Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

The filthy and trashy films that are being shown at nearby drive-in theaters is really becoming nauseating to almost everyone. Just take a look at some of the titles of this garbage which is being exposed to our youth: Diary of a Swinger; Sweden—Heaven and Hell; Eve; She Devils. Even the newspapers are running lurid illustrations in the advertisements in an effort to lure the youth to these places of immorality. Parents should make certain that they know just what films their children are viewing for many of them would shock even a "stag" show.

Numerous complaints about the quantity and size of hard-shelled crabs have been heard this year. The biggest complaint however, is the cost of these tasty crustaceans. Most Marylanders have become aware that they are being short-changed and are actually buying "culls" at top prices and that the largest crabs are being shipped to distant cities while Marylanders are actually helping pay the bill to raise these critters. On a recent visit to a major East Coast City, I was amazed to see a newspaper advertisement advertising fresh Maryland hard-shelled crabs. Up until a few years ago the people of this particular city did not know what a crab looked like or tasted like. Are you aware that a great many of your tax dollars go to keeping the Chesapeake Bay clean and operative, dredged and made habitable to these crabs? Your tax dollar protects these tasty morsels in many ways as marine biologists at our universities and personnel of other state agencies like the Dept. of Natural Resources keep a wary eye on the bay activity the year around. Why, then, should the best crabs be sent out of state?

Our Town Council has made a major decision in voting to install water meters locally, but we question the prudence of this move at this time. Estimates to meter the Town call for an approximate expenditure of $20,000 to $30,000. It is believed that the Town has the money at this time, but as water and sewer bonds become due each year the payback becomes heavier and it very easily could result that in a year or two we could be faced with the problem of having to borrow money to continue operation, or perhaps double the water rate. We are very much aware of what borrowed money costs these days and wonder what the big rush is to all of a sudden meterize the Town. When a capital expenditure of this size is contemplated, I feel it would be prudent to let the taxpayers and property-owners decide on such an investment. Remember when we purchased the Water Company a decade ago? A public meeting was called and public approval asked, and was received. We felt then, and do now, that the decision was a wise one and had the blessing of the community. We are not too enthusiastic about the present meter plan and feel that perhaps the public should have more of an explanation of the situation and perhaps even have a chance to ballot on the matter at the annual election in April. It is maintained that perhaps some water could be saved should meters be installed. I don't dispute this contention, but it is true that the largest consumers, the two colleges, two factories, three schools, laundromat and car wash, need just so much water to continue operation and therefore could not save any more water than they do now. Besides, these establishments are already metered so where would the saving of water enter the picture? Sure a few households might make an effort to conserve on water if metered, but would it be enough to justify a $30,000 expenditure? I feel that the Council at this time, would be wise, if it had public discussion on the subject.

Critical Of Town Street Repairs

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

It does a person good to see the "Old Town Fathers" fixing up the "little one-way or side alleys" which hardly ever get used except by only one or two cars a day. But, take a look at the larger streets that get used as much as the "main thorough-fare" every day and with the schools about to open, these streets will be used more by the "Big Buses". They just had these streets one-fourth (1/4) fixed or resurfaced. What would you "Old Town Fathers" do, build a house and not put a roof on it—or buy a pair of pants without the zipper? What would you do if we, the "taxpayers" would only pay 1/4 of our taxes? I think what's good for the goose is good for the gander!

Sincerely yours,
Borough Taxpayer

Commissioner Opposes Water Meters For Town

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

I feel it is my duty to give my opinion regarding the installation of water meters in Emmitsburg. The situation here is not like our neighboring towns. There is no question that meters will save water and possibly bring in more revenue, but we have two (2) customers using 50% or approximately 50 million gallons per year of 100 million gallons consumed overall. We can not assume they will save water because they need that much to operate. The town has four (4) other customers using approximately three (3) million gallons annually. They also need this amount to operate, so they can not save any water. The town's water income is about $44,000 of which our two (2) large customers pay around $12,000, or 30% of the total income. Our local schools need a certain amount, so they cannot save any water.

The above customers are metered. Our present metered rates are: 1st 25,000 gals, .83 per 1,000 gals; 2nd 25,000, .75 per 1,000; 3rd 25,000, .68 per 1,000; 4th 25,000, .60 per 1,000; 2nd 100,000, .53 per 1,000; 2nd 200,000, .45 per 1,000; 2nd 400,000, .23 per 1,000; over 800,000, .21 per 1,000. Other towns close by that are metered have minimums of: 5,000 gallons, $5.00; 8,000, $12.75, and 10,000, $6.50. Emmitsburg unmetered is $12.75 per quarter.

There is no question that some people use more than their share of water or even waste it. The average amount used with two (2) in the family with automatic washer, is about 7,500 gallons per quarter.

The town proposes to take about $30,000.00 from time deposits at 4% interest or $1,200.00 or 5% interest, $1,500.00 per year. Who is going to have to save water or pay more if they don't? The "tax payer." I say this is not fair to people in Emmitsburg. There will be added expense to read and keep meters in repair. "Hi! Tax Payer!"

