Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

Some church-goers could be disappointed Sunday when they go to churches and anticipate picking up their usual strands of palm fronds. According to current reports there is a shortage of palm and a number of churches will not have any on hand for Palm Sunday, which you must know is this Sunday. Seems as though there is a labor shortage in Florida where most of the palm is cut. I understand it is a rather laborious job of climbing and hacking the fronds from the high-growing palm tree and no one seems to want to do the job anymore. I don't know what the local situation will be Sunday, as far as receiving any palm, but some churches in the country will be palmless. Could very easily be that we'll have to change the name of Palm Sunday to some other Sunday, significant to the occasion, of course.

Oops! Seems I goofed again. Information has come to my desk to inform me that in last week's column I said the Vigilant Hose Company was sponsoring the big June parade here. As a matter of fact, I did say that and I hope you will accept my humble apology. I should have said that the Fire Co. would host the parade which will be sponsored by the Indian Lookout Conservation Club. Just the use of one word can get a gal into hot water pretty fast. In this case host and sponsor meant a vast difference. Let it be plainly understood that our Fire Company doesn't get a red cent for hosting the parade. Sorry about that, boys!

Well our State Legislature has adjourned its present session and we'll be given an opportunity to vote on a number of bills passed at a special election to be held on Nov. 4. Many of these bills are the very same ones we turned down last year when we overwhelmingly voted against the constitutional amendment. The measures have been redressed and a new coating of sugar has been added for flavor, but inside the essence is the same, so keep your eyes on these bills when they come to public vote next November.

There's a small taxpayers' revolution afoot and Congress is hearing more and more complaints every week, especially from the little fellow who earns between $5 and $10,000 a year. It was amazing to read this week where 21 millionaires were checked and it was found out that they didn't owe a dad-blamed cent to the Government in taxes. . . . And they were perfectly within their rights, under the present internal revenue law setup. People should clamor louder for tax reform and distribute the tax load more evenly. It is utterly ridiculous for you to have to pay the large amount of taxes on the paltry sum you earn when a millionaire can go scott free. . . . think it over. Remember the Boston Tea Party? Let's have another. . . . only no violence!

Lions Club

Buys Eyeglasses

Laverne Fogle, Glade Valley Lions Club and present deputy district governor of District 22-W, was the honored guest at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions held Monday evening in Mt. Manor Restaurant with the president, Milton A. Sewell presiding.

Lion Fogle was accompanied by two past district governors, C. O. Fishpaw of Westminster and Harry Dougherty, Taneytown.

VFW TO MEET

Nomination of officers will be held at the regular meeting of VFW Post 6658, Emmitsburg, to be held Wednesday, April 2, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Post Home. Final plans will be made for the annual Easter Egg Hunt to be held Easter Sunday afternoon at Community Field.

Guidance in career and rehabilitation is available at the Easter Seal Center in Frederick.

EGG CONTEST ENTRIES CLOSE SATURDAY

"There is still time to win a transistor radio, camera or dinner for two in the area's first annual Easter Egg Engraving Contest," Donald Fitzgerald reminded Emmitsburg Chronicle readers today.

Radios are the first prizes for Class C, 5th through 8th grade, winners. High school students, Class B, will receive cameras. Class A, anyone beyond high school age, will be given an evening out, dinner for two, at either The Cozy, Royer's or Shamrock Restaurants with the compliments of the Catocin Mountain Travel Council, sponsors of the contest.

Scratch carved eggs—egg engraving—was a custom in this section of Western Maryland before the American Revolution. Hard boiled eggs are dyed then scratch-carved with a needle or pin. "It's fun and easy," Fitzgerald says, "and limited only by your own imagination."

Contestants may enter one egg in each of three categories, with a first prize going to each: Traditional. These are eggs engraved as "love tokens," similar to modern valentines.

Patriotic. These are eggs engraved with appropriate patriotic designs or messages.

Easter. Eggs engraved with symbols and/or messages traditionally associated with the Easter season.

Entries will be on exhibit in Emmitsburg and Thurmont during Holy Week, March 30 through April 6. Eggs should be delivered on Friday or Saturday, between 2 and 5 p.m. to the Thurmont Public Library or the Emmitsburg Pharmacy.

The contest is being judged on the basis of originality, appropriateness, and craftsmanship, with special consideration being given eggs colored with natural dyes. Judging will be by members of the Catocin United Artists group: Mrs. Douglas Buchanan, Mrs. Nathan Lewis and Mr. Arthur Gernand.

Explains Fire Co. Only Hosts Parade

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

An article appeared in your Abigail Column last week (3-21-69) which I feel should be clarified to you and to the readers of the Chronicle.

The article in mind refers to the forthcoming parade. I wish to impress upon you and your readers that the Fire Company is NOT sponsoring the parade NOR is the Fire Company seeking donations for prizes. The parade as well as the carnival are sponsored solely by the Indian Lookout Conservation Club. The Fire Company benefits in no way from this affair.

The Fire Company acts only as host for the parade in an effort to attract a large turnout of participants thus giving the public a better show.

I wish to point out to you and to your readers that all donations which are made to the Fire Company are used strictly for the operation of the Fire Company. This fact can be verified by the financial statement which is published yearly.

I want to stress this point about donations as the Vigilant Hose Company will begin its 1969 Fund Drive in the next few weeks. As you are aware, from reports in your paper, last year's Drive fell short of its goal, as a result we have to aim for a larger goal this year.

The annual goal is set to help cover the Company's yearly operating expenses as well as putting money aside for the purchase of new equipment. At the present time, the Vigilant Hose Company is formulating plans to have a new fire engine delivered in 1971. The cost of this new truck fully equipped, ready to answer an alarm, may very well cost in the neighborhood of $30,000.00. This, plus the fact that the Fire Company still owes $14,000.00 on the new building addition, certainly indicates that the public's undivided support is urgently needed.

