It is almost inconceivable how it was possible that a small plane crashed into the side of a giant passenger plane in Indiana this week. The terrible mishap cost 83 persons their lives in one of the worst air disasters ever to occur in this country. The accident happened in broad daylight. Not being air-minded and totally unfamiliar with air traffic regulations it is hard to see how such a tragedy could occur in daylight, but it did. You'd think that with a crew of perhaps half a dozen pilots, co-pilots, navigators or what have you on a plane that size would have seen some sign of the approaching plane, or for that matter the pilot of the little plane himself.

Fall weather is upon us and it isn't hard to tell the difference. Last week we were being roasted in 90-degree weather and 100% humidity but not so now. A 15-20 degree drop in temperatures has sent us scurrying for sweaters and jackets and you know now that fall is here to stay. As a matter of fact, some of the less hardy type individuals have jumped the gun and have turned on their furnaces at night.

Please pay attention folks! Next Wednesday the telephone number for reporting a fire will change. This is a serious matter and you should learn and conform to the change immediately for your very life could be in jeopardy. Through some mechanical changes made in the local telephone exchange it has become necessary to assign a new number to the Fire Department. Therefore your new number will be 447-6121, starting Wednesday. The firemen are on their toes, so don't worry. In a few days you will be receiving a sticker to place on or near your phone for emergency use. We don't like these radical moves or changes, especially with numbers as important as this one is, but we must accept them and be ready for emergency at all times.

I'm not one to begrudge our President necessary expense money but when I read in the paper this week that it was costing us taxpayers $100,000 per day to have him stay at the California White House, my blood began to boil. . . and hasn't quite simmered down yet. Do you realize what this sum totals in the one month that the President has enjoyed the California weather? Well, at $100,000 a day, every 10 days would be a million dollars. Multiply $100,000 by 30 days, a month, and you'll readily see that it cost you and me a cool $3,000,000 to have Brother Nixon bask in the California sunshine. This is utterly ridiculous and fantastic! This is the very same Government that is saying to you and to me that we should cut down on spending, tighten our belts, pay more taxes so we can't afford to spend any more money. What kind of philosophy is this? As the Indian in the western movie said: "Man speaks with forked tongue".

Controversy over the installation of water meters in the Town has been developing ever since it was learned that the Town planned such action. This week a letter espousing the installation is being published by Mayor Seidel, and signed by one Commissioner, Thomas Bollinger. Three other Commissioners refused to sign the letter endorsing the installation of the meters and it is factual that a petition opposing the meters is being circulated among property owners. The petition cites that a public hearing should be held or a chance to vote on the matter at the April election. The cost of the installation is estimated at $32,000 and apparently the Council is divided on its opinion, 3-2 (three opposed and two for). Under the circumstances I would say it would be a wise decision to hear from the public before an expenditure of this magnitude is made.

Plan Would Expedite Sixes Dam

The Sixes Bridge Dam, proposed for the Carroll-Frederick County line near Emmitsburg, may be built as a separate project—the relief of local and state officials.

The Army Corps of Engineers, said Sen. Charles McC. Mathias (R-Md.), agrees that some priority be assigned to the proposed dam, which is now included in a six-project package before Congress.

Mathias said the Corps had previously "insisted on linking the Sixes Bridge project to give other proposed major dams in the Potomac Basin."

Mathias quoted Maj. Gen. F. J. Clarke, deputy chief of engineers, as saying that "nothing should be permitted to delay the authorization and funding of the urgently needed Sixes Bridge project."

Charles E. Collins, president of the Frederick County Commissioners, said that he thinks the general is correct and added: "It should have never been taken out (of a separate bill) in the first place."

Collins said it would be quicker to get the dam built if it were in a separate bill.

The dam and reservoir would greatly affect the economic growth of Frederick County, providing increased recreational facilities as well as assuring a constantly good water flow needed to attract development.

Mathias said Clarke's statement is included in material just submitted to the Senate District of Columbia Committee.

The Maryland Republican said he has asked Clarke whether the Corps of Engineers would support separate authorization for Sixes Bridge in Frederick County if opposition to the other projects should delay congressional approval.

"While the authorization of the six-dam Potomac package is required to meet the water supply demands of the Washington metropolitan area for the next 20 years, as well as provide for the water quality and recreational needs of the basins, nothing should be permitted to delay the authorization and funding of the urgently needed Sixes Bridge project," Clarke was quoted as replying.

"It is pertinent to note that the project will furnish water supply benefits in the Frederick area as well as in the Washington metropolitan area."

Mathias said that Clarke, when asked for a Sixes Bridge timetable, said if the project were authorized this year planning and design could begin in the fall of next year with land acquisition and construction beginning in 1974. The construction period would be about four years.

FRED P. TIMMERMAN

He was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg, the Holy Name Society of the church, the Knights of Columbus and a social member of the VFW. For many years he gave private instruction in instrumental music and was also a carpenter.

Funeral services were held yesterday (Thursday), at 10 a.m., with a Requiem Mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church with the Rev. Fr. John King officiating. Interment was in the new St. Joseph's Cemetery. Wilson Funeral Home, Emmitsburg, was in charge of arrangements.

Community Show To Honor Soil Conservation

Each year the Community Show has been honoring an organization that has cooperated in making Frederick County and the State of Maryland a better place to live. This year the show committee has designated the Frederick Conservation district along with its associate member Catoctin, to be recognized. Frederick County is the only county to have two soil conservation districts within its county boundary in the state of Maryland. From the state office, Mr. Edward Keil, State Conservationist and state secretary, Mr. Arnold Hawkins, will be present at Catoctin High School. The Frederick Soil Conservation District is a governmental subdivision of the State, formed to provide a source of help and information in conducting a soil and water conservation program in the district.

The present Frederick Soil Conservation District had its beginning as a part of the Monocacy Soil Conservation District, which was established by a referendum held on September 1, 1939. The organization was in response to the local landowner wanting to take positive action to control erosion. In 1944 the Monocacy District was reorganized and became part of two districts, with division following the Frederick and Carroll County line. The certification of Organization for the Frederick Soil Conservation District was issued by the Maryland Secretary of State on November 20, 1954, and it has continued to operate as such since that date. The Frederick Soil Conservation District includes all that land in Frederick County except the Catoctin Watershed. The total land area within this District is 341,938 acres of which 338,000 acres are in farm land.

