Despite the burning ban which was announced in effect in the County last week and which is still in effect, there were quite a few violations observed during the past week. We don't know whether the law was invoked on any of these individuals, but you are still warned not to burn anything out of doors, so if you get caught, don't blame anyone but yourself.

Emmitsburg's newest business, we have learned, will be a Car Wash. It will be modern in every respect and will be centrally located in town and should be in operation in a few weeks. Now Emmitsburgians no longer will have to motor to Gettysburg, Thurmont or Taneytown to wash their cars as they'll have the latest equipment right here at home.

It's amazing. Last week we asked for information concerning the Doughboy Statue located in West End and to date not a single parcel of information has been forthcoming. This is highly unusual and the statue is not that old and many local residents should remember when it was erected. We wanted to know who put it there, who owns it now, the property owner or the Town, and also the approximate date erected. Any volunteers? The Chronicle files of that era are missing and we have no way of checking the record. There are people interested in writing the Town's history who are seeking this information and that is our only concern.

Our article concerning the local Scout set-up here brought some results, we have been informed, and now we have two additional Den Mothers which brings the total number of Dens active here to four. At the present time there is plenty of room for additional Cub Scouts, so parents, if you have young boys interested in Scouting, better investigate these openings immediately.

Interested in the new Constitution of Maryland? You know we vote on the proposed Constitution on May 14, and if you really are interested in learning how it works or affects you, you have a golden opportunity to have it explained by experts. The New Frontier Women's Democratic Club has contacted the County's three delegates to the recent Constitutional Convention and they have agreed to come to Emmitsburg to explain it. The three are Edward D. Storm, Samuel W. Barrick and Benjamin Rosenstock. They will be here on March 11, in the VFW, at 8 o'clock in the evening. Following their explanation of the new code of laws there will be a question and answer period followed by a social period. Now then, let's all turn out to show our interest and do our part in modernizing our State Charter and know what we are voting for on May 11. The public is cordially invited and urged to attend.

Emmitsburg still is seeking a Scoutmaster. One volunteer under 21 years of age, inquired about the job this week. However, the rules say that you must be over 21. Anyone interested in taking over the reins of the local Scout Troop is asked to contact Raymond Baker. If you are under 21 you are invited to aide the cause and to help the troop but not command it. Your assistance is badly needed.

Most of us living here go our way daily apathetic about assets we have here but just take for granted. Not so with outsiders who are impressed with the things we have here as attested to by two letters received here this week commending the community for its excellent ambulance service. I believe that most of us know that the local Veterans of Foreign Wars maintains this ambulance service at their own expense with volunteer workers. Recently a Baltimore man who holds a high state office in the Knights of Columbus, was visiting the local Council (Continued on Page Two)

LIONS CLUB BUYS GLASSES FOR FIVE

President Ralph L. Tabler presided over the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday night in Mt. Manor Restaurant.

Present also at the meeting were three visiting Lions from the Frederick Club. Milton A. Sewell, chairman of the Sight Conservation Committee, reported he had received requests from five individuals for eyeglasses. The club voted to buy all five glasses. A $5 donation to the Heart Fund was authorized.

The president read a letter from Senator Joseph D. Tydings regarding obtaining industry for Emmitsburg. The Senator promised to visit the group and discuss the situation some time in the future. Lion Norman Shriver announced that a sign, reading: Industrial Site, Inquire Emmitsburg Lions Club, had been erected on the Civic Grounds east of town. President Tabler announced a zone meeting to be held March 5 and Secretary Eugene Sappington reported a film on the Lions Eye Bank would be shown at the March 11 meeting.

A Community Auction, to be sponsored by the club, was discussed and J. Ralph McDonnell was named chairman of a committee to hold the auction on Friday, May 3. Anyone wishing to sell articles at this auction is asked to contact either Ralph McDonnell or Ralph Tabler. A commission of 25% will be charged for handling the articles.

Writer Critical

Of Vietnam Victory

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

If a runner, before a race, were to announce an intention to run the mile in 3 minutes; and thereafter, upon the running of the race, achieved a time of 3 1/2 minutes, he would have established a world record, and this achievement would not be diminished by his failure to achieve his announced goal.

And yet the administration in Washington, which regards the commorality of the whole country as gullible 3rd graders, assures us solemnly, and positively, that the Viet Cong Tet offensive was a complete defeat for the enemy. As proof positive of such defeat they cite enemy documents which show that the Tet offensive was intended to win and hold the cities.

I agree with George Romney that if the Tet offensive was a defeat for the Cong we must hope and pray that they may never have a victory.

The credibility gap has now grown wider than the Grand Canyon. De-escalate in 68!

Local Man's Car Badly Damaged In Mishap

Robert Louis Myers, 50, Irish-town Rd., Emmitsburg, escaped with bruises after he was involved in a $1,400 accident Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock on Business Route 15 at the intersection of Wheatfield Ave., two miles south of Gettysburg. The operator of the other car was listed as Bradley F. Morelock, 37, Gettysburg. Myers was removed to the Warner Hospital in the Gettysburg Fire Co. ambulance and was examined and released.

The accident occurred, state police said when the Morelock car, traveling south on Route 15, attempted to pass the Myers sedan. Morelock's car ran off the east berm of the road, then back onto the highway and collided with the left side of the south-bound Myers car. The Myers car ran up an embankment and sheared off a telephone pole.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 to Myers' vehicle and $300 to Morelock's car with $100 damage to the United Telephone Company's pole.