In summary, I hope that it is clear to you and to your readers that the Vigilant Hose Company is not seeking donations for the forthcoming parade nor does the Vigilant Hose Company benefit from the carnival, both of which are sponsored by the Indian Lookout Conservation Club.

Very truly yours,
James E. Fitzgerald
President, Vigilant Hose Co.

Holstein Excels

Greenspring Princess Rae 64896-19, a two-year-old Registered Holstein cow owned by Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hill, Emmitsburg R2, has produced a noteworthy record of 18,920 lbs. of milk and 663 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days.

FATAL WRECK BRINGS SUIT ON LOCAL MAN

A civil suit, claiming $425,000 has been filed by a Hagerstown woman in Frederick Circuit Court against the Western Maryland Railway Co. and an Emmitsburg resident.

The suit was filed against the Western Maryland Railroad in Hagerstown and Gary Joseph Sanders, 18, by Mrs. Ruth Virginia Morgan and for her two children, Jeffrey, 13, and Jan Pamela, 10, of Fairview Road in Hagerstown.

Mrs. Morgan's action was brought against the defendants as a result of a car-truck collision on Oct. 19, 1968, that occurred on State Route 97, a mile north of Emmitsburg. In the accident, her husband, Virgil Guy Morgan, 44, "sustained severe injuries resulting in his death," according to the suit.

The accident, as described in the suit, occurred when a Western Maryland Railroad pole truck pulled out into the "highway" and was struck by an automobile owned and operated by the defendant, Gary Joseph Sanders. Virgil Morgan was a passenger in the truck and an employee of the railroad.

The suit, as brought against the railroad under the Federal Employers' Liability Act, is claiming $200,000 in that the driver of the truck was an employee of the railroad and "... failed to yield the right-of-way to the automobile driven by the defendant, Gary Joseph Sanders. . . ."

The $225,000 suit against Sanders claims that Sanders "failed to avoid colliding with said truck in which the decedent was riding. . . ."

The suit and a request for a jury trial was filed in behalf of Mrs. Morgan by Attorney Milton R. Jones of Baltimore and Edwin F. Nikirk of Frederick.

Gettysburg College Declares 2-Day Moratorium

A two-day break from classes permitting campus-wide participation in a "moratorium" to discuss problems and opportunities at Gettysburg College has been set for April 15-16.

At its meeting Wednesday, the Executive Committee of the college faculty, decided that classes would not meet on April 15-16 "in order to permit campus-wide participation in the moratorium discussions."

Dr. C. Arnold Hanson, college president, said, in a statement circulated around the campus, "I support the idea of a gathering of all parts of the college for serious discussion of our problems and opportunities. Thus the proposal for a Moratorium has my support under the assumption that its formulation includes all parts of the college and permits serious exploration and follow-up of matters of concern and interest."

The idea of a moratorium is a follow-up to student unrest reported last weekend on the campus. The unrest was sparked by about 400 men and women students who protested the administration's modification of a co-ed proposal for more lenient women's hours.

During an all-night session in the Student Union Building Saturday, students came up with other topics of general concern to the campus community. One of their recommendations was to hold a "two-day moratorium on classes". Students suggested the moratorium program might include seminars and discussions among trustees, administrators, faculty and students.

Robert W. Hallett, a senior from Boston, Mass., listed 10 items that might be discussed at the moratorium: Residential life; philosophy of education; goals of the college; curriculum; recruitment of faculty and students; planning and development; alumni and public relations; finances; power structure; and student life in general.

Historic Frederick County On Display

Historic Frederick, Maryland, will open its treasures from the past on April 26 and 27 in a showcase of history for the people of Maryland, the District of Columbia, and surrounding areas. This city of "The Clustered Spires" will hold its second annual Bell and History Day to acquaint the public with the historical landmarks and monuments which have added so much to our country's heritage.

At least ten of Frederick's landmarks will be included on bus and walking tours. Beginning at the Francis Scott Key Hotel in downtown Frederick, those attending will have a chance to visit the home of Barbara Fritchie who was made famous in Whittier's poem, the home of Roger Brooke Taney, the grave of Francis Scott Key, Rose Hill Manor, the Hessian Barracks, Court House Park and vicinity, the Historical Society Home and Museum, Steiner House, Visitation Convent gardens, and the museum of the state's oldest volunteer fire company, Independent Hose Company No. 1.

Marking each day will be the ringing of the bells from the spires of downtown churches which form the "Cluster". In addition, the committee is working on other special events for the two day celebration, which will be held each afternoon from 1 to 4. Residents in costume will act as hostesses and guides during the tours. Tickets will be available at a nominal fee on the days of the festivities.

The committee planning the events is comprised of local business men and citizens interested in promoting Frederick's historical past. General chairman is Mrs. Charles Sanner, and she is being assisted by Mr. Richard R. Kline.

Panel Scheduled At College

Jack Epstein and Quentin Lawson, Director and Assistant Director respectively of Project Mission of the Baltimore City Public Schools, will form a panel on "Reaching and Teaching the Un-teachable," in Dodd Lecture Hall at St. Joseph College, April 9 at 7 p.m.

Mr. Epstein and Mr. Lawson will discuss motivation, discipline, the improvement of pupils' attitudes toward learning and schools, racial relations, and proper regard for property, equipment and supplies.

Mr. Epstein has been associated with the Baltimore City public schools for many years and is a member of the staff of the Johns Hopkins University Evening College and Summer School and Towson State Evening College.

Mr. Lawson has been affiliated with the Baltimore City schools since 1958 and has served in a variety of positions.

Both educators have been actively involved in the Project Mission Program designed to train teachers for the inner city schools. The curriculum is offered in an inner city school in Baltimore with one half of the day spent in the classroom with a master teacher. The other half of a day is spent in the same schools with the project professors from the three cooperating colleges, Towson, Morgan and Coppin State.