In debating the amount of water to be allowed for a minimum $12.50 per quarter was 12,000 gallons, which should take care of four (4) people in one unit or more than four (4) people. The town cannot lower the minimum of $12.75 because the present rates were approved by the Bonding Co. While on this subject, the town is in debt approximately $700,000 spread over 34 years for water and sewer bonds. Our bonds increase every few years, so we must have a surplus on hand to meet interest and principal.

Present unmetered customers outside the corporate limits pay $14.00 per quarter, or $15.00 if a fire hydrant is available. A previous board of officials recommended a 50% increase for all customers outside the corporation. I was against this increase since we were averaging a 10% surplus from the water system. Maybe I was wrong!

I think a public meeting should have been held on the installation of meters, the same as the town had about the purchase of the Water Co. After all the Water Co. belongs to the taxpayers and it is the taxpayers' property that was pledged for the Bond Issue. Nuff said at this time—more to follow. I did not vote for the meters after considering all aspects of the situation.

To Demand Short Pants In Frederick

The Frederick Jaycees will hold the First Annual Short Pants Day on August 23, 1969. This fun day is planned to take place in the downtown area of Frederick from the hours of 9 to 5. All men, including businessmen, the mayor, and the police chief, who are caught wearing long pants will be fined $1.00 or carried off to jail. Who is going to catch these desperate criminals? The special forces of the Frederick Jaycees have been called in for this day, namely the "Keystone Cops." Yes, the "Keystone Cops" will be here to run down any man not wearing short pants in the downtown area on August 23. But do not start yelling police brutality. This is going to be a whacky, fun filled day for all that come downtown to share in the amusement of Short Pants Day.

Here is how the event will be run. Each man who is caught not wearing short pants will be fined $1.00 or taken for a ride in the mobile jail or both, incidentally the fine tickets will be good for door prize drawings. No hammer locks will be applied to those resisting arrest. The "Keystone Cops" will be also selling tickets to the spectacular dance to be held that night. This gala event, acclaimed by many to be the highlight of the summer social season, is to be held at the Frederick Armory. Admission is $3.00 per couple or $2.00 stag. No one under 21 will be admitted.

There will be many prizes to be given for fine ticket holders, door prizes for dance ticket holders and prizes for the craziest outfits—of course the men should have on short pants.

Short Pants Day is one of the major ways and means projects of the Frederick Jaycees. It is hoped that, besides providing a lot of fun for Frederickians, the Jaycees will be able to raise funds to help with the community service projects that are held throughout the year. In addition to some of the older projects such as the Christmas Shopping Tour for underprivileged children, Mental Retardation, and Operation Welcomemat, the Frederick Jaycees have initiated some new projects that center around today's problems in our society. These projects include Teen Center, already in the works, Youth Development, and Law Enforcement. It is felt that when these projects are fully developed, they will greatly help the community.

So dust off that pair of shorts and polish up the old knee caps and plan to come to the Annual Short Pants Day celebration in good old downtown Frederick on August 23, and have yourself a ball.

Federal Aid Programs Vast

A bill co-sponsored by Congressman J. Glenn Beall, Jr. (R-6th), received a boost from the Bureau of the Budget last week. The bill, the Program Information Act, would require the President to publish an annual catalog of all federal aid programs and to update the catalog on a monthly basis.

In response to a request for comments on the Program Information Act from U. S. Rep. William L. Dawson (D-Chicago), Chairman of the House Committee on Government Operations, under whose jurisdiction the bill will be considered, the Bureau recognized the need for this important piece of legislation. Mr.

Beall stated that the report, signed by BOB Deputy Director Philip S. Hughes, fully acknowledged "that the growing complexity and number of Federal programs have created a need for better program identification and information in support of executive and legislative decision-making as well as the need to improve Federal-State-local cooperation and coordination and to inform potential recipients of available federal aid."

"No one, anywhere in the government, has any idea how many federal aid programs exist," Mr. Beall continued. "There is also no single repository of information in the government for such programs. We want to make this catalog an accurate, up to date guideline that people, dealing with

Can poor fit be responsible for Athlete's Foot?

In a study conducted by New York University School of Medicine, it was concluded that foot injuries such as blisters, caused by ill-fitting footwear, may lead to fungus infections.

One hundred volunteers (some whose feet were kept in healthy condition prior to testing, and others whose feet were deliberately injured) were used in the study. The volunteers were subjected to direct contact with the fungus that causes athlete's foot. Many of the men and women with injured feet contracted the infection. It was found that athlete's foot failed to develop in any of the 23 uninjured volunteers.

One can only conclude that athlete's foot is most difficult to contract by healthy, unblistered feet, while blisters and skin breaks literally open the door to the infection. This is just one more evidence of the importance of correctly fitting foot-wear, and of proper foot care.

Small Fire At Charnita

An electrical malfunction in a transformer caused a $25 to $50 blaze at the Charles Rist home at the Charnita Country Club about 8:30 Monday evening.

Fairfield firemen responded, cut the wires and put out the small blaze in the electrical equipment located in the basement of the home. Fire Chief Lawrence Eversole said the fire was confined to the transformer which was destroyed in the blaze.

"Very little fire and a lot of smoke" was observed at the scene, Chief Eversole said.