Mount Enters M-D Tourney As Favorite

Jim Phelan's Mountaineers closed out a highly successful season in the Mason-Dixon Conference with a record of 13-1. They entered the Mason-Dixon Tournament last night as decided favorites to cop top honors.

With their last three home games in rapid succession, the Mounties appeared to be in high gear for the Tournament.

Last Thursday the Blue and White drubbed the Baltimore University Bees 82-67 for its eighth consecutive victory.

The Mountaineers led throughout the first half when Lou Grillo tabbed 17 of his 26 points. Baltimore ran into a cold shooting half and netted but nine of 32 shots from the floor.

Bob Riley and Dick Dohler controlled the boards through the half which helped the Mount to hold a comfortable edge.

After Mt. St. Mary's led 44-35 nine minutes into the second half, the Bees put on their mild flurry to pull within three points on a goal by Felix Bucci and a pair by Ken Cubicciotti.

With a sudden burst the Mount picked up six quick points on rebound goals by Dohler and Riley and a lay-up by Grillo. A short time later Paul Williams, Dohler and Riley scored on fast breaks as the lead went to 60-47 with five minutes remaining. Baltimore went into a zone press but it did not trouble the Mount as the lead continued to grow until the final buzzer.

Saturday night, again in Emmitsburg, the Phelanmen had little difficulty in over-powering Washington College 79-65.

Fred Carter, who had missed three games due to an injured right hand, returned to action and accounted for 16 points. Paul Williams also landed 16 as the duo sparked the attack.

Mt. St. Mary's converted but nine of 22 free throws while Washington landed 11 of 21.

The Blue and White closed out its regular schedule with a surprisingly easy victory over highly rated Philadelphia Textile 89-67 Monday evening here.

The victory was the 22nd against but three losses for the Mountaineers. Textile, selected last week to participate in the National Collegiate Association playoffs, is 19-4.

Off to a slow start when Textile secured an early 12-6 advantage, the Mountaineers came back strong to go ahead as Fred Carter rammed through four goals in a row. Both teams employed a press much of the first half and the Mount found the going easier and piled up a 45-28 halftime lead, Carter landing 16 points.

Throughout the second half Coach Phelan's outfit easily maintained its advantage. Leading 81-57 with just under four minutes of play remaining, Phelan sent his reservists into action.

Carter, fast rounding into shape after being sidelined with a hand injury, topped all scorers with 27 points. Lou Grillo added 20 and John Forte 14 for the Mount. Tom Daley and John Pierantozzi led the Rams with 19 and 14. Mt. St. Mary's converted 23 of 29 free throws while Textile made good on but nine of 18.

The victory was the 280th in Coach Phelan's 14 years as pilot of the Mountaineers. His teams have lost but 96 during that time.

here and suffered a heart attack. The quick service by Dr. Cadle and the ambulance crew was probably instrumental in saving this man's life. In appreciation for this humanitarian service this gentleman wrote a letter of appreciation to Michael Boyle, who in this instance, represented the VFW and the K. of C. We herewith present the letter, addressed to Mr. Boyle.

Dear Leo:

When I was suddenly taken ill on the evening of January 17, in your town of Emmitsburg, I believe that the quick action of the VFW ambulance crew is the reason that I am still alive today. The instant action of the driver and attendant in administering oxygen and the injection was the work of professionals.

I understand Leo, that you are a member of Brute Council and I don't, at this time, know how to thank you and your co-worker for such a tremendous job.

I am home now and have amazed the doctors with my recovery. However, I know it was made possible through the VFW ambulance crew, Dr. Gilligan, Paul Keepers and the Brute Council members.

Be assured Leo, that I will visit you when I am able and thank you personally. Sincerely and fraternally, Leonard McEvoy

State Secretary
Knights of Columbus
Baltimore, Maryland

Dear Brother Boyle:

I am writing to thank you and to congratulate you and the members of your ambulance crew for the swift and efficient service you rendered to our State Secretary when he was stricken by a heart attack in Emmitsburg on January 17. I know that the services rendered by you and the men with you are most deeply appreciated by our State Secretary, since he has discussed the wonderful way in which he was handled on many occasions.

I am enclosing a check drawn on the Maryland State Council as a donation to your ambulance fund. I know, since your ambulance services are another one of these volunteer services found in small towns, that you always have a need for any donations which might come your way.

Please accept our sincere congratulations for the remarkable preparedness you displayed on January 17.

Sincerely and fraternally,
M. D. Gilligan, D.D.S.

State Teens Honored for Outstanding 4-H Work

Two outstanding Maryland youths have returned from the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, where they served as delegates.

Steve Husbands, 17, and Elise Geller, 18, were among some 1,650 young people from all 50 states and Puerto Rico. The congress' program of social and cultural events was built around the theme, "Pursuit of Excellence."

Husbands, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephan Husbands, of Hyattsville, won the expense-paid trip for excelling in the photography project, sponsored by Eastman Kodak Company. He started with a Brownie, and now owns a 35 mm. camera, an enlarger, and his own developing equipment.

Husbands has done photography for the Cooperative Extension Service and for the Office of Economic Opportunity. "4-H has been like the Head Start program for me," he said.