Officers for Frederick Conservation Soil District are: Chairman, Raymond Keilholz; vice chairman, George A. Nicholson; secretary, Kenneth E. Shifflet; treasurer, Edwin A. Hevner. Board members, Harry Fouche and Rodman Myers; associate members, William Browning, Ronald Provost, and Francis Barnes. Supervisors who have served in the Frederick District in the past are: Walter Bural, Harry W. Fantz, J. William Howard, F. A. Roddy, E. Earl Rensberg, Harry A. Zentz, Elmer E. Hodges, Willis D. Rensberg, Tobias Zimmerman, Dr. W. A. R. Bell, Frederick Tresselt, and Jesse Bural. The service rendered by those who served before and with the present Board is greatly appreciated. Much of the Soil Conservation work of the district can be attributed to their efforts.

That portion of Frederick County west of Catoctin Mountains is in the Catoctin Soil Conservation District. This District covers 95,000 acres, the Middletown Valley to the Potomac River. Catoctin Soil Conservation District officials are: Chairman, Henry D. Lakins, Sr.; vice chairman, Carrollee Zecher; secretary, Kenneth Shifflet; treasurer, Cyrus S. McBride; and members Bertram Elder and Richard Holter. Associate Supervisors are: Floyd Stine, Cecil Keller and Wolford Wolfe.

Both the Frederick and Catoctin Soil Conservation Districts are supported by the assistance of the USDA, Soil Conservation Service, 1199 East Street, Frederick, Md. The Work Unit Personnel are: District Conservationist, Paul Edwards; Soil Conservationist, Paul Anderson; Technician, Donald Fralley; Engineer, J. Richard Saylor; District Aide, Ralph Tabler; and Clerk to the Board, Mrs. Mary B. Fink.

One only needs to look over Frederick County to see the vast growth in population and the critical demands placed upon our inherited soil, water, and related resources. A realistic challenge is placed upon the Districts in conserving these resources for the future generations.

The 13th annual Community Show will be held Sept. 19 and 20 at the new Catoctin High School. This show is sponsored by the Emmitsburg and Thurmont Granges, Catoctin Future Farmers of America, and Maryland State Fair Board. Exhibits may be entered on Thursday, Sept. 18 from 7 to 9 p.m. and Friday morning, Sept. 19 from 8 to 11:30 a.m. On Saturday evening, Sept. 20, the Catoctin PTA will serve a Turkey and Ham supper from 4 to 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Mayor Seidel's Letter To Taxpayers, Water Consumers And Voting Citizens Of Emmitsburg:

The town council began the consideration of installing water meters as early as June of this year. The idea was not new as previous boards had made the recommendation that water meters be installed on a ten year basis. However, this recommendation never got started.

Only after several special meetings, where the details of this action were discussed to the mutual satisfaction of the members of the board present; was a resolution passed at the special meeting of July 21, 1969. Present at this meeting in addition to the board members were the Town Attorney, Mr. Fred Bower; Mr. Verne Porter, of the Neptune Meter Company; and the local plumbers who are to install these meters, Mr. Alfred Hahn and Mr. Jason Sanders.

The proposed resolution had been advertised in the newspaper and posted in the window of the town office prior to the regular meeting of August, 1969. Not one person was present at the regular August meeting to oppose the resolution.

The meters are being shipped into the Town of Emmitsburg by the Neptune Meter Company on what they consider to be a "good faith" transaction. Legally, we are bound by the agreement since the proposal was approved.

However, contrary to notions being circulated, we are not going into debt to finance this project. Furthermore, it was the considered opinion of the board that the increase in water revenues received by water meter installation would more than offset the small amount of interest earned in the savings account, if some monies had to be transferred.

As stated in the published resolution, the purpose of installing water meters is for water conservation and having those individuals who are using more than the quantity allowed by present minimum rate pay for it. The only proper way to measure what people use is through the use of water meters.

It was and is our intention by this action to benefit the Town of Emmitsburg, in the long run.

It has been a great privilege working for and under Chief Filler, but it has been an even greater honor working for and with the people of Emmitsburg. I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their cooperation and their friendship. Since I will no longer be enforcing the law, I hope you will all join with me in supporting it.

FIRE ALARM NUMBER TO CHANGE

James E. Fitzgerald, president of the Vigilant Hose Company, announced this week that the telephone number for local alarms has been changed and will become effective on Wednesday, Sept. 17.

Form letters to residents will be mailed in the near future advising them of the new alarm number, which will be 447-6121. The change has been necessitated due to mechanical changes in the local telephone exchange building.

Residents are asked, in the letter, to place the new number sticker on or near their telephones for quick reference.

Senior Citizens Plan Scenic Tour

The film that was to be shown at the September 16 meeting of the Senior Citizens by Mrs. Weisberger, will be postponed until the October meeting. Sorry, but we can always rely on games. Prizes will be acceptable.

The group is planning a trip in October over the Skyline Drive. Come and help us set a date convenient to all.

3 Commissioners Oppose Local Water Meters

Three Town Commissioners refused to sign a letter espousing the installation of water meters in Emmitsburg, at the regular monthly meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners held Monday evening in the Town Office. President of the Board J. Ralph McDonnell presided over the meeting with a full board present.

The letter was read by Mayor Robert A. Seidel, the contents of which approved installing water meters in Emmitsburg homes. Commissioner Thomas W. Bollinger signed the letter, along with the Mayor. However, the three remaining Commissioners, Ralph McDonnell, J. Norman Flax and Ernest Rosensteel refused to affix their signatures. The letter appears elsewhere in this paper.

Present at the meeting were Thomas C. Harbaugh, Patrick B. Boyle, Norman J. Shriver and Ernest Shriver. Mr. Harbaugh notified the Town Fathers that a bad water leak existed in the lines in front of his home on East Main Street. The others present asked questions concerning installation of water meters, replacing and installing old and new water lines procedures and the cutting of weeds.

The Council approved the minutes of the regular August meeting and also those of a special meeting on August 27. A bill received for blacktopping of several alleys and in the rear of the Post-office, was approved by the Board with Commissioner Flax abstaining during the voting. Also a bill from the Neptune Meter Co. for water meters was approved by the Board and again Commissioner Flax abstained from voting.

Police Chief W. Henry Filler presented his monthly report and Council granted him authority to install two legal signs at the school crossing in South Alley. The Chief advised the Council to bill the insurance company for damages done to Town property on North Seton Ave. recently when an automobile accident occurred there. Council approved a one-year service contract for its electric typewriter with the IBM Company.

Police Officer Thomas Colliflower, Jr., presented a letter of resignation as police officer to the Council and the resignation was accepted, effective Sept. 11. One applicant for the job is available and a special meeting has been called for Sept. 15 to select Colliflower's successor. The August financial report was approved by the Board.

