking from the Federal tax collectors. On the basis of voluminous evidence, much of it accidentally disclosed to the public, it could be estimated that at least 10% of Federal appropriations (not counting salaries) is wasted, squandered. In the 1967-68 Federal Budget, cutting out such waste would save probably $12 billion—more than the surtax would be expected to produce.

If wastes were abolished from the absolutely necessary functions of Government and at the same time the unnecessary programs and activities were discontinued at least for the duration of the Vietnam war, Federal income would outstrip spending by a comfortable margin, the Federal debt now soaring toward $340 billion could be reduced, inflation quelled, and a powerful soundness established in a U. S. Treasury now forced to practice frantic and frightening fiscal maneuverings. Score Sheet

Let's look at some of the circumstances that must be considered in any person's judgement on whether we need a tax hike or some drastic non-defense budget cuttings:

We are at war. The monetary cost is nearing $25 billion a year. The death and casualty toll in lives of American fighting men is staggering. As the war now is being waged, U. S. forces are entrapped in a conflict promising no date for victory against an enemy they are not permitted to defeat.

The 1967-68 Budget, as submitted by the President, is $172 billion, largest in our nation's history; and the non-military expenditures represent a higher rate of growth (over previous budgets) than the growth rate of wartime military expenditures.

Various programs and agencies of the Government, in addition to Budget requests, have a total of unspent authorizations of $125 billion—to be spent in addition to 1967-68 requests. Payroll: $40 Billion

The Federal civilian payroll has now jumped over the 3,000,000 mark; in the last month reported, 74,557 new civilian employees were placed on the Federal payroll; in the last 12 months more than 22,000 new civilian employees have been added each month (average). Average salary: $7,000-plus.

The Federal military personnel, as budgeted for 1967-68, is 3,464,000.

Salaries for the 6,464,000 persons on the Federal payroll: $40 billion a year!

A Federal indebtedness (with the incomes of every family mortgaged) soaring beyond $335 billion. A demand for a new debt ceiling of $360 billion.

Interest on this Federal debt: $14 billion. Just one generation ago, the entire Federal Budget was on $3.4 billion.

The foregoing facts were taken from our new sound-color 34mm filmstrip, "The Federal Budget", now available for purchase or rental. Next week's column will carry figures from a "Taxpayers Austerity Budget" compiled by a seminar group at our last Freedom Forum. It suggests reductions of $21.7 billion (non-military) in the President's 1967-68 Budget—enough to halt deficit financing and provide sufficient tax revenue to leave a surplus, without new taxes.

appearance of directories in the large metropolitan areas, according to C. V. Weakley, Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company manager here.

This "growing up" of the local telephone directory demonstrates the rapid growth taking place in Frederick County, Mr. Weakley pointed out.

As the result of the larger page size and the arrangement of listings in four columns, the new book will resemble the directories of most large cities.

The four-column pages will permit more rapid scanning of directory listings. The present book has about 320 listings on a two-page spread; the new one will have around 800.

Delivery of the new directories began on Wednesday, and will be completed on October 4. Approximately 38,000 Frederick County directories will be distributed.

The alphabetical section of this year's book will provide telephone users will approximately 24,000 listings, about 1,400 more than in the 1966 directory.

All telephone numbers in the new directory will appear as numerals.

The directory cover will feature a color photograph taken at Western Maryland College, which is celebrating its centennial year.

The Life and Work of a CATHOLIC BISHOP

The public had an unusual look at the Bishops of the Catholic Church during the Vatican Council.

But it was still only a limited view of a Bishop's sphere of spiritual authority and concern.

The Bishops, Catholics believe, are direct successors of the Apostles, just as the Pope is the successor of Peter. Together with the Pope, they are divinely commissioned as pastors of souls to continue the work of Christ, "the eternal pastor."

This involves, of course, matters of concern to the Universal Church... such as those discussed at the Vatican Council by Bishops gathered from the far corners of the earth. But the pastoral office of a Bishop involves a concern for the spiritual affairs of his country... for the spiritual welfare of the people of his diocese... for the promotion of foreign missions... for the training and counseling of the priests who serve Christ with him... and for the preservation of good relations between the Church and the State, and between the Church and other faiths.

The Vatican Council decree on the Pastoral Office of Bishops describes them as "the principal dispensers of the mysteries of God," and reminds that one of their chief works is that of sanctifying. They are also to set an example in charity, humility and simplicity, and to "so hallow the churches entrusted to them that the feeling of the universal Church of Christ may shine forth in them."

The decree points out that "Christ gave the Apostles and their successors the command and the power to teach all nations, to hallow men in the truth, and to feed them. Thus the Bishops have been made true and authentic teachers of the faith, pontiffs and pastors through the Holy Spirit who has been given to them."