Miss Geller

Awake, thou that sleepest.—(Eph. 5:14)

We think of awakening in the morning to the light of the sun streaming in our windows. Let us think of ourselves as awakening to Truth in the same way. Spiritual awakening comes like morning in our life; light streams into our consciousness; the Son, the Christ, rises in us, and we are transformed. Every time we pray, every time we have a realization of the power of God in us, we awaken to our spiritual nature; we let more of the Christ light into our mind, soul and life.

Local Hunters Protest Deer Management

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

About six months ago I sat down and wrote an article speaking out against the doe season of 1966 and made several predictions as to the effect it would have on the 1967 buck season.

I must admit my article was somewhat bitter, and due to the advice of my wife, who is not one for rocking the boat, it still rests neatly between the pages of a past issue of "Outdoor Life." Now, however, as I take stock of the present situation, my article appears to have been much needed, and perhaps not bitter enough!

A group of us from the Emmitsburg area do quite a bit of pre-season spotting, and we all agreed that the herd had been drastically reduced as a result of the unlimited type doe season held in 1966. The authorities held that the deer weren't being seen because they weren't coming out in the fields at night for food due to the excellent conditions of the mountain browse. What could we do but wait and check the actual results of the buck kill. This total has served as an accurate count of the deer in a given area for many years. Now, for some strange reason this figure is being disregarded, and the authorities, much to our dismay, have retained a doe season in Maryland.

There are a few discrepancies in this decision that we would like to point out at this time. First, was it not the prediction of the Maryland Game Commission that with the wholesale slaughter of our state's antlerless deer in 1966 our buck kill was supposed to take a turn for the better? I think some figures around 250 to 300 bucks alone would be harvested in Frederick County according to predictions. We deemed this totally impossible after observing the shameful number of yearling male deer (actually 8 and 9 months old), commonly called "button bucks" which were taken in the 1966 doe season. These deer would have been the breeding stock and the legal size bucks of this past season. They were not available for either role.

All we could do was wait to see what the Game Commission would do in the event they were inaccurate in their predictions. The kill was definitely off, but instead of admitting that certain counties could not withstand the doe season, they voted to have it continued. The entire structure of the deer management program in our state is missing its purpose. Heavily populated counties such as Frederick and Washington cannot take antlerless deer seasons. What may apply in some of our counties, such as Allegany and Garrett, cannot apply here, on the doorstep of such metropolises as Baltimore, Washington, Rockville, etc. Our counties receive too much hunting pressure from these cities now.

Our neighboring state, Pennsylvania, who must kill a staggering number of female deer each year to keep her herd in balance utilizes a system which enables her to know exactly how many deer hunters are going to be in the woods. What did Maryland do? Anyone who purchased a license could try his luck at the sport, and let it be known, it brought some characters!

We spent Friday and Saturday of the 1966 season just riding around and observing the deer taken in the Emmitsburg area. It was a very sad picture. Hunters walking out of the mountain with a 40 lb. deer tucked under an arm, and such stories as "I saw a herd and just started shooting till they were all out of sight, I got two." It is anyone's guess how many were hit.

We are not writing out of typer-emotion toward the killing of a female deer, but out of a very deep concern for the deer herd conservation in Frederick and Washington counties. We are writing for the hunter who gets a huge thrill out of seeing three or four doe sneaking along thru a thicket on a first morning. Killing a deer is not the all important thing in the hunt, but rather just knowing that you are in an area where there are deer. We have interviewed many good hunters, and it appears that the deer were simply not there this year. Our counties are heading for a status of VERY POOR where white tail deer hunting is concerned.

Another thing that has us baffled is the wide gap between the estimates of our State Biologists and representatives of the local area, who spend the better part of the year observing the deer in their areas, concerning the herd size. We understand the Commission estimates the herd in excess of 8,000, whereas a local conservationist from Hancock puts it at about 1,500. Gentlemen, if we are that far apart on what we consider to be a vital count, let's look again. If observations have been conducted at places such as Aberdeen Proving Grounds and Catocin Park, for example, where we understand they have been conducted, then a very fundamental error of statistics is being made. From such counts gross generalizations have been made for the rest of the state. This is not a representative sample of the deer cover in our local areas. These areas are deer "hot spots". Catocin Park has not had a deer taken legally in many years. It stands to reason that the herd is going to look good in such a place. But when one tries to project the number of deer to the acre at Catocin, for instance, to College Mountain just four miles away, that person is dead wrong. We need some figures on the break down of the deer herd in Maryland. As large and wild as Pennsylvania is, they have come up with some very accurate estimates on their individual counties. We would refer readers to the May issue of the "Pennsylvania Game News" for this enlightening information.

Finally, it has come to our attention that our state is considering a plan that will in all probability discourage many young hunters from starting the sport, or in some cases continuing it. The plan we speak of is that of abolishing the old county license and just offering a state wide type. This in itself we can go along with, but in addition, they are considering charging an extra five dollars for a big game stamp. The only big game we have is deer, and they are fast disappearing, and secondly, do you realize just how difficult it would be for a young fellow from a lower income family to come up with ten dollars at one time. We know that inflation is upon us, but from one dollar and twenty-five cents to ten dollars? This move may be just what it takes to turn young people from the joys of outdoor life. Oh well, no deer, no hunters, who'll care?