College Beneficiary In Banker's Will

Gettysburg College will soon receive more than $200,000 from the estate of the late Fred G. Masters of Berlin, Pa., a retired school teacher, according to an announcement by President C. Arnold Hanson.

Mr. Masters, a 1904 graduate of Gettysburg College, died January 2, 1963 at the age of 82. In his will he named the college as the residual beneficiary of his estate, valued at about $200,000. Since 1963 the income from the trust has been used for the life support of Mr. Masters' cousins, the late Mr. and Mrs. Austin E. Floto, also of Berlin, Pa.

In addition to serving the field of secondary education for 40 years, Mr. Masters was president and member of the board of directors of the First National Bank of Berlin, Pa.

Gettysburg College memorialized Mr. Masters' devotion and interest in his Alma Mater in November of 1963 by naming the physics building in his honor.

Frederick County Backgrounds

The Morrison Family
In any historical and genealogical study of a burial ground—the "inter-relationships" often prove to be not only interesting but diversified. If one member of a family married into a certain clan another was likely to follow suit. This makes for a genealogical mix-up and unless authentic records can be obtained the mystery is very likely to remain unsolved. In this, Tom's Creek Presbyterian is no exception.

Among the early settlers in Tom's Creek Hundred were the Morrises. They may have emigrated from the Marsh Creek settlement in Pennsylvania, for there are early Morrison graves in the Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian churchyard (Black's) and one of the old slate stones in this plot has the Morrison coat-of-arms cut thereon.

It is known that the Morrises intermarried with the Agnews and Annans. There may have been others that cannot be traced at this late date.

The Morrison inscriptions follow:
The oldest marked Morrison graves are those of William B. Morrison and his wife, Peninah J. Morrison.

1. Sacred to the memory of William B. Morrison, born February 21, 1819, died July 19, 1890.

2. Sacred to the memory of Peninah J. Morrison, wife of William B. Morrison, born September 21, 1817, died February 19, 1913.

Note: It is interesting to note that Peninah J. Morrison, helpmate of William, lacked just a little over four years of reaching the century mark of age at the time of her death. Her lifetime spanned a most interesting period in the history of this country and probably this woman felt the impact of these events "at first hand."

3. In memory of William Morrison, born June 20, 1851, died November 13, 1934.

Helen E. Morrison, wife of William Morrison, born September 24, 1846, died March 9, 1921.

John R. Morrison, son of William and Helen Morrison, born and died 1887.

David A. Morrison, daughter of William and Helen Morrison, born and died in 1882. Note: William (2) Morrison was obviously a son of William B. (1) and Peninah J. Morrison and inherited the longevity of his mother for he had attained his 83rd year at the time of his death.

Buried in the same row with the elder Morrises are the following—just as they are to be found in Tom's Creek Presbyterian churchyard at the present time.

4. In memory of John Robert Morrison, born April 16, 1887, died October 8, 1887, aged 5 mos. and 22 days.

Note: Probably a son of William and Helen E. Morrison and in that case a grandson of the pioneer, William B. (1) and Peninah J. Morrison, who were early settlers on Tom's Creek Hundred.

5. Sacred to the memory of David Agnew Morrison, son of William L. and Helen E. Morrison, died July 16, 1882, aged 3 years, 11 months and two days. Note: This inscription is self-explanatory—without a doubt this little boy was a brother of John Robert Morrison.

Now follow the graves of William and Helen E. Morrison and two other infant sons and beside these are the following:

6. In memory of Mary G. Morrison, born June 7, 1874, died February 1, 1954.

William D. Morrison, born July 30, 1874, died July 19, 1955.

Note: Recent graves and therefore well known to the people of the Emmitsburg District and undoubtedly of the third generation of the Morrises of Tom's Creek Hundred.

7. Sacred to the memory of David Agnew, died Sept. 1, 1888, aged 66 years and 8 months.

Note: The Agnew family has been mentioned before in this series but some of the facts pertaining to them will bear repeating. James (1) and Samuel (1) Agnew were brothers and came to America from the North of Ireland early in the eighteenth century. They settled first at Donegal, in Lancaster County, Pa., where both married. James (1) Agnes buried his first wife at Donegal and while still living there married for the second time, one Rebecca Scott.

Later, the brothers emigrated further to the west—James (1) to the Marsh Creek settlement in what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania, and Samuel (1) to Tom's Creek Hundred in what is now Frederick County, Maryland.

"David" is an Agnew family name—James (1) Agnew had a son bearing that given name. David (2) Agnew was an officer in the War of the American Revolution and, according to his obituary, died "in the prime of manhood leaving a grieving widow and 11 children."

According to a fairly reliable tradition Samuel (1) Agnew and his wife are interred in Tom's Creek Presbyterian churchyard and one time the graves were well marked but at this late date all trace of the stones has disappeared.

The David Agnew buried in the Morrison plot could well have been a grandson of the pioneer, Samuel (1) Agnew.

8. In memory of Mary Jane Agnew, wife of David Agnew, died December 15, 1886, aged 65 years, five months and 21 days.

Beyond the Agnew graves are interred William B. (1) Morrison and his wife, Peninah J. Morrison.

In another part of Tom's Creek Presbyterian churchyard, just about the middle of the grounds, are three more Morrison family graves:

9. In memory of David Morrison, died July . . . 1866, aged . . . Note: This stone is broken and the inscription is just about obliterated.

10. In memory of Harriet Morrison, wife of David Morrison, died January 23, 1871, aged 71 years.

11. Sacred to the memory of Harriet Morrison, daughter of D. and H. Morrison, died June 18, 1899, aged 76 years, 8 months, and 19 days.

The historical and genealogical study of Tom's Creek Presbyterian churchyard will be continued in this series next week.

Auto Safety Critic To Talk At Mt. St. Marys

Ralph Nader, outspoken critic of auto safety legislation whose challenges are now being felt in other product areas, will speak on the campus of Mount Saint Mary's College next week.

Appearing at 8 p.m. in Flynn Hall on Wednesday, September 17, he will discuss "Environmental Hazards: Man Made and Man Remedied".

Nader's talk was arranged by the college's speakers committee headed by Rev. Paul V. Redmond. Nader, an outstanding lawyer, has worked on legal problems and policies, both legislative and judicial, concerning highway safety and automobile design, and has served as a consultant and contributor to many legal publications.