In these times of spiritual renewal and dialogue among Christians of all faiths, you might like to have a better understanding of the pastoral duties of a Catholic Bishop. A new pocket-size pamphlet just off the press explains this interestingly and concisely. We'll be happy to send you a copy without cost or obligation upon your request. And nobody will call on you. New Veterans' Benefits Listed President Johnson August 31 signed into law a bill providing for significant increases in benefits for Viet-Nam veterans and for older veterans as well, according to Rufus H. Wilson, Manager of the Baltimore Veterans Administration Regional Office.

Called the "Veterans' Pension and Readjustment Assistant Act of 1967," most provisions become effective October 1.

Under one major provision, veterans of the Viet-Nam era, which began August 5, 1964, will receive compensation for disabilities at full wartime rates and will qualify for nonservice-connected pensions on the same basis as older veterans. Their widows and children become eligible for nonservice-connected death benefits.

While this provision becomes effective October 1, an allowance of $250 for burial and funeral expenses of deceased individuals who served in the Viet-Nam era became effective immediately, Wilson said.

Under the law, certain other major provisions effective October 1 apply to all qualified veterans who served after January 31, 1955. These include:

Educational assistance allowances for full-time courses have been increased from $100 to $130 a month for a single veteran, from $125 to $155 for a veteran with one dependent, and from $150 to $175 for two dependents with an additional $10 for each dependent in excess of two. Proportionately smaller allowances will be allowed for part-time training.

Full educational assistance allowances will be paid to "educationally disadvantaged" veterans so they can complete high school without reducing their eligibility for advanced educational benefits.

Monthly allowances for on-the-job training for the first six months will range from $80 a month for a single veteran to $100 a month when there are two or more dependents. The allowances are reduced for succeeding six-month periods.

Monthly allowances for farm co-operative training will cover institutional agricultural courses with a minimum of 12 clock hours per week in addition to related work on the farm. Allowances range from $105 a month for the single veteran to $145 a month when there are two dependents, plus an additional $7 a month for each additional dependent.

Ninety per cent of the established charge for flight training is provided for veterans with a private pilot license (or the equivalent in flight training hours) who can pass the physical examination for a commercial pilot's license.

An allowance of $1,600 will be authorized for the purchase of specially-equipped automobiles for certain severely disabled veterans.

Wilson said World War II veterans benefit by the new law by having the final cut-off date on eligibility for the GI Loan program extended to July 25, 1970, from July 25, 1967.

Some other provisions of the law extend benefits to certain of America's veterans, from the Viet-Nam era to the Spanish-American War. Such benefits include:

Veterans and dependents of deceased veterans receiving VA pension under the current pension program will get a cost-of-living increase averaging more than 5 per cent, with widows in the lowest income categories receiving an increase of about 2 1/2 per cent.

Children up to age 26 of veterans who died or were permanently and totally disabled as the result of a service-connected disability, or who died from any cause while qualifying for permanent and total disability compensation, will become eligible for grants of $130 a month for four years of approved college or vocational training.

Statutory awards of $47 a month, in addition to other compensation, have been going to certain disabled veterans who have service-connected disabilities involving the loss of a hand, foot, eye, creative organ, or both but-tocks, or have sustained deafness in both ears, or lost the power of speech. Only one of these statutory awards could be paid under the old law; the new law authorized payment of an additional statutory award for each of these conditions, not to exceed a total of $400 a month.

The new law will have a significant impact on many of the 25.8 million living veterans, according to the VA. Veterans and dependents of deceased veterans may receive information about their eligibility, as well as assistance in applying for benefits from contact representatives at any VA office or hospital.

Nongraded Elementary School," is to explain how the staff at Brunswick Elementary, where Smith was principal at the time, reorganized the entire school, grades 1-6 simultaneously, from a graded structure to a nongraded program of education.

Mr. Smith points out in the introduction to his book, that through the development of the program one can see how innovations grow out of the involvement of teachers in planning and that sharing ideas stimulates creativity. He states that the organizational patterns of nongradedness and team teaching are flexible arrangements which promote the philosophy of continuous growth and permit the utilization of meaningful individualized instruction.

It is anticipated that the book will be available by late spring, 1968.

Mount Remodeling Nears Completion

The $90,000 refurbishing of Dubois Hall at Mount Saint Mary's College is nearing completion. The project, which included renewal of all plumbing and electrical fixtures; the lowering of ceilings; the construction of protective walls in all stair wells; and the construction of steel stairways, is the first step in a three-year summer program of renovation of the older dormitories at the college.

Dubois Hall, which is named for the college's founder, Father John Dubois, is the oldest building on campus dating back nearly one hundred fifty years.

Although renovated and enlarged from time-to-time, the present project is almost a complete renewal of the interior of the building. The building is utilized as a freshman dormitory and college infirmary.

College Lists Fine Arts Program

The 1967-68 Fine Arts program to be held on the St. Joseph College campus includes special exhibits, concerts, and a lecture series, all of which will be open to the public. The program, in cooperation with Catholic University, will bring well-known musicians, artists, and dramatists to the Emmitsburg campus.