A Growth Industry—
Private Planes

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley, Hills, Mass., August 14, 1969—The Business/Private Aircraft Industry—known to the trade as General Aviation—has more planes in the air, uses more air facilities, serves more places, and logs more hours than all the major airlines together. The rapid

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

"Talked" Through His Hat

Race tracks belonging to the Thoroughbred Racing Associations (TRA) operate under a self-imposed Code of Standards, one section of which rules against direct or indirect dissemination of race results to other than legitimate news media. Illegal bookmaking operations go to great lengths to smuggle news of results out of the track, and the files of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau contain cases ranging from simple wig-wag operations to use of walkie-talkie radios. None, however, are as colorful as a case which occurred at Brooklyn's Gravesend Race Track in 1891.

Attempts to smuggle out the news by the Poolseller's Association, a syndicate of Manhattan bookmakers, included carrier pigeons, hollow balls which were tossed over the fence, and the building of towers outside the grounds. All were thwarted by the Brooklyn Jockey Club, but the news still leaked. The leak was finally traced to a gay party which arrived every afternoon in a handsome horse-drawn coach. The coachman always remained in his seat atop the coach. His high silk hat had a hole at the top and inside was a battery powered light. The coachman was in fact a telegrapher and the light in his hat was connected to a telegraph key on the floor of his box. Results were flashed in Morse code to an agent outside who relayed the news by Western Union. It developed that the Syndicate had been paying the jolly party $1,000 a day for the information.

growth in the number of certified private pilots and students in training and the boom in flying clubs indicate the strong long-term potential for the industry, paced by a swing toward fleets of company-owned planes and a new trend to air-taxi-commuter line operators.

Attractive Issues

In 1968 the three leaders—Beech, Cessna, and Piper—recorded strong advances, and a well regarded aerospace marketing research firm, DMS Inc., forecasts that by 1973 there will be a 47% gain in unit sales of small planes over the number produced in 1967. Over 85% of annual unit sales and 80% of dollar volume are generated by the "Big Three". Of these, the Research Staff of Babson's Reports currently favors purchase of the common stock of Cessna Aircraft for near-term appreciation and growth. We maintain a hold position in Beech Aircraft. Piper is being wooed by Christ-Craft and Bangor Punta, with the outcome not yet resolved.

The common stock of Narco Scientific Industries is recommended for appreciation and long-term growth. This company is a leading producer of avionics (electronic) equipment for small aircraft.

Air-Taxi-Commuter Line Market

Currently representing a minor portion of total general aviation sales is the so-called third-level airlines or "air-taxis" market, representing those air taxi operators offering scheduled flights in areas not served by the regional and national airlines. These "air taxis" increased from 12 in 1964 to 270 last year; a 69% gain in passenger traffic was recorded for 1967 compared to a 22% gain for all scheduled domestic airlines. By designing new aircraft, both for passenger and cargo operations, the "Big Three" are assured of a substantial share of this market.

Corporate Market

Since 80% of new manufacturing plant facilities are located in areas not served directly by commercial carriers, the demand for company-owned planes is creating general aviation's largest market. Only 10% of this market's potential of 400,000 businesses that could profitably use one or more aircraft has been penetrated.

Key indicators of the growth of this market are the 50% increase in the number of student pilot certificates from 1964 to 1967 and the rise in the number of flying clubs to 2,500 operating 3,500 aircraft. The manufacturers help foster this growth by offering inexpensive instruction and assistance in financing purchases of new aircraft through a substantial dealership network.

Bright Long-Term Prospects

Manufacturers of private planes have enjoyed a good but variable upward trend in the number of aircraft sold. However, over the past decade a shift to higher priced and more versatile planes by both flying enthusiasts and corporations has resulted in a faster and more even pace for revenues. This trend is expected to continue in the future as shipments rise. More extensive dealer-distributor organizations and plans for closely coordinated factory branches should also favor an acceleration of growth over the long term.

A cessation of the Vietnam conflagration would, in our opinion, also contribute importantly to the future prospects. More commercial business would be sought by many companies to replace government business; this would require more business aircraft travel. Finally, the strong and expanding export market (20% of sales) is growing at a faster rate than the domestic market. U. S. producers have a definite edge over foreign manufacturers, and this is expected to widen in the next decade.

The Insurance Information Institute points out that although drivers under 20 comprise only 10.2 per cent of the nation's motorists, they are involved in 17.3 per cent of all highway crashes and 16 per cent of the fatal accidents.

Red Cross To Send Christmas Packages

Should we "tell it like it is?" Mrs. Robert Edwards, Bradock Heights, who is the chairman of our "Vietnam Shop Early—1969" Program says, "Yes." Hence we are coming to you, the people of Frederick County, with this urgent message.

During these hot days of summer, Frederick Countians will enjoy sounds of purring air conditioners, droning electric fans, ice tinkling in tall glasses, and water splashing in swimming pools. Sounds of the "good life" — well-earned and deserved. But what of the Frederick Countians serving in Vietnam? These young men, along with their soldier-buddies from all over America, are hearing much different sounds. Whining rockets, crashing mortars, crying refugees, moaning of wounded comrades, and all the other hateful sounds of war fill their lives. They deserve a small piece of the "good life" action, too.