He received an A.B. degree from Princeton University in 1955 and an LL.B. from Harvard Law School in 1958. He worked as a research assistant in Harvard Law School from 1958 to 1959, and after serving in the army, began active practice of law. Articles he has written have been published in Atlantic Monthly, The Nation, New Republic, and Christian Science Monitor.

Father Redmond said the public is invited to hear the Nader lecture.

WETZEL—WHIPP

Kay Darlene Whipp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Whipp, Union Bridge, Md., and Ronnie Eugene Wetzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wetzel, Emmitsburg, were united in marriage on August 30 at 2 p.m. The double-wing ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. P. Jones at his home in Union Bridge. The attendants were Mrs. Linda Humarick, sister of the groom, and Roland Whipp, brother of the bride. The bride wore a street-length gown of blue satin, covered with light blue lace.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at Baugher's Restaurant, near Westminster, for about 50 guests. Serving at the refreshment tables were Miss Joyce Gaiber of Frizzellburg, Md., and Miss Brenda Shipley of Uniontown, Marie Oden of Clemsonville, Md., served the wedding cake and Miss Betty Ranouff of Baltimore, helped at the gift table.

After the reception, the couple left on a trip through Virginia and West Virginia. They are residing on Main Street in Union Bridge.

Brute Ladies Plan Sample Fair

The regular meeting of the Ladies of Brute was held Monday evening in the Council Home. President Lois Hartdagen presided with thirty members in attendance.

The meeting opened with a prayer by the chaplain, Ruth Baker. Minutes of last month's meeting were read by the secretary, Joyce Rosensteel and the treasurer's report was read by the treasurer, Judy LaCroce.

The Grand Knight, Eugene R. Rosensteel, spoke to the ladies concerning the conditions of the kitchen and how the ladies could help in putting a short order kitchen in operation.

He reported that the Supreme Knight in New Haven has appointed a committee to look into the sanctioning of auxiliaries to the Knights of Columbus.

He also explained our purpose as an auxiliary was to aid the Knights and if we followed our By-Laws we would have a successful organization.

Loretta Sprankle reported on the Ways and Means Committee's progress thus far on the Sample Fair. The letters to businesses are being prepared to be sent in the very near future. Dolores Davis, Anna Gerkin and Lois McIntyre will be in charge of the refreshments for the Fair. Other committees will be formed later.

The president introduced three new members, Charlotte Sanders, Mary Florence and Lois McIntyre. A donation was motioned to be sent to Sister Mary Stella, a former Sister at Mother Seton School who is stationed in Louisiana. Their school and church were destroyed by hurricane Camille.

The ladies were asked to prepare a buffet on Monday, September 30 in the Council home for the installation of officers of Bishop McNamara General Assembly of the 4th Degree. Lois McIntyre will be chairman assisted by the following: Dolores Davis, Loretta Sprankle, Edith Haley, Nancy Danner, Becky Stover, Lois Hartdagen and Joyce Rosensteel.

There will be a trip to Victor Cullen this Sunday, Sept. 15, and the members were encouraged to go. The next meeting will be held on October 13 at 8:15. Anna Sanders' name was called for the drawing but was not present.

Refreshment committee for the next meeting is Ruth Baker and Frances Keilholtz. The meeting closed with prayer after which refreshments were served in the social room.

Dr. Harold J. Maloney, Jr., has been named chairman of the department of education at St. Joseph College. He succeeds Sister Robertine Weiden, who has resigned her chairmanship which she has held since 1954.

A biology major in his undergraduate study at Bates College in Maine, Dr. Maloney received his AB in 1963 with a minor in secondary education. The University of Massachusetts awarded him the M.Ed. in secondary education in October of 1965.

He has recently completed the requirements for the doctorate in International Comparative Education at the Catholic University of America. Dr. Maloney's other area of study at Catholic University was educational psychology.

Upon completing course work at the University of Massachusetts in the summer of 1963, Dr. Maloney volunteered for the Peace Corps and trained at the University of California prior to his field assignment in Peru.

From September 1963 to June 1965, Maloney served as a Peace Corpsman in Trujillo, Peru. His primary assignment during this period was the teaching of ecology in the department of biological sciences at the National University of Trujillo. He also taught English as a foreign language and was involved with the health and physical training of the young Peruvians.

During his years of study at Catholic University, Maloney held a graduate assistantship in the university's school of education. He also served as a consultant on the Nuclear Science Curriculum Project of a California school district and as an educational technology specialist at an institute conducted by Catholic University for the Washington D. C. public school system.

Since October 1968, he has served as consultant to the National Science Teachers Association on a project directed toward the development of materials for the training of science education personnel in educational technology.

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

Aluminum Prospects Still Bright

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., September 11, 1969—A decade and a half ago, aluminum was riding the crest of an unprecedented upsurge in demand. Its light weight, malleability, and effectiveness as a conductor of electricity won for it wide acceptance as a substitute for other materials; but in those days it was still a specialty metal. Today—thanks to well-sustained and well-directed research, as well as market development—aluminum has truly become a base metal with an excellent potential for solid growth.

Status of Supply
Last year, the United States—world's top aluminum producer—had output estimated at 3,250,000 tons. This was nearly 40% of the world total, Communist nations included. The U. S. and Canada together accounted for nearly 50% of world production. Output of the Communist nations was a shade under 2,000,000 tons.

As a result of management's closer attention to research and development and to cost control, the overcapacity problem which had been recurring during the past several years has been resolved. Currently, output—though still expanding—is being held in fairly close balance with demand. But U. S. and Canadian companies are actively increasing and developing their bauxite reserves in various parts of the world.

Expanding Usage
While aluminum has had to share the lucrative aircraft market with metals which afford better resistance to heat, producers have been quick to capitalize their advantages in other areas to attain the volume they need for optimum future use of their vast, and still rising, productive capacity. During the past five years, perhaps the greatest strides in expanding usage have been in containers, packaging, and building materials.

In 1967—latest year for which full figures are available—the leading aluminum-consuming industries were: building and transportation, each 21%; electrical, 14%; and consumer durables, 9%. We fully expect that the amount of this metal going into construction of the average new home will be boosted significantly—perhaps as much as ten-fold—in the next decade.

Prices And Profits
Meanwhile, aluminum shows increasing signs of "coming of age". The growing pains are not yet over, but they have subsided and will cause less trouble as the industry settles down to a less dramatic but more solid period of growth. Prices are stable now; but if near-term changes were to occur they would favor the upside. Like many another industry, aluminum is feeling the pressure of high and rising costs. However, its modern plant and equipment and its well-honed research and development programs are factors on the plus side.