Mount Third In Indoor Meet

Mount St. Mary's, gaining but one first place on a record-breaking performance by Bill Lyons in the two-mile run, finished third in the 11th annual Mason-Dixon Conference indoor track meet last Thursday evening at the Baltimore Civic Center.

Favored Catholic University, paced by Bill Ennis, won the meet with ease, piling up 107 points to far out-distance second place Towson State which accounted for 54½ points. Other team scores were: 3, Mt. St. Mary's 35; 4, Bridgewater 23; 5, Old Dominion 10; 6, Randolph-Macon 8; 7, Western Maryland 3; 8, Loyola 2; 8, Johns Hopkins 1, and Lynchburg ½.

Lyons captured the two-mile run in 9:35 to eclipse the mark of 9:46.2 set last year by Wright of Catholic University.

Attends Business Meeting

Sister Angela Kinkhand, Business Manager, and Mrs. Irma Anderson, accountant, at St. Joseph College, attended a workshop of Eastern Association College and University Business Officers in New York City, recently.

The sessions concentrated on problems confronting business officers of educational institutions.

More than 8,000 handicapped children will attend Easter Seal camps this year, and several thousand more will attend regular camps on Easter Seal campuses.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley
EYE ACCOMMODATION

Eye accommodation means the ability of the eye to maintain focus at various distances. There is a focusing mechanism in the eye itself which acts just like a zoomar lens. At distance, the eye has one focus or power, and at a close point, the eye accommodates or focuses at a different power. This is done so quickly and automatically, we all tend to take it for granted—until it is lost to us.

When this action is lost, the eye condition is called "presbyopia" or farsightedness, and we require glasses, at least for reading.

You will notice that those who wear reading glasses do not have a range. By "range" we mean the ability to maintain sharp focus when the reading material is moved in or out.

You may have seen eye doctors check the "range." They prefer to have the individual able to see closer and further away than the reading distance. The more you can do this, the greater range you have. The older we get, the less range we enjoy.

Accommodation, however, is only one type of vision examination. There are many other tests we must take to learn the true condition of our sight.

The National Eye Research Foundation suggests eye examinations regularly, preferably every six months.

Freedom To Dream

Is anybody telling the college campus revolutionaries and their dupes (reported to be 700,000) about the productivity of the American system which they are dedicated to overthrow? Is anybody telling them about the much lower productivity and the much lower living standards of people living under Socialism and Communism; and how comparatively few families living under such systems can send their boys and girls to college? The facts about our system and the Socialist-Communist systems utterly destroy the phony harangues of the entire Left-wing crowd. But are our youngsters being given the facts? The answer is, generally speaking, NO!

The Communist-controlled radicals and their following—and above all the nearly 7,000,000 college youngsters who have not joined the revolutionary "movement"—must now be given the facts. Every freedom-loving American can help in this challenging task.

Facts Need Airing
There really are no mysterious reasons why our private enterprise system out-produces the best of the Socialist system by two or three to one, and the Communist system by at least four to one. But the reasons are not well known, they are not being emphasized in our schools and colleges; they are not being talked about widely enough. The key element in our system is, of course, individual freedom. In my little new booklet entitled, "The Wealth Machine," I list as the Number 1 element: "Freedom to dream your dreams and try to make them come true."

If you were in Russia today and should decide you could make an automobile for half the price at which they are now listed, would you be free to try it? Not on your life! And you wouldn't even talk about your dream. Russia has not only a Socialist economic system, owned and operated solely by the government, but, in addition, a Police State dictatorship suppressing the individual's freedom to act upon his dreams. You could be banished to slave labor or quietly executed in Russia for even talking about a better way of doing things than now is being done by the "glorious" state.

Henry Ford's Dream
Now contrast this to the American way: When Henry Ford, living in our free enterprise system, dreamed of an automobile to sell for $500 in the early 1900's, he was free to try to build and sell one. And he did. The $500 in those days was the price being paid for a carriage and a team of horses.

The day came when Henry Ford was selling three million Fords (Model-T) a year. His "Tin Lizzies" revolutionized private transportation in America. This was bound to happen in a nation where people are free to dream and try to make their dreams come true. We see results of this freedom on all sides, contributing constantly to better living.

Good-bye Horse Carriage
When Henry Ford dreamed up and produced the Model-T, the horse had been king of private transportation since the days of Solomon. When I visited Jerusalem, I went down under the city and there saw the quarries where Solomon had taken out stone to build the great temple. Since the city was resting right over that quarry it was necessary to leave tiers of stone here and there to support the streets and the buildings above. In those tiers beneath the city of Jerusalem, I noticed heavy iron rings, and asked: "What are those?"

My guide said, "Those are the rings where Solomon used to tie his Arabian horses."

The horse was Solomon's fastest means of private transportation. It remained mankind's private means of transportation until the time of Henry Ford, at the turn of the 20th Century. Then, because a man could dream, and create, and build within the private enterprise system, Henry Ford put the horse out of business! It is now a luxury; riding is a sport.

We have had enough men who had unique dreams and pushed them to fulfillment to make America the world's wealthiest country, the envy of the world.

But Henry Ford could have become a monopolist had not other Americans envied his success and, with the freedom granted through our American way, set out to compete with him. The right to compete is the second vital factor in the American system's incomparable production of goods and services. We will discuss it next week.

Senator Opposes Advertising Tax

The proposed tax on advertising in H.B. 1305, now being heard by the Senate Finance Committee is the most preposterous I have seen this Session, said State Senator Edward T. Hall (R-Calvert), Senate Minority Leader.

Advertising is a service. If you single out for taxation this one, among all services, then this tax is clearly discriminatory.