Although aware of these dreadful sounds, we say, "What can we really do to help?" The Red Cross has a real and tangible way for you to express your concern. It is through the Red Cross "Vietnam Shop Early—1969" Christmas Program. Your contribution will help to send a gift-filled Christmas bag to a serviceman in Vietnam. For every $5.00 you give a serviceman can enjoy the real and true meaning of Christmas. And you can enjoy the unparalleled satisfaction of having personally helped.

Send or bring your cash contribution to the Frederick County Red Cross Chapter, 22-A S. Market Street, Frederick, Md. 21701. Checks should be made payable to the American Red Cross. The time for mailing these Christmas bags is fast approaching. We shall expect to hear from you soon.

J. Glenn Beall, Jr. Reports from Washington

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Undoubtedly one of the most talked about proposals on the part of the press, the public and the Congress itself is tax reform, and it appears that this subject is about to be taken up on the floor of the House. The Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives will deliver a bill to the House that will provide for a much needed revision of our tax laws.

It should be made clear at the outset that tax revision does not necessarily mean tax reduction.

Generally what is expected is that the tax burden will be shifted more equitably among the population so that certain loopholes are closed that provide advantages to individuals and groups. Undoubtedly tax reform will become a very controversial subject because what is reform to some people is considered a burden to others. Thus, the package is going to have to be considered in light of its overall effect rather than its individual application.

Reports from the Ways and Means Committee indicate that we can expect changes with regard to the tax treatment of depletion allowances, real estate depreciation, charitable contributions, cooperatives, and allocation of deductions to mention only a few.

One of the more controversial subjects will be an attempt to modify the tax treatment of state and local bond interest. These are now exempt from taxation but some very high income people use investments of this type to avoid the payment of any taxes. This has serious consequences for local governments because they depend on this source of revenue to carry out many programs. It is hoped that a balance can be struck so that individuals cannot use this type of investment to avoid the payment of taxes and, at the time, preserve the source of revenue for local government.

Of course, there will also be many changes which will affect the individual taxpayer. One of the recommendations of the committee is that deductions for moving expenses be liberalized and this provision, if passed in its present form, should be of benefit to the many families who now suffer as a result of job relocation. There is also a good possibility that the standard personal exemption will be raised to a higher and more equitable figure. Not all of the moves will benefit individual taxpayers, however. Loopholes will be closed to make certain that no one escapes the payment of taxes altogether.

Here in Washington, the consensus is that the Ways and Means Committee has done a tremendous job in having a bill of such proportions ready for the floor of the House in the immediate future. The outlook is that the House will enact tax reform measures before the August recess begins and we should, therefore, expect a final measure to be through the Senate and be law before the end of the year.

Airborne Octopus Gets Measured

Visitors to the New York Aquarium on Coney Island can now see the largest octopus ever to be exhibited on the East Coast. The 40-pound mollusk arrived at the aquarium recently after it was shipped cross-country via Air Express from Seattle, Wash., aboard a non-stop jet plane. The octopus survived the 2,421-mile flight in good health, packed in ice inside a plastic-lined shipping crate.

Aquarium curators measured its tentacle-span to be 86 inches, as shown above, then put the creature on display in a cave bay, where the water is kept at 46 degrees—comfortable for an octopus.

The unnamed octopus was pulled by divers from an underwater cave in Puget Sound. In its new home at the aquarium, it is hoped that the animal will thrive and reach its full weight of 100 pounds in a few years.

The aquarium has another octopus on display, a seven-year-old weighing 20 pounds. It's doubtful that the two will be mated, however, because it's difficult to tell the sex of an octopus.

Red Censorship in Canada
Nowhere has the "tyranny of the minority"—which is shaking our nation today—been so dramatically exposed than in the police case of "The Censored Film" in Toronto, Ontario. The story has a heartening ending. It involves the documentary motion picture film REVOLUTION UNDERWAY produced by our National Education Program. It now has been viewed by an estimated 50 million people in the U. S. and Canada.

Shortly after announcement of the film's completion by NEP, the Toronto Police Department (and approximately 100 metropolitan police departments throughout the U. S.) asked for a preview print. Upon seeing the film and checking its documentation, the Toronto Department bought it and began using it, as a feature of their police training school and as a public education presentation for the people of Ontario. This has been a primary use of the film in police departments throughout our nation.

The film exposes, beyond any challenge, the Communist hand in the revolutionary "Black Power" activities in America. As was to be expected, the Communists, their dupes, and a variety of Communist-excusing "liberal" and leftwing groups and organizations raised a terrific howl against the film. But it couldn't be challenged on legitimate grounds. Their howls only widened the audiences for the film. It now has reached local TV in at least a hundred American cities.

The Smear Bundlers
In Toronto, small "New Left" groups, joined by a handful of their unwitting dupes, raised a cry against the police for buying the film and using it. They vented their anger on the police and sought to smear the film, using distortions and outright falsehoods. With their usual perseverance, they stirred a controversy and frightened some politically-oriented city officials. TV stations showed the film. But still there was no strong, organized vocal support. A Toronto newspaper sent its Washington "Correspondent" to Searcy to talk to me and "check up" on our organization. I was not present. The Canadian newspaperman was shown every courtesy by my staff, all his questions were answered. But he sent three dispatches to his newspaper damning the film and distorting facts.