Supply, demand, and price fluctuations promise to be moderate in the months immediately ahead. Hence profitability should be relatively good over the near to medium terms. While there is some possibility that the industry will move into a period of oversupply, the balance of factors suggest that this will not occur in 1969 and possibly not even in 1970.

What To Buy
The research staff of Babson's Reports is currently recommending purchase of the common stock of Reynolds Metals Company. Reynolds is the second-largest U. S. aluminum concern.

Its longer-term growth prospects continue to be excellent. Fully integrated, it manufactures and markets a wide variety of building products in addition to its output of aluminum ingots, semi-finished and finished items. Management's confidence in the future of the industry and in its own future is amply reflected in its systematic plant improvement and expansion program designed to broaden the earnings base and control unit production costs.

State Scholarship Program Changed
The Maryland State Scholarship Board this week announced changes in the State scholarship programs and procedures for the 1970-71 academic year. In accordance with revisions made in the programs by the last session of the Legislature, students will no longer have to take a special State Scholarship examination. Instead, a student wishing to compete for either of the two types of scholarships should take the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) in the test center in his area, either in November or December of this year.

In addition, scholarship candidates must file a formal scholarship application and a financial analysis statement, known as the "Parents' Confidential Statement" (PCS). These forms must be filed with the College Scholarship Service in Princeton, New Jersey by December 1 in order for a student to be considered as an eligible State scholarship candidate. The necessary forms will be distributed to all public and private secondary schools and colleges in the State during the month of September.

A new program of State scholarships will be available to students beginning with the 1970-71 academic year. This program is known as the General State Scholarship program and it replaces the General State Tuition and Teacher Education scholarship programs, both of which will be phased out of existence over the next four years. The new General scholarships will be awarded in units of $100, but no award may be less than $200 or more than $1500. The stipend may be applied to the cost of tuition and/or room and board. The State Scholarship Board will award fifty per cent of the scholarships in each political subdivision to the "ablest of the needy" and fifty per cent to the "neediest of the able."

The Senatorial Scholarship program was amended to change the value of the units from $250 to $100 to more closely meet the actual need of the student; however, no single scholarship may be less than $200 or more than $1500. In addition, certain restrictions on the use of the scholarships have been removed, so that beginning in September 1970, the Senatorial units may be applied at any degree-granting institution of higher education in the State, including the community colleges.

A student wishing to be considered for a Senatorial scholarship must file a special application with his State Senator prior to March 31 of the year following that in which he took the S.A.T. Senatorial scholarship application may be obtained from any high school in the State or from the office of the respective State Senator, beginning in January of the same year.

Students who have already completed at least one year of college are exempted from the S.A.T. requirement. However, such students must still file the formal application and the P.C.S. by December 1 in order to be considered for an award.

For further details of the State programs, students should consult their principal or guidance counselor. A brochure describing all the State scholarship programs is available upon request from the State Scholarship Board, 2100 Guilford Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland 21218.

Harness fans wagered a record $1,665,788,247 during the 1968 race season. State revenues were enriched to the tune of $127,834,859.

DO YOUR OWN THING—IN STYLE

The "not's" in knits are news this year, now that knits are not just in sweaters and dresses, and not at all hard to make at home. There is an easy going elegance in nifty knit dresses...

Both are shown in a snappy red and gray reversible fabric. A gray blouse with stock ascot and long puffy sleeves completes this disarming costume. Another bonus: The pattern is a "Beginner Quickie" available in misses (#2104) and young junior teen sizes (#2105).

If what suits you best is a pants outfit, McCall's Pattern Fashions have page after page of them, All Neat All Now. According to editor Mary McSorley, the new pants look is "Casual—Yes. Comfortable—indeed. Sloppy—never."

Jumpsuits are the newest way to cover the subject of pants dressing. Some masquerade as jumpers, add a skirt for a costume look.

The magazine also includes many pages of jumper fashions that define the meaning of looking smart yet casual.

According to Miss McSorley, each jumper pattern comes with its own blouse, for endless mix-match possibilities.

In this season of jumpsuits and jumpers, the little knit dress is more than holding its own. You'll see why, when you glimpse the graceful new McCall's Step-By-Step pattern design with high-fitted bodice and front panel pleats: Knits like this are easy to make, says editor Miss McSorley, and proves it with a section of helpful tips on sewing knits.

D.M.V. REPORT

By D. Murray Franklin
Public Information Officer
Md. Dept. of Motor Vehicles

Maryland is moving closer to full conformity with the National Highway Safety Act as a result of the General Assembly's recent legislation providing for separate driver license classifications for all vehicle types.

Although the new act itself becomes effective July 1, 1969, DMV will not begin its implementation until January 1, 1971. Meanwhile the Department is organizing and training its personnel to administer the new law.

Five specific classifications of driver licenses . . . A, B, C, D and E . . . will replace the present operators', chauffeurs' special chauffeurs' and motorcycle licenses. Each classified license will authorize its holder to operate vehicles in that particular class and in any lower class except motorcycles, providing the licensee meets minimum age requirements for the particular class.

CLASS A: Authorizes the licensee to drive any combination of vehicles permitted for holders of B, C, and D licenses. This class is primarily designed for operators of tractor-trailers.

CLASS B: Authorizes the licensee to drive trucks of 20,000 pounds gross weight or more, as well as any combination of vehicles permitted for holders of C and D licenses. If the licensee operates a bus, the minimum age for this class of license is 18 years.

CLASS C: Authorizes the licensee to drive any bus and any vehicle permitted for holders of Class D licenses.

CLASS D: Authorizes the licensee to drive any vehicle except those previously listed and motorcycles.

CLASS E: Authorizes the licensee to drive motorcycles.

The minimum age limit for each class is 18 except that a Class B, D or E license may be issued to 16 year olds who have completed an approved Driver Education Course.

In following the one license concept, DMV will issue only one class of license to be held by a person at one time. Persons operating both motor vehicles and motorcycles may have their Class A, B, C or D license additionally identified as a Class E license.

Also changed is the expiration period. Driver licenses will now expire on the actual birth date of the driver, not just the birth month.

A new classified, Instruction and Examination License will replace the present form and it will be valid for the class specified and in all lower classes, except motorcycles.

Beginners must operate under the supervision of drivers licensed for the particular class of driving license applied for, and the Instruction and Examination permits are valid for tests between fourteen and sixty days from date of issue. The fee is $8.00 which includes the cost of issuing the Instruction and Examination License as well as the cost of processing the regular driver's license upon successful completion of all tests and examinations.