Now for a few predictions of our own:

1. The state is going to have to discontinue this open type killing of its female deer and turn to a more regulated program of herd control or face the possibility of reducing the herd to a dangerous level.

2. We contend that if the State Game Commission continues in the direction it is presently heading with regards to its management of the deer herd, the number of hunters purchasing big game stamps will be significantly fewer.

3. As a direct result of the seemingly negative attitude toward deer hunting in our state an increasing amount of money will be spent in our neighboring states of West Virginia, Virginia, and Pennsylvania for licenses, food, fuel, etc. These states have shown that they are interested in the out-of-state dollar by moving in a positive direction with their deer management programs.

Speaking for ourselves and many fellow sportsmen in the northern end of Frederick County we would like to add that it will be difficult for us to abstain from hunting in our local area after an accumulation of some fifty odd years of hunting between the four of us. We have seen the deer situation in this area make fine progress over the past fifteen years. Now, however, in two short years the gross mismanagement of that herd has set the county back twenty years to where seeing a single deer on a first day was about par.

TOM TOPPER

Easter Seal Chairman Named

John M. Motter, President and General Manager of the Credit Bureau, Frederick, has been named Chairman of the 1968 Frederick County Easter Seal Campaign, it was announced this week.

James W. Freeman of the Western Maryland Easter Seal Council and last year's Campaign Chairman said that Motter will lead local volunteers in the annual appeal for funds conducted by the Easter Seal Society. This year's Campaign, he pointed out, will open March 1, and continue through April 14, Easter Sunday.

The Easter Seal Campaign is conducted annually by some 1400 state and local affiliates of the National Society. Last year, direct rehabilitation services were provided to almost 1/4 million crippled children and adults. Locally, last year the Easter Seal Program provided physical therapy and speech therapy to hundreds of disabled children and adults. Additionally, each year it sends crippled children to summer camp.

Health Hints

SNOW SHOVELING

Ingredients for a heart attack: One heavy, wet snowfall; a raw wind blowing across the driveways; and one poorly conditioned, middle-aged man laboring furiously with a shovel. The energy output in shoveling a moderately heavy snow is approximately the same as if the individual were running seven or eight miles an hour. Leave the shoveling to the younger generation or your wife.

CARBON MONOXIDE

Have your car's exhaust system checked frequently for leaks. The risk of carbon monoxide poisoning from a faulty exhaust system is much greater during winter. Always leave one of your car windows open slightly while driving... and never run your car's engine in an enclosed garage.

SEASONAL COLD

Aspirin, liquids, and plenty of rest are considered the most effective weapons against the common cold. At the first sign of a cold—dry throat, runny nose, slight fever, muscular pains—take the necessary action to make yourself comfortable for the up to two weeks it takes the body to rid itself of the cold. Antibiotics are ineffective against colds, though your physician may sometimes prescribe them to prevent secondary infection.

The Gable Image:

It Was Created Out of Life and Shaped By Experiences

Clark Gable once told a friend: "I work with all that I have been, all that I am, and all that I shall ever be."

This is perhaps the most revealing comment he ever made on the relationship between Gable the screen legend and Gable the man. The Gable image was created from life and was strongly influenced by his earliest experiences. Gable gained world-wide recognition and adoration portraying rough and tough he-men like his father, but the sensitivity underlying each Gable portrayal was nurtured by his step-mother.

Clark Gable's father, William Gable, was of sturdy German stock, and the passion of his life was the rugged work of an oilfield wildcatter. Clark's mother died soon after he was born on February 1, 1901. He was raised by a step-mother, Jennie Dunlap who lavished time and attention on him.

Although his childhood was sheltered and happy, Gable's adolescence and early manhood were quite the opposite. When Clark was about 15 he dropped out of school and took off for Akron, Ohio. Shortly after that his beloved stepmother died and his father left for the Oklahoma oilfields. Clark stayed in Akron and there discovered "theatre" and worked backstage until his father convinced him to join him in the oilfields of Bigheart, Oklahoma.

Clark finally told his father that he couldn't stand the life in the oilfields, that his real desire was to be an actor. His hard working father couldn't understand this and the two men parted unpleasantly.

The story at this point becomes unclear with Gable wandering his way West to Oregon where he worked as a tie salesman in a Portland department store and where once again he joined a little theatre group. Finally, he enrolled to study drama with Josephine Dillon, eleven years his senior, who would become his first wife.

During their years together Josephine worked a fantastic transformation on Clark. She saw to it that he got rest, dentistry, and good food, got him hired as an extra in several movies, made him a decent enough actor to work a season with a Houston Repertory Theatre and eventually developed his talent where he could confidently take on Broadway.

Gable's climb to stardom was slow and arduous, the film that established him as Hollywood's leading rugged he-man was "A Free Soul" where he played opposite Norma Shearer.

In 1925, Clark married his fifth wife, former starlet Kay Williams. He and his new wife spent a great deal of time hunting, taking trips, or golfing in Palm Springs, and Gable seemed to feel that her two children helped make his ranch truly a "home." And then a motion picture project came along that really excited him: "The Misfits," written by Arthur Miller and co-starring Marilyn Monroe. Clark dieted and rested to get in shape for production. But location conditions in Reno were worse than expected.