The handful of leftwingers leading the attacks in Canada rejoiced in their powerful ally. Standing Up For Freedom
The controversy swept across Canada and everybody wanted to see the film. But the pressure brought upon the police department by the howling handful of attackers finally moved the politically-sensitive police "Commission" to halt police sponsorship of citizen showings, and finally police use of the film; just as the "New Left" in America has achieved the surrender of college and university administrations.

An organization of Canadian citizens, "The Edmund Burke Society," dedicated to preserving the basic principles of freedom, moved into action, charging that the film had been subjected to smear and censorship. They bought copies of REVOLUTION UNDERWAY. They advertised it through all media. They were immediately swamped with requests for showings, from all over Canada. Their goal now is to see that it is viewed by every Canadian.

In its promotion of the film, the Edmund Burke Society says: "The whole point in the film, far from equating Negroes with rioting, is to warn all citizens of the massive propaganda that is being aimed at the Negro community. This propaganda exploits and exaggerates existing grievances and creates phony new ones. It is more than coincidental that the key propagandists for Negro revolution are Communist - oriented and make frequent trips behind the Iron Curtain and to Cuba—men like Stokely Carmichael . . . "A Vital Film"

"It is precisely because selfish men are seeking to manipulate hot-heads in the Negro community for their own ends that this film is so vital . . . We hope to alert Canadians and especially to warn our growing community of Negro citizens of the organized attempt by communist-financed demagogues to disrupt society and use the Negro as cannon-fodder (just as computer-burning student radicals are being used) to spread disorder, which can only serve the ends of the enemies of freedom and of our way of life."

"The sinister forces in our city," declares the Edmund Burke Society in its extensive crusade for the film, "are not the police, but those who wish to close their eyes to the very real problems of communist-aided violence, who wish to hide, instead, behind smearwords . . ."

The tyranny of a militant, vocal, activist minority won an opening skirmish, but in Canada at least, the Communist-fed revolution is being exposed for what it is—a danger to all freedom loving people everywhere. Be sure and see this film. We rent it for $6.50.

The civil disorders that raged across the nation during the summer of 1967 caused insured losses of more than $64 million.

NO. 22,403 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR FREDERICK COUNTY, MARYLAND
JANE R. FRALEY VS.

NORMAN G. FRALEY ORDER OF PUBLICATION
This is to give notice that on the 19th day of May, 1969, a Bill of Complaint was filed in the Circuit Court for Frederick County by the Complainant against the Defendant whose last known address was 7000 Muncaster Road, Derwood, Maryland.

The relief prayed in the petition is substantially as follows:

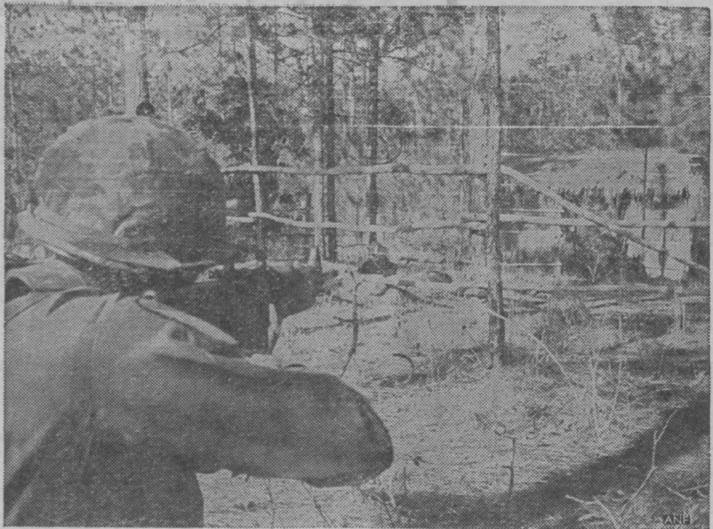

- (1) That the Complainant may be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Norman G. Fraley.
- (2) That the Complainant may have the care and custody of the infant child in these proceedings.

Wherefore, it is ordered by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, this 1st day of August, 1969, that the Complainant cause a copy of this order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Frederick County, once a week for each of four successive weeks before the 6th day of Sept., 1969, giving the notice to the said Defendant of the object and substance of the Petition and warning him to show cause, if any there may be, on or before the 7th day of October, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Women's Health

By Louise Chase
Women's Medical News Service
Pregnant Over 40

NEW YORK—On stage, screen and television, the predicament of the shocked middle-aged woman who finds herself pregnant is played for laughs.

In real life, however, such unwelcome fertility is usually a tragedy, says Dr. Stuart Oster. Drawing on his experience as director of the Family Planning Clinic at St. Luke's Hospital Center, Dr. Oster calls these unplanned pregnancies "second only to the tragic unwanted pregnancies of single girls"—deeply disturbing psychologically, medically, socially and economically. Unwelcome Strain

An over-40 pregnancy, coming when a woman's children are grown up, means complete disruption of her life and of her husband's too. Physically, it may be dangerous. Dr. Oster points out that pregnancies at this age are more likely to develop complications and that mongoloid children are more frequently born to older women than to younger women. Moreover, pregnancy places a grievous strain on women who may have recently begun to suffer from diabetes, high blood pressure, arthritis and other diseases common to middle age.