Sister Jane Marie, St. Joseph Music Department, announces six concert programs, performed by faculty and graduate students of the Catholic University School of Music: October 15—Vocal Chamber Music of Brahms; November 12 — Brynwood String Quartet; January 14—Organ Concert; February 25—An Afternoon of Opera; April 28—Piano Concert. The final offering of the year will be a full production of Bizet's Carmen, with soloists, chorus and orchestra, scheduled for May 2.

Special exhibits scheduled by Sister Anna Mae, St. Joseph Art Department, include an exhibit of ceramic and sculpture of Thomas P. Rooney, October 1-8; Rufus Jacoby's exhibit of hand-wrought silver, November 24-December 3; and the marble and wood sculpture of Clare Fontanini, March 10-17. All exhibits will be in the Dubois Lounge at St. Joseph College.

The public will be invited to meet these artists and examine their works at previously announced times.

Drama lectures will be offered on February 21 by Leo Brady and on March 13 by Terrence Spencer. Both men are Professors of Speech and Drama at Catholic University. Reverend Humberto Almazan, former theatre-television film star, will speak April 3 on his theatrical experiences.

The Fine Arts program offered at St. Joseph College has been made possible by funds provided under Title III of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

Lutheran Women Hold Meeting

The Lutheran Church Women of Elias Lutheran Church held their first meeting of the Fall and Winter season last Tuesday evening in the Parish House. Mrs. Donald Eyer and Mrs. Hazel Caldwell served as co-chairmen for the evening's program which was entitled, "Our New Leisure." A symposium including the co-chairmen and Mrs. Elizabeth McCleaf, Mrs. Ronald Fearer and Mrs. Helen McNair, was used to discuss more meaningfully, the topic. Informal discussions revealed that leisure time is to be desired, but should be used in a worthwhile manner to profit the Christian woman.

Mrs. James Small, President, conducted the brief business meeting in which plans for the forthcoming Fall Assembly were announced. Also on the agenda for the women of the congregation is a trip on October 15 to Mar-Lu-Ridge, near Jefferson. Mar-Lu-Ridge is the Camp and Conference Center for the Lutheran Churches in Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia. Pastor Ronald Fearer also reviewed the plans for the Reformation Observance in the Protestant Churches of the area in October.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Linn and Mrs. Lewis Smith to the LCW members and their guests. The tables were attractively decorated with arrangements of garden flowers and matching tapers.

The extent of a man's appetite for dinner is determined by how many sandwiches his wife ate at the bridge club that afternoon.—Wall Street Journal.

MY MOM I had to leave my mom one day To go to battle far away It's a nasty war in Vietnam Far away from my home and mom I hope that peace will soon return And the war will soon be won So the mom I love so dear Can be standing by so near 'Til then I'll lock her in my heart She'll be my guide from stop to start She will start my days and light my ways Be right close by where'er my stay I've loved my mom all through the years. She's been so near and dear to me When I left she stood in tears And for my own I could hardly see One day I shall return to her The mom I dearly love 'Til then for her I'll say a prayer To our Father up above. Detrick Expansion Gets Approval

The Senate has voted to authorize $2,151,000 for construction of a new research, development and testing facility at Fort Detrick. The Fort Detrick funds are part of a $2.3 million military construction program passed by the Senate. The total appropriations from the Senate for the construction program are $128 million less than proposed by the House. The multi-million dollar proposal for Fort Detrick is in no way connected with a $9.2 million laboratory approved for the Frederick military installation earlier this year. No date has been set for initial construction of either of the multi-million dollar projects, a Fort Detrick spokesman said.

SAFER THAN EVER!

Ordinary glass breakage (below) can leave some sharp, jagged edges—a real danger if a youngster falls against a floor-to-ceiling window while playing, or if an adult walks through a sliding glass door he thought was open. This is one reason tempered safety glass was invented.

Now, high-strength glass in patio doors and other large areas is safer than ever. Today's tempered safety glass seldom breaks, but even if it does (under very severe impact), it "falls safe" by crumbling into small granular fragments (at top) without sharp shards to inflict personal injury.

A new eighth-inch tempered safety glass called Herculite K is said to be four to five times stronger under impact than ordinary glass of the same thickness, thus providing an extra measure of safety under all normal conditions.

ly a fine report, which constitutes less than 3% of the total boxes.

I wish to extend my appreciation to all the rural patrons, for the fine cooperation they have given the Post Office Department, in maintaining their mail boxes, according to regulations.

However, I do wish to point out one item, of which I did not send notification, is the fact that many patrons still lack the name and assigned number on their box. This is definitely a part of the mail box requirements, and these may either be painted on, the side of the carrier approach, or the name plate attachment may be used. Compliance with this requirement along with the use of these individually assigned route and box numbers, will help us give you the best of service.