It was while they were in Reno that Kay Gable informed her husband she was expecting a child. Proud and delighted, he turned down all jobs for the year ahead. "Isn't it wonderful," he said, "an old bloke like me going to be a papa!"

When the strenuous filming of "The Misfits" was completed, Clark and his wife returned to their ranch in Encino. Two days later he suffered a heart attack. While recuperating in the hospital Gable fretted that his illness would tire his pregnant wife. And suddenly, on the evening of November 16, 1960, at the age of 59, he died. Four months later his only child, a son, John Clark, was born.

In the hour-long television special being presented on the NBC-TV network, Tuesday, March 5, viewers will see never before shown candid and film footage of the undisputed King of Hollywood together with interviews with childhood friends and many of his most famous leading ladies, both in scenes from their most memorable films and exchanging personal reminiscences.

According to producer Nick Noxon and Irwin Rosten, DEAR MR. GABLE will explore the disparities between Gable's lusty, brawling tough guy screen image and the reserve and gentleness of his real-life personality.

The Trail Toward Disaster

Something is (and has been) dreadfully wrong in Washington in the places where American foreign policy is made. For 35 years, foreign policy decisions, with scarcely any notable exceptions, have aided World Communism's expansion and its drive toward its constantly-announced goal—athletic, dictatorial dominion over all mankind. We thus find America today in the midst of her gravest crisis in history. The trapings of the "Fool's Paradise" in which the American people have lived for three decades, apathetic to the warnings of a few, have been torn away to reveal, unmistakably, the stark dimensions of looming disaster.

The foreign policy record is incredible. Through every Presidential administration since Franklin Roosevelt's first term, the interests of the Kremlin bosses in Moscow have been well served and America's position in the world, our very security has suffered damage. With World Communism's nature and objectives so plainly visible, this unbroken record of capitulation to it seems too consistent to have been wrought without powerful manipulation all along the way by some internal force alien to our national interest.

Our Secrets Stolen
 A part of the record is above ground: the plundering of American secrets for Communist Russia (the A-bomb and H-bomb blueprints and every other U. S. development of consequence) by the Rosenbergs, the Golds, the Burgesses and MacCleans, the Fuchs, Mays, Pontecorvos, the Harry Dexter Whites, the Alger Hisses, and hundreds of other Soviet agents or unwitting helpers. Nearly all of the few Americans who tried to alert the nation to this subversive force at work have been bounded out of action by influential press media and by our Government itself (another indication of internal alien power at work).

President Eisenhower made some of the same tragic mistakes aiding World Communism that FDR had made; and President Kennedy fell into the same serious error with which he personally had charged Harry Truman. Their actions and the waves of actions they set into motion aided World Communism to greatly expand; to become, if not the most powerful, at least one of the two most powerful nations on earth!

Epidemic Ignorance, Or —

The patriotism and dedication of these four Presidents cannot be challenged. But in dealing with World Communism they failed their country. Either they were epidemically unwise in major foreign policy actions or they were subtly influenced to act disastrously, as they did, each and all of them. There is overwhelming evidence in support of the latter cause. And the evidence is clear that our nation continues today, under still a fifth President, to be victimized in the same way. But now since Soviet Russia, with our 35 years of indispensable aid, has such globe-girdling military power, the situation carries immediate deadly potentials.

Here are a few of the major highlights, the milestones in World Communism's fantastic growth:

1933 — President Roosevelt formally recognized, brought into the "family of decent nations," Josef Stalin's Communist Russia, at a time when it was a malignant cesspool of tyranny, tottering in its embryonic weakness. Recognition gave it new life its first international prestige financial support a "green light" for expansion.

1941-1944 — The U. S. accepted Soviet Russia which by then had horrified the world with its inhuman slaughter of dissenters as an equal ally — after its twin-evil and former ally Hitler's Germany had turned upon it. At the end of the war, U. S. foreign policy (now visibly influenced by Stalin) directed the infamous "Operation Keelhaul," which, at U. S. bayonet-points, forced millions of Russians who had fled Communist terror, including significant sections of the "Red" army, to return to Russia where they were put to death or horribly tortured in slave labor imprisonment.

1945 — With U. S. approval,

Germany was cut up as proposed by Russia; Poland and the Eastern European Baltic nations were given into the bloody hands of the Soviets. U. S. Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane resigned and published his pathetic book, "I Saw Poland Betrayed." The book, with its ringing message of warning, was all but suppressed; its message never reached the American Public.

In subsequent columns we will continue this list of milestones in World Communism's growth, most of which were reached with American help.

A CHAIN OF HOPE AROUND THE WORLD

The amazing thing about man is his spirit. Man struggles against tremendous odds. Three quarters of the people of this earth live at or below the subsistence level. There are wars, there is oppression, and there is hunger—still the greatest single threat to life. Yet children long to grow up. Adults somehow love and seek love.

Americans have perhaps the greatest surplus energy. This may be why they are among the greatest givers. One way they "tie into" giving is through CATHOLIC RELIEF SERVICES, an amazing world-wide network that works in close co-operation with the U. S. Government's "Food for Freedom" program. Besides food, medical supplies and clothing are also distributed. The largest voluntary service in the world, CATHOLIC RELIEF SERVICES, reaches millions of needy persons in over 70 countries, without regard to religion or race. This year marks its 25th anniversary. Send your contribution to the nearest Catholic church, or mail to: Bishops' Overseas Fund, Empire State Bldg., New York, N.Y. 10001.