There are practical considerations also. For example, since the media in the District of Columbia would be exempt from such a tax, the Maryland media industry would be placed at a competitive disadvantage, resulting in a substantial loss of revenue. When the 1958 ad tax was in effect in Baltimore, advertising declined by 12%.

In addition to the advertising industry itself, the business community would also suffer. Such taxation would make advertising more costly, businessmen would advertise less, and the less they advertise, the fewer customers they attract.

Then there is the consumer to be considered. Since the merchant cannot be expected to absorb the higher cost of this tax, it will be passed on to the consumer. This means that the buyer will suffer a double charge; the sales tax for the merchandise plus the advertising tax. I would call that "double taxation".

In addition to these reasons why I oppose this tax, there is the opinion of our State Attorney General who has declared that the advertising tax is unconstitutional. In two other States where it was attempted, the same decision was rendered.

Above and beyond purely economic considerations, there is a philosophical aspect with which I am concerned: the freedom of the Press. It appears to me that the imposition of this tax by some legislators has been motivated by reasons other than fiscal. They see this tax as a means of "getting back" at the press for real or imagined offenses.

Advertising makes a definite contribution to business growth, and it would be absolutely foolhardy to curb something which is desperately needed for our economic well-being.

We have reached the stage of life when we are quite willing to have only one birthday a year.

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

Labor's Image Of Nixon Changing

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., March 27, 1969—Most of the nation's labor leaders were highly suspicious of candidate Nixon when he was running for President. They didn't like him or trust him, and they did everything possible to create an image of him as a dangerous foe of organized labor. Hubert Humphrey was the unions' White Knight and many fought hard for his election. So Far: Benefit Of The Doubt The contest was hair-breadth, but Nixon won. Since his inauguration, labor officials—and the rank and file—have been watching to see if he would prove himself to be as much of a "reactionary labor-hater" as had been suspected. Nixon still hasn't been in office very long, but he has had plenty of time to reveal any deep-seated anti-labor bias.

Thus far, he hasn't shown any, and more and more labor authorities are ready to give him the benefit of the doubt. After all, the new Chief Executive has proposed no legislation to retain union powers, so it is impossible for fair-minded labor representatives to label him an arch-enemy. In fact, even in his earliest days in the White House, Nixon took some steps that could not fail to give courage to the AFL-CIO and its supporters.

No Compulsory Arbitration Federation executives noted with relief that Nixon allowed the East Coast dock walkout to run its prolonged course without asking for compulsory arbitration, even though the strike obviously dealt a serious blow to business and the public interest. It was recalled that, earlier in the game, Johnson had called for an 80-day cooling-off period under the Taft-Hartley Act when the original stoppage was only two days old. Nixon's stance certainly indicated stronger intention of protecting the process of free collective bargaining than had his ostensibly more pro-labor predecessors.

Another surprise for the doubting-Thomas laborites was Nixon's immediate call for study of legislation that would guarantee union organizing and bargaining rights for farm workers, who are now denied them. While his demand for such a survey does not necessarily mean he would give solid support to the extension of such rights into agriculture, union men see no reason for his making the suggestion if he is satisfied with the status quo in the industry. So, additional reluctant converts in the house of labor have been drawn toward the President. Only a few die-hards say they expect Nixon might negate bargaining rights won for farm hands by proposing that harvest-time strikes be banned. Such a move would undoubtedly be avoided by Nixon, since it would smack of hypocrisy to the union leaders whose loyalty he is apparently seeking.

Goodbye To Guidelines Murmurs of approval from the union camp arose when Nixon said a formal farewell to the guideline system of wage and price controls that proved completely ineffectively under the Kennedy-Johnson administrations. This should now, however, be interpreted as White House permission for wage-price inflation to run riot. If inflationary fires are not cooled by money pressures, Congress could be asked to tie raises and price boosts to productivity gains by law. If Congress should go along with this the results would not be anti-labor legislation—although the unions would probably so view it.

The President's campaign vow to do away with the Job Corps if elected seemed to many union people a sharp step away from the Great Society of Johnson. Whether or not Nixon thought better of his threat to abolish the Job Corps, to date this controversial agency rests in the hands of the Labor Department, operated by progressive staffmen approved by unionists. Clearly, Nixon does not want to offend labor. His success or failure in this direction will be determined when critical problems arise involving strikes, jobs, pay, prices, taxes, or labor legislation.

AN OPINION

By W. Terry Smith

I am in the process of preparing a primer for all politicians who aspire to greatness. The following are a few excerpts. Now students its imperative to remember perhaps the cardinal rule of campaigning which is simply seek out and bury with rhetoric every minority, ethnic, and religious group that can be turned up in your prospective constituency. Once these groups are identified, the following guidelines should be observed. 1). Eat bagels with the Jews and promise to support Israel under any circumstances. 2). Have a Kibbee with the Syrians, and promise to halt Zionist expansionism. 3). March in the St. Patrick's Day parade with the Catholics, and promise aid to parochial schools. 4). Be the guest lecturer at the next meeting of the United Council of Churches, and assure them, that if elected, their tax dollar will never be used for anything but secular education. 5). Talk to the Italians in Columbus Day and come out four-square for neighborhood schools, labor unions, and the right of ethnic integrity in the community. 6). Talk to the Negroes any time and pledge your office to school bussing, prosecution of racist trade unions, and jailing of discriminating realtors.

If you follow these hints your election is assured. There is however, one possible danger that under some unusual circumstances could arise. Always be most careful that the electorate never realizes that in your wooing of their bloc interests, their individual rights, freedoms, and prerogatives will be diminished proportionately. Secondly, never under any conditions permit logic to rear its ugly head. Logic that dictates, that to promise the Puerto Rican preferential city services in his particular neighborhood, rather nullifies your promise to the Italian to hold the line on taxes.