All operators', chauffeurs', special chauffeurs' and motorcycle operators' licenses issued prior to January 1, 1971 will continue to be valid for driving all classes of vehicles until their expiration. At that time, they may be converted to a Class D license for the same renewal fee of $2, or they may be converted to a Class A, B, or C license within sixty days of expiration, by:

- (a) Taking the required test for the class of license desired, and paying a fee of $8.00, or
- (b) Submitting an acceptable certification of experience in driving vehicles for the class of license desired, and paying the fee of $2.00.

Motorcycle operators' licenses may be converted and renewed as a Class E license for the usual $2.00 renewal fee. If in addition, the motorcyclist holds an operators', chauffeurs' or special chauffeurs' and converts either of these to a Class A, B, C or D license, the new license would in addition, be identified as a Class E license.

During the interim period between the effective date of the law of July 1, 1969 and the actual implementation date of January 1, 1971, DMV will develop the standards and procedures for testing each class of driver and will program its computer system to process the data required to maintain classified driver records.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

When Sirius, the dog star, sets with the sun in July and August, it signals the dog days. And the dog days usually bring on a slump in catching a favorite fish, walleyes. Here's one solution. Try moonlighting for these toothy rascals.

Most veteran fishermen know that walleyes feed mostly at night, but it's surprising how few of them know that the biggest fish can be taken on bright, moonlit nights. Traditionally, the dark of the moon means fishing is best, but not so with old Blery Eye.

Gravel bars or shallow, rocky shoals are ideal spots to catch walleyes either in a lake or stream. Locate these during daylight hours and memorize, or mark, their locations so they can be spotted at night.

Other good spots are what fishermen refer to as 'sunken islands.' They are fairly numerous in man-made lakes. These underwater knobs are excellent for this kind of fishing. They can be found with a minimum of effort by using an electronic depth reader, which will tell you not only where such upcroppings are but also their precise depth, length, width and make-up.

Also, look for those areas in lakes where several small islands appear in close proximity. Normally a shallow bar connects these islands. Some fishermen find them by trolling deep - running lures across them.

Rocky shores that reveal shallow-sloping banks are good areas for moonlighting. An especially fine place to fish for larger walleyes is where a river or stream enters a lake.

Then, too, don't pass up spots below dams where the rushing water quiets down and washes over gravel bars, and in the eddy areas along either side.

Finally, fish wherever you usually catch walleyes during the daylight hours but probe the shallows instead of the depths.

Use normal bass-fishing tackle. According to Homer Circle, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine, this means a tubular glass rod measuring 6 or 6 1/2-feet in length. The action should be responsive in the tip, with ample muscle in the butt. This allows you to cast a variety of lure weights, but still enables you to drive home the barbs when you set the hooks.

The reel can be either the level-wind type or spincasting, but the line should be 15-pound test.

Lures for normal walleye fishing during daylight hours are fine for moonlighting, with one notable exception. The more white you have in your lure, the better.

Ordinarily, the slower you can work your lure the better it is for larger walleyes. One excellent tactic is to use a slim, floating-model, elongate lure shaped like a minnow. Twitch this a few times on the surface, then retrieve it just fast enough to leave a wake.

One nice thing about moonlighting for walleyes is that the tactic doesn't interfere with your normal fishing habits because this period occurs only once a month. And, if the moon is obscured by clouds it doesn't necessarily mean you won't catch walleyes. Dark nights can be good also.

New Council Holds Meeting

The Committee on College Council study representing students, faculty and administrators at St. Joseph College met yesterday (Thursday) to explore the possibility of reorganizing decision-making powers and responsibilities of each of the three groups. It was the first of seven meetings scheduled for the semester.

The committee was proposed by Sister Margaret Dougherty, president of the College, to study the duties and responsibilities of each group and to facilitate agreement on their respective roles. Each segment is represented by three members elected from within the individual groups. Representing the administration with the president are Sister Margaret Hughes, academic dean, and Mrs. Valli S. Ryan, director of College Relations. Faculty representatives are Dr. Thomas Leonard, chairman of the department of history and government; Dr. John Blanche, asst. professor of theology; and Martin Galvin, instructor in English. Student members are Seniors Constance Dugas and Susan Abbott, both of Baltimore, and Anne M. Higgins, West Chester, Pa.

Harrisburg, Pa., is the home of the world's greatest harness horse auction each fall. The 1968 sale totals went to a new all-time high, $6,127,200. The yearling Nevele Bigshot commanded a new record high, $115,000.

YVES ST. LAURENT THROWS IN THE FASHION TOWEL

The day designer Yves Saint Laurent's boutique, the Rive Gauche, opened in New York, 300 energetic and acquisitive ladies lined up behind police barricades and waited for the shop to open. The freestyle grab-fest that followed made it necessary to call in the police five separate times to restore order. When all the dressing rooms were full, perfectly rational ladies undressed before plate glass windows to try on the new fashions for size. Such is the magic of Yves Saint Laurent. His monogram alone has the power to turn the simple silk scarf into a status symbol. His signature scarves and city-pants have been grabbed up - at impressive prices - by the rich and the working girl alike.

This fall, with typical Saint Laurent eclat, the celebrated designer is entering a new field. The Saint Laurent signature will grace towels, sheets, pillowcases, bedspreads, shower curtains and bathrugs. Stepping out of a bath or shower onto a sculptured, deep-piled bathrug bearing the renowned Saint Laurent signature will be the next status symbol.

The look is bold on all the Saint Laurent bed and bath coordinates, reports Fieldcrest, for whom the designer has created this signature collection. The bed linens are done in smart color combinations featuring ebony, straw, loganberry and cardinal. Diagonal stripes of varied widths are used in his "Infinity" sheets, pillowcases and matching spreads. An abstract design in bright hues makes his dramatic "Discovery" towels look as though they belong in an art gallery. He has concocted an ingenious six-foot square see-through vinyl shower curtain - appropriately called "Vision" - with a smashing square-within-a-square design faintly reminiscent of Mondrian prints used in dresses a few years ago - but this curtain bears the entire Saint Laurent signature.

Another bath delight for Fieldcrest's newest fashion line is the "Dimensions" towel, artfully designed to show a complete geometric pattern which ever way the towel is folded. And of course the YSL monogram is strategically placed in a corner where it can't be missed.

The internationally famous couturier has also created a huge bath sheet, 36" x 72" of pure after-bath luxury. He calls its colorfully vivid pattern "Vision."

The best news, however, is Fieldcrest's announcement that the Yves Saint Laurent bed-and-bath fashions are being introduced at regular prices - so now every fashion-conscious woman can have her own YSL collection.