"I'm not against an older woman getting pregnant if she has a good and compelling reason for wanting a child. But at that age she should certainly have a complete physical examination before starting pregnancy," Dr. Oster remarks.

Under ordinary circumstances, Dr. Oster advises his middle-aged patients to take birth control pills although they may choose another contraceptive method if they wish.

Reasoned Preference
He cites three reasons for his preference:

- 1) Taken correctly, birth control pills are virtually 100 per cent effective and he does not believe a middle-aged woman should run any risk of getting pregnant;
- 2) There are fewer cases of irregular bleeding than with the intrauterine device, and bleeding between periods in an older woman always necessitates careful investigation;
- 3) Patients returning for renewals of their pill prescriptions simultaneously receive medical check-ups.

Fertile 40s
"A lot of women over 40 think that they cannot conceive any longer," Dr. Oster says. "But they're very wrong. I myself was astonished to find how many women that age are new mothers." More than two out of every 100 live births in New York City are to women past 40. In the St. Luke's family planning clinic, 3.8 per cent of the new patients fall into that age category. Several are over 45. For most, it's a case of better late than never. Dr. Oster and a colleague, Dr. Harold M. M. Toivell, found that six out of 10 of these patients had given birth within the previous year.

Leaion Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Francis X. Elder American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 121, was held on Tuesday evening, August 5, at the Post Home with President Virginia Sanders presiding over the 23 members present.

The president announced that $107.04 had been cleared from the recent Evening of Games. The group voted to donate $3 to the Fireman for the use of the hall and $3 to the Sportsmen's Association for the use of the sound system.

It was also voted to pay the room fee for the delegates who attended the American Legion Convention in Baltimore. Delegates were Virginia Sanders and Charlotte Sanders.

Invitations were read to joint installations of Westminster, Taneytown and Sykesville at Frock's Sunnybrook Farm on Saturday and also the Funkstown Post and Auxiliary 211, on August 11.

Members approved the purchase of new books for the secretary and treasurer and also stamps and paper. Membership dues are now due. Until October 11 Auxiliary dues are $3.00, and after October 11, they will be $3.50. Members are urged to pay early.

Selling of refreshments by members of the auxiliary in the Post Home on Friday evenings was discussed, but nothing final was decided due to the renovations being made in the Post Home. It was thought best to wait until repairs were completed. The Unit received a National Citation Membership.

Freeman Shoe Co. Honors William Re For Half Century Of Service

A dinner honoring William C. Re's retirement was held at the Altland House last Tuesday night. Mr. Re, general superintendent of the Freeman Shoe factories in Emmitsburg, Hanover, Waynesboro, and Reading, worked 56 years for the same company under various owners.

The Hanover factory opened in 1935, started production under the name Jackson Shoe Co., changing its ownership two more times to the present Freeman Shoe Co., a division of the United States Shoe

Co. Mr. Re's long and meritorious service. The master of ceremonies for the affair was Joseph J. Miller, former with the changes through the years to help make the present company one of the leading manufacturing companies of men's high fashion leather footwear in the United States.

William F. Schmitz, president of Freeman Shoe Co., Beloit, Wis., attended the dinner and extended his congratulations and appreciation to Mr. Re for his long and meritorious service.

ly a resident of Hanover, now living in Wisconsin. Mr. Miller made the presentation of gifts on behalf of the company which consisted of a portable color television set, a cobbler's bench, and a beautiful scroll made from a side of leather. The affair was attended by 75 people including special guests of Mr. Re from the State Police and supervisory and office personnel from the eastern factories.

Even though Mr. Re has officially retired, the company will call upon his vast knowledge and experience on a consulting basis as the need arises. Mr. and Mrs. Re will continue to reside in Hanover at their present address, 230 Highland Ave.

United Appeal Sets 1969 Goal

The Frederick County United Appeal goal for this year has been set at $200,000, according to James W. Freeman, General Chairman of the 1969 campaign.

This year's goal is 5.3% higher than the 1968 goal. The increased amount is needed to support the greater demands placed on Community Chest services by the growing population of Frederick County and the ever rising costs of providing those services.

Operating budget requirements for 1970 of almost $190,000 were approved by the Board of Directors of the Community Chest upon recommendation of its budget committee. A goal of $200,000 was established to provide $10,000 as a reserve for emergencies. In its 31-year history, the Community Chest has never been able to build up any reserve and it is hoped that this deficiency can be overcome this year.

Conducted annually in October, the United Appeal raises funds for 13 Community Chest agencies which provide vitally needed health, welfare and character building services for all of Frederick County.

Fires on the nation's farms cost an average of more than $500,000 a day.

Business brings consumer education to those who need it most.

As you can see from the photos and captions below, private enterprise is taking new steps these days, through the business-supported Better Business Bureaus, to help everyone become a smarter, better-educated consumer.

What does it mean to be an "educated consumer"? For one thing, it means you've learned to think pretty carefully about what, how and when to buy.