Wooden Pallets

Handy In Industry

To the shopper, the wooden pallet is inconspicuous. Roughly made and roughly used, the wooden pallet works behind the scenes to do the essential jobs of moving, stacking, and organizing products in all shapes and sizes—from napkins, to baking soda, canned juices, jellies, detergents, flour and sugar.

In the food, transportation, and forest industries, the wooden pallet is becoming increasingly conspicuous. Further increases in the use, efficiency, and quality of wooden pallets could benefit these industries. This was revealed in a recent cooperative study of the food industry by the U. S. Forest Service and Better Management Services, Inc.

For the food and transport industries, an expansion of wooden pallet use, coupled with standardization of pallet design, and a more efficient pallet-exchange system could mean cost and time savings in handling the tremendous volumes of food products that move daily from manufacturer to distribution centers, and on to supermarkets.

For the forest industry, the expanded use of wooden pallets would offer a greater market for America's present forest timber resource. The low-grade timber that can produce very little long, high-quality timber, but can abundantly produce short pieces of good wood, is ideally suited for pallet construction. Expanded use of pallets by the food industry alone, could provide a profitable outlet for most of the low-grade timber available in the United States today.

Oil refineries, chemical industries, breweries, meat packers, and steel fabricators also utilize wooden pallets. They, too, could benefit from use increases and improvements.

The cooperative study analyzed 2,700 shipments of products from 400 manufacturers to ten major food distribution centers for a period of one year.

The study was done by Walter B. Wallin, Project Leader at the U. S. Forest Service's Forest Products Marketing Laboratory, Princeton, W. Va., and John J. Strobel, President and General Manager, Better Management Services, Inc., Staten Island, New York. It is reported in a newly published U. S. Forest Service Research Paper, NE-121, "The Unit-Load Explosion in the Food Industry." Copies are available from: Information Services, Northeastern Forest Experiment Station, 6816 Market Street, Upper Darby, Pa. 19082.

To Manufacture Maryland Tags
Within the next few weeks,

Maryland's State Use Industries located at the House of Correction in Jessup will have delivered more than one and one-half million pairs of 1969 vehicle tags to the Department of Motor Vehicles and production lines will be immediately retooled to begin processing the 1970 issue. Actual production will start around June 1st.

Working a year in advance on raw materials, design, color scheme and estimated quantities, the Institution's Tag Shop employs 125 inmates on the tag line throughout the year. Groups of inmates working under their own leaders, are paid at rates commensurate with their skills. Assignment to the Tag Shop is very desirable with the men, and it is surprising to note the pride and enthusiasm with which they perform their assigned tasks.

Production begins with 1,500-pound coils of cold rolled No. 28 gauge steel which are fed through an oil bath and into a blanking press, which cuts tags to 6" x 12" size and punches the bolt holes at the rate of 87 blanks per minute. The blanking operation is one of several inmate-invented units which were designed on the job to accomplish these multiple tasks in one operation.

The blanks are then routed to two 30-ton hydraulic presses which emboss the numerals and letters at the rate of 10,000 sets daily. Next the plates go into a rimming machine which embosses "Maryland", the expiration date and the rim which borders each tab.

Coming out of the rimmer, the tags are hung on moving belts of wire hooks which carry them into three chemical baths for (1) treating with iron phosphate, (2) rinse, and (3) chromic acid which etches the material.

Moving into the "dry off" oven, the plates are dried at 200°F. and then are carried into paint dip tanks where the blanks are dipped into the background color. The conveyor system moves through the drip area into the dual baking ovens which dry 4,000 plates per hour at 250°F.

When the background enamel is thoroughly dry, the plates are removed from the conveyor system and individually passed through the numeral coater, where the second color is applied to the raised numerals, letters and borders.

They are then routed back into the bake ovens for another 30 minutes. Next comes inspection and packing—50 pairs of tags per shipping carton.

State officials' tags, i.e., Governor, Attorney General, Comptroller, Senate and House of Delegates members are handled by a specialty detail because of individual identifications.

All inmates at the Maryland House of Correction must become employed in one of the numerous work shops or manufacturing operations conducted by the State Use Industries. Inmates are initially interviewed by the Institution's Classification Board and are assigned to jobs according to their skills and past work experience. Deductions from weekly pay allowances are made to build up a $20.00 cash reserve for each person. Inmates can draw on accumulated pay in any amount over the reserve.

With the advent of the five-year tag in 1970, the Tag Shop is already planning to bridge the four year gap in tag production. Francis Boch, Industries Manager, stated that the shop would expand its sign-making activities and would now be ready to supply the requirements of many municipal and county highway departments which could not be accommodated previously.

Beall Says Uprisings May Spread To High Schools

Congressman J. Glenn Beall, Jr., 6th District Representative to Congress from Maryland, told members of the American Legion Saturday night that the disturbances which have been sweeping colleges and universities throughout the land may eventually spread to high schools. Beall, in an address to the 50th Anniversary Meeting of Clopper-Michael Post No. 10 in Boonsboro, said that he found it "incredible" that college officials so often accede to the "demands" of a minority of students who move to secure their objectives "by force and intimidation."

The fact that the disruptions have been so widespread is a warning signal to the communities of the country that it may well spread to high schools, Beall said. The Congressman noted that the disruptions can be prevented if communities "do all in our power to never let it begin" and by "demanding discipline in our schools."

Beall pointed out that dissent and disagreement are "the most fundamental of the principles upon which our political system is based." He observed that traditionally, college students have had disagreements with college administrators but that in years gone by these conflicts have been resolved by the students abiding by the rules of the administrators or going elsewhere to attend school.

—and in fact usually demand—then they revolt, they disrupt the educational process by violent means . . .

Beall also observed that parents and adults in general, while requiring young people to conform to the laws and rules of society, must "at the same time . . . be sure that we give them the opportunity to be heard in return."

He said that the disruptions are caused almost entirely by small minorities in all cases and that most of the young people in our society are "fine and able and I'm proud that it's true."