When's the last time you got goose bumps when they played the Star Spangled Banner?

It's been a while, right? Well, then you're like a lot of us.

It seems that many of us are too grown-up to get excited about things like the Star-Spangled Banner any more.

You could almost say that patriotism makes us feel embarrassed.

Besides, it's hard to really feel patriotic when you hear so much about how this country is falling apart.

But, of course, America still has a Bill of Rights.

And free elections.

An incredibly high standard of living.

And a free enterprise system that lets you hitch your wagon to any star you want.

And plenty of other things you can't find anywhere else in this world.

Know what? Looking at it that way, America deserves a lot more credit than it's been getting.

One of the best ways to give this country the support it deserves is to buy U. S. Savings Bonds.

They strengthen the country so that it's better prepared to solve its problems.

And they happen to be one of the best ways to provide for your own welfare.

The interest is exempt from state and local income taxes. And you don't have to pay Federal tax until you cash your Bonds.

Buy U. S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Or at your bank.

It'll give you a good feeling.

And a perfect excuse for getting goose bumps the next time they play the Star-Spangled Banner.

The problem is trying to have the equipment returned, for future use. Jesse Knipple and Idella Fitez have volunteered to try to locate the equipment, and keep tab on the equipment in the future. Any person having any hospital equipment belonging to the Auxiliary is asked to contact either of the above mentioned ladies, if still in use, or return it to the Post Home if not in use.

Members reported the following on activities: Nine visits to sick persons; 11 hours babysitting for veteran and non-veteran children; $5.00 in clothing donated to Community Fund; 5 members worked 25 hours on mens' party; 2 members worked 7 hours with Senior Citizens; 3 get-well cards were sent to sick persons.

Refreshment committee for next month is Ann Bushman and Charlotte Sanders.

The draw-prize was won by Corrine Seiss and Dorothy Gebhart's name was called for the door prize, but was not present.

The meeting adjourned and the ladies joined the men of the Post for refreshments.

To Present French Play

Le Treteau de Paris will present Jean Tnouilh's "Antigone" at a matinee performance on Saturday, November 15, at St. Joseph College in DePaul Auditorium.

More than just an adaptation of the original Greek tragedy, as a political play, "Antigone" depicts the conflict of the individual against the state, the eternal opposed to the temporal, the struggle of the hero to the mass, purity to compromise, and the clash of absolute values against the merely expedient. In its central figures of Creon and Antigone, Tnouilh expresses in human terms the conflict of idealism and realism.

The plays stars Jean Davy, formerly of la Comedie-Francoise, who created Creon in the original 1944 production of "Antigone" in occupied Paris.

With an entirely new production of "Antigone", Le Treteau begins its eleventh American tour this fall under the auspices of the government of the French Republic and the French Cultural Services. Its appearance at the Emmitsburg campus is an annual event sponsored by the French Department.

The performance is open to the public. General admission is $3 with a special rate of $2 for students.

Reservations and further information may be obtained from Sister John Marie Poole at the college, or by phoning (301) 447-3111, ext. 214.

Le Treteau de Paris aims to give American students and every interested theatergoer the opportunity to know the best French dramatic works as they are performed in France and appreciated by French audiences.

Blue Cross Offers Student Coverage

Maryland Blue Cross and Blue Shield this week announced the opening of the enrollment period for their student coverage program.

The program, now in its sixth year, offers year 'round protection on and off the campus. It is available to students 19 through 26 years of age. Last year alone, more than 9,000 students enrolled in the program.

To be eligible for the low cost health care protection, students must be registered at an approved school and taking at least 12 credit hours of study. No medical examinations or health statements are required.

The Blue Cross portion of the program provides up to 30 days of hospital care for each admission, including full coverage of semi-private room and board, general nursing care and other hospital services.

Blue Shield benefits offer broad protection against the cost of medical and surgical care, including benefits for emergency X-ray services, anesthesia and consultations.

Information and applications are available at any of the Maryland Blue Cross and Blue Shield offices. The program will be offered through October 15.

Ticks are tiny eight-legged parasites that can transmit serious diseases. One kind of tick feeds on dogs, humans and many domestic and wild animals. Another species rarely bites man, but often infests homes where it becomes an unbearable household pest.

INSPECT YOUR DOG CAREFULLY FOR TICKS AROUND THE EARS AND NECK, IN THE LEG PITS AND BETWEEN THE TOES. ALWAYS REMOVE THE ENTIRE TICK; USE A DROP OF ALCOHOL OR TURPENTINE TO MAKE IT LET GO. TICK POWDER OR LOTION WILL HELP PROTECT YOUR PET. DON'T FORGET TO CHECK YOUR OWN SKIN AND CLOTHING AFTER WALKS IN PASTURES OR WOODS.

INDOORS, TICKS HIDE IN FURNITURE, CLOTHING, DRAPERIES AND CRACKS IN THE WOODWORK. THEY CAN LAY UP TO 5,000 EGGS AND SURVIVE ALMOST TWO YEARS WITHOUT EATING. BECAUSE TICKS RESIST MANY INSECTICIDES, DO-IT-YOURSELF EFFORTS MAY NOT SUCCEED. A TRAINED VOGEL-RITT PEST CONTROL OPERATOR CAN USE PROFESSIONAL TECHNIQUES TO FREE YOUR HOME OF TICKS.

TO CHERISH FOR EVER

A moment is such a fleeting bit that memory counts for much.

Lifelong dreams of the day a girl will don her tiara and bridal train, know the exquisite but brief moment of regal splendor on her wedding day, can be forever recalled by photographers and by wedding gifts.

In the years to come, when domestic routines sometimes include the non-elegant, her royal day is relived at a table combination with bone ash, the exceptionally hard though translucent white porcelain known as Spode bone china has represented regal taste.

The service for Queen Victoria's yacht was made by Spode, and the design she later selected became the choice of her son, Edward VII. King George IV ordered a rich service from Spode for his coronation banquet in 1821, and his mother, Queen Charlotte, chose her own Spode pattern, — a simple blue design similar to many produced by Spode today.

A tradition at coronations and at other ceremonial occasions, Spode bone china perpetuates the elegance of a special day for years to come.

set with traditional china and lighted candles transforming a married couple to a "bride and groom."

Some wedding gifts might have been exchanged. Some were duplicates, perhaps, and not needed.

Cherished by brides, however, Spode bone china is sought by collectors and for years has attracted the attention of royalty and governments for state dinnerware services. Recent commissions were undertaken by Spode for newly-created states of Ghana, Nigeria, Pakistan and Sudan.