After Death, The BODY SHALL RISE AGAIN!

This is one of the Christian truths hardest for some people to believe.

Though accepting the immortality of the soul, they cannot believe the human body can disintegrate and then be renewed and restored. Forgetting that anything is possible to God, they regard such resurrection as a physical and scientific impossibility.

One of the most definite truths of the Christian religion is that the bodies of all men after death shall rise again. "...the hour is coming," says the Gospel of St. John, "when all who are in the tombs will hear His voice and come forth, those who have done good to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil to the resurrection of the judgment" (John 5:28-29).

Confronted by the disbelief of the Sadducees, our Lord said to them: "...as for the resurrection of the dead, have you not read what was said to you by God, 'I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?' He is not God of the dead but of the living (Matt. 22:29-33).

But even though the Scriptures confirm this ancient Christian doctrine, they don't specifically answer some questions concerning it that may trouble you. You may wonder, for example, if your resurrected body will be identical with your human body... if you will recall loved ones and events of your life... if you will eat, drink and move about as you did in your lifetime on earth.

The nature of the resurrected body is explained by St. Paul, using the example of a seed to make his meaning clear. "What you sow is not the body which is to be, but a bare kernel, perhaps of wheat or some other grain. But God gives it a body as He has chosen, and to each kind of seed its own body. So it is with the resurrection of the dead. What is sown is corruptible, what is raised is incorruptible. It is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power. It is sown a physical body, it is raised a spiritual body" (1 Cor. 15:37-44).

If you are in doubt about or confused by the mystery of the resurrection of the body, write today for our new pocket-size pamphlet entitled: "You Shall Rise Again." D.M.V. REPORT

By D. Murray Franklin
Public Information Officer
Md. Dept. of Motor Vehicles

Tag Renewal Time

Within the next few days, Maryland motorists have begun receiving their 1968 tag applications from the Department of Motor Vehicles.

This year's new 4-part form was computer-printed in the Department's Data Processing Center and Commissioner John R. Jewell has emphasized the need for close scrutiny of the 1968 application which requires several new items of information not called for in previous years.

Owners will be required to insert the identification number of their driver's license or chauffeur's permit in the space provided on the fourth section of the new form. Owners who do not drive will be required to insert their full name . . . first, middle and last names (no initials) and their date of birth.

On the reverse side of the application, owners are required to reply to questions concerning the use of the vehicle (whether it is operated for hire, rent or lease) and the present status of its registration (whether revoked or suspended).

Certification of insurance coverage is also required, listing the name of the insurance carrier, policy number, effective date and name of agent or broker.

Applications which do not contain full and accurate answers to all questions will be returned to the owner with an appropriate instruction slip.

It should be pointed out that whenever it becomes necessary to return an application for lack of sufficient information, the delay may prevent receipt of the license plates prior to the deadline of April 1st.

Motorists who wish to purchase their tags "over-the-counter" may do so at most County Treasurers' offices, excepting Baltimore, Carroll, Howard and Frederick Counties and Baltimore City.

DMV MAIL CALL

From EAH, Keedysville: The Driver Rehabilitation Clinic that I have been assigned to attend conflicts with my hours at work. Can I come at another time? Also, when I complete the course, do I get something to show that I did attend?

Write DMV's Driver Rehabilitation Clinic, explaining your problem. They will inform you as to whether they can reschedule you at another time and place, in the area in which you live. When you complete the series of clinical instruction, you are given a wallet-size certification of completion and this fact is recorded on your driving record.

From EFS, Laurel: I was scheduled for a hearing in early January but was unable to attend due to illness. I have since received a letter from DMV notifying me that my driving license has been suspended. What can I do to become reinstated?

Write to the Department's Driver Improvement Section and explain why you did not attend. If possible attach a note from your physician. Your situation will receive prompt consideration and you will be notified regarding future procedures.

From JDL, Curtis Bay: I recently moved here from Alabama which does not issue automobile titles. How can I get my car titled in Maryland?

It will be necessary for you to submit the following "proof of ownership" documents to this Department, i.e. (1) Current Alabama registration card in your name, (2) notarized bill of sale from the seller in Alabama. Your vehicle must then be taken to an approved Maryland inspection station where if it passes inspection, you will be issued an inspection certificate. You can then apply for your Maryland title on DMV form TD 315 which must be completed and the signature notarized. When you apply for Maryland tags, use DMV form TD 303 which records your insurance coverage as having met the minimum amounts required by State law. You will be charged an excise tax of 3% of the fair market value of your car plus a $3.00 fee for your Maryland title.

amendments to the Social Security law, according to W. E. Dunn, Officer-in-Charge of the Social Security Branch Office in Frederick.

The new legislation also increases social security payments for all beneficiaries by at least 13%. Special payments made to people age 72 and older will be increased to $40 a month for individuals and to $60 a month for couples. King emphasized that the increase will first appear in the social security checks that will be paid early in March 1968. Beneficiaries do not have to do anything to get the increase and are asked not to contact the social security office about the amount.

Under the old law, widows age 63 and over could receive monthly cash payments on the social security account of a husband who died fully insured. The new legislation reduces the age requirement to 50 for widows who are severely disabled. The first month for which payments can be made to disabled widows is February 1968.