The Congressman ended his address by asking those present to "just lend an ear" to young people on occasion and at the same time "try to instill in them some of the patriotism that all of us have known."

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

In a special plea to Maryland and District of Columbia taxpayers today, IRS District Director Irving Machiz asked taxpayers expecting refunds on their 1968 tax returns to file them before April 5.

Mr. Machiz explained that processing work in the Service Center is now at the lowest ebb in the filing period.

Refunds on correctly prepared returns filed now will be issued within five weeks. Refund returns filed later may become intermingled with the traditional last minute avalanche of returns and processing might be unavoidably delayed.

Director Machiz admitted that there was also a selfish motive in his request for immediate filing of refund returns. He explained that the skills of temporary Service Center employees have attained their seasonal peak. Unless an additional half million returns are received within the next few days, it will be necessary to release some of these employees until the deluge of returns expected during the closing days of the filing period again flows into the Service Center. It will take several days after their recall to regain their present level of efficiency.

He emphasized that experience has shown that taxpayers who prepare their returns under pressure of the April 15 deadline are most prone to make omissions or errors on their returns. Errors further delay receipt of refunds.

Director Machiz closed by asking that all refund tax returns be mailed as soon as possible to the Internal Revenue Service, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19155. As he explained, "It's not too late to file early!"

Trash Problem Solved

An automatic LP-gas home incinerator is the answer to the trash and garbage collection problem in rural and other out-lying areas, the National LP-Gas Association points out. These compact units are smokeless and odorless and can dispose of all burnable items.

In Praise Of Self-Denial

BOSTON, Mass.—How does a middle-aged ex-Frenchman who is a world-famous professor of nutrition manage to reconcile his love of good food and his devotion to good health?

He says, "I don't think you can be healthy without some self-denial." He eliminates such goodies as desserts, butter and eggs, cuts down drastically on meat, and focuses on fish—tuna fish, scallops, oysters, and lobster as often as he can afford it.

This paragon of self-discipline, Dr. Jean Mayer of Harvard University, described his regimen for a book, "How the Doctors Diet."

His diet is calculated to keep down his weight and his intake of animal fat.

The single temptation to which he frequently succumbs is good cheese, but then he substitutes cheese for meat, making a meal of jellied consommé, cheese, bread and fruit.

When ravenous, Dr. Mayer has been known to devour three apples one after another.

Unenthusiastic about both cooking and eating, Mrs. Mayer (5 feet 6 inches, 119 pounds, 46 years old) finds that two pounds of butter last her household of seven for a week. Two jars of mayonnaise last a year!

Working While Pregnant

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Holding a job while being pregnant for the first time is the rule for middle-income college graduates but the exception for low-income elementary school graduates.

A report issued by the Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare reveals that 82 per cent of the college graduates are employed during the first pregnancy but only 28 per cent of the women with grade school educations. When the family income (in 1962) ranged from $7000-$9999, 81 per cent of the pregnant wives worked. When the income was less than $3000, the rate was 38 per cent.

In subsequent pregnancies, however, the picture changed, and only 22 per cent of the women held jobs. Mysteriously, the women most likely to work during a second or later pregnancy had husbands who were employed part-time (34 per cent). Women with the lowest employment rate, 18 per cent, had totally unemployed husbands.

Child Spacing Part Of Child Bearing

DETROIT, Mich.—Child spacing is an essential part of healthy child-bearing, according to Dr. Helen M. Wallace, chairman of the division of maternal and child health at the University of California School of Public Health, Berkeley.

"Child spacing is an important factor in the outcome of pregnancy," she told a meeting of the American Public Health Association. It affects prematurity, maternal and infant mortality, child care, and the quality of family life.

Family planning services, she said, should be integrated with hospitals' after-birth care, adolescent and college health programs, premarital health examinations, and health programs for working women.

Pointing out that medical standards protect women taking oral contraceptives, Dr. Wallace suggested that similar standards should be drawn up for all other contraceptive methods.

It's Time For ...
EYE CARE

UNRULY EYES

Some people are far sighted in one eye and nearsighted in the other. This condition is called anisometropia. People thus afflicted have an advantage when they are older because they will see "near" with one eye and at distance with the other. Therefore, they will believe they do not need glasses, but this is not true. The ideal condition would be to have the eyes corrected.

The image size in the two eyes are quite different. The far sighted eye is smaller than the near sighted eye and the brain has a problem in fusing. This may bring about crossed eyes. Hence the importance of having children's eyes examined early.

Imagine if a person was slightly nearsighted, he would see blurred objects at a distance—then when he became older, he would still be able to read at "near" without a correction. This is the reason so many of these people feel they never need glasses for reading. But actually all through life their vision blurs at objects in the distance.

In beginning cataract cases, a slight nearsighted (myopia) condition might develop due to the swelling of the lens. This sometimes causes people to think their vision has improved. This calls for a complete eye examination.

The National Eye Research Foundation suggests such an examination every six months.

Rural mailboxes are protected by Federal Law, and pranksters or vandals who damage or destroy the boxes and their contents may be in for a heavy fine or imprisonment.

A quotation of the law reads: "Whoever wilfully or maliciously injures, tears down or destroys any letterbox or other receptacle intended or used for receipt or delivery of mail on any mail route, or breaks open the same or wilfully or maliciously injures, defaces or destroys any mail deposited therein, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than three years."

This law applies to all mail receptacles and the mail in them, even though the boxes are bought by citizens and are their personal property.

Give thanks in all circumstances. — (1 Thess. 5:18).

Problems of inharmony can be solved by a thankful, appreciative attitude. A ready word of gratitude always brings a response. All of us like to be appreciated. We all know how we react to appreciation; we know how it makes us feel approved of and desirous of being more helpful. Let us let "thank you" be our quick response to every good that appears.