First, smart consumers consider exactly what they should buy; they buy only what they can afford, and they think out exactly what their specifications should be, whether it's the size of a dress or capacity of a refrigerator.

They also think about how they should buy—cash or credit, and they bear in mind that credit may add to the cost of their purchase.

Educated consumers give thought to when they buy—and as much as possible they shop during sales, when prices are lower.

Finally, informed consumers never buy for price alone (they know quality can be just as important). They shop around to get the best value. They're cautious and inquisitive when they see claims of "unbelievable savings" and "fantastic price reductions." They take contracts seriously, read before they sign. And when in doubt, they find out—from their Better Business Bureau.

Service to all consumers is provided by the new mobile BBB offices. Operating at present in three major metropolitan areas, the Bureau-staffed vans offer consumer information, and respond to inquiries and complaints through direct phone contact with BBB central offices.

Housewives entering recent BBB-sponsored Consumer Affairs Council meeting. This session, built on theme, "The food business cares about you," distributed 150,000 booklets prepared by companies and trade associations, explaining how to stretch the food dollar, and sobering economic realities about the food industry.

In addition to current innovations in bringing consumer education to the needy, the 54-year-old BBBs responded last year to requests from over 4 1/2 million customers—a cross-section of the American buying public. Nine out of ten called not to complain but to get information—about companies or business practices.

Women Voters To Hold Party

The annual Garden Party, sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Frederick County, will be held Wednesday, August 20, at the home of Mrs. Charles Hicks III, on Ballenger Creek Rd. The evening's program will begin at 8 p.m. After the program, there will be swimming from 10 p.m. until 11 p.m. (bathing caps required). All Frederick County women are invited to attend.

The purpose of the party will be to give local women an opportunity to become acquainted with the League, its aims, and how it functions. There is a place in the League for any woman of voting age who is a citizen. A member can spend as much or as little time as she wishes on League work since practically all of it is done through volunteer effort. The members choose what the local study program will be and, after study, what action will take place. Locally, the League is currently concerned with local government, zoning, local equal opportunities and education. Statewide, it will concentrate on such items as constitutional amendments, welfare programs and services, congressional redistricting, civil rights, and fair election practices. Nationally, the League is concerned with such problems as the electoral college, human resources, foreign policy, water resources, representative government, and tax rates.

Among building fires whose origin can be traced, almost two out of five are attributed to smoking, matches or electrical causes, the Insurance Information Institute reports.

School Attendance Law Passed Paul E. Fogle, Supervisor of Pupil Personnel for the Board of Education of Frederick County, notes that a revised Compulsory Attendance Law is now in effect in Maryland. The law now reads in part: "Every child between six and sixteen years of age residing in the State shall attend some public school regularly during the entire period of each school year, unless it can be shown that the child is elsewhere receiving regular, thorough instruction during said period in said public schools to children of the same age."

Guidance from the State Department of Education results in the following interpretation of the revised law: Children who are age six or before the date school opens will be required to attend school. Children who will be age six or before December 31st of the year in which they would enroll should be encouraged to attend school. If parents and appropriate school personnel agree that it would be best for the child to enter school the following September, this action would still comply with the law. Fogle indicates that his office will be pleased to answer individual inquiries concerning the law.

Senior Citizens To Hold Sale "Now is the time for all good men (and women) to come for the good of the order"—to misquote an old saw—because the members of the Senior Citizens Club of Emmitsburg have undertaken to supply the food for the Zimmerman sale on Saturday, Aug. 16. Any help of brain, money, or muscle will be thankfully received at the center, luckily located next door to the sale. Come one, come all with help, aid and assistance!

Tuesday evening at six o'clock on Aug. 19, the Senior Citizens will hike out to Kump's Dam for their regular monthly meeting and a picnic, perhaps the last for the summer. Bring a covered dish and place setting and enjoy the delightful scenery and unpolluted air, as well as delectable food for the occasion.

Let's we forget, the Senior Citizens Club of Thurmont has invited the members of the Emmitsburg club to join them in a picnic at the beautiful pavilion in the park at Thurmont. To avoid delays, veterans should write the regional office where their records are maintained rather than to the VA in Washington.

The ZIP Column

Due to the rescheduling of the workforce, brought about by the change in Mail Transportation, effective Tuesday, September 2, we will close our business lobby at 5:00 p.m.

To offset this, the business lobby will be opened at 8:30 a.m., weekdays. Our Saturday schedule will remain the same, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Along with this change, we are extending the lockbox section hours to 7:00 p.m. weekdays. There again, our Saturday schedule remains the same, and the door will be locked at 6:00 p.m., as usual.

The 6-cent stamps saluting the XI International Botanical Congress will be placed on sale at Seattle, Washington, on August 23, 1969.

Designs of the four stamps are representative of flora from the four corners of the country. The southwest will be represented by the ocotillo; the Northwest by the Douglas fir; the Northeast by the lady-slipper, and the Southeast by the Franklinia.

These stamps, designed by Stanley Galli of Kentfield, California, will be printed on a sheet similar to the recent Beautification series. This stamp will be placed on sale at our office on Monday, August 25, 1969.