A widow will be considered "disabled" if she has a mental or physical impairment that keeps her from doing any gainful activity and the impairment has lasted (or is expected to last) 12 months or longer. Age, education and work experience (which are considered in the case of a disabled worker) are not considered. Additionally, the disability must have started before the husband's death or within 7 years after his death. However, a widow who received mother's benefits (young widows with minor children or disabled children) can be eligible if her disability occurred within 7 years after those payments ended.

The amount of the disabled widows benefit will depend in part on her age at the time she qualified. It will range from 50% to 82½% of the deceased spouse's primary insurance amount. For example, if she begins to receive the benefit at age 50, the benefit will be 50% of the husband's primary amount; if she starts at age 55, her benefit will be 60% of his benefit. As before, a widow can be eligible for benefits on her husband's account as age 60 even though she is not disabled. At 60 the benefit is 71½% of the husband's primary amount and at age 62 it is 82½%.

Also eligible for this type benefit will be the disabled widower who was dependent upon his wife at the time of death and the surviving divorced wife if she was married for 20 years before the divorce and receiving support from her former husband when he died.

Why is it, when men or women act like children, they always imitate the worst traits of childhood?

in the DRIVER'S SEAT

The "head of the house" didn't take the 8:05 to the office today. Instead he drove the family car to a nearby business meeting.

Where did this leave the "lady of the house" who has shopping, a dentist's appointment for the children, a date with the "girls" for bridge, and no other transportation available at home?

The solution could be a second car, but two-car situations don't always arise often enough to justify this strain on the budget.

More and more suburban families, according to Hertz Rent-A-Car, are finding the solution in renting cars.

Families are learning that the rental car provides not just transportation, but a variety and flexibility of transportation that would be impossible to achieve without owning not just a second or third car, but a fleet.

Rental, Hertz explains, makes possible a "wardrobe of cars," with a vehicle suited to each occasion.

The wardrobe concept means that a station wagon is available for an outing of the cub scout pack, for that trip to the plant nursery, for moves to the summer home and as a light "truck" for the do-it-yourself handyman.

A rental car "wardrobe" also provides a convertible or sports car for country club dates or sporting events. For that special night in town a luxury car is also available, Hertz suggests.

All in all, the rental car has become an integral part of suburban living. Thanks to handy, convenient locations, Hertz reports, more and more suburbanites today are rolling on rented wheels.

BABSON'S

POINT OF VIEW

Babson's Point Of View On:
Our Debt To The Press

BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 29—Probably there is no business that does so much good yet is still so little appreciated as the newspaper business. Most of us take our papers for granted . . . paying our dime to get a dollar's worth and more of news and information, and failing to realize the value of the personal, social, and economic service provided us.

Purveyors Of News

The history of the press in the United States is a long and fascinating one. Beginning with the first regular newspaper, the Boston Newsletter, originating in 1704, our newspapers have played a glorious part in the development of our country, its economic growth, and its advance to its position of prestige among the nations of the world. Not only the large city dailies, but also the numerous weeklies and the small papers in rural areas, have an enviable record of service as purveyors of news, protectors of liberty, guardians of public morals, and champions of the better life.

In pursuit of this fourfold goal, our newspapers are continually compiling and publishing a record of our times based on the thoughts, motives, actions and living habits of people here in our own country and in the wider world which we must learn to understand if we are to prosper in it and be at peace with it.

Protectors Of Liberty

The first of the ten Amendments to the Constitution of the United States . . . which form our Bill of Rights . . . reads in part as follows: "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech or of the press . . ." But what thus became the law of the land in 1791 a scant 15 years after the Declaration of Independence was established in principle back in 1735 when John Peter Zenger—editor of New York City—was acquitted of libel charges arising from his critical reports and comments

OUR SIXTH ANNUAL

WINTER DISCOUNT PROGRAM

NOW IN EFFECT

This unique program was begun to benefit both YOU and OUR COMPANY. Since it is most impractical to place foundations during the inclement winter weather, there was for many years a large demand for memorials to be erected in the spring. Most families would wait until warm weather and place their order for a monument at that time. Certainly, you can realize that this created quite a backlog of orders for spring installation.

Another reason which we feel is most important, is that it provides year around work for our employees. Should you make your selection now, our craftsmen will complete the carving and lettering during the inclement weather, thus avoiding any unnecessary delay next spring. Your memorial will be installed when weather permits in the spring. As an incentive for you, we also offer outstanding discounts throughout this period, which we allow on ALL our monuments, and markers.

Following, is our discount schedule:

Feb. 14, 1968 to Mar. 10, 1968 5%

The above discount prices assure you of guaranteed substantial savings.

Other features of this unique program are:

- * Payment in spring, AFTER you have inspected completed installed memorial.
- * Free transportation to and from our large and complete display.
- * Monthly terms available, if desired.

Potomac Edison Plans Expansion

The Potomac Edison Company has announced a construction program for 1968 calling for a record expenditure of nearly $34.6 million in its four-state service area, including over $3.6 million in Frederick district.

This is the largest one-year construction budget in PE's history and will, in the words of President Charles D. Lyon, "enable us to vastly increase our capacity to meet the expanding power needs of our customers, and do it in the most economical and efficient way possible."

Allocations for the current year include all phases of the utility company's operations—power generation, lines, substations and service facilities.