Firemen Respond To Calls

Emmitsburg firemen walked over a half mile through wooded area early last Thursday evening to put out a fire that destroyed over an acre of woods on a mountain about a mile from the Mt. St. Mary's College campus.

Fire Chief Guy R. McGlaughlin said the blaze was apparently caused by carelessness. Armed with portable fire fighting equipment, several firemen made their way on foot up the steep mountain to the fire scene.

Later, firemen were able to get additional men to the fire by means of a truck after they opened a closed road leading to an old quarry.

The fire, Chief McGlaughlin said, was in the same wooded area where they had fought a blaze a few days before.

New Drugs Battle Leukemia

An aura of hope pervades the American Cancer Society's offices. No claims of miraculous cancer cures are being made — or even predicted. But, nonetheless, there is a distinct feeling the battle against the dread disease is slowly and surely being won.

The reason for this hopeful feeling can be found in many areas. Last year, for example, the President was informed that the number of Americans alive and cured of cancer had grown to 1,500,000, a hundred thousand higher than the year before. To be considered cured of most types of cancer, a person must have been free from all evidence of the disease or five years after treatment.

Discoveries of new drugs have helped in the fight against leukemia, cancer of the blood-forming tissues. These new drugs, together with more efficient utilization of earlier drugs, plus more specific techniques have helped a number of leukemia patients live beyond five years. This progress has convinced some scientists that a cure for leukemia may be found sooner than for many other types of cancer.

Other life-saving factors, the Society notes, are the increasing awareness by women of the value of the annual Pap test for uterine cancer and the slow but steady recognition by the public of the need for regular physical check-ups.

These are but a few of the hopeful factors today which surround the whole subject of cancer. Yet, the battle still has a long way to go. Research must be intensified and carefully channeled, but there's a glimmer of light in the horizon. And we recommend the American Cancer Society's 1969 theme: Help yourself with a checkup and others with a check.

State Road Fatal Continue Climb

Nineteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Ten of those killed were drivers, five were passengers, and four were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in eight of the deaths, speed in nine, and "driver error" in sixteen. "So far this year alcohol has been a contributing factor in about 42% of all fatalities on Maryland roads," noted Lt. Col. W. H. Conroy, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police. "Just last week alone it was present in eight of the nineteen fatal accidents."

"This tragic situation has been with us for some time, and it's getting worse. Can we really afford to let it remain that way?"

The first man to receive the Medal of Honor was Army Colonel Bernard J. D. Irwin, for heroism against the Indians in what is now Arizona. Although he performed the feat in 1861, he did not receive the Medal until 1894. The American Regular Army was born in June 14, 1775.

Frederick County Backgrounds

Lower Marsh Creek Witherows

The Witherows of Tom's Creek had "cousins" at Lower Marsh Creek and this branch of the clan buried in the old Presbyterian churchyard of that name. The historical and genealogical data pertaining to this particular "kissing kin", as taken from newspaper records and graveyard inscriptions is continued at this time.

2. "Died, Sept. 4, 1823, Moses Witherow, son of Major Samuel Witherow of Hamilton-Bann Twp., Adams County, Pa., in the 26th year of his age."

Note: The son of Major Samuel (2) and Rachel Witherow and the grandson of John (1) and Margaret (Barbour) Witherow, of Tom's Creek Hundred, Md. This young man, who apparently died unmarried, is interred in the Witherow plot in Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian churchyard. The inscription follows:

26. "In memory of Moses Witherow, died Sept. 24, 1823, aged 27 years."

It will be noticed that there is a difference of some 20 days in the date of Moses Witherow's death as given in his obituary and on the tombstone marking his grave as well as a year's difference in age. The obituary is probably correct since it was published at the time of death while the grave marker probably was erected sometime later.

3. "Died, Oct. 5, 1826, in the 55th year of her age, Mrs. Rachel Witherow, wife of Major Samuel Witherow, of Carroll's Delight, Adams County, Pa."

Note: Rachel Witherow is buried in the family plot in Lower

Marsh Creek. The inscription follows:

27. "Sacred to the memory of Rachel Witherow, wife of Samuel Witherow. Died Oct. 5, 1826, aged 55 years."

4. "Married, Tues., Aug. 11, 1829, by the Rev. David McConaughty, Mr. Samuel Witherow, Jr., to Miss Eliza Maginly, daughter of Mr. James Maginly, deceased, both of Hamiltonbann Twp., Adams County, Pa."

Note: This notice speaks for itself: The second Samuel (3), son of Major Samuel (2) and Rachel Witherow and grandson of John (1) and Margaret (Barbour) Witherow.

Samuel (3) Witherow, Jr., is not, apparently, interred in Lower Marsh Creek churchyard—at least there is no tombstone for him. His wife, however, died comparatively young and her grave is designated by a marker with the inscription:

28. "In memory of Jane Eliza Witherow, wife of Samuel Witherow. Died April 14, 1857, aged 49 years."

Samuel (2) Witherow, son of John (1) and Margaret (Barbour) Witherow, founder of the Lower Marsh Creek branch of the family, died in 1832 and is buried beside his wife, Rachel Witherow.

29. "In memory of Samuel Witherow. Died Jan. 27, 1832, aged 64 years."

5. "Married, Dec. 12, 1820, by the Rev. David McConaughty, Mr. William Witherow, of Hamilton-Bann Township, to Miss Rachel Hutcheson, the daughter of Mr. Samuel Hutcheson, of Gettysburg. Note: William Witherow (3) undoubtedly was a son of Major Samuel (2) and Rachel Witherow, of Carroll's Delight, and a grandson of John (1) Witherow, of Tom's Creek Hundred, Md.