Books Explain Area Assets

Have Book, Then Travel

How many times have you discovered (to your sorrow) that you missed some of the most exciting features of the region that you've just visited? There's a simple way to have a more pleasant outing next time.

To brush up before your next visit to the Capitol browse through the American Guide Series publication entitled "Washington, D. C." For magnificent color photographs and specific details (i.e., floor plans of Capitol and White House) try two soft-bound books, "The White House," by Mrs. John Pearce, and "We, The People," by Lonelle Aikman.

The 116 full-color plates in "National Gallery of Art," are a brilliantly chosen sampling of the treasures in the collections, each individually commented upon by John Walker, Director. Altogether, they outline story of European and American painting from Cimabue to Cassatt.

Robert Shostek's paperback, "Potomac Trail Book," pinpoints attractions of 30 weekend camping areas. Included are descriptions and maps for 45 hikes (in Md., Va., and D.C.) and a fold-out map of Potomac Valley Trails. Eight bicycle "loops" range from 14 to 76 miles in length. Short chapters on wildlife and history supplement hike descriptions. Along with directions for automobile access routes, facts concerning the length of the hike, difficult trail parts, parking facilities and picnic ground regulations eliminate the possibility of disappointment after you arrive.

"The Face Of Maryland" invites you to tour the city and the countryside of our state. View at your leisure each spot of interest; magnificent cathedrals, Old Wye Mill, State Office buildings, and such scenic views as Black Rock and Fox's Gap. All the photographs, many of which won international awards, reflect A. Aubrey Bodine's superior photographic ability.

Whether you go across the county, the National Geographic Society boosts your understanding of "America's Historylands." Short articles about the places that figured in the history of particular years follow a summary of events. Color photographs and numerous maps make this hard-bound volume as attractive as the popular magazine, and just as difficult to put down.

Even if you travel no farther than your favorite armchair during the remaining summer, you will find that books are delightful companions.

Scouts Are Attending Camp

Emmitsburg's Boy Scout Troop 284 is attending a Scout Camp this week at Camp Bowman, Goshen, Va. Robert Rosensteel, assistant scoutmaster and Raymond M. Baker, Cubmaster and Scout committeeman, are adult chaperones of the group, consisting of 18 boys. The Scouts will return to Emmitsburg on Saturday.

Prior to the encampment, Dale Shields and Robert Henke, junior leaders, formed a vanguard for the group and underwent a week of training before the arrival of the main group.

Buchanan Valley Picnic Scheduled

The annual picnic of the Old Jesuit Mission at Buchanan Valley will be held in Adams County, midway between Gettysburg and Chambersburg this year on Saturday, August 23, Msgr. Louis Yeager, pastor, announces.

Perhaps the most well-known affair of its type, the picnic and supper draws thousands from the surrounding area and seems to become more popular yearly. The affair begins at noon and continues until midnight. There's entertainment for both young and old and good old mountain music for dancing. In recent years a spacious diningroom has been erected and comfortably seats several hundred at a time.

A special feature of this annual event is the delicious ham and chicken dinner that is served family style.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Gov. Proclaims Clerk Of Court Week

Governor Marvin Mandel has proclaimed the week of August 10 through August 16 as Clerk of the Court Week in Maryland. The office of the Clerk of the Court is one of the oldest in the State, having been established by the Maryland Charter in the 17th Century.

Orville T. Gosnell, Clerk of the Baltimore County Circuit Court, is president of the State of Maryland Court Clerks' Assn., which will hold its annual convention in Ocean City.

Other officers of the State Association are first vice president, Vaughn J. Baker, Washington County; second vice president, Ellis C. Wichter, Frederick County; secretary Mildred C. Butler, Caroline County treasurer and James M. Green, Frederick County assistant secretary.

Citizens of Frederick County and those of all Maryland political subdivisions are invited to visit their respective courts during Clerk of the Court Week when personnel will be on hand to welcome them and explain the various duties and responsibilities of the clerk and his assistants.

The duties of the clerk's office involve among other things: Issuing marriage licenses and performing marriages collecting recordation tax and state transfer tax, recording mortgage deeds and finance statements, photostating law and equity recordings, photostating for Register of Wills Office and reproduction of docket entries and other copies for lawyers and others.

Also, recording election results and administering oath of office to elected and appointed officials and notaries public.

Lions Club Plans Family Picnic

Three members of the Terra Ruba Lions Club were guests at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in Mt. Manor Restaurant, Vice President Charles F. Troxell presiding in the absence of President Milton Sewell who was ill.

Treasurer Floyd Lewis' and Secretary William H. Kelz's reports were approved as presented. The group approved a $5 advertisement for the Emmitsburg - Thurmont Community Show program. An invitation to jointly sponsor the 40th anniversary of the club with Thurmont was discussed, and a committee of William Kelz and Charles F. Stouter was appointed to meet with the club.

Members were invited to attend the annual Taneytown Lions Clum crab feast on August 26.

It was decided to hold the annual Family Picnic on Monday, August 25 at Kump's Dam Park. A committee of J. Norman Flax, Charles F. Stouter and Arthur Elder, was named in charge of the affair, which will be catered by the Davis Catering Service, Inc.

Veterans attending school under the GI Bill can take a summer vacation without losing any of their VA education entitlement.