In the Frederick District, which includes this area, PE anticipates expenditures of well over $3.6 million to expand and strengthen electric service facilities.

Major projects locally include substantial work at Doubts Substation near Adamstown and the Montgomery Substation at Clarksburg. New equipment will be installed at these locations to provide additional power supply force and to improve reliability of service throughout this area.

In line construction work, the existing 138,000-volt line from Doubts to Lime Kiln, will be rebuilt for 230,000 volt capacity and a new 34,500-volt line will be constructed from Lime Kiln to the Montgomery Substation.

Line facilities serving Fort Detrick will be strengthened in relation to the new Walter Reed addition now under construction. In the Jefferson area line work will strengthen present facilities to serve the new Valley School. Additional work will also be undertaken in the Yellow Springs section to meet expanding load growth. Facilities to serve the new Comsat complex also will be constructed this year.

In the area of customer service facilities, PE will complete work within a few months on its new service center for the Brunswick area.

Nearly half of PE's construction funds this year will go for new power generating facilities. This new capacity is being installed by PE and its affiliates in the Allegheny Power System at two major power stations now under construction—the Fort Martin Station near Morgantown, W. Va.; and the Hatfield's Ferry Station near Masontown, Pa.

There are two units of 540,000 kilowatts each at Fort Martin; one already in operation and the other scheduled for completion this year. Hatfield's Ferry will have three units of 540,000 kilowatts each, scheduled for service in 1969, 1970 and 1972. When completed, Potomac Edison's total investment in these new generating stations will be over $77 million.

Raceway campaign of 100 nights opening May 13. Wilcutts thinks he has a potential champion in Sailor's Dream, and Cameron, who won the rich Hambletonian with Newport Dream (1954), Egyptian Candor (1965) and Speedy Streak (1967) agrees with Tic. Sailor's Dream will race at Brandywine. Cameron will be there, too.

Guitarist Will

Perform At College

Guitarist Jorge Morel will perform in concert at Saint Joseph College on Thursday, March 7. The free performance, open to the public, will begin at 8:00 p.m. in dePaul Auditorium.

A native of Buenos Aires, Morel studied guitar with maestro Pablo Escobar. He made his United States debut in Carnegie Hall in 1961. Since then, he has played his repertoire of classical, South American, poplar, and show tunes at numerous college concerts as well as at the Village Gate in New York.

Selections for the Emmitsburg program include 16th century composer Luis Milan's "Pavanos Nos. 1 and 2," Paganini's "Romanza," and Gershwin's "Prelude No. 2." He will also play his own arrangement, "Gershwiniana," and Escobar's "Chopi."

The concert is part of the 1967-68 cultural events program, co-sponsored by Saint Joseph's and

Mt. St. Mary's Colleges. The next event in the program is the April 22nd appearance of the National Players in their production of "Much Ado About Nothing."

If They Close The Drugstores,
What's Next?

(An Editorial)

Dr. James L. Goddard, commissioner of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, has said that the corner drugstore should be closed down. However, he qualified this statement by adding that any such development is 20 years away.

Not surprisingly, the remarks by the FDA commissioner before newsmen at a New York press conference aroused the ire of retail pharmacists throughout the nation. A spokesman for 40,000 of the country's 53,000 drugstores, Willard B. Simmons, executive secretary of the National Association of Retail Druggists, declared that it wouldn't have made any difference if Dr. Goddard had said that drugstores wouldn't be shut down for 50 years. "It is all the same to me," said Mr. Simmons while speaking before the Northern California Pharmaceutical Association recently. "Dr. Goddard has gone on record as favoring the elimination of the American drugstore from the public scene. That leaves us no choice but to seek his resignation."

Mr. Simmons also charged in his speech that Dr. Goddard is dedicated to the concept of moving the practice of drug dispensing out of the drugstores and into the doctor's office. "But I have news for Dr. Goddard and others within and outside of pharmacy," Mr. Simmons said. "The American drugstore as a vital, progressive, updated service institution is here to stay. That's the way the public wants it and that's the way it is going to be."

If Mr. Simmons is correct in his forecast, drugstores in every community will continue to make a major contribution to the public welfare and to the economy. If Dr. Goddard is correct, we can look forward to a decrease in drugstore expenditures to meet payrolls and advertise goods and services, empty stores, and the possible elimination of the drugstore as a traditional service institution in all communities.

We can also look forward to queuing-up at the few and far between medical centers and hospitals to obtain our prescription drugs. That is not at all a pleasant prospect when you consider that, more often than not, the patients who are in need of drugs are not feeling well enough to travel long distances and wait in line for medicine.

If Dr. Goddard's dire forecasts turn out to be true, no longer will we be able to have our prescriptions filled or refilled at our "corner drugstore" or call for immediate delivery of health care needs in all kinds of weather or have emergency drug services readily available over a 24-hour period, or to be able to have a trained professional and business person ready to serve all members of our family, young or old, with the kind of personal attention we have always received from our local pharmacist; or be able to talk to our neighborhood pharmacist about a large number of personal and community problems.

We sincerely hope that the commissioner is wrong in his predictions and the drugstore will remain as a vital service institution in all of our communities. But if the commissioner is correct, what other segment of our free enterprise system will a few schemers turn to in their efforts to control our society?

Today the very existence of the drugstore is threatened. Who knows what tomorrow has in store for other professions and business enterprises?