6. "Died, February 21, 1833, Samuel James Witherow, the son of Mr. John Witherow, of Millers-town (now Fairfield), Adams Co., Pa." Note: Probably a grandson of Major Samuel (2) and Rachel Witherow and a great-grandson of John (1) and Margaret (Barbour) Witherow. This little boy is buried in the family plot at Lower Marsh Creek churchyard.

30. "In memory of Samuel James Witherow. Died Feb. 21, 1833, aged 3 years."

7. "Died Sept. 19, 1842, Miss Mary Witherow, the only remaining daughter of Mr. Samuel Witherow, Sr., of this Borough (Gettysburg), aged 22 years." Note: Apparently a granddaughter of Maj. Samuel (2) and Rachel Witherow and a great-granddaughter of John (1) and Margaret (Barbour) Witherow. There is no gravestone for Mary (4) Witherow at Lower Marsh Creek.

In addition to the inscriptions listed at Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian churchyard the following additional markers also are to be found in the Witherow family plot.

31. "In memory of John Witherow, died March 9, 1857, aged 12 years."

32. "In memory of Margaret

Witherow, died Dec. 13, 1855, aged 19 years."

33. "Sacred to the memory of S. McClean Witherow, died Dec. 15, 1857, aged 21 years."

34. "Here lies the body of Elizabeth Witherow. Died March 21, 1751, aged 12 years."

35. "In memory of Elizabeth Witherow who departed this life March 17, 1774, aged 68 years." Additional Witherow family notes from various sources:

Rev. Dr. William Paxton's marriage records: the Rev. Paxton was pastor of Tom's Creek and Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian churches.

1. Married, June 15, 1815, Hugh Culbertson, of Culbertson's Row, Franklin County, Pa., to Miss Sally Witherow of Carroll's Delight, Adams County, Pa."

2. "Married, Jan. 9, 1833, William Crawford Rhea, of Hamilton-Bann Township, Adams County, Pa., to Miss Eliza Witherow."

2. "Married, Jan. 9, 1833, Maxwell Shields, of Liberty Township, to Miss Rebecca Witherow, Hamilton-Bann Township, Adams County, Pa."

Rev. Alexander Dobbin's marriage records:

"Married, Oct. 26, 1797, James Patterson to Bettsey Witherow, Hamilton's Bann."

This concludes, for the time being, at least, the notes on the Witherow family. Next week the Shields family of Tom's Creek Hundred will be the subject for discussion.

County Soil Conservationists Enter Contest

Frederick Soil Conservation District has entered the 23rd annual Goodyear competition to select the nation's top 53 conservation districts, according to Raymond Keilholtz, district chairman.

Activities of the district will be weighted against the performance of other districts in the state in determining the outstanding district in the annual event sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio.

Key agricultural leaders will serve as judges and will select the state winner. Soil conservation efforts from January 1 through December 31, will be considered.

Grand award for the 53 districts selected nationally will be an expense-paid, work-study trip to Arizona in December 1970, for one member of the district's governing body, and the outstanding farmer-cooperator in each winning district. The 106 men selected will be guests at Goodyear Farms, a 14,000 acre general farm operations near Phoenix.

Keilholtz said the district's outstanding cooperator will be selected from over the 850 farm operators enrolled in the district program. Nationally, over 2,000,000 farmers in over 2,950 districts have signed cooperative agreements with local Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

4-H Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Rocky Ridge Progressive 4-H Club was held March 17 at the Rocky Ridge Fire Hall. The meeting was opened by president Gene Bollinger.

Allen Bassler was admitted to the club as a new member.

Under old business, Ralph Keilholtz, Jr., gave a report on the Scrap Drive which is to be held March 29. Phyllis Wivell and Carolyn Keilholtz reported that they both had held meetings for their groups. Bob Keilholtz reported on the club's candy project.

The club decided that a Stanley Party would be held April 20 to raise money for the club.

Mr. Ralph Keilholtz stated that the small motors project, tractor maintenance, would soon be started.

It was announced that 4-H camp this year is to be June 22-July 5.

Phyllis Wivell gave a report on Public Speaking and that there were six members planning on entering it. A scrap drive was brought up before the club but was decided that it would be discussed at the April meeting.

The meeting was then adjourned and refreshments were served by Mrs. Karl Smith and Mrs. James Wivell.

The Easter Seal Center in Frederick stands ready to help the disabled of Western Maryland regardless of age or type of crippling condition.

Thank You ...

After 23 years in the men's clothing business, we have decided to sell our business to Mr. Francis (Frank) Noble, who has been associated with us for the past 13 years. We want to take this means of personally thanking every one of our patrons, past and present, for the wonderful business you have extended to us since our establishment.

With your help, we prospered and grew. We have enjoyed many fine relationships with our patrons, and hope, under the new ownership, that we may continue these as Don continues on the staff with less responsibility.

It is our sincere hope that all patrons of Hershey's Men's Wear will continue to extend to Mr. Noble that same fine patronage they have to us over the years. Frank will continue our established policies of service and satisfaction to all customers, in addition to featuring the best quality in the leading lines of men's wear to be found in this entire area.

We wish Mr. Noble every possible success.

To all of you, once again, our sincere appreciation.

MR. & MRS. DONALD H. HERSHEY

Announcing ...

As of April 1st, I will assume the owner-management of Hershey's Men's Wear in Gettysburg.

For the past 13 years it has been my pleasure to be associated with Mr. Donald Hershey.

I deem it a privilege that Mr. Hershey decided to turn the business over to me. Nothing will change, not even the name.

Mr. Hershey will continue on our staff in an advisory capacity of tailoring and sales. We shall endeavor to continue Mr. Hershey's established policies of service and satisfaction to the customer.

We shall carry the same lines of quality men's wear that have contributed also to this business' integrity, in addition to several new lines that we feel our customers will appreciate.

I take this means of inviting all patrons of Hershey's Men's Wear to continue doing business with us, and we shall do everything in our power to please you.