For nearly 200 years, since England's Josiah Spode developed a hybrid porcelain made of hard paste materials in new Prince Charles plate, record memorable points in history for Spode collectors throughout the world.

So strong it can be cleaned in dishwashing machines, Spode's rare union of elegance and utility elevates porcelain to the category of durable dinnerware that can be passed on down by the bride to her daughter as a memento. A special day relived as a precious memory.

Reader Lauds Local Band

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

Both my wife and I have just returned from listening to a Band Concert on the Square in your Town. To say I enjoyed the concert was to put it mildly. In fact, I made a recording of each number played in addition to the many remarks and citations given by the band to two loyal citizens of the Town. Copies of this recording will go to the Tapes for Troops program, Vietnam, to whom I send weekly recordings, as well as to the Commanding Officer at Da Nang who distributes the recordings to his troops where they will do the most good.

With your kind permission I have several suggestions to offer the Town residents concerning the Town Band. First, I might mention that a town in Vermont, not much larger than Emmitsburg, has resurrected the old band shell in their local park and now give a two hour concert each Saturday and/or Sunday, weather permitting. What a wonderful thing if the town of Emmitsburg could see way clear to do the same for the citizens both young and old.

Next, I have a very serious suggestion that I am surprised has not been acted on before hand. As I listened to the plea for funds for their uniforms through the sale of foodstuffs on weekends. It occurred to me that some of the business could cooperate with the ladies in town to form a Ladies Auxiliary to the Band. Once the Auxiliary is formed and officers nominated I am sure they are perfectly capable of carrying on themselves to raise the necessary funds for uniforms, transportation etc.

Lastly, why not solicit the readers of the Chronicle for any old (especially old) or new instruments they may care to donate to the band? A permanent display in time would be a valued possession of the band I am sure.

Both Mrs. Kleppinger and I would like to publicly thank Mr. Dern for his leadership. He was excellent. We enjoyed watching him too.

Sincerely yours, Robert C. Kleppinger Postmaster Charmian, Penna. 17216

Florence Polk, daughter of Mrs. Monique Polk, W. Main St., has returned to her home here after spending the past 2 1/2 months visiting Veronica Bolio, in Merida Yucatan, Mexico.

Dr. George Eyster On TV Program

On Sunday, August 24, Formula—the television program for and about professionals — presented George Eyster, V.M.D., Warren Hoag, D.V.M. and David Morill, D.V.M., in a discussion centering around the use of animals for research.

The host, Hugh W. Breneman, spent considerable time with Dr. Eyster discussing his main field of interest, Cardiology. Dr. Eyster explained the use of research animals to discover new artificial valves and methods of heart transplant and how heart research on animals paved the way for surgery on man. Dogs are still in constant use to test and experiment new ideas in cardiology before they are adapted to man.

Dr. Eyster, a native of Emmitsburg, received his V.M.D. at Pennsylvania and his master's degree at Michigan State University, where he is currently on the faculty of the College of Veterinary Medicine. In addition to his research, Dr. Eyster holds both clinical and teaching responsibilities. Dr. Eyster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Eyster, still reside in Emmitsburg.

New Telephone Directories Ready For Distribution

The new telephone directory for Frederick and nearby communities is on the way.

The title of the directory is new, too, said C. V. Weakley, manager for the C&P Telephone Company here.

Rather than being called the Frederick County directory, the 1969 book bears the names of the communities represented.

Listed on the front is Frederick, followed by Braddock Heights, Brunswick, Emmitsburg, Middletown, Mt. Airy, Myersville, New Market, Thurmont, Walkersville, and Zora, Pa.

And the cover features a color photograph of a local scene—the Golden Harvest. This directory will provide callers with almost 27,000 phone numbers as well as about 110 pages of listings in the Yellow Pages for local businesses and professional people, said Weakley.

The Call Guide in the front of the directory will also give telephone users a wealth of information, he added.

Included in the Call Guide, for example, are tips about handling anonymous calls.

For easy use, the Call Guide Index lists page numbers for all kinds of references — from area codes to zip codes.

The Call Guide also lists the telephone number for Directory Assistance.

This service is available for those who need to find out a new number or one that was changed since the directory was published.

Weakley pointed out that the term "Information" has been replaced by the phrase "Directory Assistance," which seems to more aptly describe the service provided. The old term incorrectly suggested that Operators could supply information not connected with telephone numbers.

Initial distribution of some 46,000 of the new telephone directories will be made between September 17 and September 24.

Two Hurt In Local Crash

A rear-end collision Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at Toll Gate Hill, south of here, caused slight injuries to two New Jersey residents.

Maryland State Police reported that a vehicle operated by Christopher Kerwin, 54, South River, N. J., had slowed to make a left turn onto Rt. 806 from the northbound lane of Rt. 15 when his car was struck in the rear by a 1966 tractor-trailer driven by James E. Rices, Mooresville, Ind.

Kerwin and his wife, Leona, were removed to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, by the Emmitsburg VFW ambulance. Kerwin was treated for lacerations of the scalp and released, while his wife was given precautionary X-rays and released.

Moore will be charged by state police with failure to slow to avoid collision. No damage estimates were available.

BANK DECLARES DIVIDEND

Benjamin L. Shuff, president of the Farmers and Mechanics National Bank, announced the declaration of a quarterly dividend at the September 2nd meeting of the Board of Directors.

The dividend amounts to .55 per share, being .50 regular plus an extra .05. The total amount of this dividend, $104,933.40, will be paid to stockholders of record of September 12, on October 1, 1969.

This brings the total to $2.25 per share for the year 1969, Mr. Shuff stated.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Sprague, Cadillac, Mich., spent two weeks visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sprague, Dover, Del.

20 Die On State Highways In Week

Twenty persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the survey published by the State Police. Ten of those killed were drivers, five were passengers, and five were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths, speed in twelve, and "driver error in fourteen.

"Driving a motor vehicle has become so much a part of our everyday experience that too often we tend to treat it very casually," noted Lt. Col. W. H. Conroy, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police.

"Safe driving—defensive driving—demands an operator's total, undivided attention, along with a strict compliance with the rules of the road. It can't be achieved any other way."

Draw near to God and he will draw nearer to you.—(James 4:8).

We should be receptive to God's guidance and inspiration when we have a problem to solve, pray to God to be shown how to think and speak in order to arrive at the correct solution. Express confidence in Him, for under God's spiritual guidance we can work out our destiny. He blesses us in everything we do. Our burden is lightened and every cloud is brightened, when we turn to God.
